BY MELISSA PERNER
 THE OZONA STOCKMAN

Modifications to Lion Stadium is on the agenda for tonight's (May 19) regular meeting of the Crockett County CCSD Board of Trustees.

The regular meeting will begin at 6:30 p.m. at the Administration Building.

Prior to the regular meeting, the board will hold a workshop at 5:30 p.m. This workshop, also at the Administration Building, will be a compensation workshop for the board members.

On the regular meeting agenda, the board will consider a proposal from Steel Stadiums of Graham, Texas on modifications to Lion Stadium.

According to the action sheet in the board agenda packet, district officials have been inquiring for some time about modifying the stands at Lion Stadium to accommodate more handicap access with general seating, and modifying existing handrails.

If approved, the work could be done by the first home football date, the document stated.

Also on the agenda is a proposal around $65,000 from Eyeful Art Murals and Designs in Houston for new artwork and murals at all three school campuses and the field house.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Tobar should be quoted more in commissioners' court articles

Dear Editor,

Would you please let me know why anything stated by Alfredo Tobar during Commissioners' court is never publicized?

I realize a brief sentence was used in the Juvenile Curfew article. However, anyone that knows him, knows he is very vocal when he's against something and a short/brief statement is not sufficient.

He has been responsible for a lot of change in the community but no one is made aware - give him the credit he deserves.

Because not everyone can attend Commissioners Court, I would expect that the local news would report accurate information.

I realize not every word can be recorded, but provide us some substance. Remain neutral and report fairly and honestly.

'Click It or Ticket' campaign features new state laws

Memorial Day is coming and Susie Bishop, Texas AgriLife Extension Service Crockett County Extension agent, wants to remind drivers and passengers that it is almost time for the annual "Click It or Ticket" campaign.

This year, the campaign has new seat belt and child safety seat laws to back it up.

The new seat belt law requires all passengers in both the front and back seat to buckle up. The new child safety seat law requires children under 8, unless taller than 4-foot, 9-inches tall, to ride in a child safety seat system, which includes booster seats.

Although the adult seat belt law has been enforced since it became effective on Sept. 1, 2009, the child safety seat law included a grace period that will end on June 1, 2010, when strict enforcement will begin.

More people in Texas are wearing their seat belts, but we are still losing too many lives from traffic crashes.

Although seat belts have been proven to save lives, more than half of those killed in crashes were not buckled up. Groups that are still not consistently wearing their seat belts include 16-20 year-olds, pickup truck drivers and passengers, and male drivers and passengers.

Staying inside the vehicle is the key to surviving a crash. Statistics from 2008 showed that 77 percent of occupants who were thrown from their vehicle were killed.

Wearing your seat belt is the best way to increase your odds of survival in a crash. According to the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, seat belts are credited with saving 255,115 lives from 1975 through 2008.

The "Click It or Ticket" campaign seeks to reach teens through a website (<http://seatbeltsrock.com/>) where teens can create a personalized video to share with their friends.

The video follows teens as they begin a road trip and includes the names of their friends on billboards they pass along the way. Teens who participate will be entered into a contest to win prizes.

The enforcement time for this year's campaign by the Texas Department of Transportation is May 24 through June 6.

During that time, extra law enforcement will be on the roads to enforce the new laws, with the goal of saving lives.

Save yourself the time, the money, the hassle, and potentially your life. Buckle your safety belt. Wear it properly, and wear it every time you get into a vehicle. Spread the word - seat belts save lives!

Public officials and the thin, texting line

What did one public official text to the other public official? With more and more state employees and elected officials using websites like Facebook and Twitter, as well as the advance use of cell phone technology, the onslaught of social media use within governmental bodies brings with it a lot of questions.

Last week the Senate Committee on State Affairs listened to communication experts, lawyers and representatives from various organizations, who urged members to incorporate social media and electronic communication rules in Texas' Public Information Act and Open Meetings Act, as well as create uniform social networking guidelines for government agencies and employees.

As witnesses delivered their presentations, ranging from state employees' Facebook status updates to school board members reading text messages during meetings, one thing was clear - the lines are fuzzy when it comes to the ever-changing social media world, according to an article in the Texas Tribune.

Committee chairman State Sen. Robert Duncan, R-Lubbock, has 129 followers on Twitter and has posted four Tweets under the name @senatorduncan since last year. Until last week's meeting, Duncan didn't even know he had a Twitter account, the Tribune stated.

With this meeting, the Texas Legislature may become the first in the nation to tackle whether Tweeting and texting is being used to circumvent open meetings laws and if the private devices of public officials can be subject to open records searches.

Keith Elkins, executive director of the Freedom of Information Foundation of Texas, told the committee that the Internet and smart phones can lead to quorum and open meetings violations.

"Everybody here today has been texting and answering e-mails," Elkins said. "It is not beyond the realm of possibility that a quorum of anybody has texted each other to say 'Yes, I'm voting and why.'"

Open meetings laws were written before anyone had any idea of the concept of Facebook, Twitter, e-mail and texting. There is a gray area between what constitutes public discourse and a private communication.

Duncan said he believes public officials are entitled to some privacy, which may result in a public official carrying multiple devices, one for private conversation, one as an official and one for their campaign.

In Crockett County, at least three commissioners and one school board member have personal pages on social sites, and this reporter has never seen any local officials texting during a meeting or discussing county business online.

WHAT'S ON MY MIND

However, Doug Toney, editor and publisher of the New Braunfels Herald-Zeitung, said his reporters see

City Council members texting on their phones during meetings.

Toney said the only one that has ever been shown to his reporter was a text from one council member to another making fun of a former council member as he testified during a meeting.

Regardless of who decides, this much is already a fact of life. Like millions of ordinary citizens, many elected officials heavily rely on instant electronic communications.

So, the challenge for Texas officials is to use the technology wisely because if it is proven they are using it to secretly conduct official business they could land in jail - unless the courts take the teeth out of the Open Meetings Act as transparency in government advocates fear.

For lawmakers and local officials, as well as for transparency in government advocates, this is a pressing issue because last year four cities and some 20 local officials from across the state filed a federal lawsuit challenging portions of the Texas Open Meetings Act, particularly the punishment provision.

The lawsuit, which the Texas Municipal League supports, argues that the penalties for violating the Act, even inadvertently, are harsh - six months in jail and a fine of up to $500 - and the courts should declare the punishment unconstitutional.

But "the other side of the issue is that you don't want public decisions to be made on the darkness of the Internet," Duncan stressed.

So, "Where do you draw the line?" he asked.

Duncan said his panel will make recommendations to the Legislature.

However, it remains to be seen whether it will be the lawmakers or the courts ultimately deciding on the rules governing the use of texting, e-mailing, or any other type of electronic communication among elected officials.

The best rule of thumb public officials can do for the moment is don't put anything in any form of writing.

When I grew up our small town had what was known as a "sister city." Ours was in Mexico but other communities had sister cities all over the world, the idea being that by exchanging delegations we could all spread goodwill and learn something too. I don't know if towns still do this and with all the terrorism around the world it's probably not advisable. Instead, I think small towns in America ought to exchange visits with huge cities in our own country so they might see how we live, and vice versa.

Here are a few pairings that might prove interesting.

Philadelphia/San Angelo, Texas- Other than introducing the Texans to thugs and cheese steak sandwiches, I really don't think the Texans would benefit by the exchange. But the Texans could sure teach their Philly sisters a thing or two. Like how to make sweet tea and chicken fried steak. And that real football is played on Friday nights! The delegates from Philly would soon learn that A.I. stands for artificial insemination, not Allen Iverson, and that they can get a better sandwich at K-Bobs than from a greasy cart on the mean streets of Philadelphia.

Seattle/Prescott, Arizona- The Arizona delegation would learn how to make coffee and program computers. In Seattle's liberal coffee shops the desert rats would learn about political correctness and how to save endangered species. In Prescott they won't kill you.

Sister Cities

IT'S THE PITTS

San Francisco/Hickman, Nebraska- If the Cornhuskers took a trip to the City by the Bay they'd teach the natives what 4H and the FFA stand for, how to stage a tractor pull, how comfortable a pair of overalls can be, and where their food comes from. In return they'd see things they've never seen before except on Halloween.

Atlantic City/Paso Robles, CA- The mobsters from Jersey would teach the prunies how to drive in snow and that it's not safe to ask too many questions. In this cultural exchange the folks from back east just might learn how to clean a fish, hunt animals, and exercise without going to a gym. They'd get a lesson on how to make hay, overhaul a tractor, stage a country fair and pump a septic tank too.

New York/Bonesteel, South Dakota- In New York the Dakotans would learn how to survive a mugging in a subway. They'd also discover how to tell a cab driver who speaks no English where to go. They'll learn how to pass time in a traffic jam and how to pay $500 a night for a motel room. The haughty New Yorkers might think they're teaching the hicks from the country how to live amidst lawlessness, danger and fear but the good folks from Bonesteel know all about family reunions. The New Yorkers, on their western sojourn, would learn that a grain elevator is not a conveyance for moving people, and that there is actually a beautiful sunset hiding behind their skyscrapers. They'd be introduced to fresh air and they might even learn how to wave at people with all their fingers, and how to say "please" and "thank you."

Washington D.C./Holyoke, Colorado (With apologies to Holyoke)-Small town America could teach our nation's Capital, its Congressmen, and all the bureaucrats who reside there a thing or two. Like how to make an honest living instead of mooching off the rest of us. Hopefully, the folks from Holyoke might introduce our leaders to something called the Constitution! Judging by the legislator's actions lately they must never have heard of it. As for what the Coloradans will get out of the deal? Well, they might enjoy visiting their money.

Governor's office publishes new Homeland Security plan

AUSTIN — Now available for all with Internet access to read is the new "Texas Homeland Security Strategic Plan 2010-2015."

Gov. Rick Perry called his plan "a high-level road map to allow for adaptation to evolving situations in an ever-changing threat environment."

Perry said the plan builds on what the state has done over the last five years, a period during which more than $230 million was committed to fund border security operations. Samples of the plan's stated goals:

- Prevent terrorists and criminal enterprises from exploiting Texas' international borders.
- Increase public awareness and reporting of suspicious activities.
- Reduce vulnerability to natural and man-made disasters.
- Enhance safety of schools.
- Enhance security features in state driver's licenses and identification cards to include the use of biometrics.

SENATORS VISIT LOUISIANA PRISON

Two Texas state senators on May 16 checked into a maximum security Louisiana prison for a three-day stay.

Senate Criminal Justice Committee Chairman John Whitmire, D-Houston, and committee member Dan Patrick, R-Houston, went to the storied Louisiana State Prison at Angola to observe a ministry program run by New Orleans Baptist Theological Seminary that has been credited with reforming inmates.

Warden Burl Cain invited Whitmire and Patrick as guests after he watched Patrick's documentary film, "The Heart of Texas," which carries a potentially live-changing message for inmates.

SALES TAX BREAK FOR APPLIANCES

Texas Comptroller Susan Combs on May 14 announced the third annual Texas "Energy Star" Sales Tax Holiday to run May 29 - 31.

During the three-day sales tax holiday, Texas shoppers will not have to pay state and local sales tax on certain energy efficiency-rated products. "It's a great opportunity for consumers to save at the register and at home, where they'll see the benefits returned in energy savings on their utility bills," Combs said.

The tax break applies to air conditioners priced less than $6,000, refrigerators priced less than $2,000, ceiling fans, incandescent and fluorescent light bulbs, clothes washers, dishwashers, dehumidifiers and programmable thermostats.

The tax break also applies to installation and delivery charges for the products on the list, Combs said.

PATTERSON: COAST CLEAR FOR NOW

Land Commissioner Jerry Patterson on May 13 said the Deepwater Horizon oil spill slick was about 160 miles east of the Texas coast.

"Despite some media reports, Texas is not yet affected by this spill," Patterson said. "We're watching and waiting, but it's just not time to go to general quarters. No news is good news."

If any oil from the Deepwater Horizon makes it to the Texas coast, it will not be in the form of a thick sludge, it will be tarballs, Patterson said.

If any tarballs from the Deepwater Horizon make it to Texas shores,

OZONA SENIOR HAPPENINGS

BY LYNN ENGLISH
SENIOR CENTER DIRECTOR

Today finds us in the middle of May and there is so much going on this time of year.

We had our Senior Bingo Social on May 13 at the Senior Center. There weren't many that attended but those of us who came had a good time.

On Thursday, May 20, our Canasta Club will be meeting here at the Senior Center. Rhonda Shaw will be the hostess.

Our popular puzzle couple, Betty and Bob Hartley, will be in San Angelo for Bob to have medical treatments. They will be missed so much.

Brenda and Royce Newton were gone all last week. Royce had a great time and Brenda reported that "she shopped until she dropped."

Sandy Bebee has returned home from having surgery in San Angelo. Sandy, we miss you here at the Senior Center.

Med Way Home Health will be here at 11 a.m. Tuesday, May 25. A nurse will check your blood pressure and blood sugar. There is no charge for this service.

Monday and Thursday at 1:30 p.m. is when the bridge players come to the Senior Center to play their favorite past time game. These ladies are faithful about coming and always have a fun afternoon.

We continue to have our regular activities: square dance lesson and dances, exercise class, bridge, bingo, home health, pool, canasta and puzzles.

We also have a collection of books, magazines and three computers that are on the Internet for seniors to use.

We have added a projector with stand and a screen.

Also, for your enjoyment, we have a Wii game and five different stimulating games. We are anxious for these games to be used.

Our activities are for those 50 years young and older. We will remain flexible as to age.

LIBRARY NEWS By Louise P. Ledoux | Crockett County Librarian

Library receives Dollar General grant

"You can't just be a 'book' librarian anymore and be considered professionally competent, even if your area of interest and expertise is literature. If you work with books and kids, you can't do your job without understanding how to use technology in your field. Tech's no longer a 'nice extra'—it's a vital set of tools, skills, and understandings you need to master if you want to provide the services kids deserve." - Doug Johnson, director of media and technology for the Mankato (Minn.) Public Schools

LOCAL DONATIONS WORK: Dollar General Manager Georgia Morrow and employee Rebecca Rueffer take a look at some of the books available at the Ozona Store. The Crockett County Public Library received a Dollar General Literacy Foundation Grant.

CCPL is proud to be one of the recipients of the 2010 Summer Reading Grants from the Dollar General Literacy Foundation. Dollar General Literacy Foundation Summer Reading Grants provide funding to local nonprofit organizations and libraries to help with the implementation or expansion of summer reading programs.

Programs must target Pre-K through 12th grade students who are new readers, below grade level readers or readers with learning disabilities.

CCPL is celebrating "Catch the Reading Express!" at the library this summer during our Summer Children's Programs every Monday and Thursday morning in June. There will be two age groups. Children 6 to 12 years come from 10-11 a.m. and children 3 to 5 years come from 11 a.m. - noon.

The theme of the 2010 Texas Reading Club is "Catch the Reading Express!" and the programs invite children to explore the marvelous cultural heritage of our state.

Texas librarians translated this theme into Spanish as ¡Subete al tren de la lectura! The theme invites children to explore travel, geography, cultures, and various means of transportation.

The goals of the Texas Reading Club are to encourage the children and families of Texas to read for pleasure, to help children maintain and improve their reading skills, to encourage them to become lifelong readers and library users, and to establish reading as a foundation for academic success.

A Big Thank You goes out to Dollar General for their support of Libraries and our Summer Reading Programs.

We are going to have tons of reading fun at the Library in June. Come "Catch the Reading Express!"

BRANDING AND TATTOOING

It used to happen to different types of livestock but now people are having it done. They say, "It is the thing to do" or the latest trend. Vast numbers of people are getting tattoos, brands or body piercing. It is not new and not just in the United States. People have it done for varying reasons and many even get religious pictures, symbols or names. I might be in great demand because I have branded many a cow, tattooed many a sheep and goat and ear tagged no telling how many. Piercing is a form of body modification and takes place anywhere on the body, some places being unimaginable, even the genitals. Branding which some call art, is done in a number of ways like a red hot iron used on cattle, others use a electronic iron but the strangest method is putting some flammable material on the skin and setting it afire," Direct Fire" I wonder what God thinks about this? In early times God told His people to come out from the rest of the nations and be different and specifically told them not to tattoo or cut or mutilate their bodies, (Leviticus 19:28, 2 Corinthians 6:17). For Christians our body is a temple of the spirit of God and our body is to glorify Him, (1 Corinthians 6:19&20). So in all things we are not to please ourselves but God, (1 Corinthians 10:31). See you in Church next Sunday. Brother J

State agencies support an increase for high-speed Internet in rural Texas

BY BRYAN BLACK AND
VERONICA OBREGON
TEXAS DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

AUSTIN — In an effort to ensure high-speed Internet access is available to all Texans, Agriculture Commissioner Todd Staples has announced the Texas Department of Agriculture (TDA), the Public Utility Commission of Texas (PUC), and the Texas Public Safety Commission (PSC) are supporting 32 applications seeking almost $370 million in funds from the federal Broadband Technology Opportunities Program (BTOP).

"Broadband access is just as important for our state today as when Texas connected our rural citizens to electricity in the 20th century," Staples said. "If Texas is to maintain a competitive advantage, it is essential our families, rural schools, hospitals and small businesses have high-speed access to the wide range of resources, services and products available on the information superhighway. The projects we are recommending will take our state a step closer to our goals of connecting all Texans."

Gov. Perry designated TDA, in partnership with PUC and PSC, to lead the state's broadband service expansion initiatives and represent the interests of Texas to the National Telecommunications and Information Administration (NTIA).

Texas evaluated 50 applications submitted to the state review process for consistency with state and federal priorities.

Newly available preliminary Texas broadband inventory maps were used in the review process.

A final map that will detail broadband coverage across the state is scheduled for completion on May 31.

The Texas and Texas-related projects submitted for federal funding fall into three categories: infrastructure, which includes construction of broadband delivery equipment; public computer centers, which increase public access to education and workforce development opportunities; and sustainable adoption, which is designed to educate Texans about the importance of broadband, and develop broadband markets in unserved and underserved areas.

"These applications show the desire of rural Texans to increase business and educational connections with the rest of the world," said Donna Nelson of the Public Utility Commission. "Completion of these projects will give thousands of Texans a better way to reach out."

In 2009, NTIA began accepting applications for a total of $4.7 billion broadband expansion through BTOP (all rounds totaled). In the first round of awards, NTIA awarded $2.1 billion, of which projects affecting Texas received approximately $80 million. The applications TDA and PUC recommended in the first round totaled almost $700 million in federal requests.

Then in January 2010, NTIA announced the second application round for the remaining $2.6 billion.

TDA, PUC and PSC are requesting NTIA thoroughly review all proposals affecting Texas to ensure maximum investment in the state.

Enforcement phase of new booster seat law begins June 1

SUBMITTED BY THE TEXAS DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC SAFETY

Crockett County EMS is sponsoring a FREE Booster seat clinic on Tuesday, May 18, from 3:30 to 6 p.m., for children over 40 pounds. The vehicle and child must come in order to receive a free booster seat. It will be drive-through clinic and will be while supplies last.

There will not be any car seats available only booster seats.

Starting June 1, law enforcement officers may issue citations for violations of the recent changes to the child passenger safety law.

The law requires all children younger than eight years old - unless already taller than 4-foot 9-inches - to be in the appropriate child safety seat system anywhere the child rides in a passenger vehicle. (A passenger vehicle is defined as a passenger car designed to transport not more than 10 occupants including the driver, a truck, light truck, truck tractor, sport utility vehicle and a passenger van designed to transport not more than 15 occupants including the driver.)

The law also requires that all safety seat systems (safety or booster seats and safety vests) be installed according to the manufacturers' instructions - including age, height, weight requirements and the proper placement in the vehicle. (Some manufacturers prohibit using their products on the front seats of vehicles.)

The law was passed last year during the legislative session and went into effect on September 1, 2009. Officers could only issue verbal or written warnings for the first nine months - but now the enforcement phase is in effect.

Fines are $25 to $250 plus court costs.

Safety seats and booster seats not only save lives: they save families. Consider the impact to your family if your child isn't buckled up properly and is injured or killed in a crash. Many times the injuries an improperly restrained child receives are life-long.

For more information, call Beth Warren, DPS Safety Programs, at (512) 424-5639 or beth.warren@txdps.state.tx.us.

Lisa Herring DeHoyos
Angelo State University
Class of 2010

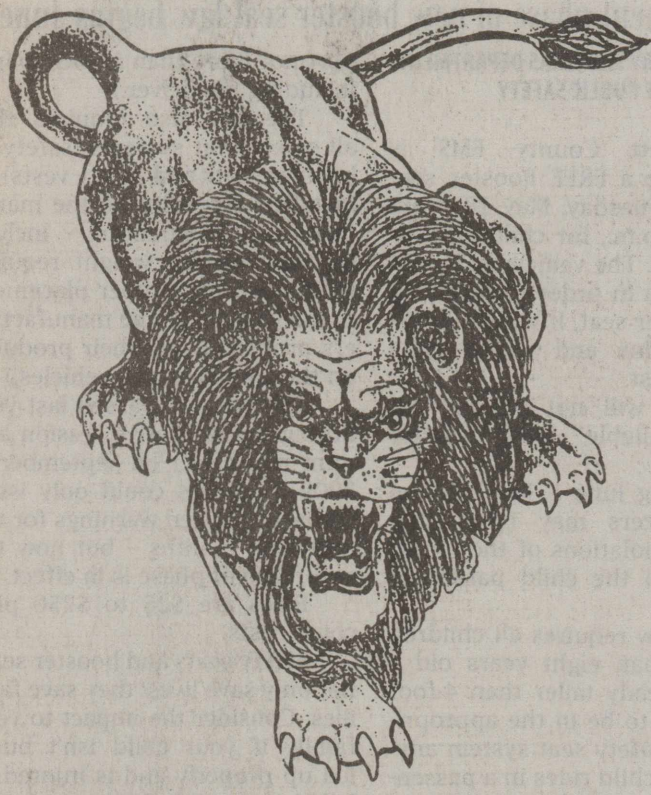

Daughter, Sister, Wife, Mother, Granddaughter, Friend

These are a few words that describe you, but you are so much more. You are still that little girl who learned to love reading and writing with the help of special teachers; like Joyce Maness who encouraged you; and Thomas DeHoyos, who came into your life first as your bus driver when you were only 5 years old, then as your teacher and mentor in high school, and now as your father-in-law. You are a Worker; holding down as many part time jobs as you could, doing what had to be done to follow your dream, while taking extraordinary care of your husband, children, and home. You are a Student; making the President's list twice at Howard College, and the Dean's List 3 times at ASU. You are a Graduate of Angelo State University; earning a Bachelor of Science Degree in Interdisciplinary Studies. You are a Friend; full of life and loved by many. You are a Mother to your precious daughters, Taylor and Baylee. You are a Wife to your loving husband, Tommy. You are a Sister to Jessica, embracing her husband Brian and children Mayce and Cooper. You are a granddaughter to Ms JoAnn Herring (Meme Jo) and the late Zid Herring Jr. (Big Daddy) and the late Alda Faye and Bubber Mather (Meme and Granddaddy) who were and are always so proud of you. And you are a Daughter, to the proudest of parents, Donna and Randy Herring, who love you beyond words.

the Texas General Land Office will work with the U.S. Coast Guard and the oil rig operator BP to clean them up. "It's not that big of a deal," Patterson said.

ARIZONA A NO-GO FOR CITY OF AUSTIN
Austin City Council on May 13 unanimously adopted a resolution to curtail official business travel to Arizona to protest the state's new law tightening immigration enforcement.
Before the vote, Mayor Pro Tem Mike Martinez said, "The reasons for introducing this measure are two-fold. First and foremost, we want to ensure that we are not exposing city employees to risk by sending them into an uncertain and potentially hostile environment in Arizona.

"Second, we want to send a loud and clear message to the State of Arizona that our community stands in vehement opposition to racial discrimination in any form."

METAL DETECTORS TO BE INSTALLED
The Texas Department of Public Safety on May 13 announced metal detectors soon will be installed at all Capitol entrances.
Capitol visitors will be screened for metallic items that could be used as weapons, the DPS said. Capitol staffers and state employees will be able to bypass the screening by presenting their official identification.
