Good Advice Even For You

We ran across a reprint of Satchel Page's recipe for keeping young. You know the great Negro ball player was still pitching when everyone thought he was 75. He's coaching a minor league team now. But here's old Satchel's immortal 6-point plan:

1. Avoid fried meats which angry up the blood.
2. If your stomach disputes you, lie down and pacify it with cool thoughts.
3. Keep the juices flowing by jangling around gently as you move.
4. Go very light on the vices, such as carrying on in society. The social ramble ain't restful.
5. Avoid running at all times.
6. Don't look back. Something might be gaining on you.

YOU HAVE JUST 26 DAYS TO MAKE UP YOUR MIND

Quite a few have asked just how The Journal stands on the national ticket, whether Democrat, Republican, or otherwise. The Journal itself will never make any difference between political factions or parties when it comes to equal treatment in news and in the advertising columns. Its columns are open to all.

But this writer takes an entirely different attitude. I have never voted anything except the Democratic ticket and I have been voting quite a while; and I don't believe anything will ever happen that will cause me to cast a vote for the Republican party, unless it's the only party existing.

And I take a dim view, and will never support a political leader who, after accepting honors from his party all his life, suddenly finds an excuse to turn upon the organization that made him and go over to the opposition. If his conscience forces him to do that, I think he ought to do it, but I don't have to continue to support him.

I am proud to take this stand, and I don't believe any apology would ever enter my mind for having always supported one of the oldest institutions in America, the Democratic party, which had its origin coincidentally with the founding of the Republic, and has remained a powerful political entity and exerted a profound influence upon the thinking of the citizens through 180 years.

A moment ago I said nothing will ever influence me to cast a Republican vote; I mean by that, I do not vote the man, I vote for the party and it would take lots of doing for the GOP to change into what I think a political party ought to be; an instrument to promote the well being of all the people, all 166 million of us, and not just a class at the top of our economic life, not just those who already have it made.

And so, if the opposition names the greatest war hero, the greatest inventor or scientific hero, or the TV performer most in the public eye as their standard bearer, it wouldn't make a particle of difference, because I think the philosophy of the party would not change but rather would change and dominate their leader. And so, I stay through thick and through thin with the party that I know has always and I think always will have the right concept of what government is really for — the betterment of the people and the country they occupy.

Compared to Lincoln, Washington, Jefferson, the Democrats have had, just as the Republicans have had, weak, or inept Presidents; they have had, both of them, administrations when corruption and cynicism, and favoritism were rank; the Republicans have had more of those than the Democrats have.

When the U. S. Constitution was adopted elements of the Democratic party were already in existence. Even at that early date, the members felt themselves to be the party of the common man, and the elements mentioned opposed some provisions of the Constitution, saying the "government was being organized in the interests of the privileged classes."

The party continues to think of itself as the party where the rights and opportunities of Mr. Average Man are most respected. One speaker at the recent Republican Convention in San Francisco, boasted that since Lincoln the GOP has been in charge of the administration nearly 70 years out of the 96. I venture to say the Democrats have come up with many times as much leg-

Conservation Acreage Reserve Program of Soil Bank Told By ASC Official

Bailey county farmers were told this week of a plan whereby they could build up their land and at the same time receive payment for land not in cash crop production, and still help cut down on the mounting surplus of commodities such as grain, cotton, corn, and sorghums. Explaining the issues of the Soil Conservation Reserve program of the soil bank plan was Charlie Daniel, Bailey county office manager of the ASC office here.

The program allows farmers only until October 15, next Monday, to decide whether they wish to sign contracts for the 1956 program.

Daniel said a farmer may put as much as $55.6 acres in the conservation reserve contract, and be paid a maximum of $9 per acre, for a maximum sum of $5,000, and also receive up to 80 per cent of the cost of putting in cover crops as required under the terms of the contract.

Eligibility is determined by the 1954 and 1955 history, which may include the growth of any crops except pastures and legumes. Allotments will not be affected by contracting for conservation reserve payments, as the acreage reserve program is an entirely different contractual matter.

The acreage reserve program covers six basic crops, including wheat, cotton, grain sorghums, peanuts, etc., and in Bailey county, the acreage reserve portion of the soil bank plan will pay an additional $7.50 maximum for dryland wheat, and $21.25 per acre maximum on irrigated wheat land. Payments for cotton will be up to 50 per cent of the acreage reserve, and the amount will be determined following the December cotton allotment referendum voting.

Terms of the conservation reserve program were explained by Daniel at a meeting of the county agricultural workers Monday morning at Leigon's dining room.

Daniel announced that contracts entered into for the 1956 crop would be for six or 11 years, and contracts for 1957, which may be filed up to March 15, 1957, would be for either five or ten year terms.

The amount a farmer can put into the 1956 conservation reserve program will be based on the amount of soil depleting crops he had in 1954-55, on an average basis. This sets the maximum number of acres for which the farmer may receive the $9 per acre payment.

Noxious weed control must be stipulated in the contracts. The contracts define noxious weeds as sunflowers and cockleburrs.

Soil building crops must be planted on the reserve acres. Approved crops include such soil builders as blue panic, dallas grass, alfalfa and clover, but no cash crops may be harvested from the acreage during the term of the contract.

To enter into a contract, the farmer must not have harvested a crop or grazed the land since January 1, 1956.

Farmers who have harvested or grazed their land since January 1, 1956, must wait and enter the program for their 1957 crops, deadline for which is March 15, 1957. Such contracts will be based on the number of acres of soil depleting crops planted in 1955 and 1956.

Tenant and landlord must agree on terms of the programs before contracts can be signed. Rent must be split on a "fair share" basis, although the ASC has not yet determined what a "fair share" shall be.

Further details may be obtained at the county ASC office or by contacting Daniel.

Duane Bartee, work unit conservationist of the Blackwater Valley Soil Conservation District said his office would recommend the program, particularly for sub-marginal land, which could give the owner some cash money annually, especially if he were not receiving any income at all from the land now.

A total of 16 men attended the breakfast. Bartee acted as moderator for the program.

CHAMBER SURVEY SHOWS Folks Read The Journal, Then Shop In Muleshoe

More than six times as many people in the Muleshoe trade area read the ads in The Muleshoe Journal as do not read them. This is only one of many interesting facts divulged by a tabulation of answers made to a retail trade questionnaire recently sent out by the local Chamber of Commerce.

A total of 135 persons indicated they do read the ads in The Journal, and only 19 said they did not at all, or only read them part of the time.

More than 250 replies were made to the questionnaire, with answers coming from residents of West Camp, YL, Pleasant Valley, Needmore, Three Way and Baileyboro, as well as from Muleshoe.

Pleased With Stores

Most of those returning the questionnaires indicated they thought Muleshoe stores are attractive, well lighted and staffed by friendly, efficient, courteous clerks.

A few replied that hardware stores and department stores here might carry more complete lines of stocks, and display their merchandise so that it would be easier to locate by the average shopper.

Replies were about evenly divided on the question as to whether local stores should remain open late one night weekly. Of the replies, 38 chose Thursday as the best night to remain open, and 51 chose Saturday night.

Late Hours

Many local retailers will remain open until 8:30 Tuesday night, beginning next week, on a trial basis, it was announced by the retail merchants committee of the Chamber of Commerce this week.

Most folks in this area at least attempt to buy their needs in Muleshoe before trying an out-town concern, the survey showed, with only 10 per cent of the returnees indicating they buy out of town, and spend 90 per cent of their retail dollars in Muleshoe. Clovis, Lubbock, Littlefield and Amarillo get the remaining out of town money, with only a small portion going to mail order firms, according to the survey.

The answers showed that folks in the trade territory are fairly evenly divided on the effect that national advertising has on their buying habits. Some said they were strongly influenced by national advertising, while others said they paid little or no attention to it.

But the preponderance of replies did indicate that advertising in The Muleshoe Journal is read and acted upon by the greater majority.

Need Improvements

Recommendations made thru the questionnaire for needed improvements in Muleshoe included 52 requests for a young peoples recreation center, for more entertainment facilities for adults, and 29 replies favored a cleaner town, with 20 people wanting improvements made to city park.

A long list of needed services or stores was compiled from the questionnaire, but only one or two requests were made for any one additional service mentioned. A need for a source for wider width shoes and for better brands of clothing was shown by the survey, however, with some feeling that more adequate repair service for autos and farm implements and machines would also be welcomed.

A complete tabulation of the results of the survey will be compiled shortly by the Chamber for general distribution.

Band Entered In Homecoming Parade Saturday

"I'll Meet You In Dreamland", theme of Eastern New Mexico University's Homecoming parade, has produced a total of 18 floats for the 23rd annual event Saturday morning.

In addition, returning old grads and other Homecoming visitors will see 12 regional bands during the 11 a.m. parade, which will include 34 units in all.

The bands, representing junior and senior high schools of Texas and New Mexico, will be awarded first, second and third place trophies in "A" and "B" classifications. In addition, three trophies will be awarded in a twirling contest for majorettes.

The Muleshoe band is entered in class A competition, and LaQuinna Stone is an entrant in the twirling contest.

Charles Emmons, director of the Amarillo high school band, will judge the contests. Emmons also will be guest conductor for band activities preceding the ENMU-College of Idaho football game Saturday afternoon.

Other highlights of the Homecoming include "The Rainmaker", a University Theatre production Friday evening at 8:30; dedication of the $271,000 Technology building at 9:45 Saturday morning; a barbecue for alumni and other guests at 12:15; the football game at 2:30 p.m., and the Homecoming ball in the gymnasium at 9 p.m.

Chamber Donates Material To Student Council

The Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce will furnish scratch pads and pencils to participants in the South Plains Association of Student Councils convention to be held in Muleshoe November 10.

About 300 sophomore and junior students from schools all over the South and West Plains countries are expected to attend the conference, with the Muleshoe high school acting as hosts to the group.

Other district games include Tullis at Canyon and Dalhart at Dimmitt.

Most prognosticators feel that the Olton and Canyon games will be the most crucial for the local 11. If the Mules beat Olton, they will likely be all set up for Canyon, considered by all as the team to beat, (after beating Olton, of course.)

Court Recalls Warrants Due To Wrong Amounts

The Bailey County Commissioners' Court met Monday and after approving payment of routine expense vouchers, passed a motion to correct an error in the issuance of $10,600 worth of warrants made in August.

In issuing the warrants to Tom Carpenter Equipment Co., the court made the warrants in amounts of $2,850 each, instead of $2,650 each as they should have been.

It was necessary to recall the warrants with the errors in them, and to issue new warrants in the proper amount.

The court also passed an ordinance to purchase $50,000 worth of road and bridge bonds from Central Investment Co. of Texas issued October 1, 1956, and maturing for $20,000 in 1965, $24,000 in 1966, and $6,000 in 1967.

Cotton Pulling Prevailing Wage $1.50 Per Hundred

The first of a bi-weekly series of prevailing wage reports was announced this week by the State Bureau of Employment Security.

Prevailing wages for cotton pulling in Bailey county effective October 8, was announced as $1.50 to $1.55 per hundred.

The reports are issued every other week by the state employment office, and are based on surveys made by Texas Employment Commission officials in each county where agricultural work is in progress.

Maurice Oden of the local office will announce the prevailing scale every two weeks through the columns of The Journal.

'City Mail Delivery In Six Months If Patrons Want It' - Postal Official

City delivery of mail will begin in Muleshoe within six months time, providing enough patrons want such home delivery, W. B. "Red" Weathered, district operations manager of the Postoffice Department, told the directors of the Chamber of Commerce here Monday afternoon. Weathered said that most of the requirements for city delivery have been met, and assured the group that if postoffice patrons really want home delivery of their mail, the postoffice department would supply the service.

"But," cautioned Weathered, "you must take a realistic view of what city delivery could mean." He then pointed out that the carriers would probably not leave the postoffice until 11 a.m. each day to start their rounds. The business district would be served first, and then the residential areas. This would mean, pointed out the postal official, that some residences would not receive their mail until 3:30 or possibly as late as 4:30 p.m. each day.

A survey must be made by the postal inspection department, in which enough patrons indicate a desire for city delivery, and a willingness to give up their postoffice boxes in favor of mail delivery to their homes.

Weathered told his audience that requirements for city delivery include at least 400-600 patrons for each carrier; all blocks in the area to be served must be at least 50 percent improved; all streets must be labeled and all houses numbered, and all streets must be of the all-weather type. Each resident to be served must have either a mail slot in the door, or an approved type mailbox mounted for the convenience of the carrier.

City mail rated first class, will be mailed for three cents, when city delivery begins, rather than the two-cent rate now in effect.

And, pointed out the official, mail must be properly addressed before the carrier can deliver it.

On the brighter side, Weathered said he believed that Muleshoe meets all the qualifications for city delivery, and that if the Chamber of Commerce will formally request city delivery, he will see that a survey is made to determine whether patrons want the service or not.

Patrons would soon become accustomed to the delivery of mail later in the day, Weathered said, and will not mind the delay.

Weathered accompanied postmaster Arnold Allcorn and assistant postmaster A. J. Gardner on a tour of the town while he was here. Weathered is stationed in Amarillo.

Following his talk, the Chamber of Commerce voted to write the postoffice department in Amarillo, requesting city delivery as soon as possible.

District Rotary Governor Visits Muleshoe Club

Rex Webster

Rex Webster, district governor of Rotary International, paid his official visit to the Muleshoe Club Monday and Tuesday of this week. The Governor and his lady were guests of the club Monday evening at a meal in Leigon's Cafe attended by fourteen committee chairmen and many of the Rotary ladies.

After a short address by the governor, the ladies went to the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Lancaster for games and visiting. The men remained for a club assembly, at which the governor went over reports and discussed various phases of Rotary activities.

He was principal speaker at the noon meeting of the club Tuesday, with the subject, "Success in Service". He dwelt briefly upon Rotary principles, and the four avenues of service open to Rotarians, Club, Vocational, Community, and International.

He pointed out that Muleshoe club is now a 100 per cent club in the Rotary Foundation, having contributed $10 per member; and is continuing to contribute to the Foundation. Rotary Foundation pays expenses of selected college graduates for a year of study in foreign lands and since its inception in 1947 has spent more than $2 million in this program. Gerre Hancock, this district's Foundation Fellow in 1955, will speak before the local club next Tuesday.

Faisas Activities

Governor Rex complimented the local club on its sponsorship of a Little League baseball club, and its award of an annual $100

Wendell Rundell, farming near Lariat sustained some injury to his right hand when he got it caught in a combine gear. He too, was taken to West Plains Hospital for treatment and was in fair condition Wednesday.

A REPORT TO THE TAXPAYERS County Bonded Indebtedness Down By $50,000 Now, Commission Says

Bailey County's bonded indebtedness went down this week by $50,000 and interest charges were reduced by more than $1,300 a year when the commissioners court paid off that amount of Road District No. 1-A bonds, Judge Glen Williams told The Journal. Action was taken in the court's session Monday.

There remains outstanding only $396,000 of the original $625,000 road bonds voted by the county in 1946, so that the principal has been reduced by $229,000 in the first 10 years of the life of the bonds.

Taxpayers of the county got another good piece of news in regard to the bonds, also. Judge Williams announced that this year tax assessment for retiring the bonds has been reduced to 40 cents per one hundred dollars valuation.

When the bonds were voted the assessment was set at $1.00. About 1950, this was seen to provide more money than was needed, so that assessment was reduced to 50 cents, and now has been cut to 40 cents.

BUILT 76 MILES OF ROADS

Bailey County voters favored issuing these road bonds, only such issue in the county's history, by a good majority. With the money provided, there was built a system of farm roads going into every part of the county, embracing 76 miles of all weather roads.

Since that time, the State Highway Department has accepted more than one half of the mileage for state maintenance.

The roads are still in good condition, Judge Williams said, but now they need a seal coat. Considerable damage was caused by the snow of last February, which lay on the roads several days, so that here and there holes are beginning to appear. The county officials have been considering the matter and would like to seal coat these roads soon in order to avoid further and continued damage. They feel the county got a very good job when this paving was laid.

islation for the general advancement of the people economically and socially in the less time they have been in power.

Many criticized the great social advances that came along in the administration of Franklin Roosevelt and Harry Truman. The Republicans have not suggested repeal nor have they apparently given thought to repeal of any portion of it since they came to power. In Wilson's administration came the great Federal Reserve System; in Roosevelt's the guarantee of bank deposits that restored faith in our financial institutions, Social Security, the RFC which exerted a profound influence upon our economic recovery.

Just A Little History

The Democrats opposed in the beginning of our national history the theories of the Federalists, who were principally characterized by their desire for a strong central government. The party carried Congress and numerous local elections, but did not oppose Washington for his second term.

They elected Thomas Jefferson President in 1800. At this point, the Democrats dropped their opposition to the Constitution, after the adoption of the first 10 amendments, commonly called the Bill of Rights. Jefferson negotiated the Louisiana Purchase. The Democrats elected Madison President in 1808 and again in 1812; the Federalists, after opposing the War of 1812, dropped out of sight; President Monroe had no opposing party and the era was known as the "Era of Good Feeling."

The Democrats elected Andrew Jackson President in 1824, and he was the first "man of the people", to become president, that is he was not a man of wealth, position, or family background. Opposition to Jackson and his successor, principally because of the 1837 panic, formed under the name of Whigs.

Now the slavery question divided both parties and a third party, the Republican, came into being and Lincoln was their first President.

From 1860 to 1884 the Republicans had the national administration. The Democrats elected Cleveland that year, again in 1882, then the Republicans were in office until Woodrow Wilson's time, 1912. He served eight years, and the Republicans took over until Roosevelt came along in 1932 and the Democrats again were in power for 24 years.

More next week — Maybe.

Maid of Cotton To Be Chosen Nov. 20

South Plains cotton industry leaders have begun their search for an attractive young woman who will represent this area as one of the 20 finalists in the National Maid of Cotton contest in Memphis in December.

Chairman Charles Signor announced this week that plans are now being completed for the biggest and best contest ever held on the South Plains. The contest has been expanded to a two-day event, and a wonderful treat is in store for each contestant for the South Plains title.

The South Plains Maid of Cotton Contest will be held November 19-20, with judging in the Caprock Hotel and the finals on the evening of November 20 before 3,000 persons in Lubbock's new Municipal Auditorium. Each contestant will receive awards, and the lucky girl chosen as

South Plains Maid of Cotton will receive a $1,000 wardrobe and an all-expense paid trip to Memphis for her and her mother (or chaperon.)

Officials of the contest, the world's most dignified beauty contest, have received confirmation that again this year the South Plains Maid will be an automatic entry in the finals to be held in Memphis December 27-28.

All contestants for the South Plains Maid title must be between the ages of 19 and 25, inclusive, at least five feet five inches tall, never married, and must have been born in a cotton-producing state. Contestants will be judged on the basis of personality, poise, intelligence, and appearance. Entry deadline is November 9.

AMNESIA VICTIM — Frank L. Fritsch, 39, of Menasha, Wis., a businessman and father of 7 children, is in a hospital in San Mateo, Calif., after suddenly recalling his identity at San Francisco Airport while seeking a ticket for Honolulu. Fritsch, apparently the victim of amnesia, has been missing for a week since leaving his home for a fishing trip at Lake Winnebago, Wis. When he failed to return home, authorities dragged the lake for his body.

And the Lord answered me, and said: Write the vision and make it plain upon tablets, that he may run that readeth it.—(Habakkuk 2:2.)

The Holy Bible, which is readily at hand for each of us, contains the writings and the visions of mortal men, as ourselves, who walked and talked with God and who left to us their God-guided wisdom—to enable us, even as we frantically run these days, to gain His love and in it live right.

PART OF THE CROWD that viewed the 1957 Ford at its premier showing in Muleshoe Motor Company last Wednesday. (Staff Photo).

SQUATTERS TAKE OVER AT C & H CHEVROLET COMPANY

Excitement is rampant at the local C & H Chevrolet Co. According to James and John Crow, a couple showed up there yesterday, pitched camp on their floor and said they ABSOLUTELY wouldn't budge until they had seen the ALL NEW 1957 Chevrolet.

They claimed they had heard such exciting rumors in regard to this fabulous car, that they were going to stay right there and see for themselves!

They said they had heard it was the most beautiful, most exciting car ever to be released to the public. Also that it is sweet, smooth and sassy; it's longer, lower and lovelier. It has a "new flowing kind of going."

They also said they would not think of missing the Big Party Oct. 19-20 at —

There are several other "new" features that make this car a real "new kind of going."

Home-Owner Can Control Condensation

You wouldn't stand for damage to the interior of your home caused by a leaky roof.

Yet there are other, less apparent sources of moisture in a house—washers, dryers, shower stalls, cooking and the like—which also can cause extensive damage, but which can be controlled by the home-owner who is willing to follow a few simple rules.

Recognizing the dangers of these moisture problems, Better Homes & Gardens reports:

"Contrary to belief, insulation does not cause condensation. Insulation does not cause the paint on your house to peel, either."

"Moisture gets into your home through leaky chimneys, flashing, crumbling mortar joints, leaky gutters, damaged siding, torn and broken shingles and so on. But condensation of excessive moisture produced within your home is usually the real problem."

"To correct both problems, first attend the openings in your home where water runs from the outside enters. Then vent out the moisture vapor produced in the kitchen, bathroom, laundry and so on. One good way to do this is to simply open a window. Or, where extreme conditions exist, install exhaust fans in these rooms."

"Another method of controlling cond

Miss Lola Roark and Sammy Donaldson Will Be Married In November Service

MISS LOLA ROARK

Mr. and Mrs. Doron Roark, of Muleshoe, are announcing the impending marriage of their daughter, Lola Mae, to Samuel Donaldson, son of Mrs. Scott Donaldson, of Fairbairn. The couple will spend their Thanksgiving evening, November 22, at 6:30 o'clock in the evening in the West Camp Baptist Church, with Rev. T. L. Pugh, pastor, officiating. All friends are invited to attend.

The bride-elect is a 1934 graduate of Muleshoe high school, and is presently employed with the P. C. & M. Millard. Prior to beginning work in Millard, she attended Traugh's Business College in Lubbock.

Mr. Donaldson was graduated from Muleshoe high school with the class of 1934, and is now a senior at Texas Technological College at Lubbock.

The nine weeks of "boot camp" included drill and instruction in seamanship, gunnery, life saving, sea signaling, boat handling and the use of small arms. Procrastination By Texans In Car Checking Texas motorists are exercising the old American custom of putting off until tomorrow what ought to be done today and Col. Homer Garrison, Jr., Director of the Texas Department of Public Safety has expressed some concern that the parties are responsible for considerable lagging in the State's motor vehicle inspection program.

The first month of the new inspection period ended on October 15 and Garrison noted that only 4% of the registered vehicles have been inspected. The period runs through April 15, 1937.

"The inspection period embraces a full seven months," Garrison said, "and that means that a minimum of 14% of the cars must be checked each month in order to avoid unnecessary rushes on the inspection stations in the final weeks of the period."

Meanwhile, George W. Busby, DPS Motor Vehicle Inspection Division Chief, reported that a total of 3,863,000 cars were inspected during the year which ended last September 14. Of these slightly more than 1 1/2 million, or 43% needed some adjustment or repair before meeting the approved standards. Average cost for such services was eighty-eight cents.

The most common defect found by the State's more than 4,200 licensed inspection stations during the year was in 29% of the cars which needed headlights adjusted or repaired, Busby announced.

He said that the second most frequent mechanical deficiency was the 19% of cars which required adjustment or repairs of foot brakes.

We hope all these boys come home with a lot of ribbons and a lot of money for their hard work. All the stock is in good shape and should place well in the show.

Ralph Roming, piano-straining comedian whose shy nature of nature won him a brilliant reputation as one of the world's funniest men, will star in his "Comedy in Music" show in the Cotton Bowl Saturday, Oct. 26, during the 1936 State Fair of Texas.

This is a big week for the FFA boys who plan to take 25 animals to the stock show at the State Fair in Dallas, leaving by truck at noon Sunday. This truck will be furnished by Thurl Lammons.

Boys who are taking stock to the show include: Ralph Roming, heron; Carl Ben Toming, heron; Fred Carl, C.H. Kilm, kangaroo. These animals will be entered in the commercial outfit show.

In the lamb division there are eight entries: Billy Black, one ing on the qualifications each has demonstrated.

Each year auto manufacturers lower and widen their new models. This year the change will be particularly dramatic. Typical of the trend is the 1937 Dodge—only 34 1/2 inches low.

A Statement on the Proposed County Audit

In making this statement I should first like to make it clear that I am doing so of my own accord and the views and opinions expressed are strictly my own and do not necessarily reflect the official position of anyone other than myself. I am making this statement in the hope that it will be of some benefit to the public, and I want you to read it carefully.

Recently two interested Bailey County citizens made request of the Commissioners' Court that they be given permission to have an independent audit of the County's financial records for the four years, 1933, 34, 35, and 36. These two citizens proposed to have the audit made at their own expense, but the Commissioners' Court did not give them permission to do so. Now, if I correctly understand the Commissioner's feelings in the matter the principal reasons they did not give them permission were as follows:

No. 1. They felt that they were entitled to know if there are only two people wanting an audit or if there are more, and if there are more they felt that they were entitled to know who they are, and WHY they want it.

No. 2. They did not feel that an audit of only the last four years would present a true and complete picture of the way the finances have been handled and business conducted through the years.

No. 3. They did not believe an audit would relieve the difficulties or solve the problems about which these two men seemed to be concerned.

The statutes provide that when, in their judgement, an imperative public necessity therefore exists, any Commissioner's Court shall have authority to employ a disinterested, competent and expert public accountant to audit all or any part of the County's records, provided, and from the law book I copy as follows:

"The resolution providing for such an audit shall recite the reasons and necessity existing therefor for such as that in the judgement of said court there exists official misconduct, willful omission or negligence in records and reports, misapplication, conversion or retention of public funds, failure in keeping accounts, making reports and accounting for public funds by any officer, agent or employee of the district, county or precinct, including depositories, hospitals, and other public institutions maintained for the public benefit, and/or public expense, or that in the judgement of the court it is necessary that it have the information sought to enable it to determine and fix proper appropriation and expenditure of public moneys, and to ascertain and fix appropriation levy." Art. 16441, R. C. S.

There are of course certain other provisions and regulations to be observed and followed but they are too lengthy to outline here.

Now, the truth of the matter is, Bailey County already has a disinterested, competent and expert public accountant employed, and for many years the records have been audited every three months, and an annual audit made at the end of each year. These audits reports are on file in the Courthouse and are subject to being examined by any interested party at any time. In fact I have stated both publicly and privately that I would furnish them all the information we have, that I would go over all records, explain every item and answer any question they might want to ask. The auditor has offered to do the same thing.

At the present time this audit work is costing the taxpayers of the County $4000.00 per year. A statement of the County's finances is prepared and published in The Muleshoe Journal every three months, and this costs the taxpayers an additional $1000.00 per year. As far as I know the audit work we are having done is sufficient and satisfactory. HOWEVER, if anyone knows of anything wrong, or if they know of any legal and valid reason why an additional audit should be made, they should make those things known to the proper authorities at once, or if a sizeable number of citizens of the county, taxpayers, who might be representative of the thinking of the people of the county believe that an additional audit, or a more complete and thorough audit should be made, and if they think it would be wise to spend the taxpayers' money for that purpose, and if they will appear before the Court, either in person or by petition, and request such an audit and state the reasons why they think it should be made; THEN, if their reasons are legal and valid it would appear to me that such an audit would be in order and I would suggest that it should be made at county expense.

Finally my friends, I have no objections to an audit being made, but I do not have the authority to either grant or deny permission for making an audit. If an audit should be made it should of course be done in the proper manner and with the proper intent and purpose in mind. County business is your business and this is a serious matter, but it can easily be taken care of if we will make the right approach. In this connection I am making this appeal: Let's not get too excited and say things that should not be said or do things that should not be done. To do so will only lead to confusion and misunderstanding, but let us think soberly and as prudent and reasonable men, deal with it in the arena of logical and rational discussion and settle it in a business like way for the common good of all. This can be done and should be done.

Respectfully submitted
GLENN WILLIAMS,
County Judge

New 1957 Lincolns To Feature Four Road Lights and Advanced Styling

The distinctly new 1957 Lincoln, first American-produced car with Quadra-Lites, will be unveiled in Brown-Watkins showrooms October 16.

Four road lights in vertical pairs, the Quadra-Lites are housed in oval-shaped, chrome-rimmed settings. The auxiliary road lamps, positioned below the headlights, are optional equipment and may be used either alone or with the headlights.

Massive parking lights and directional signals are coupled horizontally below the Quadra-Lites, enhancing the beauty of the newly designed bumper and grille.

The new car is slightly longer than last year's, which brought Lincoln stylists the highest award of the Industrial Designers Institute.

Graceful body lines are attained by stylized chrome side moulding, simulated air scoops, and sweeping rear-quarter panels canted outward toward pyramid taillights. Exhaust outlets, hidden under wrap-around bumpers, large back-up lights and the Lincoln star new trunk emblem complement the rear look.

Also prominent in the new Lincoln line are a new four-door hardtop and concealed-pillar sedan in both the Premiere and Capri series, increased horsepower and added luxury accessories.

The four-door hardtop, the "Landau", expands the Lincoln line to seven models, two more than last year.

Lincoln sedans have slim pillars which are concealed when the windows are raised, presenting the appearance of a four-door hardtop.

Horsepower and torque have been increased as the result of a higher compression ratio of 10 to 1, reshaped pistons, and a redesigned combustion chamber. The horsepower rating moves up to 300 at 4800 rpm and torque to 415 foot pounds at 3000 rpm.

New accessories are power vent windows, a power-directed differential, electric door locks operated from a master switch on the instrument panel, Adjust-O-Matic shock absorbers and a six-way power seat.

A remote control sideview mirror and an automatic low-fuel warning signal are standard equipment. The fuel gauge glows red when approximately three gallons of gas are left in the tank.

In addition to new power equipment, the 1957 Lincoln optional accessories include the eight-tube signal-seeking radio with remote-control foot switch, electrically-driven antenna, and the automatic headlight dimmer.

The Premiere has as standard equipment, power steering, power seats, power windows and power brakes. Power steering and power brakes are also standard equipment on Capri models.

Under the hood, the 1957 Lincoln has a new, more efficient carburetor with large-volume fuel bowls. The new carburetor holds more fuel and provides sure, quick starts.

A new distributor gives properly timed ignition at all engine speeds and loads with vacuum and centrifugal spark advance systems.

The old type oil-bath cleaner has been replaced with a revolutionary Paper-Pak air cleaner, affording the driver a replaceable cleaner which is more efficient and requires a minimum of servicing.

SOLICIT FUNDS

Tuesday has been designated Dollars for Democrats Day in Bailey county, according to Mrs. E. W. Bass, county chairman of the Bailey County Stevenson-Kefauver campaign committee.

A house to house solicitation will be made in the rural area during the day, and in Muleshoe Tuesday night.

THE NEW LINCOLN, first car in the industry to feature Quadra-Lites, offers a four-door hardtop (shown above) in its expanded 1957 line of seven models. The Quadra-Lites are four road lights in vertical pairs. Also available are a new concealed pillar sedan, hardtop coupe and convertible. The new Lincoln is slightly longer than last year's styling award winner and his increased horsepower. It will be shown in Muleshoe by Brown-Watkins on October 16.

Mules Give Hale Center Good Contest Friday Night But Lose

Muleshoe's hustling young Mules scared the daylight out of Hale Center's highly rated Owls in a thriller played there Friday night. They came in one touchdown of catching up with the flying Owls, and they really had their opponents in hot water by scoring 21 points in the final quarter. Hale Center got by, 41 to 34.

In this one game, the 1956 Muleshoe high school football team scored more points than the 1955 Mules made in a whole season.

This never say quit spirit is a thing that distinguishes this group of Muleshoe youngsters this year. They have seen their opponents get out to a nice lead before, and have kept hustling until they wound up on the long end of the score. They almost repeated the performance Friday night.

Hale Center, which had defeated Olton's mighty Mustangs the week before, scored in every quarter and led the Mules 13 to 21 at the half. The Owls came back to score two more touchdowns in the third quarter, then led 35 to 13. In the fourth, the Mules exploded for three touchdowns while the Owls were marking up one. They scored five touchdowns during the game, missed extra point only once.

Bill Black, Mules fullback, put the Mules on the scoreboard for the first time in the second quarter with a 3-yard plunge, then kicked goal. A short time later halfback Leroy Corralez went over from three yards out, but the try for point failed. Muleshoe then led 13 to 7, but their lead was sort lived, as the Owls added two touchdowns in this quarter.

The Mules went scoreless in the third quarter. In the fourth, Corralez started the Muleshoe spurge with an 18-yard run to pay dirt. Black ran for the extra point. Dickie Johnson, Mules' quarterback, following a pass interception tore off 6 yards and went over for the second of the quarter and Black again ran for the extra point. Johnson again scored in the quarter on an option play that made 15 yards and Black ran the point again. Two of Hale Center's tallies were set up by Muleshoe fumbles and another by a pass interception. It was estimated 2,000 persons watched the high scoring contest. The Mules get a rest next week, then take on Olton's Mustangs here the night of October 19 in the first conference game of the year.

We read somewhere the other day that if the average driver would think of nothing but his driving while he's behind the wheel of his automobile, accidents and deaths resulting from automobiles would greatly diminish. We believe that if everyone would just remember and practice this simple precaution, and not let other occupants of the car or roadside scenery distract them that there would be far fewer accidents. We are going to keep our mind on our driving from now on. How about you, too? Also keep in mind that we sell complete automobile insurance for your protection. Come in today and let us discuss it with you.

Ike's Cake Recipe

The Journal is indebted to Mrs. Hertha Walker, county Republican chairman for the following information and recipe on Ike's birthday cakes:

One important activity of Ike's birthday celebration will be the distribution of Ike birthday cakes to the children's wards of hospitals, veterans' hospitals and other institutions. Here is President Eisenhower's favorite cake recipe:

Half cup butter.
Two cups of sugar.
Three eggs.
One cup sour milk.
2 1/2 cups sifted flour.
One teaspoon baking soda.
One teaspoon baking powder, rounded.
Two-thirds cup cocoa (dissolved in half cup of boiling water).
One-quarter teaspoon salt.
One teaspoon vanilla.

Directions: Sift flour, soda, baking powder and salt; cream the shortening, slowly beat in sugar, add egg yolks and vanilla. Add cocoa, add flour mixture alternately with the milk. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour into two greased layer cake tins. Bake 25 minutes in 375 degree F. oven — Or use greased 9 inch square tin and bake 45 minutes in a 350 degree F. oven.

Water Conservation Responsibility Of All Citizens During Long Drouth

During periods when drouth stalks the land, water problems are highlighted. But actually, says Jack Barton, extension soil and water conservation specialist, every man, woman and child in the state has a continuous responsibility in water conservation — even in wet seasons.

What is water conservation? Does it mean that we will hold and hoard water regardless of the cost or consequences? He defined water conservation as sensible use of necessary water and prevention of waste. Water flowing unused into the ocean is, in a sense, wasted. Water impounded without reason or use is wasted. Excess water flowing through the faucets at home is wasted.

Farmers who hold rainfall on their land are getting maximum use but those who let rainfall flow freely into the streams and rivers carrying with it valuable top soil which will silt up reservoirs and cause downstream flooding are letting water waste. So is the irrigation farmer who fails to keep ditches in good repair so that water obtained at the source is delivered to the field. Irrigation water lost to seepage, evaporation or that which ends up in road ditches is wasted.

City dwellers, when watering lawns, flowers or shrubbery, who allow water to run down the street instead of using only what is needed are water wasters. Also water heaters which are located so far from the spot where the hot water will be used cause a great deal of water to be wasted. Leaving the faucet open when shaving or washing dishes also is wasteful.

Industrial and municipality users are urged to constantly study water uses and to control and save this precious resource whenever possible.

Barton says it is time to take stock of ourselves and our water. Understanding, sound thinking and planning, unselfish use and cooperation, he believes can go a long way toward solving water use problems in Texas.

Refunds Due To 3000 Texans On Income Taxes

The Internal Revenue Service is diligently looking for 3,000 North Texans who have tax refund checks awaiting them, according to Howard O. Nichols, Administrative Officer of the Lubbock office. The Dallas office has an employee who spends full time finding taxpayers due a refund check. A very large part of the taxpayers due a refund check have moved and failed to give Internal Revenue a forwarding address. In quite a few cases, the taxpayers plain forgot to put their address on their tax return. Mr. Nichols stated the checks ranged in size from a few dollars to some amounting to several thousand dollars.

A Dallas newspaper recently printed 600 names and addresses of Dallas taxpayers due refund checks. Within three days, 400 of these taxpayers had claimed their checks. Others are claiming their checks daily. Mr. Nichols advised Lubbock area taxpayers who are due a refund check to send their correct name address to Miss Bonnie Reed, Claims Examiner, District Director of Internal Revenue, 2101 Pacific Avenue, Dallas, Texas. Miss Reed is as glad to hear from the taxpayers who have refund checks in her file as the taxpayers are glad to get the checks. A few taxpayers have been notified that their returns are

Cotton Stalks Should Be Shredded And Plowed Under To Control Pink Bollworm

Conditions are ideal for destroying cotton stalks and boll residue because of the early harvest brought on by the drouth. Extension Entomologists F. M. Fuller and C. F. Garner say the practice should be stressed for it is one of the best for controlling pink bollworms and other cotton insects.

The use of stalk shredders is highly recommended since these machines kill many of the pink bollworms left in the field after harvest. The entomologists say it is desirable to plow the shredded residue under to a depth of six inches within five days after cutting but that when the shredded material is spread thinly over the ground, hot sunshine and soil temperatures will kill many of the dreaded worms.

Most dryland cotton, in areas where stalk destruction is recommended, has or is now being harvested and the specialists again emphasize that stalk destruction should immediately follow harvest. They point out too, that in

Johnny Love Uses Organic Matter To Aid Natural Cycles On His Farm

Johnny Love, who lives at Morton but who farms near Needmore, is a firm believer in organic farming methods and is carrying out several practices in grain and cotton which are proving of merit. Many of the methods Love uses are also approved by the Blackwater Valley Soil Conservation District.

Primary soil improvement methods being used include the interplanting of cowpeas with grain sorghums, and the interplanting of vetch in cotton.

Both these practices result in a certain amount of humus being added to the soil, and both act as good ground cover after harvest to hold the land and keep it from blowing during the fallow season.

On the three labors, Love has Lankart and Northern Star cotton and grain sorghum.

The cotton on one farm is interplanted with vetch, one of the plants recommended for several purposes by the SCS. The cotton was planted in late April and the vetch interplanted August 10. Due to lack of rains, neither the cowpeas or the vetch show remarkable growth, but both are expected to serve their purposes.

As can be seen in the accompanying photos, the vetch, while small, has a remarkably well developed root system, and is well anchored in the soil.

The grain is making from 2700-2800 pounds, and one place has Northern Star which is expected to make two bales to the acre.

The Northern Star had 600 tons of burrs applied two years ago, and last spring, Mr. Love applied an organic material, called Eac-Tex, which is reputed to contain 51 organic elements in a base of rice hulls. The material composts the soil and adds tilth and fertility by opening up the soil structure and making irrigation more efficient. Root systems are given a better opportunity to develop in loose soil than in compacted ground.

Mr. Love believes in aiding the natural cycles of nature to produce plant life, and feels that one of the best ways to advance his theory is through the use of organic material.

He feels that the vetch and cowpeas add organic matter to the soil when they are disced into the soil after harvest and allowed to compost. Additional nitrogen is also added to the soil by the cowpeas.

General Telephone Wins Two Court Decisions On Dunicipal Rate Raises

In a decision which may have far reaching effects on telephone rate making in Texas, the Texas Supreme Court October 3 reversed the decisions of the district courts and appeals courts denying General Telephone Company of the Southwest temporary injunctions in the Wellington and Edin rate cases and remanded the two cases to the respective district courts.

In both Wellington and Edin, General had asked the city councils for rate increases. The Edin City Council turned the rate adjustment request down completely while in Wellington a small increase was granted. General then went to the district courts seeking injunctions restraining the cities of Wellington and Edin from enforcing their present rate ordinances and allowing the Company to raise telephone rates. Both District Judge O. L. Parish and District Judge Luther Gribble turned the requests for temporary injunctions down. Their rulings were upheld by the Civil Appeals Courts.

In the Wellington case, the city argued against the granting of a temporary injunction claiming that the company should separate its revenues and expenses for the portion of the Wellington exchange within the city limits from the part of the exchange outside the city for rate making purposes. Another question in the case was whether or not the rates granted by the city which yielded a return to the company of less than 2 percent on the fair value of the company's Wellington properties were confiscatory.

The opinion on the Supreme Court's finding, written by Associate Justice W. St. Johns Garwood, stated in the Wellington case that "the single exchange system for the whole community has always been in actual use and there is no suggestion in the record that such a method of operation or accounting was followed in bad faith or in the least degree against the wishes of the City or that it involved improper discrimination in any respect."

On the question of the company's return of less than 2 percent on the fair value of its investment in Wellington, the Supreme Court held that "a return of less than 2 percent obviously qualifies as unreasonable under existing economic conditions of general knowledge as well as under the uncontested proof made at the hearing in this case."

The Supreme Court also cited the fact that "no inconsistencies or omissions in the company figures" had been found.

The Edin case was similar to the Wellington case in the city's contention that rural and urban investment, revenues and expenses should be separated but differed to the extent that in Edin the company contended it was realizing an actual out-of-pocket loss from its operations. The Edin decision referred many times to the Wellington ruling concerning these arguments.

SOIL-GRASS STORY TOLD AT STATE FAIR

All State Fair-going Texans, whether they farm or not, should make an honest effort to attend one special feature of this year's Agriculture Show — The Story of Soil.

For anyone who has been confused on the matter of soil conservation and land mismanagement, the fair has a program designed to increase soil concern as well as educate its visitors.

Introduction to the soil story is told through the relation of grass to soil. Grass is the prime factor in bringing the soil into balance with the forces of nature.

In this connection, thirty of the more useful species of Southwestern grasses will be the predominant display among the agriculture show's other exhibits. A few of the grasses are: Little and Big Bluestems, Sweet chgrass, Four Flower Trichloris, Marshay Cord, Lindheimer Muhly, Can Bluestem, Ciry Mesquite, Green Sprangletop, Sideoot Grama, Vince Mesquite, Buffalo, Plains Bristle, Sand Love and Tall Dropseed.

These and other grasses will be displayed alive and growing in metal containers against pictorial backgrounds illustrating development of soil from rocks. Major crops produced on various Texas soils will also be represented.

Technicians will be present daily during the fair to answer questions concerning the grasses and soil conservation in general.

In connection with soil conservation practices, the Agriculture Show will include a model farm showing misuse of the land and rebuilding and conserving the soil. A small watershed is included with a compilation of practices summarizing beneficial results from overall soil, water and plant conservation.

6-DAY GROWING SEASON GRASS MACHINE HAS

Mr. Gaston Perin, Belgian biologist, is not one to let grass grow under his feet. Instead, his soil-less "Herbage" machine grows it complete with roots in a six-day operation.

The Herbage is a chest with 7 stages (or drawers), and when bare seed has completed the cycle which first mixes it with water and a nourishing salts combination then rations water presto! There's spring grass enough for 10 cows until another cycle is finished.

The machine requires only about 30 minutes daily attention and produces one of the cleanest, most scientific feeds in existence.

GOOD COTTON YIELDS REPORTED FROM SOUTH

From the south part of the county come two reports of better than expected cotton yields.

Bib Kindle, the commissioner for Precinct 3, who lives north of Maple, has pulled a bale to the acre the first time over his field, and thinks there will be a half bale to the acre for the second time over.

Kelly Joe Barnett, farming the Pat Barnett half section at Baileyboro, expects a yield of one and a half bales from his cotton. On a little over 9 acres planted to one variety, Kelly thinks he will get 16 bales, or about one and three quarters bales to the acre. Both men have irrigation.

AFBF Is Backing State Farm Bureau On Cotton Classing

Efforts of Farm Bureau leaders in Texas to insure accurate classing of cotton by the government now has the wholehearted support of the American Farm Bureau Federation.

Charles E. Shuman, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, today announced the reactivation of the AFBF Cotton Committee to give specific study to the establishment of a non-governmental cotton classing review board for the purpose of reviewing controversies over cotton classing.

This action is a direct result of efforts by Texas Farm Bureau leaders to obtain accurate classing of cotton by the government's Smith-Doxey classing service. A Congressional hearing—requested by Farm Bureau leaders—was held Sept. 18 in Greenville. One result of the hearing was a promise by members of the cotton subcommittee of the House Agriculture Committee that the Congress will act immediately after it convenes in January to get a "light spots" classification for cotton put in government loan.

Hybrid Grain In Production Tests Yields Are Told

The results of a recent production test of hybrid grain sorghums and Kafir K-60 plantings, conducted in the Muleshoe area, were released recently by J. K. Adams, county agent. Moisture tests were made by Boone Allison, and all yields adjusted to 14 per cent moisture.

Day Wheatland Cross, led the group with 6,360 pounds per acre, followed by Texas 620 hybrid, with 6,122 pounds per acre.

Third in production was Texas 660 with 2,038 pounds, DeKalb's F-62 was fourth with 5,927, followed by DeKalb D-50 yielding 5,538 pounds.

Following in order were DeKalb E-56, with 5,329 pounds, Texas 610 with 5,024 pounds, and the K-60 kaffir, with a yield of 4,988 pounds per acre.

Located Across From Courthouse CLINIC REPORT Headaches

You think little about them perhaps, yet they are usually the warning signals of some disease which is developing within our bodies.

Chiropractic

Has been most successful in correcting the cause of those headaches and in many cases halting the progress of a dangerous disease.

Migraine Headache

Case History: Young woman, age 38, who had suffered severe migraine headaches sixteen years came to the Chiropractic Clinic in an effort to alleviate her pain. She also had symptoms of stiffness and hurting in neck and shoulders, stomach cramps, hurting in lower back and legs, extreme nervousness, menstrual trouble for which she had female surgery in an effort to relieve her headaches—to no avail, poor appetite and black out spells.

A comprehensive Chiropractic examination revealed the cause of her headaches and she became a Chiropractic patient—and ultimately a well woman.

Headaches Stopped After Two Years

Case History: Young woman, age 32. A continuous headache for two long years. A headache that had resisted all previous attempts to cure it was stopped after our examination disclosed the causative nerve interference so they could be corrected by gentle spinal adjustment.

In addition this housewife had a serious and painful female disorder which put her to bed for several days each month. She was excessively nervous, had pains in her lower abdomen, nausea, and crying spells.

At our final comparative examination she reported that she was free of pains, aches and nausea and felt fine. She now returns at intervals when she feels a little below par and reports that after the needed adjustment she feels grand again.

High Blood Pressure

Case History: Woman, age 40, came to the Chiropractic Clinic suffering from the following ailments: extremely high blood pressure, sinusitis with catarrhal drainage, pain in shoulders and rib area, HEADACHES, very nervous, unable to breathe deeply, continual cough, constipation, thyroid disorder, kidney and stomach trouble. After a spinal examination including spinal x-rays corrective adjustments were begun to remove pressure from the nerves affected, and to realign the spine. Under recommended service, this woman's health was restored. She states, "I have finally found the way to get well and stay well."

Babson Discusses THE PROPOSED 4-DAY WORK WEEK

Babson Park, Mass., Oct. 11. Although I am not, and never have been, opposed to Unionism as such, I must take up the cudgel against the recently merged AFL-CIO's forthcoming drive for a four-day week rather than increased wages, as announced by George Meany, president.

BIG GAINS THUS FAR

For years, Labor has striven not only for higher wages and more fringe benefits; but also for shorter hours. Today's standard forty-hour week is a far cry from conditions that prevailed not so very many years ago, when the twelve-hour day was common practice, six days a week. Those back-breaking, soul-destroying times are gone for the U. S., and I am sure that no one regrets their disappearance.

But how far can the pendulum, with safety, now swing in this new direction? I well realize that, as a result of our unprecedented technological and industrial development, it is no longer necessary for men to work the interminable hours of yesterday in order to produce sufficient goods to meet modern-day requirements. But this change must continue to come slowly.

AN ILL-TIMED MOVE

Of course, if Labor's drive for a temporary shorter work week had been launched back in the depression days of the early "thirties," I would have felt different about it. At that time millions of unemployed were walking the streets looking for jobs. If the working hours of all who then had jobs had been reduced, there could have been jobs for everybody. But what might have been right then, as a temporary expedient, could be seriously detrimental today to the welfare of all our people.

Since our economy is a vibrant and rapidly growing one, I can see great potential danger in producing less during an impending greater overall demand. Workers would have to produce 20% more during the four work days to compensate for the lost fifth day. Unless further automation could make up the difference, they would merely be holding their own as far as production is concerned, rather than increasing it to meet expanding requirements. Increased use of automation is a slow and expensive development. It cannot happen in four years or eight years.

A STEP BACKWARD

We are living in prosperous times. Our people never had it so good. We are practically fully employed at high wages; our purchasing power is enormous and our every-day living needs tremendous. To retard production under such circumstances would be little short of a crime — a move contrary to that which has made America great. All material prosperity stems from increased character and production. "More things for better people at right prices" is a key to our continued economic well-being.

I forecast that our No. 1 Public Enemy continues to be the threat of further inflation over the longer term. Today's 52-cent dollar is one of the chief reasons why we must pay around $3,000 for an automobile that only a few years ago cost about one-third as much. The best way to lick inflation or to forestall it is by increasing production, not by producing less. Inflation is the result of an unbalanced ratio between output and consumption. We can boost consumption by intensifying and improving advertising and selling efforts, but there is no way to compensate for lost output. This will be of great importance if we are faced with more competition from foreign goods.

Decreased production is a direct threat to Mr. and Mrs. Consumer. It means fewer goods and higher prices. The proposed shorter work week is ill-timed and impractical under present conditions. We cannot remain prosperous by producing less, but only by producing more. Ten years from now, further machinery developments should give us a four-day week; but it can't safely be done at once.

Sand Hills Philosopher COMES OUT FOR THE RIGHT OF A MAN TO SIT IF HE WANTS TO

Note: The Sand Hills Philosopher on his 300-acre grass farm discusses sitting down as opposed to working this week, one subject on which he must be an authority.

I made a special trip into town yesterday to get hold of a newspaper to find out what my economic index was for this week. As I understand it, the government in Washington now knows more about whether a man is well off than he does himself and about every two weeks issues a set of figures showing whether the prosperity index is two points up or down, holding its own, etc., and while I have never been able to get a bank to honor my checks on the strength of a jump upward in the economic index, still I like to get these reports.

According to this one, the country is now at its highest peak of prosperity in history, and while the figures have the same meaning to me that the figures showing the nation was at its healthiest peak in history would have to a man in the hospital, still I've always contended there was an advantage in being busy during prosperity instead of a depression. Even if you aren't inside the stadium watching the game, there's some satisfaction in hearing the cheers of the crowd and imagining what's going on.

But don't get the idea that I'm complaining. I know there are people in Washington who say if I'd get up and go to work, I'd be better off, but that's because whoever said that doesn't know how much pleasure there is in sitting where you are. At the moment, I'm writing this sitting under a shade tree watching the month of October unfold, and if anybody in Washington thinks I'd be happier if I leaped on my tractor and started stirring up the dust, he either likes dust better than I do or he hasn't got a calendar. Furthermore, there are people who also say if a lot of government people would get up and go to work, they'd be better off, or at least the country would, but I want it understood I'm perfectly neutral in this.

Whether a man gets up or sits, is a matter for him to decide, doesn't make any difference whether he's sitting out here on my farm or in a swivel chair in Washington. And as far as the country is concerned, it's about as well with some people sitting. There's nothing personal in this, but where were you when you read this?
Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Fire Prevention Should Begin In Farming Homes

"Don't give fire a place to start" has become the theme for National Fire Prevention Week which ends this Saturday. The Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council says that can be done if farm residents will take the time to do a little checking around the farm especially about the house and other buildings.

Spot and mark for elimination all fire hazards and don't stop the job until everything has been put in shape, says the Council. During the last 10 years, farm fire losses in the nation amounted to almost a billion and a half dollars or the equivalent of 134,600 houses or barns valued at $10,000 each.

The most common causes of building fires are smoking and matches, electrical and defective or overheated heating and cooking equipment. A complete check of the wiring system on every farm is in order. In the early days of farm electrification, electrical systems were installed to take care of the situation which existed at that time but present day work loads on the systems have caused overloading and real danger.

To correct this problem, the Council suggests that wherever new electrical wiring is needed to carry the increased load that it be installed without delay. It is time also to check the stoves or heating system. Leaks or partially stopped fuel lines can cause trouble but make sure the controls and thermostats on heating systems are functioning properly before cold weather arrives.

Since the possibility of fires cannot be removed entirely, regardless of how effective the check and repair program, plans should be made for getting family members out of a building in case of fire.

The Council urges all families to devise a plan and to always have equipment handy for fighting a fire should one start. But the councilmen believe that if a good prevention program is carried out on every farm, little use will ever be had for the equipment.

Today's Meditation

Read 1 Kings 18:31-39. The fire of the Lord fell, and consumed the burnt sacrifice, and the wood, and the stones, and the dust, and licked up the water that was in the trench. (1 Kings 18:38.)

Elijah's contest was the prophets of Baal gives us a glorious example of the way God works. We see the prophets of Baal building their altar and placing their sacrifice upon it. We hear them shouting for their gods to

THIS WEEK -In Washington

With Clinton Davidson
There is an old saying that "figures don't lie, but liars do figure," and that might be a good one to remember when you listen to the political candidates talk about farm problems.

In getting at the facts, you will, of course, make allowances for the normal inclination of the party in power to "point with pride," while the other "views with alarm." We wouldn't say that either side is lying, but both are doing a lot of figuring.

With the election less than a month away, this might be a good time for all of us to take a close look at some factual figures, without political bias. The big question, of course, is: Is the farm recession over?

Republicans say "yes" and base their optimism on official statements by the U.S. Department of Agriculture. They point out that the average of farm prices increased by 10% in the first half of this year, and that this was the first increase in 5 years.

come and set fire to it. They gash themselves in a frantic effort to get his attention. No answer comes.

Then Elijah places his sacrifice upon the altar. With water Elijah drenches the sacrifice and fills up the trench about the altar. Then he prays a short and simple prayer. The fire falls, consuming the offering, the wood, the altar, the dust, and licking up the water in the trench!

How wonderful that we have a listening God! Not only does He hear the quiet prayer of faith, but also He can do "exceeding Democrats charge that Republicans favor low farm prices, and they point to the flexible price program as encouraging lower prices. They can show that farm operating costs have gone up more than prices during the past year, as has been the case in each of the past four years.

They quote latest USDA figures, showing that while prices received by farmers are 2% higher than a year ago, following declines in July, August and September, that farm costs are up 3% over a year ago, and that farmers' net are getting 82% of parity, compared with 83% a year ago.

Both statements are correct, but neither is the whole truth. They are like two sides of a coin. You see one thing on one side and something else on the other.

The whole truth is that we still are a long way from being out of the farm recession, but there are encouraging signs that the future may be better than the past. Net farm income this year will be just a fraction higher than last. There are good reasons to hope that the worst of the farm recession is over.

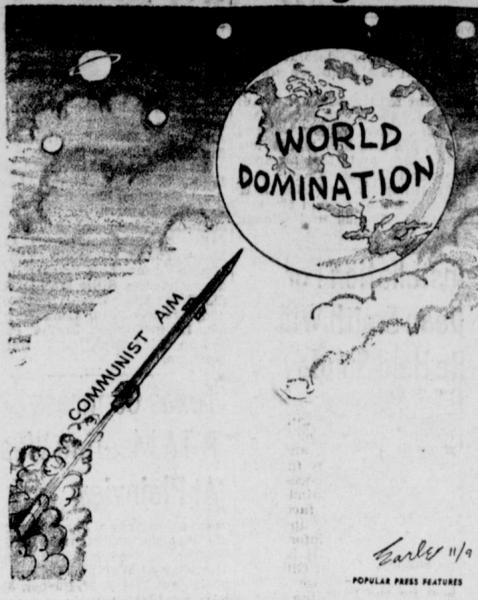

We've begun to regain some of our export markets, but we are losing our customers most of the money they use to "buy" our products. That'll amount to about $2 billion this year. That can't continue indefinitely, but while it lasts it can cut surpluses.

Our stockpile of surpluses, however, is four times as large as it was in 1952. Total farm production hasn't been reduced yet, and it'll be about equal to the largest on record this year. The soil bank hasn't helped this year, but prospects are good % will next year.

Per-capita farm income this year will be higher than last, due mainly to the fact that about the same amount of income will be distributed among fewer farmers... about 50,000 fewer.

We aren't out of the woods yet, but we can begin to see patches of daylight.

Still the Target!

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

The vital importance of applying the rules for living taught and practiced by Christ Jesus will be brought out at Christian Science services Sunday in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Doctrine of Atonement."

Selections to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include the following (37:22-25): "It is possible, — yea, it is the duty and privilege of every child, man, and woman, — to follow in some degree the example of the Master by the demonstration of Truth and Life, of health and holiness."

The Golden Text is from II Corinthians (5:18): "All things are of God, who hath reconciled us to himself by Jesus Christ, and hath given to us the ministry of reconciliation."

IT'S BAD ALL OVER... Statewide Drouth Present Problems To Agriculturists

Records from the 27 agricultural experiment stations and field laboratories of the Texas A & M College System show that none received normal rainfall for the crop year, September 1, 1955 thru August 1956 and several got less than half their normal fall.

Statewide, A. H. Walker, extension range specialist, says this is the worst drouth situation in history because most areas in the state have had several years in succession of below normal rainfall. It has made the job of keeping grass supplies ahead of livestock a tough one. Walker says drouths are common to the state and ranchmen must include in their management plans, provisions to take care of them, but when 6, 7, or 8 years of prolonged drouth must be reckoned with some really tall figuring must be used.

He suggests steps which ranchmen can take during drouth periods. If some forage is left on the range, distribute the livestock so as to obtain uniform use of all forage. A thorough job of culling and selection should be done in an effort to balance feed and livestock numbers. For the foundation herd, which is about all that remains on many ranches, Walker suggests feeding for the best possible calf or lamb crop. This means, he adds, that enough forage must be supplied for both maintenance and reproduction. It takes a good calf or lamb crop to pay off loans, so protein and vitamin A should be provided. In some areas phosphorus supplements are needed.

Walker suggests that low value roughages such as cottonseed hulls, oat straw, peanut hulls, and others be used to replace a part of the more expensive roughages. If no range forage is available, livestock should be kept in a small pasture for feeding. There is no point in letting the stock do further damage to depleted ranges by trampling the dry grass stubble.

If conditions warrant, small grain pastures should be planted. Local county agents can supply a copy of "Range Management versus Drouth." It should be a help in planning future operations.

He said he knew that Stevenson and Kefauver acted like they thought so, and they had a right to their opinion. Lyndon Johnson, he figured, knew better, but he was sticking with Adlai and Estes for the sake of unity. He said he didn't figure Mr. Sam Rayburn had known whether it was raining or not for the last 25 years.

"I hate not to go along with such a widely known crowd of weather observers," Old Man Jones said. "If there's anybody who keeps up with which way the wind is blowing, generally speaking, it's Stevenson, Kefauver and Johnson."

Then he went on to say that he realized the national farm program hadn't pleased everybody—including him. If he was in the White House, he would do things different, at least in our county. He allowed that the $51,000,000 spent by the Eisenhower administration for drought relief in Texas could have been doubled and still not made all the farmers happy and prosperous.

"But," said Old Man Jones, "I keep remembering that the main reason for our troubles, besides the drought, is the fact that we are not at war now. If Adlai and Estes really want to jump on President Eisenhower, there is a real issue. They've sure got the goods on Ike in that respect. If he hadn't stopped that Korean War, farm prices would be higher, no doubt. I wonder why they never mention that."

Old Man Jones was kidding a little, of course, in his usual way, but I think he had something there. We have got to adjust to peace-time, which is taking awhile but President Eisenhower is working at it. And meanwhile our boys aren't fighting and dying on foreign soil. It's worth thinking about.

Yours truly,
Tex

"Won't need to trade this year—sure glad about AMALIE L. P. G.!"

"How that AMALIE L. P. G. does save an engine! If you're burning butane or propane (Liquid Petroleum Gas)—man, those ordinary, common-grade oils won't do. Thicken up like gear-grease. They let grit and dust cake up. But not this AMALIE L. P. G. Oil! It doesn't burn away—I don't drain near as often—and my shop bills we down to nothing!"

There's nothing like AMALIE L. P. G. 100% pure Pennsylvania—no other crude like it anywhere on earth. Reason to hold its viscosity. Special additives in it hold grit, dust, rust, etc., in solution—so the filter takes them out. Does the same wonderful job water or summer, because it's a 20W-50 cross-grade oil (see 40).

Give your engine—and your bank balance—a break!

FARMER COUNTY Farm Bureau News

By RAYMOND EDLER

"I don't mean to say that we are any smarter than our other farmer friends, but as directors, we do keep up with matters affecting all farmers, and we have a responsibility to talk to those less informed so that they can share in the facts, and not just popular hearsay. By that, I don't mean we should necessarily try to change their minds, if they differ, but get the facts to them and let them make up their own minds with full information at their disposal." This is a quotation from President Gilbert Kallwasser near the close of the regular director's meeting last week. If you, as a member, and some of your friends will attend some of these meetings of your county directors, we believe you will be amazed at the constant effort they are putting forth in your behalf. They're not spasmodic, but you'll find nearly everyone of them in their place in the office the first Monday night of each month.

Donald Christian, one of the newly elected directors said he enjoyed his first meeting last week. Donald lives south of Bovina on the farm formerly occupied by Clarence Christian, his father. He is well informed and will give good representation to his area, we are convinced.

Any of you people who wish to attend the National Farm Bureau Convention December 10 to 13, in Miami, Florida, should request reservation at the Farm Bureau Office. It looks like there will be at least four families make this trip, and we hope there will be more.

Here are three points of Farm Bureau operations, as listed in the Missouri Farm Bureau paper, which are applicable to all local, state and national Farm Bureaus:

1. Our program is built by the members. 2. Our program makes economic sense. 3. We have a long record of achievement. 4. We stand between the farmer and socialization of Agriculture.

CONSIDER THIS: He that tilleth his land shall have plenty of bread; but he that followeth after vain persons shall have poverty enough. Proverbs 28:19.

Mrs. Paul Holcomb visited Mrs. Jimmie Batteas at Lubbock this week.

Judge and Mrs. Glen Williams and Given, of Muleshoe, were welcome visitors in the community Friday. They attended the ball game between Spade and Three Way.

The Three Way School board has announced the following holidays for the school year, Thursday and Friday, November 29 and 30, for Thanksgiving; Christmas holidays will be from Friday afternoon, December 21, until Monday, January 7, 1957; and one holiday for Easter, the day following Easter Sunday.

At a meeting next Monday evening at the Three Way School building a panel discussion will be held on the Teacher Retirement Amendment 4, which is to be voted on, November 6.

Visiting in the Frank Griffith home Saturday and Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Batteas of Lubbock, and Miss Evelyn Stockard and Wayne Isahell of Portales. Mrs. Batteas is the Griffiths' daughter.

Visiting in the Andrew Wittner home last weekend were Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Wittner and Terry, and Mrs. Billy Knox and Karen, all of Lubbock. The R. B. Wittners also visited the D. P. Brinkers.

Ike Can't Make It Rain, But He's Still Best Man

The other day I asked a farmer if it was dry out his way. He said it sure was. "Looks like we just can't get any rain," he said. "Why, when Noah had his 40-day flood, we didn't get over half an inch."

There's no mistake about it, Texas is having itself a real drought. Some of the farmers and ranchers in our county are in such bad shape that they may vote for Stevenson.

Old Man Jones, from across the river, said he wasn't going to go to any such extreme. He said he needed rain as bad as anybody else. He claimed water was so scarce in his community that the preacher was baptizing new members with a wet handkerchief. But he was holding out awhile longer, anyway.

"I may be stubborn," said Old Man Jones, "but I just ain't been convinced that President Eisenhower is keeping it from raining."

He said he knew that Stevenson and Kefauver acted like they thought so, and they had a right to their opinion. Lyndon Johnson, he figured, knew better, but he was sticking with Adlai and Estes for the sake of unity. He said he didn't figure Mr. Sam Rayburn had known whether it was raining or not for the last 25 years.
