This marks the fifth consecutive Saturday in which no one was present to claim the top money in the weekly drawings.

Slemmons also stated that all stubs which accumulated in the drum were destroyed this week, and that a new accumulation begins at once.

Santa Fe Railway Gives City
300,000 Gallon Water Tanks

Two water storage tanks with a combined capacity of almost 300,000 gallons, were presented to the city of Muleshoe Tuesday afternoon by the Panhandle and Santa Fe Railway, through W. A. J. Carter, superintendent, from Slaton.

Mayor W. T. Bovell accepted the gift of the tanks on behalf of the City Council, in brief ceremonies at City Hall Tuesday.

Also present for the ceremonies were F. L. Elterman, trainmaster of Santa Fe, and D. F. Duncan, Mr. Carter's secretary. Council members present included Morris Douglas, Houston Hart and Lloyd Alsop.

The city will remove the tanks from the rail siding behind Holt's service station, and place them near city water wells to increase ground storage as well as water pressure. One tank holds 145,500 gallons, and the other has a capacity of 152,500 gallons.

In addition to these two duties, the tanks will also aid in establishing lower fire insurance rates in Muleshoe, by further complying with the requirements of the state Fire Insurance Commission.

The only expense to the city will be for moving the tanks and leveling the area where they stood.

RAINFALL FOR 1957 IS 4.41

Hiway Traffic Halts
After Hail Storm Here

Threatening black clouds last Saturday afternoon dumped as much as four inches of hailstones on the Muleshoe-Progress-

West Camp area of the West Plains.

Dark greenish-black clouds hung over the area for several hours, and the hail was followed by rainfall which lasted into the night.

Between Progress and Lariat on the Clovis highway, the hailstones piled up to such a depth that traffic was halted until maintainers could scrape them off into the borrow ditches.

Considerable damage was caused by the hail to small grain, early vegetables and trees. Leaves and blossoms of fruit trees also sustained hail damage. No serious effects are believed to have resulted from the storm, with most observers confident the plants will come out all right.

The Muleshoe weather station reported .48 of an inch of moisture Saturday, and 10 Sunday, bringing the total moisture for April to 2.34 inches, and the rainfall for the year to 4.41 inches, more than half the total moisture recorded here in 1956.

January had .22 of an inch, February, .67 of an inch; March 1.18, and April 2.34 inches.

Many observers in this area believe that the long drought has been broken, although wind erosion has taken a considerable toll of topsoils.

At any rate, local farmers are waiting only for the soil temperature to reach 60 degrees to plant crops.

Cucumber Crop Is Sought In County

Bailey county farmers have been offered an opportunity to grow cucumbers for a commercial pickle canner, according to an ad appearing in this week's Journal.

The Craddock Food Mfg. Co., of Garland, Texas, is seeking at least 300 acres in this county, to be contracted for the growing of cucumbers in fifteen acres or smaller plots.

R. E. Brice of the firm, states that the average price for 80 per cent of the crop will be $2.25 per hundred pounds. Contract prices range from $7 per hundred for number ones, to 50 cents per hundred for number fours.

The cucumbers will be graded in Muleshoe and payment will be made at the time the vegetables are graded. They will then be shipped to Garland by truck for processing.

Contracts may be signed, and further information obtained at the Chamber of Commerce office, or for the secretary at the Extension Service office in the courthouse in Muleshoe.

Former Teacher To Deliver Sermon At Baccalaureate

Rev. J. C. Koen, pastor of the West End Baptist Church in Lubbock, will deliver the Baccalaureate sermon for the graduating class of Muleshoe high school May 12, at 8 p.m. in the high school auditorium.

Rev. Koen was a teacher and coach in the Muleshoe schools when the present graduating class was in junior high school. He was chosen by the seniors to deliver the traditional Baccalaureate sermon.

Local ministers will deliver the invocation and benediction, and the seniors will sing their class song, "A Perfect Day".

Bass And Millen
New Directors Of Gin Co-operative

Two new directors were chosen for the board of Muleshoe Co-operative Gins when the co-op held its annual stockholders meeting in the high school auditorium Friday night.

New members of the board are A. W. Bass and Bill Millen, and they will replace W. H. Lee and Dick Willman, whose terms on the board expired. Mr. Lee was vice-president.

Other directors are Harold Wilson, president; Wiley Baker, Edgar Broyles, D. B. Head, and Jack Little. The board will meet soon to elect officers. Earl Richards is manager of the gins.

More Than Half Million In Construction Underway

More than $500,000 worth of cobeing constructed at present, a number commercial and residential construction of new buildings have been completed in Muleshoe at the present since the first of the year, bringing at time, further reflecting the optimism here total of building costs well past the shared by most businessmen here. In $500,000 mark.

Among new construction planned for the immediate future is the new Muleshoe elementary school building in the west end of town. This 24-classroom building will include a cafeteria and offices. Present plans are that part of the building will be completed in time to use this fall when school begins. Leveling of the site for this structure has already begun, and a well has been installed. Cost of the building has been set at $293,897 in a contract awarded to BMFP Construction Co.

Expansion and improvement plans for Muleshoe schools will include six new classrooms for the high school, a new band hall, and business office building, to cost, all told, about $500,000. Most of this work awaits completion of detailed plans.

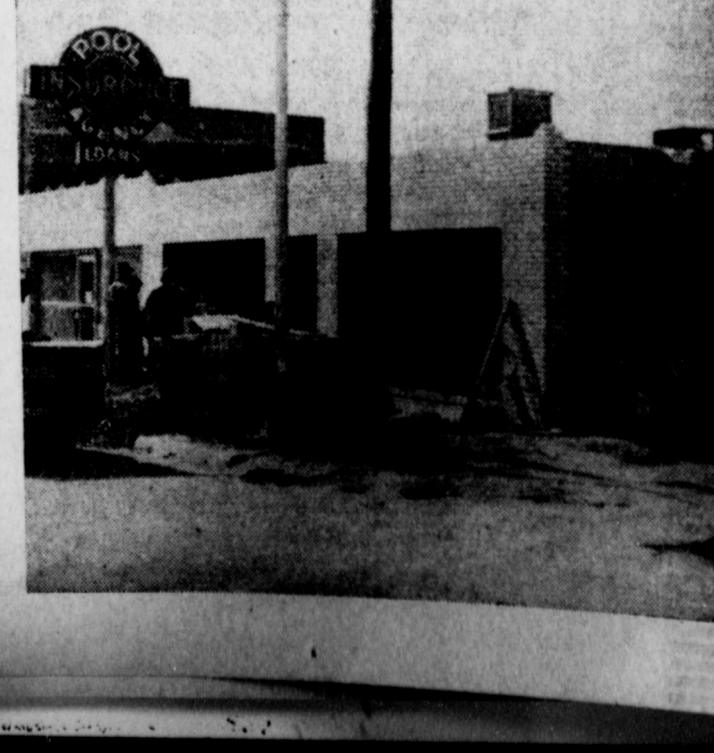

TYPICAL OF CONSTRUCTION underway in Muleshoe at the present are these building projects. Included in this group are:

brick facing. Across Avenue B, the General Telephone Company of the Southwest is adding to their old building to double their floor space and provide room for new equipment.

Within a stone's throw of the telephone company expansion project is a new brick and tile structure being built by Joe Damon. This building is expected to cost about $12,000 and will be occupied by a doctor, it is reported. The Damon building is between the Masonic hall and Lambert Building.

On the Friona-Plainview highway, at the intersection, Sam E. Fox, Texaco products consignee, is constructing a new service station. This building, including extensive concrete driveways and equipment will cost about $25,000.

Other residential construction continues in almost every section of the community.

Cleaning Care Preserves Linoleum Beauty

BY EDNA MILES

A LINOLEUM floor, contrary to popular opinion, is not indestructible. But it will take a lot of wear and tear, including rough usage from children and pets.

However, it needs the right cleaning methods if it is not to bulge and crack. And it should be waxed to preserve the beauty of its finish.

Don't flood linoleum with water when you wash it. If you use a cleaning product specifically formulated for linoleum, you won't need a lot of water. A once-over wiping with a damp mop cleans the floor evenly and quickly, without rinsing.

To make your job easier, make use of the new mopping equipment that takes the strain from you, as well as from the floor. A mop with a built-in wringer is a big help. It also cuts down on the amount of water you need.

Remember, your linoleum cannot stand the pressure of heavy furniture. Set furniture legs in coaster-like cups that distribute the weight evenly and keep the linoleum from becoming marred.

Using new mopping equipment takes the strain out of cleaning a linoleum floor. A sponge mop and special cleaner omits rinsing and wiping dry.

who is hospitalized, is doing fine and will probably go home this week.

Taking part on the program were Mmes. Moore, Jan Wyer, F. B. Pierson, and Dean Bishop.

Be still, and know that I am God... (Psalm 46, 10).

Often, when we feel that we have "lost touch" with Our Heavenly Father, it may be that we have been talking to Him too much—telling Him what we want—beseeching His mercy and His love, when all we have to do to receive it is to be silent, and listen.

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Wheeler and children spent the weekend with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Carter, and Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Wheeler.

I've been wondering what it would be like if there were no such thing as insurance. Not only would I be in a different business but most of our time would be spent worrying whether some catastrophe would befall us. Housewives would go about their work with their apron pockets filled with sand in case a fire broke out at home... no one would dare drive their car on a public road... all the stores would probably be closed... Maybe this is a slight exaggeration but it might not be... The person without adequate insurance wouldn't be at all foolish if he did the above things. It's becoming more important all the time to have a reliable insurance agent plan your coverage... To be sure... insure... Call—

Sports Season Ends At Muleshoe High School

The curtain has drawn on another year of sports at Muleshoe high school, and it has closed on one of the most successful years in MHS history.

Some may not agree, but look at the facts. Although they did not capture the district crown in football this season, the Mules wound up with a 5-5 record, the best in approximately ten years. Add to this the fact that except for one or two games, they lost by only a very small margin in the five they did lose; and, the Mules will only lose three of their starters by graduation. The outlook for the Mules in their next football campaign is very bright.

Basketball

In basketball the Mules won the district 1-AA championship, defeated a highly rated Floydada team in bi-district, weren't even supposed to get past their first opponent in the Regional tournament (according to area sports writers), and advanced to the finals before being defeated by the classy Seminole Indians. The Mulettes wound up with a not-too-shiny record in district play, but with a seasonal record of 18-9. The Mulettes also have a bright outlook for next year's season; they will lose only one of their starters this year and have plenty of experienced reserves.

Tennis

Even though it is not considered a major sport, tennis is rapidly gaining popularity among students of MHS and Muleshoe should have some strong players in the future. Three freshman girls, who won the district title for Muleshoe this year, will probably see action in the coming years. So far the boys' tennis team haven't been able to gain a first place in district play.

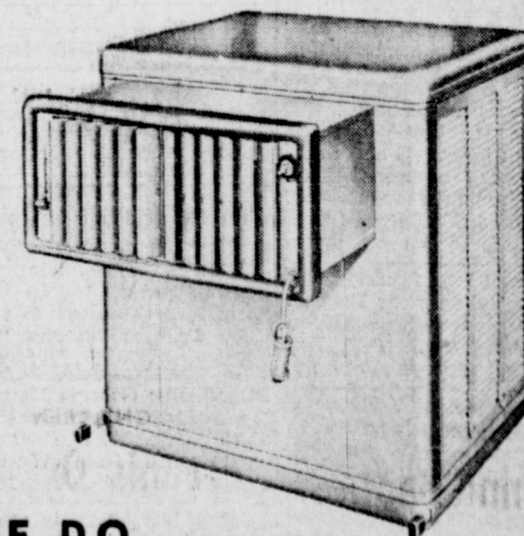

Golf

The golf team is another new element of sports around MHS. It has only been in competition the last two years. Last year the team won the district championship. This year they were automatically the district champions, as no other school in our district produced a golf team. The team placed third in Regional play.

The growth of the Southwest and the operations at General Telephone Company of the Southwest are reflected in the 1956 annual report, just released. During 1956, the company added 13,639 telephones which represented a record high for any previous year. The total number of telephones in service at the end of 1956 was 197,175. Local and long distance traffic increased 5% over last year making 1956 the biggest year yet. Progress in the Southwest is also shown in the fact that 77.7 percent of telephones in service at the end of the year were dial operated compared to only 4 percent in 1946. Gross construction hit an all time high of $10,673,000. Uncle Sam came in for a big bite last year in the way of a 15% increase in taxes. Taxes for the year were the equivalent of $21.60 per telephone or over $1.80 per month per telephone, excluding customs, excise taxes collected by the company and paid directly to the Federal Government.

The report shows 1956 operating revenues increasing 13% over 1955 and net earnings for the year up 24% over 1955. The report also shows the company to have $60,901,000 invested in telephone plant at the end of 1956 compared to $53,495,000 last year. It paid $9,711,000 in salaries and wages during 1956 as compared to $8,285,000 paid in 1955.

The increased cost of doing business is well illustrated by the fact that the company has an investment of $243 at the end of 1956 for every telephone in service as compared to $121 at the end of 1946.

General operates in Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Louisiana and is the largest of the 590 independent non-Bell Telephone Companies which operate within that five state area.

This report does not contain figures concerning the merger of the Texas and Oklahoma Telephone Companies with General because the merger officially took place April 1 of this year. However, it should be pointed out that General Telephone Company with General because the merger officially took place April 1 of this year. However, it should be pointed out that General Telephone Company of the Southwest is now serving over 214,000 telephones in its five state area and has become, following the merger, the fourth largest company in the number of telephones served in the General Telephone System and the second largest company revenue wise. This higher revenue ranking is the result of the relative large toll network owned by this company. In conclusion, the annual report states that the company plans a 1957 construction program which will exceed the record breaking expenditures for expansion and improvement last year in order to meet the continuing demand for more and better telephone service.

COOKE COUNTY REUNION
The annual Cooke county reunion will be held May 24 from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. at the Slide road club house in southwest Lubbock. Joe Nialar, president of the reunion group announced this week. A picnic lunch will be served at 1 p.m. followed by a short program. Prizes will be awarded for the oldest, youngest, and largest families.

Mrs. Bill Eubanks visited her mother, Mrs. Davis at Hale Center Wednesday. Mrs. Davis is in the hospital again.

Mayor Explains Council's Plans

Mayor W. T. Bovell gave an impromptu and off the cuff talk at the Rotary Club Tuesday concerning immediate and more distant plans of the city council.

W. T. Andrews, program chairman, asked the mayor to tell the club what the city intended to do with "all that money the people had voted in the bond election last Saturday."

The mayor outlined plans for completing purchase of water rights from Jno. F. McMurry, marches as well as two special numbers, "Holiday Tune", and "Excursion".

drilling an additional water well, paying for additional paving, and improving and extending water and sewer facilities to the recently added section of town, and told of plans for use of the two water tanks given the city by the Santa Fe.

The two tanks will add about 200,000 gallons of storage for the city and will help keep the state Fire Insurance Commission happy, at the same time saving the city about $20,000 in the purchase price.

Ann Phipps was a very close second with an average of 95.075 to be salutatorian of the class. Ann is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Phipps.

SPEAKERS WARN

Cotton Must Meet Challenge Other Fiber To Maintain Place In Markets

Cotton is being out-researched, out-priced, and out-promoted by aggressive competitors and it will take an all-out effort to meet the challenge.

In a special presentation entitled "Cotton's Problem, Program and Potential", staff members of the National Cotton Council brought this conclusion into sharp focus at a meeting here April 30.

The speakers, armed with facts and figures developed during a two-year study by a special industry-wide committee, revealed that only with a truly adequate program of quality improvement, cost reduction, and sales promotion can cotton hope to gain a greater share of the total fiber market and build a brighter future.

Council field service representatives, Earl Sears, Southwest area supervisor; Dale Anderson, Oklahoma staff; and Earl Young, South Texas staff warned that despite a strong consumer preference for cotton's superior qualities rivals are threatening from every side.

Plain Facts

The plain facts, the speakers said, are these: cotton's surplus is up, acreage has been cut, costs have risen, and profits are trending downward. Competition has increased a total of 21 million cotton bale equivalents since World War II. Synthetic fibers, domestic and foreign, have risen by some 8 million bales, paper by a million, and foreign cotton production has gone up 12 million bales. All these things make it urgent that cotton get competitive on a three-way basis of price, promotion, and research, the speakers said.

Regarding price, it was pointed out that cotton's position in relation to the newer synthetics is good, but, compared with rayon, cotton's major rival, it's poor. At home, rayon undersells U. S. cotton by 4-8 cents a pound, and by about the same margin overseas. This price differential hurts cotton in many ways, not the least of which is the growing practice of blending. Blending a percentage of rayon—maybe 20 or 30 per cent—with cotton fabrics which used to be all cotton is eroding markets away, the speakers declared.

Promotion-wise the synthetic producers spend $20 million annually to sell their products, compared with less than $1 million a year spent by the raw cotton industry.

In this connection, the speakers noted that cotton's present and future sales promotion opportunities are unlimited. Using slides and other visual aids, they demonstrated how cotton can be effectively sold in those markets where personal preference and opinion are major sales influences. At the same time, they stressed the urgent need for bigger sales budgets in such markets as men's wear, work clothes, children's clothes, domestic, and rugs.

Research

A grave disparity exists on the research front too, the speakers reported. Recognizing quality deficiency as their basic weakness, can merely hold on to its present share of the domestic and foreign market, the present trend can be reversed and a market for 15 million bales can be built in four or five years. And this can keep pointing upward to 17 million bales by 1965. This will come as demand for fiber products grows across the world, and under conditions of continued population growth and improved standards of living.

On the other hand, if consumption of cotton can be increased by but one per cent at home and by 20 per cent at the expected foreign textile consumption rise, then cotton can balloon its total market to over 17 million bales by 1960, and will sink further to 7 million bales by 1965, they predicted.

The Tuesday meeting was one in a series being held across the nation's Cotton Belt designed to acquaint all those having a stake in cotton's future with the nature of the current crisis. Horace Edwards served as chairman of the meeting which was sponsored by local ginners and business men.

Hopeful Outlook

In fact, they said, if cotton

ABC Rodeo May 8-11 To Feature Free Shetland Ponies

The South Plains' annual ABC Rodeo, featuring more than 100 of the nation's top contestants, several specialty acts, and prize Shetland ponies for four lucky visitors, will be unveiled in Lubbock's massive Municipal Coliseum May 8-11.

Among the special features of the show this year will be Jimmy Murphy and his White Chargers, a spectacular which includes split-second timing and dangerous jumps in, around and through blazing fire.

Back for the second time will be Phil Williams of Tokio, assisted by Tom Standefer of Bledsoe, for a cutting horse exhibition unexcelled anywhere. Rodeo clowns Bobby and Gene Clark will add to the fun, including an act in which one of them actually disappears right out in the middle of the arena.

Prize money of $3,900 will be divided among the winners in the five regular rodeo events. And, each night, a Shetland pony complete with saddle, bridle and blanket will be given away.

Proceeds from the show will go into the capital fund of Lubbock Boys' Clubs. The rodeo is sponsored by the American Business Club, which has contracted with Beutler and Morgan of Elk City, Oklahoma, to produce the show.

Admission prices will be $2.20 for adults and $1.10 for children. There will be daily performances at 8 p.m., from Wednesday, May 8, through Saturday, May 11. The 7,500 seat coliseum is located on the Texas Tech campus.

Mr. and Mrs. F. H. "Shorty" Davis have moved for a time to Saline Lake, near Winnfield, La., where they have bought a fishing camp.

Great Lakes Naval Station Reunion Interests Texans

Texas, the biggest of the forty-eight, will be honored by the United States Navy during the world's largest homecoming at the world's largest naval training center.

"Salute to Texas" will take place at the Great Lakes Navy Homecoming during the week of July 1 through July 7, 1957.

The thousands of Texans who have trained at Great Lakes have been extended an open invitation to visit their service Alma Mater. The "seabag alumni" of the Lone Star State are part of the almost two million men and women who have received training here in the past forty-six years.

Saturday, July 6, will be the high point of ceremonies honoring Texas' contribution to the Navy—and the nation. A special all-Texas recruit company will graduate Saturday morning in an impressive review on the center.

The recruits will arrive at Great Lakes about May 7. They will begin nine weeks of training which will transform them into Navy men-of-war. Their training will climax when they pass in review before State and Navy officials at graduation. Great Lakes Navy Homecoming

Skeleton Is Key to Health

WHAT HAPPENS when vertebrae get out of line is shown in this adaptation of an anatomy drawing. When all the bones in your spine are in proper position, the chiropractor says, you are more likely to have normally healthy organs.

Chiropractic NERVOUS TENSION CAN CAUSE ACHES and PAINS

In these days of accelerated activity, when the pace of modern living requires the utmost effort of everyone, nervous tension takes its toll in strained and sore muscles.

Normal fatigue is often extended to aching back and shoulder muscles, drawn, tired feeling in the calves of the legs and general nervousness.

All these symptoms of nervous tension are amenable to Chiropractic adjustment. Our files contain the case histories of many Muleshoe area men and women also who have found prompt relief from the tensions of modern living through the medium of Chiropractic.

Man, age 36, came to the Clinic with complaints of lower back pains, extending into the legs and feet; aching shoulder muscles, neck pains and headaches. He reported that these complaints had been recurring over several years, and that he had been diagnosed as having infected kidneys and other diagnosis, medical treatment for which had only resulted in temporary relief.

X-rays were made in the Clinic which showed misalignment of the upper vertebrae, and a series of Chiropractic adjustments were begun, and immediate results were experienced. After only a few weeks the patient reported no further pain, and several months have passed now, and the patient reports feeling fine, with no recurrence of his entrance complaints.

NOTE—The above case history was written by the patient himself in his own words.

Hi School Graduation Requirement May Be Changed At May 6 Meeting

The State Board of Education will give consideration at its May 6 meeting in Austin to several proposed changes in accreditation standards for Texas high schools.

A 29-member advisory committee which has been studying the graduation requirements for Texas schools has recommended the changes. The chairman of the study, Cecil A. Morgan of Fort Worth, is also a member of the State Board of Education. Mr. Morgan said today that if the recommendations are approved in the present form, all accredited high schools will be required to make the following courses available every year or in alternating years, beginning September, 1958:

Four units in English, three of which are required for graduation.

One unit in World History, one unit in American History, and one-half unit in Government, all required for graduation.

Four units in mathematics, including Algebra, Geometry, and General Mathematics, with units of mathematics required for graduation.

Four units in laboratory science, including General Science, Biology, Chemistry, and Physics, with two units required for graduation; and Enough elective units to make alternatives available to students.

No limitation is proposed on the number of elective courses a high school may offer, but the above list specifies 14½ units which every high school must make available and 9½ of these specified units will be required for graduation. In addition, each student must choose enough electives so that, upon graduation, he will have a minimum of 16 units over and above his credits in Health and Physical Education.

In addition to the specific unit requirements, the advisory committee recommended that high schools offer "an adequate program of health and physical education" and also a foreign language "if there is a demand."

The Advisory Committee proposed that the State Commission on School Accreditation be asked to determine the manner in which 2 units of vocational education courses might be substituted for one year of General Science. The committee indicated that the "scientific concepts" contained in Vocational Agriculture, Vocational Home-making, and certain Industrial Vocational Education courses would justify this substitution.

The committee specified that the one-half Government shall include an intensive study of the Constitutions of Texas and the United States.

The Advisory Committee recommended that the new requirements be introduced voluntarily by local school districts in September, 1957, and made mandatory for all schools beginning in the 1958-59 school year.

Improved interest rates on new purchases of Series E and H savings bonds were announced by the Treasury Department today, following the signing by President Eisenhower of the law authorizing the rate increases.

Series E and H bonds purchased currently will now yield 3½ percent per annum, compounded semi-annually, when held to maturity. The former rate was 3 percent. The increase is effective for all Series E and H bonds purchased on or after February 1, 1957.

Another improvement in the new bonds is higher interest paid to holders who find they have to cash their bonds prior to maturity. Both redemption values for the new E bonds and interest payments on the new H bonds are substantially increased.

For example, the redemption value of a new E bond is increased so as to yield 3 percent at the end of 3 years, compared with 24 percent heretofore, and to yield 320 percent at the end of 6 years, compared with 264 percent heretofore.

The improved rates apply automatically to all E and H bonds purchased on or after February 1, 1957; persons who have bought these bonds since that date need not take any further action to assure getting the improved terms. This is true even though the E and H bonds purchased since February 1 may have imprinted on them the former (and now obsolete) tables of redemption values or interest payment scales. The issue date shown on each bond will be controlling in determining the actual redemption value or scale of interest payments, and banks and other paying agents have been furnished tables of the new values.

The new E bonds mature in 8 years and 11 months and the new H bonds in 10 years. Both issues formerly matured in 9 years and 8 months.

The Treasury pointed out that in most cases it will not be advantageous for the holders of E and H bonds issued prior to February 1, 1957, to redeem their old bonds and buy new ones. Any bond that is 2½ years old or older and has not reached first maturity will earn more than 3½ percent on its current redemption value as it grows to maturity. In the case of bonds bought prior to last February 1 and held less than 2½ years, only a small gain could be realized by redeeming them to buy new bonds—typically not more than a few cents per year in increased interest.

Bible Comment: Troubled World Should Take Cue From This Prophet

EVEN prophets had their moments of depression. At times their words come like trumpet calls from a mountain top. But at other times, they were as souls in the darkness of the night, full of lamentation and crying for the dawn.

Habakkuk appears to us in this depressed mood. He comes before us with a burden. It is a burden of a world of violence from which God seems to have departed. It is the sort of world out of which some modern prophet in Czechoslovakia or Hungary might have uttered a cry of doubt or despair. He is appalled at the evil he sees around him, at the injustice, the strife and cruelty and the disregard of law and judgment.

He sees the power of the Chaldeans, which he describes in vivid, swift-moving phrases. He says they bring punishment upon Israel for their sins. But he reflects that these hosts of violence are even more sinful. It is too shallow and unsatisfactory a view to think of them as executing God's judgment.

In his bewilderment and doubt Habakkuk cries out for God. "Art Thou not from everlasting, O Lord, my God, mine Holy One?" But Habakkuk does not only cry. He does what every man assailed with doubt ought to do. He puts himself in the way of finding an answer.

South Explores Peaceful Potentials of Atom Age

As a southerner, you are involved in a tremendously broad atomic energy project which touches the people of 16 states and may benefit you directly—whether you farm, work in a factory, or work in a profession.

Hundreds of specialists throughout 16 states are busy gathering information on how the South can best benefit from atomic energy through regional action. This information will be presented in a region-wide "Work Conference on Nuclear Energy" to be held in August at the request of the Southern Governor's Conference.

Governor Daniel has appointed official delegates from Texas to guide this development, which is assembling facts on a broad scale on atomic energy applications in all phases of the region's economy.

Because nuclear energy has such wide and varied applications in industry, agriculture and health, Governor LeRoy Collins of Florida was moved to say, "atomic energy can mean the economic emancipation of the South," when he presented the idea for the work conference to his colleagues last fall.

The Southern Governor's Conference asked the Southern Regional Education Board to undertake the arrangements for the nuclear conference.

Information is being assembled by a corps of specialists in four major fields: agriculture, industry, health and medicine, and how these affect manpower and education.

What does this mean to you? If you're a farmer, atomic energy products and processes can help kill insects, speed up hybridization, help control livestock and plant diseases, and do a myriad of other things important in your operation.

At North Carolina State College, atomic energy was used to produce three revolutionary varieties of peanuts. One yields 30 per cent more to the acre than conventional strains, another has a shape tailor-made for mechanical harvesting machinery, and another resists leaf-spot disease.

What does atomic energy mean to you if you work in a factory? Your job can be made easier in a number of ways. In the tobacco industry, radioactive materials are used to insure uniform packing of cigarettes, and in other instances, radioactive products are used to control the thickness of coatings, rolled metals, and other materials. In addition to making the job easier, these uses of atomic energy help improve the product quality and are creating more and more jobs all the time.

Human and animal health and the treatment of disease is a third broad field in which atomic energy plays an important role. By now most people are familiar with some of the benefits which medicine has derived from the atom. But did you know that one hospital in Atlanta alone routinely treats 190 patients a year with radioactive iodine for thyroid disorders? This story is duplicated in hospitals throughout the nation.

Such is the information now being gathered and translated into usable facts on which the governors of the Southern states might base regional and state atomic development efforts.

A report for the Southern Governor's Conference will come out of the August session which will for the first time give a clear, factual picture of atomic energy in the South—now and in the future.

Helping prepare for the work conference are a number of nationally known technical experts from throughout the United States who are presenting data from their special fields.

These experts include research workers in industry, government, and colleges; industrialists using atomic energy in one way or another in their enterprise; agricultural experts; and officials of the United States Atomic Energy Commission, educational institutions, and organized labor.

The basic group which guides the policies and activities of the planning are the appointed representatives of the governors of the Southern states. In many cases, these representatives are industrial development officials.

These official representatives of the governors have met twice and will convene at Aiken, South Carolina, for a third planning session, June 14-15.

Another participating group in the project is the Regional Industry Advisory Committee, made up of 14 leading Southern business and industrial executives appointed by Governor Collins.

Named to Mortar Board
Texas Tech's Mortar Board, national senior women's organization, has tapped 19 junior girls for membership in the first official activity since the chapter was installed early this year.

At the sound of the Matador, S. G. Mortar Board members, dressed in caps and sashes, filed to the class of exact, new member. One Mortar Board member placed the traditional black collar about the new member's shoulder while the group sang "Ode to Mortar Board". Then, each new member-elect joined the procession.

Every junior girl with a 1.8 grade average (C plus) was considered for membership. Selection was made after consulting faculty and students and reviewing activity in which two girls have participated. Scholarship leadership and campus service formed the basis for selection of the new members.

Named for membership is Carolyn Reynolds of Enoch, home economics major.

Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Wilson, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Willie Wall, Jack Patterson and Claude Meyers from the Rhea community spent the latter part of the week at Conchas Lake.

Babson Discusses . . .

THE WESTERN DROUGHT SITUATION

Babson Park, Mass., May 2 — A sound of rejoicing is today echoing across the western Great Plains. Mother Nature at long last has showered down copious rains and heavy snows upon wide areas of that drought-stricken region. As a result, soil moisture conditions in much of the Great Plains are more encouraging than they have been in several years.

BUT — IS THE DROUGHT BROKEN?
Farmers and businessmen living in the Great Plains naturally are greatly concerned as to whether these much-improved moisture conditions are a mere flash in the pan or the real thing. Crops in some instances have been hard hit; valuable top-soil has been blown away; cattle have starved or farmers have been forced to liquidate them for lack of feed; and some people living on the land are facing poverty. Although this five-year drought has been less destructive on the whole than the disastrous droughts of 1934 and 1936, it has been severe. I can well appreciate the mounting hope in many hearts that it may now be ending.

I wish I could give them definite assurance that the worst is over. Perhaps it is. However, I am a statistician and not a weather forecaster — at least not a very good one. Professional weather forecasters tell me that it takes about six months of above-normal precipitation to end a major drought. If so, in this respect at least there is still some distance to go before we can know for a certainty that the drought has ended. Incidentally, there are still sizable sections of Colorado, New Mexico, Nebraska, Texas, and Ohio that remain parched. The one sure thing is that overall moisture conditions have materially improved — the trend is in the right direction. The drought is old, and this is another favorable factor. By the law of averages, it should not last much longer.

FARMERS GAINING DROUGHT KNOWHOW
Whether recurrent droughts will ever cease to plague the western Great Plains is a secret buried deep in Nature's crystal ball. Perhaps scientists some day will come up with something very constructive. Meanwhile, farmers are learning more and more how to live with droughts and come out ahead or at least break even. They have come a long way in this respect since the Dust

Bowl days of the Thirties, when about all they could do was to "take it lying down", or pull up stakes and migrate to other, more favored areas. The smart farmer of the Great Plains no longer plows and plants indiscriminately. He knows the value of soil-conservation methods, of irrigation, of modern farm tools, of contour plowing and terracing, of sowing drought-resistant cover crops where and when needed, and of shelter belts of trees. He also now gears the kind of crop planted to soil-moisture conditions prevailing at the time of planting, and utilizes moisture-conservation techniques and diversified farming. By these and other modern agricultural methods and practices designed to lessen the risk to farmers and crops from drought or other destructive forces, he is making real progress under all conditions.

TREND TO LARGER FARMS WILL CONTINUE

These various modern methods of farming and of minimizing the effects of droughts or other adverse conditions all point in one direction — toward larger, better equipped, and more skillfully managed farms. The one-man farm even now is as outdated as the "one-hoss shay". This "farm revolution" has made rapid progress in recent years. There are, for instance, a million more tractors on U. S. farms today than there were in 1950; 131% more pick-up hay balers; 51% more corn-pickers; 39% more grain combines; and 12% more milking machines.

On the other hand, the number of U. S. farms has declined 11% since 1950 — from 5,379,250 to 4,783,021. Yet total farm area has not changed much since then. Therefore, the size of many farms has increased. It is only on these larger, well-managed farms that the full benefits of mechanization and modern techniques can profitably be realized. Such farms are in a much better position to survive prolonged drought or other adversities than is the small, poorly managed farm. They are here to stay. Farming in America now is "big business". I, therefore, forecast another relatively good year for most American farmers. They are a sturdy, intelligent, industrious, and God-fearing group. This is a combination of qualities hard to beat, and what America sorely needs today.

Christian Science Services

How sin and suffering are destroyed through spiritual understanding of Christ, Truth, will be explained at Christian Science services Sunday.

Scriptural readings in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Everlasting Punishment" will include the following from Lamentations (3: 39-41): "Wherefore doth a living man complain, a man for the punishment of his sins? Let us search and try our ways, and turn again to the Lord. Let us lift up our hearts with our hands unto God in the heavens."

Correlative selections to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include the following (391:13): It is error to suffer for aught but your own sins. Christ, or Truth, will destroy all other supposed suffering, and real suffering for your own sins will cease in proportion as the sin ceases."

Atar, with 5,000 inhabitants, is the largest urban center in Mauretania, a sector of French West Africa larger than France itself.

Sandhill Philosopher Claims What Farmers Need Is Bean That Grows Inside Cellophane Bag

Editor's note: The Sand Hills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm has an unusual idea this week, probably on the impractical side.

Dear editor: Statistics don't mean much to me. I never have found it necessary to wait on Washington's figures on whether or not the cost of living has gone up to find out for myself, all I have to do is buy something and I know right off, but the other night I was reading in a newspaper which I'd been saving up for a week—I know it's discourteous to wait that long to read a paper that the people who produce it worked like mad to get out in 24 hours, but if you haven't heard some news, it's still news, even if it's seven days old—at any rate, about this article I was reading:

According to it, Washington has discovered that in the last 10 years food prices have increased 16 per cent in the store, while prices received by farmers for the food dropped 14 per cent.

In other words, farmers have been getting less for raising it, while retailers have been getting more for selling it, and this got me to thinking.

Now there's no use in blaming the grocery stores, they aren't making any more profit now than they did 10 years ago. The fault lies with the farmer.

His trouble is that he doesn't know how to grow beans for example in a cellophane bag. The ordinary farmer growing beans, he just grows them in the same old-fashioned way and delivers them to market, rattling around in the back of a truck or sewed up in a tow sack, and then's when things begin happening to the price, and by the time they get to the grocery shelf, the beans have shot up considerably in cost.

It's the cellophane bag that does it, and if farmers are smart they'll get the agricultural colleges to working on a bean that can come up and mature inside a bag, ready to stamp with the current retail price. Instead of working on varieties of beans that grow faster, are more drought-resistant, storm-proof, and uniform, what the college experts ought to be doing is perfecting varieties that'll mature inside 25-cent bags, 50-cent bags, $1.25 bags, and on up, all ready to put on a grocery shelf. The same thing is true of radishes, carrots, roasting ears, potatoes, tomatoes, etc. The cost of getting a bean inside a cellophane bag is what's holding the farmer back.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

THIS WEEK

—In Washington

Clinton Davidson

When a small-town lawyer from the Midwest comes to Washington to ride herd on the Nation's fastest growing industry the temptation to become a high-hat bureaucrat is almost irresistible.

It was just a year and a few days ago that James R. Durfee, who practiced law in Antigo, Wis., for 25 years, became Chairman of the Civil Aeronautics Board. He is one who successfully resisted the temptation.

Civil aviation has been growing like Topsy in the past 10 years and Durfee believes, will grow even more rapidly in the years ahead. Recently we talked with him about aviation, a subject he knows well and likes to talk about.

Durfee still talks at the leisurely pace of a country lawyer, but his mind works with the speed of the coming jet age of aviation. And that age, he says, will really be something to behold.

Huge jet airlines flying 600 or more miles an hour at tremendous heights will be safer and more economical than present type planes, Durfee predicted. U. S. companies already have ordered more than $2 billion worth of such planes and will be flying them in less than two years.

Transcontinental passengers will be able to board a plane in New York, for example, at 8 a. m. EST, and be in San Francisco 9 a. m. PST, an elapsed time of four hours. The result will be a remarkable increase in air travel, Durfee predicts.

That prediction becomes more significant when you see official figures showing that people traveled almost as many miles by air last year as by train. The figures for 1956 were 22.3 billion air passenger miles and 22.8 billion miles by train. Airline travel increased by almost 400% between 1947 and 1956.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our thanks to our many friends for the gifts of food, and the beautiful floral offering during our bereavement in the loss of our dear wife and mother.

Dale Krebbs, who has recently completed his basic training at Commercial aviation . . . in miles flown and passengers and freight carried . . . has increased by 200% in the past 10 years. Durfee estimated. The increase in the next 10 years, he thinks, will be even greater.

The Civil Aeronautics Board is the public's watchdog to see that necessary safety rules are adopted and that fares charged are reasonable. It also passes on applications for new air routes. It is, in effect, an arm of Congress with authority to establish operational standards and procedures.

At a time when most Washington agencies have doubled and quadrupled their number of employees, CAB is doing a greatly expanded job with fewer employees than it had 10 years ago. During the decade the number decreased from 640 to 625.

Durfee emphasizes that the CAB's purpose is not to manage the airlines, but to "regulate rates and fares and to compel the carriers to provide services adequate to meet the needs of those who wish to travel by air."

"It is not accident," he says, "that this balance between private initiative and protection of the public has resulted in the best airline system in the world, operated at the lowest overall level of rates and fares."

Durfee sees the rapid expansion of commercial aviation as one of the greatest forces for world peace. "For centuries, man has dreamed of flight through the air, just as he dreamed of peace among nations. The first has become reality. In the air age we may find the vision we need to accomplish our dream of a universal brotherhood of man."

Fort Carson, Colo., arrived April 22 to be with his wife, Helen, and to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. K. K. Krebbs of Muleshoe. He will report to Fort Gordon, Ga., May 6, where he will attend radio and teletype school. His wife will accompany him.

TODAY'S MEDITATION

Read Matthew 27:50-56. The curtain of the temple was torn in two. (Matthew 27:51. RSV.)

When Jesus said, "It is finished," the curtain of the temple was torn in two, from top to bottom. The holy of holies was no more, the ceremonial law of Moses of no effect. Instead, grace now abounds to him who believes in the Son of man and Son of God who died on the cross. Because of His death and resurrection, fear has given way to faith in love and in the power of the new birth.

On the cross, Jesus exemplified the new gospel—forgiveness and love, reassurance and help, fellowship and stewardship, pain and prayer, earnestness and faith, vision and victory, and surrender and obedience.

Thus the power of sin has been broken. To him who accepts Christ as Lord and Saviour, Christ becomes a friend, a brother, faithful unto the end. The believer himself becomes a priest, a son and an heir of life eternal — both here and hereafter.

PRAYER

O Lord, destroy the curtain of sin which separates us from Thee. So may we always behold Thy loving face. Teach us to love Thee rather than to fear Thee, to trust and obey our Lord and Saviour. In His name, Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY
Our triumph is in Christ.
—Florence D. R. Ponce (Phill.)

When I consider Thy heavens . . . the moon and the stars which Thou hast ordained; What is man, that Thou art mindful of him?—(Psalm 8; 3,4).

How almost unbelievable—but how wonderful—it is that Almighty God, Creator of all the vast universe should none-the-less, in infinite loving-kindness, have heed of even the least of us mortals!

SMALL DAMS FOR TEXAS CONSERVATION
The state's tremendous land and water resources — ill from many years of neglect — are getting a good "shot in the arm" from the various Soil Conservation Districts.

Hundreds of small dams, known as retention reservoirs, have been constructed on upstream tributaries in major Texas watersheds. Many others are planned in conjunction with large downstream reservoirs.

These upstream water retention structures are beginning to dot the countryside. In some areas, they can be seen from the highway. They might appear, at first, to be an exaggerated "Texas-size" stock tanks.

The small dam projects have a three-fold purpose: Prevent flash floods, conserve water and stop soil erosion.

Thousands of acres in lowland areas have been made available for crops and pastures because the retention structures have eliminated seasonal flash floods.

SCD co-operators in the area, through proper land treatment on farms surrounding the reservoirs, help preserve every rain drop that falls. They also assist the Soil Conservation Service in obtaining necessary easements for proposed reservoirs.

The dams, when constructed, remain the property of the landowners. Recreational facilities have been set up by many. An irrigation has been applied to small, adjoining crops.

The structures are designed to release excessive water downstream at a slow rate, thereby putting into practice the idea to "make water walk, not run". When a flash flood strikes, the reservoirs catch the water and release it very slowly.

Completion of all the planned small dams will, in the future, tend to stabilize the flow of large creeks and rivers — providing more dependable, year-round surface water supplies.

All Texans should be proud of the locally controlled Soil Conservation District SCD boards of supervisors and the farmer-co-operators are far-sighted, progressive leaders. They have recognized that, as the soil goes, so goes the nation. And they're doing something about it.

Research Program Planned In Corn At Hi Plains Farm
Lawrence J. Gundy, agronomist in charge of corn research and breeding program and the grain sorghum variety testing at the Texas Research Foundation, spent three days at the High Plains station at Halfway working with the staff in planning the research program for corn and grain sorghum at the 310 acre experimental farm. He was accompanied by Frank Grimes, who is in charge of the marketing of the biggest tonnage of Sesame ever produced at good prices are more favorable at this time than they have ever been in the past. Both domestic and export buyers of Sesame are already in short supply, he commented.

Parmer County Farm Bureau News

We would again like to remind you wives that you can make claim for the five cent per gallon tax refund on the gasoline your husband uses in his tractors and other farm machinery not used on public roads. Several thousand dollars are forfeited each year by Parmer county farmers because of neglect in making claim promptly. The total refund in the county still amounts to close to thirty thousand dollars annually.

Rhea Farm Bureau will have a good program this Friday night, "You and the Weather", a colorful movie that shows how forecasts are made, and many other interesting facts about the weather, is the feature attraction. Cartoons will also be shown. Bert Shackelford is the host providing the educational and entertaining features. Franklin Bauer is the local chairman. We know that the folks out there would be glad to see you as a visitor to one or more of their meetings.

A lady who made a rather pointed survey or rules and regulations in a well known chain of restaurants recently, reports these, among other facts: Meat servings are measured on a standard basis for dinners to weigh three ounces. One pat of butter, with which we are all familiar, is the standard serving with any meal. Milk is often served in non-appetizing thick warm glasses at ten to fifteen cents per eight ounce serving. This brings in $30 per hundred pounds of milk. The lady claims, and apparently she is right, that such rationing of the most desirable foods began during World War II, and that because of lack of demand, no change has been made except in the price charged. She also said that if all restaurants would serve two, instead of one pat of butter, the surplus would disappear in less than a year's time. This would cost the servers of the meals less than one cent per meal.

To the above we would add that it seems a very small thing to request that restaurants in such areas as this should serve butter and post signs to that effect, rather than the cheap substitute. And milk, if offered as enthusiastically, would sell in place of much of the coffee from Brazil.

Time Now To Plant Sesame On Plains

It's planting time for Sesame, the new cash crop on the High Plains.

"The recommended best planting time for Sesame is spread from May 5 to June 5," says Robert L. Parker, executive vice-president of the Texas Sesame Seed Growers, "with most experienced-Sesame growers planting between May 10 and 20. In general practice, most farmers follow their cotton planting with their Sesame."

Parker estimated that on the basis of commitments already made, more than 15,000 acres will be planted to Sesame in Texas this year — most of it on the irrigated High Plains.

"About 5,000 acres were planted to Sesame on the High Plains last year", Parker said, "and the results generally were very good, many growers grossing more than $110 per acre. This year our organization has conducted 15 farmer meetings on the plains, and on the basis of the enthusiasm and interest of farmers, we estimate that the 1957 High Plains crop will reach more than 10,000 acres, and may even go to 15,000 acres."

Parker said there is a general recognition among plains farmers with two and three years of experience in growing and harvesting Sesame that is having established itself as their No. 2 money crop.

The only equipment needed to plant Sesame in addition to standard planting equipment is a vegetable seed planter box, Parker said. He suggested a planting rate of 1 1/2 to 2 pounds of seed per acre, and sometimes even more where farmers are shooting for 1,000 pounds per acre yield or better and where they propose to give the crop the water necessary to produce these yields. This gives a plant density in the row of a stalk every half inch to one inch, when planted in 40" rows. Top farmers who have produced yields in excess of 1,000 pounds of seed per acre say these thick stands are absolutely necessary.

Parker said that in the beginning, obtaining good stands was a problem on the plains. This has been overcome in two ways: Shallow Plantings; plant just deep enough to germinate seed well before soil is dried by wind. By using rubber press wheels and other devices, farmers plant successfully at depths of 1" to 1 1/2". Two inches is the maximum recommended planting depth for any method. Rotary hoes, or other scratching tools are now used to break up soil crust caused by rain or showers. Many fine stands have been "scratched up" which otherwise would have required replanting.

Market prospects, both domestic and foreign, continue excellent. Parker said that the pros-

Worldly Power Is Worthless to One Seeking God's Way

ISAIAH, speaking to the Jewish exiles in Babylon, voices God's invitation to seek His mercy and partake of His grace in words that have brought attention to successive generations with ringing strength and sincerity.

He is a bold man who will presume to speak for God. But his boldness is justified if he speaks from nearness to God and from knowledge of God's character, will and purpose. Moreover, his words will be tested. Their truth will depend upon that testing and not merely upon the boldness or authority of the man who utters them.

The great prophetic sayings are not made great because they are great and the world honors these prophets because their spiritual worth and soundness have been proven in thought and experience. Time and experience soon separate the false prophets from the true.

What God has to give to man cannot be bought. It is without money and without price. Yet the Jews compared it to the pearl of great price. It was worth every man's while to sacrifice all to possess this.

As a matter of fact, there is a price for God's grace, but not in worldly coin. The wealthy and learned and powerful have no more means of possessing it than have lowly persons who cower with nothing but penitence and the devotion of their hearts.

God's invitation is for men to forsake their evil ways and their evil thoughts. Man can control even his thoughts.

"That old common-grade oil I used to use in these irrigation engines sure did let the dirt and dust and rust cake up in those engines! But worse than that, with butane or propane, it thickened up when it looked almost like gear-grease! Man, what a change with this AMALIE L. P. G. Oil!"

There's a great distance between these girls modeling summertime bathing fashions. It's London on the left and Hollywood on the right.
 Beach fashions, as quite a few other things, differ between Americans and their British cousins as these examples of hot-weather fashions illustrate. The Hollywood design on the right retains the simplest possible lines and American men aren't likely to complain about the lack of innovation. British reserve, on the other hand, is appealed to by this sack-like beach tunic of German design. The tunic's boxy lines are accented by straight white piping.

 Center Riser Sprinkler
 ALUMINUM IRRIGATION SYSTEM

The riser located in the center of the lateral lines provides a convenient grip for handling the pipe because this is the balance point of the pipe. Individual lengths are uncoupled, carried and recoupled without extra trips to the end of the pipe. The system has a positive lock coupler that can be replaced in the field without special tools or welding. Mathieson's new center riser can be installed on your present sprinkler system in the field without special tools.

PENGUINS MEET FROGMAN—Penguins must lead calm day-to-day lives, expecting little in the way of diversion in the Antarctic. So the sudden appearance of a Navy frogman from the depths of frigid waters easily explains their startled looks. Trying to make friends with the animals, the unidentified intruder in the snow is a member of Task Force 42 which recently completed the second phase of "Operation Deepfreeze," supporting American scientific studies for the International Geophysical Year. This penguin-interest shot was taken during construction of an operating base at Marie Byrd Land.

Chief Andrews, the Navy Recruiter from Clovis, will be in Muleshoe on Monday, at the Selective Service office between the hours of 10:00 a.m. and 12:30 p.m. School will be out soon for the summer vacation and that means that now is the time for all seniors who plan on entering the Navy after graduation to come in and take the test and see what Navy school you can qualify for and get your name high on the waiting list.

If you would like to be in on the ground floor of the new atomic branch of the Navy and can qualify on the test now is the time to get started. See your Navy recruiter as soon as possible, he visits in Muleshoe every Monday morning at the Selective Service office.
