Rain Doesn't Dampen Rodeo Spirit

Neal Ulmer, Stockman Sportswriter

A Friday afternoon rain probably had some Ozona Lions Club members worried as they were preparing for their two-day rodeo. The rain ended approximately 40 minutes before the first performance, and it didn't dampen the spirits of the contestants of the 39th Annual Lions Club Youth Rodeo. A total of 115 contestants competed in three age divisions with a total of 8 events.

Gage Crawford, daughter of Terry and Elaine Crawford, was the 1995 winner of the C.E. Davidson Memorial Scholarship presented Saturday night. The scholarship is given annually to the high point local competitor.

Following the grand entry each evening, Lions Club Sweetheart Stormi Sessom was introduced along with the 1995 Princess Court members Codi Richardson, Lana Stewart, Millie Wadsworth, Laura Pierce, Summer Browne, Marie Pierce, Kristen Bunger, Gage Crawford, Lyndsie

Crawford, and Kimberly Bean.

Winners of the all-around buckles were: Gage Crawford, Ozona, 8 & Under Girls; Justin Smith, Big Lake, 8 & Under Boys; Codi Richardson, Ozona, 9-13 Girls; Thomas Schenkel, Sonora, 9-13 Boys; Cami Browder, Sonora, 14-19 Girls; and Josh Blanek, San Angelo, 14-19 Boys.

Bond Election Saturday County Considers Contracting Services

Early voting by personal appearance in a $910,000 bond election ended Tuesday. As of 2 p.m., 200 ballots had been cast.

Four propositions, all relating to building construction or improvements, are being considered in this election which will be held Saturday, Aug. 12.

Proposition 1 is for "the issuance of $695,000 in general obligation bonds for constructing, improving and equipping a county courthouse annex".

Proposition 2 is for "the issuance of $80,000 in general obligation bonds for constructing, equipping and improving a building to be used for public library purposes".

Proposition 3 is for "the issuance of $80,000 general obligation bonds for constructing, equipping and improving a county services building, to include facilities to provide services to senior citizens".

Proposition 4 is for "the issuance of $55,000 general obligation bonds for renovating and improving the existing county courthouse".

Voting will be conducted on Aug. 12 from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. with Pct. 1 voters balloting at the courthouse, Pct. 2 at the county road barn, Pct. 3 at the civic center, Pct. 4 at the primary school and Box 36 at the WTU power plant at Girvin.

Commissioners talked about contracting some or all of their parks and grounds maintenance services when they met in called session Monday night. Eight employees work this section now, three of which are assigned to the cemetery.

No action was taken, but the option is to be considered further. Judge Jeffrey Sutton is to obtain samples of bid specifications to show commissioners at their Aug. 14 meeting.

The court opened four bids for the sanitary sewer improvements project. No action was taken on the bids. They were to be reviewed by the water control district at a Tuesday night meeting, and recommendations are to be made to the court on Aug. 14.

Bidders are Rhode Construction Company, Alvin E. Stock Company,

Roberts Construction Company and Damell - Dixon Construction Company.

Unanimous approval was given to repair a motorgrader. The vote provided for expenditures of up to $14,500 in repair costs.

Commissioners also voted to approve enrollment of water district employees in the county health insurance pool. County and water district money and payments will remain separate, but employees of both entities will be in the same insurance pool.

Catastrophic illness in one area will not affect the other, Sutton said.

Water lines and paving on Ave. I were discussed among the court members and with Dee Keilers of the water district.

Miss Hagelstein, Mr. Sanders Repeat Vows In Waco

Mrs. Brock David Sanders

Lea Ashley Hagelstein and Brock David Sanders were united in marriage Saturday, the eighth day of July, 1995. The ceremony was held at the First Baptist Church in Waco with the Rev. Brock Sanders, father of the bridegroom, officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Rick and Thomas Hagelstein of China Spring and granddaughter of the late Fred and Totsy Hagelstein of Ozona. Parents of the bridegroom are Brock and Peggy Sanders of Lorena.

The bride was escorted and given in marriage by her father. She chose a designer original sheath gown of imported pilla with heavily jeweled Alencon lace with fitted basque bodice, sweetheart neckline and long tapered sleeves complete with beaded petal points. Lace scalloped the hemline, and a heavily jeweled detachable cathedral train was accented by a back peplum. A jeweled bandeau held a cathedral-length English illusion veil.

The bride's bouquet was a cascade of white Florabunda roses, Champagne roses, Anna roses, white Freesia, white Lisianthus and white Dendrobium orchids with accents of variegated ivy trails and bunches of rosemary.

Maids of honor were Amber Hagelstein and Aubin Hagelstein, sisters of the bride. They wore two piece gowns of emerald silk with sweetheart necklines, short sleeves and fitted bodices accented with self-braid trim and straight floor-length skirts. They carried tied bunches of Porcelano spray roses with accents of variegated ivy and rosemary.

Bridesmaids were Julie Harris and Martha Ann Sanders, sisters of the bridegroom. Stephanie Elliot, cousin of the bride, Kelly Leverett, Karen Doggett, Christy Compton and Adrian Riggs, life-long and college friends of the bride. They wore floor-length gowns of emerald silk with sweetheart necklines, short sleeves and fitted bodices accented with self-braid trim. They carried tied bunches of Porcelano spray roses with accents of variegated ivy and rosemary.

Amanda Harris, niece of the bridegroom, was the flower girl. She wore a white silk floor-length gown that included a scoop neckline, short sleeves and fitted bodice. The back was accented with tiny covered buttons, and a small bow, with a full belle skirt with scalloped, beaded lace accenting the hemline. She carried a small posie of roses and wore a head-piece of roses with accents of variegated ivy and larkspur tips.

Honorary bridesmaids were Sari Elliot of San Angelo and Haley Holden of Ozona, both cousins of the bride.

They registered guests at the guest table. They wore matching short sleeved champagne sheath dresses embroidered in heavy gold lace embossed with silk trim. Their corsages were of Champagne roses and white Dendrobium orchid heads.

Lynn Sanders of Austin, uncle of the bridegroom, was best man. Groomsmen included Robby Hagelstein, brother of the bride, Keith Harris, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, Chad Garlington, Matt Buckner, Scott Green, Brett Meyers, Kenny Gardner and Jaime Olivarez, life-long and college friends of the bridegroom.

Ring bearer was Trent Sanders of Austin, cousin of the bridegroom. Honorary groomsmen were Blake Harris, nephew of the bridegroom, and Bo Sanders, cousin of the bridegroom. Ushers included Robert Feight, Russell Lamb and Matt Murphy, life-long friends of the bride.

The bridegroom wore a black tuxedo, complete with white vest, white wing collar shirt and tails. The groomsmen, ring bearer, and ushers wore black single-breasted tuxedos, white shirts and black ties. All wore boutonnieres of Champagne roses and rosemary. The honorary groomsmen wore white cotton line one-piece suits with tuxedo pleated tops and knee pants with white knee socks.

The sanctuary was decorated with Torchere candles and columns. On top of the columns were flowers and cascading soft pink La Revé lilies, peach stock and Dendrobium orchids, Porcelana and Anna roses, ivy, abelia, eleagnus and magnolia greenery. On the choir rail was loose cascading ivy.

On the back of two of the aisles of the church were Torchere candles and arrangements of roses, ivy, abelia and eleagnus. These were also located on two of the aisles at the front of the church. Looped rows of organza ribbon connected the pews in the center aisle, permitting only the wedding family, attendants and bride to walk down this aisle. The baptistry arrangement was of "Orchid Branches" and greenery.

Waco Symphony Orchestra string quartet played various selections while guests were being seated along with a duet entitled "All I Ask of You" sung by Wanda Shipp of Waco and John Scott Davis of Dallas. Pianist Jason Young of Waco played "Jessica's Theme" during the seating of the honorary bridesmaids and groomsmen. During the seating of the grandparents, Jason Young played "Jesus, Joy of Man's Desiring". Mr. Young played "How Beautiful", a solo sung by Amy Williams of Waco, during the seating of the mothers. The bridegroom and his attendant entered to Pachelbel's "Canon In D" played by the Waco Symphony String Quartet. The bride's processional was "The Bridal Chorus" played by Jason Ranton, organist. Soloist Wanda Shipp sang "The Lord's Prayer" during the prayer which was after the marriage ceremony. The recessional was "The Wedding March" again played by Jason Ranton of Waco.

The reception was held at the home of the bride's parents in China Spring. Guests were assisted by valet parkers and then walked up the driveway lined with hurricane lights and coach lights accented with white bows. The reception was held in the back yard around the pool. The perimeter of the yard was lined with shrubbery intertwined with twinkle lights. Guest tables and chairs were located on the lawn. These tables were covered with white linen tablecloths and decorated with crystal rose bowls containing candles and greenery.

The front patio, located under a 200-year-old live oak tree, held the bride's cake. It sat atop an old rock well that had been covered with a round glass top with red and green calladiums and ferns growing at the base of the well. The bride's cake was a six tier almond-flavored cake iced with ivory icing. The top three tiers were separated with pillars. Scroll work with icing dots decorated each tier. The top of the cake was adorned with a bride and bridegroom figurine which had been used on the bride's mother's and aunt's wedding cakes. Champagne, Anna and Cream Essence roses decorated the cake along with freesia, orchids, lockspur and variegated ivy. Punch was served from an antique silver punch bowl belonging to the bride's great aunt and uncle, Blanche and Lefty Walker of Ozona.

The bridegroom's table, also located on the front patio, had a silver family epergne on it that contained La Revé lilies, Anna roses, Cream Essence roses, Liviaroses, Marlyse roses and Confidense roses. The bridegroom's cake was a three-tier chocolate cake with chocolate icing. There was a chocolate woven basket on top of the cake filled with chocolate dipped strawberries cascading down the cake and entwined with ivy. Coffee was served from a silver coffee service.

The pool cabana was decorated with tulle, greenery and twinkle lights. Buffet tables were located under the cabana and held an assortment of silver pieces offering shrimp, chicken tenders, roast beef, antipasto table, cheeses, fried mushrooms, sausages, egg rolls and various dips, crackers, rolls and breads. A three-tier fruit bar contained various fresh fruits, whipped cream, and dipping chocolate. Tables were decorated with silver candelabras, white wisteria, fresh roses, English ivy and white tulle.

The couple honeymooned on a cruise in the Caribbean. They reside in Waco where she is a registered nurse with the McLennan County Health Department. The bridegroom is a computer specialist with J-Hawk Corporation.

Family and friends who attended from Ozona and west Texas were the Lefty Walkers, Deeney and Haley Holden and the Gary Vannoys of Ozona, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Coates of Uvalde, the Moe Barbee family and the David Childress family of Midland.

Anger Is Dynamite

By Dennis J. Prutow

Amazingly, the Bible says, "Be angry, and yet do not sin" (Ephesians 4:26). The Bible also tells us "outbursts of anger" are among the "deeds of the flesh" (Galatians 5:19-20). The Bible exhorts you to "let all bitterness and wrath and anger... be put away from you" (Ephesians 4:31). How can this happen? How can you be angry and yet not sin?

Here is a clue. "tremble (with anger), and do not sin; meditate in your heart upon your bed, and be still" (Psalm 4:4). The point is simple. When we get angry, we tend to attack others. We lash out at them with a torrent of verbal abuse. The better part of wisdom is to "be still". We should bite our tongues and keep silent. Why? The real sin comes in verbal abuse or worse yet in physical abuse. Anger can build into hate which in turn takes vengeance. And so you'd better watch out! You'd better remember the words of Jesus. "You have heard that the ancients were told, 'You shall not commit murder' and 'Whoever commits murder shall be liable to the court.' But I say to you that everyone who is angry with his brother shall be guilty before the court" (Matthew 5:21-22). Anger, which is not controlled, is like dynamite. When it explodes, everyone suffers. Such is the nature of sin.

Lone Star Events

Sept. 4—Cowboy Horse Races, Brackettville. This event takes place every Labor Day at Alamo Village, seven miles north of Brackettville. Alamo Village is a reproduction of the Alamo built in the 1950s for the John Wayne movie The Alamo. Cowboy horse races take place on the main street and anyone is invited to enter the contest. The only qualifications are that contestants ride a non-registered horse, ride Western style, and are not professional jockeys. These wild and fast races promise to provide excitement for all who attend. Visitors are also invited to wander around to see the buildings, stores, and museums that make up this working movie set. Everything from feature films to commercials are still shot here, using the buildings to provide an authentic western backdrop. For more information, contact Alamo Village, Box 528, Brackettville, 78832. 210/563-2580.

Sept. 15-16—Diez y Seis de Septiembre Celebration, Del Rio. This event celebrates Mexico's call for independence from Spain on September 16, 1810. Del Rio, along with its neighboring city in Mexico, Ciudad Acuña, commemorates the anniversary with a weekend full of activities in Del Rio's historic Brown Plaza. The fiesta includes cultural events, folk dancing, poetry readings, and arts and crafts. For more information, contact the Del Rio Chamber of Commerce, 1915 Avenue F, Del Rio, 78840. 210/775-3551.

Business As Usual?

Is your world turning just the way it always has? Or have you begun to wonder why there are so many changes taking place? Even the weather patterns are different. Why has being a patriotic American taken a back seat to Mother Earth? Why are so many Americans using words nowadays like "Global" and "New Age"? I've even heard our President use these words and many more. It looks to me like every major industry in America has gone through a destabilizing. Look at our American oil industry, or the farmers, or the savings and loans. Now it seems as though many ranchers are facing drastic money shortages as well. If you really want to know where all this is heading then read Revelation 13. I'm not a fatalist nor am I a doomsday preacher. I'm simply stating facts that either have happened or very soon will occur. God's word has never been wrong; it has been rejected, but never disproved. I know that in my own life the Bible brings me peace in light of all the suffering in the world. As a minister I've been to the heart breaking cancer wards in Houston's big hospitals. I've seen the homeless sleeping on the sidewalks in Southern California. They have to stay awake at night for fear of robbers, then they sleep all day. Remember ya'll; that in this day of upheaval and change, God is still God and Jesus is still the Prince of Peace! - Revelation 3:20 & 21.

Ease Control On Kid's Eating

Dietitians and anthropologists have found the way we feed our children may be contributing to eating disorders. The pattern of forcing children to eat and finish food in spite of their desires leads to conflict, stress and abnormal eating habits.

Dr. Madeleine Sigman, assistant professor of food science at Penn State, says when parents insist children eat, children will give in reluctantly or refuse. "Mealtime difficulties--complaining, pleading, threatening, yelling and crying--can indicate a serious power struggle between parent and child."

What causes this power struggle? According to Sigman, the primary issue is children's need to feel they have control over their own bodies.

"Although children have all the internal cues of hunger and fullness, pleasure and repulsion, parents often ignore or override these feelings," says Sigman. "Examples of this behavior are a mother forcing her infant to finish all the formula in the bottle to keep him from crying and a father giving huge portions to his child and insisting they be eaten, because he himself was poor as a child."

Not all cultures share this pattern or have our range of eating disorders. In South Pacific Island cultures, parents allow children to choose the amounts they will eat, since the variety is limited. Conversely, Euro-American parents tend to offer huge varieties in order to encourage their children to eat more.

How can this pattern of food control be changed? Ellyn Satter, registered dietitian, social worker and specialist on feeding behavior problems, offers specific advice: "Parents are responsible for what food is presented and the manner in which it is presented. Children are responsible for how much and whether they eat."

Satter recommends that these divisions of responsibilities be set in infancy so that children are never out of touch with their internal cues. What parents can do is control the eating environment--the food offerings and the dining place and time. "By sharing responsibilities, parents can balance overprotection and permissiveness, just as they should in the other areas of interaction," Sigman explains.

If the child refuses to eat, Sigman says to allow the child to refuse. "However, set up limits on behavior, such as food throwing, and consequences for refusal, such as no food until snack time. This way the parent is not victimized and the child still has the power of choice."

The approach of setting up limits and consequences is supported by child psychologists, who recommend that all areas of child raising be given this type of structure. The benefits of making these behavior changes include not only happier mealtimes but also less chance that children will develop chronic eating disorders such as obesity, bulimia and anorexia nervosa.

For more information, call County Extension Agent Tedra Ulmer at 392-2721 or come by the Extension Office on the top floor of the Courthouse Annex.

Celebrant Singers To Appear In Ozona Concert

Jon Stenkoski's Celebrant Singers, an internationally-known Christian music ministry, will present a community-wide concert on Wednesday, Aug. 16, at 7 p.m. at the Catholic Parish Hall at 302 Vitela Street. The concert is free of charge, and a free-will offering will be taken.

Concert attendees will be treated to contemporary Christian music, praise and worship, and personal testimony and ministry. Featuring 10 singers and a 12-piece orchestra, Celebrant Singers will inspire and bless as they share the Gospel of Jesus Christ through a musical celebration.

"Celebrant Singers is not 'just another music group'. Our objective is to share the love of Christ," said Celebrant Singers founder Jon Stenkoski. "It's a powerful ministry. It will touch your heart. Bring your family and friends - it's an experience you won't soon forget."

Celebrant Singers have traveled throughout all 50 states, all Canadian provinces, and 65 foreign nations and have sung to more than four million people in live concerts and countless others via broadcast media. Nations of ministry include India, Iran, Egypt, East and West Africa, Latin America, Europe (including the former Eastern Bloc), Cuba, Haiti, the People's Republic of China, and most recently, Vietnam.

During 1995, seven teams of Celebrant Singers will present more than 1,400 concerts in some 17 nations, six Canadian provinces and all 50 states.

The Ozona Knights of Columbus Council #8572 dedicated a monument Sunday, Aug. 6, at our Lady of Perpetual Help Catholic Church. A similar monument has been placed at almost every council across the U.S.

Words inscribed on the monument say, "Baby - I will never forget you, behold I have inscribed you on the palm of my hand. Isaiah 49:15-16. "In loving memory of the innocent victims of abortion. This monument stands as a testimony to the sanctity of life. Knights of Columbus #8572."

Leading the Knights of Columbus #8572 is Grand Knight David Delgado. He, along with Raymond Borrego, Sam Vargas, Francisco Esparza, Emilio Gutierrez, Betto Ramos, Jimmy Tambunga, Johnny Rodriguez, Juan Flores and Fr. Bill Du Buisson were present for the monument dedication.

Inactive Well Operators Need to Move Fast To Qualify For Severance Tax Exemption

AUSTIN - Oil and gas operators may be able to qualify for state severance tax exemptions on inactive wells despite a current requirement that the well be capable of producing, Texas Railroad Commission (RRC) Chairman Barry Williamson said.

In a letter to well operators across the state, Williamson strongly encouraged operators to submit an application for the tax exemption "without regard to whether the well can demonstrate productive capability".

Current requirements for the 10-year exemption - known to the industry as the 3-Year Inactive Incentive - include proof that the inactive well is capable of producing hydrocarbons, but has not done so for more than one month over the past three years.

The deadline to submit applications to the RRC to qualify for the 3-Year Inactive Incentive is Aug. 31, 1995.

The 3-Year Inactive Well Incentive Program has been an unqualified success, according to Williamson. Since its beginning in 1993, 4,022 oil and gas wells, capable of producing 13.4 million barrels of oil and 156.4 billion cubic feet of gas a year, have been certified. The Commission estimates the value of that production at $531 million and the positive impact on the Texas economy at $1.5 billion.

Recently, Williamson instructed his staff to reevaluate the production capability requirement. The requirement that the wells must have been inactive at least three years remains intact, he pointed out.

"We're trying to get every last one of these wells we possibly can back on line," Williamson said. "If operators will submit their applications to the Commission by Aug. 31, 1995, there is a chance they will qualify and can produce for 10 years without having to pay severance tax," Williamson said.

Williamson has researched the issue to find ways to qualify wells before the incentive expires.

Operators are invited to call the RRC Oil and Gas Division's Production Allocation section at 512 463-6838 if they have additional questions about the incentive.

Parents: Time To Get Ready For School Year

Children are not the only ones who should prepare for a new school year. Parents also need to gear up.

"Parenting is tough as a new school year starts," said Dr. James Bray of Baylor College of Medicine in Houston.

Many parents do not set guidelines at home, so school rules may be difficult for children. By creating home rules, parents can help.

Bray also recommends not overly pressuring children to achieve. Parents should respect individual strengths.

Other suggestions include:
*Getting involved in children's homework.

*Attending parent-teacher organization meetings and arranging meetings with teachers to check on progress.

*Teaching children social skills to help them get along with schoolmates.

*Praising children for work well done.

They enjoyed "tropical days and lavish nights along the beach". Several places they visited were the Cathedral Nuestra Señora de la Soledad, the historic Fort of San Diego and La Quebrada famous cliff divers. They also enjoyed a sunset cruise on the yacht Bonanza where they enjoyed the beautiful bay and were able to see the most interesting points of Acapulco, including movie stars' private homes.

These charges are the maximum that can be charged regardless of the number of exchanges that are approved by the voters in the Ozona exchange.

Expanded Toll-Free Local Calling will be granted to each exchange with a "Yes" vote from 70% of the people who actually return their ballots. Exchanges that fail to receive a 70% "Yes" vote will not be added to the local calling scope. If all exchanges fail to meet the requirements of the ballot, service will not change and customers will not be billed an additional monthly fee.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Scotty,
I have some serious reservations in regard to the upcoming Bond Election August 12th. First of all, I would like to question the Bond Election Fact Sheet that came out in the July 26, 1995 edition of the Ozona Stockman. The fact sheet stated that the Crockett County tax base will show a substantial increase over the next five years, where in fact our next years tax base will be down 10 million dollars. Not only in Crockett County's tax base down, Reagan County is down 25 million, Schleicher County is down 5 million, and Sutton County is down 42 million. In my opinion this should send up a red flag of concern to our commissioners. As a taxpayer, I would like to know the facts by which they base this substantial increase.

Another question I would like to address is the estimated tax increase. The fact sheet states the estimated increase for the intire bond issue, but fails to mention what the increase would be for each individual Proposition in the event one or more should fail. It appears that the public has not been fully informed of all the facts surrounding this issue.

Historically, increases in taxes to pay off bond indebtedness are very seldom recended when the bonds reach maturity and are payed off. It is always easier to raise taxes than it is to lower them after they have been established.

I do not question the need for some of the projects mentioned in the four Propositions, though in my opinion, some of them should not be financed through taxation. I do question our commissioners eagerness to burden the taxpayers of Crockett County with additional taxes to finance these projects. The private sector has to live within a budget, make sacrifices and save to aquire additional needs. I long for the day that our Federal, State and Local Governments will disipine themselves to do the same.

Sincerely,
Dennis Clark

4-H'ers Busy With Crockett Celebration

4-H members were busy this past weekend with activities in the David Crockett Birthday Celebration and Lions Club rodeo.

Friday morning, a brave group met at the civic center to construct a giant birthday cake. 4-H members made cakes at home and brought them to add to the 4-foot by 4-foot cake, which required frosting made from 12 pounds of powdered sugar.

Making and bringing cakes were the Maskill, Shaffer, Porter, Bangement, Bunger, Carson and Tambunga families. Decorating were: Marsha Maskill, Ty Porter, Bobbie Sue Bangement, Kristin Bunger, G. L. Bunger, Amanda Carson, Trey Hale, Clint Hale, Clay Hale and Claressa Tambunga. They were assisted by Mrs. Tammy Bunger, Mrs. Debbie Bange-man and County Agent Tedra Ulmer. Louis Bunger provided supervision and commentary.

The completed cake was a representation of the Alamo with Crockett's birth and death dates and "Be sure you're right..." plus various curliques and floral decorations in purple, green and gold on a white background.

4-H members were also on hand at the youth dance on Friday evening to help serve the cake, and Amanda Carson served lemonade to the Crockett relatives and spectators at the gazebo on Saturday afternoon following the parade. Trey Hale carried the 4-H flag in the parade, and numerous 4-H members participated in the parade, rodeo and princess' court.

For more information on how you can be a part of the fun in 4-H - and learn through doing - call the Crockett County Extension Office at 392-2721. Educational and other programs such as 4-H conducted through the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages, regardless of socioeconomic level, race, color, sex, religion, national origin or disability.

Anyone may join 4-H if they are between the ages of 8 (in the third grade) and 19. There is no cost to join, and the cost to participate in activities depends on which activities you choose and the extent to which you participate. Parents are welcome and encouraged to participate with their children. Leaders and helpers for projects are always needed.

Cancer Prevention Information Available At Library

Cancer is one of these topics that most people want to avoid. But avoid it now and it may haunt you later.

Many West Texans would argue that cancer rates seem to be high in this part of the state. Too many people die each year from the disease. Early detection, finding out right away that a cancer is growing, gives you the best chance of being cured. The American Cancer Society has developed seven warning signs for the detection of cancer.

1. Change in bowel or bladder habits.
2. A sore that does not heal.
3. Unusual bleeding or discharge.
4. Thickening or lump in breast or elsewhere.
5. Indigestion or difficulty in swallowing.
6. Obvious change in wart or mole.
7. Nagging cough or hoarseness.

However, it is important to know that cancer doesn't always give a warning. Other activities can be undertaken to prevent the disease from occurring. These activities include eating more high fiber foods and foods rich in vitamins A and C. Avoid foods high in fat, and if you drink alcohol, do so only in moderation. Don't smoke or use tobacco products. Protect yourself from the sun by wearing a hat and putting on sunscreen with a SPF (sun protection factor) of 15 or higher.

The American Cancer Society estimates 92 percent of the people who die from cancer would have lived if the disease had been found early. That is 92 percent of the mothers, fathers, daughters, sons, grandmothers, grandfathers and friends who might be alive today.

For more information about what you can do to prevent or detect cancer, check with your health care provider. In addition, the Texas Tech University Health Sciences Center has placed a resource of free cancer prevention information for Crockett County residents at the Crockett County Library in Ozona.

Visitors Treated To A Fun-filled Weekend

Neal Ulmer, Stockman Sportswriter

Visitors were greeted with West Texas hospitality and a full schedule of events at the Annual David Crockett Birthday Festival and the 39th Annual Ozona Youth Rodeo. The rodeo opened the celebration last Friday with their first of two performances along with the David Crockett Birthday Party and a youth dance with music provided by the Sueno Tejano Band.

Bright and early Saturday morning a 5 K and a 1 K Run Romp were held at the Crockett County Park along with a community wide breakfast sponsored by the West Texas Rehabilitation Center of San Angelo. Several members of the Crockett clan participated in the 5 K race. Kids enjoyed flying kites donated by Town & Country Village Supermarket and watching the lawnmower race.

Several interesting exhibits brought wows from adults as well as from children as they gazed at six antique cars of the Ford V-8 Club and Ozonans Jim Hearne and Dennis Clark. Visitors were also amazed at an exhibit by the Texas Parks and Wildlife from the A. E. Word Fish Hatchery in San Marcos. Cindy Hobson a pollution biologist and Karen Guinonez, an intern of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, astonished visitors with their knowledge of aquatic insects. These stream insects that hide under rocks in rivers and lakes help determine the amount of water pollution.

Guests were able to purchase goods from many arts and crafts booths which included cakes and breads, jewelry, clothing, fishing lures made from sotols, photos, wreaths, and wooden crafts. An exhibit of photographs of former youth rodeo queens was also on display in the convention center.

A reception for 15 of the Texas Clan of Direct Descendants of David Crockett sponsored by the Crockett County 4-H Club was held later in the afternoon. Crockett descendants from as far away as Myrtle Beach, South Carolina and Richardson, Texas also rode along in the rodeo parade. A Tae Kwon Do karate demonstration was held before the reception and parade.

Saturday night brought the second performance of the rodeo, and an adult dance performed by Bitter Creek, sponsored by the Ozona Chamber of Commerce rounded out the evening.

On Sunday a cowboy church service was conducted by Monty Price of Iran followed by the Annual Jay Miller Memorial Roping. Blue Grass music was provided by Concho Grass from San Angelo late Sunday evening. The group consisting of Nelson McGee on the guitar, Marty Galyean banjo, Jake Wyatt bass, and Paul Batten on the mandolin provided several foot-stomping songs.

They also rendered several moving songs in the Music in the Park sponsored by the United Methodist Church. A brass section consisting of Jo Lynn Vannoy, Adam Carroll, Norman Carroll, and Rodney Payton played one song followed by a few songs from Vicki Stokes, Sandy Stokes, and Brock Jones.

The lawnmower race sponsored by the Crockett County Library was won by John L. Henderson III. His prizes were a TV universal remote control and Mickey Mouse ears donated by Circle Bar Cable TV. Second place was won by Perry Hubbard, the wildest racer. He received an airbag and repair kit. Third place was won by Roylan Sullivan who rode Rick Hunnicutt's mower. She received a foam rubber cushion and a mobile phone. Fourth place was won by Best Dressed Lucy Perner. She received a spray can of Off and two dust masks.

Ozona's Survive the Hill 5-K Fun Run Saturday brought out the best in competitors as they made their way along the route.

Overall winners were Charles Villarreal in the men's 19 and under division with a time of 16:30:15 and Lori Sanchez for the women's division with 22:04:23.

Second place winners in this division were Cody Porras with 20:53:18 for the men and Ana Crockett with 46:44:04 in the women's division.

Other results for the men's divisions were:
20-29 - 1 Eric Davey 23:04:32
30-39 - 1 Cruz Garza 20:44:23; 2 Ismael Villarreal Sr. 21:42:26
40-49 - 1 Dennis Clark 26:42:51
50-59 - 1 Jim Davey 30:04:19; 2 Chuck Cosper 34:10:20
Additional competition divisions for the women included:
20-29 - 1 Penny Shoush 23:34:10;
2 Tamel Tumlinson 29:06:77
30-39 - 1 Brenda Plendal 34:17:83; 2 Renee Casey 43:47:28
40-49 - 1 Carolyn Taylor 42:56:67; 2 Patricia Sutton 43:04:27

Donna and Royce Hightower completed a tour with their Airstream last month which enables them to say they have now been in all the lower 48 states and Alaska.

After leaving Ozona on May 4 and spending a few days in Abilene with son Sam, the journey really began. They traveled to Arkansas and stayed on the Mississippi River in West Memphis and watched the barges. "Our campground provided a lovely setting to relax in and just watch the world go by," said Donna.

Things were more exciting in Indianapolis, IN, however. There they stayed on the fairgrounds and attended the Indy 500 on May 29. They toured Gasoline Alley and attended the qualifying parade. As part of a group of 120 people, they gathered for breakfast each day, received programs and daily information on qualifiers and other items pertinent to the race.

"The noise is terrific, so everybody wears earplugs and carries radios to listen to the happenings," Donna explained. "The only thing you see is what happens in front of you." The 500 is the country's largest sporting event attendance wise.

From Indianapolis, they traveled to Mackinac City, MI, and took a 15 minute jet boat to Mackinac Island. No motorized vehicles are allowed on the island, which has beautiful homes, a national park and old fort. They viewed the island from a horsedrawn wagon.

Then it was on to Sault Ste. Marie where their campground was on the Sainte Mary's River. There they watched large freighters come and go and took a boat trip through the Soo Locks. Donna said there is a 21 foot difference between Lake Superior and the lakes. All ships pass through the four locks free of charge. MacArthur Lock was constructed in 1943 with a length of 800 feet and 80 foot width. Poe was constructed in 1968 at a length of 1200 feet and width of 110 feet. Davis, the oldest lock, was constructed in 1914 at 1350 feet and 80 foot width. The Sabin Lock was constructed in 1919 and is also 1350 feet long and 80 feet wide. These locks are manned 24 hours a day, seven days a week by the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers.

Next stop was Sugar Land, OH, where there is one of the country's largest colonies of Amish people. There are several different types of Amish, and each group has different ideas they go by, she said. The black buggies and black clothing were very common in this area. A bus tour into the countryside affirmed that the homes and farms are very neat, according to Donna. "They take care of their elderly by having a house right next to theirs. The land is handed down from generation to generation. The bus driver said he didn't know the price of land as none had been sold around that area." Handicrafts, food and pottery were available to buy through the area.

On to Bowmansville, PA, and a tour of the Gettysburg Battlefield, then the Hightowers went to Valley Forge and Philadelphia. They toured the Independence National Historical Park, which includes the Second Bank of the United States, Carpenter's Hall, Liberty Bell Pavilion, Congress Hall, Bishop White House and Independence Hall.

At Hershey, PA, they availed themselves of the opportunity to tour the Hershey factory and sample the candy. The gift shop there even offered personalized chocolate candy. Streetlights downtown are shaped like Hershey Kisses.

Upon reaching Amherst, MA, they united with 2400 other Airstreamers. This was the site for the group's 38th international meeting. Several countries were recognized during the 10 days they were there. At this meeting, different activities are offered during the day, and a nightly program is held. A program book is provided, and campers choose what to attend. Among the activities were morning devotions, crafts, program for people attending for the first time, choirs, talent shows, style show, bird watching, costume contest, tow vehicle seminar and more. The night program included Canada night and musical and comedy performances by groups from around Amherst. Mark

Russell performed one night.

From there the Hightowers went to Washington, DC, where they toured the White House and Smithsonian Institutes. They visited Arlington National Cemetery to watch the changing of the guards at the tomb of the Unknown Soldier, saw the Kennedy graves, the Iwo Jima Monument, Vietnam Wall and Jefferson Monument. While at the White House, they walked through the Red Room, Blue Room, Vermeil Room and hallways where the presidents' pictures hang. They saw full-length pictures of Jacquelyn Kennedy and Nancy Reagan.

After leaving Washington, DC, they traveled through North and South Carolina, Georgia, Mississippi, Louisiana and on into Texas. In Mississippi they toured the battlefield at Vicksburg.

Eldorado Celebrates Centennial

Eldorado will mark its 100th year with special celebrations this week. A chuckwagon dinner is planned for Thursday evening, Aug. 10, at the Bunton East Ranch approximately 10 miles southeast of town on Ranch Road 2596. Special guests at the event will include Clay Lindley, a cowboy storyteller from Marfa, Schleicher County pioneer Jewell Bailey of Ozona, and Elmer Kelton, world renowned western author and storyteller. Following the yarns around the campfire, an old-fashioned barn dance is slated for 9 p.m.

The next morning the Eldorado Centennial Trail Ride will depart the Bunton East Ranch for a cross country trip into town. The trail ride is scheduled to arrive in Eldorado around 2:30 p.m. That evening, the first performance of the Schleicher County Association Open Rodeo is set for 8 p.m. at the arena south of town.

Saturday's activities begin with the Eldorado Lions Club pancake breakfast at 7 a.m. Beginning at 9 a.m. and continuing until 1 p.m., the U. S. Post Office will offer a Centennial Station special cancellation stamp. The centennial parade will make its way down Main Street at 10 a.m.

A variety of arts and crafts will be on display on the courthouse lawn, and entertainment and special presentations will occur throughout the day on the dedication stage. The Spirit of Texas Band will be on hand to entertain the crowd as will the U.S. Army's 2nd Armored Division's "Hell on Wheels Band".

A block away at the restored Tom Raliff Civic Theater, the Way Off-Broadway Players will present two performances of Memories, a look back at the early days of Eldorado and Schleicher County.

The final performance of the rodeo will begin at 8 p.m., and a country-western dance will follow at the slab adjacent to the arena.

Byrd Jones Discovers Relative's Contribution To Texas History

A copy of a family history received by Byrd Jones some months back brought more than just a listing of ancestors. The thin green folder containing the Troutman family history also revealed the kinship of Jones' mother, Maude Troutman Jones, with Joanna Troutman, maker of the Lone Star Flag which floated over the battlefield of Goliad.

The flag, made of white silk on which was embroidered in blue a star of five points and the words, "Liberty or Death", was presented to a Georgia battalion organized to fight for Texas independence.

Unfurled at Velasco on Jan. 8, 1836, the Lone Star Flag took the place of "Come and Take" as the flag of the Texas Republic after the capitulation of Mexican forces April 21, 1836. In due time this was adopted as the State Flag.

Called Texas' "Betsy Ross" or "the Lady of Goliad", there is a large picture of her hanging in the State Capitol in Austin. The flag is also displayed there.

Joanna Ellis Troutman was one of seven children born to Hiram and Balsora Troutman on the Troutman plantation near Knoxville, GA. At 18, fascinated by Texas' declaration of independence from Mexico, she went to a mass meeting held to enlist volunteers for Stephen F. Austin, the history relates. On the way home, she is said to have looked up at the first star in the sky and said, "It reminds me of Texas and her lone struggle for independence."

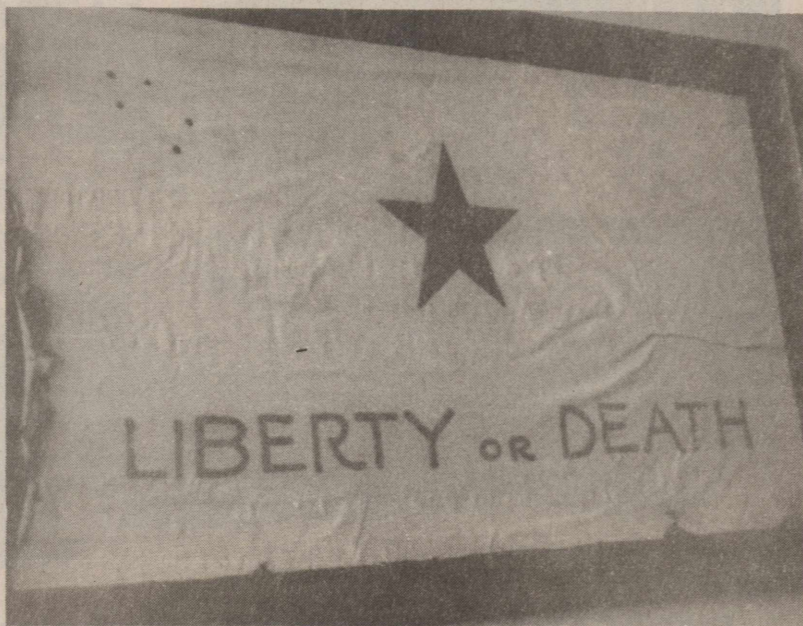

The next day she asked a few close friends over. Together they made a flag from a white silk shirt, with a five point star of blue silk. On one side they embroidered "Liberty or Death", on the other, "Where Liberty Dwells, There is my Country". She presented the flag to Col. William Ward's Georgia Battalion when they went to the aid of the Texans.

In appreciation of the inspiring banner under which the Georgia Battalion marched to victory, "she was presented with a set of exquisite silver forks and spoons that had once belonged to Santa Anna. This historic gift, spoils of war, is treasured by the Troutman-Pope descendants," the history reveals.

Joanna Troutman's remains were removed from near Macon, GA, to the Texas State Cemetery at Austin in 1913 through the interest and efforts of the Hon. Oscar B. Colquitt, Governor of Texas, assisted by her great-nephews. On Feb. 25 of that year, the Governor's office issued a tribute to her which included the poem This Silken Banner which was composed for the occasion of the banner and subsequently published in the "Telegraph and Register" printed at San Felipe de Austin. A Senate resolution was also passed in her honor.

Jones, who is meat market manager at T&C Village Market, and his wife, Louella, a nurse at Crockett County Hospital, hope to travel to Austin soon to view the painting of Joanna Troutman and the flag.

Study Shows Growth Rates Differ Among Ethnic Groups

Growth patterns differ among ethnic groups, according to preliminary findings at the USDA's Children's Nutrition Research Center.

"What's normal for one group is not normal for another, and it doesn't make sense to compare someone against an inappropriate scale," said Dr. Kenneth Ellis, a CNRC scientist and a professor of pediatrics at Baylor College of Medicine.

Ellis found that by age 6, black girls tend to have more muscle and bone mass and grow faster than white or Hispanic girls. That trend progresses during puberty as black girls mature at a faster rate than girls in the other two groups. Ellis also noted that although Hispanic girls tend to be shorter than white girls, the general growth patterns of the two are similar.

Ellis believes that new information on growth patterns may play a role in adjusting or "customizing" dietary guidelines to meet the nutritional needs of particular groups.

"It is important to know, for example, that black girls may need more protein in their diet because they are developing muscle and growing at a faster rate," he said.

Since the 1960s, children have had their growth and development evaluated on standard growth charts that were based on data from white children. These charts, however, do not reflect America's changing demography.

To construct an accurate picture of growth and development, Ellis has evaluated bone mineral content, water, fat and potassium levels, a mineral found in lean tissue that is essential to normal growth. More than 600 white, black and Hispanic children, ages 3 to 18, have participated in the study.

According to Ellis, study results also revealed that nearly all of the children had a relatively high fat mass. "Unfortunately, in some cases, the body fat was more than double the fat levels seen 20 years ago," he said.

Once Ellis completes the evaluation phase of his study, he will examine genetic and environmental influences that affect growth such as physical activity and diet.

By redefining and expanding what is considered to be the "norm" for growth and development, Ellis believes healthcare professionals will be able to more accurately identify and treat children who are at risk of malnutrition or from diseases characterized by obesity, muscle weakness or growth deficiency.

Asthma Requires Groll Wins In State Games Teamwork

Keeping asthmatic children out of the hospital can be accomplished with family teamwork.

Parents should take the lead as "coaches", making the child the "star player" whose role is to keep the asthma treatment current, said Dr. Kristin Moore, an allergist at Baylor College of Medicine in Houston.

"Start by taking as much time as needed with the doctor so that both child and parents understand why and how drugs are to be taken," Moore said.

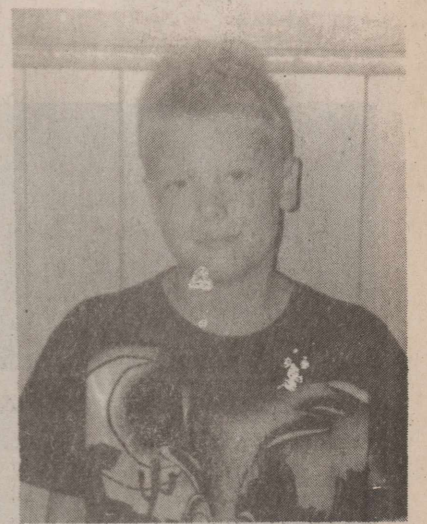

Then recruit other team members so the child will not feel he or she is facing asthma alone. Possible teammates: siblings, parents or friends with whom the child may spend the night, teachers, school nurses.

"Having friends and supporters in many places can help ease the child's embarrassment about the condition or about having to interrupt school or play to take medication," Moore said.

Matthew Groll, 8-year-old son of Gary and Pam Groll of Victoria, recently participated in the Texas Amateur Athletic Federation's State Games in Waco.

Matthew and his brother, Andrew, competed in meets all summer on the Quail Creek Swim Team. Matthew swam the 50 free style, 25 breast stroke and 25 backstroke individually. He won first place in the 25 breast stroke in the area meet. The top swimmers were formed into a medley relay team. Matthew swam the 25 breast stroke with boys from other towns swimming the free style, butterfly and backstroke.

They won first in the regional meet, which qualified them for the state meet in Waco. There they competed with teams from all over the state, honorably representing the Coastal Bend Swim League by placing sixth.

Matthew is the grandson of Garland and Joyce Young of Ozona.

Protein Important Early In Pregnancy

Women who restrict dietary protein early in pregnancy may limit the development of the placenta and, eventually, the fetus.

Results from a pig study at the USDA's Children's Nutrition Research Center at Baylor College of Medicine in Houston indicate that such restrictions affect the size and weight of the mother-fetus connective tissue that transports nutrients and oxygen and removes wastes.

"If the placenta's size is reduced early, its ability to transport nutrients is compromised," said Dr. Wilson Pond, a USDA scientist.

According to Dr. Patricia Schoknecht, a former CNRC postdoctoral fellow who directed the study, the placenta's size is often related to the size and birthweight of the infant.

Recommendations for pregnant women include a balanced diet with additional protein, which is available from meat, fish, legumes and dairy products.

The jackrabbit is a hare and not a true rabbit. Hares are larger, have longer legs and ears than rabbits.

Treat Now For White Grubs In Texas Lawns

By treating now for white grubs, Texas homeowners can prevent unsightly dead patches from appearing in their lawns later in the season.

Now is the time to treat - from mid-July through early August. After that time, the grubs will be too large to control. White grubs are the larvae of the ordinary brown June beetles, the nondescript, brown bugs that buzz around porch lamps at night. Though June beetles like porch lights, they avoid the sunlight during the day by burrowing in the soil. It's at this time the insect lays its eggs.

The beetle does not restrict its egg-laying to lawns. It also burrows into pastures. But in pastures, a few brown spots may not be a problem. Because the adult beetles are attracted to household lights, some lawns may be especially hard hit.

As the larvae grow and their feeding intensifies, they destroy grass roots. Without roots, the grass starves for moisture and dies.

In Texas, practically every home lawn probably has a few white grubs. It's only at certain concentrations that the larvae begin killing enough grass to be noticeable. It's at this point that entomologists recommend using pesticides.

Homeowners can find out if they need to treat with a simple test. Using a shovel, cut a foot-square section of sod about an inch deep and fold it back. The grubs should be easy to find if they're present. Look for small C-shaped grubs, white to cream color. If you count more than four in the square foot of exposed roots, then treatment is recommended.

Size of the grubs will vary depending upon the time of year. During mid-July, the grubs should be from 1/8 to 1/4 inch long.

If you let them go, they will get as big around as your little finger. By then it will be too late to treat. The treatment window is rather short. Mid-July is the best time, but homeowners may realize effective control up to early August.

Products recommended for use should contain one of four active ingredients: diazinon, chlorpyrifos, carbaryl or bendiocarb.

Though diazinon has received some bad press lately, it is still considered a safe product for the user and for the environment as long as label instructions are followed. Most of the problems occur when users exceed label rates or don't follow application instructions.

For more information, call County Extension Agent Billy Reager at 392-2721 or come by the County Extension Office on the top floor of the courthouse annex.
