Early morning fire destroys house

BY MELISSA PERNER THE OZONA STOCKMAN

An Ozona family has lost their house, but all are safe and sound after an early morning fire.

A trailer house on Secretariat Street caught fire around 6 a.m. Sunday, Jan. 4.

When the fire was first reported, the residents believed a 17-year-old boy was inside, said Fire Marshal Steve Kenley.

Lety Lozano Sanchez, the resident of the house, and neighbors broke out windows in attempt to reach Sanchez's son they thought was inside, Kenley said. Fortunately, Sanchez's son, Erbey Blanco, was not inside during the time of the fire. No injuries were reported.

Sanchez told Kenley that a gas stove had been left on in the house that was used to heat the residence.

When Sanchez tried to enter the front door to look for her son, the fire was on her left in the kitchen, Kenley said.

"Even though the trailer was gutted, the general patterns agree with a fire starting in the kitchen area. The gas stove would be the most likely source for ignition," Kenley said.

Kenley also said there was no insurance on the structure.

Donations are being accepted for Sanchez and her family. Clothes and other goods can be dropped off at KYXX FM Radio Station with Eligio Martinez, across from Mi Taco.

Sanchez said Erbey's sizes are 12 shoes; 36 pants and x-large shirts. Her daughter Jessica wears size 3 shoes, 10 pants and

VOL. 102, NO. 51 $1 New laws take effect in 2015

A handful of new state laws went into effect on Jan. 1.

Here's a look at the measures taking effect, according to the Texas Legislature Online.

• House Bill 62 bars a Texas judge from having a significant interest in a business that might own, operate or manage a private correctional or rehabilitation facility a measure meant to prevent conflicts of interest.

• House Bill 500 amends the Tax Code to expand the definition of "retail trade," for purposes of the franchise tax, to include automotive repair shop services; rental-purchase agreements; and the renting or leasing of tools, party and event supplies, furniture, and heavy construction equipment.

• House Bill 3153, among other things, creates some new state district courts and switches some courts from one county to another. The only parts of the law that take effect Jan. 1 are the creation of the 442nd Ju-

10 shirts.

A bank account under the name "Lety L. Quiroz" has been set up at Ozona National Bank for monetary donations.

"I thank everyone for their prayers and help. I really appreciate it," she said.

Ozona Firefighters responded with 16 firefighters and seven units. The Crockett County CERT group, three deputies from the Crockett County Sheriff's Office and Crockett County EMS also responded.

Several individuals also donated bottles of water and food.

An icy new year's

BY MELISSA PERNER THE OZONA STOCKMAN

It was an icy end to 2014 and icy start to 2015.

Instead of celebrations, many in Crockett County were busy helping people involved in vehicle accidents, setting up beds for stranded travelers or working on their holiday to improve roads.

A winter weather system moved into the region early Dec. 30 bringing ice and freezing temperatures. By New Year's Eve morning vehicles were reduced to crawling or stand still.

Two hours before 2015 began; the Ozona Volunteer Fire Department had estimated 22-23 vehicle accidents and

Making a year end business checklist

As one year ends and a new one begins, it is a time to visit with some key people that influence your business decisions. Someone has said that success is a journey and not a destination, and I believe that to be true. Every day that you are able to open your doors is a success.

To help insure success, it is important to visit certain individuals on a routine basis.

The first person I would suggest you visit at year-end or at the start of the New Year is the New Year. One of the major topics for discussion should be the impact of the Affordable Care Act (ACA) on your business not just for 2015 but for 2016 also. There are several points in the ACA that may be of concern to you, and your tax accountant can assist you with them.

Another person to visit is your business attorney. He or she can review with you any concerns that may be left over from the outgoing year and anything new on the upcoming year. This may involve changes in your legal structure, updating operating agreements, reviewing contracts and employment forms. Depending on your industry, there may be something in the upcoming legislative year that could affect how you do business. Your attorney can help you sort through that.

Don't forget to go by and visit your banker! It is always good to keep the banker apprised of what is going on with your business and in your industry. Even if you don't currently have a business loan, it is good to discuss business with them. They can learn from you about your business and industry, and you can learn from them about the state of lending for them.

Finally, don't forget to check in with your Small Business Development Center advisor! They may have new ideas for marketing or growing your business. There may be new training available that could help you improve some of your processes. It is probably a good time to review your business plan, and they can assist you with that. Making these annual visits is similar to the individual going to the doctor (or doctors) for annual checkups! We do those to make sure all is well and there isn't something new we need to deal with in our health. Our business needs health checkups also! So schedule yours now to insure a profitable New Year!

New officeholders, and a possible power shift t sounds a little crazy, but the governor is not usually the real power player in state government in Texas. Or wasn't, before Rick Perry. The lieutenant governor usually gets that "most nor usually gets that "mos powerful" tag. Texas is a weak-governor state, without a cabinet that gives the governor control over the executive branch. In fact, most of the people who would be in a cabinet are elected on their own. The governor and lieutenant governor do not run as a single ticket. Several of the big statewide offices — the attorney general, the comptroller and the land, agriculture and railroad commissioners — are filled by the voters and not the state's chief executive.

Other big executive agencies are run by boards and commissions appointed by the governor, but it takes six years to run through a full cycle of appointments, and a governor's term is only four years.

This setup is designed to drain the power of the occu-

> but that is a rare event), but Perry got the chance to replace every one of them at least once.

That increased his influence over the executive branch, as did the appointees' steady hiring of people beholden to the governor who appointed them. It will be years before that dye comes out of the fabric of state government. It helped Perry that the Senate was on board. The governor's appointees have to be approved there, and Our health care system really has gone to the dogs. The latest on ObamaCare is that hospitals and insurance companies are looking to cut costs by using dogs to diagnose patients and detect diseases. I am not kidding!

We already use dogs to sniff for bombs, drugs, missing persons and incoming suitcases for foreign bugs so why not use dogs to sniff out diseases too?

I'm all for handing off medicine to a bunch of mutts, after all, they can't be any worse than the surgeon who gave a patient two parallel scars because he had the x-ray upside down. And dogs will no doubt be cheaper, are far more personable and have better bedside manner than most doctors I've known.

Ever since 1989 we have known that dogs have a nose for detecting diseases in the human body. In 2003 all five dogs in a study were able to detect cancer with a 98% accuracy rate, which is a lot better than my doctor ever did. The reason dogs are able to do this is because they have between 125 and 300 million scent glands in their nose compared to humans with a paltry five million. They can smell 10,000 times better than your average human. To put it another way, if you put one drop of blood into a body of water the size of 20 olympic swimming pools the dog could smell the blood in the water. And if young children were swimming in the pool the dogs can also detect that many of the kids should have used the restroom before diving in. In double blind tests dogs have proven beyond a shadow of a doubt a shadow of a doubt that they can detect the smell of cancer in a human body, and in many cases the cancer was in Stage 0, even before the tumors had begun forming. It makes you wonder, what's next, CAT scans using real cats?

This is all possible because everything we do produces chemical changes in the body and these changes produce unique smells. Think chili beans, for instance. But I'm not referring to those smells, I'm talking about the smells produced by diseases.

Cancer definitely has its own unique smell and highly trained dogs, just by smelling a person's breath, have detected lung, breast, bladder and even one of the worst, ovarian cancer. Dogs have also been trained to let diabetics know when their blood sugar gets too low. I'm sure all diabetics would agree, having a dog bark at you is much better than continually jabbing a sharp needle into your finger tips. There is also some scientific thought that dogs can smell when a person is getting ready to have a heart attack! Who says dogs aren't man's (and woman's) best friend? Researchers say that they can train dogs to do all these wonderful things if there is something in it for the dog: a treat, in other words. Which means they are just like doctors, only in dog's case, we're talking about a Milk Bone instead of a Ferrari. If the dogs detect the presence of a disease they are taught to make some sort of signal such as sitting down, wagging their tail or barking.

The problem is that we don't know when they are signaling us, or if they are just tired, happy, or like to bark. After all, we don't want someone going through radiation or prostate surgery just because a German Shorthair dog "pointed" at their tailpipe.

All this does raise a few questions. In the future will a nurse practitioner introduce you to Dr. Shih , or Dr. X Ray, and will the dog then sniff you from head to tail? Will Dr. Dog smell your breath and diagnose you with gum disease or vegetarianism instead of lung cancer? Would Dr. Dog's diagnosis be thrown off if you ate an entire onion or clove of garlic before blowing in the the dog's face? And if one dog suspects something does he then refer you to a pack of specialists at the Ham and Mayo Clinic? The big problem is not enough dogs can be trained for every doctor's office in America. What will probably happen is you'll give ca. What will probably happen is you'll give a urine or breath sample and it will be sent off to a Lab. And I do mean Lab.

pant of the Governor's Mansion, which in turn empowers the leaders of the Legislature.

The people who deal with state government used to take this as one of the laws of their peculiar universe, embodied by lieutenant governors like Bill Hobby and Bob Bullock and, for a couple of years, Perry and Bill Ratliff.

It has eroded considerably, mainly because Perry has now been governor for so long, and because he understood better than most how to consolidate the ordinarily anemic powers given to him.

Perry has vetoed 301 bills. Aside from pushing that legislative work into the trash bin, his vetoes had the effect of letting everyone know that he was willing to kill things he did not like. His first session as governor was, in this sense, the bloodiest: He ended that one with 83 vetoes. Lawmakers squawked, but they responded. For Perry, a power that once flared momentarily at the end of each legislative session now colors the whole process, as lawmakers check in with the governor to make sure he does not threaten their darlings.

Perry has been through more than two cycles of appointments. His 14-year tenure was probably beyond the imaginations of the authors of the state Constitution. The odds were most of Perry's have been.

Lt. Gov. David Dewhurst has

With a whole new slate of state officials in 2015, however, the system is being reset. Maybe nothing will change. Perhaps the stronger chief executive has become a habit. Legislative efforts to create a cabinet government over the past few decades have always fallen short; giving power away does not come naturally to elected officials.

Gov.-elect Greg Abbott has some advantages over his predecessor, but legislative experience is not one of them. Perry knows, from his time in the House and as lieutenant governor, how lawmakers think and what he could get away with as governor.

At the beginning of February, the six-year cycle of expiring appointees' terms will begin, and Abbott will begin the slow process of taking over the executive branch.

The Senate will get a new leader, too, and Lt. Gov.elect Dan Patrick seems to be a much more political animal than Dewhurst.

Perry slowly leached away the potency of the most powerful office in Texas government. With him moving on, Patrick might leach it back.

New mix of lawmakers, officials heading for Austin

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS By Ed Sterling Texas Press Association

AUSTIN — When the 84th Texas Legislature convenes on Jan. 13 and oaths of office are administered, the political party split will be 21 Republicans to 10 Democrats in the 31-member Senate, and 98 Republicans to 52 Democrats in the 150-member House.

The composition and leadership of committees, the flow of legislation through those committees and control of floor debate will be according to the wishes of new Lt. Gov. Dan Patrick of Houston and House Speaker Joe Straus of San Antonio. Straus is subject to reelection by his peers. He is expected to retain the rostrum and gavel for a fourth consecutive term, even if challenged by a subgroup within the Republican party.

Fort Worth attorney George P. Bush was sworn in as Texas land commissioner on Jan. 2. He succeeds Jerry Patterson at the post. Son of former Florida governor and possible 2016 presidential candidate Jeb Bush, nephew of former president and Texas governor George W. Bush and grandson of former president George H.W. Bush, George P. Bush is 38 years old and enters an elected office for the first time.

Texans' attention now refocuses on Austin as new leadership in state government takes shape in the coming days and weeks. To review, general election voters in November picked a broad slate of Republicans to replace Republicans, ostensibly to keep the philosophy about the same at the Capitol. At the top, 12-year attorney general Greg Abbott of Houston succeeds 14-year governor Rick Perry as the state's chief executive. Abbott's successor as attorney general will be former state Sen. Ken Paxton of McKinney.

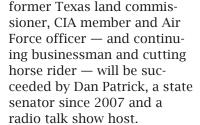

After 11 years as lieutenant governor, David Dewhurst, a one fire in the last 24 hours in Crockett County. A total of 47 accidents and one fire were reported from Dec. 31-Jan. 3.

The one fire was a compressor fire north of Ozona at State Highway 163 and U.S. Highway 190. One person was taken by ambulance to San Angelo to be treated for burns. The icy weather temporarily closed parts of I-10 in both Crockett and Kimble counties on Dec. 31, said Leon Choate, communications operator for the Department of Public Safety in San Angelo. Witness reports from Kimble County, west of Kerrville and east of Junction, indicated that some motorists turned around to head back to San Antonio and others resorted to leaving their vehicles to walk to a service station after traffic backed up for miles. In Crockett, I-10 eastbound was closed at the 340 mile marker and at the 350 mile marker on the westbound side, due to "congestion and multiple crashes due to ice" on Dec. 31. Tractor trailer trucks are "just everywhere," Choate said, adding sand trucks were en route to try to move some of the disabled big rigs off the road.

I-10 in both directions was closed at mile marker 459 in Kimble, Choate said, because of two crashes and congestion. No fatalities were reported in any of the accidents in Crockett County.

At 11 a.m. on Dec. 31, the San Angelo TxDOT district reported there were 209 icy conditions showing in the 15 county district.

JOE HERNANDEZ | THE OZONA STOCKMAN TRETO'S TOWING (abve) grabs two vehicles at once on Dec. 31 on Interstate-10. RIGHT: An Ozona Fire Truck makes its way through the icy roads headed to another emergency. The icy weather resulted in 47 vehicle accidents, including multiple crashes that closed part of the interstate. No fatalities or major injuries were reported.

State Highway 163 south was also closed for most of Dec. 31 and Jan. 1 due to icy roads.

DPS Trooper Shawn Baxter said 15 mph was probably the maximum safe speed for driving in the prevailing conditions, but a number of crashes on Dec. 30 and Dec. 31 involved vehicles driven at 50 mph or more.

"The drivers were complaining about being ticketed for driving at unsafe speed, but regardless of the posted speed limit, unsafe is unsafe," he said.

New Year's Day also brought more accidents as more freezing rain fell and ice refroze overnight.

Around 2:17 p.m. Jan. 1, the Reagan County Sheriff's Office sent out a request the people do not try to leave Big Lake or come to Big Lake from any direction due to icy road conditions.

TxDOT crews worked 12-hours shifts through the holiday trying to sand bridges and roadways.

Crockett County Road Crews Department also worked New Year's Day sanding roads in Ozona.

"These people work extremely hard and never complain. We as a community are extremely blessed be these hard working people. I am so proud of this group of employees," said Road Department Supervisor Jeffrey Stuart.

STRANDED TRAVELERS

Along with sanding roads, road department employees and the county's Certified Emergency Response Team turned the civic center into a place for stranded travels.

Commissioner Frank Tambunga said around 94 people started 2015 inside the civic and 65 more the next night.

Local businesses and individuals brought food and supplies for the travelers. Some local citizens even opened up their homes to those who needed a place to stay.

"I want to thank everyone that assisted in some way. When such events take place Ozona comes together. All travelers expressed their gratitude for the assistance and friendly hospitality. So many helped out and I am thankful for their help," Tambunga said.

ANIMAL CONTROL RESCUE

Ozona Animal Control was also on duty rescuing two puppies that got lost coming to Ozona from Big Lake in a vehicle accident on Jan. 1.

They were found 13 miles out of town safe and sound, and the owner, Maggie Garcia of Del Rio, was contacted.

GAS SHORTAGE

With Fort Stockton running out fuel, and the icy weather clearing up, vehicles formed massive and long lines at Ozona gas pumps during the weekend.

FROM THE PULPIT God's Hunting Trips

Seeing all the deer hunting photos in the newspaper lately got me in the mood to go myself.

So this past week my son and I went hunting, or maybe a better description of what we did would be "harvesting," because it did not require a lot of hunting.

While we were sitting in the blind waiting for the deer to come to us I had some time to think. What came to my mind is how much it cost some deer hunters to go out and bag a deer.

Even if they already have a rifle, the cost of ammunition just keeps going up, and then there is the cost of camouflage (I suppose this is required so the other hunters will not see you, because we have always worn fluorescent orange and denim and have never really had a problem with the deer noticing our hunting fashion faux pas).

Of course if you are not blessed to have family or friends that have property to hunt on you have to have a hunting lease and this can be quiet expensive, especially when you add in the cost of a diesel crew cab 4x4, "jacked" to the stars with tires big enough to be used on an earth mover of the grandest magnitude.

Then you have to add in all the incidentals like food and stuff and the total can possibly exceed your annual phy and drag home all those antlers and that PASTOR JOHN CURRY whopping

20 pounds of meat that will honor your freezer with its presence until it becomes unrecognizably freezer burned...all in all it is a real "bargain."

All of this deep thinking lasted about 5 minutes and since the deer had not yet graced us with their presence I thought some more.

What would it look like if God went hunting?

much imagination, because immediately two examples of God hunting came to mind: God's first recorded hunting trip is found in Genesis chapter 3 when God comes hunting Adam and Eve who were hiding after they disobeyed and ate of the fruit from "... the tree of the knowledge of good and evil."

Of course God did not come hunting them to kill them as many seem to think, but rather He came hunting them because He loved them.

This incident, known as "the fall of man", directly led to another of God's hunting trips, which is definitely the most important and costliest hunting trip in all of eternity.

This trip is recorded in the New Testament in Matthew, Mark, Luke, and John. Each of what are known as the "Four Gospels," narrate the true hunting story with their own unique perspective.

What they all have in common is the heart of the story..."For God so loved the world, that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life." (John 3:16)

This means that God loved us disobedient people so much that He sent His Son to die on the cross for our sins and He has been "hunting" us ever since.

It is important to know that God is not looking to kill us, but rather to give us life.

He is looking for trophies to populate His kingdom and every time He finds one of His disobedient children and they believe in Him and receive His grace and mercy through Jesus Christ, the angels in heaven throw a party and the local "Heaven's Gazette" most likely carries the news on the front page with full color pictures.

If you haven't been "harvested" by Jesus yet, make it easy and just surrender to Him today.

BY JUSTIN M. DELOACH WEST TEXAS REHAB

Crockett County and surrounding community residents have an opportunity between now and midnight on Jan. 17 to help West Texas Rehabilitation Center by making a gift to Rehab 2015, the Center's 45th annual Telethon.

Volunteers from the Ozona Women's League are spearheading local solicitation efforts in Ozona and are conducting an advanced mail campaign as well as working the phones asking businesses and individuals to make donations to the Rehab Center.

"We hope our families and friends will ring the phones during the Telethon," said Colbey Bunger, "because Rehab makes a difference in the lives of many area residents and this is a way we can all do our part."

Contributions may be given by returning gifts to your local Phone Coordinator, dropping them by the Rehab Center or by calling the Rehab Center at (325) 223-6414.

The telethon will be carried by 10 state-wide television stations, including KLST in San Angelo and KTAB in Abilene. The show also will be streaming live at www. WestTexasRehab.org.

Popular country star Neal McCoy will be joined on stage at the Abilene Civic Center by host Charlie Chase of the Nashville network as well as Texas legend Red Steagall and the Boys in the Bunkhouse, Bill and Susan Hayes, Brad Maule and Twyla Foreman

West Texas Rehab's

annual Telethon Jan. 17

Suddenlink Communications is the official sponsor of the five-hour telecast and Edward Jones/Gary and Connie Decker is on board as the new toteboard sponsor.

NTS Communications provides support for the auction of merchandise and services and Hilton Garden Inn is the host hotel.

In addition to entertainment, the live production showcases the services of the Rehab Center which annually provides care daily to more than 500 children and adults with disabilities and communication disorders at facilities in Abilene, San Angelo and Ozona.

Also, Rehab 2015's auction will include approximately 350 items donated by businesses and individuals ranging from agricultural products and home improvement items to collectibles and sports/travel packages.

Interested persons may bid online at www.WestTexasRehab.org beginning right after Christmas or by phone on Jan. 17.

"The telethon is a critical fund-raiser for the Rehab Center because we count on it to launch the New Year in a good position to meet the needs of those we'll serve in the next 12 months," said WTRC President Woody Gilliland. "That's why we're so grateful to local volunteers staffing phone banks ... why every advance gift and every pledge called in during the show are so deeply appreciated."

BY BRENDA NEWTON

This did not require

The old one had long since worn out but a good friend said he could make me a new one. I picked it up just before Christmas and boy was it pretty! It was even better than I had imagined. When I went to pay for it He said, "Merry Christmas, it's a gift to you." I was so proud of the belt that I wore it to town. In town someone saw my new belt and made fun of it. I felt so bad because I was so proud of my new gift. That incident made me realize something about Christianity. People who do not know Christ Jesus as their personal Lord and savior may not realize how important or how much we love Him. They may make fun of Christians and mock them, (1 Corinthians 1:18&21). They may even may talk bad about or use Jesus' name in bad ways. I love my new belt and very much appreciate the one who made it for me. I also enjoy my salvation, (forgiveness of my sins) and my new relationship (II Corinthians 5:17) to God, which Christ Jesus gave me when He died on the cross. I am not ashamed to wear my new belt just as I will hold my head high (Romans 1:16) even if they mock my Jesus and remove His name from our land, (Luke 9:26: Galatians 6:7). See vou in Church next Sunday. Brother J

SENIOR CENTER DIRECTOR

Wow! What a whirlwind it has been the last two weeks. Can you believe Christmas and 2014 is in the past? It will take me a few months to get the date right. It always does. I'm not too good with change. I hope you all had a great New Years.

The weather was a little crazy. I am so sorry for all the ones that had accidents on the ice. Thanks to the first responders and the road department we made it through. What would we do without the people that take care of us when we can't take care of ourselves? Thanks to all of them.

It will start to be back to normal (whatever that is) this week. We will have Bingo on Monday, Jan. 12. We will serve and cookies for dessert. Hope to see you all there.

Check below to see if you might like to join us at the usual activities that go on here at the center. Sure would like to see you here.

Remember that you can come to the center at night if you let me know when you want to.

Exercise - 9 a.m. Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

Bridge - 1:30 p.m. Mondays

Balance exercise - 9 a.m. Tuesday and Thursday

Mexican Train - 1:30 p.m. Wednesday

ANIMAL CONTROL REPORT

PUBLIC NOTICE Crockett County Animal Control will now enforce the animal restraint law at the cemetery. Historically people have gone to the cemetery to let their dogs run, but after many complaints of damage and dogs using the restroom on graves, the Commissioners and Animal Control have decided on the rule change. Joggers are still welcome to bring their pets as long as they are leashed. Signs have been put up at the cemetery. - Ozona Animal Control be part of the comptroller's office purchasing program.

Commissioners hold short special meeting

They also discussed change order for the county road barn. No action was taken due to the engineer needing to do more work.

The next regular commissioners' court meeting will be 9 a.m. Monday, Jan. 12, at the courthouse annex. The meeting is open to the public.

districts and charters certified compliance with a state law requiring fingerprinting and criminal background checks.

Under a law passed in 2007, employees — certified, non-certified and substitute teachers — must be fingerprinted before their first day of employment.

In October, Texas Education Agency notified school superintendents asking them to certify that their district or charter school has complied with the state fingerprinting law and warned that failure to certify "may be subject to an investigation of the superintendent or chief operating officer who has violated state law by failing to complete the certification."

Texas Game Wardens, a division of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department with more than 500 employees, on Dec. 23 announced the acquisition of a new Airbus AS350 B3e helicopter.

The aircraft, according to the announcement, is outfitted with the latest law enforcement technology and emergency response equipment including a rescue hoist, thermal imager, searchlight, public address system, satellite communication and night vision. Some $5 million in funding for the helicopter came through an appropriation made during the 83rd Texas Legislative session in 2013.

Cities restrict cell phone use

AUSTIN - While there's no statewide law prohibiting hand-held cell phone use while driving, you might find yourself with a big fine if you do it now in two big Texas cities.

New ordinances went into effect in both San Antonio and Austin yesterday. Austin's law prohibits the use of all electronic handheld devices while driving and riding a bicycle. And in San Antonio, you're not allowed to drive while using a mobile device to talk or text.

The fine if you're caught in Austin is up to $500. In San Antonio, you could be looking at a $200 fine.

There are still statewide laws drivers must adhere to when it comes to cell phone use:

· Drivers with learners permits are prohibited from using handheld cell phones in the first six months of driving.

• Drivers under the age of 18 are prohibited from using wireless communications devices.

School bus operators are prohibited from using cell phones while driving if children are present.

 In school crossing zones, all drivers are prohibited from using handheld devices.
