1st-quarter turnover jump-starts Lions

BY CARLOS SILVA JR.
 SAN ANGELO STANDARD-TIMES

Ozona's Daniel Lombraña said his team was given one goal when the Lions took the field for a District 3-2A Division I game Friday night against Christoval — force a turnover.

It didn't take long for the Lions to achieve that objective.

The 5-foot-8 linebacker stripped the ball out of Hayden Hargraves' hands — following a quick screen pass — before it bounced into the waiting arms of an Ozona teammate at the Christoval 34-yard line before the game clock reached the 11-minute mark in the first quarter.

Lombraña, who also chipped in 26 yards and one touchdown, sparked the Lions to a 42-22 victory in the Standard-Times Game of the Week at Lion Stadium.

With the victory, Ozona improved to 5-2

Time to make a commitment in your business

Oct. 1 began a new program year for the ASU Small Business Development Center since we operate on a federal term. For us it is a time of recommitment to those we serve, the small business owner.

As a team we will get together and revisit our values of integrity, excellence, service, and innovation to make sure our team is still aligned with these important values, which are the guiding lights for us.

We will recommit to each other as teammates and then recommit to those we serve and make sure we are still aligned with their needs as our customers.

We have a motto at the SBDC that goes like this: "We will mimic what we are asking our small business clients to do."

Since most of us are former business owners and managers, living up to this motto is important. If we suggest to an owner they need to work long and hard to solve a problem in their business, then we also need to work long and hard for them.

If we suggest they need to reach out to resources we and others have provided them, then we also need to reach out to resources to help them.

If we suggest ways for them to work together better as a team, then we also need to work on our team dynamics. If we advise their employees may need more training, then we have to commit to doing the same thing. If we provide technical training and tools to a small business owner and stress they need to meet their sales, profit and cash position goals, then we need to meet our assigned goals (metrics) as well.

In doing these things we are making sure we have integrity (one of our values), and we are earning the right to assist them. We are not asking our clients to do anything we are not also willing to do ourselves.

We are aligned with them in this way. This is very important to us that we recommit to this every year.

My suggestion is to look at your business in the same way and ask the following questions. What commitments are you making to your key customers? Is your team aligned with what your key customers or your key customer segments are wanting from your business?

Get together with your team and revisit these things to make sure you are aligned with your customers or at least your key customer segments.

I know in the heat of the battle of everyday business it is hard to carve out time to do this. I remember those days well and even now we find it sometimes difficult to do. But remember that successful business owners and managers step back and take time to work on their business, as well as work in the business.

Stepping back and working on your teams' alignment with your customers' expectations is a good example of working on your business. I wish you the best in this effort, and hope it is of value to you.

Vote for school bond

Early voting for the Nov. 4 General Election starts this week.

As Crockett County voters go to the polls, we ask that you vote in favor of the $3 million Crockett County Consolidated Common School District Bond.

This bond will fix a lot of areas in school district, including the purchase of new buses, technology for computer and science labs, resurface the track and new tennis courts.

If passed the bond is a step in getting our school district's infrastructure upgraded.

The bond's total of $3 million will also remain here in Crockett County. Bond money is not subject to state recapture.

In case you don't know what that means, each year CCCSD has to send more than half of its budget to the state to be distributed out to poorer school districts, also known as the "Robin Hood" plan.

CCCSD has an estimated budget of $25 million. This year an estimated $15 million will be sent to the state, leaving only $10 million to run the school district.

While $10 million sounds like a lot, it goes fast when you factor in payroll, health insurance, maintenance on existing buildings and housing and other needs.

With this bond, the district will be able to buy new buses and vehicles, which are greatly needed.

Most of the vehicles in the district have more than 100,000 miles. One of the suburbans has 220,000 miles.

In the last year, buses have broken down at least seven times. Some of the times were on trips when students were returning in the middle of the night. It has also been five years since the district has purchased a new bus.

The district's vehicles are becoming unreliable and unsafe. With this bond, the district will be to upgrade the fleet.

Our students and teachers are riding in these vehicles. Trips are frequent in the school district with sports, band and academic trips each year. We need to ensure that our children and teachers have safe transportation.

Also included in the bond

is new tennis courts and resurfacing the track.

If you question these two items, then you obviously have not used them. The tennis courts are in terrible shape. Ozona is not able to hold a tennis tournament because of the poor condition of the courts.

We are also doing a disservice to our tennis team and to our community if these courts are not replaced.

The same can be said for our track. While it is in good condition now, a track needs to be resurfaced every five to seven years.

If the bond passes, the district can budget that bond money for future use on this project. School districts have 10 years to spend bond money.

Both the track and tennis courts are not only used by students, but also by the public as well. There's another reason to vote yes for this bond.

The bond will also help upgrade computers and science labs, purchasing teaching equipment and supplies, upgrade classrooms in the high school and middle school, purchase new equipment and upgrade safety issues in the agriculture shop and woodshop, fix roof leaks, repair teacher housing and air conditioning and heating units.

All of these needs will benefit everyone in the district.

Taxes will be raised minimally, $31.60 a year for a $100,000 home or $2.63 a month. That's chump change compared to value of education this bond will provide for our students.

Also, taxpayers 65 and over will not have their taxes go above the frozen levy amount/ceiling that was established whenever the over 65 exemption was granted.

Without the bond funds, these projects may take years to accomplish.

Leaving the schools as they are will fail to push forward the quality of education in the county.

So, go to the polls and vote your conscience. But consider what we've said here. Voting for the bond is the right thing to do for the future of students in Crockett County.

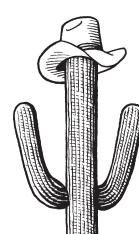

Vote in support of the CCCSD School Bond.

Marryin', Buryin' & Carrion

Realizing they have an untapped resource for making money, many ranch families have extended their operations to include income streams besides livestock. Some have resorted to wrangling dudes, guiding hunters or renting out their ranches for weddings. After all, there is a certain symmetry, whether you're trying to find a buck or you're getting married, both have about the same odds for success. You also have to have a license for both and there is a bag limit, so to speak.

As with a contractor who builds a house, the real money to be made in marrying or hunting is in the "add-ons" you can charge for. For example, if you have to be at the scene of the accident anyway, you might as well get paid to be the one who marries the lucky couple. Granted, it does require some sort of certification but the barrier to entry is quite low. When my sister wanted me to marry her, not in a literal sense, I got my certification from the Rose Ministries of Las Vegas, Nevada, for $35.00. And I got to pick whether I wanted to be known as Pastor Pitts or Reverend Lee. (For a few dollars more I could have received a framed certificate instead of the cheap plastic card I settled for.) After the wedding at the reception you could charge for being the DJ who spins the country western music. (I'm assuming the young couple aren't going to want hip hop or rap music, and I use the word "music" with great reservation.)

What better to serve at the barbecue afterwards than your own branded beef, mountain oysters and jerky. You could also charge for the bouquets and boutonnières made out of leafy spurge, sagebrush or kudzu. If your wife can sew, why not sell the bride and bridesmaid's dresses or rent out footwear like they do at the bowling alley. And what guests wouldn't pay for valet parking, umbrellas and pay toilets, after all, I don't think wedding guests should be expected to use nature's facilities. I think many affluent guests would also pay a pretty penny for upgrading their seating arrangements from a hay bale to a plastic chair.

IT'S THE PITTS

You could sell grass seed in cute little sacks to throw at the couple afterwards instead of rice. This brings in more income and will also reseed a pasture. If the party goes imbibed too much you can provide wagons and carriages with designated drivers to haul them home. Because they got their car dirty on your dirt road, of course you're going to want to offer car washes as they exit your property. And if the father of the bride can't pay for all these add-ons, why not serve as his loan shark or bookie by carrying a note at an exorbitant rate of interest, or by placing his bets? After all, any man who lets his precious daughter marry a cowboy has got to be a BIG gambler.

Granted, there are not so many opportunities for add-ons with hunting. Oh sure, you can charge a consultant fee to advise the hunter when he's about to shoot one of your cows instead of a moose. You can also charge for a sleeping bag, guide services, port-a-potty, field dressing and for carrying out his buck. Speaking of carrying, if you can't get to the buck or elk your guest shot you would quite naturally add on a charge for cleanup services performed by the carrion that patrol your place. Naturally, if your guest killed an animal out of season, or an endangered species, I'm quite sure they'd expect you to charge for burial services too. I can envision a fee for dog rental, tree stand or duck blind rental, ammunition and artillery, cutting and wrapping, bribing the game warden, taxidermy, and tee shirts and caps advertising your ranch.

To really hit the jackpot you could combine marrying and hunting by offering a hunting honeymoon after the ranch wedding. Or a dude honeymoon by charging them for fixing your fence, flanking calves at your branding, or putting up your hay.

Just think my ranching friends, the world is your oyster and all you have to do is not be afraid to charge for them. The oysters, I mean.

High court allows voter ID law for current election

AUSTIN — With early voting in Texas only days away, the U.S. Supreme Court on Oct. 18 let stand a U.S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals order, thereby allowing Texas' 2011 voter identification law to remain in force for the time being.

Civil rights plaintiffs in Veasey et al. v. Perry et al. sought to have portions of the law declared unenforceable on constitutional grounds.

In a Corpus Christi federal courtroom, U.S. District Judge Nelva Gonzales Ramos struck down the law and ordered the state to return to election law practices in place before the Legislature passed the law in 2011.

The law, Ramos wrote, intentionally discriminates against Hispanics and blacks in violation of the Voting Rights Act of 1965 and is tantamount to a "poll tax" because of the cost to acquire any of the various acceptable forms of photo identification that a voter is required to present at the polls, in addition to a voter registration certificate, in order to cast an election ballot. Ramos ordered the state to submit any proposed amendments to the election law to her. The State of Texas appealed and the Fifth Circuit granted the state's petition to let the law stand. The plaintiffs then turned to the Supreme Court for redress, and were rebuffed.

Justice Ruth Bader Ginsburg wrote a dissenting opinion in support of the plaintiffs' assertion of unconstitutional effects of the Texas law. Ginsburg was joined in her dissent by Justices Sonia Sotomayor and Elena Kagan. Majority support of the Texas law, however, came from the other six: Chief Justice John Roberts and Justices Samuel Alito, Stephen Breyer, Anthony Kennedy, Antonin Scalia and Clarence Thomas. But the six produced no written opinion in support of the State of Texas.

ABORTION PROVISIONS ON HOLD

In a 6-3 ruling, the U.S. Supreme Court on Oct. 14 put a hold on two requirements of Texas' 2013 abortion law that reportedly have resulted in the closure of 34 out of the 41 abortion-providing facilities in the state:

1. That abortion facilities meet the same standards as ambulatory surgical centers; and
2. Doctors who perform abortions at clinics in El Paso and McAllen need not have active admitting privileges at a hospital not further than 30 miles from the location at which the abortion is performed or induced.

In taking this action, the high court temporarily suspends a two-week-old ruling by the U.S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals that allowed those portions to stand.

Meanwhile, the constitutionality of the entire 2013 Texas abortion law is under review in the Fifth Circuit.

Missionaries to the homeless

Pedro and Penny Lazaro are missionaries based at the Calvary Baptist Church here in Ozona. When Pedro first came to our country he lived the life of a variant, homeless and helpless on the streets of a large city. Since that time, God has wonderfully lifted him out of that lifestyle. Today, he enjoys a very comfortable life with his wife Penny working as a heavy equipment operator for a local contractor. God has placed a very special calling on the lives of Pedro and Penny. He has placed a burden on the hearts of this couple to go back and serve and minister to the homeless and deprived of our urban areas. They have served in Nevada, Utah, and Oklahoma and now in Texas. Since they came to Ozona they have carried the gospel to the homeless in San Angelo, Dallas, San Antonio and many points in between.

Pedro and Penny felt led to do this in a very special way. They put together "care packages" for those who are needy.

These packages are actually small canvass bags filled with items needed to subsist on the streets. The bags contain non-perishable food items, personal hygiene items, clothing items, blankets, reading glasses and most important a Bible and Bible verses. The bag and its contents have a value of about $50 or more. The bags and items are purchased by the Lazaro's with some help from various church's and friends of the ministry.

When Pedro and Penny give one of the bags to a needy person they also deliver the good news of Jesus Christ and pray with the receiver of the bag to give them an opportunity to ask Jesus into their heart as their Savior. Calvary Baptist Church is proud that Pedro and Penny have chosen to serve through the framework of our fellowship. On Oct. 19, CBC helped Pedro and Penny stuff 50 bags to be delivered by them over the next couple of weeks. Please pray for this courageous couple as they go that they might be safe and successful in their journeys. If you would like to support their efforts, you may send contributions to Pedro and Penny Lazaro at Calvary Baptist Church, at P.O. Box 1004, Ozona, Texas 76943.

DAN SLEDGE is the pastor of Calvary Baptist Church in Ozona, Texas.

MIRROR MIRROR ON THE WALL

A friend told me to look in the mirror when I am shaving and see who I really am. This morning I looked in the mirror and what did I see? I saw a mixture of both sides of my family. I saw some characteristics of my Dad's family and I could also see some of the characteristics of my mother's family. There are many positive or good character traits I inherited from my parents but there is one negative and that was the propensity (the desire to) to disobey or sin. Mankind's disobedience actually started with Adam and Eve in the Garden of Eden, (Genesis 3:9-19) and it has passed on to every generation of every nation (Romans 3:9-12, 23). I can't blame my parents because when I got older I chose of my own free will to disobey. I knew it was wrong and I did it anyway. I am accountable to God for what I have done and no one else, (Romans 14:12). Disobedience affects or changes our relationship to God. After Adam and Eve disobeyed God they knew something was different and they were afraid and hid, (Genesis 3:7&8). As I looked in the mirror I saw a sinner but one thing has changed. I have asked God to forgive my sins, (1 John 1:9) and I have put my faith in Christ Jesus (John 1:12; Romans 3:22-24). There is hope (Romans 4:7&8). See you in Church next Sunday. Brother J

Knox named Presidential Fellow

BY LAUREL SCOTT
ANGELO STATE UNIVERSITY

Duncan Knox, a senior in the Angelo State University Honors Program, has been selected as a 2014-15 Presidential Fellow by the Center for the Study of the Presidency and Congress (CSPC) in Washington, D.C.

DUNCAN KNOX

A history major from Ozona, Knox is one of only 64 Presidential Fellows from universities throughout the U.S. and select foreign nations. He will join the other Fellows to attend the CSPC's Fall Leadership Conference Oct. 23-25 in Washington, D.C., where he will hear keynote speakers and participate in discussions with specialists in U.S. government and international affairs, senior government and military leaders, and industry leaders in business, media and public policy.

Speakers at this year's conference will include Christopher Lu, deputy secretary of the U.S. Department of Labor; Jon Clifton, managing editor of the Gallup World Poll; and Clive Crook, former deputy editor of The Economist.

As a Presidential Fellow, Knox will also be paired with a research mentor for an extensive research project investigating the federal government's approach to issues involving freedom of expression. He will then join the other Fellows for a second leadership conference next spring in Washington, D.C., where they will engage in another round of policy workshops and present their research projects to peers and judging panels.

Knox is the second ASU Honors Program student to be named a CSPC Presidential Fellow, joining Donald "Trey" Moore of Colleyville, who was selected last year. Knox also represented ASU at the 55th U.S. Air Force Academy Assembly in February and completed an internship this summer in the Office of the Curator at the U.S. Supreme Court. Last year, he participated in a Fulbright Summer Institute for Young American Student Leaders at the University of Bristol in England.

Incorporated in 1969, the CSPC is a non-profit, non-partisan policy and education organization located in Washington, D.C. Its Presidential Fellows Program was founded in 1970 as a way to bridge the leadership gap between current and future generations. Since its inception, the program has served more than 1,000 students, many of whom have gone on to compete successfully for major national scholarships. More details are available on the CSPC website at www.the-presidency.org/.

overall and 1-0 in district. Christoval dropped to 2-6 and 1-1.

"I was just doing my job," said Lombrana, who cracked a smile as fans walked up and shook his hand and patted him on the shoulder pads. "It felt great to force a turnover. Right then and there, it was a huge game changer."

Ozona would take advantage of the turnover by scoring on the very next offensive play — a 34-yard run by Ryan Porras who outran most of the Christoval defenders off a pitch to the left side at the 11:42 mark of the first.

Porras, who ran for 95 yards and one touchdown, credited his defense for setting up his offense in prime scoring position.

"All the credit goes to them," said Porras, who had two runs of 20 yards or more in the win. "It really was a huge turn of momentum in the game. We were ready to play after a week off."

While the offense showed its prowess running the ball — amassing 257 yards on the ground — the defense stepped up its game as well.

Christoval, which came into Friday's contest averaging 29 points per game, had its pass game slowed down almost to a halt — at times — due to the Lions keeping defenders in front of them and staying aware of quick screen passes to both hash marks.

"We've been playing really good defense all year, but it's even better when you play great defense once district starts," Lombrana said. "That's the fun time."

The Lions would shut out the Cougars in the first half, while their offense recorded another score — this time on a 15-yard scamper by Lombrana with 21 seconds left in the first quarter — before jumping out to a 29-7 advantage at the break.

"The run game helped a lot, and it opened up our play-action passes," said Ricky Porras, who ran for 59 yards. "We were running the ball well. I have to give the credit to our stop blockers, who gave us (running) lanes."

Christoval was able to get going on offense, especially quarterback Jakob Whitworth.

The junior quarterback threw for 348 yards and three touchdowns, but threw three costly interceptions in the loss.

The Cougars scored 15 points in the fourth quarter, but only after the Lions tacked on 13 points in the final two frames.

Wide receiver Hayden Hargraves caught the two touchdown passes — for 39 and 10 yards — on the way to the 42-22 loss.

After taking a week off from the football grind, Perez said he was proud of the effort from his troops.

"Our kids executed when they needed to," said Perez, whose team increased its win streak to five games. "They watched film, were familiar with their offense and succeeded."

Ozona travels to Forsan this week. Kickoff is 7:30 p.m. Friday.

cars and watch games from the bleachers," Chavarria said. "The response from the commissioners was very positive."

Chavarria said the district is bidding the project out to local companies. Anticipated completion date is Feb. 1.

"Thank you for going the extra mile and working on this. We've had trouble in the past and now good to see a good relationship," said Board President Ray Don Myers.

RESIGNATION AND NEW HIRE

After meeting in closed session for 90 minutes, the board approved the resignation of OHS Librarian Debra Bangeman, effective Dec. 31.

They also approved the hiring of Audrey Holmes for OES starting in January.

FIRST SIX WEEKS

In his report, OHS Principal Ronny Clayton said out of the 210 students enrolled, 20 did not pass the first six weeks, which is a lot lower than in the past.

The report also stated that 13 of those failures were due to only one class.

Athletic Director Edward Perez said out of all the student-athletes in middle school and high school, only one student-athlete in middle school did not pass the first six weeks and only two high school did not pass.

OHS also had 81 students on the A-B Honor Roll.

ATTENDANCE AND ENROLLMENT

In his report, Chavarria said the district has 866 students, compared with 811 at this time last year. CCCCSO has gained 55 students from last year.

OES is the largest campus with 484 students this year, compared to 436 at this time last year.

OES has 172 this year, compared to 160 last year.

OHS has 210 this year, which is five students less than last year.

Attendance is also up at Ozona Schools.

The district's goal is 97.50 percent. OHS and OMS are at 97 percent and OES is at 96.62 percent.

Chavarria said that the district is funded by the state through average daily attendance.

"Right now, we are holding our own," he said.

At OHS, the campus had 70 students with perfect attendance for the first six weeks. The freshmen class had the best attendance, above 98 percent, and was awarded with a meal from Chick-fil-A.

OTHER AGENDA ITEMS:

· Lee Ann Holt with the Menard Coop gave a report about the services the coop provides to Ozona students in special and federal programs.

· The school board agreed to meet with the commissioners and the wellness center board in a joint public meeting about the property the wellness center is seeking an extension.

- 100% of money raised stays in Ozona and does not go to "Robin Hood".
- Our students and community will directly benefit from funds raised.
- Taxes will be raised MINIMALLY, $31.60 a year for a $100,000 or $2.63 a month.
- Crockett County will still have one of the lowest tax rates in Texas if bond passes ($1.09).
- Taxpayers 65 and over will not have their taxes go above the frozen levy amount/ceiling that was established whenever the Over 65 exemption was granted.
- Bond funds can only be used for the projects specified.
- Our students' science and computer labs will receive new equipment.
- Safety issues in the Agriculture and Wood Shops will be addressed.
- Our kids and community will benefit from tennis courts that are not cracked and sloped.
- Future repairs can be budgeted out of the bond money since we have several years to spend the money.
- Three high cost areas in our school budget will be addressed: Maintenance, Technology and Transportation, thus saving CCCCSO thousands of dollars.
- Our Academic, Athletic and Band students will ride in dependable buses, thus minimizing the chances for breaking down and spending time on the side of the road.
- Ozona Elementary, Ozona Middle School and Ozona High School will all benefit from the bond as higher number of students will have access to better equipped learning labs and teaching materials.
- CCCCSO Board of Directors are committed to spending any funds wisely and conservatively.

CON'S

PLEASE VOTE
Tuesday,
Nov. 4!

When a voter arrives at a polling location, the voter will be asked to present one of the seven acceptable forms of photo ID.

Election officials will now be required by State law to determine whether the voter's name on the identification provided matches the name on the official list of registered voters ("OLRV").

After a voter presents their ID, the election worker will compare it to the OLRV. If the name on the ID matches the name on the list of registered voters, the voter will follow the regular procedures for voting.

If the name does not match exactly but is "substantially similar" to the name on the OLRV, the voter will be permitted to vote as long as the voter signs an affidavit stating that the voter is the same person on the list of registered voters.

If a voter does not have proper identification, the voter will still be permitted to vote provisionally. The voter will have six days to present proper identification to the county voter registrar, or the voter's ballot will be rejected.

Voters with a disability may apply with the county voter registrar for a permanent exemption. The application must contain written documentation from either the U.S. Social Security Administration evidencing he or she has been determined to have a disability, or from the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs evidencing a disability rating of at least 50 percent.

In addition, the applicant must state that he or she has no valid form of photo identification. Those who obtain a disability exemption will be allowed to vote by presenting a voter registration certificate reflecting the exemption. For more information, call the Crockett County Tax Office at 392-2674.

Voters who have a consistent religious objection to being photographed and voters who do not have any valid form of photo identification as a result of certain natural disasters as declared by the President of the United States or the Texas Governor, may vote a provisional ballot, appear at the voter registrar's office within six calendar days after election day, and sign an affidavit swearing to the religious objection or natural disaster, in order for your ballot to be counted. For more information, call the Crockett County Tax Office at 392-2674.

Some of the items on the ballot include a heavily watched race between Democratic incumbent Pete Gallego and Republican challenger Will Hurd for the District 23 Congressional seat.

Crockett County will also have a new state representative after this election. Republican Andrew Murr is facing Libertarian Maximilian Martin for the State Rep. District 53 seat.

Locally, none of the county races are contested and only one CCCCS School Board race is contested.

For District 4 voters will have to decide between incumbent Ray Don Myers and Ryan Bean.

The CCCCS School Board also has a proposed $3 million bond. The proposed bond will be used in three areas, transportation, technology and maintenance.

The district will:

- Purchase four buses and two vehicles.
- Update computer labs, purchase new computers and support for all campuses.
- Update science labs and equipment for all campuses.
- Purchase teaching equipment and supplies for student use for all campuses.
- Address safety issues and update agriculture shop and woodshop.
- Update classrooms at

OMS and OHS for technology use.

- Replace older air conditioner units throughout the district.
- Update and repair existing teacher housing.
- Repair roof leaks throughout the district.
- Resurface the track.
- New tennis courts to address cracking issues.

School board elections and the school bond will be on separate ballots from the main general election ballot.

The state also has a proposed constitutional amendment on the general election ballot that will move, if passed, will infuse an estimated $1.7 billion in revenue to the State Highway Fund in 2015 alone, without raising taxes, creating toll roads or adding fees.

The measure authorizes additional Texas transportation funding that can only be used for construction, maintenance, rehabilitation, and acquiring right-of-way for public roads. These funds cannot be used for toll roads.

Those in favor of the amendment think that the need is great and these funds would help with the $5 billion need for transportation. If Prop. 1 passes, an estimated $1.6 billion would go toward the current and future transportation needs.

Furthermore, the Rainy Day Fund will be watched over by a committee to see that it maintains a sufficient balance.

Those opposed to the amendment think that it deprives the Rainy Day Fund of revenues that will be needed to respond to natural and fiscal emergencies. Other opponents think that it is an insufficient remedy, as Rainy Day Funds could be unstable and the funds produced are not enough.

Two people were killed in a vehicle accident near Big Lake last week. Juan Martin Constancio Jr., the 26-year-old driver of a 2009 Pontiac Torrent, and Samantha Raquel Hernandez, 23, both of San Angelo, were pronounced dead at the crash site by Reagan County Justice of the Peace Patty Creech, according to a report from the Texas Department of Public Safety. Neither was wearing a seat belt, according to the re-

TEXAS JOB GROWTH SETS RECORD

A Texas Workforce Commission on Oct. 19 announced the Texas economy added 36,400 seasonally adjusted total non-farm jobs in September and over the last 12 months added 413,700 total non-farm jobs. Also, the seasonally adjusted unemployment rate fell to 5.2 percent in September, down from 5.3 percent in August and down from the 6.3 percent rate recorded in September 2013. Furthermore, the agency noted, the seasonally adjusted civilian labor force population in Texas topped 13 million for the first time in September at 13,005,600 individuals.

GOVERNOR TO APPEAR OCT. 31

Gov. Rick Perry, through his legal defense team last week, said he plans to be present for an Oct. 31 pre-trial hearing in the courtroom of visiting State District Judge Bert Richardson. Perry faces a two-count felony indictment for abuse of office and official coercion, relating to his threat to veto the funding of the state's Public Integrity Unit if the unit's director, Travis County District Attorney Rosemary Lehmborg, did not resign after her arrest for drunken driving in 2013. Lehmborg ignored the threat and Perry vetoed the Public Integrity Unit's $7.5 million budget. This prompted a criminal complaint against the governor that resulted in a Travis County grand jury indictment. Judge Richardson allowed Perry to skip a scheduled pre-trial hearing on Oct. 13 because of a previous engagement: an economic development trip to Europe. Perry's legal team is expected to present motions asking Richardson to quash the indictments at the Oct. 31 hearing.

OCTOBER: 'HOG OUT MONTH'

Texas Department of Agriculture calls October "Hog Out Month" because it comes in the middle of the agency's 2014 Coordinated Hog Out Management Program that runs from Sept. 1 to Nov. 30. It's a county-by-county, statewide, grant-supported effort to cut the feral hog population. Some 2.6 million of these wild swine cause an estimated $500 million in damage in rural and urban Texas each year, the Agriculture Department said.
