BABSON DISCUSSES—SMALL CITIES

New York City, June 2 — I am writing this from Room 15T on the fifteenth floor of the Waldorf Astoria overlooking New York City. I have supplemented my fears by talks with leading authorities. I am told that what I see from this window will someday be destroyed; but it is very hard for me to accept.

I LIKE ALL CITIES
I like small cities. This is nothing against large cities. Both have their usefulness. In fact, large cities usually have some great national advantage, such as nearness to waterpower, like Buffalo or Minneapolis, or located at the junction of two rivers, like St. Louis, or at the outlet of a river, like New Orleans; or having a wonderful harbor, like New York. Nothing can prevent such fortunately located cities from always being great, even if vulnerable. But today I want to tell you why I like small cities.

The H-Bomb and guided missiles will postpone World War III; but Scriptures teach that there will be at least one more war someday; and it will be the worst one of all. Just now, much is appearing in newspapers and magazines regarding the prospects for peace. Civil Defense has never taken hold; and it is very difficult to interest people in it at present. It seems to me that England, France, and Russia are lulling us to sleep with their "Big Four Conference".

WHAT ABOUT URANIUM?
Now speculators are crazy about uranium as an agent which will be switched to peace uses and thus protect the United States from the H-Bomb. Without doubt uranium has many possibilities; but these discussions will soon be forgotten as the American people have very short memories. However, the world supply of uranium is very large and is well scattered throughout the leading nations and their possessions.

Certainly, most nations will be making H-Bombs which can be used for "blackmailing" purposes and for attempting to get what they want without World War III. All the above will result in further inflation and continued high taxes. Someday one of these "blackmailing" threats may be "called" and some large cities will be bombed. Then several million innocent citizens in these cities could be killed.

SMALL CITIES TO GROW RAPIDLY

All the above could result in a continued movement of families and industries out of the large cities into smaller communities. These small cities—when located not too near a big city—should have a great future. Many young people will prefer to live in one of these smaller communities, both from a safety standpoint and also to profit by their growth.

Decentralization of industries is also under way. Few manufacturing plants in the big cities are enlarging within those cities; they are building supplemental plants in smaller places. This factor of decentralization will greatly benefit small communities. The big cities are getting more vulnerable to war dangers, labor troubles, and high costs. Corporations are finding it easier to raise money for capital expenditures in the small cities, rather than the large cities. In the end, bankers and investors determine locations.

REAL ESTATE VALUES
I forecast that the prices of the stocks of companies with all their assets in big, vulnerable cities may decline; while those with their assets in small, safe cities may not. My belief is that downtown real estate values in some of the large cities may be at their peak, but that in the smaller cities such real estate is still a purchase. In addition to the factors above, let me remind readers of the curse of the automobile and the downtown parking problem in large cities. Good roads, however, are helping the small cities, which should profit by President Eisenhower's proposal for expending $101 billion for good roads.

Workers in the smaller cities have a big character, are intelligent, and may give more thought to the ultimate consumer. Owing to the lower cost of living in the smaller cities, there are fewer labor troubles where management is reasonable. Labor has less turnover in these smaller cities. To avoid the handicaps mentioned above, the larger cities should be solidly behind the new federal "urban redevelopment program".

Today's Meditation

REJOICING IN THE FAITH
Read II Timothy 1:8-13.

I know whom I have believed, and am persuaded that he is able to keep that which I have committed unto him against that day. (II Timothy 1:12.)

God is no respecter of persons. His promises are to all people, regardless of color, race or creed. We have seen those whose bodies are racked with pain—those who appear to have been robbed of this world's goods and pleasures. Many of them we have discovered to be steadfast in their faith in God and happy in the knowledge that Christ grants them sufficient grace to bear their sufferings.

I remember sitting by the bedside of an aged woman nearing the end of her life's journey. Her poorly furnished bedroom and her worn hands and broken

SAND HILLS PHILOSOPHER ADMITS—Prosperity May Be At Peak, But In His Case It's Just Not Enough

Editor's note: The Sand Hills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm discusses prosperity this week, a matter he has only a theoretical knowledge of.

Dear editor:

I know the country is supposed to be booming, making more cars than ever before in history, big manufacturers showing more profit, more workers taking home more pay. Internal Revenue department getting more taxes than ever before, but I was beginning to think I was alone in finding out despite all the prosperity I hear about I never seem to have quite enough money to make ends meet.

However, I am pleased to know I have company. The Federal Government and most of the State Legislatures are in the same boat.

body gave evidence of a life spent in toil and suffering. In talking to her about her soul, I remarked, "The greatest thing in life is being prepared to die." She smiled looked upward thru blinded eyes, and answered: "I stay that way".

It is a blessed consolation to know that through faith we can inherit eternal life if we believe on the Lord and keep His commandments.

PRAYER
O Lord, we thank Thee for the assurance of eternal life through Thy Son, Jesus Christ. Help us to live in the faith that at the end of this life a "crown or righteousness" is laid up for everyone who loves Thee. In Jesus' name. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY
"Though he slay me, yet will I trust in him."
F. Clyde Bedsaul (Va.)

"General fund revenues the past year have been lower than anticipated", a news article I read in a paper last night reported, adding that the situation was causing the government to wonder how it was gonna stay out of the red.

I know exactly how it is. That's exactly my situation out here. Most of my prosperity doesn't last over a day or so. The minute I get the feeling I have the thing licked, that everything is under control, a new expense crops up, and the old familiar nip and tuck situation stares me in the face again.

I tell you, spending anticipated revenue is one of the most hazardous undertakings ever attempted. If a man could anticipate his expense like he can his revenue, there might be some chance of getting even, but something always goes wrong, on my farm or in Congress. I can sit down now and figure up just how much my farm ought to make this year, how much the expenses ought to be, how much I ought to have left over, but when the crops are all in and the expenses all faced, my financial situation is as confused as Washington is over how big the Russian air force is.

I know the country must be at the highest peak of prosperity it ever experienced, I keep reading it in the papers, but I'm here to tell you it ain't enough. Everybody is making more money than he used to, but the number of people who can't quite make ends meet seem to be about the same.

If my subscription is due, will you please hold up the bill a little while, three more expenses I wasn't counting on just turned up. In the midst of the country's biggest prosperity, me and the government can't seem to stay ahead.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICES

The fact that God is the only creative power will be brought out at Christian Science services this Sunday. The Golden Text for the Lesson-Sermon entitled, "God the Only Cause and Creator", is from Acts (4:24): "Lord, thou art God, which hast made heaven, and earth, and the sea, and all that in them is".

Among the correlative passages to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy is the following (502:28): "The universe reflects God. There is but one creator and one creation. This creation consists of the unfolding of spiritual ideas and their identities, which are embraced in the infinite Mind and forever reflected. These ideas range from the infinitesimal to infinity, and the highest ideas are the sons and daughters of God".

From the Bible will be read (Jeremiah 51:15): "He hath made the earth by his power, he hath established the world by his wisdom, and hath stretched out the heavens by his understanding".

RAIN STOPS CUBS-CARDS

Rain in the fourth inning put a stop to the first meeting of the American Legion Cubs and the Rotary Cardinals. The game had just taken a 3-0 turn favoring the Cards, but it was still anybody's ball game with the two undefeated clubs fighting it out for the top spot in Little League competition. Things should really begin to happen when the teams meet again to replay the contest.

Yes, indeed... biscuits go like hot cakes when you pour on plenty of delicious Karo waffle syrup. There's nothing like it for good eating. Satisfyin' flavor. So rich it stands right up on top of biscuits (keeps 'em light and fluffy). Keep Karo on your table morning, noon and night... it tops anything!

FROM THE AGRICULTURAL DEVELOPMENT DEPARTMENT SOUTHWESTERN PUBLIC SERVICE COMPANY

How to get safe, dependable, trouble-free electrical protection is being explained by John Dwyer, Vocational Agriculture teacher, to Donald Mansel. The various fuses may look alike but each one is designed to protect either an electrical circuit or an electric motor of given capacity.

Farm power tools such as electric saws, drills, grinders, and sanding machines, both portable and stationary, are coming equipped these days with a grounding plug. The plug has three prongs, and, at first glance, one would think that he had received a three-wire, 220 volt plug. Actually, this is not the case. The plug is simply an ordinary 110-volt plug, but with this difference: the third prong is for a grounding connection. Some power plugs instead of having a third prong, will have a green wire protruding.

With this third connection, the operator of the power tool is completely safe in the event of insulation becoming worn or broken and the bare wire touching the frame of the motor. Current which might ordinarily energize the equipment will, instead, travel along the safety "ground" and be dispelled without harm. This will be so even if the ground or floor on which the operator is standing should be wet. If your present farm power tools do not have the third wire for grounding, call in your electrician and have him run a grounding wire for you so that tools may be plugged in

This terminal, usually a green covered wire that protrudes from the plug, is another type of ground used on some electric equipment. This ground should be connected to a water pipe or the conduit of the wiring system, if it is properly grounded.

Below is plug and outlet available for installing a grounding wire on your existing 115 volt single phase electric powered tools. The third terminal carries the electricity to ground, if the equipment should become energized due to worn insulation on wires.

John Dwyer, Vocational Agriculture Instructor, Groom, Texas, observes as students of Vocational Agriculture operate properly protected electric power tools. The wiring system is planned and adequate to supply the motors with sufficient electricity. All of the equipment has grounding protection. From the left: John Dwyer, James Angel, Ronald Homer, and Donald Mansel.

using the new three-prong plugs. (See accompanying photos).

While your electrician is installing your grounding system, ask him to check overload protection for your motors. Electric motors, while relatively inexpensive, do cost money and they should also have their share of protection from overloading.

A good example of a farm workshop which provides both operator and motor protection is the Farm Shop of the Vocational Agriculture Department, Groom High School, Groom, Texas. Under the guidance of John Dwyer, the instructor, this shop has been adequately wired, the electrical powered tools have the proper overload protection, and proper grounding convenience outlets are used. All wiring is in metal conduit.

These and other safe practices mean that this shop is a safe place for the students of Vocational Agriculture to work and learn how to use the tools that make farming more profitable. Your farm shop can be just as safe.

PINK BOLLWORM CONTROLS DELAYED

Two extremely opposite weather conditions have posed a threat to the cotton pink bollworm control program in Texas. Unusual weather is nothing new here — it is practically normal for Texas as a matter of fact — but it can seriously damage the State Department of Agriculture's efforts to keep insect populations to a minimum.

Sixty-four cotton growing counties in the South and Central portions of Texas have planting and plow-up deadlines enforced on cotton crops. This is designed to cut the breeding period of the pink bollworm. In order to be effective, cotton must be planted before a certain date and then the stalks destroyed as soon as practical after harvest.

This spring the planting deadline was extended in more than 30 counties for two reasons. At one time, it was too dry to plant the cotton. Ten days later, the fields were too wet to plow.

Irregular planting provides an almost continuous supply of young tender cotton which is ideal food for the pink bollworm. The situation cannot be helped to any great extent this year due to the weather. As a result, the control program hinges on strict compliance to the plow-up deadline. No winter hibernating places must be left in Texas cotton fields which would encourage a large insect build-up next year. As an added precaution, farmers over the state are urged to follow a practical program of control over all types of insects this season. Careful planning of spraying or dusting keeps down cotton pests, and gives added value to the crop.

County agents, the Extension Service and the Texas Department of Agriculture are ready to offer advice on the best time for control measures. To spray or dust cotton at improper intervals means dollars lost to the farmer. Get the facts first! Then act to your best advantage.

The 4-H Clothing Workshops are now in full swing. Several of the groups have elected officers. The officers for the Sunshine Club were in last week's paper. I might say that their reporter did a very good job of reporting her club activities. In fact, she did such a nice job that I believe the other clubs need to elect reporters too.

Bluebird 4-H club (5th grade, Muleshoe) officers were as follows: president, Mary Sanders; vice-president, Sandra Harris; secretary-treasurer, Louise Stinson; recreational leader, Peggy Howell. Other charter members of the club are: Dorothy Vinson and Sut Stinson.

Officers of the Progress 4-H 4-H club are: president, Trudy Davis; vice-president, Linda Cooper; secretary-treasurer, Frances Cooper; and recreation leader, Sandra Cooper. Charter members are Deanna Myers, Mary Ellen Wedel, Kay Thomson, Ann Simnacher, Doris Cooper, Francine Dunn and Pat Thomson.

The Bula 4-H club has also organized for the summer. Officers are: president, Gracie Lou Altman; vice-president, Sandra Spence; secretary-treasurer, Doris McBee; and recreation leader, Sandra Seagler. Other charter members include Ruby Cash, Phyllis Fred, Linda Salyer, Kay Spence, Sarah Jones, Minnie Mansell, and Bonnie Stroud.

Other groups which have organized but not yet elected officers include Muleshoe seventh and eighth grades, Three Way senior club, Three Way Junior club, and Needmore club.

These groups will meet once each week while they are working on sewing. The inexperienced sewers will make a gathered skirt and perhaps a blouse. Girls more skilled in sewing will make a skirt and blouse or simple dress. These workshops will be climaxed with the 4-H County Dress Review to be held July 16 at Three Way school.

Any mother who wishes to come to these meetings is more than welcome to attend. For, after all, most of the girls will do most of their sewing at home, and it might be easier for everyone, if the agent and the mothers agreed on how to do things.

Cotton Insect Survey Summarizes Infestation Record Past Five Years

A study of thrips, cotton fleahopper and bollworm infestations was made in the Plains area of Texas from information obtained in the Cotton Insect Survey conducted in the years of 1949 to 1954, inclusive. A summary of this information is given below: General injurious thrip infestations occurred in 1 of 5 years (1952). There was no data available for 1951. General light infestations, with some injurious infestations occurred in 3 of 5 years (1949, 1953, 1954). Light infestations only occurred in 1 of 5 years (1950). Injurious infestations occurred by mid-June in 2 of 5 years (1952, 1953), by June 22 1954, and by June 28 in 1949.

Cotton fleahopper infestations were very light in 3 of 6 years (1950, 1952, 1953). Light infestations with some injurious infestations occurred in 2 of 6 years (1949, 1951). General injurious infestations occurred only in 1954 during the 6 year period. Cotton fleahoppers were present in fields by June 21 in 3 of the 6 years (1949, 1953, 1954) and by June 28 in 1950 and 1952. Injurious infestations occurred during the last week in June in 2 of 6 years (1949, 1954).

occurred in some fields during the last week in July in 4 of the 6 years (1950, 1952, 1953, 1954) and by August 7 in 1951. Some injurious infestations occurred by July 25 in 1950 and approached that level in some fields in 1954 at that time.

Thrips and fleahoppers caused widespread damage to cotton in the Plains area last year, but we know these insects do not lower yields every season. U. S. D. A. survey reports indicate that for the period 1949-54 general light to injurious thrips infestations occurred during the last 3 weeks in June - 4 out of the 6 years. Injurious fleahopper infestations occurred in 1949 and 1954.

Cotton Entomologists most familiar with the Plains insect situation say that an early season program for thrips and fleahopper control should be made a regular farm job. They know that a farmer may not make money any given year but if the practice is followed every year he will be highly paid for his time and expense.

The early season thrips and fleahopper control program - when applied during each of the last 3 weeks in June as recommended - will have little if any harmful effect on beneficial insects that sometimes help control bollworms.

PAT SANDERS IN BAD ACCIDENT RECENTLY

Pat Sanders, writing from Visalia, Calif., about his subscription, tells The Journal:

I used to farm near Muleshoe, in West Camp community, later at Bula. I came to California in 1945. I have a little farm here now, 40 acres. I have two brothers who still live in Bailey County and farm there, they are Claud and Guy Sanders, and my mother, Mrs. Anna Sanders, lives there with her brother, Bob Goss. My mother is visiting out here with me now. I had an accident about six weeks ago in which I got a broken leg and pelvis bone and that's why my mother is out here with me now. I think I will be OK in a little while and mother is going home soon.

Flags AND Standards

CLEANED WITHOUT CHARGE

FOR June 14

Flag Day, June 14, is the day set aside each year for Americans to honor their flag. At home, at sea, in far corners of the world, civilians and members of our armed forces will pay their respects to Old Glory.

This year, it is more fitting than ever that we do so. In many parts of the world freedom today is but a catchword, an ideal trampled under the heels of men who hate its very meaning.

But in these United States, and in those parts of the world where it flies, the Stars and Stripes still tells its own story to all men who would walk upright—in Freedom.

DISPLAY YOUR FLAG PROUDLY

TRADITION says it is improper to fly a soiled flag — it should be restored, preferably by dry cleaning.

It is for this reason that the dry cleaners listed below have offered their services to their fellow citizens. Help to insure "NEW GLORY FOR OLD GLORY". Bring in your flag today... Speak up for America with the Stars and Stripes on FLAG DAY, JUNE 14.

Paymaster Farms Develop New Strains Of Cotton Adapted To South Plains

The fruits of many years of work in the development of a stormproof cotton adapted to West Texas will be culminated with the release during 1956 of two new stormproof cottons, Paymaster Stormrider and Paymaster 101.

Developed on the Paymaster Farm, a part of Anderson-Clayton Co. which operates Western Cotton Co. in this region, these two new cottons will be grown in sufficient quantity this year so that the seed can be released for 1956 planting.

Paymaster Stormrider and Paymaster 101 were developed as part of a never-ending program of cotton breeding conducted by Paymaster Farm's competent scientists. On the farm near Aiken — between Plainview and Lockney — these scientists are constantly working to improve the present strains of cotton and to develop new strains.

With each new improvement, the Paymaster experts help make better the income of every West Texas cotton farmer. Better strains of cotton mean more money for each bale—and maybe even more bales—and thus the economy of the entire region is improved. Everybody, from the farmer to the merchant, profits thereby.

Cotton breeding at Paymaster Farm is done with the most modern equipment in the world available for that purpose. The farm has a cotton breeding laboratory fully equipped with roller gins, saw gins, scales and other equipment necessary to determine the value of individual plant selections and various lines of cotton being developed and tested.

The care taken in the development of Paymaster cotton planting seed insures that the seed sold are of the highest quality. Extreme care is taken in the ginning of the foundation and registered seed so that no mixing takes place.

with them. There is nothing quite so gratifying as helping those in need, no matter where they live. We hope eventually, that church leaders of this area will realize the opportunity that is knocking for them to lead in encouraging Christian Rural Overseas Program work.

Compliments are in order for Grady Hazelwood* of Amarillo who told the beer boys of his district that if they didn't want to pay their share of taxes in Texas as they ought to get out of Texas. We think they ought to get out in either case, but while they're here, taxes are certainly due from them.

The proposed 2c tax increase for gasoline used on public roads in Texas is a slap in the face for the passenger car and small truck owners, who would be paying for overloaded truck

WERE VISITING IN LITTLEFIELD

Mrs. W. T. Fowler, Mrs. Boyd Wingo and Mrs. S. O. Workman were visiting Monday in Littlefield.

HERE OVER WEEKEND

Mr. and Mrs. L. V. Julian of Lubbock visited over the weekend with his mother, Mrs. N. J. Matthiesen. Tuesday guests in the Matthiesen home were Mr. and Mrs. Elwin Julian of Baileyboro.

FROM OKLAHOMA

Zane Evans of Hering, Okla., visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Evans the past weekend WERE IN TULIA

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Evans were in Tulsa over the weekend visiting their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Stevens and new son, Jimmy Randall, who arrived last week.

highways on a ratio of 5 to 1 with the truckers who tear them up. Texas and local Farm Bureaus are opposing this move, along with rural commissioners' courts. It was Farm Bureau action that improved allowable loads for truckers some time ago, but it was not an act of favoritism; it was an act of practical justice.

Some of you will be glad to know favorable replies were received from Walter Rogers, Price Daniels and Martin Dies, as a result of telegrams sent from President Kaltwasser and Legislative Chairman Miller. The communications were in opposition to proposed labor union handling of Mexican National Labor for farmers.

We need to remember that no individual or group ever does anything unless God either allows or helps them to do it. If it is an honorable accomplishment, we ought to give him thanks. If it is not, we ought to ask His forgiveness.

Consider This: Divers weights are in abomination united the Lord; and a false balance is not good. Proverbs 20:23.

We extend our appreciation to everyone who contributed to the Texas Friendship for Korea from Parmer County. Particularly, we wish to thank the young people.

4-H boys and girls who so liberally contributed personally to their clubs for this cause. Miss Stinson, HD agent, did a wonderful job of stimulating interest in those clubs. Club sponsors, Mrs. Earl Stevenson, Bovina, and Mrs. Evert Bales and E. A. Barnett, Friona, were wonderful, too.

Now we will be waiting for these people to hear from the kids who receive the project materials and how they get along

Plan a BACKYARD PARTY

The mouth watering aroma of good meat cooking over a charcoal fire — the sharp tangy smell of a bit of hickory smoke — the cool fresh look of a table set in a grassy, tree shaded yard: These are the things that make summer appetites grow and grow. Try it this week end. Piggly Wiggly has just the right things.

Mix 1-1/2 pounds Beef Chuck lightly with 1/3 cup catsup, 1 teaspoon prepared mustard, 1-1/2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce and 1 teaspoon salt. Shape into 1-inch patties. Broil 8 minutes to a side, 6 patties.

Choose tender club, T-bone, porterhouse or sirloin steak. Trim off outer fat. Use this to rub on hot grill to keep steak from sticking. Broil first side of steak to desired brownness; turn. Do not pierce meat. Salt and pepper browned side. Continue broiling till steak is done to a turn. Season second side. Top with a pat of butter. Come and get it!
