Kyle Freeman is returning "home" to West Texas.

During a special called meeting, the CCCSD School Board unanimously approved the hiring of Freeman as the new Athletic Director and Head Football Coach.

Freeman replaces Edward Perez, who has accepted a position as assistant principal in the district. Perez came to Ozona from Olton and led the Lions to a 17-15 record in three seasons and playoff appearances in each of the last two seasons. The Lions were 1-1 in playoff games under Perez.

Freeman comes to Ozona from Bruni High School, located 45 miles east of Laredo. A Snyder native, Freeman said he is excited to be back in West Texas.

Freeman's wife, Shannon, is originally from Colorado City. The couple has six children. Zoe, their youngest, is currently a sophomore at Bruni and will attend Ozona High School in the fall.

"Ozona has a good reputation and we wanted to get back to West Texas," Freeman said. "This feels like home."

Superintendent Raul Chavarria said the district received a lot of applications, and that Freeman's "philosophies" went well with CCCSD.

"He will be a great leader for our boys and girls athletic programs," Chavarria said.

During his two years at Bruni, Freeman was 22-5 and led the Badgers to the state quarterfinals both years, losing to state champion Bremont this past season.

May 6 Leadercast featuring eight influential speakers

Defining Leadership is a hard task. Leadership can be defined as many things in various situations involving different people. You do not have to be the mayor of your city, or the boss of your business, or the head of the organization in order to be a leader.

The Angelo State University Small Business Development Center is excited to announce that we will be hosting the live simulcast event Leadercast Angelo State right here in San Angelo. With the help from our partners and sponsors, we will participate as a host site in a live broadcast presentation that originates from Atlanta, Ga. This is an annual experience with the purpose to instill leadership values and inspire individuals to achieve more in their daily lives. The theme of the event this year is "Architects of Tomorrow" and focuses on the idea of a visionary leader. The message from this year's Leadercast team is that of building a better future with the resources of today. They believe visionary leaders have the ability to see a preferred future, operate in the present, and utilize the resources around them to architect a clear path to a new destination.

BUSINESS TIPS

Architects of Tomorrow imagine a future that is rich and full of hope. In its simplest form, leadership is casting a compelling vision and mobilizing those around you to help you fulfill that vision.

This one-day leadership event will feature an influential lineup of eight remarkable speakers. This year's line-up includes; Andy Stanley- Leadership Author and Communicator, Dr. Henry Cloud- Acclaimed Leadership Expert, Clinical Psychologist, and Best-Selling Author, Nick Saban-Head Football Coach at The University of Alabama, Steve Wozniak-Co-Founder of Apple Inc, Kat Cole-Group

President at FOCUS Brands, James Brown- Network Broadcaster, CBS Sports and News, CMDR Rorke Denver-Navy SEAL Commander and Author, Chris Barez-Brown- Author and Creativity Guru, and Tripp Crosby - Comedian and Director and Host of Leadercast 2016.

Breakfast and Lunch will be provided to the attendees. Check-in will open at 7:30 a.m., and the broadcast will be live at 8 a.m. on Friday, May 6. Pre-Registration is required in order for us to provide adequate seating and materials for all participants. The fee for the event is $99. We are also offering a discounted rate for organizations with three or more participants at $89 each.

For more information about the event, visit with us by contacting the Angelo State University Small Business Development Center at www.angelo.edu/leadercast.

Getting 'SLAPP'd' for getting involved — new protections considered

Have you ever been SLAPP'd? SLAPP stands for "Strategic Lawsuit Against Public Participation," and it's a technique as old as lawsuits to stifle competition brought by the rapacious moguls of the early Industrial Age, and as modern as lawsuits against online critics.

A section of the Communications Decency Act shields online sites from defamation suits and other kinds of civil actions over content posted by third parties — but not the people who post the material. Nearly one-half of states provide some protection against SLAPP lawsuits — some limited only to communication with the government — but a new U.S. House proposal, HR 2304, would add to those defenses, proponents say.

Rep. Blake Farenthold, R-Texas, introduced the "Speak Free Act" last June, co-sponsored by Rep. Anna G. Eshoo, D-Calif. In an interview, Farenthold said the legislation is needed to protect people "who don't have $50,000" to spend on legal fees to, for example, defend against a lawsuit over a negative review posted on social media.

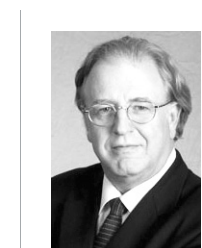

The "Speak Free" proposal tentatively is set for a hearing in the House Judiciary subcommittee in late May.

In response to a threat of legal action, many people simply take down the negative review or comment — which Farenthold sees as counter to the point of free speech. A broadcaster who also has worked in the computer field, Farenthold said he supports the First Amendment concept that "a review is, by definition, an opinion and there's no defamation in opinion."

Farenthold and others see increased concern over SLAPP actions — which, while expanding in recent years, still represent a small number within the total number of lawsuits annually — as reflective of the rise of "peer-to-peer" sites where people looking for specific services can find reviews and comments.

The proposed law would allow defendants to transfer lawsuits from state to federal courts, particularly valuable in 22 states that do not have an anti-SLAPP law or in those with weak protection. Farenthold said the law also will provide a means in federal court to quickly resolve a SLAPP lawsuit "before the legal fees run up."

The combination of

INSIDE THE FIRST AMENDMENT

form" to reduce lawsuits and liberals aiming to protect civic activists. Farenthold said he has not seen significant push-back from companies, which might have been expected to oppose the act.

Bipartisan support encourages Evan Mascagni, policy director for the Public Participation Project, a nonprofit group supporting such legislation — who noted two earlier Congressional attempts failed to gain such backing. In an interview, Mascagni said, "The First Amendment is not a partisan issue. Americans understand the importance of free speech and petition activity in our society."

Another possible factor in increased attention to the bill is the attention paid this year to lawsuits and counterlitigation actions by GOP presidential front-runner Donald Trump, who also has called for weakening protections in existing defamation law that limit retaliatory lawsuits by public figures.

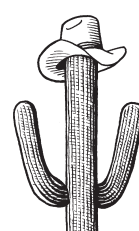

Anti-SLAPP supporters also note that the range of SLAPP actions is wide: From a lawsuit brought by a California nursing home lawsuit against two women involving an email sent to a legal aid lawyer, to actions against consumers complaining about a tax advice service, to news outlets for reporting unflattering personal details about a public figure.

Retaliatory lawsuits that seek mainly to punish are a misuse of legal remedies intended to repair the reputations of those wrongly damaged, produce truthful information or spur government response — not to be a tactic to punish public participation.

A longstanding thesis about the First Amendment is that "the antidote to speech you don't like is more speech, not less."

GENE POLICINSKI is chief operating officer of the Newseum Institute and senior vice president of its First Amendment Center. E-mail him at gpolicinski@newseum.org.

I'm Tied Up Right Now

IT'S THE PITTS

LEE PITTS

A person who collects neckties is a grabatologist. I am not one, by the way. In fact, I recently had a cleansing of all the neckties I own. Vowing to never, ever, wear a necktie again was a cathartic experience and I feel a new sense of freedom and independence. Never again will I be ridiculed for not knowing how to tie a Windsor, the fact that my tie is out of fashion, or made from petroleum distillates.

I struggled with how to dispose of my ties. All three of them. My first thought was to donate them to Goodwill but the last time I tried to give them some of my apparel they rejected it outright, saying it did not meet their standards. I don't handle rejection well so I buried the ties in a mass grave thinking that I'd kill two birds with one stone, or should I say gophers? Not only did I get rid of my ties forever I figured there's a possibility that the hideous ties might scare away the gophers in our yard.

There was one tie I did not bury because it was a replica of our nation's flag and I didn't know the proper way to dispose of it. So we gave it to a friend we don't like as a birthday present.

I always thought that necktie wearing was a fairly new way to cut off the blood to our brains but I saw a photo of some cowboys sitting around a roundup bonfire in 1890 and a couple of the cowboys were wearing neckties! To gather cows!!

Good heavens.

What was the lowlife who invented neckties thinking? Were they invented to cover up the buttons on our shirts, and if so, what's so hideous about buttons that we're ashamed to show them in public? Do men wear ties to fill the gap between the two sides of their sports coats that no longer come together? Were they a government make-work program for silkworms, or perhaps ties were invented as a diversion so people wouldn't look at our ugly Adam's apples?

Besides being a pain to tie and forever dangling in your food and coffee cup, neckties can also be dangerous. I remember reading about a driver stuck alongside a road who looked under the hood with the motor running who got his tie stuck in the fan belt. Let me just say, that would NOT be my first choice as to how to commit suicide.

I've heard all the silly reasons why a man should start his day by tying a slipknot around his neck. I've read that a tie can be used as a sling, to hobble your horse, dry the dishes or tie up a calf but I always see politicians and Wall Street types wearing ties and how many horses do they routinely hobble and how many calves do they tie on average in a good day? The only decent excuse I've ever heard for wearing a tie was you'd never starve to death because you could always boil your tie in hot water and make a decent soup

Because I hate neckties, I tried all the alternative types of neckwear. I considered clip-on ties but they went out of fashion with polyester jumpsuits for men. I inherited my Grandpa's extensive collection of bolo ties and many are quite valuable. Grandpa always looked great in them but when I wear one I look like an old west outlaw on the gallows with a noose around my neck.

I've made it a point to never trust a man wearing a bow tie and I really look stupid wearing a wild rag around my neck, even more so than usual. They remind me too much of my mother's scarves and of snobbish British writers lounging in their pajamas, smoking pipes, wearing Ascots and discussing George Bernard Shaw.

I realize that wild rags can be used for a lot of different purposes but I look like a pregnant peacock when I wear one. Cowboy poets look great in them but the only time I wore one in public I was giving a speech and was told afterwards that no one could hear me because my pink, purple and gold wild rag was way too loud.

Abbott proclaims flooding disaster, adds more counties

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS By Ed Sterling | Texas Press Association

AUSTIN — Gov. Greg Abbott on April 18 declared a state of disaster for Austin, Bastrop, Colorado, Fort Bend, Grimes, Harris, Montgomery, Waller and Wharton counties.

Those counties were hit with severe storms and flooding beginning April 17, requiring the aid of emergency responders over many days.

Abbott authorized the use of "all available resources of state government and of political subdivisions that are reasonably necessary to cope with this disaster" and suspended any statute that would prevent, hinder or delay necessary action in coping with the disaster, pending written approval of his office.

On April 22, Abbott added the counties of Bosque, Fayette, Liberty, Milam, Palo Pinto, Parker and San Jacinto to his April 18 disaster declaration. The governor's office said even more counties could be added later.

On April 24, Abbott requested federal "individual assistance" for Harris, Fayette, Grimes and Parker counties. If his request is granted by President Obama, affected citizens would be able to apply for grants of up to $33,000 and low-interest disaster loans from the U.S. Small Business Administration.

"As Texans recover from the severe flooding that inundated several areas of Texas, it is crucial they receive the financial assistance needed to restore their communities," Abbott said. "In facing these challenges, Texans have displayed enormous courage, with more than 1,000 rescues from the rising waters. With much-needed financial assistance, I am confident Texans will continue to overcome the challenges before them as they begin to rebuild their lives."

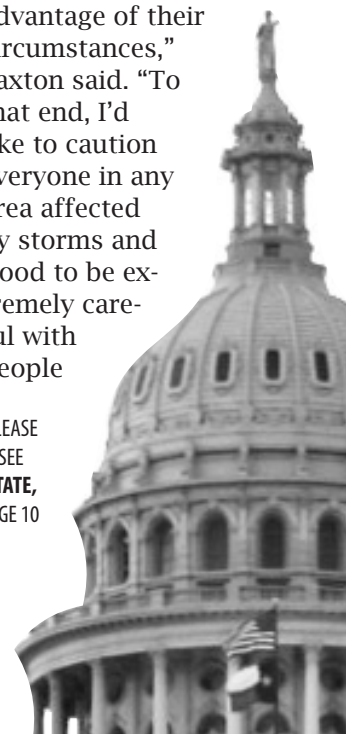

TEA GRANTS WAIVERS Texas Education Commissioner Mike Morath on April 20 announced he would grant two missed instructional day waivers for school systems in Houston-area counties that fall within Gov. Abbott's April 18 disaster declaration.

Morath said school systems in disaster counties with more than two days missed due to flooding will not have to make up those two days on the remaining school calendar, but they will need to work with the Texas Education Agency on options for any additional missed days beyond two.

Paxton warns of scams Texas Attorney General Ken Paxton on April 20 advised Texans in disaster-stricken counties to protect themselves against scams and be ready to report possible price gouging.

"Unfortunately, people who have already been through so much also need to be wary of bad actors taking advantage of their circumstances," Paxton said. "To that end, I'd like to caution everyone in any area affected by storms and flood to be extremely careful with people

LEVIS AND LACE SQUARE DANCE NEWS

LEVIS AND LACE SQUARE DANCERS AND GUESTS held their 30th annual festival Saturday at the Civic Center.

Club hosts 30th annual festival

BY TRACYE YOUNG
LEVIS AND LACE SQUARE DANCE

On Saturday Levis and Lace Square Dance Club had their 30th Annual Square Dance Festival at the Ozona Civic Center.

The caller for the festival was Tracey Dowell from McCalley, Texas. The festival started with a workshop from 11 a.m.-noon. Excitement filled the air as caller said "square 'em up," in square dance term that means fill up the squares. Tracey taught the dancers new calls like double grand, grand weave and grand tour. The dancers had a hour working on these new calls.

At noon, there was a barbecue lunch with all the fixing. Frank Fred said the blessing over the meal. There was a break and the festival resumed at 2 p.m.

At 2 p.m. the grand march started with couples marching two by two and it ending with lines of eight dancers.

Pastor JC Cantu offered a special prayer over the square dancers. The square dancers split in half to make an opening for the posting of the colors.

Frank Tambunga from the VFW did the posting of the colors and led in the Pledge of Allegiance. Tammi Monzingo led us in sing the National Anthem. A special welcome was done by Allen Williams.

Dancing started with four squares on the floor. Toes were tapping and skirts were twirling round and round across the floor. The dancers enjoy dancing to both mainstream and plus calling. The caller did a tip called Progressive Squares, three squares used and the dancers were moved all around in each square at different times and then back home. The last tip of the night was a fun tip-starting out with a four couple square-you breakoff to a two couple square and do a right and left thru, square thru, bend the line-then quickly finding a new couple to form your new square.

We appreciate these two long time members of our club Raul De La Rosa and Lucy Hinde for attending the festival. We appreciate our extra special helpers Robert Pena, Ana Knaack, Travis Knaack, and Josh Knaack for manning our sign in table and Honey pot table.

Visiting appreciate dancers were from Wagon Wheel Squares in Abilene, Key City Squares in Abilene, High Sky in Midland, Promenade Square in San Angelo for attending our festival. We hope to see all of you next year.

Levis and Lace dancers attending: Tracey Young, Karan Heffelfinger, Nell Wester, Mary Williamson, Sydney Knaack, Frank Fred, Joann Babbitt, Carol Adcock, Bobby Mc Donald, Karen McDonald, Tammi Monzingo, Danny Monzingo.

Have I got a deal for you

Every day, celebrities like Marie Osmond, Kirstie Alley, Gwyneth Paltrow, Oprah Winfrey and hundreds more seen on radio and television, in magazines, on social media sites and in the mail hawk the benefits of weight control products, cosmetics, detoxifying remedies and other health and wellness issues. And why not? It's a $550 billion industry, worldwide.

How often have you been approached by friends and family members with, "Have I got a deal for you!" Then try to convince you buy their newly acquired line of health products and dietary supplements claimed to address your health, wellness and financial issues?

Yeah... me too. You've heard their names: Advocare, Herbalife Intl., Immunotec, Isagenix, Lifestyles USA, Lifewave, Nature's Sunshine, Nikken, Pharmanex (Nu-Skin Intl.), Plexus, Relive Intl., Shaklee, Symmetry Corp., Synergy Worldwide (Nature's Sunshine), Thrive, USANA Health Sciences and Vollar, just to mention a few.

Decisions to buy are based on lofty claims about benefits to health and wellness or personal finance. The claims are very rarely supported by methodic scientific studies and the finances don't usually add up. The "fine print" usually advises diet and exercise are essential to success.

Yet, the purchaser is often lulled into turning over their cash because of gullibility, a "quick-fix-and-forget-it-mentality" and the ease with which we lavish faith on belief to make it seem true.

We assume our society's business dealings are regulated by law. We tend to believe our government and public agencies are in place to keep us from making mistakes. Commercial entities cleverly take advantage of these beliefs and hire those who understand human failings and vulnerabilities best exploited.

They are determined to separate your money from you and make it theirs, one way or another.

Government agencies do not work in the best interests of our health and wellness. They are there to bolster our national economy by funneling resources to corporate entities and aiding them in securing their 'investments'... and we are their most abundant resource.

All it takes is an individual with seemingly the "right credentials" promoting a product for many people to assume they are listening to a respected authority, and trust the advice.

In 2009, a group of scientists brought together by, "Sense and Science," a United Kingdom charity contacted the manufacturers of 15 health and wellness products sold in pharmacies and supermarkets. Among the products were dietary supplements, smoothies and shampoos. However, when the scientists asked for evidence behind the claims, none of the manufacturers could define what they meant by their product claims, let alone name the toxins.

I, personally, called three representatives of the above named health product producers in reference to the article I contributed to the recent Feb. 17 issue of the Ozona Stockman entitled, "What You Should Know Before Detoxing."

I asked each rep at least two questions. One was, "How will your product benefit me?" and, "What toxins will be cleansed by your detoxifying product?" I heard the scripted spiel of each representative's emotionally-punctuated, company-mandated claims, but none of them could support their assertions with scientific evidence.

I was told the detoxifying products cleansed hundreds of toxins, but no one could give or help me find a list of toxins eliminated.

Knowing the numbers and specifics of our body's statistics are not nearly as critical as what we expose it too. Our best defense is being aware of our body's circumstances. Be mindful of what we introduce into and put on our body, it will educate us and illuminate the truth of our distinct needs.

Your best leverage with corporate entities is how you spend your dollars. Spend them in a way that best serves you and promotes your good health and wellness. Cultivate wisdom, learn about commercial marketing ploys and the psychological tools employed.

Seek the advice of trusted healthcare professionals and foster fact-based knowledge. It's your body. Ask questions. Get second opinions.

Assume responsibility of your own health and wellbeing.

Here's to your health.

OZONA SENIOR HAPPENINGS

'Stress: Friend or Foe' program Tuesday

BY BRENDA NEWTON
SENIOR CENTER DIRECTOR

Loving the rain and all the green stuff it is bringing. I am not loving the destruction it is bringing to Houston and elsewhere and I am wishing safety to all in its path.

Kailey Roberts, county extension agent-FCS, will be here at 11:30 a.m. Tuesday, May 3, for the next Health Talk Express Series. The focus for May will be "Stress: Friend or Foe." Heaven knows we all need a little help with this one due to the fast pace of our lives these days. Please join us for this informal and educational session.

Intrepid Healthcare Services will be in town Wednesday, May 18, and will be checking blood pressure and screening blood sugar at Ozona Senior Apartments at 11:15 a.m.-noon and Crockett County Senior Center at 1:30-2:30 p.m. Intrepid will be coming every third week of each month to provide these services. Mark these dates on your calendar and take advantage of these free screenings.

The new Wesley nurse, Niki Bishop, will be joining us every Tuesday morning at 10:30 a.m. for an easy sit-down exercise class to keep us loose and agile. I joined in last week with the group, and was really impressed with the exercises. She will also be conduction free health screenings including glucose, blood pressure and BMI checks for participants.

We are having a great time playing Bingo on Thursday afternoons at 2 p.m. We would have even more fun if we had more to play with us.

There will not be a bingo social in May due to the busy end of school events during that month.

Plop a couple of denture tablets and fizz away stains in your porcelain toilet. Wait 20 minutes and flush. This is safe for septic systems too.

Weekly schedule of activities:

Exercise - 9 a.m. Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

Bridge - 1:30 p.m. Monday

Balance Exercise - 9 a.m. Tuesday and Thursday

Mexican Train - 1:30 p.m. Wednesday

Prayer Group - 3 p.m. Wednesday

Quilting - 9:30 a.m. Thursday

Bingo - 2 p.m. Thursday

Come on out, the coffee is on.

TWO MEN WHO CHANGED OUR WORLD

Many people come from all over the world just to go by and see his body. You may have to stand in line for hours and there is a fee. It may be rainy or cold and yet they visit by the thousands. It is rumored that they pay a couple of people over $10,000 a month to keep his body looking good. I am talking about Vladimir Lenin (1870-1924) and the tomb (Red Square in Moscow) where he is buried. He was a founder of Communism and the Soviet Republic (USSR). It is also rumored that it is getting harder and harder to keep his body, or corpse, looking good. There is another person who died centuries earlier but His body is not available for us to see. Shortly after His death you could see it but within three days, (1 Corinthians 15:3&4) it was changed, resurrected by the power of God. He appeared to over 500 people after His resurrection, (1 Corinthians 15:5, 6). Hundreds of years earlier predictions were made about His body, (Psalms 16:10 & 49:15). Many promises are made to us in the Bible concerning the resurrection of Jesus. In John 11:25&26 Jesus said He was the resurrection and He promised life (with Him for those who believe) after physical death. In John 14:19 He promised because He lives, we will live after death. PUBLIC NOTICE

Notice of Proposed Filing of Statement of Intent to Increase Rates for Gas Service

To the Customers of NatGas, Inc. ("NatGas") in and around the unincorporated community of Ozona, Texas in Crockett County, Texas:

Pursuant to the public notice requirements of § 104.102 and § 104.103 of the Gas Utility Regulatory Act ("GURA"), TEX. UTIL. CODE CH.101 et seq., NatGas hereby provides notice to the public that on February 12, 2016, NatGas filed with the Railroad Commission of Texas its Statement of Intent to Increase Rates in and around the unincorporated Community of Ozona, Texas. The proposed rates will affect all of NatGas' approximately 1,192 customers. Of this total, NatGas serves approximately 1,051 residential customers, 107 commercial customers, and 34 public authority customers. The proposed effective date of the rate increase is March 18, 2016.

The proposed rates and tariffs are expected to increase NatGas's annual revenues by $35,504 or 5.3% including gas costs, or 9.5% excluding gas costs. The proposed change in rates constitutes a "major change" as that term is defined by Section 104.101 of the Texas Utilities Code. NatGas is proposing to divide the current Residential and Small Commercial tariff into separate Residential and Commercial tariffs. NatGas is also proposing to rename the current Large Commercial tariff the Public Authority tariff. Finally, NatGas is proposing to move all gas costs remaining in base rates to the cost of gas adjustment clause. This will result in a $3.00 per Mcf reduction in the base rate commodity charge and a corresponding $3.00 per Mcf increase in the cost of gas clause.

Based on the proposed rate design, the average monthly bills for a residential, commercial, or public authority customer will, excluding revenue related taxes, change by the amount and percent shown in the following table:

Customer Class (1)	Number of Customers Affected	Current Bill Including Gas Cost (2)	Proposed Bill Including Gas Cost (2)	Difference	Percent Change With Gas Cost/without Gas Cost
Residential	1,051	$34.71	$37.06	$2.35	6.77% / 11.44%
Commercial	107	$140.87	$144.87	$4.00	2.84% / 5.46%
Public Authority	34	$148.38	$152.38	$4.00	2.70% / 5.07%

(1) Residential and Commercial customers are currently served under the combined Residential and Small Commercial tariff. Public Authority customers are currently served under the Large Commercial tariff.

(2) The calculation of bill impacts assumes monthly consumption of 3.9 Mcf for residential, 17.0 Mcf for commercial, and 20.3 Mcf for public authority customers. The annual average cost of gas for the twelve months ending September 30, 2015 was $3.6770 per Mcf. Gas costs by class of service vary slightly from the average cost.

The next table provides by class a comparison of the rates currently being charged with the rates proposed by NatGas:

Charge	Residential Service (1)
	Tariffed Rates	Present Base Rate (2)	Proposed Rate
Customer Charge $/Month	$5.00	$5.00	$7.35
Commodity Charge $/Mcf	$7.03	$4.03	$4.03

Charge	Commercial Service (1)
	Tariffed Rates	Present Base Rate (2)	Proposed Rate
Customer Charge $/Month	$5.00	$5.00	$9.00
Commodity Charge $/Mcf	$7.03	$4.03	$4.03

Charge	Public Authority Service (1)
	Tariffed Rates	Present Base Rate (2)	Proposed Rate
Customer Charge $/Month	$5.00	$5.00	$9.00
Commodity Charge $/Mcf	$6.64	$3.64	$3.64

(1) Residential and Commercial customers are currently served under the combined Residential & Small Commercial tariff. Public Authority customers are currently served under the Large Commercial tariff.

(2) Excludes $3.00/Mcf base cost of gas.

In addition, the Company seeks to recover all rate case expenses as allowed by law. The exact amount of rate case expenses will not be known until the case is completed.

Complete copies of the filed Statement of Intent, including all proposed tariffs, are available for inspection at the business office of NatGas, located at 901 Avenue H, Ozona, Texas 76943. Affected customers may file written comments or protests concerning the proposed change in rates with the Docket Services Section of the Hearings Division, Railroad Commission of Texas, P.O. Box 12967, Austin, Texas 78711-2967. The deadline to intervene in this proceeding is 45 days after the date this notice is filed, or May 20, 2016. Persons with specific questions or desiring additional information about this filing may contact NatGas at (214) 526-6273 or by written communication directed to the undersigned as shown below.

He was named Coach of the Year for District 16-2A Division II for 2014 and 2015 and Old Coach Rivals Network 2A Coach of the Year in 2014. Prior to Freeman, Bruni had only won about three playoff games. "I had an opportunity to make a mark in South Texas and to be a head football coach," Freeman said. In his first year at Bruni, Freeman had no seniors on the team. The Badgers "defied a lot of people's expectations" by making it to the state playoffs, Freeman said.

"We worked hard to overcome a lot. The kids bought into the program and did everything we asked them," Freeman said. Freeman said he believes in a physical offense and defense. He said he takes pride when his players are able to "outright" their opponents. Offensively, Freeman said a strong running game helps to open up a good passing game. He also puts great emphasis on defense. In the last two years at Bruni, the team had seven shutout wins and last season the Badgers had the top defense in Class 2A. Freeman is a 1990 graduate of Angelo State University, where he received a track scholarship and won the 1989 NCAA Division II National Championship in shot put. During his time at ASU, Freeman was approached by the football coaches to play for the Rams. He was named the NCAA Division II All-American Defensive End, which got attention from pro scouts. In 1991 the Houston Oilers drafted him in the seventh round as an outside linebacker. He then played for the Los Angeles Raiders in 1992-1993 before an Achilles tendon injury ended his career. "It wasn't something that was on my radar. It turned out to be a blessing," he said. After his NFL career, Freeman said he knew he wanted to be a teacher and coach. He attended Texas Tech University in 1994 where he was a graduate assistant coach. He then spent 12 seasons as a defensive coordinator in his hometown of Snyder and then Hebbbronville High School before his head coaching job at Bruni. Freeman was inducted into the Lone Star Conference Hall of Honor in 2003 and the Snyder High School Hall of Honor in 2011. Freeman will start his new position in Ozona immediately.

championship in pole vault and the 1600, she won the high jump at district and was second at area and she placed third in the 100-meter hurdles at district and area. Moses will compete in all four events Friday, April 29, and Saturday, April 30, at the Region I-2A Track Meet in Odessa. "This a huge day for McKenna in continuing her education and competing in what she loves to do," said Superintendent Raul Chavarria. Track Coach John Esparza said Moses is a "great role model" for all Ozona athletes. "This is super awesome. She has worked hard for this," Esparza said. "We are expecting great things from her." Moses said she will be double majoring in biochemistry and biology with an emphasis on pre-med. UIW is a member of the NCAA Division I-A Southland Conference, which includes Abilene Christian University, Houston Baptist University, the University of New Orleans, University of Central Arkansas, Lamar University, McNeese State University, Nicholls State University, Northwestern State University, Sam Houston State University, Southeastern Louisiana University, Stephen F.

Austin State University and Texas A&M University-Corpus Christi. At the 2015 Southland Conference Championships, the Cardinals finished fourth as a team. The team also has received its share of academic honors with members named to the All-Academic Team every year from 2006-12. The campus has an enrollment of 9,940 students.

Home repair funds available through USDA Rural Development

BY GAYLE AUBREY
USDA RURAL DEVELOPMENT

Texas USDA Rural Development has announced funding is available for the purpose of repairing homes in eligible rural areas. The funds are available through Rural Development's 504 Home Repair loan and grant program.

The program is available to low income recipients to make essential repairs to modernize and repair homes, and to remove health and safety hazards. Most repairs completed under the program are for roof, window and door replacements, as well as electrical, plumbing and air conditioning upgrades as well as other repairs needed to increase the home's energy efficiency and overall comfort and quality. Renovations to make a home wheelchair handicap accessible are also considered.

To qualify for the program, applicants must own their own home, and fall within Rural Development's income guidelines, defined as below 50 percent of the area median income and unable to obtain affordable credit elsewhere. Homeowners, at least 62 years old, may qualify for a grant. Grant funding up to $7,500 is limited and many times repairs will be funded with the combination of a loan and grant. One percent loans up to $20,000 will be on a repayment term of up to 20 years and will require low monthly payments.

Further information on the program is available by visiting USDA's web site at <http://www.rd.usda.gov/programs-services/single-family-housing-repair-loans-grants/tx>. For local information, verification of area eligibility and application assistance, determine your local office by visiting <http://www.rd.usda.gov/contact-us/state-offices/tx> or call the Texas State Office at (254)742-9779.

USDA, through its Rural Development mission area, administrators and managers housing, business and community infrastructure and facility programs through a national network of state and local offices. Rural Development programs are designed to improve the economic stability of rural communities, businesses, residents, farmers and ranchers and to improve the quality of life in rural America. For information of this and other USDA Rural Development programs in Texas, visit <http://www.rd.usda.gov/tx>.

TXDOT ADVISES CAUTION

With more rain and flooding in the weather forecast, the Texas Department of Transportation on April 21 posted a recommendation to drivers to "Turn Around, Don't Drown."
TXDOT implored drivers to "heed all warnings and never drive around barricades or cross roads that are either closed or submerged with water."

Flash flooding, according to TXDOT, is the leading cause of weather-related deaths in Texas. Highway officials noted that as little as six inches of water can float some vehicles.

BUDGET CHALLENGES AHEAD

Texas House Speaker Joe Straus last week encouraged members of the House Committee on Appropriations to consider a number of budget challenges that will face the Legislature when it convenes in January.

In an April 19 letter to the committee, Straus, R-San Antonio, identified the need to address the state's foster care system and a shortfall within the state's health care system for retired teachers. Straus also mentioned that the state's school finance system is still under court review. The matter is pending before the Texas Supreme Court.

"Any of these issues individually would pose a challenge," Straus wrote. "Yet they come at a time when our state continues to grow rapidly, bringing more children in our schools, more cars on our roads and an overall greater demand for state resources. At the same time, we do not want to abandon the commitment to low taxation and overall fiscal discipline that has put our state in such a sound budgetary position."

JOBLESS RATE STAYS SAME

Texas' seasonally adjusted unemployment rate maintained a 4.3 percent rate in March, matching the state's revised 4.3 percent unemployment rate in February, the Texas Workforce Commission reported on April 15. In contrast, the U.S. Department of Labor Statistics pegged the national average unemployment rate at 5.0 percent for the month of March.
