PWD moves to close Fort Lancaster

Announcement of a proposal by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department to close Fort Lancaster and 10 other parks came as a surprise last week. Park supervisor Ron Alton said he learned of the closure plans at a regional meeting held Thursday in Alpine. Alton, who has been the only employee at the fort since last September, was told that the site will close Aug. 31. Unless he accepts a job elsewhere in the system, his job ends the last of September.

The proposal to close 11 parks, combine operations of others and reduce services at some would eliminate 44 jobs and save the agency $1.1 million in 1993. Tom Harvey of the TPWD's communication department said in a telephone interview with The Stockman that closure of Fort Lancaster would save $41,000. The fort had 17,100 visitors during fiscal year 1991 at a net cost to the state of $2.79 per visitor. Statewide, the average cost is 33¢ per visitor, Harvey said.

Savings will allow the expansion of parks near big cities, provide additional services at places like Big Bend Ranch State Natural Area and finance opening of new parks according to agency officials.

The agency wants to transfer management of the closed facilities to other government entities or private groups, said Lyndal Waldrip, with the Texas Parks Commission. TPWD began receiving calls regarding possible lease of some sites soon after the closure announcement. Waldrip said he was surprised at the quick response from people interested in leasing some parks or equipment.

Gov. Ann Richards and Lt. Gov.

Bob Bullock have been vocal in their criticism of the closure proposal. Troy Fraser, who was in Ozona Friday campaigning for the Texas Senate, said he had already "blasted" TPWD for proposing the cuts.

"Fort Lancaster is the only truly historic site in Crockett County," said Mrs. Lucile Harrell. The site was developed for benefit of the public by Crockett County Historical Survey Committee.

"The fort was preserved and kept open for more than three years by interested individuals' labor and money contributions. Thanks to the help of John Ben Sheppard we finally got it into a historic site," she said.

Land where the fort is located was donated by the Meadows family. The county gave the road and fence.

"We need to come up with an option or alternative if they (TPWD) go ahead with this, and it sure looks like they're going to," Judge Kathryn Mayfield said.

Tom Palmer, head of Region 3 TPWD, which includes Fort Lancaster, said that people interested in keeping the fort open under state operation should contact their legislators and the department.

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission must approve the proposed changes. A public hearing is scheduled for Aug. 26 in Austin. The proposed fiscal year 1993 budget containing the cuts will be considered Aug. 27. Local citizens are talking

Man killed after running in front of truck

A hitchhiker was killed near Ozona last week when he ran into the path of a truck-tractor rig and jumped into the grill of the truck, DPS Trooper Ben English said.

Kelly Todd Day, 29, of Seattle, WA, was on the improved south shoulder of I-10 about a mile west of town as the truck approached. Driver Paul Franklin Adams of Wauchula, FL, told officers he began steering from the outside to the inside eastbound lane when he saw Day start toward his truck.

"The truck driver locked his brakes, but was unable to stop," English said. Day was run over by the right wheels the truck and trailer. The accident occurred at 7:37 p.m. July 29.

A bus driver put Day off in Ozona earlier in the day, Trooper English said. He was taken to the hospital and checked out, then offered a place to spend the night at the jail as a sleeper. Day refused and was let off at the bus station instead, the trooper said.

English praised everyone who worked on the case. "I'd like to thank the funeral home, fire department, highway department, constable, sheriff's office. Everyone did what they could. It was not just me working on this."

Childress, Vannoy tops at state 4-H Fashion Show

Crockett County 4-H'ers Julie Childress and Whitney Vannoy topped the competition from 13 other Extension Districts in Texas when they placed first in three categories at the Texas 4-H Fashion Show held in Houston July 30-Aug. 1.

Childress, the 17-year-old daughter of Pleas and Sandra Childress, won first place and a $500 scholarship in the Evening Wear Construction category with a fuchsia satin strapless dress featuring a sheer organza removable overskirt and sash. Childress' proud 4-H clothing leader is JoAnn Williamson; this is Childress' second time to advance to state competition in two years.

Whitney Vannoy also received a $500 scholarship for her win in the Tailored Buying Category, and $50 for winning first in the Wool and Mohair category in Buying. Whitney, the 17-year-old daughter of Gary and Nancy Vannoy, has also been to state competition twice and her mother is her 4-H clothing leader. Vannoy purchased a black wool and cashmere coat for her 1992 buying project.

JoLynn Vannoy also competed—for the first time—in state competition, wearing an outfit she purchased for her 1992 State Horticulture method demonstration. Results other than first and second in each category were not available at press time; however County Extension Agent Tedra Ulmer said, "We are sure JoLynn placed well in this category."

The agent noted that only two counties of 74 had three category winners at this year's show—Crockett and Uvalde. "This speaks well for the abilities of our 4-H members and our leaders," she said.

This year's show featured 1114-H members from across the state who either constructed or purchased garments. Donors included J. C. Penny, Justin Boot Company, Wrangler, Mary Kay Foundation, McCall Pattern Company, Mike Benet Formals, Mohair Council of America, Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers Association, and the Women's Auxiliary to the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association.

The show, which was held at the J. W. Marriott Hotel in Houston, had a theme of "Fashions on Parade." The Crockett County contestants were accompanied by their mothers and by Agent Ulmer. Besides the competition, the young women were busy swimming, shopping, sightseeing, and meeting new friends—which is a large part of the fun in 4-H.

The Fashion Show is an optional contest 4-H'ers may choose to participate in as a result of completing a 4-H clothing project. Contestants in the Texas 4-H Fashion Show are between the ages of 14 and 19 and have won at county and district contests, making them eligible to participate at the state level.

Objectives of the fashion show are for 4-H youth to exhibit skills in: modeling and presentation, fashion interpretation, good grooming, and both clothing construction and comparison shopping. Contestants select and coordinate patterns and fabrics or purchase a garment after completing their comparison shopping. They select accessories that complement their garments and express their individuality. They also develop poise and presentation skills by modeling in public.

Clothing is just one of many individual and group projects offered in 4-H; to find out more about how your child can benefit from participation in 4-H, contact the Crockett County Extension Office at 392-2721. Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, of which 4-H is a part, are open to all persons, regardless of socioeconomic level, race, color, sex, religion, national origin or handicap.

Berry pleads guilty on bank defrauding case

Richard Allen Berry of Ozona pled guilty July 23 in federal district court in Lubbock to one count of defrauding Crockett County National Bank by making a false statement regarding collateral.

Officers called out to hunt escapee

An all-out search for an escaped prisoner resulted Tuesday morning after a citizen reported seeing a man with a waist chain, handcuff and chain prowling around cars near Comfort Inn. Sheriff's deputies and DPS troopers immediately began to cover the area and search for the suspect.

Volunteer firemen were called to assist, and offers of assistance from Sonora police and sheriff's department personnel were accepted.

The man had been seen and the report made at 8:41 a.m. At 9:15, two men who had been staying at the Comfort Inn approached a DPS trooper and showed a photograph of the missing man.

The suspect, Angel G. Avilez, had been in the custody of a California bail bondsman and a Houston private investigator who were transporting him to California to stand trial on felony drug charges. The men, Robert Reinhart of Carradyne Co. in Houston and Jeff Stanley of The Ranger Insurance Company of San Diego, had taken a room at the Comfort Inn Monday night and chained their prisoner to a motel bed.

"They woke up and discovered his escape after local officers were already searching for him," Sheriff Jim Wilson said.

Summer band rehearsals to begin Aug. 10

Summer rehearsals for all Ozona High School Band members will begin on Monday, Aug. 10, at 6:00 p.m. All high school band students, with their instruments, will meet in the high school band hall. Further practice schedules will be announced at that time.

Berry pled guilty to one count of a three-count indictment. The indictments alleged that he used two Mercedes and a Datsun as collateral on a $46,000 loan from CCNB after he had already sold the vehicles.

The last two counts of the indictment, stemming from renewals on the loan, were dropped by the U. S. attorney's office as part of the plea agreement.

Sentencing will occur in a few months after completion of a presentencing report. Under federal law, the offense carries a maximum of two years in prison and a $250,000 fine.

Starting dates for football 1992

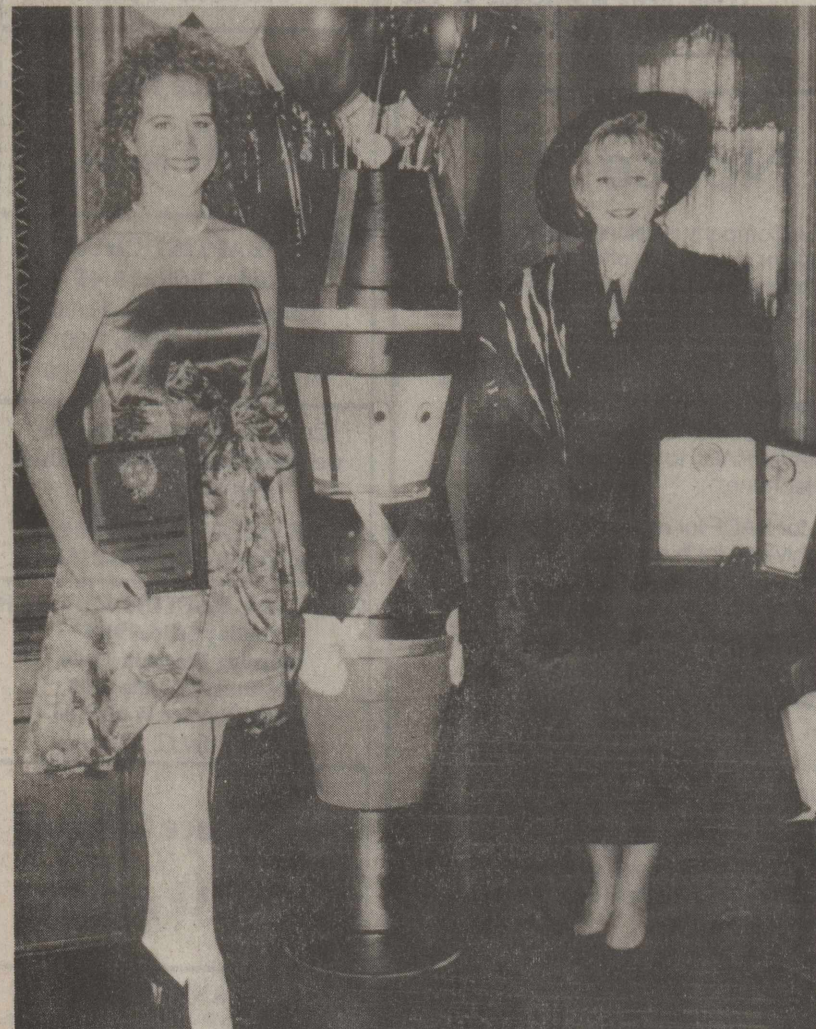

The first day for football two-a-day workouts will be Monday, Aug. 10, at 8:00 a.m. All high school players should pick up their shoes on Thursday, Aug. 6, at the field house between 8:00 and 12:00 in the morning or from 6:00 and 8:00 that evening.

All 7th, 9th and 11th grade athletes need to have had a physical in order to start practice. Physicals were given last spring for all athletes. Those students who did not take a physical must do so at their own expense. Forms can be picked up from Coach Shoush or Coach Payne anytime.

Miss West, Mr. Lawrence wed in double-ring ceremony

Mrs. Tye Rae Lawrence

Trebie LeAnn West and Tye Rae Lawrence exchanged vows in a double-ring ceremony Saturday, July 25, 1992, at two o'clock in San Angelo at Southgate Church of Christ with Paul Shero officiating.

Trebie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley West of Ozona. Tye is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Lawrence of Abilene.

The church sanctuary was decorated with ficus trees and ferns. White satin bows accented with plumosa fern served as pew markers.

Recorded a cappella music for the service featured "Sunrise, Sunset", "Reverie" and "Oh, Perfect Love".

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in a brocade gown with fitted bodice fashioned with a scooped neckline and basque waist, both delicately enhanced with dainty pearls. The gown featured large puffed and cuffed sleeves and full ballerina skirt that extended to a cathedral-length train. The beaded crown veil of English tulle drifted to waltz length and was highlighted with dainty pearls throughout.

The bride carried a bouquet of three calla lilies and plumosa fern gathered with white satin cording. For something old, the bride wore tucked into her garter a lace handkerchief which was made by nuns and given to her great-grandfather, Dr. Hugh B. Tandy, in 1944 at the liberation of Italy during World War II. Something new was a dainty gold engraved bracelet given to her by her sister. For something borrowed, she wore a single strand pearl bracelet belonging to bridesmaid Connie Lewis. Her something blue was a silk and lace garter put in place by her father.

Tamel West served her sister as maid of honor. Other bridal attendants were: Tamara Lawrence of Abilene, sister of the bridegroom, and Connie Lewis of San Angelo. Their tea-length dresses were of emerald green moire file with fitted bodice and puffed, gathered sleeves. The V-shaped back fell to a large bow just above the waistline. Emerald green satin mid-heels finished the ensemble. Bridesmaids wore baby's breath in their hair and carried single calla lilies with plumosa fern tied with white satin cording.

The bridegroom's best man was Nic Ybarra of Houston. Other groomsmen were Robert Willicutt of Odessa and Jeff Montgomery of San Angelo.

The bridegroom and father of the bride were attired in dove grey tuxedos with pewter bow ties and vests. Groomsmen wore dove grey tuxedos with emerald green bow ties and cummerbunds. Their boutonnieres were single white rosebuds and baby's breath.

Glenn Millinger of Lubbock and Zane Gilbreth of San Angelo were ushers.

Before the ceremony began, parents of the couple approached the altar area to light candles representing the two families. Trebie and Tye later completed the lighting of the unity candle, signifying the combining of two families into one.

A reception was held at Southgate Fellowship Hall immediately following the ceremony.

The bridal bouquet formed the centerpiece for her table, which was skirted in ivory lace. The bride's cake, an ivory confection garnished with nosegays of fresh white roses, daisies, fern and assorted ivory flowers, was of four sections, each on an ivory pedestal. A sterling and crystal service belonging to the bride's aunt, Jalyn Burkett of Fort Worth, held fruit punch.

Serving cake was Andie Hilliard. Marandy Keith poured the punch.

An ivory linen cloth covered the bridegroom's table which held a silver coffee service and chocolate fudge cake with milk chocolate frosting. Connie Kirkham poured coffee while Jean Todd served the cake.

Silver appointments held nuts and mints at each table.

The newlyweds left amid a shower of birdseed thrown from ivory satin roses. Following a honeymoon to Puerto Vallarta, Mexico, the couple will be at home in San Angelo.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Lawrence hosted the rehearsal dinner in San Angelo Friday evening at Zentner's Daughter.

Pre-nuptial parties in Ozona, Abilene and San Angelo included a bridal gift coffee, lingerie shower, miscellaneous shower and barbecue.

Square dancers converge on Ozona

It's a plane. It's a train. No, it's a big mystery bus with five squares of dancers and two callers aboard. The dancers on the bus do not know where they are going to dance as the destination has been kept secret.

The civic center in Ozona is the destination. The date is Aug. 8 at 8 p.m. when the Levis and Lace Club hosts a square dance for those on the bus.

All area square dancers are invited to join in the fun for this special event. One of the callers on the bus is a national caller, and it will be a real treat to dance to him.

"Visitors are welcome to come watch the fun, and we look forward to seeing you there," said club member Betty Allen.

Davy Crockett descendants reunion held

A bit of Ozona was included in a reunion of David Crockett descendants last weekend in Tennessee. A video made near the Crockett statue of several Ozona Chamber of Commerce members was sent as an invitation for family members to attend the Davy Crockett Birthday Celebration here Aug. 15.

Relatives and Crockett friends were to gather at Paris and Rutherford, TN, small towns 120 miles north of Memphis. Descendants of the famed frontiersman gather every two years, alternating between Tennessee and Texas.

Crockett descendants are expected to attend the Ozona celebration this year, and a reception will be held in their honor in the Crockett Room of Ozona National Bank.

Announcement last week that the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department plans to close Fort Lancaster brought home the issue of pork barrel politics. It is easy for me to say that the state, county or whatever needs to trim the fat, cut waste, etc, but when it affects my interests, I want things left alone. - Human nature at work. Pork barrel politics.

An Austin spokesman for the parks department says $41,000 a year will be saved by closing Fort Lancaster. That money could be spent on parks that serve more people (the fort had 17,100 visitors last fiscal year) or used to open new parks in heavily populated areas.

We'll and good. But people in sparsely populated rural areas need places like Fort Lancaster, too.

Years of work went into preservation and development at the fort before it was turned over to the state. Now the parks department wants local governments or private groups to take over operation of the 11 state parks it plans to close.

An alternative, yes. But is it a blessing or an albatross? The county can't afford another deficit venture. What about combined efforts of the museum, historical commission, historical society, chamber of commerce? Or lease by an individual or group?

Interest has been shown in getting on the parks department's public hearing agenda later this month to protest the closure.

Everyone who cares about the fort says that "someone" needs to do something. If you want to see the fort remain open under state operation, be "someone". Contact all the officials listed in a story elsewhere in this issue.

If you have an idea for a better way of operation (and how to fund it), contact Judge Kathryn Mayfield, Geniece Childress and Lucile Harrell of the Crockett County Historical Commission, Camille Jones of the Crockett County Historical Society, or Nancy Moore at Ozona Chamber of Commerce. Call The Stockman. We'll listen.

Crockett County needs Fort Lancaster open to the public for historic purposes and as an attraction for tourists.

"A Question of Conscience"

"How could I do this great wrong and sin against God?" Genesis 39:9

by Charles Huffman
Faith Lutheran Church, Ozona
Hope Lutheran Church, Sonora

Joseph asked this question in answer to his master's wife, who constantly tried tempting him to be intimate with her. With his question he does more than say "No" - even a very firm NO. He gives her a glimpse of his conscience - which is well aware of his position of responsibility in that household, which is deeply conscious of the evil reality of sin, and above all which is most loyal to God and sensitively concerned about offending Him by sinning.

How do WE react when faced with temptation? Do we find it difficult to resist, but easy to "Give In"? Are we quick to respond with a testimony to our Christian reason for saying "No"? Or do we quietly go along with the crowd - or with the pressure of the moment, because we're asked to speak up for God?

May God forgive us for Jesus' sake! May He give us boldness through His Word to do what is pleasing in His sight, for the sake of His Son Jesus Christ - who gave His life on the cross to make us pleasing in the sight of a holy God.

ROSALIO LONGORIA STANDS BEFORE THE ORIGINAL STATE HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT OFFICE which was in use when he began working there 31 1/2 years ago. The building was moved from south of the interstate to the department's new location and is used for storage.

Fraser vows to stop confirmation of water commissioners because of new rules

"With the stroke of a pen, the Texas Water commission eliminated over 100 years of constitutional water rights and stole the property of many Texans," said Troy Fraser, Republican candidate for Texas Senate District 25. During a campaign stop in Ozona Friday, Fraser said control of the Edwards Aquifer is the first attempt by the TWC to control all underground water in Texas and he vowed to stop the confirmation of Chairman John Hall and the other newly appointed Water Commissioners.

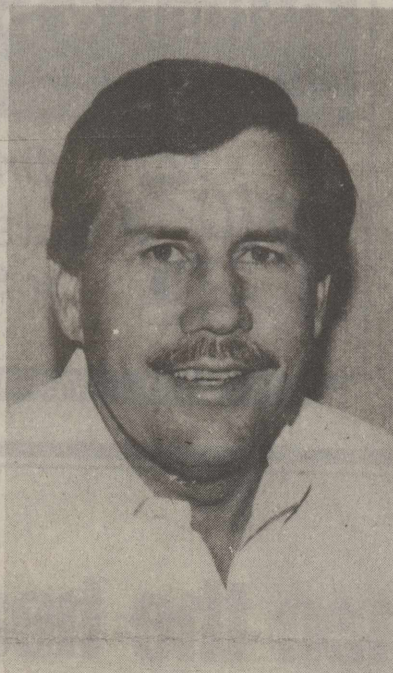

Fraser said recent Water Commission rulings would devalue millions of acres of private property, render some land useless and severely restrict economic development in West Texas and the Hill Country. "The value of millions of acres of land could plummet because of this action and land owners will not be compensated. I call that highway robbery," he said.

The Texas Water Commission seized control of the Edwards Aquifer April 15, declaring it the Edwards Underground River. The commission then announced pumping could be reduced by one-third and proposed an application process to determine how much water each of the 10,000 users can pump from the aquifer.

In June, the commission reached an agreement with the City of San Antonio to guarantee the city adequate water. "They guaranteed water rights to San Antonio at the expense of rural Texas jobs and families," said Fraser.

"Water is the most precious commodity in West and central Texas and the lack of it could cripple economic development in our part of the state," Fraser said. "The theft of private water rights by the Texas Water Commission could cause our area of the state to dry up and blow away," he said.

Fraser said the new ruling could be reversed by defeating the upcoming confirmation of the newly appointed commissioners, all of whom must be confirmed in the next legislative session. He said that the commissioner's actions on this issue provide enough evidence for him to vote against their confirmation. Fraser has requested the Governor remove her appointees from the commission and has sent letters to every State Senate candidate asking them to join his efforts to defeat the confirmation on the three commissioners.

Fraser said control of this vital resource must be returned to the people of Texas. "Replacing the current commissioners with people who respect individual water rights would solve this problem," Fraser said. "As State Senator, I will not only vote against the confirmation of the current commissioners but will also aggressively work to defeat their confirmation," he said.

"During these tough economic times, government should be providing incentives for economic growth and jobs, not eliminating them," Fraser said. "The new corporate income tax and the elimination of private water rights will make it considerably more difficult to bring new jobs to this part of Texas."

Fraser said he supported House Bill 2329, which would have prevented the commission's drastic actions. "The House approved this bill to protect Texans individual rights but the Democrat leadership killed the bill in the Senate," Fraser said.

Fraser is a three term State Representative from District 69. He was born in Abilene where his parents and grandparents still live. He grew up in West Texas and attended Angelo State University in San Angelo and the University of Texas at Arlington. Fraser is the owner of Fraser Industries, a wooden pallet manufacturing firm with locations across West Texas. He has been married for 23 years to the former Linda Cochran and they have three children: Chase (20), Sunny (18) and Andrew (13).

Fraser will face incumbent Democrat Senator Bill Sims in the November general election.

Longoria, Thompson honored on retirement

Co-workers joined in wishing Rosalio Longoria and John Thompson well in their retirement at a party July 31 at the Texas Department of Transportation's office.

Longoria, an Ozona native, leaves the state after 31 1/2 years on the job. He started work in the maintenance section when trucks still had to be loaded by hand. The office was a small wooden building located near where the DPS office is today. That building is still in use at the department's location north of Ozona.

Mr. Longoria began work as a Maintenance Technician I. He retired as a Maintenance Technician III.

A former deacon of Templo Siloe

Bautista and a veteran of the U. S. Army who served in Korea, Mr. Longoria is married and has five children. He and wife Carmen are parents of Rosalio Jr. of Big Lake, Josie Longoria of Midland, Chris Pena of Rock-springs, Ruth Gonzales of Arlington and Sammy Longoria of Ozona.

The Longorias have nine grandchildren. He is the son of Alberto Longoria of Ozona and the late Mrs. Longoria.

John Thompson retires for the second time. He began work for the highway department eight years ago after retiring from 24 years with the Border Patrol.

"It was a learning experience,"

ROSALIO LONGORIA AND JOHN THOMPSON were honored by co-workers with a retirement party at the Texas Department of Transportation office last Friday.

said Thompson who had no idea what the job entailed when he signed on to work in the maintenance department.

Thompson estimates he has enough work around the house to keep him busy for a month. "Then I'll probably be looking for a parttime job."

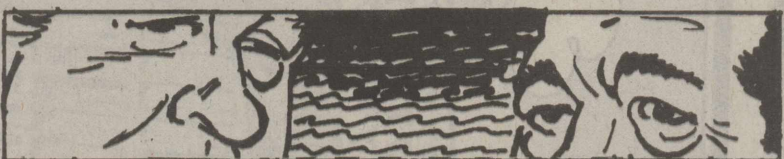

Ozona is a terrific place to live, Thompson says. The Iowa native farmed before joining the Border Patrol. His wife Evelyn, who is from Georgia, is retired from Ozona National Bank.

The two are parents of four children, Lynn Reed of Abilene, Greg Thompson of Buchanan Dam, Kaye Huffstedler of Sonora and Jack Thompson of Roosevelt near Lubbock. The Thompsons have seven grandchildren.

MARY JO HEARNE STANDS BESIDE THE GERMAN-MADE GLIDER that flew into Ozona last Thursday. Owned by Franz Ott of Bamberg, Germany, the glider is entered in an upcoming glider competition in Uvalde. Ott is presently living in Uvalde.

Glider in Ozona??????

Yes, believe it or not, An ASW-22, German-made glider landed at the Ozona Municipal Airport Thursday evening around 7:20 p.m. Airport manager Mary Jo Hearne said Friday, "I came out this morning and there it was in the taxi-way with one wing touching the ground. I first thought someone had crashed." After contacting the sheriff's office, Mary Jo learned that the pilot had been given a ride to a motel by the sheriff's department.

"I believe this is a first for Ozona," said Mary Jo, "no one out here can ever remember a glider landing at this airport."

The pilot, Franz Ott from Bamberg, Germany, presently living in Uvalde, was en route back to Uvalde after a cross-country flight to north Texas. Mr. Ott, a former teacher who got burned out with teaching, is now a home builder. The flight was in preparation for the upcoming glider competition to be held in Uvalde.

The glider, which is motorized with a 43 hp, 2-stroke engine that can be retracted into the fuselage after takeoff, developed a fuel leak and will have to be transported back to Uvalde by trailer for repairs.

Ott said, "takeoff requires another person to hold the wings off the ground until enough airspeed is achieved to create lift."

The German pilot was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Boy Pierce Friday morning before the trailer was scheduled to arrive mid-afternoon. The pilot saw first hand the shearing operation at the ranch.

TDH risk survey finds Texans among worst alcohol abusers

Although the proportion of Texans indulging in risky health habits is about the same as the national average, they are among the worst offenders when it comes to alcohol abuse, according to the Texas Department of Health (TDH).

During 1990, some 6 percent of adult (18 or older) Texans consumed as many as 60 or more alcoholic drinks each month. That compares with an average 3.2 percent of the adult populations of 44 states during the same period.

These and other facts appear in a TDH report on Texas' participation in the 1990 U.S. Centers for Disease Control Behavioral Risk Factor Surveillance System (BRFSS). For the Texas portion of the survey, TDH conducted telephone interviews with 1,497 adults, selected to reflect the state's sex, race and age distribution.

Robert Diamond, senior health educator in the TDH Public Health Promotion Division, explained that the report is the fourth of its kind since 1987. "We use information from the BRFSS to determine which unhealthy behaviors contribute to premature loss of health and life statewide. By so doing, we can design health promotion programs to help change those behaviors," Diamond said.

The survey also revealed that 19 percent of Texans, as compared with an average of 15 percent nationally, reported "binge drinking," consuming five or more drinks per occasion, at least once in the previous month.

Similarly, 5 percent of Texans reported having driven under the influence of "too much to drink" at least once in the previous month. Other states' percentages for such behavior ranged from .7 percent to 5.9 percent, with a national average of 2.8 percent. "It is noteworthy that during the survey period, the state recorded a 7 percent increase in alcohol-related traffic fatalities over the previous year (1989)," Diamond said.

Among other BRFSS results were that 23 percent of surveyed Texans are smokers, matching the U.S. average.

Some 22 percent of surveyed Texans were overweight, compared to 22.6 nationally.

Texans were slightly more active than the general U.S. population. However, more than half of survey respondents in both groups (53 percent of Texans and 58 percent nationally) lived sedentary lifestyles. Only 38 percent of the Texas respondents exercised regularly, men citing walking, yardwork and running as their most frequent exercise, while women favored walking, yardwork and aerobics.

Fewer Texans (7 percent) than U.S. citizens in general (13.8 percent) "never" or "seldom" used their automobile seat belts in 1990. At the same time, 85 percent of Texans claimed "always or 'nearly always'" to use their seat belts.

Regarding AIDS and HIV which causes it, some 76 percent of Texas parents, compared to 75 percent of U.S. parents, said they would allow their child to attend class with an HIV-infected student.

Also, 91 percent of surveyed Texans had heard of AIDS, but their understanding of the disease varied. Only 64 percent know that HIV-infected people can look and feel healthy, and 81 percent know that condoms can reduce infection risk. Some 65 percent know that mosquitoes pose no threat of spreading HIV, and only 59 percent know that giving blood poses no risk.

Of parents of Texas children not yet in high school, 88 percent favor starting AIDS education in elementary school.

USDA announces '92 wool and mohair support prices

Jerry D. Harris, chairman of the Texas State ASC Committee announced that support prices for wool and mohair for 1992 marketings will be $1.97 per pound for shorn wool and $4.613 per pound for mohair.

Mohair is being supported at 85 percent of the percentage of parity at which shorn wool is being supported.

Wool on unshorn lambs will be supported, as in the past, at a level determined by a formula based on the hundredweight of live, unshorn lambs marketed.

Wheat program contains zero acreage reduction

Farmers who participate in the 1993 Wheat Program will not be required to reduce their plantings to qualify for price support loans and deficiency payments, according to Herb Schwertner, director of the Crockett County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service. The 1993 program contains a zero percent acreage reduction.

"This means that there is no requirement to place eligible cropland into an Acreage Conservation Reserve," Herb said.

He said this level was chosen from the statutory range of 0 to 15 percent to ensure sufficient wheat supplies for domestic and export needs.

Wheat program benefits include target price protection at $4.00 per bushel, the same as last year, and price support loans at $2.45 per bushel, 21 cents more than the previous year. To be eligible for loans, purchases, and payments on the 1993 wheat crop, producers must not plant in excess of their wheat acreage base plus plantings permitted on flexible acres. A paid land diversion will not be implemented.

Other 1993 wheat program provisions will be announced at a later date.

Fiscal Notes looks 35 years into future - explores Texas economy of 2026

"Led by the construction and service sectors, Texas overall employment outlook over the next 35 years is bright, but many of these new jobs, especially in trade and service, will be in lower paying occupations," State Comptroller John Sharp says.

"Following a trend begun in 1978, real wage growth, after adjusting for inflation, is expected to increase by only about .5 percent annually through 2026. The lack of significant real wage growth will pressure more family members to enter the work force," Sharp said.

The information is contained in the current issue of Fiscal Notes and is based upon preliminary findings of the Forces of Change Project, a year-long study by the Comptroller's Office of issues shaping the state during the next 35 years. Fiscal Notes is a monthly publication of the Comptroller's Research Division. The report finds that while Texas will continue to grow in "power and worth" in the 35 years ahead, it will do so at more modest rates than in the recent past.

"The long-term economic news for Texas is mixed. On the positive side, the economy should continue to expand at a moderate rate, slightly out-pacing the rest of the United States," Sharp said. "On the other hand, state growth will be below that of the boom periods Texas enjoyed during the 1960s and 1970s.

"From 1971 to 1991, the state economy grew faster, by about a half percent annually, than the country as a whole, with an average growth rate of three percent per year. Almost all this growth was due to an expanding labor force, which increased about three percent each year, or one percent faster than the national average.

"The picture in the future is much different. The state's economy should continue to outpace the national average by about a half percent each year, but an expanding workforce will account for only half the gap. About half the state's projected 2.7 percent annual growth rate will result from increased worker output as the labor force matures, becomes more experienced and productive," Sharp said. The report also concludes that economic diversification should continue to restructure the makeup of the state's economy. Energy-related industries are expected to fall from 13 percent of today's economic output to eight percent by 2026 as oil and gas production continues its long-term decline.

Over the same period, almost 80 percent of the 6.3 million new jobs created in the state will be in service-producing industries. The number of jobs in various service sectors will soar, the report says, from 1.7 million in 1991 to 4.1 million by 2026. Currently, almost a quarter of all Texas jobs are in services, but by 2026, the figure will rise to more than 30 percent.

"Business, health and other miscellaneous services, such as hotels and professional and legal services, will contribute to the growth of services in the Texas economy. Wholesale and retail trade also will produce a large share of new jobs in the state.

"Surprisingly to some, construction will be the fastest-growing industry in the Texas economy over the next 35 years," Sharp said. "Total construction employment is expected to grow 2.6 percent per year, from 342,000 jobs in 1991 to 843,000 in 2026. Much of this will be recovery from the industry slump in the economic bust of the late 1980s.

"The attraction of Texas as a place to invest and produce should continue to promote manufacturing's role in the economy. Total manufacturing employment is expected to rise by 1.8 percent annually, from 977,000 jobs in 1991 to 1.8 million in 2026. Almost half the new manufacturing jobs will be in industries related to high technology, including computers, industrial machinery and electronics," Sharp said.

The report says Texas will not attract the large number of new residents the state received in past years. Nevertheless, the report says, Texas' population should continue to expand during the next 35 years, mainly from births rather than from in-migration.

The Baby Boom generation, now entering middle age, will approach retirement as the year 2026 approaches. The fastest-growing age group will be Texans over the age 65. One reason, the report says, is that Texans will be living longer due to improved health care. Along with increased economic clout, the Texas Baby Boomers can expect to see their political influence grow, with a push for more elderly programs, such as health care, income assistance, and financial planning.

The report also notes that the fastest-growing ethnic group in Texas will be Hispanics, whose numbers are expected to jump from 26 percent of the population in 1990 to 38 percent in 2026. At the same time, the Anglo population will decline from 61 percent to 47 percent. By the year 2026, Texas will have no majority ethnic group.

Understanding the Medicare-Medicaid difference

What's the difference between Medicare and Medicaid?

These two similar-sounding words are really two very different government health insurance programs — and a surprising number of people may not fully understand those differences.

Medicare is our country's health insurance program for people 65 or older, for certain disabled people under 65, and for people of any age who have permanent kidney failure. It provides basic protection against the cost of health care, but doesn't cover all of your medical expenses. To receive Medicare, you must have worked in Social Security covered jobs — or pay for Medicare insurance.

While the Health Care Financing Administration is in charge of running the Medicare program, Social Security can help you enroll in Medicare and can give you general information about the program.

Medicaid is a State-run program designed primarily to help those with low income and few resources. While the federal government helps pay for Medicaid, each state has its own rules about who is eligible and what is covered under Medicaid. However, states must provide Medicaid coverage to certain groups of people (such as recipients of Aid to Families With Dependent Children) and must provide certain basic medical services under the Medicaid program (such as inpatient/out patient hospital services and prenatal care.)

It is also important to know that some aged, blind and/or disabled persons can qualify for both Medicare and Medicaid.

If you would like to know more about Medicare, call 915-949-4608. If you would like to know more about Medicaid, contact your local Texas Department of Human Services office.

Veterans of the Battle of the Bulge announce reunion plans

Veterans of the Battle of the Bulge (VBOB) have completed plans for the 11th Annual Reunion in Nashville, Oct. 8-11, 1992. Activities consist of a healthy dose of camaraderie, a trip to the Grand Ole Opry, memorial services in honor of those Battle of the Bulge veterans who were killed in action or have since passed away, and many other functions.

Forty-eight years ago, 600,000 of America's young men fought together in the snowy, windswept hills and forests of the Ardennes. From Dec. 16, 1944, until Jan. 25, 1945, the bitter fighting raged, claiming 19,000 American lives. When, at last, the guns fell silent, the German drive to reach the sea, trap four allied armies, and impel a negotiated peace on the Western Front had been thwarted. Thanks to the uncommon valor of the American GI and the heroic efforts of individual units in this decisive battle, the end of World War II in Europe was hastened.

All veterans of this memorable conflict and their families and friends, are invited to contact our offices regarding specifics on this meeting. Also welcome are history buffs who are interested in the Battle of the Bulge.

Plans are also currently underway for a gala celebration for the 50th anniversary of survival for the veterans of the Battle of the Bulge. We hope that, if you have an interest, you will join with us for these festivities. We will honor those who gave their lives in this great battle and give thanks for those who survived.

Information regarding membership and reunion plans may be obtained by writing to VBOB, P.O. Box 11129-P, Arlington, Virginia 22219-2029.

1992 Property Tax Rates in CROCKETT COUNTY

This notice concerns 1992 property tax rates for CROCKETT COUNTY. It presents information about three tax rates. Last year's tax rate is the actual rate the taxing unit used to determine property taxes last year. This year's effective tax rate would impose the same total taxes as last year if you compare properties taxed in both years. This year's rollback tax rate is the highest tax rate the taxing unit can set before taxpayers can start tax rollback procedures. In each case these rates are found by dividing the total amount of taxes by the tax base (the total value of taxable property) with adjustments as required by state law. The rates are given per $100 of property value.

Some green card holders must get new ones issued

Resident aliens need to take notice of a recent change in rules regarding their "green card". The Immigration and Naturalization Service has revised the resident alien card and new cards may need to be issued.

According to the INS, if your resident alien card, "green card", does not have your photograph, your fingerprint and your signature, then you must apply for a new one. This change generally applies to cards issued before 1978.

The INS reports that the new card has more modern security features and provides positive identification. The new card will make it easier to prove that one is a permanent resident. It will also help when applying for a job and other benefits. And, lastly, it will speed the inspection process when a resident alien re-enters the U.S. after foreign travel.

The old resident alien card, "green card", will expire on Aug. 1, 1993. Holders must apply for a new card before the expiration date. The INS urges holders to apply early.

In order to apply for the new resident alien card, holders must complete INS form I-90. To receive information and the application form, call 1-800-755-0777.

Applications may be submitted in person, along with the $70 processing fee, to the nearest INS office or port of entry.

The old card will be checked at the time the application for a new one is submitted, however, it will be returned so it may be used until the new card arrives. According to the INS, if you do not apply for the new card before the Aug. 1, 1993, deadline, your old card may no longer be accepted by employers or anyone else. It will cause delays upon returning to the U.S. from travels abroad.

The new card will include an expiration date. It will be good for 10 years from the time of issuance. And, according to the INS, if you apply to become a naturalized citizen of the U.S., you will not have to apply for a new card unless you are found to be ineligible for naturalization.

For additional information, call 1-800-755-0777.

New center offers all varieties of natural resource data

If it's data you want, then the Center for Natural Resources Information and Technology is the scientific equivalent of an ice cream shop with a summer's worth of flavors.

The center, known as CNRIT, has everything from crown canopy percentages of honey mesquite to susceptibility of concrete to corrosion by soil.

Moreover, the center wants to gather even more data — and the software to use it — and make them available to scientists solving problems ranging from saving Pacific salmon to determining pesticide runoff in riversheds.

Formed in 1991, CNRIT is housed in the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station's Blackland Research Center in Temple.

The center already has large data bases for U.S. and Texas natural resources information, plus a number of smaller data bases and programs for using various data. It also holds several worldwide data bases.

Stream flows, organic content of soil, rainfall, cropping history and degrees of erosion are also available. Then there's "windthrow hazard," defined as the likelihood of trees being uprooted by wind as a result of insufficient depth of soil to give adequate root anchorage.

"It's mind-boggling," said Leesa Barton, assistant research scientist at the center. "These individual data bases are staggering in size, and when they're tied together, they're even more staggering."

Some 3 gigabytes of data are already on line and useable without assistance. That's 3 billion characters, the equivalent of 600 copies of a standard King James Bible.

Another 15 gigabytes or so are available on compact disks, but would require some assistance from CNRIT staff.

CNRIT combines data with software programs to predict real-world environmental impacts or help solve natural resource puzzles.

Ozona firemen battle tank battery fire Sunday evening

Ozona Fire Department sent two trucks to the Vic Pierce Ranch in south Crockett County Sunday evening. Lightning had blown the top off a tank at a battery belonging to Yucca Energy.

Firemen used 900 gallons of water and 50 gallons of foam to quench the blaze.

A Monday morning fire at the Jeff Sutton Ranch on Mitchell Blacktop was almost out when firemen arrived.

The department sent two trucks on the 10:25 a.m. grassfire call. One hundred gallons of water were used.

Healthier Hill crowned 1992 Ozona Lions Youth Rodeo Queen

Jeanie Cooper, 1991 Rodeo Queen, her court and 1992 queen contestants modeled their rodeo finery Thursday night at the Queen's Gala. Held this year at the gazebo in the downtown park, the gala was combined with a mini-rodeo. Most rodeo contestants were children who had participated in the Wild West Day Camp earlier in the week.

Queen contestants Adrienne Dickerson, Heather Hill and Tess Worthington also completed the public speaking portion of the contest during the gala. Adrienne discussed changes, comparing Ozona's early style of rodeos to the indoor arenas of today, and changes in the treatment of roping animals.

Changes in methods of tie down roping caused by animal rights' legislation was the focus of Heather Hill's talk.

Tess Worthington spoke on lessons learned through rodeo: responsibility, caring for animals, winning and losing. Queen's court models were: Kimberly Bean, Codi Richardson, Lana Stewart, Robin Conner and Ashley Hubbard. Lacy Hunnicutt was unable to attend.

Katharine Durham was M.C., and Stefny Sutton was fashion commentator for the evening. Jeanie Cooper introduced the queen contestants, and Chad Upham announced the mini-rodeo events.

Following a stickhorse barrel race, dummy roping and boot scramble, certificates were awarded to children who had attended the Wild West Day

If your bank doesn't know your name... Forget theirs.

In times like these, you need to know who your banker is today. And who he'll be tomorrow.

You need a banker who knows who you are. With one of those big, out-of-state holding company banks, it might be kind of tough to find a banker who remembers your face, let alone your name.

Truth is, as fast as those out-of-state banks change, it might be kind of tough for you to remember their name. You don't have that problem when you bank with neighbors.

We're one of the "I's of Texas." Your Independent "hometown bank" that helped build this town. And chances are, we know each other already.

The I's of Texas.
