Chavarria said.

A public hearing was held on the district's Financial Integrity Rating System of Texas (FIRST) for the 2011-2012 school year.

CCCCSD received a passing rating of above standard achievement.

According to the Texas Education Agency, the purpose of the FIRST report is to ensure that school districts and openenrollment charter schools are held accountable for the quality of their financial management practices and achieve improved performance in the management of their financial resources. Former Ozona teacher indicted

VOL. 101, NO. 40

A former Ozona teacher has been indicted on multiple counts of an improper relationship between educator.

Autumn Kee Brown, 33, was indicted by a Crockett County Grand Jury on Oct. 7. Brown resigned from CCCCSD in May.

According to court documents, three of the counts are for attempted improper relationship between educator and student. The offense is a third-degree felony, which has a punishment range of 2-10 years in prison and a fine up to $10,000.

The indictments also include four counts of improper relationship between educator and student.

Lions fall to Punchers

MASON - The Ozona Lions lost to the Mason Punchers, 40-18, Friday night.

"The Mason game was another disappointment because I think our kids felt like we let a golden opportunity get away from us early. I was very happy that our kids never showed any quit at any point we just unfortunately got off to a slow start. Some very good things came out of that game including the fact that we can throw the ball more efficiently when needed and we had our fewest penalties this year," said Coach Edward Perez. Texas voters have an opportunity next month to give Mother Nature a helping hand.

Proposition 6 on the Nov. 5 ballot would provide $2 billion from the rainy day fund to the State Water Plan, and voter approval represents the crucial first step in securing our economic future.

Texas is suffering through a drought of almost historic proportions, one that threatens to surpass the record dry spell of the 1950s. And some of the hardest hit areas are in Senate District 19.

According to the latest U.S. Drought Monitor, almost 94 percent of the state is abnormally dry, with more than 25 percent experiencing severe drought conditions. An extreme drought, is gripping more than 4 percent of the state, including a large part of Val Verde County.

STATE SENATOR'S OP ED

Some would argue that we are merely in a dry cycle that will end on its own, as it did almost 50 years ago. Perhaps so, but we have suffered from a number of droughts since then. And this kind of do-nothing, wait-and-see approach is not how Texans tackle problems.

Texas has an abundance of natural resources, including oil and gas reserves that are being developed in an unprecedented oil boom. But when it comes to water, nature has been, let's say, inconsistent. Much of West Texas gets little rain even in a normal year, and history shows that even areas of abundant rain are subject to withering droughts.

That's why we must plan for a future that will certainly bring more dry spells, and the threat of billions of dollars in economic damages, as we are experiencing now. Yes, Mother Nature needs some help.

That's just what Proposition 6 would do. By funding the State Water Plan with $2 billion from the rainy day fund, we will take a progressive and forward looking approach to our long-term water needs — 50 years into the future in fact.

The plan would provide for a low-interest loan program to finance some 560 water supply projects on a revolving basis for the next five decades. This effort is critical to the long-term economic vitality of our state, which continues to grow by leaps and bounds.

Most voters usually ignore constitutional amendment elections, but this one is much too important to sit out. Early voting for the Nov. 5 election begins Oct. 21, so you have plenty of time to cast a ballot for Texas' future.

Don't just sit around and wait for it to rain.

Breast cancer awareness

wenty-six years ago, the word "cancer" was often spoken in a whisper, as if saying it out loud invited the disease Americans then considered a death sentence. The words "breast cancer" was barely spoken at all, as if people's minds were work ing like those crude Internet filters that block any phrase containing the word

That silence was deadly. Physicians have long understood that early detection was the key to successful treatment of breast cancer.

Those changes in behavior had to begin with increased public understand ing, and thus launched Breast Cancer Awareness Month, born 26 years ago on Oct. 1. Since then, everything has been coming up pink, from lapel rib bons to cereal boxes, NFL players' shoes and gloves, the wreath hanging on our courthouse and pink on our Lion football players. If breast cancer hasn't touched your life yet, it will.

One of the unofficial mantras of breast cancer fighters and survivors is "Everyone knows someone. Whether it's a mother, aunt, neighbor, friend, nephew, co-worker, child, or teacher, chances are there are far fewer than six degrees of separation between every living American and breast cancer.

A new report from the American Cancer Society finds that death rates from breast cancer in the United States have dropped 34 percent since 1990. But the rate at which new breast cancers are diagnosed increased slightly among African American women from 2006 to 2010, bringing those rates closer to those of white women, who still have the highest diagnosis rates among women ages 40 and older.

Breast cancer is the most common cancer among women in the United States, after skin cancer. It accounts for nearly 1 in 3 cancers diagnosed in women. By the end of 2013, an estimated 232,340 women will be diagnosed with invasive breast cancer and an estimated 39,620 women will die from breast cancer. The risks generally increase with age. Almost 8 of every 10 new breast cancer cases and almost 9 of every 10 breast cancer deaths are in women 50 years old and

In January 2012, more than 2.9 million women living in the U.S. had a history can be found right here in Crockett County.

Mammography screenings are a woman's best chance for detecting breast cancer early. When coupled with new treatment options, mammography screenings can significantly improve a woman's chances of survival. Death rates from breast cancer are going down.

The wonderful thing about Breast Cancer Awareness Month is that it has spurred hundreds of thousands of people to action. Awareness is part of the cure, as demonstrated by the higher breast cancer rates among women who have immigrated to the U.S. Such women often believe cancer is a death sentence, not a curable illness, public health officials say, and they don't have access to good health insurance. When forced to choose between an expensive mammogram and putting food on the table, many low-income women put their own health last.

But there is near universal agreement that better preventive care saves lives and saves money.

While most states require insurance companies to cover diagnostic mammograms for women over 40 at a reduced rate, that doesn't help the millions of women who have no health insurance. And while some health providers and nonprofit agencies offer mammograms at discounted rates for women without health insurance, the women who need those programs most often aren't aware of them. For everyone touched by breast cancer - and that covers most everyone the awareness promoted by pink ribbons and pink newspapers is important every October. Show your support this month for the millions of women — and men, too — who have been touched by breast cancer.

Don't Laugh

If you needed another sign that America has gone off its rocker there's the clown in Missouri who wore a mask of President Obama at the state fair rodeo. When the announcer asked if anyone wanted to see the clown run over by a bull a cheer went up. The clown was clowning around, trying to make people laugh, which pretty much fits the job description of a clown, but after a video of the event went viral on You Tube the media got involved and blew the incident all out of proportion.

Which fits the job description of today's media. Before you know it the politically incorrect clown had been permanently banned from ever appearing at a Missouri state fair rodeo, the president of the Missouri Rodeo Association resigned, and the Missouri chapter of the NAACP called it a "hate crime" and demanded a federal investigation of the incident.

The feds can't even keep up with all the scandals in Washington DC these days and the NAACP wants them to investigate a clown? A word to the wise, all you rodeo clowns better declare all your income because I see an IRS audit in your future!

I saw this story on the evening news which was followed by a football game where fans in the stands held up huge masks of football player's faces and yet, as far as I know, no one has demanded a federal investigation of Denver Bronco

Congressmen on both sides of the aisle fell over each other trying to condemn the ried about the effect the masked clown may have had on any children at the rodeo. I suppose this means incident and were worthat any child who wears an Obama mask on Halloween, as many did last year, will be placed on the terrorist list and have their candy taken away.

Another politician called the mask the "Ugly face of intolerance and ignorance" and compared it to "an effigy at a Ku Klux Clan rally." A White House spokesman said it was "Not one of Missouri's finer moments" and Missouri's governor apologized. A political science professor said of the clown's act, "It goes beyond the pale." Which is an interesting choice of words if white folks want to take offense.

Henceforth any contractor or subcontractor to the Missouri State Fair from here on out will have to undergo sensitivity training. Wow, if folks had been this touchy when Nixon was President our country would have had a nervous breakdown.

The backlash came from Representative Steve Stockman of Texas who said that liberals are thin-skinned and totalitarian and invited the clown down to Texas to perform for rodeo fans there. Because his name is "Stockman" all people wearing a cowboy hat and trying to get on an airplane in the future will be bulldogged to the ground by aggressive TSA officials and frisked like they were a feeble 89 year old

This incident shows something that as a humor columnist I have known for a long time: it's getting harder to be funny when people are just looking for an excuse to be offended. With all this political correctness, America has lost its sense of humor. We're a nation of sourpusses and have forgotten how to laugh at ourselves.

Our vocabulary has shrunk as more words are off-limits. You can't make jokes about overweight Americans (fat), follicularly challenged folks (bald), or nontraditional shoppers (looters). I remember a few years ago when the Los Angeles Times told its writers to avoid words like deaf, handicapped and Canucks, unless it's the hockey

The word alien was also off-limits when talking about our seasonal guests who happen to be Mexican, which is also off-limits even though they are from Mexico, just as Americans are from America. Now they are "persons of Latin descent."

It seems that the only people who are exempt from all this bologna are persons of Hollywood descent and politicians, excuse me, patriots serving our country in a bureaucratic position. These are the same clowns who live in Washington DC and root for a football team called the Redskins

Federal shutdown ends but issues remain

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS By Ed Sterling | Texas Press Association

AUSTIN — A federal shutdown arching over Texas and the rest of the nation since Oct. 1 resulted in the temporary closure of many facilities and the furloughing of millions of employees.

On Oct. 16, the shutdown ended when both houses of Congress adopted a continuing appropriations act that does three things: increases the nation's debt limit, allows the treasury to pay bills and returns the federal government to full operations, at least until mid-January.

John Cornyn, Texas' senior senator, and freshman Sen. Ted Cruz, both Republicans, voted against the act. Cruz headed contingencies in both houses to defund the federal health care law ("Obamacare") in exchange for compromises on the federal budget. Those efforts resulted in the shutdown. As for the Lone Star State's 36 U.S. House members, all 12 Democrats voted in favor of the compromise and all 24

Republicans voted against it. Lawmakers and the executive branch generally have indicated their willingness to work toward timely solutions to the nation's financial issues in over the next three months in order to avoid the next fiscal cliff. Democrats and a contingency of Republicans, while in a compromising mood, continue to wrestle over "Obamacare" and how its cost dynamics affect other

Students make wonderful works of art

Weekly academy has lessons for adults, children

> BY MELISSA PERNER THE OZONA STOCKMAN

Colors fill pages as little hands dip paint brushes and grab for chalk.

There is no right or wrong to the drawings being made, just a flow of creativity as the group of children work to glue, paint and put together their works of art.

Each week, adults and children let their artistic style flow at the Wonderful Works Art Academy.

Led by Ozona artist Ann Fowler, the academy meets in the Church of Christ's Granny Miller Hall each Friday. Adults come at 2 p.m. and children ages five and up attend at 4 p.m.

Fowler started the academy in August. She has around five adults and 10-15 children that attend regularly.

Since the start of the academy, the groups have worked in gesture drawings and contour drawings using charcoal and chalk pastels, painted fruits, learned how to draw boxes and even captured the human eye.

"I love seeing people get into their work," Fowler said. "When we used charcoal for the first time, it was great seeing everyone smudging their drawings with their fingers."

Assisting Fowler is her seven-year-old son Hudson, who is also the officially greeter. Hudson said the family has an "art room" at their house.

"I use to draw every day, but now just mainly on Fridays at class," he said.

High School, Fowler said she didn't have art classes in high school. At Angelo State University she was one of the last people to graduate with a general art degree.

works at ASU, the Stribling Art Extravaganza in San Angelo and the Crockett County Public Library.

"I've wanted to be an artist since I was little, and I wanted to learn about everything," she said. "I enjoy color and I also like character and charcoal drawings. I don't have one medium that I work in."

At each lesson, Fowler tries to blend in history and artists like Leonardo da Vinci, Guiseppe Arcimboldo and Pablo Picasso.

Fowler said many of her students have never had an art lesson in their life, and have created beautiful works.

"I try to tell about different artists. We also have music that goes along with our art and lesson," Fowler said.

Parent Kayla Davidson A graduate of Winters said she enjoys the Friday lessons for her daughters Mia and Avery. She said it really lets them unwind and be creative at the end of the school week.

On this day, students Fowler has shown her are imitating Picasso by using chalk and oil pastels to draw a picture, then cutting up the picture and gluing it onto another piece of paper. They then use paint over their glued pictured to make their drawings even more colorful. Fowler said the children's favorite thing is using paint.

"It's fun to see different works or interpretations of each student," Fowler said. "There are times when students will do some things alike. There's no wrong way to Fowler also said she is very fortunate and thankful to the Ozona Church of Christ for the use of their facility.

"If there is enough interest, I will certainly form more art classes to accommodate more students," she said.

Cost for each lesson at the academy is $18; $10 for senior citizens 65 and older. Students do need to supply most of their own materials.

OZONA SENIOR HAPPENINGS

Lots of activities at the Senior Center

BY BRENDA NEWTON SENIOR CENTER DIRECTOR

It is getting closer to spook time. I am looking forward to the Halloween Carnival at the park on Saturday, Oct. 26. Again, it will be so much fun to see the kids all dressed up in their costumes. Hope to see you all there.

Lynne Carlson with the Area Agency on Aging will be here the second Tuesday of November. She will have open enrollment of Medicare. If you do not have a plan, she can help you compare and make sure you have the right health and prescription drug coverage. She has a lot of information on Medicare and Medicaid and the changes that may be coming in the near future. She is also the representative for the Concho Valley Transit and Thunderbird. Come and express your concerns about this to her. It might have more impact than listening to me rant and rave.

The Concho Valley Community Action Agency will not be coming to Ozona in October, November or December. However, they said they might help with the utility bills for these months if vou call them at (325) 653-

If you haven't tried the Helping Hands meals at noon each day, you should. It is a well balanced meal and you will not find a better place to eat for less.

The quilting ladies came Thursday morning and told me that I messed up in last week's paper article. I told about Audrey's surprise visitor, but I put her last name wrong. Her name is Gilda Hamilton. I am so sorry about this but I really am bad with names. Sad part is, I told myself to check the sign-in sheet and make sure the name was correct. I forgot to do this, so my memory is bad also. Not much hope for me, is there? Oh well. These ladies worked really hard going through materials that have been donated and picking and choosing what to keep. It wasn't so much work as it was laughing and picking on each other. They are such sweet ladies. You should come join them.

The trade table continues to be a good thing. There are puzzles that need putting together.

A PARDON OR EXPUNGEMENT?

There is a provision in our legal system whereby a person that has committed a major crime and found guilty may be forgiven or pardoned. There are certain conditions and only certain people have the proper authority to grant one. One qualification is that the person was convicted unjustly another is that he or she is repentant and asks for a second chance. Presidents can pardon on federal level and Governors on State levels. If granted the pardon forgives the crime and the guilty may go free but it remains on his record and restrictions apply for ex-convicts. There is something even better than a pardon and it is called Expungement. It is even better in that the records are wiped clean just as if no crime was committed and no record of it. Also there no restrictions like on ex-cons. This reminds me of something in the Bible. God can forgive sin! God's word says we all have disobeyed God or sinned, (romans 3:23). The punishment for this is death or eternal separation from God, (Romans 6:23, Revelation 20:14, 20:8). The qualification for forgiveness or better yet Expungement of sins is by the shed blood of Jesus Christ. We must be willing to confess that we are guilty of sin and ask for forgiveness and call upon Jesus Christ to be our Lord and Savior, (Romans 10:9-13, 1 John 1:9, John 3:16). See you in Church next Sunday. Brother j

Joan Nicholas, 94 of Brownwood, Texas went to be with the Lord on Sunday, October 20, 2013. A memorial service will be held at Davis Morris Funeral home on Wednesday, October 23, led by Tim Boeglin at 2 p.m. with memorial visitation prior to the service. A private interment will be held at Cedar Hill Cemetery in Ozona at a later date. Joan was born in Shrewsbury Shropshire, England on December 1, 1918 to Stanley and Rose Ella Donkin. In 1935 at the age of 17, Joan went to Shrewsbury Technical College and studied secretarial skills and in 1938-1942 she worked in London and Shrewsbury. For two years she persistently requested release from her job to join the RAF to serve her country during World War II. In 1942 her request was finally granted and she joined the Royal Air Force. She served in the "new technology" of RADAR. She met Milton (Nick) Nicholas who served in the 35th Division, 3rd battalion, 134th Infantry Regiment of the U.S. Army. They married June 27, 1945 in England. Joan was always an independent free spirit ready for adventure. After the war was over leaving her parents behind, she started her newest adventure in the U.S.

After that time, Joan lived in Dallas, Marfa, Ozona, and Brownwood, Texas, spending most of her years in Ozona. There she was a legal secretary, insurance agent, and an activities director in the local nursing home, but she was most passionate about her hobbies and volunteer work. In the 1960s she enjoyed being a Ham Radio Operator and started playing golf. In the 1970s she was a recognized state level volunteer for the American Cancer Society and travelled extensively across Texas for them. In the 1980's and 1990's she took art and delved into painting landscapes with oils and water colors. She was also a Certified Adult Literacy tutor and was able to help several adults learn to read and write. During her time in Ozona she was a member of St. Johns Episcopal Church in Sonora, Texas and also First United Methodist in Ozona.

In 1995 she moved to Brownwood after the death of her husband and quickly made new friends that she cherished. In 2000 she wrote her memoirs which her family will forever treasure along with several poems. Joan loved to learn and was self educated on many topics. She consistently read educational books especially British history. She had a gift of making people smile and laugh with stories and dramatic antics. She loved cats, especially her beloved Nansi-Belle. Bird watching was a favorite pastime. Joan's voice will always be remembered, her beautiful dialect will be affectionately missed by all. More than anything, "Nana" loved "her boys". Her grandsons were very dear to her heart and she frequently stated how proud she was of all of them. Joan is survived by her daughter, Jennifer Newton and son in law Rick Newton of Brownwood; three grandsons, Nick Dacy of Wichita Falls, Douglas Newton and wife Darcy Newton of Buda, Texas, and Bryce Newton of Evansville, Indiana and two great grandsons, Kamden Dacy and Jake Dacy.

She was preceded in death by her parents, a granddaughter Carrie Ann Dacy, her husband Milton (Nick) Nicholas, and a daughter Ruthella Dacy Minatra. In lieu of flowers, memorials can be made to the Central Methodist Church of Brownwood or the American Cancer Society.

Online condolences to the family may be made at www.davismorristuneral

O7ONA GARDEN CLUB

The October Ozona Garden Club program, "Tips for Plant Care in your Garden," was given by Marolyn Bean in her home. Members present were taken on a tour of Marolyn and Joe's beautiful backyard and learned about the plants growing there and tips about taking care of them.

Members present were Jeannine Henderson, Belinda Wilkins, Carmen Sutton, Charlotte Harrell, Marolyn Bean, Celia West, Rosalind Williams, Pamela Maresch, and Vicki Stokes.

The next meeting will be Monday, Nov. 11, at the home of Mrs. Vivian Childress. Members will meet at the Church of Christ Parking Lot at 1 p.m. to carpool.

OZONA WOMAN'S FORUM NEWS

BY MARILYN COX OZONA WOMAN'S FORUM

The Ozona Woman's Forum met at the Crockett County Public Library on Oct. 15. After the meeting was called to order by Vice President Sandy Bebee, Brenda Newton led the group in the Pledge of Allegiance. A brief business meeting was held.

The program of the day was a book review by Marilyn Cox. She chose "The Hotel at the Corner of Bitter and Sweet" by Jamie Ford. The book is an old-fashioned historical novel that moves between 1942-1986. It is the story of Henry Lee and Keiko Okabe, a Chinese boy and Japanese girl. It takes place just after World War II has begun and tells of the interning of Japanese immigrants in the early days after the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor. Set in Seattle, Wash., it tells a story of human losses and love that outlasts time and location, closeness and separation.

Beth Hoover presented the opportunity for members to purchase copies of the new 2013 calendar that the Friends of the Crockett County Public Library have offered the community. It contains beautiful scenes of Ozona and the surrounding area and also lists many birth dates of local citizens and their families. Several forum members stepped up to purchase the calendars before the supply run out. Other copies are still available at the library.

The meeting was adjourned, but many members stayed around for more punch and cookies and the opportunity to rejoice over the rain that has fallen over the region during the last few

Candidates announce for state representative

BY MELISSA PERNER THE OZONA STOCKMAN

Filing for the 2014 state primaries doesn't start until next month, but already three candidates have announced they are running for state representative.

Andrew Stevenson Murr. Rob Henneke and Karen Harris have all announced they are running in the Republican Primary to replace Harvey Hilderbran, R-Kerrville, as State Representative for District 53.

Hilderbran, who currently holds the position, has decided he will not seek re-election, instead announcing his candidacy for Texas State Comptroller. The 12 county district includes Bandera, Crockett, Edwards, Kerr, Kimble, Llano, Mason, Medina, Menard, Real, Schleicher and Sutton Counties.

ANDREW STEVENSON MURR

Murr has been Kimble County Judge since 2008. He recently resigned due to running for state representative. He grew up on a working ranch in Kimble County and graduated from Junction High School. He is a graduate from Texas A&M University and the Texas Tech University School of Law in 2003.

While at A&M, he spent a semester in Washington, D.C. as a congressional agricultural and natural resource policy intern and also worked in Austin as Assistant Committee Clerk for the Texas House Natural Resources Committee during the 76th Texas Legislature.

After passing the Texas Bar, he worked in Dallas for one of the state's largest law firms practicing commercial litigation. He returned to Junction in 2006 to establish a general law practice.

In addition to serving as County Judge, Murr lives on the family ranch, raising cattle, and he and his wife operate Telegraph Title Company. He serves on the Junction National Bank Board of Directors and is the vice president (and prospective president) of the Board of the Kimble-Edwards Farm Bureau. Gov. Rick Perry appointed him to the Concho Valley Regional Review Board in 2011.

Murr is past Chairman of the Concho Valley Council of Governments Executive Committee. He is a member, and past President, of the Junction Rotary Club. He serves as a board member of the Concho Valley Transit District, Kimble County Historical Commission, Kimble County Youth Show, and the Hill Country Fair Association. He has served on the Texas Tech University Hill Country Board of Advisers.

Murr and his wife, Lacey, have a four-year-old son, Coke. They own Telegraph Title Co. The Murrs are members of Trinity Episcopal Church in Junction.

"I am running because I believe I can be an effective voice in the legislature for our area. I will be a tireless advocate for our rights, our values, and our region-specific interests such as water, education, small business, agriculture, property rights and oil and gas matters. I am grateful for the expressions of support I have received from individuals throughout the district, encouraging me to run. I have been honored to serve the citizens of Kimble County, and I have gained valuable experience in my tenure as county judge that I will put to use in representing all the counties in District 53 in Austin if elected," Murr said in a press release.

ROB HENNEKE

Describing himself as a Ted Cruz Republican, Henneke has served as Kerr County Attorney since 2010.

He graduated with honors from Tivy High School before attending Georgetown University and the University of Texas Law School. Prior to moving to Kerrville in 2007, Rob served with distinction under Texas Attornev General Greg Abbott as an Assistant Attorney General in the General Litigation Division. Rob was elected as the Kerr County Attorney in March of 2010 and reelected without opposition in 2012. "I am blessed to work, live, and raise my family in rural Texas. I am a product

Harris was appointed by Perry to the Texas Health and Human Services Commission Council in 2011 and the advisory committee to the Texas Education Association for Academic Achievement Distinction in 2012. She served with the AADDC for one year and after two years on the HHSC Council resigned on June 15 to run for office.

Harris and her husband, Edmud, live on Medina Lake in Bandera County. The couple has two adult children and grandchildren.

Harris earned a degree in radiologic science from Virginia Commonwealth University and has owned and managed clinics with her husband of 30 years.

She has also served on the Academic Achievement Distinction Designation Committee as a gubernatorial appointee. This committee is charged with assisting the Texas Education Agency in developing the criteria for campus merit in the area of academic achievement in reading/English language arts and mathematics. She has testified in senate committee and was honored as Pastor of the Day to the Texas Senate.

signed to encourage Texas public schools to manage their financial resources better in order to provide the maximum allocation possible for direct instructional purposes. The system will also disclose the quality of local management and decisionmaking processes that impact the allocation of financial resources in Texas public schools.

The report stated CCCC-SD had points deducted due to a tax coding issue with the Crockett County Appraisal district, which has now been corrected, and also in student debt related expenditures.

Chavarria said CCCCSD was right at the percent, not below, according to the report.

He also said the district scored perfect on the ratio of students to teachers, but was hit on the ratio of students to total staff that includes aides and supportive staff.

"We are high in the number of aides for our district, but those aides perform a valuable service to our kids. Our numbers have gone down since this report. We should score better next year," Chavarria said.

Hard copies of the report are available at the Administration Building. The report can also be found on the school's website at www. ozonaschools.net.

TENNIS COURTS

In the maintenance report, it stated that the district is looking at getting an estimated cost to resurface the tennis courts.

CHEVRON DONATION

2013 Historical Armory, Inc. ©

Chavarria said Chevron has given a $40,000 donation to the district.

The funds will be split among the campuses and have to be used for academics.

OMS Principal Tammy McWilliams said her campus is working on building a greenhouse. Savala said the elementary is going to work with the high school in starting a robotics program.

HOMEWORK HOUSE

After-school tutoring and homework house has started at the elementary and middle schools.

McWilliams said at OMS they are having mandatory tutorials for students who failed a class in the first six weeks.

Savala said Parent Liaison Misty Jurado is taking students home in a school suburban for those parents who don't have transportation after tutoring and homework house.

Savala also recognized the OES aides who attended training on the program "Read Naturally," which helps students who struggle with fluency issues. The program is being implemented in third, fourth and fifth grades. Training was done by Cheryl Bricken, the district's director of special and federal programs.

"We are all just working together as a team to help our students be successful," Savala said.

HOMELESS STUDENTS

Bricken said the district has an increase in homeless students this year.

The state defines homeless students as students who live with relatives and not their primary families, or the family lives with relatives or the student or family live in a structure that does not have necessities.

This can include students who live in travel trailers with their parents, if the travel trailer is not their primary residence, and students who live with grandparents in temporary placement. If the grandparents have custody of the child, then the child is not homeless, Bricken said.

Last year the district only reported two homeless students. This year, Bricken said the district has 22-23 students classified as homeless.

All homeless children qualify for free and reduce lunch. There are also local programs, such as Blessings in a Backpack to help homeless and economically disadvantaged students, Bricken said.

OTHER AGENDA ITEMS APPROVED and DISCUSSED:

· The board met in executive/closed session for an hour to discuss personnel matters. No action was taken when they reconvened in open session.

· OES Campus Improvement Plans for 2013-2014 as presented by Savala.

· District Textbook Committee for 2013-2014. The committee consists of principals and teachers.

The next regular meeting will be 6:30 p.m. Nov. 20 in the Administration Building at 797 Avenue D.

OMS Students inducted into National Junior Honor Society

BY KATRECE HALE OZONA MIDDLE SCHOOL

Thirteen students from Ozona Middle School were inducted as new members of the National Junior Honor Society in a ceremony held at the Civic Center Monday, Oct. 14.

Members were selected by the teaching staff for meeting high standards of scholarship, service, leadership, citizenship, and character.

Students inducted were eighth graders Matthew Gunnels, Sara Gunnels, Denise Rodriguez and Kaelan Savala. Seventh graders included Chantz Elliott, Ivana Hernandez, Jazmin Hernandez, Josh Knaack, Coulter McWilliams, Adalyne Nehus, Yasmin Ojeda, Shellbie Rust and Caleb Webb.

Newly elected officers also took their oath of office. Samantha Torralba will serve as president, Brenna sae Coy as secretary. Other current members include Murray Logan and Hunter Smith. Sponsor for the organization is Katrece Hale. This year marks the chapter's 10th year on campus.

Hale as vice-president and Jo-

Each year the chapter sponsors several service projects for the school and community, which in the last few years have included a paper recycling program, Pennies for Patients fund raiser, voluntary service for the Wellness Center campaign, and sending goody boxes to Ozona military personnel.

They also serve as classroom assistants on Open House night and make daily announcements.

The National Honor Society ranks as one of the oldest and most prestigious national organizations for high school and middle school students.

Chapters exist in more than 15,000 schools and, since 1929, millions of students have been selected for membership.

CROCKETT COUNTY 4-H NEWS

Fibermax Ag Student of the Week, Timothy Maldonado

BY REBECCA RIVERS FOX 34 NEWS LUBBOCK

2013 marked five years since the inception of the Texas 4-H Livestock Ambassador Program.

And just as the name implies, the select few 4-H members that are chosen each year by the Texas A&M Agrilife Extension Service are committing to be advocates for animal agriculture.

Timothy Maldonado is from Crockett County on the Eaward's Plateau and said that it was his interest in livestock animals that first drew him to 4-H.

"Well I had a strong interest in 4-H since I was young," Maldonado said. "I always liked being with animals and learning more about animals." Maldonado certainly will

imal nutrition, selection, and and move it to people who really don't have a strong influence in ag and young children," Maldonado said.

I've learned

Texas 4-H MALDONADO Livestock Ambassadors must commit at least 30 hours of service annually to their communities.

In most cases the service goes back to assisting novice 4-H families with their livestock projects and education.

And that's what makes Timothy Maldonado of Crockett County this week's Fibermax Ag Student of the Week.

Wadsworth named TSCRA ranger

Retired Texas Ranger Kenneth Wadsworth has joined the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association as a special ranger for District 17. He replaces James Bond.

District 17 includes Andrews, Crane, Crockett, Ector, Glasscock, Howard, Loving, Martin, Midland, Reagan, Terrell, Upton, Ward and Winkler counties.

"Kenny has a strong record of effective law enforcement," said Larry Gray, TSCRA executive director of law enforcement and theft prevention. "His contacts throughout the area, and his good working relationships with those in the law enforcement and ranching communities make him a great asset to our organization."

Wadsworth has more than 20 years of law enforcement experience.

He served the Department of Public Safety as a Trooper, Sergeant Investigator, Motor Vehicle Theft and then a Texas Ranger working criminal investigations.

Wadsworth is based in Ozona and can be reached at 325-392-2552.

BUS AWARENESS STARTS NOW

Texas Department of Public Safety is urging drivers to obey state law by not passing any school bus that is stopped and operating a visual signal, either flashing red lights or a stop sign.

Highway Patrol troopers are enhancing their efforts to catch those drivers who break the law as part of National School Bus Safety Week, Oct. 21-25,

"The moment when students are entering or exiting the bus is one of the most dangerous times of a student's trip; and drivers who pass a stopped school bus create a potentially deadly situation," said DPS Director Steven McCraw. "The safety of Texas children is paramount, and DPS will not tolerate those who break the law and put our children at risk."

EARLY VOTING PERIOD BEGINS

Secretary of State John Steen, the state's chief elections officer, announced early voting for the Nov. 5, 2013, Constitutional Amendment election begins Monday, Oct. 21, and runs through Friday, Nov. 1.

Texas voters may vote at any early voting location in the same county as their voter registration.

This will be the first statewide election with photo ID requirement in effect for in-person voting.

"I encourage all Texans to check now to make sure they have the required photo ID if they plan to vote in person," said Steen. To find out where and when to vote, and about photo ID, visit Vote-Texas.gov.

MONEY PROPOSED FOR PROJECTS

An additional $250 million may be available for Texas highways impacted by energy sector traffic, state Sen. Judith Zaffirini, D-Laredo, announced Oct. 15.

The funding would go to 70 maintenance and repair projects statewide, where repairs are necessary because of the high volume of oil and gas industry truck traffic.

Despite the fact that oil and gas development in the Eagle Ford Shale contributed more than $1.24 billion in state revenue in 2012 alone, TxDOT has proposed converting some paved state highways in the shale region to unpaved roads, Zaffirini said.
