No teacher causes school district to look at 'last resort' of virtual learning By MELISSA PERNER Editor and Publisher

A virtual classroom may be in the works for incoming freshmen this year.

During Monday night's regular school board meeting, Superintendent Abe Gott said he has contact a program called Virtual Schools Network to teach Algebra I at Ozona High School this year.

Tax advantages exist in going for a November school bond

By MELISSA PERNER Editor and Publisher

Money from a school bond would remain in the district, instead of being sent to the state.

The passing of a school bond would also streamline curriculum and help with district first week of September to call maintenance issues

The Crockett County CCSD Board of Trustees has until the for a bond election, which would then be held in November.

> This means that the district only keeps 30 cents of every dollar they raise in taxes.

However, if the community of Ozona passes a bond in November, that money will not be subject to recapture, which means it will stay within the district, Gott said.

They kick, punch, yell and break things and that's just the physical action part of their show.

Members of Open Door Taekwondo gave a special performance of their martial and ministry skills on July 25 at the First Baptist Church of Ozona.

The group, which is based out of Raleigh, N.C., was traveling on a mission trip to Esperanza Del Rio Community Church, a church plant of Open Door Baptist Church in Raleigh.

The group has been working with the Del Rio church for three years in bringing the power and ministry of taekwondo to their congregation.

Gott said Crockett County CCSD has advertised for an Algebra I teacher since the end of May and they still haven't found an applicant.

The program starts off with a week teaching students how to use the program Blackboard, which is a "chat room" type program where students will type questions and answers to interact with a teacher located in Houston.

After the first week, the program will identify students who are having trouble grasping the computer skills. Gott said a classroom with a math teacher can be set up for these students.

Unlike the distance-learning program where students see a teacher on a screen, the virtual schoolroom is done through text and typing on the computer.

A teacher will be in the room to monitor the students who are learning and using the computers during the class.

The cost is $350 per student, which includes a workbook. There are around 45 incoming freshmen this year.

"This is a last resort option. The positive is that the students leave the class with the knowledge of Algebra and lots of computer skills they wouldn't normally get," Gott said.

Every year when he sold his handful of calves he complained that they sold too late in the sale. Mostly he used this as an excuse as to why his sorry calves didn't bring as much as the better ones did. Snuffy was a chronic complainer with a chip on his shoulder. He thought his cattle sold late in the sale because the auction owner gave preferential treatment to the larger ranchers. He didn't know that small operators are the lifeblood of any auction. One year Snuffy decided to apply a little pressure and showed up on sale day after the sale had been going for an hour, thinking his presence would coerce the auction owner into putting his cattle through the ring a little earlier. With each lot that went through the ring without his brand on it, Snuffy got madder. Wanting to give the auction owner a piece of his mind, Snuffy stared daggers at the owner who stayed on the block, as if to avoid contact. Snuffy sat there until 10 pm and still hadn't seen his cattle so when the auction owner briefly got off the block Snuffy got right in his face. "You treat me like this just because I only have a few calves," sputtered Snuffy. "What are you talking about?" asked the owner. "You haven't sold my cattle yet. It's the last time I send them to you!" "Calm down Snuffy. You're always complaining that your calves sell too late so we started the sale with them today," said the auction man. "I wish we could have waited though. I believe they'd bring a couple pennies more per pound if we sold them now." Snuffy was speechless. In fact, the only thing I've seen more deflated than Snuffy at that moment was a bean bag chair after my wife's 350 pound friend sat in it. With nothing left to complain about, Snuffy never completely bounced back to his former self either.

What's on My Mind By Melissa Perner It's a 'ginormous' year for words

It's time to expand our vocabulary in a ginormous way.

No, I didn't make up that word. Ginormous, a combination of "gigantic" and "enormous" will become an official word this fall in the 2007 edition of the Merriam-Webster Colligate

According to the dictionary's web site, the word means "extremely large." As a word person, I'm al-

Ginormous was not the only word to get its place into the Annually, Merriam-Webster chooses words from pop culture, technology and current events to add to its ever expanding volume.

Joining ginormous is "crunk," a noun which describes a style of Southern rap music featuring repetitive chants and rapid dance rhythms.

Think rap artists like OutKast, Lil Jon or The East Side Boyz, if you know who they are.

There's also the new technology, anagram of DVR or digital video recorder and RPG or report program generator, which is a computer language that generates programs from the user's specifications especially to produce business reports.

There's also IED or improhave become common with the countries.

STATE SENATOR

CARLOS URESTI

The Honorable Carlos I. Uresti

a "rainy season" that pours less than a cranky bartender. The cattle trucks are hauling stock out of our area just as fast as the hay haulers are bringing the golden grass in. They ought to be hauling the hay in armored cars considering its price.

I'm always amazed at how hard the employees work at the auction yard during drouths. The pen-back riders, clerks, ring men, auctioneers and office crew are working 20 hour days and the auction owners even longer, as they load their future right along with the cows on those trucks headed east.

Every region has taken their turn in the empty rain barrel. I was in the deep south many years ago when they were doing the same thing as we are now. Some of the auctions were hampered by local rules that stipulated that an auction yard could only hold one sale per week, as if all the business they brought to town was somehow bad for the community. But there was a loophole: they could only have one sale a week but after one started it could go until it ended. Some sales lasted 36 hours and longer.

When you have times like these there are always consignors who complain that their cattle get sold too late. They assume that there's not much buying power on the seats at two in the morning.

But, believe it or not, order buyers have human thoughts too, and they'll squint through heavy eyelids while holding back seven cups of coffee if they think there might be a bargain in the wee hours. That's why there's often more buyers sitting on the seats at three am than three pm.

Whenever I hear people complain about the sale order I tell them about Snuffy, as crabby a creature as God ever put on this 2007 with no really hot temperatures and we are still having showers every now and then with more predicted this week. I love this weather even if my lawn has to be cut more often.

Filiberto Sanchez is in Shannon Hospital recovering from surgery. Mrs. Sanchez said that he is feeling better since the surgery is over with. We missed the Sanchezs at our last Senior Bingo Social.

Our Senior Bingo Social was held last Thursday evening. There were about 60 who attended and everyone had a great time. A lady from Barnhart won the blackout prize.

Center Board members will meet at 5:30 p.m. Monday, Aug. 6, for their regular meeting.

Ozona Senior Happenings

We were delighted to have Charlotte Harrell back with us after being in Virginia for a stay with her daughter. Everyone was happy to have her back at the bridge table.

The Concho Valley Community Action Council will be here from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. Tuesday, Aug. 7 at the Senior Center. These people help those who qualify with utility bills.

Come in and look over the book selection in our bookcase to see if there is one or two that you would like to read. We also have available magazines and recipe books. We have been gettting more books as time goes by so our selection is growing.

Come "Walk Two Miles" with us every Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 8:30 a.m. This exercise program conditions you to begin your day and everyone who participates testifies that it makes them feel better. We are happy that the ladies that have gone have returned to resume their walking exercise. We are happy to have Marolyn Bean and Brenda Newton back with us this week.

Every Monday and Thursday, the bridge players come to the Senior Center to play. These ladies come in all smiles bringing snacks and enjoy each other's company. Playing bridge last week were Liz Williams, Celia West, Eileen Childress, Marilyn Cox, Nell Wester, Katherine Russell, Charlotte Harrell, Sandy Bebee and Jean Odom.

Our activities are for those 50 and over (we are flexible). Come out and join in the activities you are missing.

Veterans forum to be held Sunday in Del Rio By ANGELA BARRANCO Press Secretary

Congressman Ciro Rodriguez, D-San Antonio, has announced that the Chairman of the House Veterans Affairs Committee, Congressman Bob Filner, will travel to Texas to meet with Del Rio veterans at a Congressional Veterans Forum to be held on Sunday, Aug. 5.

The forum will be from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m. at the Ramada Inn Ballroom on 2101 Veterans Blvd! in Del Rio.

Filner, along with Rodriguez, will answer questions and provide an update on recent congressional activity affecting veterans.

Veterans are encouraged to submit questions and comments to be addressed at the forum to: TX-23VetsQuestions@mail.house.gov

"I appreciate Chairman Filner accepting our invitation to come to Del Rio. It is important for the voice of our local veterans to be heard on a national level," Rodriguez said. "Issues like those at Walter Reed always make it into the national media spotlight, but the truth is that veterans all across the country, including many here in Del Rio, are struggling with a benefits and healthcare system that has failed them for too long."

DPS reminds motorists to stay away from flooding

Submitted by the Texas Department of Public Safety

If you see water running across a roadway, you should immediately turn around and not attempt to go through it, says the Texas Department of Public Safety.

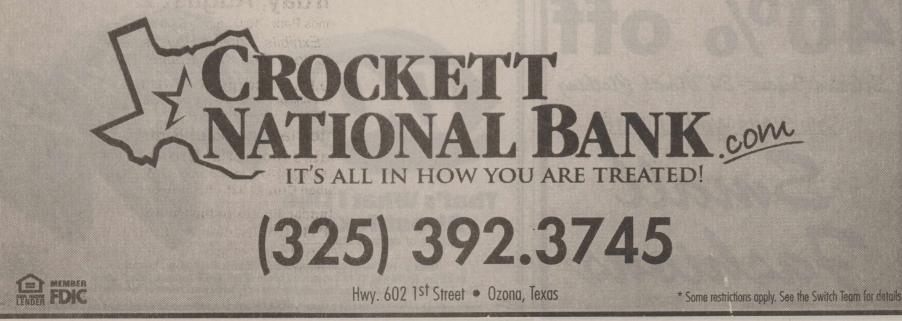

"Many cars will float in only 12 inches of water, and two feet of rushing water will carry off pick-ups, SUVs and most other vehicles," said Col. Thomas A. Davis Jr., director of the DPS.

Six inches of water can be enough to stall a car or cause a loss of control over the vehicle."

Each year, more people die in flash flooding than in any other type of thunderstorm-related hazard.

"You might think that you can easily get across a flooded roadway, but it's not worth the risk. It's impossible to tell the depth of the water-or whether the road or bridge is damaged or missing. Don't endanger yourself or the first responders who may try to rescue you," Davis said.

Bottom line: stay aware and cautious, especially at night, when recognizing dangers can be more difficult. Pay attention to the weather and the road conditions.

High School Athlete or any Lion

The Ozona Athletic Booster Club is an organization that supports all athletes in all sports. In past years we have raised funds to provide $1,000 per sport.

These are additional funds used by the coach to help provide items to the athletes in which their annual budget might not be enough.

We sponsor the annual Sports Banquet, support the Meet the Lions, local track meets, golf meets and basketball rournaments.

Our young athletes do their best in each sport and I believe they need the support of the community. I am sure there are many other ideas we can use to show our support, here is your opportunity. We need members of our community to get involved.

Please consider showing your support by becoming a member of the Ozona Athletic Booster Club come to the meeting on Aug. 14.

The Texas Cooperative Extension office held another sewing camp on July 25 at the Crockett County Civic Center for ages 9 and up.

We had another great turn out this month that included 17 participants.

At this camp the participants got to make a pillow to take home.

We are planning one last sewing camp for the summer to take place August 14 and 15.

On the 14 we will take the group to San Angelo to tour Hancock Fabric. During the tour of Hancock Fabric the kids will get to pick out and buy their own material and then on the next day we will make a project for the $10 for the cost of their material kids to take home.

The committee also decided that a $7.5 million bond to be paid off in five years would probably be best due to 90 percent of the school's taxes are being paid by companies outside the district, which are mainly oil and gas.

"I don't think the state will always let us do a bond and not recapture the money. I don't know how long we can take advantage of something like this,' Gott said.

Gott said he would like to be able to keep 51 percent of his budget. CCCCSD sends 70 percent to the state.

"I can't justify keeping $29 million but I can justify keeping enough to fix our schools," he said.

If the bond is passed, the school's tax rate would not increase by that much, Gott said.

Currently, the tax rate is set at 1.37005. For the 2007- During the presentation, 2008 school years, the state has Gott said the School Facilities mandated the tax rate be set at Committee decided to concen-1.04005.

"I'm planning on keeping Shaw also said the county, a better eye (on maintenance) up on roofs. I enjoy it."

Gott also said the change to three campuses also comes due to declining enrollment. Currently CCCCSD has 770 students, which is the lowest in 20 years.

Gott said he feels the decline has to do with Ozona's housing problem. While people are commuting into the town for jobs, they don't often bring their children due to lack of housing available, he said.

Out of three plans, the committee chose to demolish the current primary school and build a new one in its place that houses grades pre-K through fifth.

Gott said this is the most ex-

As far as the new school building goes, Gott said that he is planning on the structure being able to last 100 years from now, like the high school's Heritage Building.

He also said he plans on being in Ozona to see the building construction through.

"If I move again my kids will tell me to go by myself. They love it here," he said. "I hope my youngest son who is about to start kindergarten will graduate from Ozona High School."

METH: DPS requesting help

for those still being sought

In the eighth grade, Algebra I will not be offered this year due to new teacher Lisa James not being certified to teach Algebra I.

Also, students who take eighth grade Algebra I miss out on curriculum and lessons that are often on the eighth grade math TAKS test, said Benny Granger, middle school principal. Those same questions and lessons are often found on upper-level TAKS tests when the students move to high school.

Gott said unless the district wants to do a virtual reality for those students who want to take Algebra I, this class may not be offered this year for eighth-graders.

The high school is also still looking for a BCIS teacher, said Carole Allen, high school principal.

RESIGNATIONS & NEW HIRES

Gott accepted the resignations of Dale Mayfield and Tricia Barrow.

New employees to the district are Ann Daniels, kindergarten, Ailene Myers, kindergarten; Cherokee Bolen, high school; Mary Ann Corley, seventh grade science and Courtney Beck, middle school.

John Esparza has been reassigned to teach middle school PE.

SCHOOL BOND

The district received five requests from architects to be considered to build a new primary school for the possible school bond.

Gott said he visited with some of the architects and explained to them that CCCCSD doesn't want to be on the front page of a magazine with the most expensive school.

"I want something that complements our community," Gott said

The board set Aug. 15 as a day to interview the architects. Gott said he is currently having the district's lawyers draft the bond adoption wording. The board has until the

During their program, the group showed how they spar with each other in practice in order to learn and perfect their taekwondo[†] moves.

Masters Amanda Woolman and Chase Woolman showed how sparring can be fun between a brother and sister. William and Jaime even showed how much fun it is husband and wife.

The group also performed skits featuring weapons, pirates, breaking board and breaking concrete.

Their physical skills were edly gave to the audience.

"Just like our students practice taekwondo, we do need to practice our Christian walk daily," Jaime said.

In their final skits, the members showed how lust, greed, drugs/alcohol, fighting, no time for God and other worldly things can lead a person astray from their focusing on faith.

Each item was written on a concrete brick which were stacked up at the end of the skit and broken in half by William.

"Weapons won't help us get to heaven. God is the way to help us through," Jaime said.

Capital city renames lake for Lady Bird Johnson

AUSTIN -The city council on July 26 voted unanimously to rename Austin's Lake Town "Lady Bird Lake.

The name change honors Lady Bird John-: son, who died at age 94 on July 11. She was the widow of the late President Lyndon B. Johnson.

WEATHER PROMPTS PREPARATIONS

Weather experts are saying a 10-year drought appears to be. over in all but a few sections of the state. And the rain keeps on falling in areas that have had more than their share:

With Gov. Rick Perry out of state on July 26, Lt. Gov. David Dewhurst exercised his official authority to beef up and position Texas military forces in preparation for continuing severe weather and flooding.

"I will continue to monitor this situation closely and work with the governor's office and state emergency coordinators to ensure the state is doing everything necessary to keep Texans safe," Dewhurst said.

For San Antonio-Martindale Airfield, Dewhurst called for 30 more personnel, 10 more vehicles and three more helicopters and crew.

Also, for Camp Mabry in Austin, he called for 30 more personnel and 10 more vehicles, including Humvees and so-called "high profile vehicles."

Dewhurst asked all Texans to heed the warnings of local officials and take every possible precaution to stay safe.

FUNDING VETO PROMPTS ACTION

One of Gov. Perry's lineitem vetoes in the $151 billion 2008-2009 state budget was about $154 million to fund community college employees group health insurance.

Lt. Gov. Dewhurst on July

Perry said money appropriated from general revenue may not be expended for employee benefit costs, and that community colleges wrongly have been using such funds to pay the benefits on non-state paid employees.

Dewhurst said he wants the matter addressed right away and plans to bring it up in a fall meeting of the 10-member Legislative Budget Board. The board has the power to reauthorize the vetoed funding.

Meanwhile, Dewhurst said, he plans to meet with Sens. Zaffirini, Hinojosa, Shapiro, Duncan, Ogden, other interested lawmakers, the governor's office and state agencies to work out a solution before the year's end.

TEEN BIRTH RATE RANKS HIGHEST

Texas currently has the highest teen birth rate in the nation: 63 births per 1,000 females ages 15-19.

Nationally, there are 41 births for every 1,000 teens.

The data comes from the KIDS COUNT Data Book, a national state-by- state report released by the Annie E. Casey Foundation and reported July 25 by the Austin thinktank, Center for Public Policy Priorities.

CPPP said the report is a precursor to the fall release of The State of Texas Children 2007, which will provide child well-being data for every county in Texas.

SENATE PASSES BORDER FUNDING

The U.S. Senate on July 25 passed an amendment to the Department of Homeland Security appropriations bill that would provide $3 billion in emergency funding for border security.

The amendment includes a provision drafted by U.S. Sen. John Cornyn, R-Texas, to allow the money to be used for enforcing immigration laws, including electronic employment verification improvements and increased removal and detention of visa overstavs.
