Chamber banquet Thursday

Several Ozona citizens will be the surprised recipients of awards Thursday night at the 29th annual chamber of commerce banquet. Each year recognition is given to an outstanding young person, teacher, organization, citizen and unsung hero.

The banquet will be held at 7 p.m. on Feb. 4 in the civic center. Tickets are $8 and will be available at the door or from directors or chamber coordinator Nancy Moore prior to the event.

This year's banquet theme, "Hang Your Hat In Ozona", continues a chamber promotion being used across the state and beyond. Decorations for the event are by Ozona Garden Club.

Musical entertainment for the evening is by Co-Hearts of Eldorado. The trio of Sherry Belk, Debbie Joy and Eva Jo Sessom will be remembered by those who attended the 1992 banquet as the stars of the mini-musical A.K.A. Marleen.

Sherry Belk is a bookkeeper Southwest Texas Electric Co-Op, a busy ranchwife and mother. She loves to sing country-western and gospel and has entertained in the area for some time.

Debbie Joy is a gifted vocalist, pianist and actress. In high school she was outstanding in speech and drama. She studied privately and also at Sul Ross and Angelo State University.

Eva Jo Sessom is an elementary school teacher and the wife of Dr. Steve Sessom. She plays the piano and has sung with her musical family for years. She is a natural entertainer and likes to do pantomime.

The three also perform with the Way-Off Broadway Players of Eldorado.

New officers and directors of Ozona Chamber of Commerce will be recognized at the banquet along with outgoing officers and directors. New leadership of the chamber is under the direction of president Johnny Jones, first vice-president Tom Anderson, second vice-president J. B. Miller, third vice-president Jerry Perry and treasurer Jack Baggett Jr. These officers begin their terms in February.

They follow outgoing officers Doug Meador, president; Jerry Perry, first vice-president; Becky Childress, second vice-president; Tom Anderson, third vice-president; and Elizabeth Upham, treasurer.

Newly elected directors are: Lou Haire, Camille Jones, John Daniels, Raul De La Rosa and Donnie Laughlin.

Holdover directors include: Tom Anderson, Rick Bird, J. B. Miller, Jerry Perry, Jack Baggett Jr., Johnny Jones and Scotty Moore.

Outgoing directors are: Doug Meador, Becky Childress, J.R. Bhakta, Elizabeth Upham and Susie Childress.

Martinez ends 35 years with county

On Friday, Jan. 29, 1993, Luis C. Martinez was honored at the Crockett County Courthouse with a retirement party by family members, friends, co-workers, and other members of the public for his 35 1/2 years of service to the county. Judge Kathryn Mayfield presented Luis with a Seiko watch, a plaque, and a formal resolution from the Crockett County Commissioners' Court for his years of service.

Luis began his employment with the county in 1957 at the age of 22. He succeeded Joe Lara who left his employment in order to fulfill his military obligation in the armed forces. At the time that Luis began his employment with the county, in which his initial job was to be the custodian of the courthouse building and the courthouse annex building, Houston Smith was county judge. Luis has maintained this position throughout his employment career with the county.

During his 35 years with the county, Luis has seen many changes in personnel. During this time, he has witnessed eight county judges, five county attorneys, and several county commissioners. To this day, he indicates that the event that stands out the most during his period of employment was the election of Jesus "Chuy" Castro as Crockett County Commissioner of Precinct 4 in the mid 1970's. Other county-related activities that Luis has been involved in include being used as an interpreter on various occasions by both district court and county court. He has also supervised probationers who were completing their community service hours by performing county-related job activities. He has helped canvass county elections by assisting in the vote count on several occasions.

Luis has been married to the former Teresa Vela for the past 41 years. During their marriage, they had six children; namely, Luis, Jr., Melecio, Lonnie, Alice, Michelle and Zeke. To date, Luis and Teresa are the proud grandparents of 14 grandchildren.

Luis has been involved in civic, community, and personal activities during these past years including being a school board trustee with the Crockett County Consolidated Common School District for one term during the years 1973-75. Also, he has been a member of the Catholic Church Parish Council. Along with his wife, Luis managed and operated the Poco Taco fast food stand for more than 14 years.

Luis is a big supporter of the Dallas Cowboys and enjoys watching most sports activities, including watching his children and grandchildren participate in sports activities while in high school. Luis also enjoys different forms of music, and especially enjoys attending dances in order to participate in all the festivities involved in dancing.

For rest and relaxation, Luis enjoys watching his grandchildren grow and participate in all their school-related activities. As it is known to all his family and friends, Luis will need to enjoy his health, especially since he survived the trauma of an open heart surgery.

Luis will always be remembered for being a truly dear and respected friend to many people. His enthusiasm for life is also an inspiration to many, including his sense of fairness and justice. Nothing but the best in life is wished upon Luis and his whole family during his retirement period. He has earned a place in the hearts of many and his absence from county employment will be deeply felt.

New commissioners attend Austin meeting

Commissioners Frank Tambunga and Freddie Nicks successfully completed 16 credit hours of required training in government at the University of Texas Jan. 27-29.

The state laws require every county judge and commissioner to complete a minimum of 16 hours each year on county government to be able to hold office.

The course, Governing Texas Counties, was conducted by the Lyndon B. Johnson School of Public Affairs Office of Conferences and Training for all newly elected commissioners and county judges. The main objectives were to teach the responsibilities of a commissioner and the laws of a county and its elected officials.

Head Start program underway February 1

Head Start Child Development Program began in Ozona Monday, Feb. 1, in a classroom at Our Lady of Perpetual Help Catholic Church. There are 20 children ages 3-4 enrolled in the program according to director Jessie Zuniga. The program is funded through Tom Green Community Action Council of San Angelo.

Mrs. Zuniga is a 1966 graduate of Ozona High School. She is the daughter of Mrs. Charlie Fuantoz of San Angelo and the late Armando Reina. She received a degree from Angelo State University and has taught kindergarten in Dallas and a 4-year-old class at Carrollton/Farmers Branch. She was employed as a Head Start teacher in San Angelo before moving to Ozona.

Jessie and Tony Zuniga are the parents of two children, a daughter, Gracie Delgado of Arlington, and a son, Anthony Mark, who is a freshman at Angelo State University. Mr. Zuniga is employed at Crockett County Hospital as a registered nurse. He has worked for 20 years as an intensive care unit nurse.

Texas Rural Communities to operate fort

A proposal for operation of Fort Lancaster and four other state parks/historic sites by Texas Rural Communities Inc. was reviewed in Austin last week and has possibly been signed by now according to Tom Palmer, Region III supervisor for Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

Palmer, along with directors from other regions affected by state funding cutbacks, and Carolyn Scheffler, who is chief of parks operations, met with TRC parks project director Greg Wortham to review a draft of a proposal for operation of Eisenhower Birthplace, Caddoan Mounds, Starr Mansion, Fort McKavett and Fort Lancaster.

Under the proposal, TRC will assume operation of one facility per month beginning with Eisenhower Birthplace on Feb. 1. Fort Lancaster is scheduled to come under TRC operation May 1. Until that time, the fort will be open 40 hours a week under state funding as in the past.

In the 1930s Texas Rural Communities Inc. went to the federal government for grants to help rural communities. From 1932 to date the corporation's lending has shifted from 80 percent agriculture to 20 percent, Palmer said.

TRC works in areas with population of 25,000 or less helping small businesses and improving the economy through tourism. TRC's goal is to turn the locations it manages into profitable operations in five years. At the end of that time, the facilities will go back to the state. If economic conditions are such that the state cannot resume operation of the parks, this will "be in a mode where private individuals could take over operations as a concessionaire," Palmer said.

Local people will be employed at the fort and TRC will use a strong marketing program for the fort and anything else in the community dealing with tourism according to Palmer. The organization will "network all across the state with the Texas Department of Transportation to get people into the community to see other things."

"I see some real positive things in this," said Palmer. "It can be very profitable for the area."

Palmer said the 5-year agreement with TRC has a one year renewal clause, either party can terminate at that time. The state will completely monitor all activities of TRC at the fort through the regional office. Palmer does not anticipate a cut in the number of days of operation per week, but under the proposal TRC has the option to change hours of operation.

Included in the proposal is a requirement that TRC maintain one million dollars in liability insurance to protect artifacts and structures at the fort.

The state will contribute funds on a declining scale for operation of the five locations to be taken over by TRC. Total amounts per year are: $17,000-1993; $10,833-1994; $6,666-1995; $2,500-1996; and $2,083-1997. TRC will be responsible for repairs at Fort Lancaster up to $15,000 annually, Palmer said. Managers at Caddoan Mounds and Fort McKavett will be kept on the state payroll. Other managers and staff will be employees of TRC.

LUIS MARTINEZ holds the resolution honoring him at his retirement party presented by Crockett County Judge Kathryn Mayfield Jan. 29 for his 35 years of faithful service to the county. Stockman photo

Alpha Alpha Mu Chapter has first meeting of year

Lead poisoning in children was the topic of Alpha Alpha Mu's first meeting of the new year on Jan. 11. The program covered sources of lead around the home, its effects on small children, and methods of removal. Diane Schwertner and Molly Criner hosted the meeting in Diane's home.

During the business meeting that followed, members voted to discontinue volunteering for the annual cancer drive, partially because of having fewer members this year.

Distribution of funds earned from selling poinsettias was discussed. Besides the partial annual scholarship given by Alpha Alpha Mu, three local charities will be chosen to receive donations sometime this spring.

Those present were: Gail Spence, Diane Anderson, Laurie Hale, Ellen Lipsey, Sally Roane, Jackie Necessary, Monica Bendele, Beverly Salonsky, and Tonya Poindexter. Tonya won the door prize.

Children, elderly prone to nosebleeds

Children and the elderly have something in common. Both are prone to nosebleeds, a condition that can be easily treated, says a Baylor College of Medicine ear, nose and throat specialist.

Nosebleeds are one of those annoying problems that many people are not sure how to treat says Dr. John K. Jones, a clinical assistant professor of otorhinolaryngology at Baylor.

"Most of the time, people really don't think of their noses," said Jones. "When a nosebleed occurs, however, it is all they can focus on. Nosebleeds can really be a nuisance. The problem is people are not sure of what to do."

Nosebleeds are most common in childhood, when they are relatively harmless and easily stopped. They do not frequently occur in healthy young adults, but become more common and more serious in the elderly.

"In children, nosebleeds are commonly caused by a blow to the nose, fragile blood vessels, or by dislodging crusts that form in the mucous membrane that lines the nose. Colds or other viral infections can exacerbate the problem," Jones said. "In older people, recurring nosebleeds could signal other problems, such as high blood pressure and anemia. In both teenagers and the elderly, it could be a sign of a tumor of the nose or sinuses."

Most nosebleeds can be controlled by simple first-aid. If this fails to stop the bleeding within 20 minutes, consult a physician. The nose may need to be firmly packed with gauze to apply pressure. In more severe cases, the wound may need to be cauterized, or surgery may be necessary to stop the bleeding.

Jones recommends the following first aid measures:

-Apply pressure to the soft part of the nose for several minutes - not the hard bony portion.

-If bleeding does not stop, soak a piece of cotton in nasal drops such as Neosinephron. Wring the cotton until damp and pack in the nose, squeezing the cotton gently.

-Place a humidifier in the room, especially during winter when heaters can dry out the air. Dry nasal passages are more likely to bleed.

-If your child has a cold or viral infection, use an ointment such as Neosporine in the nose.

-Encourage young children not to place their fingers in their nose, since this is the leading reason for nosebleeds in children. Most outgrow this habit by around age 8 or 10 and nosebleeds should be less of a problem by then.

"Nosebleeds are not something that people like to think about," says Jones. "But knowing what causes them and how to stop them is useful information."

INCOME TAX FORMS

As a courtesy to our patrons we are providing Federal Tax Forms as a public service in the library. Remember that librarians are not trained tax experts, so don't ask them for tax advice. We can help you choose the tax form that fits you best. It may save time if you are able to use one of the shorter forms. You could get a faster refund if you can file Form 1040EZ. Plain or fancy, we've got the forms you need. Don't put off 'till April the dreaded chore of reporting your taxes. Come by the library and get the forms you need.

FRIENDS OF THE LIBRARY

The Friends are now conducting their annual membership drive. If you haven't already renewed your membership, please send it in or come by the public library and fill out a membership form today. Basic dues are only $5.00, and your support is badly needed by the library to purchase equipment, books and for special programs not provided by the county operating budget. The Friends are also kicking off an expansion project for the library.

The Friends are saluting their business members by featuring a different business each month on colorful bookmarks. These business bookmarks are passed out to everyone using the library and are a small way of saying THANK YOU to our business supporters. We couldn't get by without our Friends! Join today and support YOUR public library!

Social Security recipients must report earnings

If you worked and received Social Security benefits in 1992, you have until April 15 to report your earnings to Social Security if you earned over the annual limits. The 1992 earnings limits were $7,440 for beneficiaries under age 65 and $10,200 for beneficiaries age 65-69. The earnings limits do not apply to people who are age 70 and over the entire year.

The purpose of the annual earnings report is to enable Social Security to compare your actual earnings with the estimate you provided when you applied for benefits or when you filed last year's earnings report. The benefits you were paid in 1992 were based on that estimate. If you earned less than you estimated for 1992, you may be due additional money. If you made more than you estimated for 1992, you may have to repay some benefits.

The report should also include an estimate of the earnings you expect to make in 1993. Note the earnings limits for 1993 are $7,680 for beneficiaries under age 65 and $10,560 for beneficiaries age 65-69. Again your benefit check will be adjusted to reflect any excess earnings anticipated.

If Social Security's records show that you expected to have earnings over the 1992 limits, you will be sent an Annual Report of Earnings form in the mail automatically. If you do not receive the report form by the end of February, you should call the toll-free number to have one sent to you.

Failure to report your earnings by April 15 may result in substantial penalties. You can be penalized up to one full month's benefits and be required to repay any over-payment. You should be aware that filing a Federal income tax return does not take the place of filing an annual report to Social Security. Your report may be made by phone if you choose.

To file an earnings report or to get more information, call Social Security's toll-free telephone number, 1-800-772-1213, any business day between 7:00 a.m. and 7:00 p.m.

Prayer to St. Jude

Thank you St. Jude for answering our prayer.
Mr. and Mrs. L.F.

Card of Thanks

Please help me save face!! I have a horrible confession to make. It seems that while in transit from there to here (via Ohio) I have lost track of who I have thanked and who I have not. Perhaps I should explain a little further. I had a beautiful Christmas wedding and so many people honored me with letters, cards and wonderful gifts that I knew my "Thank-you List" would be long. I started immediately! William and I sat up late and wrote family and friends thanking them for their love, support and many blessings. We then had the wedding and took off to see his family in Ohio. We had rented a car and it was fully packed. Then while in Ohio we were given a dog (a pretty little black AKA registered Cocker Spaniel) and a car (Buick Skylark). Then it was on to Panama City for a visit with his grandmother and finally Key West. William is military and we were supposed to have a place waiting for us to sleep and settle in for him to be at work on Monday morning. Nobody could find record of that and we spent eight more hours just dragging each other from one office to another. With luck and prayers of two zombies that could have slept in a box, at that point they got us in.

However, it would be a while before we'd get our pack-out (personal belongings sent early) so we set up house with the wedding gifts that were not packed.

Sitting here now sorting through our little hill of paperwork I've no idea who I've acknowledged and who is wondering if I've even noticed. I am very sorry. The response to our small wedding was so much more than I'd ever expected that I truly wanted to get to each person and let them know how special it all was. I am unable to do this without this card of thanks.

Please know that I think of all of you often and will never forget your kindness. The wedding was perfect and so to my parents, Brother Bill Fuller, Petals and Pearls, Monica Mundell and Tate Montly, your putting up with and being understanding with a crazy person like me—Thank you, your hearts are blessed and I could never asked for better, you are the best!

To all the friends who remembered us—"The saying goes you may not get to choose your relatives but you can choose your friends. I consider you all to be my choice relatives. You are Ozona and my home, my roots. Thank you very much and God bless you!" It is my hope that all of you know how much every letter and every card meant to us. You have all touched our lives and we have special pieces of all of you with us each day to remind us we are loved and I always have a home and a family in Ozona.

Sincerely
Tammy Roach Collins

Church Has Materials To Do What Needs To Be Done

By Dr. Tim Brewer
Ozona United Methodist Church

Being "churchy" is easier than being a faithful disciple of Jesus Christ. It is easier to tend to the needs of the institution of the church, that is the need for financial support, leadership and participation, than to make the radical changes God asks of us. It is easier to invite someone to church than it is to invite someone to a faith journey. It is easier to ask what is going on in church than to ask what is going on in your soul. But Jesus did not come to start another institution. He came to proclaim the Kingdom of God and to show people the way to life and light in that Kingdom. Jesus gathered disciples so that they could learn together and give support to each other as they went from place to place ministering in his name.

So if you are active in a church remember you are called to be a disciple of Jesus Christ rather than a pillar in an institution. You are called to learn together from Jesus and support each other as we are in ministry to hurting people everywhere.

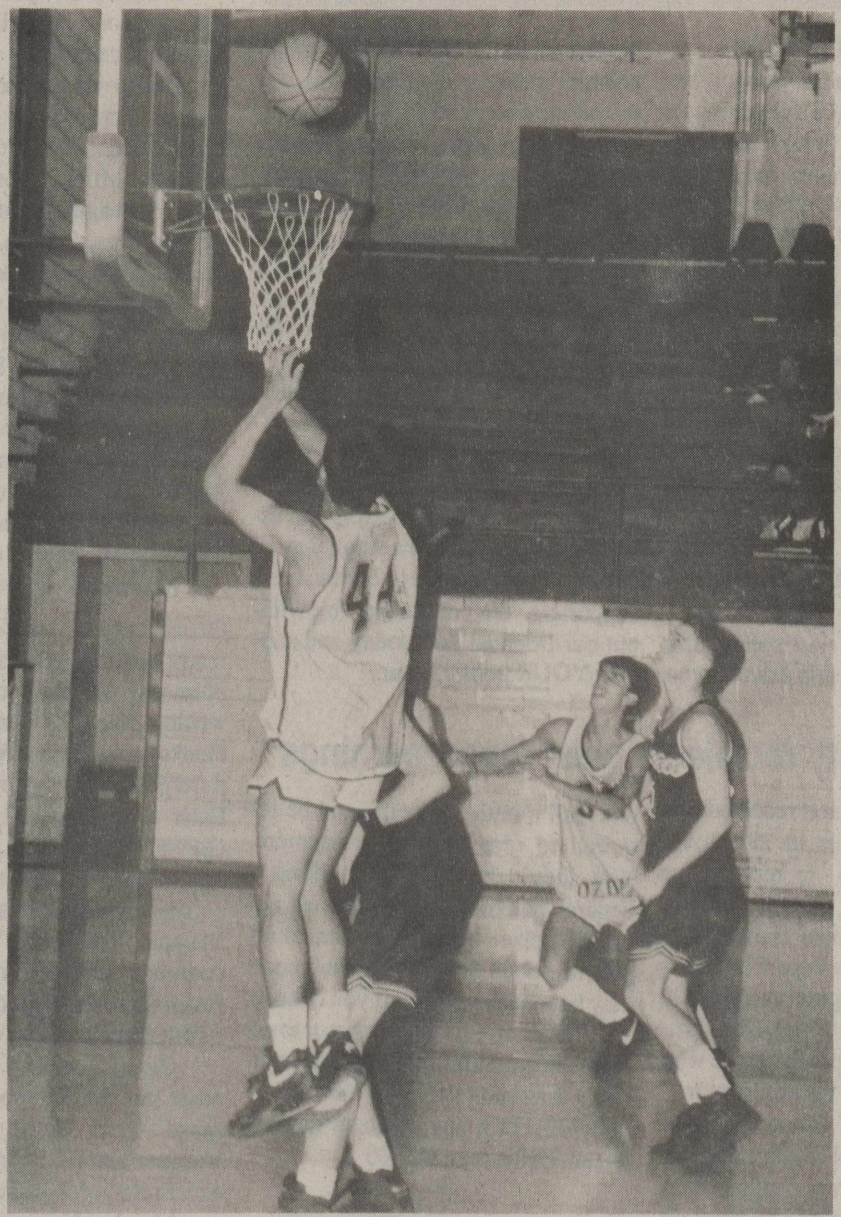

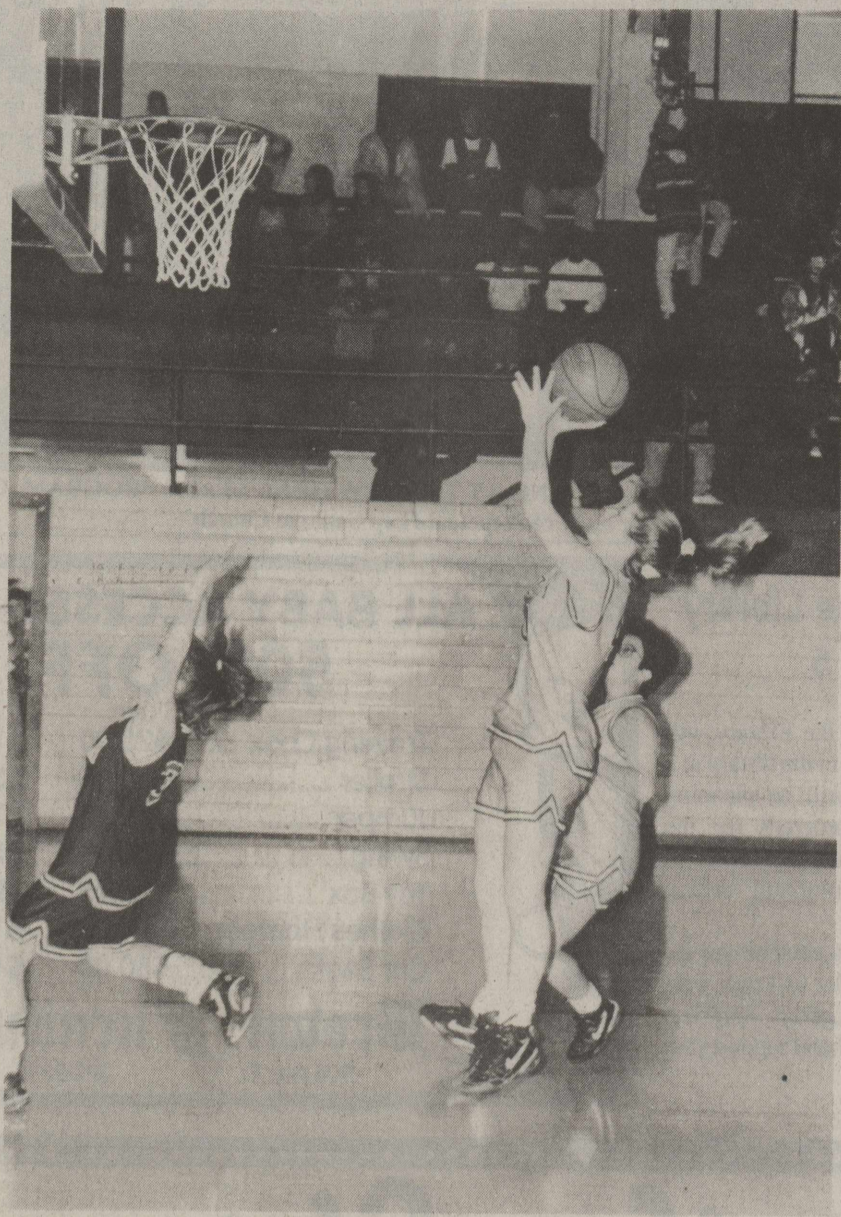

If you do not go to church then where do you get fed spiritually and find support and direction to be in ministry? The institution of the church may have its problems but it has the materials to do what needs to be done.

Mendoza's clutch baskets sink Braves Lady Lions crush Bravettes

by Son Stark

Senior guard Joe Mendoza, the Lions' "blue collar" playmaker, converted both ends of a one-and-one foul shot on two occasions in the waning minutes of the game to preserve a 74-69 victory for Ozona over the Iraan Braves on Tuesday, Jan. 26, in the Ozona gym.

After the Lions led for three quarters, sometimes by as much as 12 points, the momentum then switched to the Braves in the fourth quarter.

With 3:46 left in the final quarter, the Lions led by a 62-54 score. The Lions' offense suddenly went cold and Iraan's offense heated up. The Braves hit two 3-pointers in a row, and things started going from bad to worse for the Lions. The Braves pulled to within four points of the Lions with 2:27 left in the game. It looked as if Ozona was going to "choke" this game away.

Then the Braves fouled Mendoza. He calmly made both foul shots to give the Lions a cushion to work with.

Less than a minute later he was fouled and again he converted both ends of a one-and-one foul shot. The Lions hung on to win their ninth game of the season against 10 losses. The Lions are 3-3 in District 6-2A.

Mendoza led the Ozona offense with 20 points. Chris Sanchez scored 18 points, Alex Borrego 12 points, and Joe Hernandez 11 points.

The Lions shot 36 percent from the field and 71 percent from the foul shot line. The Braves shot 37 percent from the field and 48 percent from the

Texas Senate Week In Review

AUSTIN, Jan. 28, 1993—On Monday, Jan. 26 and Tuesday Jan. 27, the Texas Senate met briefly to refer bills to committee.

On Wednesday the Texas Senate met in Joint Session with the Texas House of Representatives to hear Gov. Ann Richards deliver her "State of the State" address. Included in the Governor's presentation was her state budget proposal entitled "Working for Texas." Among her recommendations: A five percent across the board pay raise for teachers effective Sept. 1, 1993; full funding for alcohol and drug treatment in Texas prisons; restoring most funding cuts proposed by the Legislature in Health and Human Services; and making a life sentence without parole mandatory for capital offenses where the death penalty is not invoked. Gov. Richards added that all her recommendations could be implemented without new taxes. Instead her proposal is based on an estimated $1.8 billion in additional revenue, based on State Comptroller John Sharp's performance review recommendations. Gov. Richards also addressed 2 proposals to her health and Human Services package: Immunization for all children in the State; and the Insurance Availability Act which would guarantee access to basic health care for all Texans.

The Texas senate met on Thursday morning and passed several important pieces of legislation. The Senate first passed SJR 7, public school finance legislation by Sen. Bill Ratliff of Mt. Pleasant, which proposes a constitutional amendment authorizing ad valorem taxation by county education districts if approved by Texas voters on May 1, 1993, after some debate, the SJR was passed by a vote of 27-4. The Senate also passed other legislation relating to the state public school system, SJR 4 and CSSB 131, both by Sen. Teel Bivins of Amarillo. SJR 4 proposes to the voters, in a May 1, 1993 election, a constitutional amendment to authorize the issuance of $750 million dollars in state general obligation bonds to assist school districts in financing facilities and repealing the authorization for $750 million in state revenue bonds guaranteed by the permanent school fund. CSSB 131 establishes the methods for implementing two programs as facilities for equalization of the public schools. The basic program is designed to help districts with the lowest wealth-per-pupil with higher bond indebtedness while the supplemental program will provide funds for districts facing immediate needs caused by rapid growth rate, high tax effort and, to a lesser extent, low property wealth. The Senate also passed out CSSB 4 by Sen. Carl Parker of Port Arthur relating to product liability. The bill contains statutory requirements in products liability suits that would apply regardless of the type of claim being made. Design defect and failure to warn claims involving common consumer products for personal consumption, such as alcohol and tobacco, when the dangers are both inherent in the product and known to the ordinary consumer are eliminated. In cases where a design defect is alleged, the plaintiff would have to prove that there was a safer alternative design and that the actual design was a direct cause of injury, death, or property damage. The Senate stands adjourned until 11:00, Monday, Feb. 1.

Vannoy attends Presidential Youth Inaugural Conference

Miss Whitney Vannoy daughter of Gary and Nancy Vannoy attended The Presidential Youth Inaugural Conference sponsored by the Congressional Youth Leadership Council in Washington, D. C. from Jan. 17 to 21, 1993. Whitney is among 500 outstanding high school students from across the country who had the rare opportunity to experience the inauguration of the 42nd president of the United States, William Jefferson Clinton.

Conference participants, who represent their schools and communities, have been selected by their high school principals based on demonstrated academic achievement, leadership and citizenship. During this one-in-a-lifetime event, the young leaders met with Members of Congress, executive officials, historians, academics, and leading journalists to gain a deeper understanding of the history, tradition, and significance of the American electoral process and the presidential inauguration.

Whitney witnessed the swearing-in ceremony of the 42nd president of the United States and the inaugural parade down Pennsylvania Avenue. Additional program highlights included visits to the offices of the students' Senators and Representatives, a performance at the Kennedy center, and a foreign policy briefing at the State Department. Visits to the Presidential Transition team, the Armed Forces Inaugural Committee and the Presidential Inaugural Committee gave the young leaders a behind-the-scenes look at the presidential campaign, candidates and inauguration. Finally, Whitney's exciting week culminated with a black-tie dinner and the inaugural youth ball, which was visited by V.P. Al Gore and Tipper and President Bill Clinton and Hillary.

This was the third Presidential Youth Inaugural Conference sponsored by the Congressional Youth Leadership Council, a nonprofit, nonpartisan, civic education organization located in Washington, D.C. The Council's mission is to recognize outstanding youth and to provide them with a unique "hands-on" civics learning experience in the nation's capital.

Water camp scholarship contest announced

Students in Crockett County ages 15 and up have an opportunity for a terrific learning experience and week of fun this summer, thanks to the county's two water districts.

The Emerald Underground Water District and the Crockett County Water Control and Improvement District will each sponsor one student to attend the third Texas State 4-H Water Camp slated for July 18-23 in Monahans.

Students who have attended the camp have been treated to a whirlwind week of in-depth experiences, including hands-on water testing, field trips to water treatment and other facilities, and fun-filled days at Balmorhea State Park and Water Wonderland. Participants also enjoy dancing and recreation each evening led by District Six 4-H Council members.

The scholarships are quite generous, commented County Extension Agent Teda Ulmer. "The water districts will pay the $125 registration fee plus $100 which can be used for whatever the participant desires - travel expenses, T-shirts, snacks, etc." The agent noted that transportation is not furnished to the camp - participants are responsible for providing their own transportation - but meals and lodging are included in the registration fee.

Two participants and two alternates will be chosen to go to the 1993 camp. Entrants need to turn in a water conservation slogan and a one-page essay on a topic such as water usage, water conservation or water reuse to the Crockett County Extension Office, Box 969, Ozona 76943, by April 9.

A committee selected by the water district will choose the lucky participants in this year's camp, which has been featured on CNN and several other television news programs in the past.

For more information about the contest, contact Dee Keilers at 392-2730 or the Crockett County Extension Office at 392-2721. Education program such as the Texas 4-H Water Camp are open to all persons, regardless of socioeconomic level, race, color, sex, religion, national origin or handicap.

Agent Ulmer also noted that anyone is welcome to attend Water Camp by completing a registration form and paying fees. Although the actual schedule and forms have not yet been received, Ulmer said anyone interested should contact the Extension Office and be put on a list so they can receive the information as quickly as possible.

DECIDING IF YOUR BUSINESS IS FOR FUN OR PROFIT

How do you decide whether income generated at home should be handled as a hobby or a home-based business? An accountant or tax advisor can tell you for certain, but the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) offers several guidelines to help you decide.

For tax purposes, income from a hobby must be handled differently than income from a business. No clear-cut rule exists to distinguish business income from hobby income. The IRS considers a variety of facts and circumstances, with no one factor being conclusive. So how do you determine what kind of income you have? Some of the factors the IRS considers in making the determination include the following aspects:

A professional manner of business - Approved operating procedures, record keeping, and adoption of improved techniques helps to establish professionalism.

Level of expertise - An income earner who can show a high level of preparation and knowledge in relevant areas is likely to qualify as a business owner. Expertise can be documented through classes, self-study, research or experience. Consultation with authorities can also serve to show expertise.

Amount of time and effort involved - Personal time and effort of the taxpayer will show intent to derive a profit. A taxpayer who has left a paying job to run a business or employs other people indicates dedication of time and effort.

Expected increase in asset value - Businesses which deal with assets that will appreciate, such as land, can show an increase in asset value to establish business income. The asset, however, must be connected to your business.

Past success in similar activities - The IRS primarily looks for success in terms of a profit earned in earlier activities similar to your current business. However, a case could be made for volunteer activities if satisfactory "success" can be shown in another way.

Profit and loss record of the business - A series of years in which a profit is earned is the strongest way to show that an activity is a business. Newly formed businesses will not be expected to show this record. A history of losses because of uncontrollable circumstances, such as depressed market conditions or natural disasters, would not necessarily count against the business.

Occasional profits compared to investment - If profits are realized only occasionally, the IRS will compare them to owner investments. Substantial earnings compared to investment provides a case for business income.

Financial status of the taxpayer - If the business owner does not have other sources of substantial income or wealth, the IRS is likely to classify the activity as a business. If the taxpayer does have substantial income or capital from other sources, a classification of recreation or hobby is likely.

Personal pleasure gained from the activity - Fortunately, the fact that a business owner likes what he or she is doing is not a reason for the IRS to classify the business as a hobby. However, if significant recreational elements are present, a strong case can be made against the business classification. In the case of a free-lance golf pro, for example, complete documentation regarding the other guidelines would help establish a business classification.

For all of the above guidelines, good record keeping is essential. While approved bookkeeping methods provide evidence of profit and loss, other indications might not be so clear. Methods of documentation could include:

A record of any classes or self-study undertaken.

Notes showing the time, place and topic of consultations with authorities.

Clear, concise records of customers and vendors.

A complete, thorough business plan.

Hours noted on a calendar showing ing daily time devoted to the business.

Employment records or performance reviews from previous jobs showing a success record in related fields.

A current net worth statement indicating no dependence on other sources of capital.

Home-based business owners can read more about income classification in the IRS code of regulations. Ask your librarian for assistance in locating and using the code. Section 1.183-2 specifically addresses the issue of profit versus non-profit activities. The regulations provide examples of situations which illustrate evaluations the IRS might make.

Clear documentation is the key. Home business owners who maintain clear, accepted business records are not only likely to be able to prove to the IRS that they are a true business rather than a hobby, but will probably be more likely to make a success of the business.

We also offer free newsletters to small business owners. These are developed by our specialists and often have terrific information you can use. Just give us a call at 392-2721.

SEQUEL RIGHTS - Texas soon will be the only state in the Union where students can study at two presidential libraries.

The Lyndon Baines Johnson Library at UT Austin already attracts scholars from throughout the world. Now Texas A&M has reserved a 90-acre complex for the George Bush Presidential Library Center. It will include a library, a museum and a school of government and public service, plus a center for public leadership studies.

The $42 million project, to be built with private, university and government funds, is scheduled to open in 1997 or before.

Denison-born Dwight D. Eisenhower, first of the three U.S. presidents from Texas, grew up in Abilene, KA, and his library is located there.

4-H kicks off spring projects and activities

Spring projects and activities are getting underway in 4-H. The areas offered include shooting sports (rifle), fashion and design, field and stream, photography and demonstrations or judging teams.

Shooting sports leaders were to meet Tuesday, Feb. 2, and organize the project. Plans at presstime were to begin project meetings around Feb. 8.

4-H members not contacted by a leader to be in a group should call the Extension Office as soon as possible.

The fashion and design project kicked off with a sign-up day and leaders meeting on Jan. 25. There are several components to this project; 4-H members may choose to sew or to do consumer comparison shopping, and a new design curriculum has been added. The Crockett County Extension Agent, Tedra Ulmer, noted that this is a great project for parents hoping to teach their children how to take care of clothing, buy wisely and save money.

Interested youth from the third grade through age 19 can register for the clothing project by calling or coming by the Extension Office until Feb. 18, when the first group project meeting will be held.

4-H photography is also ready to begin, but additional adult helpers are needed. An organizational meeting will be held Thursday, Feb. 11, at 7 p.m. in the small meeting room at the civic center. Topics to be discussed include meeting dates, places and times, project meeting ideas, and both contests and field trips.

The photography project is a great experience for parents and youth to share. Members must furnish their own camera and film; however, any type of camera is fine to use.

Field and Stream, the project in which Crockett County is a leader for the entire state, will begin with an organizational meeting on March 1 at the civic center at 6 p.m.

Coordinator for the project is Tina Moran, who said that at least one parent should be present to sign release forms and hear an overview of the project. The kickoff meeting will be followed by the March 16 meeting featuring outdoor skills and wildlife/nature training, then a field trip on March 20 to the Double T Ranch.

Method demonstration and judging team season is also upon us, and 4-H meetings this month will feature programs explaining what is required as well as signups for categories and teams.

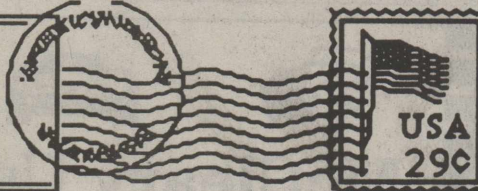

"Demonstrations and judging may be the best experiences we offer in 4-H," said Ulmer, who noted Crockett County has been extremely successful with their demonstrations on the district and state level for the past few years. Anyone who is creative and would like some public speaking experience should participate, she said.

Programs on demonstrations will be held at the Intermediate 4-H Club meeting on Feb. 15 at 3:30 p.m. in the cafeteria; the junior high meeting at noon on Feb. 16 in the Health Room at the junior high (students should bring a lunch); and at the high school meeting at noon on Feb. 17 at the high school Home Economics building.

To sign up for any of the above activities, to join 4-H, for more information, or to volunteer as an adult helper, call the Crockett County Extension Office at 392-2721. Parents are welcome to participate in any of these activities along with their children, and any youth from the third grade to age 19 may participate.

Educational programs such as 4-H which are sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service are open to persons of all ages, regardless of socioeconomic level, race, color, sex, religion, national origin or handicap.

Letters to the Editor

To Whom It May Concern,

Well, Nadine has had her way with 12-hour shifts. On Feb. 1st, all nursing personnel at Crockett County Hospital began working 12-hour shifts and drawing 8 hours of time and 1/2 overtime pay every two weeks.

The local nurses are so in favor of it that those with families are either quitting, going on part-time or getting fired.

After running off so many local, experienced nurses, how is Nadine meeting Medicare's requirements for staffing each shift with 2 nurses? She is hiring agency nurses from out-of-town nursing registries and they are expensive! An agency nurse costs the county approximately 3 times more than a local nurse costs and they take this money out of the county to spend it.

An agency nurse's base day-shift salary starts at $19.50 per hour. Added onto this is overtime, travelling expenses, living expenses while here, evening and night differentials, weekend and holiday differentials (which has long been denied to local nurses because of the expense) plus a substantial "finder's fee" to the registry they work for. And how well can these temporary, transient nurses function in an emergency when they never stay long enough to find their way around the hospital!

Meanwhile, our dedicated, hard-working and essential care center aides are still working with cut salaries in a pathetic attempt to control the cost of nursing care.

Nadine is throwing caution, money and local nurses to the wind. She defies any nurses who disagree with her by handing out resignation and termination forms.

Before Nadine was hired we had an excellent, fair, hardworking Director of Nurses who was instrumental in obtaining our Medicare relicensing. We had plenty of local nurses who were well-satisfied working 8-hour shifts with no overtime and no need for agency nurses.

Now we have Nadine who draws an extra $5,000.00 per year salary for herself. Who is paying for Nadine and her incredible follies? We are, fellow taxpayers, we are!!

Sincerely,
Nancy P. Whitehead R.N.

Holiday mourning dove seasons proposed

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission was briefed on a proposal to split the mourning dove season in the Central and South zones into three segments during its regular public hearing Jan. 21 in Austin.

The proposal would permit a regular fall dove season as well as short Thanksgiving and Christmas dove seasons when young hunters are out of school, said Ron George, deputy chief of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department's wildlife branch. This change would require a federal framework change.

TPWD staff proposed another change in the federal frameworks that would include a four-county area in the lower Rio Grande Valley in the statewide mourning dove daily bag limit which allows six white-winged doves in the 12-dove aggregate limit. Other proposals call for an early teal season and a four-day white-winged dove season in the Special White-winged Dove Area, similar to last year.

Proposed dates for mourning doves are Sept. 1-Nov. 9 in the North Zone; Sept. 1-Oct. 31, Nov. 25-28 and Dec. 26-30 in the Central Zone; and Sept. 24-Nov. 14 (ends Nov. 10 in Special White-winged Dove Area), Nov. 25-28 and Dec. 26-Jan. 8 in the South Zone.

Beginning in 1991, the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service permitted Texas to have six white-winged doves in the 12-dove aggregate daily bag during the regular mourning dove season statewide, except for Starr, Hidalgo, Willacy and Cameron counties where the bag limit is restricted to two whitewings daily. George said the department believes the restriction is overly restrictive and unnecessarily complicates Texas hunting regulations.

If approved, Texans would see an early teal season for the second consecutive year. Proposed dates to hunt, blue-winged, green-winged and cinnamon teal are Sept. 11-19. Bag and possession limits would be four daily, eight in possession.

The department is asking for a whitewing season in the Special White-winged Dove area (except Sanctuary B) for Sept. 4, 5, 11 and 12. Shooting hours would be noon to sunset. Bag and possession limits would be 10 white-winged, mourning and white-tipped doves in the aggregate, including no more than five mourning doves and two whitetips per day.

Daily bag limit during the statewide mourning dove season would be 12 mourning, white-winged and white-tipped doves in the aggregate, including no more than six whitewings and two whitetips per day.

The proposed season for rails statewide is Sept. 1-Nov. 9. The daily and possession bag limits would be 15 and 30, respectively, for King and clapper rails, 25 and 25 for Sora and Virginia rails. The gallinules season is proposed for Sept. 1-Nov. 9 with bag limits of 15 and 30, respectively.

Shooting hours for all early season migratory game birds, except for the special white-winged dove season, would be one-half hour before sunrise to sunset. If approved by the commission and the USFWS, the proposed changes would go into effect Sept. 1. These proposals will be reviewed for final adoption by the commission on July 8.
