

Mules Lose 20-14 To Morton; Meet Springlake Friday

A last minute breakaway by the Morton Indians brought about the first defeat of the season last Friday night for the Mules. A play in the last 23 seconds of the final quarter made the score read 20-14 in favor of Morton, causing one of the major upsets of the young season.

The Mules journey to Springlake tomorrow night to tangle with the Springlake eleven in an attempt to regain their standings in the win-loss columns. Game time is 8 p.m., and a large crowd of local fans is expected to be on hand.

The following Friday, October 4 is the first home game of the season for the Mules when they play host to Hale Center at Benny Douglas stadium.

200 MILLION BUSHEL FOR TEXAS . . .

Largest Milo Crop In History Begins Rolling In To Local Area Elevators

What promises to be the largest milo harvest of Plains history is rapidly getting underway on the West Plains, with loaded trucks of grain arriving at local elevators every day in increasing numbers. A good year of dry-land production topped by an outstanding yield of hybrid grains on irrigated land has caused the biggest crop of sirghum grain in this area.

Practically every elevator in the area has received some grain already, and combining is getting off to a good start.

Some of the hybrid grains are producing fantastic yields, adding to the high output brought about by good seasonal weather, are causing some farm observers to ponder what price the grain is going to bring by end of season.

Aptly named the going price in Muleshoe is $1.50, but the consensus of opinion by elevator men here is that the price will shortly drop to as low as $1.30.

They base their opinion on the fact that the crop is the largest ever, and is expected to total somewhere in the neighborhood of 200 million bushel in Texas. Last year the Texas milo crop was 120 million bushel, and most feel that an 80 million bushel increase is not an optimistic figure.

CofC Recommends Suggestions From Volunteer Member

The Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce has submitted a plan to the City Council, as a result of a recent study made to provide at least one fireman on duty at night in the city fire station who would also act as liaison with the night patrolman of the police department.

Coming in the form of suggestions from members of the volunteer fire department, the plan would place one fireman on permanent duty every night at the fire station to answer fire calls, sound the alarm, and also to contact the police car by radio if necessary.

Members of the fire department would expect some recompense for their services, all funds to be placed in the fire department treasury, and no member to receive any salary for his duty.

The study committee of the Chamber set out to determine the advisability of employing a full time fire department, and the recommendations submitted to the Council, are an outgrowth of that study.

SANTA COMING DECEMBER 7 . . .

Plans For Extensive Holiday Light Program Set By CofC Committee

Plans for an extensive, long range program of Christmas holiday decorations for downtown Muleshoe were begun at a meeting of members of the Retail Tradés committee of the Chamber of Commerce Wednesday afternoon. The program, under the chairmanship of Homer Sanders, Jr., is designed to begin a lighting program this year and add to it each year with participating merchants paying for the decorations on a front footage charge basis.

The decorations will probably begin with lighted plastic holiday motifs mounted on public service poles, combined with existing lighting strings across the streets. In following years, other decorations are to be added, according to the plan, until a complete decoration system has been purchased. Cost of the decorations will be spread over a four year period, members of the committee said.

According to discussion by the group Wednesday, it is planned to eventually light main street, several blocks of cross streets and all highways leading into the downtown area.

Cost To Be Determined

Actual cost per merchant will be determined by the committee, which is to choose the illumination plan, and also upon participation by civic and social groups in underwriting the cost of the materials.

Santa's Coming

Santa Claus is scheduled to make the first of several appearances in Muleshoe on December 7 at 4 p.m., when children will visit with Santa and receive candy and fruit.

A drawing for children only will begin at 9 a.m., and be held several times during the day prior to the actual arrival of St. Nick.

Santa Claus is also scheduled to return to visit in downtown Muleshoe on December 14, 19, 20, 21 and 23. He will visit children shopping in various stores and also on the street.

Late Closing Hours

Although final plans have not been made, some local merchants plan to begin remaining open until 9 p.m., beginning December 19 through December 23. Most merchants will close at 7 p.m. on Christmas Eve.

Members of the committee selected to choose decorations and set the cost, include Sanders, Murl Wilson, Thurman White, Myron Pool, and Jeff Peeler.

Some kind of celebration will be held on December 19, although the group Wednesday voted not to hold Teasdale Trail this year. Some other kind of promotion, including a give away, will be announced by a committee composed of Red Simmons, June Wagnon and W. Q. Casey.

Twenty retailers were present at the meeting presided over by Harvey Bass.

State H. D. Agent and District H. D. Agent Visit

Miss Gladys Martin, State Home Demonstration Agent and Mrs. Aubrey Russell, District Home Demonstration Agent, visited the Bailey County Home Demonstration Council Monday.

Tomato Season Is Here

After the council meeting, Miss Martin, Mrs. Russell and I visited the tomato test plot in the northwest part of the county on the Lewis Scoggin place. We were amazed to see tomato plants so heavily loaded with such beautiful fruit. There were twenty-two varieties in the plot. What amazed us most was to learn that one of the varieties is bearing at the rate of twenty-two tons per acre—the name is Roma. The shape of the fruit reminded me of the little yellow pear tomatoes that are so popular for preserves, but the Roma is red and is much larger. It is a good canning tomato as well as nice for the table. It has a very good flavor—we enjoyed some right in the field.

I hope you are canning Bailey county tomatoes for use in your family meals this winter. Don't forget such things as Chili sauce, Catsup, Tomato Juice and Tomato-Apple Chutney. The recipes are in the Extension Service bulletin "Pickles and Relishes." Call, write or come by the home demonstration agent's office and ask for your free copy.

Coach Mantooth Talks To Lions

Coach Wayne Mantooth kept members of the Muleshoe Lions club entertained for an hour Wednesday at their luncheon meeting with a talk on the current crop of football players here.

Mantooth said he had no excuse to offer for the team, and could take nothing from the Morton players, to justify the loss last Friday night.

Coach spoke in glowing terms of the spirit and effort of the players, and complimented them on their work.

Coach McClure also spoke briefly on the work of his seventh and eighth grade players.

The Muleshoe high school student council voted to enlarge the student council by allowing the secretaries of all school clubs, automatic members.

Congratulatory cards were sent the Mules as a team, and Bill Black, Dickie Johnson and Oakie Alexander, all who scored in 56-7 win over Sudan.

Dist. Governor Visits Muleshoe Rotary Club

Morris Higley, Governor of Rotary District No. 53, paid his official visit to the Rotary Club of Muleshoe Monday and Tuesday of this week. He was accompanied by Mrs. Higley.

The club assembly was held Monday evening in the home of Dr. and Mrs. Birdsong. Club leaders and their wives, Governor and Mrs. Higley attended. Mr. Higley conferred Wednesday afternoon with Sam Cook, president, and Jim Fowler, secretary of the local club.

He was guest of honor at the Rotary Club's regular noon luncheon Tuesday.

His address was unique in that instead of dwelling upon Rotary work and the conditions of the local club, he told of his trip to the governors' assembly in Lake Placid, N. Y., and the subsequent trip he and Mrs. Higley made to the Rotary International convention held in Lucerne, Switzerland. His at times humorous talk, however, pointed up the ideals of international fellowship and good will which are the mainsprings of Rotary.

A guest of the local club was Alex Williams, of the accounting firm of Williams & Merriman.

Parmer County Farm Bureau News

We hope you will keep October 7, Monday night, in mind as the night for Parmer County's annual Farm Bureau convention. Cotton John will be there to speak to you, and there will be items of great interest discussed and decided upon. Five directors will be elected, as well as a president. Remember that these are the men charged with carrying out policies decided by you, throughout the year, and be there to cast your ballot for the ones you believe best qualified for the office.

Vice-president Jack Patterson and the nominating committee met Monday night to prepare ballots with proposed nominees for these offices. Nominations will be welcomed from the floor before any voting takes place.

Harry Hamilton and president Kaltwasser, along with the resolutions committee are also meeting this week to prepare resolutions for your discussion and vote on matters of vital interest to agriculture within the next year. One of them concerns proposals by the Texas Research League to discontinue expansion of the Farm to Market Road Program.

There is evidence that moves may be made in the called legislative session this fall to get this legislation passed. If you are a Farm Bureau member, be on hand to give your organization strong opposition to any such legislation if you think we need more paved rural roads. If you are not a member, join right now, so you will have a vote.

Another subject of real importance concerns the future of Rural Electric Cooperatives in Texas. For just ten dollars a year, and a little time, farmers can, through Farm Bureau defeat the efforts of some private interests to deprive farmers of their Rural Electric services. Remember that this portion of the program would affect your Rural Telephone system finally, too.

If you do not favor extension of the minimum wage law to cover your farm operations (at least $1.00 per hour for eight hours, time and one half for overtime) you will have opportunity to say so with real strength through Farm Bureau, the organization that has spoken against this extension successfully up to this date. More organized voices make better insurance of your freedom to hire.

Carl Bamert Home Of Roman Brick Features Builtins For Convenience

It is a farm home, but what a farm home!

More than 2800 square feet of floor space surrounded by mahogany blend roman brick veneer walls and topped with a gleaming white roof. It's the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Bamert, four miles north of Muleshoe, off the Friona highway.

The mahogany blend brick is offset nicely by beige trim on the doors and windows.

The floor plan contains three bedrooms, one measuring 16x22 feet; three baths, living room, den-kitchen-dining room combination, a utility room, Carl's office, a double garage, and a covered terrace where three year old Greta likes to play. Sliding doors from the den offer access to the terrace just outside.

The entry is paved in clay tile, and the entire house is decorated in tones of brown, with a color called "mauve toast" predominating in the walls and ceilings of all rooms except the den-kitchen combination room.

Nylon carpeting in beige is used throughout the house also except in the office, utility room and kitchen, where vinyl flooring in a terrazzo pattern is seen.

The kitchen, dining area and den are all one large room, and random width birch panelling ties the area together. A breakfast bar backs up the range island with copper hood and ventilator. Birch cabinets, stained to match the early American maple furniture grace the marvelously convenient kitchen.

The kitchen features a number of built in appliances, including of course the range and oven, dishwasher, mixer-blender unit, disappearing paper towel dispensers, hanging refrigerator, and garbage disposal unit.

But the builtin feature to end all built-ins, is the vacuum cleaning system in the Bamert home. A central dust collector is mounted outside the house with inlets for 25 foot vacuum hoses are located throughout the house, so that Mrs. Bamert may connect her vacuum hose in almost any room, and never be concerned with lugging the tank after her, or with emptying the tank indoors.

Greta's bathroom is in pink and blue ceramic tile, and she is quick to point out that it has a lock on the inside of the door, which has given Mrs. Bamert some moments of concern.

The living room features a sunken level from the remainder of the house, and the two steps down into the living room are flanked by built in planter boxes. On one wall a built in china cabinet proudly shows off Mrs. Bamert's collection.

Living room furniture is contemporary, and blends gracefully with two side tables with marble tops, finished in fruitwood stains.

The bedrooms all feature huge closets, 12 in all, with the one in Greta's room boasting plenty of room for can-can petticoats still unhung. Casement windows of aluminum are decorated with early American print drapes of polished material.

The house was begun in February, and the Bamerts moved in June 1. John McGuire was contractor for the house with several local and out of town sub-contractors.

The floor plan allows Carl to work in his office, or to come in from the fields and clean up, dine and return to work without ever entering the main part of the house. This was a major factor in designing the home, the Bamert's relate, and Carl appreciates the convenience of being able to pay his hands off from a centrally located office in bad

Texas Sesame Growers Opens New Elevator To Handle Milo Crop Here

The Texas Sesame Growers' new grain and sesame elevator has opened for business here in Muleshoe and is ready for this year's record crop of milo.

The new plant, located on the north side of the Santa Fe tracks in the west part of town, is designed for buying and selling grain and for storing grain for the Commodity Credit Corporation. It is also headquarters for the expanding operations of Texas Sesame Growers, Inc., on the High Plains, Robert L. Parker, executive vice-president announced today.

These new grain storage facilities, consisting of a 145,000 bushel Butler grain storage building and two 56-foot steel bolted Butler grain tanks with a combined capacity of 25,000 bushels, are located on a six-acre tract purchased from Mr. and Mrs. John T. Boydston of Muleshoe.

"We are in operation and ready to receive the new milo crop," Parker said.

In addition to the storage building and tanks, work has been completed on the big divided dump pit, which feeds grain into the 4,000 bushel per hour capacity elevator leg. The leg is erected, and stands 111 feet, overall height. An eight-way turn head distributes grain to the building, to either tank, or to a waiting truck or railroad car. A reversible screw conveyor has been installed for loading and unloading the grain building. Aeration equipment exceeds minimum government standards.

The mechanical truck dump is 7 1/2 horsepower capacity, and test-run truckloads were dumped and conveyed at the rate of one every three minutes, according to company officials.

J. M. McNabb, an experienced and outstanding grain man, has been employed to put the new Muleshoe grain elevator in operation and operate it through this season.

"We are very lucky to obtain a man of Mr. McNabb's caliber," Parker said. "He has been in the grain business for 20 years, the last seven as general manager of the $3,000,000 Archer-Daniels-Midland flax processing plant and grain elevator in Kenedy, Texas. Flax growing in the area is being discontinued due to the drought and the Kenedy plant is being dismantled."

"The plant in Muleshoe has been built to meet the need for additional grain storage which now is rapidly developing, and to meet the long-range development of the sesame industry on the Plains," Parker stated.

Texas Sesame Growers, Inc., is a farmer's corporation with general headquarters in Paris, Texas, where it was started. The organization of farmers was chartered under the laws of Texas on November 26, 1952. Since that date it has had a continuous growth. The organization was set up to find a new crop for the farmers of the Paris area, and sesame was selected for trial because of the promise it had shown in experimental

SENIORS TO DO ODD JOBS

The senior class of Muleshoe high school has set September 28 as their work day to do odd jobs to raise funds.

Appointments for work to be done by class members may be made by calling 3334 on weekdays and 5330 on Saturday until noon.

The crop has grown from an experimental two acres planted in Lamar county in 1952 to more than 12,000 acres in 1957 — a sizable portion of which is in the Muleshoe area.

Clyde Black, well known throughout this area as field man for Texas Sesame Growers, has moved to Muleshoe as general manager of the new office. Most of his time will be devoted to sesame.

Credit for helping develop Sesame into a profitable cash crop for irrigated land is due several of the farmers and agricultural leaders of the area. County Agent J. K. Adams has observed Sesame production since its beginning on the Plains, and has led the educational program to cut production costs and increase yields. Three year growers include Allen Haley, Auel Ashford, Marshall Head, Cecil Mardis, Glascock brothers, Lewis Scoggins, Leon Lewis, D. L. Smith, Robert Hooten, and L. C. Herrington. Many others are second year growers, and more than fifty farmers planted Sesame in the area this year.

Clayton Sanders, who lives in Muleshoe, is a three year Sesame grower, and was the nation's top producer in 1955 and 1956. Cecil Taber gave the crop a big boost last year with his excellent custom combine operations. Over the line in Parmer county, Billy Marshall and James Boardman are third year growers, and Marshall has probably the largest acreage in the state this year.

General contractor on the job was the H. E. Wright Co., Butler Buildings authorized dealer in Texarkana. Concrete and concrete finishing was furnished by Muleshoe Concrete Co., Welch Plumbing Co., furnished and installed the plumbing; Ashford Construction Co., of Muleshoe did all the dirt and fill work; Hunke's of Muleshoe was the electrical contractor and aeration for the Butler storage building was engineered and installed by F. N. Robinsin Co., of Lubbock. Machinery and equipment was supplied by Mill Service Co., of Ft. Worth; and the steel building and tanks are Butler.

"The first test loads of milo have been run through all the handling and conveying facilities of Texas Sesame Growers new elevator and it is ready to receive grain," Parker reported.

MISPLACED TEXANS REPORT

Billie Collins Jeter Writes About Former Muleshoe Folks In Arkansas

Editor's Note: Comes to hand this week a nice long letter from Billie Collins Jeter (she's a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Collins), of Springdale, Ark., telling about the recently held reunion of "misplaced Texans", and something of their life way back east. There are thorns in an editor's life; one of the roses is to receive a letter such as that which follows from old and true friends.

504 West Huntsville Springdale, Ark. Sept. 17, 1957

Dear Forbes:

I thought that all our friends in and around Muleshoe would like to know what all of us so-called "Misplaced Texans" here in Arkansas are doing.

On the 8th. of September, the five families of us here in Springdale went to Roaring River State Park in Missouri to attend the annual Texas Reunion for this four state area. (Ark., Okla., Mo., and Kansas).

We had a huge dinner spread together between the three hundred of us there. There was hired entertainment there which played music and sang through out the day. It was certainly good to see so many Texans in one place having such a wonderful time.

We saw the Charlie Prathers of Vinita, Okla., and the George Stotts of Vinita, Okla., both formerly of Muleshoe. We saw some boys that now live at Noel, Mo., that used to live close to Baileyboro, that remembered me when I was just a kid sitting on top of Daddy's pop box, when he had his first little "Bill's Cafe". We met some Eubanks from Bovina that now live at Afton, Okla. (They weren't any kin to the Eubanks around there.) We also met some Ellises that did live at Earth. There were people there from Whiteface, Ft. Worth, Canyon, Hereford, Amarillo, Lubbock, Tulia, Borger, and many, many others that I can't remember.

A Day of Enjoyment
The D. Warners were unable to come and we sure missed them. It was a day of enjoyment and we will all long remember and we are all looking forward to the next one which is always held the first Sunday after Labor Day.

The five families of us here, which are: Johnnie, Bert, Darla Kay and John Johnson; Chic, Blanche and Hugh Otwell; Virgie and Beth Jeter; Roy, Earlene, Tim and Ginger Lee Howard; and Bill, Butch, Nannette and myself really enjoy living here and being able to go to the Texas Reunion and seeing so many of our old friends.

Next year we are hoping for many others to be there as we know there are several more families that live in our four state area that came from "Out Home".
Wonderful Fall Weather
We have been having wonderful fall weather here. We have had to have a little fire in the mornings and night as it is very, very cool at that time. Our days are very nice. We have never reached the 100 degree mark all summer long this year, which has really made it nice out here. I would like to take this means to ask all our friends both old and new to come to Arkansas to visit all of us and we will show you all a Texas big time in the beautiful Ozarks.

Come out, Billie (Collins) Jeter) P. S. Here is our $3.50 for the paper! Keep it coming.

Regional Art Festival Set

A Festival of Regional Art, sponsored by the West Texas Art Guild, will be held October 26 and 27, in the Commercial Exhibits Building at the Tri-State Fair Grounds. All artists of the area are being asked to send exhibits or otherwise to participate in this first regional display of art and crafts.

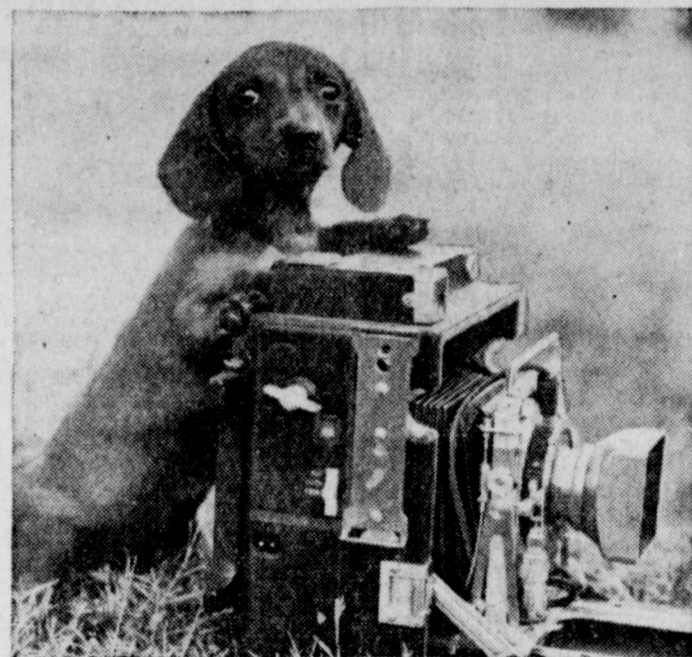

The theme of the Festival is, "Everyday, everybody buys Art", in proof of which statement, a display has been arranged showing the actual art work which has gone into the design of food packaging, clothing, architecture, publications, furniture, appliances, and automobiles. A large percentage of the 14,000 square feet of floor space in the building will be devoted to this last item. Body design, upholstery, color scheme, and accessories of each car will be displayed, just as it appeared on the artists' drawing boards.

In another section of the Festival, continuous demonstrations will be presented, with artists and craftsmen doing water color oil painting, weaving, enameling, pottery making, silversmithing, and other crafts. Large posters detailing the process of each demonstration, plus running explanations by the artists themselves, will give the Festival visitor a new concept of the artist's work.

Annual Field Day Set October 8 At Lubbock Ag Farm

The annual Field Day of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station at Lubbock, has been set for Tuesday, October 8, beginning at 9:30 a.m. Superintendent C. E. Fisher has announced.

Tractor-drawn trailer tours of the station will be made under guidance of county agricultural agents to view the research plots and exhibits of latest developments in agricultural research on the station, Mr. Fisher said.

After lunch the station staff will discuss the highlights and new developments on the station and 13 outfield locations in the Southern High Plains.

Visitors will have ample time to view and discuss all phases of the work, he added. Included will be influence of water management, different levels of irrigation and fertilization on yield of cotton, sorghum grain; new varieties of Blight resistant cotton; perennial Sudangrass; grain sorghums; and special crops such as soybeans, sesame and castor beans.

Some of the latest developments also likely to create much interest includes the "W" planter with press wheel attachment, production of native grass seed, control of nematodes, insects and plant diseases.

Additional information will be available on influence of fertilizers, cotton burrs, crop residues and cropping systems including legumes on the yields of cotton and grain sorghum under irrigation and under dryland conditions. Simulated hail damage studies, dates of planting and performance of leading cottons and sorghums also will be observed.

Law Requires All Vehicles To Stop Near School Buses

Three state agencies joined today in urging the continuation of a state-wide program to acquaint the public with the Texas law requiring all vehicles to stop when approaching a school bus loading or unloading children.

The Texas Education Agency, the Texas Highway Department, and the Texas Department of Public Safety are making a joint request that school superintendents, newspapers, radio stations and television stations participate in efforts to acquaint drivers with the school bus law.

"Superintendents and news editors performed an outstanding public service in this safety campaign last year," said J. W. Edgar, Commissioner of Education. "Yet seven lives were lost during the school year in collisions involving school buses. There is a continuing need for a program of safety education."

There were two more fatalities during 1956-57 than there were reported to the Department of Public Safety in 1955-56. The total number of accidents reported declined, however, from 379 to 335. (During the past year the Highway Department erected signs on all major roads warning motorists of the safety measure.) The law says in effect, that upon meeting or overtaking a school bus which has stopped on the highway for the purpose of receiving or discharging children, the driver of any vehicle shall stop immediately before passing. After coming to a stop the driver of the vehicle can proceed with due caution at a speed which is prudent and does not exceed ten miles per hour. The law does not apply within city limits.

Vehicles are not required to stop on highways with separate roadways when the bus is on a different roadway from that of a passing vehicle. Vehicles are not required to stop if the school bus is stopped in a loading zone which is a part of or adjacent to a controlled-access highway and where pedestrians are not permitted to cross the roadway. All public school buses are painted yellow and have "School Bus" painted in large letters on the front and rear of each bus. They are equipped with flasher lights usually mounted high on the front and rear of the bus. These flashing lights are used only when the bus is in the process of stopping or is stopped to receive or discharge children.

The past two decades of agricultural progress have greatly eased the farmer's burden thru any number of inventions, developments and general improvements. One such area of agricultural improvement has been the development of effective insecticides and pesticides which lessen the farmer's fear of crop destruction.

The insect may be asking for a pack of trouble when he invades the farmer's field today; but, so may the farmer be asking for trouble if he fails to use the highest possible caution in selecting and applying these farm poisons. While highly valuable in holding down infestation when properly used, certain insecticides and pesticides can be harmful if mishandled.

Such a group of insecticides mix blessing in effectiveness with caution in application are those classified as esters of phosphoric acid or certain of its derivatives.

Much of the original work on these compounds was done by the Germans during World War II when they were seeking chemical warfare agents.

This is not to say, however, that the insecticides developed in this country in this connection are to be avoided. They are of great agricultural value when used with the proper amount of care.

Phosphate ester insecticides on the market today are those which contain malathion and parathion, known under various trade names. They are most effective as farm poisons, but, being dangerous to humans and small animals when absorbed through the skin, inhaled or swallowed, they should never be put to domestic or home garden use.

By far the greatest number of cases of parathion or malathion poisoning occur among unsupervised individuals engaged in some phase of insecticide application. And most all of these could have been avoided had the warnings on the label been taken seriously.

Irrigation Still Expanding; Plains Counties in Lead

A contributing factor and a mighty important one to the overall agricultural production of Texas' farms and ranches is irrigation.

R. V. Thurmond, extension agriculture engineer-irrigation, has just released a statewide summary which points up the great economic importance that supplemental water plays in the state relative to the total number of acres irrigated; number of irrigated farms; acres irrigated by gravity; number of sprinkler systems; number of irrigation wells; acres irrigated from ground water and the acreages of the principal crops irrigated in each of the counties. County agricultural agents supplied the information and Thurmond made the final compilation.

The total land under irrigation in Texas now stands at 6,962,231 acres. This compares with a total of 6,208,022 acres in 1955. (Figures are from a similar survey) In June 1957 when the figures were taken, 39,706 farms were listed as being irrigated. Only 10 counties in the state reported no irrigation. The number of irrigation wells rose from 42,674 in 1955 to 54,994 in 1957. The number of sprinkler systems in use almost doubled during this same period with a 200,000 acre increase in the land thus irrigated.

Grain sorghums on almost 2.3 millions of acres were the principal crop irrigated. Cotton was a close second with almost 2.2 millions of acres under irrigation. Other major crops included rice, wheat, vegetables, pastures, alfalfa, field corn, oats and barley, forage sorghums, orchards and others.

Hale county with 500,000 acres under irrigation leads all counties in this respect but is closely followed by Swisher with 480,000 acres. Many other counties in this same general area have in

Fertilizer Sales Up For Year In Texas Is Report

The total tonnage of fertilizer sold in Texas during the spring of 1957 was about five percent higher than during the same periods of 1955 and 1956. Mixed fertilizer accounted for 46 percent of the total tonnage sold this year, as compared with 53 percent sold in the first six months of 1956. Grades of the 1-2-1 ratio accounted for 65 percent of this total and the 1-1-1 ratio for 12 percent.

Reports from individual counties indicated a varied fertilizer purchase pattern in different regions of the state, said State Chemist J. F. Fudge.

East Texas used 46 percent of the total tonnage of mixed goods sold in Texas and 65 percent of the tonnage of mixed grades in the 1-2-1 ratio. More than 77 percent of the mixed goods sold in Texas was used in the three eastern regions — East Texas, Gulf Coast and North Central.

Mixed goods carried 19 percent of the nitrogen, 50 percent of the available phosphoric acid and 94 percent of the potash used during the spring of 1957. East Texas used more than 40 percent of the nitrogen, available phosphoric acid and potash carried by mixed goods. West Texas used more than half of the phosphoric acid carried by materials more than 60 percent of the materials nitrogen and 50 percent of the total nitrogen used in the state, said Fudge.

Over the state and in the East Texas, Gulf Coast and North Central regions, mixed goods averaged near a 7-14-7 grade, while those sold in West Texas averaged nearly 9-18-9. Over the past seven years, the average amount of nitrogen in all fertilizers increased from 8.52 to 19.41 percent, while the averages for available phosphoric acid and potash changed very little. Total nutrients per ton increased from 21 units in 1950 to 36.27 units in 1957.

A more complete regional summary as well as a breakdown on a county basis may be obtained by requesting Progress Report 1956, "Distribution of Fertilizer Sales in Texas, January 1, to June 30, 1957," from Agricultural Information Office, College Station, Texas.

PGC Meet Friday To Hear Reports On Future Plans

A report on pending cotton legislation and future plans of the Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., will be discussed at a meeting of the Board of Directors to be held at 10 a.m., September 20 in the Lubbock Hotel.

W. O. Fortenberry, president, said, "With the 1957 cotton season on our doorstep and knowing that everyone will be extremely busy for the next several months, we think it is advisable to have a board meeting before harvesting and ginning gets underway."

Included on the agenda for this meeting is a report and discussion of cotton legislation; Report on the Texas Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee cotton acreage allotment hearings; crop quality survey for 1957; gin signup for 1957; budget and finance committee recommendations; cotton promotion plans; marketing committee report on price quotations and business matters.

George W. Pfeiffenberger, executive vice-president, said the agenda includes matters of considerable importance and we hope all of the directors can attend.

Pfeiffenberger said the Plains Cotton Growers finance committee would meet at 9:30 a.m., prior to the board meeting.

A. J. Lenterson and Ross Goodwin are directors of the Plains Cotton Growers in Bailey county.

Cotton Insect Report

Cotton has reached a stage of maturity where insects no longer pose a problem in many fields. Late planted cotton or that irrigated late is still in an attractive stage of growth. Leafworms, cabbage loopers, and bollworms are still active in some of the fields.

Leafworms, where reported, were generally found in light to medium infestations. Although cotton may appear sufficiently advanced to suffer little damage from the insect, control or heavy infestations may prevent excessive trash and staining of lint.

Bollworms were reported in heavy infestations in Floyd and Lamb counties. The worms were present in light to medium infestations in scattered fields in most localities where cotton remained succulent. Since a majority of the worms were inside folded blooms or small bolls, poor control was often reported. Such infestations will require repeat insecticidal applications to effect satisfactory control.

Cabbage loopers were found in most fields, with very heavy infestations reported in some fields in Lubbock county. Poor to excellent control was reported following the use of recommended insecticides. Damaging spider mite popula-

Gay Douglas Wins Scholarship To Tech This Fall

Gay Douglas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Douglas of Muleshoe, was one of the winners of the twenty-one Dunlap scholarships that were given to outstanding high school graduates who will enroll this week at Texas Technological College. The twenty-one scholarships total $4,200 for the 1957-58 academic year.

A $200 grant will be made to each of the winners announced by Dean of Student Life, James G. Allen, on behalf of the Tech committee on scholarships and awards.

The scholarships are sponsored by the Dunlap Store of Lubbock to assist promising students with their freshman year.

Miss Douglas was also the recipient of the Littlefield Press Scholarship. She was graduated from Littlefield high school in May. She was a member of the Future Teachers of America, a librarian, a member of the Wildcat band. Other activities include a member of the Skat staff, the Speech class, and the Camera Club. She was an active member of the Methodist Youth Fellowship, and was an organist at the First Methodist Church. She has pledged the Alpha Phi sorority at Tech last week.

Babson Discusses

NEW HOMES AND CLOTHES

Babson Park, Mass., Sept. 26 — The automobile is not only revolutionizing highways, retailing, and financing; but also the style of buildings and homes. Simple arithmetic will prove that with the narrow business streets in the older cities, one of three things will happen: (1) The fifty-year-old brick buildings will be torn down and replaced by modern one-story buildings; or (2) the streets will be widened; or (3) all stores will be open evenings. New Shopping Centers are otherwise inevitable.

SMALLER HOMES WILL BE BUILT
Another example of simple mathematics: — People can borrow only so much money. This limit is fast being reached. If families are to have one or two larger automobiles, these families must be satisfied with smaller and fewer rooms in their home. As autos become larger and more expensive, homes must become smaller and less expensive. I therefore forecast that many of my readers will turn their present houses into apartments.

All new homes will not have garages; but all will have enough land so that the family cars can be kept off the streets. The new style of architecture will be based on the Old Cape Cod house of one and one-half stories, or else people will live in duplex or co-operative apartments. People gave up their "horse and buggy" when they bought an automobile. They will learn to give up their present style of homes. Putting more money into the automobile may result in putting less money into the home. This will especially be true if we are facing either war or disarmament.

WHAT ROOMS WILL BE RETAINED
The future home will have no "dining room"; and the orthodox "parlor" is definitely doomed. Weddings, funerals, and receptions will be held outside the home in places which have proper parking space. There will be one large "living room" in which the family will live, cook, and eat. There will be no "kitchen". With frozen foods and infra-red cooking, only a few minutes will be needed to prepare a meal. From such cook-

ENDS BOOT CAMP
James W. Powell, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Powell of Rt. 4, Muleshoe, graduated from recruit training September 13 at the Naval Training Center, San Diego, Calif.

The graduation exercises, marking the end of nine weeks of "boot camp", included a full dress parade and review before military officials and civilian dignitaries.

In nine weeks of instruction, ing there will be no mess or odor. Every house will, however, have two bathrooms, — one for the parents, who will sleep on the first floor; one for the children, who will sleep on the second floor. Typical bathtubs of the present day will be seen only in museums. Bedrooms will be much smaller, comparing more with the staterooms on ocean liners or on deluxe trains. Heating and air-conditioning will be much cheaper and more common. Both hot and cold air will come into the houses through underground pipes as gas and water now comes. Electricity will be very much cheaper. "Bottled gas" will be used more.

WHAT ABOUT CLOTHES
Clothes can be much cheaper. Cloth will no longer be woven as cloth is today. Cloth will be made like paper or cellophane. This unwoven new "synthetic cloth" will come out of a machine as finished dresses for the women and children, or as finished suits for the men. Some women readers will say, "Impossible, women will insist on wearing different dresses and hats." These, of course, can differ in colors, but women will then be satisfied with standard clothes. The automobile will standardize clothing. There will be a few different makes of clothes at different price ranges. Auto dealers and gas stations may carry clothing.

Yes, evolutionary changes to be caused by the automobile have just commenced. Far greater changes are ahead. As "drive-in theatres" are following indoor theatres, so "drive-in schools" and "drive-in churches" will follow. Banks are now taking many of their deposits direct from customers who drive up in automobiles to a special window. Store show-windows, which have been a fruitful source of advertising for their merchants, will become of less value as more people pass in autos. More duplex and co-operative apartment houses are coming. Renting automobiles will largely take the place of buying them. This same may apply to furniture, and even clothes. This will especially be true if our nation is facing either War or Disarmament due to the threat of Russian Fallout.

the "raw recruit" is developed into a Navy Bluejacket, ready for duty with the fleet.

TODAY'S MEDITATION

Read II Timothy 1:1-7
I thank God whom I serve with a clear conscience, as did my fathers. (I Timothy 1:3, RV.)

One's conscience needs to be educated and kept sensitive. The best way to do these things is to read the Bible. Then the conscience will be filled with the workings of God as revealed in the prophets psalmists, apostles, and, above all, in Christ. Martin Luther had so familiarized himself with the Bible that he could say, "My conscience is captive to the Word of God."

A good man is he whose conscience is so firmly rooted in God that when he is doing what he pleases to do he is a true servant of God.

Prayer should follow our Bible reading. As we wake up in the morning, we can offer to God a prayer of thanksgiving and devotion. The time before we go to bed at night can be spent in Bible study and prayer so that we may make the conscious more sensitive to the divine love and will of God.

PRAYER
O God, Thou speakest to our minds and hearts through the pages of the Bible. We thank Thee for thus guiding us. Help us to serve Thee this day with a clear conscience. In the Saviour's name. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY
The Word of God is enshrined in the conscience of the Christian.

—Norimoto Iino (Japan)

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICES

The unchanging, harmonious nature of all that is created by God, divine Mind, will be brought out at Christian Science services Sunday.

"Reality" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon. Scriptural selections will include the following (Psalms 111: 2, 7, 8): "The works of the Lord are great, sought out of all them that have pleasure therein. The works of his hands are verity and judgement; all his commandments are sure. They stand fast for ever and ever, and are done in truth and uprightness."

Correlative passages to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include the following (335:25-29): "Mind is the divine Principle, Love, and can produce nothing unlike the eternal Father-Mother. God, Reality is spiritual, harmonious, immutable, immortal, divine, eternal. Nothing unspiritual can be real, harmonious, or eternal."

THIS WEEK

—In Washington

With Clinton Davidson

The question of whether the shattered Farm Bloc can pull itself together and again become a power in Washington will be answered here this week.

The National Conference of Commodity Organizations, after two preliminary meetings during the spring and summer, is attempting to draft a new broad scale farm program.

More than 40 state, regional and national farm organization and commodity groups are trying to fit together the pieces of a jigsaw puzzle that could make up a comprehensive farm program.

This is the "commodity-by-commodity" development of a farm program, as contrasted with the broad, general farm legislation now in effect.

The organizations represented have a combined membership of more than three million farmers. Many of them, however, are members of two or more of the organizations and others are also members of farm organizations not represented.

The meeting here this week is by no means a united farm front. The Farm Bureau, largest of the farm organizations, is absent and hostile to the new group. The Agriculture Department also is unfriendly to it.

The National Grange, second largest of the general farm organizations, is working closely with the commodity groups, and the Farmers Union is represented by an "observer."

Sandhills Philosopher Differs With Expert On Theory Reckless Spending Is Cause For Inflation

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm considers another angle of inflation in his letter this week, but we doubt if it'll have any effect on the problem, one way or the other.

I was reading the other night in a copy of a magazine which some company sent me in the hope I'd subscribe, which on a small scale is about like sending a million dollars to Europe in the hope somebody'll re-pay it, where an expert in Washington has been studying the problem of inflation and has come up with the notion that the cure for it is to stop reckless spending.

According to him, the more willing we are to spend, the more willing somebody is to take our money, and this keeps the price of things edging up.

Now I have been giving considerable thought to this idea for the past few days, letting a lot of my farm work slide in the belief whipping up Johnson grass on my farm, and I'll admit that while I have come to several different conclusions, I'm still just as puzzled as I was when I started.

For example, as far as I know, reckless spending does cause inflation, however, on the other hand, I know of a lot of cases where reckless spending resulted in a depression, at least for the people doing the spending. And, also, if everybody stopped spending, stores would stop selling, manufacturing plants would stop producing, then stop hiring, and while this would stop inflation, it'd result in a depression, and whipping good times by substituting hard times is not exactly what me and that expert in Washington had in mind.

To tell the truth, reckless spending is probably what put this country where it is. That is, if the average housewife spent her money 100 per cent carefully and for essentials only, most supermarkets could cut their size in half and stock mostly salt, pepper, stew meat, potatoes, and molasses. Drygood stores would be cut down to work pants and gingham dresses, the air-conditioning industry would switch over to palmetta fans, and drug stores would disappear. And you know right off what the eliminating of reckless spending would do to government.

It seems to me, that expert in Washington better try some other plan. He's about to argue himself out of a job.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

P. S. Everybody is wondering how this As- flu got into this country. All I know is it did come in on any foreign currency sent in to pay off loans with.

"You wouldn't believe what that AMALIE L. P. G. Oil can save when you're burning butane or propane in your engines. Butane's a problem; common, ordinary oil thickens up till it looks like gear-grease. Dust and grit cake up. That sure is rough on engines. But no more - with AMALIE L. P. G.!" Nothing but the finest Pennsylvania crude in AMALIE L. P. G. Oil - no other crude like that on earth. And AMALIE chemists have done two great things; in refining, produced an oil that holds its "viscosity," or flowing quality, and developed additives to keep grit, dust, etc., in solution, so they filter out. LEADERS must be PLANNERS

For the past several years we have come to realize more & more the changing needs of the people we serve and the fact that everyone in business must become better qualified to meet these needs and demands.

Insurance is becoming more of a specialized field than ever before, simply because of these changing demands and because the public is taking more interest in our services. We also KNOW that those who do not MEET and SATISFY both demand and interest will fall by the wayside. It is with the above in mind and a desire to improve as the years pass, that we announce the addition of Bob Jacobs to our agency to handle our Life Insurance sales. Bob has had five years of specialized training in this field and is a qualified life underwriter.

BOB JACOBS

He was formerly Supervisor of Texas agencies and manager of the West Texas district for South Coast Life Insurance Co. This is the company that merged with Rural Life two years ago, and the one that we have represented since Pool Insurance Agency was formed in 1940.

We are on the move! Whether we continue moving or not depends on that extra service we provide today - not tomorrow. Your confidence is OUR most valuable asset and we are going to strive to continue to merit it.
