By J. M. FORBES

If you don't go vote Tuesday, I don't want to hear one gripe out of you in the next 4 years about how "they" are running or ruining the country. You and I are two of the theys we complain about.

Best motto invented in this country in a long time: Vote as you please, but please vote.

Go to the polls and vote. (Our philosopher on his Johnson grass) Farm says that voting would be about his only reason for going to the polls.

And, Mr. Voter, let me give you a tip. Better pay your poll tax and be ready to wield a ballot in 1957. If an election catches you unprepared, don't say I didn't warn you.

Bill Millen, the farm and Farm Bureau man, let go a triple blast at this writer, the Democrat party and the Republican party. It's in another part of this paper. He wound up by saying he couldn't understand how a fellow could vote for Stevenson and Kefauver. He had just got through putting both parties in the same class; maybe he thinks one ought not to vote for two fellows who are so much like Ike and Dick.

But we are grateful for one thing, Bill's still our friend and that's how it ought to be.

In another part of the paper we are printing a scholarly dissertation on political and governmental philosophy written by Lewis Stewart. Wish you would read both of these articles.

We have quite a few paid political advertisements in the paper this week also. Since you've got your mind made up anyway, don't fear to turn and read these ads. It will be four long years before you go through another Presidential campaign; make the most of it.

You have to admit that in this column we have not tried to tell you how to vote. We merely have pointed out that, in our opinion, the Democratic party is the party of the people; that through its 180 years of honorable, nation-serving history, it always has considered itself to be the party to which the nation turns in an emergency, a crisis like the depression that was allowed to get out of hand in Hoover's day.

This story I am about to relate is not necessarily politics but by George it's a good story. How, Mr. Bailey County, how would you like to be elected President with a majority of popular and a majority of electoral votes clearly yours, and then be denied the office?

This happened to a Democrat, children of the class. This happened to Samuel J. Tilden, the brilliant reform Governor of New York.

He was the man who broke up the notorious "Tweed Ring" in New York City. He was nominated for President in 1876. Republican Grant had been President for 8 years. Tilden was pledged to break the ring of thieves around Grant, who was personally honest, but allowed himself to be duped by friends. Tilden got 4,300,390 votes to 4,026,298 popular votes and 186 to 173 electoral votes against his Republican opponent. But Tilden never became President. Federal troops still were stationed in the Southern States under the Reconstruction Acts. The Electoral Commission allegedly changed totals in three southern states, giving the opposition candidate the majority. It was the only Presidential election to be stolen in the history of the U. S.

Two Dead, Two Injured In Sunday Automobile Crash North of Town

The highway accident death toll mounted to three deaths Sunday night when two colored youths were killed as their car left the road and rammmed a culvert about 2 1/2 miles north of Muleshoe. Dead are Renard Johnson, 14, of Muleshoe, and Lonzie Mension, Jr., 16, of Colwell, Texas. Night city patrolman Elmo Owens, was in pursuit of the speeding car when the accident occurred.

The car was reported to have been traveling at excessively high speed, and running without lights on a farm road when it went out of control, hitting the obstruction.

Two of the occupants of the car were hurled a considerable distance after the impact.

Two occupants, Alfred Pellman, 16, of Colwell, and Roy Morris, 19, were in West Plains Hospital Monday morning, where Morris' condition was described as critical. Pellman was reported in fair condition by hospital attendants.

The 1949 Ford sedan in which the four boys were riding, was completely demolished, as shown in the accompanying photo.

The first highway death of the year occurred in the spring, when a Latin American was struck by an approaching car as he attempted to get his truck out of the deep sand on a shoulder.

The officer reported the car was driving at excessive speeds in town when he first observed it, and began pursuit. He radioed a highway patrolman, who joined in the chase, but the car went out of control on the dirt road and was demolished before officers could overtake it.

Funeral arrangements for the two dead men were in charge of Singleton Funeral Home, and were incomplete at an early hour Monday.

New Elementary School, Six New Classrooms, Business Office and New Cafeterias Planned

Plans for a new 24 room elementary school building and cafeteria, a new cafeteria for the present elementary school, a new business office, and an additional six rooms and bond hall added to the existing high school building, are being considered by members of the Muleshoe school board of trustees. Although no site has been selected for the proposed new building, and no definite plans have been confirmed, the board is seriously considering the plans, and will announce their decision as soon as cost figures can be obtained.

A survey was concluded last week which indicates that present growth trends in the Muleshoe school district through 1960 or 1961, will require the additional class and administrative rooms. Superintendent Jerry Kirk said Monday that the survey was made on the basis of birth rate figures, and other indications of growth in the community. He also pointed out that in 1961, the trend will increase sharply, possibly requiring further building at that time.

Employ Architects Several firms of architects met with the board last Thursday night. The board employed the firm of Stiles, Roberts, Messerschmitt and Gee, of Lubbock, to prepare drawings, based on the results of the survey.

Stiles, Roberts, etc., were the architects for the new junior high school building here. In explaining their choice of architects, the board pointed out that the Lubbock firm charges only five per cent for their service, whereas architects in Clovis and Amarillo, both charge six per cent. The board also emphasized the difference in material costs, plus the experience of the Lubbock firm in previous school construction here, will effect a saving of between $15,000 and $25,000.

The estimated cost of the new construction has been set at between $450,000 and $500,000, school officials say. But no definite figures can be arrived at until complete drawings have been submitted and approved and a site secured for the new building.

The present junior high building is expected to be adequate until 1964, based on present growth trends.

The plans include zoning the school district so that persons living in certain parts of the district will send their children to the elementary school in their district. The sixth grade will be taken out of the junior high building and put into the grade school plant, leaving only grades seven and eight in junior high and nine, ten, eleven, and twelve in senior high building.

Also included are plans to do away with the old white building on the elementary school grounds, and build a new elementary school cafeteria, to replace the basement cafeteria now in use.

Complete graphs and charts showing the results of the survey, will be explained through the columns of The Journal, and at each of the service clubs sometime within the next few weeks, Superintendent Kirk said.

Representative Osborn Explains Proposed Constitutional Amendments At Rotary Meeting

There is nothing dangerous or essentially wrong about any of the proposed amendments to the Texas State Constitution, to be voted on Nov. 6 and Nov. 13, Jesse M. Osborn, of Muleshoe, state representative in the Legislature for this district, told members of the Rotary Club at their noon luncheon Tuesday.

Mr. Osborn, introduced by Jim White, program chairman, took each amendment in order and discussed them briefly. It probably was the first acquaintance most of those present had had with the amendments.

Amendment No. 1 This amendment would enable the Legislature to pass legislation granting aid and compensation to persons who have been punished for offenses of which they are not guilty. He thought the amendment appeals to fair minded persons.

Amendment No. 2 This proposal would permit counties to allocate and appropriate tax monies to the various funds, so long as the total rate does not exceed 80 cents. Mr. Osborn thought the county commissioners are the best qualified to judge what funds needs additional or less money and the change would be beneficial. The law now regulates the portion of the tax money allocated to the various funds.

Amendment No. 3 More complex is this proposal. Briefly, it would provide a method of paying for and equipping needed state buildings. Right now, the speaker said, Texas is paying $400,000 a year for rentals, and the various departments are scattered over Austin. The plan is to acquire ground just north of the capitol and to erect there needed buildings, centralizing state departments and saving the state rent.

There is now a 7c state ad valorem tax for old age pensions, most of which have expired. The proposal is to take 2 cents of this tax to erect new buildings and to allocate 5c of the tax to institutions of higher learning, like Texas Tech and WTSC. Thirdly, the amendment, Mr. Osborn said would permit Texas University and Texas A & M to invest some of their accumulated funds in corporate bonds and stocks to earn a higher interest rate, releasing the money that has been going to these schools for use of other colleges.

He thought this would be a good arrangement all around.

Amendment No. 4 Proposed amendment No. 4 would enable Texas teachers to provide for themselves a better retirement and disability system. Mr. Osborn said something must be done to encourage young people to become and remain teachers, and that this is a step in the right direction. He said that if adopted, Texas teachers will have the very best retirement and disability system he has heard about.

Amendment No. 5 This proposal is to give the Legislature authority to issue an additional $100,000,000 of bonds to buy land for veterans. The amendment also would reorganize the veterans land committee with the Land Commissioner as chairman and other members appointed by the Governor. Earl Rudder, the new Land Commissioner is doing a grand job and the veterans land scandal has been straightened up and the program is a good one. He had only one comment to make and that was that the plan benefits a relatively few men, however it providing homes for veterans who could not otherwise get land.

Amendment No. 6 This amendment merely provides for a uniform Oath of Office for elective and appointive state officers and is hardly controversial.

Amendment No. 7 This one, the speaker said, is "a dilly". It would authorize the Legislature to provide that medical testimony be required for commitment of persons of unsound mind, to provide for trial and commitment of such persons, and permitting waiver of the right of trial by jury by a person alleged to be of unsound mind or his next of kin, and his attorney. While there is a possibility of abuse of the privilege of waiver, Mr. Osborn thought that the waiver of trial would help to avoid publicity and embarrassment to the patient and his family. Many other states have such a law, he said, and their people like it.

Amendment No. 8 This proposal would amend the Constitution to provide that a court, judge or magistrate may deny bail to a person who has been convicted of 2 or more felonies. Mr. Osborn said principally this is aimed at professional bondsmen, who possibly could quickly obtain the release of an arrested man, only to have him commit some other offense. At any rate, the arrested man's rights would be protected, for the court would have to release him

Carolyn Reynolds Named President Home Ec. Clubs

Carolyn Reynolds, Texas Tech Junior from Enochs, has been elected president of the Texas Home Economics College Clubs.

Miss Reynolds, who will take office in January, also will represent the Texas Home Economics Association at a national meeting of the Home Economics Association next August in St. Louis.

Miss Reynolds is a member of the Junior Council; Knapp Hall Legislature; Phi Upsilon Omicron, national home economics honorary; and the Wesley Players, Methodist student dramatics group.

She is secretary of the College Students Group at St. John's Methodist Church.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Reynolds, Enochs.

Study Club Homecoming

A homecoming for the Lazbuddie Study Club will be held November 23, from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m., with luncheon served by the WSCS in Fellowship Hall.

A short program in the afternoon will feature Mrs. R. L. Bledsoe presenting a history of the organization.

There will be entertainment for the men, also.

Mrs. Finis Jennings, chairman of the luncheon committee, would like to have reservations as early as possible.

Morris Childers' Father Suffers Broken Hip In Fall

Mr. and Mrs. Morris Childers left Saturday morning for Wilkinsburg, Ariz., in response to a call that his father had suffered a fall while out in his yard, and had broken a hip, and had been exposed to the weather overnight, before being discovered by a neighbor.

According to news received here the first of the week, the elderly gentleman was taken to a hospital in Phoenix where he underwent surgery to set the hip. The Childers are expected home this weekend.

ROLLER RINK SETTING FOR PARTIES

A skating party from Earth, was held at the Priboth Roller Rink at Muleshoe last Friday night. Fifty-three were present for the party.

Chaperons were: Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Parish, Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Parish, Mr. and Mrs. Pat McCord, Mrs. Bill Stockard, Mrs. Virgel Lewis, Mrs. H. W. Kendrick, Mrs. Zeph Robnett, all of Earth. Also Mrs. George McCraw, of Ft. Worth, attended.

Wednesday night the Lazbuddie Methodist church had a Halloween party at the Priboth Roller Rink, with fifty-five attending.

Those present were: Mrs. Pat Nickels and girls, Mrs. Ernest Brock and children, Mrs. Frank Hinkson and children, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Seaton and children, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Precure and children, Mr. and Mrs. Grady King, Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Embry and children, Mrs. Melvin Treider and children, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Jennings and children, Mrs. Mel Smith and children, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Farley, Carolyn Scott, Susie Carpenter, Jerry and Ann Smith, Ronnie Gustin and Pastor Bruce Matthews.

Refreshments were served by the ladies after the skating.

TOUCHDOWN! Bill Black is shown as he dives into the end zone in last Friday night's game with the Dalhart Wolves. This action came late in the third quarter after the Mules had driven 60-yards. Black was the most consistent ground gainer for the Mules in their 20-7 loss to the Wolves.

Chamber May Send Delegates East To Campbell Factory

The possibility that the Campbell Soup Co. is considering location of a $10 million plant in west Texas, has spurred the Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce and various local civic clubs to action to send a delegation to New Jersey to discuss the plans of the company with officials of that organization.

Chamber manager Senn Slemmons revealed that the company may be considering location of a plant in west Texas, and that based on previous communications he has had with the company, they have at one time considered an area near Muleshoe.

Last fall Slemmons received a letter from the vice-president of the company, J. M. Hoerle, who stated that results of test plantings of tomatoes in west Texas had been disappointing, but if the company did decide to locate in this section, they would contact the local chamber again. Meanwhile, civic clubs were being asked to contribute to a fund to send a delegation to talk with company representatives.

Wolves Down The Mules 20-7 Friday

The Dalhart Wolves, ignoring the predictions of many, rocked the Muleshoe Mules 20-7 last Friday night at Dalhart.

Playing before a large crowd of local homecoming fans, the Wolves were out for meat and plenty of it. Muleshoe started the game by kicking off to Dalhart. The Wolves marched straight up the field on power plays and 67-yards later they had added seven points to their score.

The Mules offensive power couldn't cope with the strong defense the Wolves showed. Only in the third quarter did the Mules come to life and started "rolling. With big Bill Black doing most of the leather tuzzing, the Mules crossed the double stripe near the end of the third period. Bill Black found an opening over his left side and rambled seven yards for the score. He also ran the extra point over.

The Wolves from Dalhart were fired up to capacity for this big game with the Mules. They had lost the previous week to Dimmitt and were wanting to get into the win columns again.

Mules To Canyon For Conference Game Tomorrow

The Muleshoe Mules, smarting from two narrow defeats in conference play, will face the powerful Canyon Eagles at Canyon tomorrow night in their third try at a district win.

Bulletin Issued On Muleshoe Wildlife Refuge

More than 179 species of migratory waterfowl have been observed by personnel of the Muleshoe National Wildlife Refuge in the period between 1935 and 1955.

Adlai Stevenson and Estes Kefauver.

Mrs. Doughty, a widow, farms more than 900 acres of farm land in Cochran County and is one of the outstanding farm women of the state. Mrs. Silvers is the wife of a prominent Cochran County rancher, and is a former school teacher.

The program is being sponsored and paid for by small businessmen and farmers of the Plains area, and will be heard from 10 to 10:30 p. m.

In 1956, it is revealed in a publication of the Department of Interior in Washington, D. C., published this month.

Bob Darnell, who is in charge of the refuge, has furnished copies of the report to the Journal, and any person interested in migratory wildfowl will find the publication worth reading.

During the fall, winter and early spring, this refuge attracts many species of waterfowl, the predominant ones being mallards, pintail, green winged teal and widgeon. A small group of Canada geese also visit the area in the winter. There have been as many as 700,000 waterfowl on the three lakes of the refuge at one time during the winter months, depending on the amount of water in the lakes.

During the summer, nesting birds include the snowy plover, scaled quail, great horned owl, avocet, mourning dove and mockingbirds. The majority of birds are winter residents or transient visitors.

The refuge is also a wintering home for sandhill cranes. Some 30,000 rest and feed on and near the area. Arriving in late September and October, the population reaches its peak in mid-November. Heavy populations continue until about March 1. Concentrations of cranes on this range and the Blitter Lake National Refuge, 100 miles southwest are among the best and of longer duration than anywhere else in the country.

The refuge is located 20 miles south of town on the Morton highway.

Superintendent Urges Passage of Amendment Four

"Support is growing for Constitutional Amendment No. 4, the Teacher Retirement Amendment on the November 6 General Election ballot, as the public is given the facts", Jerry Kirk, Superintendent of Muleshoe Schools said today.

"This effort of Texas teachers to attract and hold good teachers is one of the most unselfish, public-spirited movements ever seen in the interest of good education for Texas Children", Kirk declared.

Local school teachers, working with their local and state associations and in cooperation with local Parent-Teacher Association groups, have spearheaded the drive for adoption of the amendment.

Amendment No. 4 will improve the Teacher Retirement System created in 1937, a depression year.

ported institutions of higher learning.

Increased benefits, he feels, will encourage teachers now leaving the classrooms to remain in the teaching profession. Approximately 7,000 experienced teachers are lost each year to the schools. The program would also help attract some of the 3,800 new teachers needed each year to instruct the 100,000 new children who jam Texas classrooms annually.

The new program, as passed by the Texas Legislature last year — unanimously in the Senate and with only two dissenting votes in the House—would work like this:

Plan Explained

A teacher would pay into the retirement fund each year six per cent of his salary (present rate five per cent), and would earn a retirement based upon these deposits.

In addition, the amendment adds some benefits which are common in the retirement plans of private industry but have not been included in the teacher retirement system heretofore.

These are: (a) benefits for teachers who become unable to work because of disability; (b)

Severe Pains In Lower Back

Case History: Lady, Age 56; Symptoms and Case History: Patients statement: "My lower spine and hip joints hurt me very bad. Occasionally, the pain is so bad, it is unbearable. Also, my leg gets numb and hurts very much, hindering me from doing my work."

After an examination in the Chiropractic Clinic, where the So-Called Hopeless DO Get Well, the primary cause of her condition was found. The X-Ray pictures of her spine showed misalignments, distortions, and displacements of vertebrae. The nerve test analysis determined the amount of pressure on nerves in her spinal column. She decided to take a series of Chiropractic Health treatments to correct the cause of her disorders.

Ruptured Discs

Case History: Man, age 31, came to the Chiropractic Clinic after reading an ad describing a condition similar to his. He had been confined with extreme back pain which was aggravated by a spinal tap which in turn started terrific headaches. He was medically diagnosed "ruptured discs", and was told it would take a year or more to recover. In an effort to avoid an expensive and dangerous spinal fusion operation, he consulted us. After an examination consisting of nerve analysis and spinal X-Ray at the clinic, this man began corrective spinal adjustments. His pain was lessened from the first adjustment. His condition continued to correct rapidly until in less than six months he was doing heavier mechanic work than ever before

TEXANS Remember the Tidelands

Here's What President Eisenhower DID in 1953:

He signed the bill as he promised in 1952 to restore the tidelands to Texas.

Here's What Adlai Stevenson SAID in 1952:

That he would veto the Tidelands Bill.

Here's What Adlai SAID September 18, 1956:

"I would think the matter is closed." (Does any Texas voter consider that a positive statement?)

Here's What Estes Kefauver SAID September 22, 1956:

"Among the Administration actions listed by Kefauver as against the 'little people' was support of legislation which gave the oil tidelands to the states. He charged that Mr. Eisenhower was 'paying off a campaign debt' when he came out in support of state ownership of tidelands."—HOUSTON POST. ## Warehousing of Cotton In Area of Production

The most economical method, for the orderly marketing of cotton, is for the cotton to remain in this area of production until it may be sold to the domestic cotton mill or exported.

Each time cotton is moved from one place to another on its way to its ultimate destination, the cost builds up.

THIS WEEK
—In Washington

With
Clinton Davidson

Next week, more than 60 million voters decide whom they want in charge of the government for another four years. The privilege of making that choice is priceless.

We can make the choice with confidence that our next President, whether Republican or Democratic, will be a good man. Honest and able men and women are available for election to Congress. The same is true of State and local offices.

Whichever way the national election goes, it will make, at most, only a ripple in the great current of history that flows out of the past and into the future. The basic principles of democracy are safe, either way.

There are certain fundamental trends that surmount politics. One of those which has more long-time importance than is generally recognized, I call the "Financial Revolution." Its importance is well known to both Republican and Democratic leaders.

In this country, as in many other parts of the world, we are undergoing a great financial revolution comparable to the industrial revolution that began 150 years ago and is continuing. Nothing else has affected the living conditions of millions of people as greatly as the industrial revolution.

The financial revolution in the United States is, however, producing results which are second in importance only to the industrial revolution. Every man, woman and child is affected by it.

You have heard campaign talk that one party favors "big business," and that the other is for the "little man." As a matter of fact, it is the "little men"—as stockholders—who own and control big business in this country.

The U.S. will have a gross national income of about $400 billion this year, but there are far fewer millionaires than there were in 1926. In 1926, when national income was only a fraction of that amount, there are 10 times as many people with incomes of $5,000 to $10,000 a year.

During the past 30 years, the income of a very wealthy man has been reduced more than 80% by income taxes, but his obligations have not been reduced. The result is that most of them are paying part of their living costs out of capital. The amassing of a great fortune has become rare indeed.

A greater proportion of our spendable income than ever before, or in any other country, is distributed among laboring people. Their income has increased far more rapidly than the costs of things they buy.

Wages of unskilled laborers, for example, have increased from an average of $1.04 per 8-hour day 30 years ago, to $14.00 per day. Plumbers' wages have increased from $10.24 to $24.48 per day, and plasterers from $12.00 to $26.64. You could expand that list to include almost every group of workers.

The tremendously costly political campaigns have been largely financed by small contributions. Unions affiliated with the AFL-CIO asked their members to contribute $1 each to their political funds. They have a membership of over 15 million workers. One union spends over $100 million a year for welfare purposes alone. That is not critical of unions. It is evidence of the existence of a financial revolution.

Recently, I attended a church revival meeting in a predominantly laboring area of St. Louis. The evangelist raised about $80,000 without much effort. Later, at a dinner in Tulsa, Okla., he raised $3,000,000, of which $1,000,000 was payable immediately, and the balance over the next two years. There was only one wealthy man present.

I then said to myself "This is the result of the financial revolution."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Reader Scorches Scoop But Still Doesn't Seem To Know Where He's At

Dear Scoop:

Referring to your article of Oct. 11, concerning voting for the party instead of for the man, Scoop, I don't believe you read anything but The Muleshoe Journal or you would be better informed. Glad to see that one little woman took issue with you.

I believe that if Thomas Jefferson could see how the leftists and socialists have taken over the Democratic party he would be like me, neither a Democrat or a Republican, not having anyone to vote for. In a few days we'll have to make an important decision. Trouble is, we haven't got a fair choice.

Judging by the platforms of the two parties, there are few issues. It's mainly a question of who can do the same things better. Neither party thinks enough of states rights to put it in its platform.

One important platform difference: The Democrats are committed to repeal the Taft-Hartley Act. If successful, that will force the greatest era of labor racketeering, small business failures, and inflation in many years. Look at what labor has done to England; private enterprise has been stifled because of high taxes to appease socialist labor until they have degenerated into a third rate nation.

Democrats would also try to pass a Federal law making the right to work law unconstitutional. That would be a devastating blow to the growth of industry, particularly Southern industry. That would kick the door open to a Labor Socialist party.

Both parties, according to the platforms, are for Socialism with moderation. Question: Can the present Democratic leadership be moderate? A Democratic party owned by the radicals can't really move in any direction except left.

Both parties have moved as close to the middle of the road as they dare—to pick up the independent vote. The Republicans who want to move to the right have moved left. The Democrats who want to move to the left have moved right during the campaign.

There's no doubt that the Republicans would kinda like to move toward states rights, balanced budget, reduced debt and taxes—if they could do it and get reelected. It seems nowadays we have no statesmen. It's "vote for our side because we'll give you more."

No political party can give anybody anything without first taking it away by the tax route and then we only get about 5 cents out of each dollar sent to Washington.

The Democrats invented the sliding scale; Truman got elected.

on it. The Republicans tried to enforce the law and the Democratic Congress did everything possible to keep it from working, along with a Republican Secretary of Agriculture and Secretary of State who didn't believe in helping the farmer.

The main idea seemed to be to spend billions of dollars to help foreign lands to compete against us and pile our products up, to further depress our farm economy. Truman and Brannan started the surplus pile in 1951, when the world was crying for our cotton; we had an embargo and price ceiling of 40 cents while the rest of the world got 75 cents.

It wasn't until after the first of the year that Republicans got scared that they might lose the election and adopted the Farm Bureau Soil Bank policy, and started trying to find and develop markets for the farm products, such as the Farm Bureau idea of selling cotton to the world market for what they could get for it and trying to make FB sponsored Public Law 480 work, trading our surplus for foreign currency.

The Democrat's cure of the farm problem—high, rigid, and all inclusive price supports would probably wreck what's left of a free market in agriculture, and it would also wreck what's left of farmers' individual freedom and would result in even bigger unmarketable surpluses and foreign give-aways.

A vote for the Democrats would be a vote for AFL, CIO, ADA, Negroes, and other racial groups, NAACP, Farmers Union, and the Socialists, every minority which thinks of itself first, America second. I don't see how southern Democrats of Jefferson caliber could go for that.

The two parties follow the same collectivist pattern. Both are committed to world give-away programs that cost us taxpayers 5 billion dollars of tax money each year. Both packed the Supreme Court with unqualified politicians dedicated to leftwing "social gains."

Both are guilty of uncontrollable spending and devouring taxation, both favor increased Federal aid to schools and public housing. Both claim credit for inventing the New Deal. Both are for increased Social Security, old age benefits, minimum wage, United Nations (did you know we pay practically all UN expenses and only have 1 vote while Russia has 3 and that the UN treaty supersedes the US Constitution and all our military strategy is seen by Russian eyes in the UN before it is sent to our military commanders at the fighting front); Soil Bank (the argument is over whose idea it was and who could run it better); and civil rights, including forced integration.

Both like Earl Warren, both oppose radically reducing or killing the Federal income tax, both opposed Senator McCarthy and Krushev and Bulganin, both blocked the Bricker Amendment and the natural gas bill, both are against work. Nixon came out the other day in favor of a four day week, competing against Walter Reuther's 30 hour week idea.

Both candidates say, believe it or not, that Communists in government is not an issue. I don't see how real Democrat—anybody who believes in history, honesty and Thomas Jefferson could be for Stevenson and Ke-fauver and the dangerous elements they represent.

So, Mister Scoop, I will go to the polls and vote for the MAN, whether he be a Republican or Democrat, that I think will come nearest to upholding the virtues, honesty and integrity, and ideals for a free nation that our forefathers fought and died for years ago to make us free men, a freedom that we are selling so cheaply for a mess of pottage.

You didn't mention in your Democratic history that at Yalta, Roosevelt, whom you call a great humanitarian, along with Dean Acheson and communist adviser Alger Hiss with a simple twist of the wrist, signed over a million people into slavery to the Russians, the East Germans, the Poles, the Czechs, Austrians, who are now throwing away their lives with no weapons against the Communist bear.

People that believe that freedom is the greatest thing on earth, that they would consider it dearer than life, they want freedom of the press and freedom at the polls.

So whatever our party, whatever our principles, let's vote. For. Against, write-in or protest, not to vote is to default—default: freedom, citizenship and duty.

Am still your friend,

Babson Discusses

OLD BUSINESSES

Babson Park, Mass., Nov. 1. So much is published today about electronics, atomic energy, and new gadgets of all kinds that I have been investigating what businesses have survived throughout the centuries. Let this week's column give you my report.

WHAT EGYPTIAN HISTORY TEACHES

Probably the best evidence of what businesses are the oldest is to be found in ancient Egyptian Tombs of several thousand years ago. They all contain ceramic ware, jewelry, musical instruments, tapestries and pictures. Although all these arts have had their ups and downs — or cycles — they continue to exist. Religion has also been a "big business" alternating between great influence and barbaric persecution. Gold, silver, and fine architecture have represented wealth throughout history. Although the Egyptian art and music of those early days seem crude to many of us, yet modern art and jazz have now returned to it. This definite cycle has taken place several times during the past 4,000 years. In fact, the cycle is shown in the history of Egypt itself.

Three thousand years ago Egypt was the richest and most progressive nation in the world. Then a decline came which brought poverty and chaos, finally dropping that nation into the lap of Great Britain as its poorest colony. Today's newspaper headlines are now on Egypt, which appears to have 15 great nations eating out of its hand! The great wheels of history are slowly but constantly revolving. This means we should carefully avoid using two words — now and "always" — in connection with an art, a profession, a business, or even a nation, or a religion.

THE BIBLE AND ECONOMIC HISTORY

However readers may disagree as to the importance of daily Bible reading, the Bible gives us an excellent review of what businesses have continued through the centuries. Bankers, lawyers, and tax collectors existed then as now. Jesus even spoke a good word for the bankers (Luke XIX) although he did not want them to carry

Sand Hills Philosopher Favors

NEW COMMUTING TAX IF IT APPLIES TO HIS FARM

Editor's note: The Sand Hills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm may have an idea this week, but you never can tell.

Dear editor: I would like to remember from one citizen to another, has just about given up any hope of ever getting a cut in taxes, so as resourceful Americans the only thing that's left to do is figure out more ways to charge up more things to expense, to write down on your income tax.

Consequently I was very pleased to read in a copy of a newspaper which a campaign worker left here last week while he was urging me to go to the polls and vote, which is the only reason I can think of going there in the first place, that a candidate running for office up in New York has come out for a plan to allow people to charge up as expense against their income tax the cost of traveling back and forth to get to work, or commuting, as they call it up there.

According to him, big business is allowed to charge up all sorts of expense items, such as entertaining, hauling customers around, attending conventions, etc., and the average person ought to be allowed to charge up the cost of getting to and from work.

This is a fine idea and I hope you throw your influence behind it, if you haven't misplaced it. For example, say a man lives five miles from his work, which a lot of farmers will be doing if on their business in the Temple. Fishing has also survived and much of it is being carried on in the same old-fashioned way.

When we realize that stocks and bonds were unknown several centuries ago, one wonders at their permanence; yet I forecast that some form of investment will exist. Real estate has served that purpose for thousands of years. Just now we hear much about "Shopping Centers"; but the downtown Main Street merchant who will adapt his merchandise and hours to new conditions has little to fear. The Stoa, in the world's once most beautiful shopping center which flourished 2,000 years ago at Athens, Greece, has been buried for many centuries. John D. Rockefeller is now rebuilding this as a lesson to cheer merchants who cannot now afford to change to a new "shopping center."

MERCHANTS MUST BE PROGRESSIVE

During Bible days the chief musical instrument was the harp. This gradually developed into the piano. Musical instrument stores which refused to sell pianos were probably forced out of business. Yet more harps are being sold today than ever before. We once thought that kerosene would kill the candle business; that gas would kill the kerosene business; and that electricity would put gas out of business. Yet more candles, more kerosene, and more gas were sold last year than ever before.

Why do I write this column today? My reason is to prevent any manufacturer or merchant from hastily giving up without having some expert make a study of his business, prospective parking lots, and needed changes. Such a merchant should not be in a hurry to sell or give up, but it is wise for him to keep out of debt and to advertise. Then he will have very little to worry about. Sometimes I think that when the next business depression does come, it will be due to the worries of manufacturers, retailers, and especially the consumers, who are most important of all.

farming doesn't improve and they can swing a job in town, he ought to be allowed to charge up the cost of traveling back and forth as a legitimate expense on his income tax.

Or take me. Now I don't plan on getting a job in town, because the farming situation may be bad, the farming situation has been bad most of my life but not bad enough to drive me to a job in town where somebody else is boss, but there's some traveling to and from work on a farm. For example, say I'm starting out to dig some post holes. Anybody who has ever dug post holes by hand knows it takes considerable psychological build-up to tackle the job, sometimes requiring a fishing trip just to strengthen your nerve.

If a man travels fifteen or twenty miles and fishes a while to improve his frame of mind before setting in to build a fence, what's different in that from riding a commuter's train out of the hurly-burly of New York in the late afternoon to your home in the country so your nerves can recuperate over night for the battle in the city the next day?

This sounds like a good law to me and I hope you'll dig out your influence and help get it passed. Clean off your desk and see if you can't find it somewhere around there.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

PAINFUL PROGRESS

The Texas Safety Association reports that in 1930, about the time the automobile age really began to roll, two out of five traffic accident fatalities were pedestrians. Now, it is only about one out of five.

In other words, in 25 years pedestrian deaths have dropped from about 40 per cent of our national traffic toll to a little over 20 per cent.

That would suggest we are making progress in pedestrian protection, as undoubtedly we are. Ceaseless education, better lighting, walk-wait traffic lights — these are some of the things that have brought improvement. Gains have been made despite the fact that the proportion of drivers in our total population is much greater than it was 25 years ago.

Despite such favorable influences, 8,400 pedestrians died on streets and highways last year. Progress is slow and painful—to the pedestrian often very painful.

Texas Safety Association figures show that pedestrian traffic victims are most often persons who have never driven a car, and consequently have less understanding of distance, speed, lighting, stopping ability—the limitations of the man behind the wheel.

We need to push every physical protection for the pedestrian—lighting, street and signal engineering, overpasses and tunnels. We need firm and fair enforcement of regulations applying to both motorists and those on foot.

But most of all we need to teach both the common sense of sharing the earth and the paths man has built across it. The horn-honking and fist-shaking conflict one observes on almost any street corner is senseless.

The motorist has a great obligation imposed not only by law but by the sobering realization that his steel armor will always win over yielding flesh.

The pedestrian must surrender some of his heritage of walking where and as he chooses.

The man on foot and the man on wheels must learn to live together in a spirit of courtesy and fair play.

TODAY'S MEDITATION

Read Matthew 5:13-16.

Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven. (Matthew 5:16.)

Many Christians today ask the question, "How can I be true to my Christian calling when I am surrounded by so much that is unchristian?" Jesus said, "Ye are the light of the world." Men do not "light a candle, and put it under a bushel, but on a candlestick." This does not mean that Christians are to go and hide somewhere; they have the obligation to be lights that shine into this unchristian world to make it a more decent place.

We are not called to criticize or condemn the world; Christ said, "Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel." How ever, preaching is not confined to words only, but to living the gospel so that others will see our good works and glorify our Father in heaven. This demands a faithful turning to God in prayer, and holding fast to those high standards of character revealed to us in the Sermon on the Mount. Only so will the light of Christ shine forth through us.

PRAYER

Our heavenly Father, help us to be faithful to our Christian calling. Bless every humble soul who, in these days of turmoil, preaches sermons without words, and so shows forth the glory of Thy name, through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY
Christian love best expresses itself in Christian actions

Christian Science Service

Man's real selfhood as the spiritual image and likeness of God, not subject to sin and sickness, will be emphasized at Christian Science services Sunday.

Scriptural readings in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Adam and Fallen Man" will include the following (Genesis 1:27): "So God created man in his own image, in the image of God created he him; male and female created he them."

The unchanging perfection of God's man will be brought out in passages to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, including the following (476:28-32): "When speaking of God's children, not the children of men, Jesus said, 'The kingdom of God is within you'; that is, Truth and Love reign in the real man, showing that man in God's image is unfallen and eternal."

Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Hensley and children, Charles David and Susan, of Belen, were here over the weekend for a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Benson.

ARE WE OVER GOVERNED?

By LEWIS STEWART
Muleshoe, Texas

"The world is no longer clay, but rather iron in the hands of its workers," says Emerson. "and every man must hammer out a place for himself by steady and rugged blows."

No doubt Mr. Emerson in the statement "Every man must hammer out a place for himself by steady and rugged blows," was referring to man's struggle for existence with no holds barred. To be sure, there have long been profound differences of opinions as to the function and powers which it is desirable to entrust to governing authorities.

Whatever view we take of the powers that government should be permitted to exercise should be viewed in the light that the world in which we live is an altogether different one from that of a few generations ago.

A world of petty farmers and traders has become a world of engineers and machinists, of electricians and scientists and technicians, of huge industries and businesses undreamt of in any earlier age. Along with the technical revolution has come remarkable growth in the range, infamy, and complexity of economic and social relationships, creating a new environment for government in our age.

Abnormal Conditions

Here may be mentioned the fact that ever since the World Wars government has been carried on under abnormal conditions growing directly or indirectly out of that frightful chapter of human experiences. The burden thrown on government, not only by the conflict but by the war's economic and social aftermath is incalculable.

After the first World War hard-ly less post-war governments started and the task of rehabilitation and reconstruction entered upon before a world wide economic depression placed governments under the necessity of devising and applying remedial measures, and fighting with backs to the wall to salvage a broken and obsolete economy.

The failure of our industrial system affected every business and class of persons, ruined farming, bankrupted thousands of banks, caused owners to lose millions of homes; thrown out of employment and made dependent were millions of our steadiest and deserving citizens.

Social problems seem to be closely associated with developing civilization. Civilization appears to be of such nature that the more civilization there is, the more problematical becomes the act of living together. The Eskimos have no housing problems, the South Sea Island inhabitants have no social problems.

This maladjustment may suggest conflict between interests, but this is better observed when solutions for the difficulty which constitutes the problem are suggested. Every industry whose interests are likely to be disturbed or injured raises its voice in protest and opposes the plan. Solutions of problems would be easily accomplished were it not for conflicts between interest groups.

Government Aids Business

Our national government was founded in a period in which the idea was prevalent that there should be little or no political interference with the natural course of business enterprise. That government should embark upon positive regulation or control of business interests, operations, and practices was to most people abhorrent. The past few years, however, have brought remarkable change. Government nowadays encourages and promotes business in a multitude of ways undreamt of in former years.

It has fixed conditions of competition and under the legislation of the New Deal limited production, prescribed minimum wages and established prices. Indeed, it itself has gone into business in competition with private capital.

Fundamentally, the attitude arises from the fact that in the past few years a new social and economic world has grown up around us. The need for change was realized keenly and generally, even before the special need of the economic depression. However much of the novel and experimental our existing system of government presents and however rapidly it takes on new features and characteristics before our very eyes, there is much in it that is old and well tried, harking back not only to the seaboard colonies, but to England of the Bill of Rights, of Magna Carta, and even of Norman-Anglo administration.

The Federal Constitution makes no mention of agriculture. But no more does it speak specifcally of industry and labor, and although by tradition the most highly individualistic form of enterprise in which our people have engaged, agriculture, like both industry and labor, has turned to Federal and State government for encouragement and protection.

Nor has the quest been in vain. In a sense, the story is one of a job done too well, of an agricultural system nurtured and developed to a point for the moment at all events, it is far in advance of the capacity of the country and of the world to absorb its products. Having helped the farmer to produce crops and livestock on such a scale as to yield frequent and embarrassing surpluses the government then reversed its lines of policy by regulating and restricting production and subsidized farmers for plowing crops under and letting their fields lie fallow.

The growing spread between the level of farm prices and the level of other prices may be directly or indirectly attributed to the prevalence of monopolistic prices of consumer goods.

The ratio of farm prices to the price of other commodities represents the real purchasing power of the farmer's dollar. During the past few years this real purchasing power has tended to decline. Actually, however, parity of income rather than parity of price is the significant index of farm prosperity since price without quantity sold tell nothing about gross income.

Threat To Democracy

In the United States today the growth of monopoly is a threat to democracy. Concentration of economic power is likely to promote concentration of political power. Economic power has become concentrated in the hands of a relatively small number of persons who control the largest corporations. From this point of view, both economic efficiency and the social welfare, government action is necessary in the public interest.

One Tenth Owned 5%

May I quote here some of the latest figures by Clifford L. James in his latest edition of Principles of Economics: "One tenth of one per cent of all corporations own 52 per cent of all corporate assets and earn 50 per cent of the corporate income. Fewer than 4 per cent of corporations engaged in manufacturing earn 84 per cent of the total net profits of such corporations. One third of the value of all manufactured goods are produced under conditions where the four largest producers of a commodity account for over 75 per cent of that commodity."

The conclusion drawn is that the economic life of the United States is dominated by about 200 non-financial and 50 financial corporations, which control billions of dollars worth of assets and employ millions of workers, and whose policies regarding price, production and wages affect almost every citizen in the land.

Since the activity of these giant corporations affect the public interest so deeply, the idea they have public responsibility should develop.

In "Current Social Problems", by John Gillett, he quotes figures published by the Federal Trade Commission that at the eve of the New Deal the wealth of the nation amounted to something over 353 billion dollars. How was the wealth distributed? The Commission estimated that about 59 per cent was in the hands of one per cent of the population, 90 per cent was in the hands of 13 per cent of the population, while the remaining 87 per cent of the people owned but 10 per cent of the nation's wealth. The Federal Trade Commission found that more than three fourths of those who die leave no property.

Has our traditional American way of life come to mean that the world belongs to him who can take it?

One of the results of the inequality of income is inequality of opportunity. Those who have, find it easy to accumulate more, while those who have but little find it hard to stay above board. It is clear that such inequality in the distribution of wealth has a close relation to many social problems, such as poverty and dependency, crime, disease, ignorance, etc.

Of what value are our prices regulated by government or a labor wage set by unions, when these incomes are only dissipated by extortionate monopolistic prices on consumers' goods?

A devastated agriculture and industrial depression has raised profound problems of readjustment and planning, driving our government to new tasks and responsibilities of staggering proportions.

The charge by many that we are traveling the road to socialism should be dismissed as idle gossip.

The fact that every man must hammer out a place for himself should behoove every thinking American to study the political and economic system under which he lives, that he might intelligently accept those necessary controls and changes in government that an unfolding future might bring.

Maid of Cotton To Receive Special Winners Awards

A $1,000 cotton wardrobe, an all-expense paid trip to Memphis, and a specially designed gift—all await the lucky young lady who will be selected South Plains Maid of Cotton at the two-day contest to be held in Lubbock November 19-20.

The South Plains Maid of Cotton Committee, headed by Chairman Charles Signor, plans a full two-days of activity for contestants, topped with the finals on the evening of the 20th in Municipal Auditorium with the background music by the nationally famous Buddy Morrow orchestra.

Purpose of the program is to focus attention on the importance of the cotton industry to the South Plains, the world's greatest cotton-producing area. Merchants in Lubbock and other South Plains cities are encouraged to feature cotton in window displays and advertising, illustrating the many uses of cotton and cotton products, during the week of the contest. Eligible to enter the contest are girls between the ages of 19 and 25 inclusive, at least 5 feet 5 inches tall, unmarried, and born in a cotton growing state. Deadline for entry is November 9. Complete information and entry blanks may be obtained by writing to the South Plains Maid of Cotton Committee, P. O. Box 561, Lubbock.

The entry deadline is set 10 days prior to the contest to give the girls a chance to attend three modeling sessions conducted by instructors who will give points on poise, make-up, dress, diction and other social grace, plus more complete instructions on contest activities.

The contest begins with a parade on the morning of the 19th, with each contestant riding a convertible, then comes a brunch and the start of the judging. After the judging is completed for the day, the girls will have time to prepare for a cotton ball to be held at the Caprock Hotel for contestants, judges, and leaders in the cotton industry. The 1955 South Plains Maid of Cotton, Miss Revis Jordan, who was named first alternate in the National judging last year, will lead the Grand March at the formal dinner-dance to the accompaniment of the Buddy Morrow orchestra.

On the following day, contestants will again meet the judges at a morning coffee and at luncheon. Judging will end at mid-afternoon to give the girls time to prepare for the finals that evening at the auditorium. Following the finals, the girls will be guests at a reception given in their honor by the Committee.

Winners of the South Plains Maid of Cotton Contest is an automatic finalist in the National Maid of Cotton Contest to be held in Memphis, Tennessee, December 27-28. If selected the National Maid, an exciting year of visits to New York, Bermuda, and the fashion centers of Europe are in store for the cotton industry's ambassador. She will make ap-

PARMER COUNTY Farm Bureau News

By RAYMOND EULER

Your directors again wish to make public their standing invitation to you to attend their regular meetings. The next one is Monday night, November 5th. The first Monday night of each month, about eight o'clock, is the regular meeting night, in the Friona Office.

Over ten million acres of wheat land have been placed in the soil bank for 1957, according to USDA reports. Although little Parmer County land was placed in the bank, the acreage reduction, nationally, will surely do much toward reducing the surplus, and possibly help the market for those who produce.

November 11 will find eight or ten of your members heading toward Houston to represent you in the twenty third annual Texas Farm Bureau Convention. If you can go, you will certainly be welcome, too.

The Texas Farm Bureau has appearances on nation-wide television networks, pose for newspaper, syndicate, and magazine photography, see the top Broadway shows, get expert modeling advice from the nation's top experts, and represent the cotton industry and many other functions in cities throughout the United States and Canada. She will be accepted and treated as the royalty she really is, in all appearances here and abroad.

Improved Types of Fertilizer Being Developed

Fertilizers are a lot better than they used to be, but more improved fertilizer materials can be expected in the future, reports M. K. Thornton, extension agricultural chemist.

Higher analysis fertilizers containing more nutrients and less bulky inert matter, and soluble or liquid fertilizers—all now on the market—have reduced weight and bulk and made both storage and application of fertilizer materials cheaper and easier for farmers and home gardeners.

Industrial and State-Federal research now being carried out will undoubtedly lead to further improvements, says Thornton.

One of these improvements will be the development of slower acting or less soluble forms of chemical fertilizer that will not leach out of the soil so rapidly. This will mean that enough fertilizer can be applied in one operation to meet the demands of a long-season crop, thus eliminating the need for repeated applications throughout the season. It will reduce present heavy losses of nitrogen through leaching. It will also prevent excessive potash consumption, now a problem in alfalfa and certain other crops in many parts of the country.

Other improvements will change the physical makeup of fertilizer materials, making them easier to store and to apply. A start in this direction has been made with the development of some granular products that have less tendency than older materials to cake and harden during storage and that distribute more easily and uniformly in the field.

A lot more work needs to be done in developing these better fertilizers, says Thornton. But farmers would do well to be alert for new developments in this field because they will open opportunities for increased efficiency of production and greater farm profits.

Mrs. F. H. Davis is reported in good condition at a Lubbock hospital following major surgery she underwent there last Tuesday.

asked Secretary of Agriculture, Benson to permit farmers and ranchers to buy surplus feed grains from CCC at the same rates that now apply only to dealers.

There is considerable dissatisfaction and disappointment among the farmers and ranchers regarding the administrative procedures for distributing drought relief feed grains. Hammond concluded in a telegram to Benson: He asked, among other things, that eligible farmers be permitted to use the certificates to buy feed grains from any source, not just certain dealers.

At present, eligible livestock producers must buy feed grain from dealers. They complain that this makes the price higher, thus nullifying some of the beneficial effects of the federal drought relief program.

In the swine division we had seven pigs to place, the highest place was 8th by Joe Don Jackson. The following boys placed pigs in the Dallas Show:

The boys are now working on their procedure. There are two leadership contests to be held soon. There will be a Junior leadership contest for the freshmen and a Senior contest for the Ag. II, III and IV.

Darkness Hides Danger, Warns Postmaster

"Beware of the darkness in nighttime driving and walking—it hides danger."

That was the warning issued to local postal employees by Postmaster Arnold Allcorn in the safety-after-dark traffic safety program now being conducted by the Post Office Department and the National Safety Council.

"The hours of twilight and dark bring danger on our roads and highways, not only to motorists but also to pedestrians," he said.

Pointing out that the National Safety Council estimates that the mileage death rate in an average year is three times as great at night as in the daylight hours, Postmaster Allcorn said that 56% of the traffic deaths in 1955 occurred at night.

"The hours particularly fatal are from 5 p.m. to 8 p.m., when people are rushing homeward from work, tired, fretful and impatient, and then out again later for some appointment at which they always seem to be late."

The answer?

Postmaster Allcorn says there are several right answers to the question of night traffic hazards, and all of them simple but effective.

"One of the answers is good walking habits, an alertness and caution in crossing the street," he said. "Another one is good driving habits—driving carefully to offset the poor vision brought on by twilight and darkness and keeping a sharp lookout for pedestrians and children on bikes as well as for other cars."

Postmaster Allcorn particularly stressed the fact that night traffic hazards also claim their share of young bike riders, who fail to equip their bikes with a good headlight and tail lights or reflectors, plus making them more visible to motorists by trimming them with white or reflectorized material.

"I think the best way to sum up the message of what our local program in traffic safety is doing

Cotton Allotment For State In '57 Is 7,547,503 Acres

The U. S. Department of Agriculture has announced the 1957 state acreage allotments for upland cotton; the national allotment for extra-long staple cotton and set December 11 as the date for a referendum on marketing quotas for the 1957 cotton crop.

The total allotments available for distribution in the states were set by the USDA at 17,585,463 acres. The total allotment for Texas was set at 7,547,503 acres which includes 10,974 acres as Texas' share of the national reserve. The Agricultural Act of 1956 provides that a national acreage reserve of 100,000 acres be apportioned among States on the basis of the estimated needs of each State for additional acreage to establish minimum farm allotments under the act.

The marketing quota for the 1957 crop upland cotton was announced on August 31 as 11,014,493 bales of 500 pounds gross weight. The marketing quota for extra long staple cotton, just announced, is 76,565 bales, and the national acreage allotment was set at 89,357 acres for the 1957 crop.

At least two-thirds of the cotton producers voting in the December 11 referendum must favor the marketing quotas if they are to be effective on the 1957 crops. Whether quotas are approved or disapproved, 1957 cotton acreage allotments will remain in effect as a condition of eligibility for price support.

The USDA announcement said that the state acreage allotments would be apportioned among counties and the county allotments among farms according to provisions of the law and regulations issued by the Secretary of Agriculture. Individual farm acreage allotments will be mailed to operators of cotton farms prior to the referendum.

Rules of Caution For Hunters Told

There isn't a deer, duck, turkey, dove, or quail in Texas worth the price of a permanent injury or death to a hunter, says E. H. Cooper, extension wildlife conservation specialist. He adds, there is little excuse for hunting accidents if a few simple rules of safety are observed.

First, he says, know your gun... its capability and proper operating procedure. Keep the weapon unloaded until the actual hunt gets underway in the field. If hunting with others, know where the other hunters will be and when, and keep guns away from children.

Never cross a fence or climb a tree with a loaded gun. Doing so can cost a limb, loss of an eye or even a life. And remember, says the specialist, alcohol and gun powder do not mix. The same applies to alcohol and gasoline.

Once the hunt is underway, be sure of the target. Never pull a

Plainview Hosts VFW Convention

Officers and members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and its ladies Auxiliary from seven districts in north and northwest Texas will convene in Plainview on Saturday and Sunday, November 3 and 4. Wilson Bros., Post No. 5399 and its Auxiliary of Plainview will host the meeting.

J. W. Cole, of Abilene, Commander of the Department of Texas and Mrs. Mamie McCandless, of Kingsville, President of the Ladies Auxiliaries in the state will preside over the two day meeting. Schools of instruction for district and post officers and members of both the parent organization and the Auxiliary will be conducted under the direction of the department staff of each group.

A full study of procedures in Americanism, Youth Activities, Rehabilitation and Community Service programs will be included on the agenda. In addition, the group will consider plans for assisting an all out cooperation throughout the state in observing Veterans Day on the weekend following and outline suggested ideas for obtaining full support for voter approval of the election day proposition to extend and further the program of the Veterans Land Act in Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Baker spent the weekend at Lockney with the family of her brother, Lewis Busby and Sunday afternoon attended funeral services for an old friend, R. C. Bennett of Lockney.

trigger until all doubt about the target is removed. Livestock and fellow hunters are always out of season.

The wise hunter is familiar with hunting regulations and obeys them. He also respects the rights and properties of the landowner and doesn't enter upon the property of another without permission.

Finally, says Cooper, see that fellow hunters respect and obey the same rules which you follow. Cooperation with and consideration for the other fellow will make the annual trek to the woods a pleasure and improve the chances for taking the game sought.

Collect For U. N. I. C. E. F.

Two groups of MYF members went "trick or treat" on Monday night to collect money for U. N. I. C. E. F., which is a United Nations Agency that sends food and medicine to needy children in many countries. The senior MYF collected $7.50 from homes in Muleshoe. Those participating were Ben and Ralph Roming, Harold and Linda Cooper, and Donna Actkinson. The Intermediate MYF solicited in the Progress community and collected $30. They met afterwards at the home of their teacher, Mrs. Earl Henry, for Halloween games, and refreshments of frosted Cokes, cookies and candy.

Present were eJanne Gray, Billy Rning, Pat and Kay Thomson, Doris and Frances Cooper, Trudy Davis, Mary Ellen Wedel, and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Henry.

Theme of the service was "Hands", symbolizing the many kinds of work done by the officers. "The Kingdom Is Coming", was the first hymn. Mrs. Ben Atkins offered prayer. Mrs. D. M. Marrow, incoming president, introduced Mrs. Moore, who conducted the installation ceremony, assisted by Mrs. H. T. Peugh, the past president. Scripture was taken from the 24th Psalm. Mrs. Elmer Downing sang one verse of "Take My Life" as a prayer, while all the officers held hands in a circle. Mrs. Marrow gave the closing prayer.

Punch and cake were served to fifteen women present. Love gifts of appreciation were presented by the Society to Mrs. Moore and Mrs. Peugh.

The Progress WSCS collected a total of $154.80 in two recent rummage sales. The ladies wish to thank everyone who contributed clothing and helped to sell it.

Attend Funeral

Mr. and Mrs. Jake Tunnell and Ralph Mr. Ike Tunnell and Mrs. B. E. Chaney went to Dallas Thursday morning, after a call that Mrs. Chaney's son-in-law, Howard Lindsay, was critically ill. Mr. Lindsay, 60, died about 2:20 Friday morning, Oct. 26. He has been in failing health for nearly two years.

Jake Tunnell and Ike Tunnell also went to Tyler, where their sister is very sick. Ike Tunnell remained there, and the others of the group returned home Monday night.

Doyle Green, who was injured at the Lariat Gip last week, is recovering satisfactorily. He received a deep cut on his thigh which required seventeen stitches to close. He was treated at a Clovis hospital and is now at his home.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Davis and Trudy had as guests Sunday afternoon the Bill Davis family of Causey, N. M.

The Clark Billingsley family were supper guests last Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Scott Billingsley of Lariat. Billy Roming was a guest of Phillip Billingsley, also.

Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Peugh and James Peugh went to Cedar Hill last Tuesday and returned Thursday. Mrs. Peugh's mother, Mrs. W. E. Callis, who has been visiting relatives in this vicinity several days accompanied them to her home there. James Peugh went to Ft. Worth Friday, and is employed at the Air Base there.

It seems to me that if Adlai ever had a chance around here, he threw it away when he came out with that H-bomb business. Now, the folks in our town don't know much about H-bombs, except that they don't want any personal dealings with them. Our scientific knowledge of H-bombs is about on a par with our football knowledge, I reckon. But we do know one thing: We don't want some misguided, inexperienced fellow fooling around with our national defense. When it comes to trusting what Bulzarin says or what Eisenhower says, I'll take Ike. So will the rest of the country, if I don't miss my guess.

Just before we broke up the other night Doc Brown came into the drug store, and somebody asked him: "Hey, Doc, how's Ike doin'?" (Doc's a big Eisenhower man.) Doc said: "Well, it's a busy campaign for the medical profession. Last week Ike went and got his heart examined; and I understand that this week Adlai is going to get his head examined."

Yours truly,

Tex Says He's No Expert But He Believes Ike Is

The other night a bunch of us were sitting around in the drug store after the football game, drinking coffee and talking. You know how it is after a game in a small town, especially after the home team loses. Nearly every man in the crowd had a theory as to why we didn't win the game. Most of them, of course, blamed the coach. I couldn't help remembering that before we consolidated the county schools we didn't even have enough boys to make up a football team. And these same football experts who were saying what Rockne or Bud Wilkinson would have done, up until a few years ago they didn't know a football from a watermelon.

But that's the way it is in a small town (and in big ones, too, I understand). I guess there's no real harm done, although sometimes it's pretty rough on the coach.

I guess we have a right, in this free country, to be self-appointed experts in any line we want to pick out. It seems to me that most people choose either football or politics.

News FARM COUNTY Farmer Bureau By RAYMOND EJLER

A county meeting of the Bailey County Farm Bureau was held October 23, in the District Courtroom in Muleshoe, to vote on resolutions for 1957. Thirty-eight attended the meeting. Bill Millen, Bailey County president, was in charge of the meeting. He introduced Hub King, district director from Brownfield, who made a brief talk to the group. He discussed resolutions that Farm Bureau had put into effect on a State and National level. He pointed out that meetings such as this one were where the ideas originated from.

Jesse Osborn, Representative, discussed the amendments to be voted on in the general election with the group, and explained each, answering questions from the floor.

Before a vote on the resolutions was called before the floor, Mr. Millen discussed the ever important question of price support. He stated that at the present rate of reduction of acreage of cotton and other allotment crops, we soon would be out of any acreage at the present price support of 90%. He stated that we could pull the price down some to meet world trade and maintain sufficient acreage to stay in the business. Out of the number present at the meeting, only seven voted on the price support resolution given below.

All Hall, of the Bi-State Water Commission, introduced some water resolutions, one of which was approved and is given below. The following resolutions were acted upon and will be sent to the State Convention to be held in Houston November 11 through November 13.

We favor legislation to permit water depletion a deductible item from income tax.

We favor Texas remaining a "Right to Work Law" State.

We favor new rulings on the allotment reserve. That payment times production be based on actual per farm yields instead of State and County averages as the present program. That allowable adjustments be made for adverse weather conditions.

We also favor participation in the Soil Bank on a voluntary basis, rather than a compulsory basis.

We favor reinstating Farm Bureau's stand that the State ASC Committee not be permitted to hold more than 2% reserve from cotton allotment on a State level for all purposes.

We favor repeal of licensing law on utility trailers for farm use.

We favor retaining present legislative districts to prevent any attempts to shift election strength from rural to city areas.

We favor State Rights to handle matters such as School Segregation, Right to Work Law, School aid and etc.

We favor a State sales tax for additional educational purposes, only on food, clothing, household furnishings, and personal effects.

We favor that County and State taxes on automobiles be assessed, and paid at registration time as personal property.

We oppose mandatory consolidation of Public Schools.

We favor that Cooperation be given the best solution for local control, to prevent depletion of underground water in agricultural areas, being used for non-agricultural purposes.

We favor priority use of underground and surface water in the following order (1) Human Consumption, (2) Agriculture, (3) Industry.

We are opposed to compulsory application of a minimum wage law for all farm labor.

We are opposed to an Ad Valorem Tax for a water development program in Texas.

We favor 90% price supports on basic commodities if present allotments are lowered.

We favor 75% to 90% on non-basic commodities without allotments.

We favor that the Government classifying office under Smith-Doxy act be made to send a grade sheet accompanying grade cards returned to the gins, and that the cotton graders identification number be placed on said grade sheets.

Doughnuts and coffee was served to those attending after the meeting.

sored to study and explore the entire short staple cotton situation. It is expected to develop a master plan for action both through immediate and long range research programs to improve the quality of Plains cotton, to reduce costs and to strengthen the competitive position of short staple cotton in the market.

George W. Pfeifferberger, Executive Vice-president of the PCC, said that the conference is not to be of large proportions, instead it will be a working committee of outstanding and experienced men who can contribute to the general consensus of thinking on the over-all short staple problems.

Top cotton leaders in research, production and marketing, advanced experimenters in the fields of cotton genetics, plant physiology, plant pathology, entomology, production, harvesting, ginning, warehousing, crushing, marketing, utilization, economics, and market research will be in attendance.

"The South Plains area produces approximately one-tenth of the entire U. S. cotton crop and nearly one-half of the Texas crop. Production has expanded rapidly during the past decade or so and many problems have arisen in connection with this rapid expansion."

DEATH MESSAGE Mrs. Anna Moeller received a message Monday of the death of her nephew, Leroy Krimbrik of Lowden, Iowa.

SALVATION ARMY CENTER OPEN The Salvation Army Center located on West 2nd is open on Wednesday and Friday. Mrs. Ray Morrison would appreciate anyone having children's surplus clothes to bring them in as they have several families in need.

Short Staple To Be Conference Topic

IS A BETTER DEMOCRAT THAN STEVENSON!

TEXAS DEMOCRATS FOR EISENHOWER

You are a free Texan... You can vote any way you like. Regardless of what you may have heard, it is perfectly legal to split your ticket if you want to, just as it is legal to vote the Democratic ticket straight, or the Republican ticket straight. The purpose of the ballot is to determine what the people want. And if you want to vote for Eisenhower and Nixon — then cast the rest of your ballot for the Democratic nominees — that is your privilege. Don't let anyone tell you otherwise! BY LAW YOUR VOTE MUST BE COUNTED.
