UZONA honors veterans by melissa perner

THE OZONA STOCKMAN

It was a day to honor heroes.

Ozona schools and the community took time last week to honor those who served and those who are serving on Veterans Day, Nov. 11.

At Ozona Elementary School, fifth-grade students sang patriotic songs from "The Star-Spangled Banner" to the themes of the Armed Forces.

The finale brought tears to the eyes of many in the audience as guest soloists

Newly elected school board members will take their oath of office at tonight's regular meeting.

The meeting will be 6:30 p.m. at the Administration Building.

New faces to the board are Ray Don Myers and Roland De Hoyos. Dwight Childress, who ran unopposed, will also take the oath of office.

The board met on Nov. 10, where they approved and canvassed the votes in the Nov. 2 election.

A welcome reception honoring Myers and De Hoyos will be held from 4-5 p.m. Monday, Nov. 22, at the Administration Building.

Along with new members coming on the board tonight, there will also be a recognition of Laurie Hale and Veronica Fierro for their years

"We are respectfully honored and grateful to have our veterans here today. Today is an awesome day," said Principal Amanda Jackson. "For one day, our entire nation stops to honor our veterans. We feel that it is important for all of you to know that our teachers make a point to

Sheriff's office arrests sex offender through San Angelo Crime Stoppers

BY MELISSA PERNER THE OZONA STOCKMAN

With the help of San Angelo Crime Stoppers, Crockett County Sheriff's Deputies apprehended an Ozona man they had been searching for over the past four months.

Randall Patrick Borrego, 29, was arrested on Nov. 9 in Ozona for failing to meet his probation requirements to register as a convicted sex offender.

Chief Deputy Bo Semmler said that the arrest came from a Crime Stoppers tip, just days after the San Angelo office had released information about Borrego, who has family and friends in San Angelo and Midland.

The Crockett County Sheriff's Office also called the U.S. Marshals in San Angelo and Midland, Semmler said.

In Sept. 9, 2009, Borrego failed to comply with the sex offender registration requirements, Semmler said.

RANDAL PATRICK BORREGO

The sheriff's office issued a warrant for that infraction and began looking for Borrego.

After several month of trying to track Borrego down, the office decided to use Crime Stoppers, Semmler said.

According to the Crockett County District Clerk's Office, Borrego was indicted Aug. 23, 2001, on four counts of sexual assault of a child and two counts of indecency with a child.

Six tips to building a successful Facebook business page

When starting out on Facebook, it takes time to grow your business's page, and it takes work to engage your fans. Facebook users want something more than an average website can provide since they are looking to engage in conversation, share their opinions, and be heard.

Here are some helpful Facebook tips:

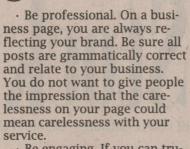

Be an expert. Instead of focusing on selling your products and services, share your expertise and grow your credibility. Post tips and tricks about your service and product that an average user would not know. • Be friendly. When people the communication open by being friendly and upbeat.

· Be engaging. If you can truly get a conversation going on your page with followers sharing their opinions and experiences about your industry, you can gain valuable insight into how to satisfy your customers. Ask open-ended questions about a current event related to your industry. Include a poll, or ask a quiz or trivia question. Have the winner receive a discount the next time they visit your store. Do not be afraid to try out a few types of posts to find what works for you.

• Be interesting. The adage "A picture is worth a thousand words" is absolutely true for Facebook. Posts with pictures are known to result in more interaction. Post pictures of your product, employees or events. Videos are a good addition as well, but just keep in mind nothing over 2-3 minutes. The shorter, the better. • Be there. Business owners who attend our Social Media Marketing seminars often express reluctance to start Facebook pages because they think it will be a waste of time. However, spending no more than two hours a week, total, on your Facebook marketing efforts can bring a great return on investment. Once you get the page up and running, it will be working 24/7 to promote your brand and attract new customers.

So, start your Facebook page right away. Invest some time in the beginning to personalize it, create a few interesting and engaging posts and add pictures.

Then it is time to start inviting your friends and customers to start interacting with your page. s the saying goes all good thing must come to an end. For the Ozona the game, as a team they. should still hold their. heads up high. This team accomplished more this season than any of the "so-called" sports ex-son for a team that entered with new leaders at the helm.

Lions Football Team, that ending came Friday night against Three Rivers. While the Lions lost

3:30 a.m. at the MELISSA PERNER

Recently a new ranch owner in our area forced himself into the conversation at the morning coffee club of old ranchers. In the course of the conversation he asked one of the crankier members how many acres he owned.

Judging by the response you'd have thought he killed the old boy's dog, stole his horse or insulted his wife.

Everybody knows you don't ask a rancher how many acres or cows he owns. That's like asking a Doctor how much money he makes, or asking a lawyer how much cash he has deposited in offshore banks. It's simply none of your business!

With many ranches these days being bought by doctors, lawyers and overpaid CEO's, I thought I'd review some questionable questions they should never ask.

If you ask, "What are the other three quarters of your Quarter Horse?" everyone is going to be laughing at you behind your back forevermore.

If you ask, "What are the educational requirements to become a cattle guard?" you're just begging for a put-down. And if you ask a Texas cattleman if his ten gallon hat really holds ten gallons everyone is its district A lot of the dumbest questions I've ever going to know right away that you are a gunsel.

It's probably not safe for you to ask, "What breed of bull is that?" It's probably heifer or a steer and you're gonna be laughed clear out of cattle country. Ditto if you ask what organs a "donor cow" sacrificed. Ranchers get real tired of being asked by 4-H and FFA parents if, seeing as how they own so much land, their little darling could keep their fair pig at their place.

Farmers and ranchers also grow weary of being asked for a weather forecast, as if, merely by being in agriculture, they are blessed with special meteorological talents.

Don't ask a cattleman in Sasabe, Arizona, or in Del Rio, Texas, "How much will it rain next year?" (It won't.) Or a rancher in Aberdeen, South Dakota, "Is it cold enough for ya?" These folks are just a little sensitive about such things.

If you ask my wife if you can wear her hat, ride her horse or borrow her husband the answers are no, no and maybe. (It depends on the day or if I've done anything really stupid recently.)

b heard being asked were at ringside at auc- boy asked as a skittish horse entered the tions.

I once heard a newbie yell from the crowd at a cow sale, "Does she have any teeth?" To which the auctioneer replied.

past three years but she's still alive isn't she?" Amazingly, the guy bid again!

It's not a good idea to ask the auctioneer for any cow's pedigree. If there was a royally bred animal within five generations of the cow in the ring he'd have already told you about it. If you ask, "Who is she bred to?" I guarantee the auctioneer is going to reply, "A bull." Then everyone is going to laugh at you for asking such a stupid question. Ditto if you ask for the scrotal circumference of a slaughter bull, or any breeding information on a canner cow. And no, the seller is not going to transfer the registration papers to you on a 15 year old crossbred cow.

Horse auctions are the place where the most stupid questions are asked. One time at a sale a fellow in the crowd was trying to impress everyone with his cowboy credentials. As a crop-earred, outlaw, that carried the brand of a well known rodeo string was led into the sale ring he yelled out, "Can you ride him?"

"Heck no, I can't ride him," the auctioneer replied. "But you are certainly welcome to try if you like."

At the same sale another wannabe cowring, "Can you shoot a gun off this horse?"

"My dear man," the smart-aleck auctioneer replied, "suffice it to say, you can shoot a gun off any horse at least one www.LeePittsbooks.com

This year, the Broncos were state-ranked.

They were on a roll until they came into Lion territory where Ozona met them block for block, tackle for tackle and score for score.

A 37-yard field goal kick would end the Broncos' winning streak and give the Lions the confidence they needed to finish up the season and claim a share of the district title.

For the first time in four years, the team got a chance to play in a postseason game.

While that game did not in the Lions favor, it still Fans also followed the team online, as cheers came each week on Facebook, Twitter and other pages.

The Ozona Lions showed Lion Pride in every step they took on and off the field this season.

We are proud of our Ozona Lions, the coaches, the cheerleaders, trainers, the OHS Band and the fans for another great season of football.

Let's keep that same pride alive for the rest of the school year, as the Lions and Lady Lions continue to compete.

Challengers throw question marks into race for House Speaker

AUSTIN — When the 82nd Texas Legislature convenes on Jan. 11, the first big task for the House of Representatives will be to elect a speaker.

Incumbent Speaker Joe Straus, R-San Antonio, announced early for a second consecutive term, but a more conservative Republican movement is emerging with designs on the powerful office.

Rep. Bryan Hughes, R-Marshall, on Nov. 10 announced he had withdrawn the pledge of support he had given to Straus.

Rep. Ken Paxton, R-McKinney, on Nov. 11 filed to run for speaker and Rep. Jodie Laubenberg, R-Rockwall, withdrew her pledge to Straus and said she would vote for Paxton.

Rep. Warren Chisum, R-Pampa, on Oct. 13 filed the necessary paperwork to run for speaker, and Rep. Leo Berman, R-Tyler, in June made known his intention to oust Straus.

The current standing committee chairs that Straus named last session have signaled their support of him in the 2011 Legislature, but in question are the votes of the new crop of members-elect.

It takes a simple majority of 76 votes to win the speakership in the 150-seat House. So if Straus is to repeat, he needs 25 Republicans plus all of the Democrats to vote for him. The Nov. 2 election increased the GOP's advantage in the Texas House by 22 seats, giving them to 99 seats over the Democrats' 51. One of those Democratic seats came via a recount conducted last week, giving incumbent Austin House District 48 Rep. Donna Howard a razorthin margin over Republican challenger Dan Neill.

If Neill had won the recount, the Republican Party would have had a super majority of 100 seats, which would have smoothed the way for the GOP to pass more of its legislation and block Democrats' bills on party-line votes.

ANOTHER YFZ RANCHER SENTENCED

A Tom Green County jury on Nov. 9 sentenced Keith William Dutson Jr. of Eldorado to six years in prison and a $10,000 fine for sexual assault of a child, a second-degree felony in the state of Texas.

He was the 12th YFZ Ranch-related defendant have been indicted on sexual assault of a child, bigamy or other charges. Seven defendants have been convicted on felony charges and sentenced to prison. The other five defendants are awaiting trial.

In April 2009, state, federal and local law enforcement personnel entered the ranch. More than 400 women and children were transported to alternative living arrangements.

Since then, many ranch residents have returned but prosecutions handled by the Office of the Texas Attorney General continue in cooperation with San Angelo-based 51st Judicial District Attorney Steve Lupton.

BUS RETROFIT FUNDING NOW AVAILABLE

The Texas Commission on Environmental Quality in late October welcomed grant applications to have eligible diesel-powered school buses retrofitted with emissions-reduction gear.

About $9 million in grant money was made available to public and charter schools operating one or more diesel-powered school buses.

The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency shows a retrofit costs between $5,000 and $10,000 per bus. An emissions-reducing kit takes about 6 to 8 hours to install.

Monday finds us being blown away. The day began by being cold and about the time it began to warm up, Mr. Wind began to let us have it.

It is hard to even believe that we will be celebrating Thanksgiving next week. Those turkeys should be on the run soon.

The Crockett County Senior Center will be closed for Thanksgiving, Nov. 25 and 26.

Helping Hands will be closed for Thanksgiving, Nov. 25.

The Veterans Day celebration was great. We have so many veterans here in Ozona and about 60 young men serving now. We are so very proud of these men and also proud of Frank Tambunga who works so hard getting everything set up to celebrate our veterans. Thanks a million Frank.

Our next Senior Bingo

Social will be 6:30 p.m. Nov. 30 at the Senior Center. Mark your calendar.

Any of you who would like to play dominoes are welcome to come and play any morning or afternoon that you would like to play.

The bridge ladies will be playing Monday at 1:30 p.m. These players have fun at their game.

We continue to have our regular activities: square dancing, exercise class, bridge, bingo, home health, pool, canasta and puzzles.

We also have a collection of books, magazines and two computers that are on the internet for seniors to use.

We have a projector with stand and a screen and have recently added a wonderful keyboard. Also for your enjoyment, we have a Wii game and five different stimulating games. We are anxious for these games to be used.

LAST GOODBYE

She had been having health problems for several years and the doctors finally decided to do exploratory surgery. Her children and some of the grandchildren were able to visit her at home before she went into the hospital for surgery. Little did we know that it would be our last meal with her because her stopped during surgery but the doctors were able to get it going again. She only lived a few more days but during that time all the family was able to say their final goodbyes. That experience with my mother reminded me of something in the Bible. We are on this earth for only a short time and our days are numbered, (Job 14:5, Psalm 144:4). God knows how many days or how long we will be here. Death is not pretty and enjoyable but we are all destined for it, (Psalm 89:48). It is not pleasant when we see our friends and loved ones facing death but it is a part of life. Physical death is the sentence or penalty mankind received for disobedience, (Genesis 3:19, John 19:30, Hebrews 4:12, 1 Thessalonians 5:23). But death is not the end; there is a life after death. We are also spirit and that lives forever, (1 Corinthians 15:42-44). Yes, we miss our loved one but there is the hope we will be united with them one day. Christ Jesus made Brother J that possible, (John 3:16,1 Peter 2:24). See you in Church next Sunday.

At Ozona Middle School, members of the OMS Student Senate served lunch to local veterans and teachers.

Teacher Betty Hawthorne showed the photo of her "hero." Hawthorne's father D.H. Anderson was a member of the 17th Bomb Squad and flew in a B-26 as a gunner in World War II.

Hawthorne said he was shot in the back in an aircraft.

Also at the OMS luncheon, sixth grade student Kabir Shah read a patriotic poem that he will give at the upcoming UIL Academic competition.

At the high school, veteran and retired DPS Trooper Ben English spoke during an assembly.

"God has blessed America in so many ways over the past 250 years, but his greatest blessing of all is these students who truly are the future of our nation. Because without Dinner, Coordinator Frank Tambunga said he was appreciative and honored by what all three school campuses had done that day.

"Truly today all three schools have shown their support for all our veterans. People are coming out willing to recognize our veterans," Tambunga said. "The elementary program was touching and emotional for me. Doing these special programs really touches my heart. It is the only way we can continue educating our youth is taking time to attend these programs."

Out of the veterans in attendance, Ray Valadez and Helen Owensby were the two oldest.

Along with the veterans, Tambunga read a list of active military men and women from Crockett County, which were more than 60 names.

Tambunga said he looking for volunteers on Nov. 20 to help take down the banners that line the streets of Ozona with names of these active military men and women due to the Christmas holiday decorations that will be put up. The banners also need some care and cleaning before being hung back up in January.

Thank you Lions for a great season. We are proud of you!

decision to be a part of something bigger than themselves, and they paid the price for success," said Coach Ray Brown "We also want to thank everyone for great sendoff last Friday."

The Lions would start things rolling on the first play with a 70-yard touchdown by Kyle Dean, Nathan De Hoyos would add the extra-point to put Ozona up 7-0.

Three Rivers would answer back as the Bulldogs' a high pressure running game drove the ball down the field. Quarterback Larry Hatten would score for Three Rivers and kicker Jose Sanchez would hit the extra-point to tie the game 7-7.

The Lions would be the next to score as Mark Gallardo, Saul Vargas, Dean and Abey Lara moved the ball down to the Bulldogs' 25-yardline. Abey would then pass the ball to Alex Borrego who ran it in for the score. De Hoyos' kick would put Ozona up 14-7 at the end of the first quarter.

In the second quarter, both teams would score back and forth with Three Rivers Troy Chowns nailing it into the end zone for a 34-yard score. The Lions would block the extra-point making it 14-13.

Ozona would come up short on their next drive, giving the Bulldogs the ball back. However, after a long drive down the field, the Lions would stop Three Rivers on fourth down.

The Lions would fail again on the next drive.

With 48 seconds left in the first half, the Bulldogs Gage Crawford would drive the ball in for a 44-yard touchdown. Once again, the Lions blocked the extrapoint to make it 19-14.

As the clock ticked down, Dean would run the ball down deep into Three Rivers territory. Gallardo then ran it in and De Hoyos' kick put the Lions up 21-19 at halftime.

That would end the Lions lead in the game, as the second half was all Bulldogs. Three Rivers would score early in the third quarter on a 36-yard run by Hatten. The two-point conversion was blocked by the Lions to make it 25-21.

Mistakes and penalties would plague the Lions in the second half, allowing the Bulldogs to remain on offense for a long drive that ate up the clock in the third quarter and allowed them to score early in the fourth quarter.

Hatten once again would find the end zone and Sanchez's kick would put the Bulldogs at 32-21.

Ozona was unable to find their footing in the fourth quarter against the Bulldogs, marking an end to an exciting season.

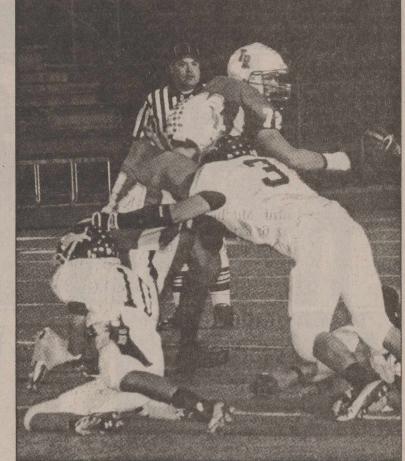

The Lions finish 7-4 overall, the best record the team has had since 2006.

TEXAS GARDEN CLUBS INC. NEWS

BY CHARLOTTE HARRELL TEXAS GARDEN CLUBS INC.

"Hats Off to Roses" was the theme of the 80th Fall Convention of Texas Garden Clubs, Inc. held in Tyler Oct. 18-19, attended by 145 TGC members representing clubs from all over Texas. Linda Whetsell and Charlene Mizener were convention chair and co-chair, respectively. Charlotte Harrell represented the Ozona Garden Club in her capacity of TGC Recording Secretary.

speaker, Shelly Plante, statewide Nature Tourism Coordinator in the Marketing Branch of Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, was terrific and informed us of a booming new Texas industry, which is now a model for 40 other states. Birding, butterfly watching, nature photography and other natural pursuits now outpace hunting and fishing as pastimes, numerically speaking. Shelly's pictures, extensive knowledge of her subject, and her great enthusiasm enthralled evervone.

The new slate of District VIII officers for 2011-2013 was unanimously approved at this convention: First Assistant Director, Carol Looney of Breckenridge; Second Assistant Director, Helen Roach of San Angelo; Recording & Corresponding Secretary, Terry Bridgford of Abilene; Treasurer, JoAnn Denson of Stamford; and Parliamentarian, Arlelle Brininstool of San Angelo. District Director Winnie Barclay of Breckenridge was approved at the previous spring convention.
