Those teams include Albany, Van Horn, and Anthony. The new 8-2A district includes Ozona, Eldorado, Roscoe, and Grape Creek. "Grape Creek, you say. Well, they are just getting started," some people may exclaim. According to Ozona athletic director and head coach Walter Hargrove, Grape Creek will compete in academic UIL events and in golf, tennis, and track the first year. Their high school will start with a ninth grade this fall and add a grade each fall. Ozona's JV teams could compete with the ninth grade of Grape Creek in team sports. They would like to play basketball the second year. In reality, Ozona will be one of seven teams vying for the district title in football and basketball. "I think it is a good schedule and a tough schedule. Overall, it will be a tougher schedule, because it is bigger than the one we were in," said Hargrove. He futher states, "It is better to have an even number (of schools) because of having an open date. It is a no win deal for the UIL. The UIL does it as fair as they can. Most people don't understand that school population changes, and when you look at it from IA to 5A--it is difficult."

AUSTIN - Lower homeowner

last week by Texas Insurance suggested 4.3 to 4.8 percent decrease for homeowners and a 26.7 to 30 percent decrease for renters.

Meanwhile, Bomer formally banned a billing practice that prompted a $100 million classaction lawsuit against two insurance companies.

In adopting new rules aimed at Allstate and Farmers insurance groups, Bomer said the insurers may round their bills to the nearest dollar only once before sending them to customers.

Both companies have been rounding bills twice, a practice that critics claim has provided the firms with a $100 million windfall.

Crackdown on Dirty Money

Texas Attorney General Dan Morales said his office will provide banks with updated information and training to help detect drug money laundering schemes.

Up to 80 percent of the cocaine entering the U.S. each year crosses the Texas-Mexico border and an estimated $35 billion in illegal drug money is laundered in Texas each year, Morales told the Associated Press.

Christopher Williston of the Independent Bankers Association of Texas pledged that community banks would work to battle the money laundering, and Gregory Crane, president of Broadway National Bank and chairman of the Texas Bankers Association, said he knew of no bank presidents who would knowingly launder money.

"My office and the Texas banking community have pledged to work closely with each other and with other law enforcement agencies to keep the dirty money out of the state," Morales said.

His office's financial crime division has access to U.S. Treasury information on money transactions and has been studying suspicious money transfers.

Colonia Aid Falls Short

Colonias along the Texas-Mexico border desperately need basic services that most Texans take for granted.

State, federal and private sources have contributed $750 million to a water and sewage plan, but to get the job done, it will take a billion dollars to provide water and sewage services to those 1,500 substandard subdivisions.

At an Austin conference last week, state officials and colonia residents discussed ways to come up with the $250 million that is still needed.

Dan Torrez, who coordinates colonia projects for the state attorney general's office, said a way to make up the difference would be to call a bond election, but added, "The question is whether there is the political will in the mid-1990s to approve something like that the concensus is probably not."

Meanwhile, organizers are working on recommendations, such as asking private foundations to help, creating a board to guide public and private projects and seeking designation as a "federal empowerment zone" for the border area to help raise money.

Judges Eye Congressional Maps

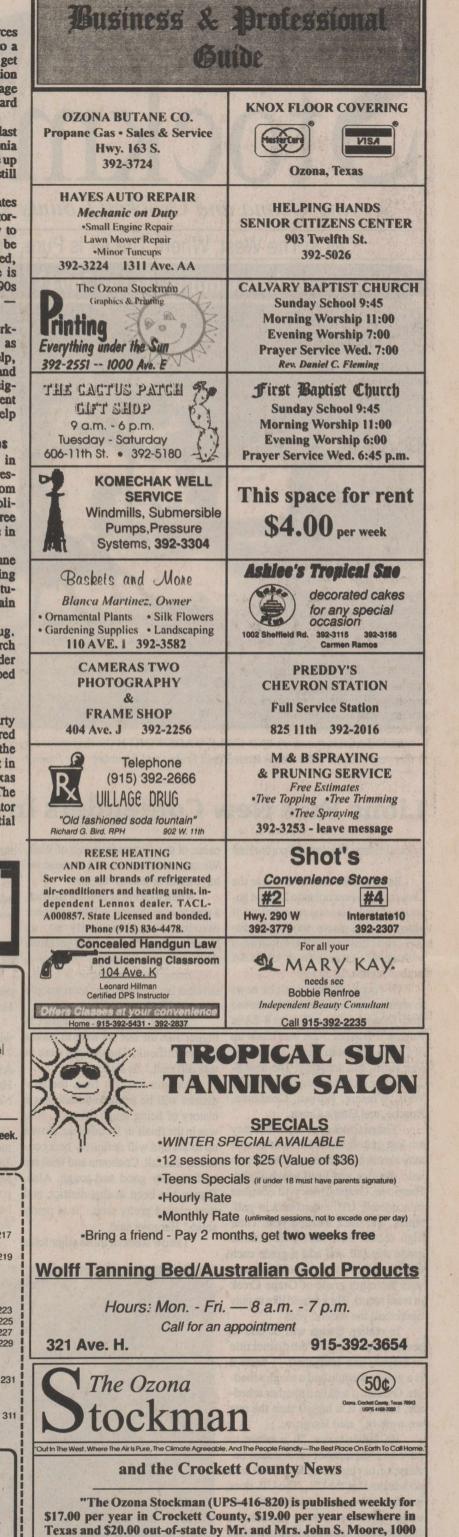

A three-judge federal panel in Houston has received congressional redistricting maps from Democratic defendants, Republican plaintiffs and others in three predominantly minority districts in Dallas and Houston.

The U.S. Supreme Court in June upheld the Houston court's ruling declaring the districts unconstitutional because race was the main factor in their creation.

The judges will decide by Aug. 8 whether they will void the March congressional primaries and order special elections in re-mapped districts.

Other Capital Highlights

The U.S. Taxpayers Party has gathered the 43,962 required signatures to earn a spot on the November general election ballot in Texas, following a ruling by Texas Secretary of State Tony Garza. The party wants political commentator Pat Buchanan as its presidential nominee.

PASTOR'S CORNER Iraan Community Church Monty Price-Pastor 202 South Drake, Iraan, TX - (915) 639-2734 "Lord"

Many folks today boldly claim that Jesus is their Lord, but I often wonder if they know what the word "Lord" really means? I remember the old saying, if Jesus isn't Lord of all, then Jesus isn't Lord at all!

My question to you is this. Do you call Jesus Lord? If you do, then let's check on some areas of your life!

Is Jesus Lord of your thoughts? Is Jesus Lord of your words? Is Jesus Lord of your eyes? That is, is what you look at acceptable to Christ? Is Jesus Lord of your money? Malachi 3 states that if you are not tithing then you are stealing

My friend, here is a truth. Any part of your life that isn't under Jesus' lordship will very quickly become the devils' property. In John 14:15 Jesus states, "If you love me, keep my commandments." I hope you love Jesus. if you really do, then He is truly your LORD OF ALL!

From time to time in our lives we all face crisis situations. There are three things that I think are important in dealing with a crisis. The first thing is this: Realize you are going to survive it. You don't have to; it isn't inevitable, but it is possible. If you are facing an illness or some personal problem that seems about to destroy your life, you can survive it, whatever it is. It will rain again!

I know many of you well enough to know you have handled some gigantic problems that seemed insurmountable, but you overcame them. When you face a crisis you are exhausted, frightened, dismayed, and you don't like any of it. But sit back for a moment and tell yourself, "I can survive this!"

> If and when I face a crisis, I want someone to tell me, "Just settle down and think for a minute. Go to pieces if you feel you must, but be aware that you can touch bottom; you will not drown."

> I am saying, in the best way I know, I think it is true, biblically and psychologically, that you can survive the crisis, even if it destroys you, even if it ultimately kills you. The quality that makes you will not be destroyed.

> The second thing is this: Imagine the worst and become comfortable with it. That is not being paranoid, or depressed, or ridiculous. Just image the worst, and if it is inevitable, you will be prepared for it. If it is not, you may avoid it. Decide for yourself what is inevitable and what is not. I like the prayer that

Landowner Liability Usually Minimal

COLLEGE STATION - Landowners assume less liability than many may think for recreational accidents on their land, a Texas Agricultural Experiment Station expert says.

"Our nationwide assessment of rural landowners' liability suggests the legal threat to landowners is probably exaggerated and should not be a major concern," said Dr. Ron Kaiser, associate professor of recreation, park and tourism sciences at Texas A&M University. "The so-called 'liability crisis' that has plagued efforts to increase access to private lands for recreation has been more mythical than real."

Kaiser adds, however, that landowners should be knowledgeable regarding the liability threat in their respective states.

In Texas, that threat is minimal, said Kaiser, who is also an attorney. For landowners, that means they can readily consider establishing recreational enterprises to supplement any income from their property.

Luke

lown,

Kaiser and Dr. Brett A. Wright of George Mason Unviersity's Center for Recreation Resources Policy conducted the assessment for the U.S. Soil Conservation Service. They found fishing. private landowners who allow free access to their property enjoy near-absolute immunity from liability for recreational injuries based on state recreational use statutes. Even if landowners charge a fee, they don't automatically assume greater liability, Kaiser said. "In fact, several states, including Texas, now allow landowners to charges a modest fee and still retain liability protection under the recreation-use statute," he said. Only if a non-agricultural landowner collects fees equivalent to twice the land's annual ad valorem taxes does the owner lose statutory immunity in Texas, Kaiser said. Owners charging recreation users for use of agricultural land can charge whatever the market will bear without losing immunity, he added. Agricultural land is defined as land suitable for use in producing food, forage and fiber crops, forestry products or domestic animals kept for profit. Landowners allowing free access to their property have no obligation to inspect the property to discover hidden dangers, warn recreationists of hidden dangers, keep the property safe for recreationists' use or provide assurance of safety to those users.

That means these users, such as hunters, fishermen or others, will likely be responsible for any injuries or other harm suffered on private land, Kaiser said.

Kaiser suggests landowners who are considering establising a recreation enterprise to supplement their incomes should consider incorporating safety and risk management principles in their operating plans.

Understanding the risk associated with different activities also can help minimize liability threats, he said.

For instance, less than three percent of court cases involving private property dealt with hunting, Kaiser and Wright found. Kaiser also said statistics indicate that hunting accidents are generally decreasing, probably because of hunter education courses.

Another 12 percent of court cases involved motorized vehicles, such as motorcycles, snowmobiles and all-terrain vehicles.

The greatest liability threat, Kaiser noted, is from water-related recreation activities, such as swimming, diving, boating and to a lesser degree,

The two researchers also looked into case law since 1965 involving rural landowners and recreation-injury litigation. Appeals-court cases from all states that had such cases were analyzed.

In Texas, the researchers found, only three recorded cases of litigation have occurred since the recreationuse statute was passed in 1965. All three cases were against public agencies, and only one of those cases found the agency liable.

No cases against private Texas landowners were noted.

Immunity from liability does not extend to willful and wanton misconduct by landowners, Kaiser stressed, and 46 of 50 states specify that owners can be held liable in cases of misconduct.

should consult their homeowner's insurance policy or their broker to determine if they are covered should an accident occur.

"If the primary use of the land is a recreation business, a commercial business policy may be necessary,' Kaiser said.

Every restless tossing passed; We are now at peace forever, Safely home in Heaven at last. Did you wonder we so calmly Trod the valley of the shade?

Oh! but Jesus' love illumined Every dark and fearful glade.

And He came Himself to meet us In that way so hard to tread;

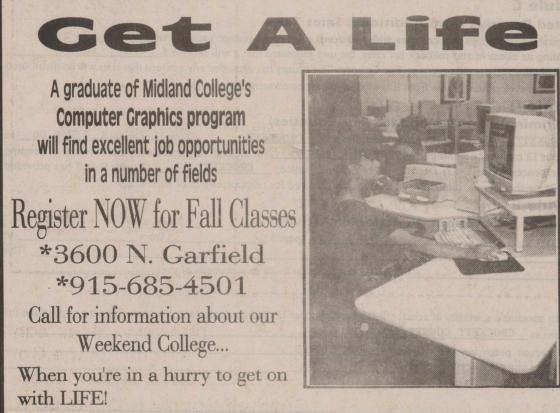

Try to look beyond earth's shadows, Pray to trust our Father's Will. There is work still waiting for you, So you must not idly stand: Do it now, while life remaineth: You shall rest in Jesus' land. When that work is all completed, He will gently call you Home; Oh, the rapture of that meeting, Oh, the joy to see you come!

Texas Cartoonist is Wacky Man

Texan Sean Higgins got his start in public art by sneaking two paintings into the San Antonio Museum of Art and displaying them in the contemporary gallery. They were discovered and removed by museum officials almost an entire week later.

By combining art with his other passion, writing, Mr. Higgins created the cartoon, "Wacky Man from Tehuacana." The idea for the cartoon came to him gradually as he attempted to farm and ranch in Tehuacana, Texas.

"I was very successful in raising mesquite trees and fire ants, but I couldn't turn a profit," said Mr. Higgins. "Drawing cartoons was a therapeutic outlet that just got out of hand."

Despite entrenched competition from the syndicates, and the tight financial climate of the newspaper industry, Wacky Man is now running in 25 Texas weekly newspapers. Over 70,000 innocent people are exposed to the sometimes insightful and slightly humorous wisdom of Wacky Man each week.

The response has been very positive. One reader even reported that her son was wallpapering his bedroom with Wacky Man cartoons.

"It's wonderful to hear that my cartoon hits somebody's funny bone like that. I'm very hopeful that Wacky Man will have the opportunity to reach a gabillion or so more funny bones in the near future," Mr. Higgins said.

The thirty-one year old single Texan's adventures in romance have all been comical in nature, providing a wealth of Wacky Man material. "People ask me if it's hard to make up stuff for Wacky Man. The funny thing is that none of it is made up...it's all true, it's all happened."

He said he was liberated the day the war ended, May 8. "My division overran where we were marching (with the Germans)."

Boyd was honorably discharged Dec. 9, 1945, re-entered Baylor and graduated with a bachelor's degree in 1948 and a master's degree in 1949.

Boyd has worked as a journalist for a daily newspaper, a teacher and an elementary school principal.

"I was working at a daily newspaper...went to teach on a lark

She said Boyd's nomination was purposely kept under wraps. "This was a surprise to Mr. Boyd, sometimes we can still keep secrets." Cummings said she submitted his nomination in January. Cummings praised among other things, Boyd's strong Christian commitment. "I nominated him because he's such an outstanding veteran-patient volunteer here at the medical center, and because of his World War II back ground, his strong commit-
