What's Saying goodbye to Ozona

Ted and Virginia Cotton to retire from love of education Austin

Editor and Publisher

On a Sunday morning, Ted Cotton left his home in Paris. Texas and headed to a town out west not knowing what to expect. As he past through San Angelo in his 1956 Chevrolet Belaire, he liked what he saw, and then he got to Barnhart.

"I swallowed a big gulp," he

When he came over the hill and saw the town of Ozona in the distance, his "spirits picked up." At that time in 1965, the only grocery store opened was owned by Ted Lewis. Cotton pulled in and as he said "was greeted by the friendliest, nicest" person. Two years later, Virginia

Blount headed to Ozona with a college roommate, with the expectations to only stay in town for a year or two.

Being an August graduate from Sul Ross, she wasn't able to get a job teaching in her hometown of Odessa, but Ozona had a second grade position open.

Nearly 40 years later, the Cottons have decided to leave the town they've grown to love and move on into retirement.

The decision to leave Ozona and move to San Angelo was one that hasn't been easy, they both

When he came down on that Sunday, he had just accepted a position to teach fifth grade. Cotton said when former superintendent L.B.T. Sikes approached him about moving to Ozona, he had to go home and find it on the map.

Cotton met Sikes while at East Texas State University (now Texas A&M-Commerce). Both men were graduates from the school, and Sikes was offering $6,000 salary to start out with plus $900 if Cotton drove a bus.

Counterfeit money floating around town

By MELISSA PERNER Editor and Publisher

The Crockett County Sheriff's Office has been investigating a series of counterfeit bills around Ozona for the past three weeks.

According to Hawthorne, cheif investigator, the most recent bills were a $20 found at Burger King and another $20 at Dollar General.

The dominations have been $100, $50 and $20 that have been used. Also, sheets of paper with printed counterfeit bills were found on Interstate-10, Hawthorne said.

Someone tossed them out because the color wasn't right.

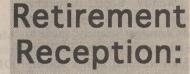

It looks at if someone is using a flatbed scanner to print them, he said.

The sheriff's office has contacted the U.S. Treasurey Department and is looking into suspects.

Business around town have been told to mark bills and watch out, especially for $20 bills, Hawthorne said.

The money is believed to have passed through California before making its way to Ozona and onto San Angelo, he said.

Anyone with information, can call the sheriff's office at 392-

County of Crockett, Ozona, Texas

Whereas, Literacy is defines as the foundation of learning an is essential to the growth and success of all children;

Whereas, Many of the Nations of the world, and especially within the Western hemisphere, celebrate Dia de los Ninos in recognition and celebration of their country's future — their children; Whereas, Children represent the hopes and dreams of the County of Crockett; Whereas, Children are the center of the traditional Latino family.

Whereas, The importance of reading and education are most often communicated through family members and supported by such public institutions as the Crockett County Public Library and its literacy programs and free book distribution to children;

Whereas, Children are the responsibility of all citizens, and all citizens should be encouraged to celebrate the gift children are to society;

Now, therefore, be it proclaimed by the Judge and Commissioner's Court that Friday, April 30th 2004 shall be known as:

"El dia de los ninos! El dia de los libros" and urge the people of the County of Crockett to join with all children, families, organizations, communities, churches and clubs to observe the day with appropriate activities.

In Witness Whereof, I have hereunto set my hand a caused the official seal of the County of Crockett to be affixed this 22nd day of April, 2004.

The Camp Out

Last weekend I went with several other adult leaders on an overnight campout with the youth from our local Church. It started that afternoon with setting up camp followed by games and mountain climbing. Later on we had hamburgers cooked over a wood fire.

All of that was topped off with roasted marshmallows as we sat the around the campfire. The young couple that works with the youth had prepared everything we needed for the outing. They even brought extra bedding for the ones that forgot their sleeping bags.

That experience reminded me of how God can and will provide for us (Psalms 25:12,13 and Nehemiah 9:15). That night some of the boys didn't want to sleep in the tents but during the night a storm came up and they were hurriedly gathering up their bedding and trying to get in the big tent.

I realized that when we are close to God we are under His protection but when we are outside in the world and on our own we don't have it (Psalms 41:2 and 61:4).

Some of the youth chose not to go on the campout and they missed out on a lot. We have the choice of being close to God or not. Being a Christian can be as much fun as a campout.

See you in Church next Sunday.

Local attorneys recognized during awards luncheon

Thomas Cameron, Laurie English and Bill Mason were recently among the 4,211 attorneys recognized as members of the College of the State Bar of Texas during its annual awards luncheon on March 27 in Dallas.

The college is an honorary society made up of lawyers who strive to keep their legal knowledge and skills at peak levels through attendance of an extraordinary number of continuing legal education hours, at least twice the required minimum.

Established in 1982 by the Supreme Court of Texas, the college counts in its ranks most of the leaders of the legal profession in Texas, including many judges. Only about six percent of Texas lawyers qualify to become members.

The college is the only organization of its kind in the United States and was the first to provide attorney recognition for making the commitment to lifelong learning, a need now widely acknowledged across many professions.

Soil and Water Stewardship Week

The well being of our people depends on the production of ample supplies of food, fiber and other products of soil

The quality and quantity of these products depend upon the conservation, wise use and proper management of soil and water

It is the concern and responsibility of every person to see that soil resources be conserved and managed properly and water quality and quantity be maintained to assure the welfare of all citizens.

Soil and water conservation districts provide a practical and demo-cratic organization through which landowners are taking the initiative to properly use and protect these resources. Soil and water conservation districts are sponsoring Soil and Water

Stewardship Week as a commitment to protecting our renewable

Therefore, I John R. Jones, County Judge of Crockett County, in full appreciation of the value of our soil, water and wildlife resources, and desiring to honor those who protect those resources, do hereby proclaim April 25 through May 2, 2004 as Soil and Water Stewardship Week in Crockett County, Texas.

In official recognition whereof, I hereby affix my signature this 20nd day of April, 2004.
