It has been said that "on the tree of life, experience is the fruit - but it can also be the pits." And we've all heard that 'experience is the best teacher" - but we must admit that the price of experience is often high, sometimes far too high.

I remember a carload of young people learning that you shouldn't drive sixty in a thirty-mph zone — especially at a raised railroad crossing with blind intersections on the other side. And I remember a young man who had been married about four months who probably never learned the price of passing on a hill. He never was able to tell anyone - and he left behind a grieving wife (who was pregnant), his ailing mother, and all who knew him.

Experience is a very good teacher, but it's less expensive to learn from others' experiences. There's a manuscript which was around fifteen hundred years in the writing, completed nearly two thousand years ago, that is chock-full of the experiences of other people — and they break through to us. I encourage you to read the Bible in order to gain insight into the mind and will of God, to keep experiences as "fruit on the tree of life" rather than "the pits."

We encourage you to share in periods of life-changing Bible study and worship with us. We really do care about you, too!

The weather is finally cooperating and the Cross Plains Public Library is ready to launch its Farmers Market.

Saturday, June 4, will find vendors bringing in their fresh vegetables to sell in front of the local facility. Shoppers are encouraged to come by 7:30 a.m. to get the 'pick of the day".

The market will continue every Tuesday and Saturday mornings, with the exception of the Barbarian Festival on June 11. The Library will be supporting the activities of the Barbarian committee and its efforts to benefit the community on that day and thus, will not have the available space for the market.

Both the Childress and the Joy Farms are planning to have some early produce ready with a lot more variety available as the season progresses.

Other interested vendors may call 725-4993 or 725-7478 to reserve a space or just show up on June 4 to take an available area. Six foot spaces rent for $5.00 each Saturday or Tuesday.

Vendors and buyers are encouraged to participate in this project designed to be a win-win idea for everybody.

ABILENE, Texas * High students can remember for a schools awarded $350 minigrants.

Called Project Celebration 2005, Baird and Cross Plains High Schools are among 29 high schools in the Abilene District taking part in a Texas Department of Transportation's graduation program. Each school will receive a $350 mini-grant for graduation activities. Other Callahan County high schools participating are Clyde and Eula schools.

"I am very pleased that TxDOT continues to approve the expenditure of funds to support graduation activities across Texas," Brenda Mitchell, Abilene District traffic safety coordinator, said. "Since TxDOT is a stanch advocate of safe and sober driving habits, it's essential that we stand by what we profess and do our part to help communities provide a safe and sober occasion for their graduating students," Mitchell said. "Memories made during graduation activities should be pleasant ones that

The District 7 4-H Photography Contest was held on May 7th in San Angelo. Entries from 23-area counties participated in this annual event. Texas Cooperative Extension sponsors this event that is designed as the final step in the 4-H Photography project. The objectives of the 4-H Photography project us to develop life skills in composition, light, story line, posing, and awareness. It also encourages 4-H members to use photography as a meaningful communication tool in their lives. The District 7 contest provides a photography project showcase opportunity for those 4-H members participating.

Mitchell also visited each high school and presented the Project Celebration chairperson mementos for each of the graduates who attend their high school event. These graduation souvenirs are designed to be a reminder to the students to remain drug and alcohol-free not only around prom and graduation time, but always, she said. According to the traffic safety coordinator, these mini-grants are not intended to fully fund a Project Celebration event, but to provide seed money for schools to start and support alcohol and drug-free parties for high school students. The funds are to be used to cover expenses such as printing, materials, postage, supplies, room rentals, and the like. Transportation officials report that this program, which began in 1984 with only two schools, is one of TxDOT's most popular and well-received projects offered throughout the state.

Tom Melton sent me this photo that tells an interesting story. This rock was discovered under an old mesquite tree by a surveyor who was surveying a ranch in 2004. Motivated by the discovery, he mentioned the Melton name inscribed on the rock to some local. They knew Cleo Wolf Melton, Tom's cousin who lived at Graham, and told him about the finding. Cleo checked it out and made photos.

As it turns out, the "Rock" was to accomplish exactly what he inscribed by Tom Melton's great-great-grandfather in the year of 1888, when he was a ranch hand on the OX Ranch near Graham.

The "Melton Rock" is located at a ranch near Anirene, Texas and this is the complete message: When I am dead and in my grave and all my bones are rotten. This very Rock will tell my name though I may be forgotten. W.M. Melton 1888 OX Isn't it bizarre that the rock has truly preserved his memory after 117 years. Mr. Melton was able intended.

WHAT REAL LOVE IS ALL ABOUT

It was a busy morning, approximately 8:30 am, when an elderly gentleman, in his 80's, arrived to have stitches removed from his thumb. He stated that he was in a hurry as he had an appointment at 9:00 am. I took his vital signs and had him take a seat, knowing it would be over an hour before someone would be able to see him. I saw him looking at his watch and decided, since I was not busy with another patient, I would evaluate his wound. On exam it was well healed, so I talked to one of the doctors, got the supplies to remove his sutures and redress his wound. While taking care of his wound, we began to engage in conversation. I asked him if he had a doctor's appointment this morning, as he was in such a hurry. The gentleman told me no, that he needed to go to the nursing home to eat breakfast with his wife. I then inquired as to her health. He told me that she had been there for a while along their way."

Alzheimer Disease. As we talked, and I finished dressing his wound, I asked if she would be worried if he was a bit late. He replied that she no longer knew who he was, that she had not recognized him in five years now. I was surprised, and asked him "And you still go every morning, even though she doesn't know who you are?" He smiled as he patted my hand and said, "She doesn't know me, but I still know who she is". I had to hold back tears as he left, I had goose bumps on my arm and thought, "That is the kind of love I want in my life." True love is neither physical, nor romantic. True love is an acceptance of all that is, has been, will be, and will not be. With all the jokes and fun that are in e-mails, sometimes there are some that come along that have an important message, and this is one of those kind. Just had to share it with you.

Free credit reports begins June 1

Beginning June 1, 2005 Texans have a new tool to fight the growing problem of credit identity theft. The FACT Act allows one free credit report per year from each of the big three credit reporting bureaus, Experian, Equifax and Trans Union.

You can order your free credit on-line report www.annualcreditreport.com. The secure website it maintained by the big three credit reporting bureaus, or you can call 877-322-8228.

According to the Federal Trade Commission, some 27.3 million Americans were victims of identity theft in the last five years, including 9.9 million people in 2002, at a cost to businesses and consumers of more than $55 million. Clearing up the damage done by identity thieves can take months of frustrating calls to credit bureaus and merchants. Now there is a new law in place -The Fair and Accurate Credit at Transaction Act of 2003-that is expected to give some added protection against identity theft and ensure that all citizens are treated fairly when they apply for a mortgage or other form of credit.

The law provides consumers, companies, regulators and credit reporting agencies with new tools that expand access to credit and other financial services, enhance the accuracy of consumers' financial information, and are expected to help fight identity theft. The new legislation will:

• Give consumers the right to obtain their credit report free of charge every year. Consumers will be able to review a free report every year for unauthorized activity, including activity that might be the result of identity theft.

 Guarantee access to the credit score used to evaluate and price and mortgage applications

• Require merchants to leave all but the last five digits of a credit card number off store receipts, to help prevent identity theft. This law will make sure that slips of paper that most people trash does not contain their credit card number, a key to their financial identities.

· Create a national system of fraud detection to make identity thieves more likely to be caught. Previously, victims would have to make phone calls to all of their credit card companies and three major credit-reporting agencies (Equifax, Experian and Trans Union) to alert them to the crime. Now consumers will have the power to place fraud alerts on their credit files if they suspect that fraud has occurred. Those alerts, in turn, will instruct banks and other creditors not to open new accounts or extend additional credit to anyone without contacting the consumer first.

 Require lenders and credit agencies to take action before a victim even knows a crime has occurred. With oversight by bank regulators, the credit agencies will draw up a set of guidelines to identify patterns common to identity theft, and develop methods to stop identity theft before it can cause major damage.

 Give consumers the option, with some exceptions, to opt out of receiving marketing calls or mail from companies they do business with.

This year represents the forty first year since the closing of the school in 1964. Former teachers, students, and supporters of the Scranton schools and community are invited to attend.
