Setting some things straight

BY CHRIS DUBOIS
SUPERINTENDENT OF OZONA SCHOOLS

As Crockett County Voters consider their support for School Board Member At Large on November 8, I feel the responsibility to clarify or share some observations that I think may balance a viewpoint or two from recent campaign coverage articles and advertisements in The Stockman recently. The point of my sharing is not to argue or be defensive, or to impart any preference - I just feel compelled to meet a basic responsibility of all superintendents in promoting strengths of the districts they serve. I feel that the direction your current Board has set for their functioning is one of those strengths.

I believe that both candidates seeking to fill this vacant seat for the remaining one year on this term

iPads are coming to Crockett County Schools

iPads are coming to Crockett County Schools.

At the Oct. 26 school board meeting, the CCCCS School Board approved a proposal from AppleEquity for iPad2s as well as Windows-based tablet computers for students and teachers.

iPad2 carts will be deployed at all campuses. These 20-unit carts will be available for at-school learning activities by teachers and students, said Superintendent Chris duBois.

"We are not ready to support a full-blown 1-to-1 student initiative, but we want to capitalize on engagement fostered by tablets and provide our students experience with another format of operating system and computing experience even now," duBois said. "This deployment will give us experience with this exciting new technology without trying to support 900 new machines."

All teachers will be issued iPad2s. The first deployment will consist of 120 carted iPads and 90 teacher iPads.

duBois said the district will also be rolling out a pilot program to provide OHS Seniors and limited numbers Juniors access to a Windows-based tablet computer that will be issued to them to take back and forth from school to home for completing school work and "exploring the potential of mobile devices."

"In the longer term, we hope to be able to provide a level of Broadband (Internet) service to all students at home, so that we can enable away-from-school learning engagements," he said.

By leasing the tablet computers through AppleEquity, the school district may seek to trade in the equipment for credit toward newer technology or computers or for cash. The proposal approved for the tablet computers was a three-year lease for around $258,613.20.

UIL REALIGNMENT ENROLLMENT

Enrollment for the district is 767 students.

This is the year for UIL will realign sports and activities districts. Ozona turned in a high school enrollment of 199 for realignment purposes.

During the last realignment two years ago, the cut-off point for 1A school districts was 199 and below. Announcement of the new district realignment will be Feb. 2, 2012.

CHANGES IN SPECIAL EDUCATION
In his superintendent's report, duBois said the district is meeting with Menard Special Education Cooperative Directors early this month to explore a time-frame for withdrawal from coop services.

The hiring of Kim Wilson in September as the new director of special and federal programs at Ozona Schools will facilitate recapturing of the resources Ozona contributes to the coop, and to increase day-to-day oversight of even more services here locally, duBois said.

TEACHER HOUSING

Earlier this year, the school board approved limiting private rental assistance to a monthly maximum of $250 and restructuring payment arrangements to reflect actual relationship with landlords. This is for 10 school employees that live in housing not owned by the district.

The board approved increasing the rental assistance to $300 a month.

The total annual impact is $6,000 but the district's goal is to out of private rental entirely as soon as possible, duBois said.

REDISTRICTING

Prior to the meeting, school board members met with Sara Leon, attorney for CCCCS, on proposed

It was another tough game for the Ozona Lions Friday night.

The Lions lost to the San Saba Armadillos 47-7 in San Saba.

"San Saba runs the ball as well as anyone we've seen all season. They have a very good offensive line and running backs who run hard. We were obviously ineffective in slowing them down on the ground. It didn't help that offensively we rushed for 39 yards. You just can't be competitive in a game not being able to run the ball," said Coach Ray Brown.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

CCCCSD Superintendent asks for a call of suggestions

Dear Editor,

As Superintendent of Crockett County Schools, I am asking the citizens of Ozona to help me understand how we can do the best job of informing you about happenings and performance in schools.

Recent Site-Based Team discussions coupled with feedback from school staff has been very helpful in evaluating what we're doing well, and what we need to promote more. We have regular campus newsletters, Twitter Feeds for the district and campuses, school marquee updated regularly, a totally re-vamped web site, great coverage in the Stockman, and fantastic help from our friends at KYXX Radio - but we need to hear your feedback.

In recent discussions I have learned that very few folks realize that CCCCSD schools performed at Recognized or Exemplary levels on almost 70 percent of Academic Performance Indicators in State Accountability last year, and that our average ACT scores are the highest in years.

We just announced that we have re-gained Superior Achievement in Financial Accountability from the Texas Education Agency, and OES has been named a National Center for Educational Achievement Higher Performing School.

We have extensive College Readiness and Technology Initiatives underway, as well as rich Community Service (Lions Giving Back) and Parent Involvement efforts underway across the district (OHS Walks for Success, OMS Parent Conferencing Days and OES Parent Preview Nights). And our Cafeteria food is just flat out awesome!

So please call (325-392-5501) or e-mail me (chris.dubois@ozonaschools.net) your suggestions for how we can better get the word out about success, performance and achievement in our schools.

I will be more than happy to speak to any individual or group any time. But be careful - once I start talking about all of the fantastic things going on in CCCCSD, I have a hard time stopping!

Social networking etiquette

My grandmother is smiling down on me from heaven. In fact, I'm sure she is beaming. Last week, I received in the mail a copy of the "18th Edition of Emily Post's Etiquette Manners for a New World." The first thing that surprised me about this book was its size. I mean it's huge. Second, what surprised me was what I found inside.

In today's modern times, when most people hear the word "etiquette" they think formal dinner or event. Many people also think that etiquette is no longer needed in today's times.

According to the book, etiquette is still a topic of national conversation. "As much as etiquette is about weddings and table settings and forms of address, at its most essential it's about interactions and relationships and communication," the book states.

When I was 11 or 12 years old, my grandmother sent me to etiquette classes where I learned how to properly set a table, use the correct silverware, pass the salt and pepper shakers, walk, talk, sit and write a proper letter. You can imagine at that how age how I must have felt. I kept thinking when will I need this?

As I have become an adult, I have found those lessons have come in hand almost every day.

What caught my attention to buy this book was it having a section on the newest form of modern communication, social networking. That's right, etiquette rules for Facebook, Twitter, texting, blogging and emailing.

I was curious as to what the authors considered "proper" for Facebook and Twitter. I soon found out that it was too far from my childhood lessons.

When it comes to Facebook and Twitter, the book states that "people in the electronic community are no different than people you encounter face-to-face. If you want them to visit your space and read your content, then treat them positively and politely."

I'm sure that just stepped on some toes.

The book also states to remember "once you've put something out there on the Web, it's out there-forever!" That's right, you can't take it back. Social network sites are virtual bulletin boards. Before you post something, think about posting it on a real bulletin board at work or in the town square. Would you want everyone to read it?

"Intentionally making disparaging remarks has no place in personal communications, and it has not place online either. It's not simply a matter of expressing your opinion, but of crafting it to stay on topic and to contribute constructively to the conversation," the book states.

Ouch, I know that stepped on some people's toes. I'm not saying I'm innocent either but one thing to remember when posting online is that no matter how hard you try you are not anonymous. Even if you don't use your real name, someone will figure it out by what you are saying.

The book also states to proofread before you hit that "post" or "tweet" button. Spelling and grammar are still important, even online. If you can't spell then I recommend dictionary.com. It helps. Text-speak is okay only when writing text messages.

Also, learn more about the privacy settings on the social network. Do you want everyone in cyberspace seeing what's on your wall?

One of the biggest questions I've always had about Facebook was do I have to accept every friend request? The answer "there is no etiquette imperative that says you must accept everyone who requests to be a friend, especially strangers. It's easy for someone who wants to take advantage of you to create a false online persona. Strangers in the virtual world can be as dangerous as in the real world."

It's also okay to untag yourself from a photo or ask someone to remove a photo of you from their page, delete a friend's comment on your page, unfriend someone whose presence on your page makes you uncomfortable and ignore quizzes, groups and widely marketed event requests. Remember, it's your page.

It's not that different from just being polite in person.

I could go on and on about this subject and on several topics. I've just started reading the cell phone and texting section.

Not everyone follows the rules and lots of people, I mean lots of people, seem to not have any rules at all. However, when it comes down to it, without etiquette we wouldn't have the basic fundamental principles of respect, consideration and honesty.

Think about those three things as you are posting.

If you have an etiquette question, check out www.emilypostinstitute.com or just give me a call, I'll look it up in the book.

The Golden Calf

IT'S THE PITTS

LEE PITTS

I just heard about a Hereford cow in England who gave birth to her second calf in three months. I'm not talking about a twin, I'm referring to a miracle known as "superfecundation." It sounds dirty to me but it means that a second egg got impregnated a few months after the first, causing another pregnancy at a later stage of development. Being a tightwad, my first thought was, when the vet preg-checked did he charge for one cow, or two?

At first I thought this cow should be put into an embryo transfer program and start pumping out copies. Two calves per year would double your profit and could give the Hereford Association something really BIG to promote. But on second thought, two calf crops per year might mean you'd just go broke twice as fast!

You'd have to buy twice as much hay and vaccine and how would you mark the ear tags, 1A and 1B? The banker would demand twice as much collateral and your wife would be grouchy for six months, instead of only three, when she had to get up to check the heifers. Having the neighbors over for one branding per year is already one time too many, and if this catches on you'll have to pick up twice the beer cans and horse leavings. With double the calves you'll have to rope twice as many, which might make you a better roper, and then the USTRC would reclassify you and you'd never win. Your cows would have to give twice as much milk and you could end up with a bunch of leppy calves with a cow herd made up of "milk duds".

I could go on and on like this.

At the same time I heard about the fertile Myrtle cow I read an article in Time Magazine about favored children. As a middle child this is a subject very near and dear to my heart as I was the kid who never got to ride in the cab of the pickup. Time Magazine confirmed what I already knew, mothers and fathers have favorites despite their denials. In multiple studies a minimum of 65 percent of mothers and 70 percent of fathers exhibited a preference for one child, and I'm sure the percentage is much higher with cows.

The "Golden Child" is usually the oldest, especially if it's a son, but the favored can also be the youngest daughter. As luck would have it, I happened to have one of each and that's how I attained "Least Favored Status." While my mother recorded everything my brother did in his baby book mine is empty, so as an un-golden child I am much more sensitive to the damage to the psyche of a potential second calf.

According to Time, parents like the first child best because it's the biggest and prettiest. That's because the eldest offspring doesn't have to share any food with any siblings in his formative years. As for the better looking part, I would disagree but for the fact that there's photographic evidence of me to support Time's conclusion.

Often the father's favorite is the little girl of the family, but since the bull will be nowhere to be found after he's had his frolic, that leaves the cow and her Golden Child to pick on the second calf. The oldest will have the heavier weaning weight and will sell for more than his little brother when he's offered at auction. As a result he'll become arrogant and snooty. The calf buyers will laugh and pick on the ugly second calf, whose mother always liked his brother best. The older calf will be the one that everyone heaps their praise upon and the second born will suffer one public humiliation after another. As a result, according to Time Magazine, the second son will lack self-esteem and confidence, will likely suffer depression and bear psychic scars the rest of his life. He could even have severe behavioral problems.

We are still talking about cattle, right?

I suppose things could be worse. According to Time, scientists say that a cow's attachment to her first calf is sometimes so strong that she will kill her second calf if the first is still around. So I suppose you could say I'm lucky I've made it this far.

RRC adds to blast against proposed air rule

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS By Ed Sterling | Texas Press Association

AUSTIN -- All three members of the Texas Railroad Commission last week followed suit with the governor, lieutenant governor, House speaker and state attorney general in protesting a federal air pollution rule proposed in August.

The Cross-State Air Pollution Rule is meant "to reduce interstate transport of ozone and fine particle pollution from the air." If it takes effect in its present form, the rule would tighten operating methods and oversight of industries in Texas and other states generating emissions that blow into other states.

In their Oct. 25 letter to the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, the commissioners wrote that the oil and gas industry in Texas would be significantly impacted and result in an expansion of EPA's authority to regulate and control oil and natural gas activities in Texas and other states.

"Here we go again with EPA trying to stifle one of this nation's top job creators—the oil and gas industry in Texas, which supports 2 million Texas jobs, Railroad Commission Chair Elizabeth Ames Jones said in an agency press release. "The Commission has been effectively regulating our oil and gas producers since 1919 and we do not need EPA hampering our efforts to boost this nation's domestic energy production." Meanwhile, in energy-related news, the average rig count in Texas as of Oct. 21 was 905, representing about 46 percent of all active land rigs in the United States. In the last 12 months, Texas total reported production was 374 million barrels of oil and 7.1 trillion cubic feet of natural gas, the Railroad Commission reported.

DROUGHT MEASURES ON BALLOT

Seventy-three percent of Texas is still in exceptional drought and though September was not nearly as hot and dry as the past few months, the period from April to September is the hottest and driest period since 1895. Also, 229 counties have burn bans and 1 in 5 (941) of the state's public water supply systems have been impacted by the drought and statewide reservoir storage is declining and is at a record low of 60 percent. So said Mark Wentzel of the Texas Water Development Board at the agency's Oct. 20 meeting. And the outlook is for the drought to persist into next year.

Two of the 10 propositions on the Nov. 8 election ballot would amend the Texas Constitution to address the state's chronic water deficit. Democratic State Sens. Kirk Watson of Austin, Juan "Chuy" Hinojosa of McAllen and Eddie Lucio Jr. of Brownsville said the two measures, if approved by voters, will "help protect water supplies for Texans, our children, and future generations."

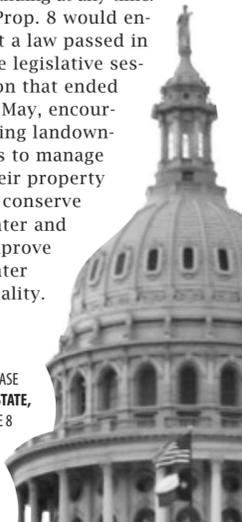

The three lawmakers jointly stated on Oct. 20, "If there's any lesson from this terrible drought, it's that nothing is more important to Texas than a clean, reliable water supply. And on November 8, you'll have the chance to protect it."

Prop. 2 would allow the state to issue bonds that will provide money to partner with cities, counties and other local entities to create water, sewer and flood control projects. The total amount of bonds could not exceed $6 billion outstanding at any time.

Prop. 8 would enact a law passed in the legislative session that ended in May, encouraging landowners to manage their property to conserve water and improve water quality.

Bank with People, Like You.

Being a banker is a little like hunting. The more experience you have, the better you become. It's best to plan everything down to the last detail, always keeping your eyes open with a clear line of sight and doing more listening than talking. You've got to know the terrain and blend in so you become a part of your surroundings.

If you're like me, you want to bank with people you can relate to, people who understand your way of life. You know, real people who don't camouflage their services through automated systems. You'll want a bank that's right on target with all your financial needs and a bank that's been serving our area for well over a century. That bank is the First National Bank of Sonora.

OZONA SENIOR HAPPENINGS

BY LYNN ENGLISH
SENIOR CENTER DIRECTOR

We have been having the most wonderful fall weather. Winter will begin on Dec. 22, so get your coats out.

Marolyn and Joe Bean have just returned from a nice trip. We were afraid they would get caught in a snow storm, but they didn't get caught in snow of any kind. We are glad to have them back home in Ozona.

Also, we were happy to learn that Joe and Marolyn are expecting twin great-grandchildren. It is exciting news and we are very happy for the coming event. The twins are due in May.

Jack Gillett had another cataract surgery last week. He is seeing much better and is all smiles. Jack admits colors are much brighter.

I was happy to see Linda Sherek coming out of the grocery store last week. She was very weak and was not able to make it to her car without assistance. Linda was a long time employee of the local drug store and we all miss seeing her. We all hope you will continue getting stronger.

CARE CENTER CHATTER

ACTIVITIES DIRECTOR

Finally, we were able to enjoy the smell of rain! It was so great to get a little moisture on the ground. I'm sure everyone was saying a thank you prayer for such a great blessing. We still need some more and it appears that we will smell the rain again.

The facility has been decorated to the max. Thanks to all the young ladies from Sheffield and their sponsors for coming to help out with decorations, cleaning the storage room and enjoying games and having fellowship with the residents. They were a big help and a great blessing. We are hoping to see them again when it comes time to decorate for Christmas. They were awesome.

We have a group of men that have started playing dominoes every afternoon at 2 p.m. They are very punctual and they play until it's time to set up for supper. There is one gentleman that is a pro at Dominoes and the other players are still trying to beat him.

He knows all the moves and it seems as though he has a giant calculator at his side. I think that with practice, someone will be able to beat him. I think he would welcome some competition. If you would like to play dominoes with them, please don't hesitate to come by one afternoon and join them. I am sure they would love some competition.

We had another Movie Day on Oct. 18 and it was a big success. The residents watched the new version of "True Grit." They enjoyed watching it while eating popcorn and candies. We are hoping to get a good comedy one for next month.

On Oct. 19, the staff and residents enjoyed dining together. The residents had expressed, at their resident's council meeting last week, that they wanted to do something for the staff in appreciation for all that we do for them daily. They treated us to a Pizza meal and we all enjoyed eating together. Thank you residents for your thoughtfulness. We appreciate you.

BUY GOLD, SILVER, LAND OR REAL-ESTATE

You can not turn on a television set or listen to the radio or read a magazine and not hear or see numerous advertisements about these items. It is all about having, holding and growing your wealth. They also talk about security and these are the only things that are of value or will keep their value. Listening or seeing these salesmen and their advertisements reminds me of something in the Bible. What is of real value or what does really count? There are numerous people in the Bible who prospered greatly. Abraham, (Genesis 13:2), Sons of Rueben and Gad, (Numbers 32:1), Job, (1:1-3), Solomon who asked for wisdom from God and not wealth, riches or fame, (2 chronicles 1:11&1 Kings 5:12) are just a few and there are many more but there is one problem. We are not to trust in riches no hoard them but put our trust in God for everything, (James 5:3). We are to seek Him and His righteousness, (Matthew 6:33 & 16:26). One interesting about Solomon you see a humility toward God in his life but it is very for a wealthy person or church to become proud and trust in their wealth, (Revelation 3:14-18). Another area is we can think we did it ourselves, (Deuteronomy 8:17&18). What about when in serious trouble, (Psalm 49:5-9) and the right approach to wealth and God is in Psalm 112:1-2. See you in Church next Sunday. Brother J

Imagine A Pair Of Glasses That Can Help You See Better!
Ever look through a pair of field glasses or binoculars? Things look bigger and closer, and easier to see. Dr. Larry Chism is using miniaturized binoculars or telescopes to help people who have decreased vision, to see better.
In many cases, special telescopic glasses can be prescribed to enhance visual performance. He often can help people read, watch TV, and sometimes drive.
Although telescopic glasses cost between $1900-$2500, it is a small price to pay for the hours of enjoyment with better vision and more independence.

are well-meaning, motivated, insightful members of our community that want only the best for our students. I cannot officially advocate for either candidate, nor would I do so even personally in this publication - as there is no practical separation of my personal opinions from professional ones in the public. However, some platform statements published recently in campaign coverage or advertising may impart to voters that your current Board is not effective or serving you well. I feel it is important to balance these contentions from an intimate perspective so that you may make fully informed, accurate decisions about the direction of your School Board. Board Meetings are sparsely attended most times, and few citizens can really be familiar with the operation and functioning of the Board without maintaining regular attendance and witnessing their deliberations first hand. Therefore, some contentions laid out in campaign statements need clarification, and that is all I propose to accomplish in this writing. I feel as your superintendent that several incorrect impressions have been imparted about current Board functioning, and these should be set straight as you deliberate your choice for this vacancy.

My viewpoint expressed here is not a personal opinion, but rather an effort to share perspective from my seat - the one who you and your Board entrust to manage the affairs and provide leadership for your school district.

As superintendent here since mid-2009, I have worked with your Board diligently to improve conditions, finances, facilities and performance in our schools. Our administration has consistently been supported in all efforts to improve in any of these areas. Your Board has been characterized as weak in steering the functioning of the district. That is not my perspective. Weak Boards do not boldly invest in technologies as your Board has to motivate and equip students and teachers with 21st Century tools to do 21st Century learning. This Board was very strong in its commitment to keeping compensation and benefits strong for all staff while facing the reality that we were grossly overstuffed. This Board has recognized that service is lacking to special populations, and that we need to invest in qualified, experienced leadership locally to improve in this important area. This Board sought creative approaches to handling mounting and much needed physical improvements around the district without further jeopardizing district financial health. This Board has recognized that district leadership over the past decade has failed to work with them to revisit prior stated District Mission, Vision and Goals and has embarked on a fresh development process to update these important tenets for the District and to formulate specific performance goals as well as expectations for me to reach them. Currently published District Mission, Vision and Goals were developed as long ago as Mr. Larry Taylor's tenure here as superintendent. Across separate engagements with your Board in recent months, Education Service Center Administrative Services representatives as well as the ESC XV Executive Director Scot Goen have given your Board great praise for the sheer number of improvements they have overseen the last two years as well as high marks for responding strongly to address negative trends the Service Center staff has monitored for our district for many years now. This Board is tackling new realities in education boldly - and to characterize them as weak or unresponsive is simply inaccurate.

If perceptions about Board weakness are rooted in observations related to recent financial and academic ratings - I can almost buy that. However, the measures cited as poor performance indicators for the district didn't happen overnight, and are rooted deeply in failures to respond or even to analyze performance trends extending many years back. There has been such a transition in leadership in CCCSD throughout the last decade that quite simply, no one stopped long enough to look around or respond to clear indicators of concern. The Board and I together have faced this reality head-on since the first day I served here. Complacency may be the best way to characterize how we got here - but the Board I have worked with since 2009 has been anything but complacent in steering and supporting operational, financial and policy adjustments to move us forward quickly. We have already re-established the district's Financial Integrity Rating System of Texas achievement to a rating of Superior once again. Despite severe funding cuts from Austin, this Board boldly approved a combination of strategies that have more than offset these losses while at the same time attended to some of the inefficiencies that have directly resulted in lower "bang-for-the-buck" evaluations of school performance that have emerged recently. Precisely because we are a "rich" school district, we failed over the last decade to pay attention to operating practices that created these low ratings by continuing to follow inflated staffing and budgeting practices. We simply did not appreciate if we were inefficient or ineffective in financial management - because we had no material incentive to change. Change would have required upsetting people, and that is uncomfortable for many folks. It is easier to kick the can down the road as long as possible. This Board has bitten the bullet and made some hard choices that will result in not only improved financial performance ratings over time - but have also quickly strengthened our capacity today. Weak Boards don't make such choices. They look for another can to kick.

We have data and financial management and monitoring systems in place to stay on top of performance and are using them. We have technical infrastructure to support these efforts well. We have invested heavily in professional development experiences to equip and support our staff in delivery of highly aligned, highly effective, engaging instruction. We have complimented classroom efforts with attention to infrastructure so that our students and community can be well represented and proud wherever we go. We have increased service to children with 15 percent less staff than before - and we have reorganized responsibilities to make the most use of the skill and leadership we already have - all with a vision of excellence and consistent support of your Board.

Lastly, at least some inference has been made in campaign statements that your Board is not operating transparently. I can assure you that your Board dots I's and crosses T's as well or better than any Board I have seen. They engage in open discussion about all issues and concerns not specifically relegated to or authorized for Executive Session deliberations. Sometimes they do have to consider sensitive issues reserved for such deliberation, but never in my experience here has your current Board gone off the reservation and clearly abused the use of Executive Sessions. This Board includes a public input segment on every Regular meeting agenda and has never conducted inappropriate business or deliberation under the guise of "workshops", as many dysfunctional or even unlawfully operating boards have been known to do. You can be proud of the way your Board conducts their official business.

I invite any citizen to regularly attend meetings of your Board to maintain awareness of the challenges they face and in evaluating the Board's effectiveness and integrity in official operations and functioning. I am very proud of the expressed intent of our Board to roll up their sleeves and get dirty doing the things effective Boards do to support great school experiences for children. I simply feel it is unfair to impart undue criticisms of the current Board's functioning, and feel strongly also that you need to know from me that just as your school staff is working our tails off everyday to be the best Ozona can offer - your Board is working hard to learn the best ways they can assist in our progress toward excellence.

They need whoever fills this seat to assume an active, team-oriented role in continuing the move forward. I believe both candidates are equally motivated to serve you - I just think I have responsibility to defend the functioning of your Board so that you have clarity on issues that I think may have been misrepresented, intentionally or not.

You have a lot to be proud of in CCCSD schools. Have confidence in your Board and school leaders and we will exceed all expectations sooner rather than later.

Ozona's only touchdown came late in the game on a five yard run by Mark Gallardo.

Gallardo was the leading rusher for the Lions, carrying the ball nine times for 23 yards. He was also the leading receiver catching four passes from Alejandro Mendez for 56 yards.

Mendez was 8-17 for 135 yards.

"The bright spot was that we threw for 135 yards. Ideally in our offense we would like throw for 100 yards and rush for at least 200 yards," Brown said. "We had several freshman and sophomores who grew up a great deal in the second half and that will show up down the road. They are getting some very tough on the job training."

The rest of the game belonged to San Saba with the Armadillos' racking up 33 points by halftime.

Two more touchdowns in the second half would seal the district victory for San Saba.

"We want to thank the fans that made the long trip to San Saba to support the Lions," Brown said.

Ozona is 2-7 overall and 0-4 in district play going into Friday's final game and Senior Night against Harper. Seniors and parent introductions will start at 6:50 p.m. with kickoff at 7:30 p.m. in Lion Stadium.

Eighth Grade Lions fall short to 'Dillos

After a long bus ride to San Saba the Lions came up short falling to San Saba 12-20.

San Saba would score first after receiving the opening kickoff but the Lions would answer right back marching down the field with runs by Bryce Martin, Kalen Perez, and Dakota Lee.

Lee would end the drive with a three-yard touchdown run. However, the 2-point conversion would fail.

San Saba would again get the ball inside the Lion five-yard line, but the Lion defense would hold after Michael Graham would strip the ball giving the Lions the ball on their own one-yard line.

With less than two minutes left before the half, the Lions would have to march 99 yards and would come close after runs from Martin, Lee and Perez.

The Lions would take to the air as Martin would find Lee for a 15-yard reception, Perez for 20 yards and Alan Landa for 15 yards putting the Lions on the 5-yard line.

However, Martin's pass to Landa as time expired would fall incomplete.

San Saba would score making the score 16-6 again the Lions would answer with a score of their own after Jon Gomez would set the Lions up inside of San Saba 15-yard line.

Then, Lee would again take the ball into the endzone. The 2-point conversion would come up inches short.

The Lions defense would cause a fumble giving them an opportunity to take the lead but were unable to take advantage of it.

"We played a tough team and had opportunities but were just unable to take advantage of them. The guys played hard and with a lot of effort and heart we just came up short," said Coach John Esparza.

Seventh Grade Lions fall to San Saba

BY AUSTIN ELGUEA
Special to The Ozona Stockman

Last week the Ozona Lions played the San Saba Armadillos.

At the end of the first quarter the Lions were losing 14-0.

The Lions got a touchdown in the second quarter making the halftime score 22-6.

In the third quarter, the Lions held off the Armadillos to get another touchdown and made a touchdown of their very own. The end of the third quarter score was 22-14.

The last quarter consisted of both teams scoring a touchdown. The final score was 30-22.

Good job to Thomas Fay who had two touchdowns and a two point conversion. Congratulations to Matthew Scheel too for getting a touchdown and a two point conversion.

Next game is Thursday, Nov. 3, at 5 p.m. at Lions Stadium. GO LIONS!

ORLANDO DEHOYOS FOR SCHOOL BOARD

- Exercise your right to vote
- Vote now to make a difference
- Anyone registered to vote can vote in this election
- Vote for a recognized, quality education for our students and our school district

- IF ELECTED:
- * Will hit the ground running using the experience of being an elected official and knowledge of school issues to make the board more responsive to and representative of this community
 - * Will insist on high academic performances by all of our campuses such that each should be recognized by the statewide rating systems; thus, no more mediocre financial ratings or an "unacceptable" rating for a school campus
 - * Will keep in place what has worked and is good for our students and our school district, yet, push for the necessary changes that don't work, whether it is personnel matters, budgetary issues or overall school policies
 - * Will always vote against closed meetings by the school board unless required by law

- DESERVING OF YOUR VOTE:
- * Understand the quality of our students and the need for all parents to be involved in their school activities and if parent involvement is lacking, the school should fill that void
 - * Appreciate that teachers are the backbone of our educational system and if their performance meets expectations, they should be recognized
 - * Appreciate the needs of school employees from teachers to cafeteria workers, maintenance workers, substitute teachers, teacher aides and volunteers

Nationwide emergency alert system test planned Nov. 9

The U.S. Department of Homeland Security's Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) and the Federal Communications Commission (FCC), the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA) will conduct the first nationwide test of the Emergency Alert System (EAS). The nationwide test will occur on Wednesday, November 9 at 2 p.m. Eastern Time and may last up to three and a half minutes. The public will hear a message indicating that "This is a test." The audio message will be the same for both radio, television, and cable. The National-level EAS is a public alert and warning system that enables the President of the United States to address the American public during extreme emergencies. Similar to local EAS tests that are conducted frequently, the Nationwide Test will involve broadcast radio and television stations, cable television, satellite radio and television services and wire line providers across all states and territories. Over the past two years and as part of ongoing national preparedness planning efforts, FEMA, the FCC and other federal partners, State, local, tribal and territorial governments, EAS Participants, and others in the EAS Community have been working toward making this test a reality. As the federal, state, tribal, territorial and local governments prepare for and test their capabilities, this event serves as a reminder that everyone should establish an emergency preparedness kit and emergency plan for themselves, their families, communities, and businesses. Anyone can visit www.Ready.gov for more information about how to prepare for and stay informed about what to do in the event of an actual emergency.

ARSON CASES TO BE REVIEWED
The Texas Forensic Science Commission on Oct. 28 approved the creation of a program to review past arson cases. Under the program, reviews are to be conducted by the State Fire Marshal's Office (part of the Texas Department of Insurance since 1997) and Innocence Project of Texas, a non-profit organization dedicated to securing the release of those wrongfully convicted of crimes in Texas. A primary subject of review will be the controversial case of Cameron Todd Willingham, a Corsicana man convicted of the 1991 deaths of his three daughters in a fire ruled arson. Willingham was executed in 2004. The commission's recommendations include the creation of a questionnaire for inmates convicted of arson to see if their cases are worth reviewing. The panel also recommended a review of death certificates in cases where the murder charge is listed as arson, new certification criteria for expert witnesses, adding rules and regulations to prevent the use of outdated science and improving the quality of testimony and analysis.

CROCKETT COUNTY PUBLIC NOTICE

ORDER RESTRICTING OUTDOOR BURNING

The Commissioners' Court finds that circumstances present in all or part of the unincorporated area of the county create a public safety hazard that would be exacerbated by outdoor burning; and NOW, THEREFORE, IT IS HEREBY ORDERED by the Commissioners' Court of Crockett County, Texas, that outdoor burning is restricted in Crockett County for 30 days from the date of adoption of this Order, unless the restrictions are terminated earlier based on a determination made by the Texas Forest Service or this Court. This Order is adopted pursuant to Local Government Code 352.081, and other applicable statutes. This Order does NOT prohibit outdoor burning activities related to public health and safety that are authorized by the Texas Natural Resources Commission for: (1) firefighter training; (2) public utility, natural gas pipeline or mining operations; (3) planting or harvesting or agricultural crops; or (4) burns that are conducted by an approved Prescribed Burning Association, Natural Resource Conservation Service, the and/or Texas A&M Agricultural Experiment Station, or prescribed burn manager certified under Section 153.048, Natural Resources Code, and meet the standards of Section 153.047, Natural Resources Code.

All burns shall be reported to the Crockett County Sheriff's Office (325) 392-2661 and the Fire Chief (325) 392-2626 prior to commencing, together with the name of the landowner, location involved and expert to be on hand. This Order does NOT prohibit outdoor cooking in a properly contained area which is attended at all times. In accordance with the Local Government Code 352.081 (h), a violation of this Order is a Class C misdemeanor, punishable by a fine not to exceed $500.

ADOPTED this the 10th day of October, 2011.
