Isn't it fun to do something different? Last Saturday evening my friend, Vickie Williams, and I had the opportunity to do just that.

My aunt, Billie Patterson, lives in Albany and she is always telling me about some event that is taking place there. This time The Albany Mainstreet Playhouse was presenting "Always...Patsy Cline".

First we stopped by Billie and Guy's house and then we all went to the Prairie Star, my cousins Treca and Ed restaurant, to have dinner.

Talent abounds in Albany and we were delighted by Lorna Ayers, who portrayed Patsy Cline. She performed 25 songs and Patsy would have been proud of her interpretation of her hits. Patsy was only 30 years old when she was killed in a plane crash, but her unique voice and music has proved to be timeless.

Pam Davis, who played the part of Louise Seger, stole the show with her sparkling personality. This lady could act, and truly entertained you. She kept us laughing throughout the show.

I will be checking the schedule of events at The Albany Mainstreet Playhouse, as this adventure just opened the door for some great times to come. You may want to check it out, too.

My, oh my, the "big kids" are back in school already. Therefore, I can safely deduce that the little munchkins are getting excited about our long-running Learn About Program for preschoolers and our newer LAP SIT for the real little ones.

Ya'll just keep watching this space as well as the front page and you will soon see "the real deal". That equates to the dates, times, registration process, ages, volunteer opportunities and what the kid will actually be doing and learning.

"When the Cars Go Marching In"

If you stop and think about it, some things which were customary when I was a child back in the 1940's would be shocking to youngsters today. Case in point-it was quite common then to see several people riding in a car with one, and sometimes two passengers, standing, riding on the running board (or fender) of the car.

Something else used back then, though not being done today, was riding in the rumble seat. Cars have not been so equipped in decades. Remember, when all the spaces at the curb were filled, then other cars would park in the middle of the street at an angle. They just lined them up. Then cars coming from the other direction would park opposite those cars, nose to nose. They quit doing that years

I always thought they looked really neat; like soldiers at attention, all those cars lined up in a row; evenly spaced and so pristine.

By Bob Pipes Cross Plains Church of Christ 433 N. Main (254) 725-6117

One of my brothers in Christ rides his bicycle most every day - for health and enjoyment (?). He rides about twenty miles each day most of the time but he decided to ride a bit further Monday. It would have been a thirty-mile ride but he took what he thought was a shortcut and it wound up being three miles farther!

Be careful of shortcuts! Some people try "shortcuts" in establishing a Father and child relationship with God. Some people try "shortcuts" in maintaining a Father and child relationship with God. Don't take anyone's suggestion for either of the above, especially if they appear to be shortcuts, for it may wind up being worse than just farther, it may not even lead to God. Jesus said, "I am the way, the truth, and the life. No one comes to the Father except through Me" (John 14:6). Read of Jesus' way as revealed in the New Testament. Don't take any shortcuts!

We encourage you to share in periods of life-changing Bible study and worship with us. We really do care about you, too! Breast cancer is not a death sentence 98% of those diagnosed are successfully treated if the cancer is detected early, says Dr. Vladimir Lange, Harvard Medical School graduate and author of "Be a Survivor" Your Guide To Breast Cancer Treatment, a unique combination DVD/book that takes a brand new approach to educating women about breast cancer.

by the complexity of the information they had to process. We thought our world was coming to an end, says Dr. Lange. Even through my wife and I are both physicians, it took weeks to unravel all the details and ramifications of the deluge of information that was thrown at us.

The experience inspired Dr. Lange to help make the journey easier for others. Previous editions of his book have been award-winning best-sellers but the latest edition uses an innovative new approach to bring information and hope to readers. Even though the first and second editions of Be a Survivor have been extremely popular with patients and physicians, we realized that we could do an even better job helping women and their loved ones. says Dr. Lange.

Recognizing that people learn better by combining reading with viewing, the latest edition of Be a Survivor is a unique book and DVD combination that educates and empowers. People always understand, learn and retain better if the information is reinforced in different mediums, says Dr. Lange. For the very first time, readers can actually see videos of the procedures and hear the voices of the survivors. The result is a must-have for all newly diagnosed women and their loved ones.

Lange helps women to answer all of the burning questions they may have regarding their diagnosis. In most cases, there is no need to rush your decisions, says Dr. Lange. Take time to learn as much as you can, and to decide what choices are best for you.

Adopting a positive attitude will greatly improve the outcome of your treatment. The best approach you can take is to resolve right now that you will do everything you can to be successful in your battle against breast cancer, says Dr. Lange. Be resolved and you will survive this challenge.

Gas saving tips

Industry analysts say our record high gas prices are likely to climb even higher and everyone is either driving around in circles to find the lowest price or just griping about them. But, according to experts, extra miles can be squeezed out of every fill-up if drivers followed a few simple rules.

"The way to save money is in every drivers' hands, and sometimes feet," said Ray Palermo, director of public relations for national auto insurer, Response Insurance. "Everything comes down to two basic categories of advice," explained Palermo, "car care and driving habits." He offered drivers a few pieces of advice.

· Lighten the car's load by removing all unnecessary items from the trunk, such as the bag of sand and shovel from the winter. Every 200 pounds of weight reduces gas efficiency by one mile per gallon. If you have to carry a lot of baggage, avoid using a roof-top container, which will increase the air drag. If you drive a pick-up, the open bed will have the same impact, so put a cover on it. · Incorrectly inflated tires decrease fuel efficiency. Check vehicle and tire manufacturer for proper inflation.

• Don't turn on the air conditioner as a first response to the heat. Start your drive off with the windows open to exhaust the hot air out of the rear windows and then put on the A/C if needed. This will also enable the air conditioning to work faster and more efficiently when turned on.
