$200 RAISED ON WORK DAY

Students Raise Money For Benefit of Library; Many Prizes Are Awarded

School was dismissed on Thursday of last week in order for the pupils to use the day for making money in any way they might be able to do so, for the purchasing of books and maps for the school. More books and maps for the school were recently recommended by the state inspector who visited the schools here and it was decided to use this plan to raise the necessary funds. The scheme proved to be quite a success, for more than $200.00 was turned in the next day by the pupils.

A prize of $5.00 was awarded to the grade that should raise the largest sum of money, and this prize was won by the seventh grade, taught by Mrs. Story and Miss Stone. They raised $38.26. The pupils in Miss Stone's division of this grade averaged more than 60 cents each. The high school raised a total of $102.38.

A prize of $2.50 was offered and paid to the individual pupil raising the most money. This prize was won by Aubrey Redwine, who earned $3.50 working at a gin. Several pupils earned as high as $2.50 and $3.00 each.

A third prize of $1.50 was awarded to that pupil who should earn his or her money in the most unique manner. Iris Tredway won this prize. She earned 50 cents by washing her father's feet. Porter Tredway is the "dad" and he admits that the girl earned the four-bits.

Tula Kuykendall earned 50 cents and Dimple Calaway $2 for sitting still an hour. The girls say it was worth the money.

Tula Kuykendall earned 50 and Jean Crawford earned $1.00 for cleaning out a goose pond.

"The greatest thing about this scheme," Mr. Baze declared, "was the demonstration of school spirit that has been developed among the pupils. Fifty cents earned by the pupils for the school is better than a dollar donated. For those who have earned their money and have put it into books and maps for the school will be disposed to take the very best care of them." Mr. Baze thinks "The pupils entered heartily into the plan and the enthusiasm was fine" he said.

CROP ESTIMATE IS 18,000,000

Wednesday's Government Cotton Report Shows Increase of 219,000 Bales

The government cotton report which came in over radio Wednesday morning estimated the 1926 crop to be 18,618,000 bales. This is an increase of 219,000 bales over the last government estimate. The increase was not as great as cotton men expected however, and the result was that the price went up slightly.

The report further stated that 14,644,946 bales had been ginned in this country prior to December 1, against 13,870,507 bales ginned prior to December 1, 1925.

The estimate of the Texas crop was 5,900,000 bales, the ginnings in Texas prior to December 1 amounting to 4,847,920.

The total cotton acreage in the United States is estimated at about 48 million acres.

Stolen Trailer is Found in Pasture

A Cotton trailer was found Sunday morning in the pasture of Mrs. J. G. Scott about one mile east of Redwine. Parties saw a car with a trailer attached pass along the high way Saturday night. When this trailer was discovered in the pasture Sunday morning, the casings had been removed.

The trailer had evidently been taken from some man's premises and later the casings taken from it, the trailer itself being abandoned. Officers were notified and they have been at work on the case.

SCHOOL GIRL HAS APPENDICITIS OPERATION

Mabel Crews, daughter of E. H. Crews of T-Bar, who has been attending the Tahoka High School, underwent an operation for appendicitis in a Lubbock sanitarium last Friday. The operation was pronounced entirely successful and the patient is rapidly improving. She is expected back in school within the next few days.

LEAGUE MEET PLANS MADE

Executive Meeting Held Here Saturday to Make Plans for Spring Contests

A meeting of the Executive Committee of the Lynn County Inter-scholastic League was held Saturday December 4, 1926, at the County Superintendent's office at Tahoka. All members of the committee were present except the secretary, Miss Huffaker, and Mrs. Adams, director of spelling. Many matters of importance were brought up and disposed of. The decisions are given below. They should be studied carefully for the good of the contests and the League work in general.

1. A motion was carried to have contest in musical solos, duets, quartets, glee club (for girls and boys), piano solos violin solos, orchestra and tiny-to story contests, these contests not to be counted in determining the county championships. An amendment to the motion required that names of contestants be sent in to the Director General thirty days prior to the Meet, if the contestant is to be allowed to compete.

2. A motion was made and carried to have the County Meet at O'Donnell this year. A second motion recommended to the next committee that the Meet be brought to Tahoka. (It was the general sense of the Com

Pressman Has Arm Crushed in Gin

George Moore, pressman at the Law Round-Bale Gin, got his arm caught in the press Tuesday morning and terribly crushed. The bones of the entire forearm and a portion of the upper arm were crushed and broken into innumerable pieces. Dr. L. E. Turrentine was called to dress the wound but had the patient sent immediately to a sanitarium at Lubbock, where an amputation of the injured member was effected, the member being taken off between the elbow and the shoulder. It was a terrible ordeal and the injured man is necessarily in a critical condition, but it is hoped that he will recover. He has many friends here who are very solicitous as to his condition and who deeply sympathize with him in his great distress and loss.

3 H. S. Students On Honor Roll

The following students earned a place on the honor roll during the second six weeks period of the Tahoka High School according to Supt. M. L. H. Baze, each of them having made an average of 90 or more:

Jeanette Caveness 90
Lowell Douthit 95%
Lorene Welch 91%

"During the first six weeks of school no one made an average sufficiently high to be called an honor student," Mr. Baze stated. "The required grade is 90 or above. Also it is required that the pupil have no demerits, and it is significant that those who make the highest grades do not receive any demerits for misconduct or irregular attendance."

A high standard is being set for the pupils and they are being required to do the work before they are given any credit for it. This has long been true of the Tahoka public schools in a large measure and it is largely because of this fact that the school has been built up to its present high degree of proficiency.

GAS REPORTS FALSE; BIG COMPANIES WATCHING LOCAL WELLS

Rumors became current early Thursday morning that a strong flow of gas had been struck in the wildcat well being drilled in the Brownfield pasture about 18 miles west of Tahoka, and ten miles east of Brownfield. Some reports were that oil had been struck and was being thrown over the derrick. The same rumors seem to have found currency in other towns of the south plains. A number of Tahoka people drove over to get first hand information and they brought back the report that they saw no evidence of either oil or gas.

The rumor seems to have gained currency from the report of an O'Donnell man who passed near the well Wednesday afternoon and claimed that it was emitting gas at a terrific rate. Whether gas was struck and was shut off by the drillers or whether a mere gas pocket was struck and soon blew out, or whether the report was the result of an over-excited imagination, or was a deliberate fabrication, we do not know. It is thought probable however that some gas was struck in the well.

13 BALES OF COTTON BURN

Early Sunday Morning Blaze at Local Cotton Yard Came Near Being Serious One

Fire of unknown origin destroyed thirteen bales of cotton in the local yard early Sunday morning. The fire had gotten under considerable headway when it was discovered and the alarm turned in. The fire department responded promptly to the call and soon had the fire practically extinguished. It is difficult to get rid of fire in a bale of cotton, however, and twice during the day Sunday the boys were called back to put out fire which had not been entirely extinguished and had slowly spread.

Most of the cotton destroyed belonged to local buyers but a few of the bales were the property of farmers.

It was necessary to use the old fire engine, since the house on the new truck was not long enough to extend from the nearest fire plug to the burning cotton. Pledger Coleman had just made some repairs on the old engine Saturday afternoon, otherwise it would not have been in condition to use, due to the fact that some miscreant had removed some of the detachable parts.

W. L. KNIGHT GETS RED EYE

Our fellow townsman, W. L. Knight, has been wearing a very red eye this week. While at work about the windmill at his residence last Thursday a chain accidentally struck him in the eye, causing some discoloration and inflammation of the more until about a month ago, when the injury will prove to be permanent, but it was sufficiently serious and painful as to require treatment by a physician, nevertheless.

P-T To Have Social Meeting

On next Tuesday night in the basement of the Methodist Church, the Parent-Teachers Association will have a social meeting. All members of the association, their husbands, sweethearts, and friends are invited. An interesting program has been arranged and you will enjoy it. The program is as follows:

Music to be furnished throughout the evening by Mrs. Edward's Orchestra.

THUMBS LACERATED IN GIN MACHINERY

On Wednesday night of last week W. O. Henderson got both thumbs caught by the saws of the burr-out machine at the Fuller Gin and they were most painfully lacerated and injured. Prompt medical attention was given and it is hoped that the injuries will not prove to be serious or permanent.

BIDS IN FOR STAR ROUTES

Would Give Tahoka Direct Daily Mail Service From Post And Lubbock

We are informed by our Post Master D. A. Parkhurst, that three bids have been submitted to the department at Washington for the establishment of a Star Route Mail Service between Post and Brownfield daily, by the way of Tahoka.

This service when in operation will give the patrons of the Tahoka Post Office a daily mail from Post, bringing the letters and daily papers in to Tahoka about 12 o'clock. Bids are also being asked for the carrying of the mail from Lubbock to Lamesa by the way of Tahoka. It is impossible at this date to say just when these two Star routes will be put into operation.

With the establishment of four Rural Routes out of Tahoka, a new Post Office and equipment second to none, and the fact that the window service can't be beat, as it is never closed from eight o'clock in the morning until six o'clock at night, we think that the people of Tahoka should be very proud of the progress being made.

These Star Routes when in operation will not carry any packages or fourth class mail. It will still continue to go around by Slaton.

They will make it possible for the Rural Route Carriers to deliver the mail the same day it is received here.

Tahoka Bulldogs Lose to Post

(By Coach G. O. Lewis)

The last football game of the season for the Bulldogs was lost to Post by the score of 7 to 0. The home boys outplayed Post most all the game, but failed to have the punch to put it over when in striking distance of the opponent's goal. The score came in the last few minutes of the game, when one of Post's boys intercepted a pass at mid-field, running the remaining distance to be tackled just as he crossed the goal line.

The officials and fans complimented the boys on their clean sportsmanship, and we return the same compliment to them.

Basket ball practice opened Tuesday afternoon. We have some fair prospects and will be developing them into shape if the weather permits.

Schedule has not yet been made but intend to play several games before the holidays.

New Home Baptist Church Completed

P. W. Goad of New Home was in town Tuesday and informed the News that the Baptist Church under construction has been practically completed and it is expected that the first service will be held in it next Sunday. It will be a handsome and commodious rural church, of which the people of the entire community are proud.

In speaking of the rain fall Sunday and Monday, Mr. Goad was inclined to the view that it would help rather than damage the cotton yet unpicked, of which there is quite a good deal yet in the New Home community. Mr. Goad also thinks that the people of his community are in better financial condition this fall than they were last fall in spite of the low price of cotton. It will be remembered that the larger portion of the crop in that community was destroyed by worms and the early freeze last year while a big crop has been produced this year.

The committee appointed to assist Santa Claus in getting around when he come to Tahoka also reported its plans, which were likewise referred to the directors.

COTTON POOL FORMED HERE

100 Farmers at Saturday's Meeting to Pool Cotton; First Pool Day Dec. 11

Pursuant to a call made by G. H. Nelson, secretary of the local Chamber of Commerce, about 100 farmers met in the county court room last Saturday afternoon and organized a cotton pooling association for Lynn county. J. M. Johnson, I. M. Draper and Bill Thompson were elected as directors.

This action was taken after Mr. Harrell, the cotton classifier of Dawson county, explained the plan which had been in operation at Lamesa the entire season and proposed to come to Tahoka at certain intervals to serve the farmers here in the same way. According to the plan outlined, the classifier "types" the cotton of the farmers, indicating the type of each bale. A day is set apart for all the cotton to be pooled and sold. The local cotton buyers are given an opportunity to bid on the cotton and if their bids are satisfactory, it is sold to them. In the event it is not satisfactory, however, it is sold to the big buyers elsewhere by type, each bale being sold on its individual merits. The purpose of the organization, Mr. Harrell explains, is not to antagonize or to fight the local buyers but to procure for the farmers a fair price for their cotton. He stated that not a bale of pooled cotton had been sold in Lamesa this season for less than 8.02 cents. He further explained that the plan had been a wonderful success in Lamesa thus far, but says that the big buyers are now loaded down with cotton and are not eager to buy. If this situation should continue indefinitely the pooling of the cotton might not result in any great benefit to the farmers, he said, but he was hopeful that the market would open up again in a few days.

Saturday, December 11, was set as the first pool day. Any farmer desiring to pool his cotton should bring his ticket to G. H. Nelson, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce.

The banks and business men of Lamesa underwrote Mr. Harrell's salary at $500 per month early in the season and they have stood squarely behind him and the farmers of Dawson county in carrying out their plans, it is said.

RAINY WEATHER STOPS PICKING

One and One-half Inches Fall During Last Week; Skies Still Cloudy

Beginning Sunday afternoon a slow rain fell throughout the night and until well into the afternoon Monday throughout Lynn county and other portions of the plains. The rainfall was never heavy but gentle and steady and every drop of rain went into the soil. The precipitation in Tahoka amounted to 1.05 inches. It was fine on the wheat crop. Opinion seems to be divided as to the effect on the unpicked cotton. Some think that it was still further damaged while others believe that it was helped by the rain. Whether it was detrimental or helpful to the grade of the cotton will probably be apparent to almost every one by the time this paper reaches the reader.

Tuesday was clear and fine, but rain began falling again Wednesday morning and .14 of an inch fell during the day. Thursday is cool and cloudy.

State and County Taxes Being Paid

The tax collector's office reports that taxes are coming in rather briskly now. Mrs. Lowry states that more than $700 were paid last Saturday and added that she had been rather busy receiving the coin throughout the day Monday.

Mrs. L. L. Weathers has gone to Jefferson where she will spend the holidays with her parents.

Prof. N. E. Wood of Edith was in town Tuesday and reported the school work in that community as progressing nicely. He and Miss Iola Nowlin of that community are the teachers. The school has been in session about six weeks. They are to have a box supper at Edith for the benefit of the school on Friday night of next week.

G. K. Phipps of Dixie says he finished picking cotton three weeks ago. Neither sandstorms nor showers have any terrors for him. He reports the school in progress in his community with four teachers and the outlook for a fine school excellent.

DULL, LISTLESS
Made Bright, Energetic By Black-Draught, Says
Gadshah Lady.

"Ever since I have known about Black-Draught," says Mrs. Della Mayben, of Gadsden, Ala. "It has been my regular standby for indigestion and constipation. I first used Black-Draught fourteen years ago. At that time, I was suffering with a bad case of swelling across my abdomen. Every bite I ate disagreed with me, and I had very severe headaches. I decided to try Black-Draught. I was truly astonished at the quick relief. In a few days, I began to feel like a different woman. Instead of being dull and listless, I began to feel bright and energetic. From that time on, I have rarely been without a box of Black-Draught in my home. It can't hurt on the outside."

Purely Vegetable

The King of Vegetables

THE flaming red "love-apple"—to call the tomato by its early name—comes rightly by its royal coloring. It is the king of vegetables by "divine right" of superiority in food value.

The tomato is unique. It is two different kinds of food in one, possessing the peculiar acidity and succulence of fruit, while at the same time being rich in vegetable properties. Most important of all, it contains in remarkable proportions all the vitamins necessary to human growth and development. It is an excellent stimulant to the appetite.

So dependent have we become upon the tomato, that, if it were obtainable only in summer, we would miss it, possibly the rest of the year. We could find no substitute for the flavor it adds to soups and meats.

for its delicious succulence as a salad, and for the substantial contribution it makes to our vegetable diet. In addition, there are numerous tasty dishes we would have to forego altogether, if their most important ingredient, tomatoes, were unavailable. Fortunately, the tomato is one of the most extensively canned foods, and one of the cheapest. So the foresighted housewife always keeps her supply shelf amply stocked with this highly essential food in its ready-to-serve form. Here is a new and excellent dish made from tomatoes.

Komac Stew—Melt butter size of walnut in frying pan and fry in it 2 good-sized onions thinly sliced. Add 1 green pepper cut fine and 1 can tomatoes. Season, cover and stew slowly for a half-hour. Add 2 beaten eggs, stirring in well. Serve on toast

$2,000 POULTRY FIRM IS ORGANIZED AT LOCKNEY

In an effort to better the Lockney produce market, which the declare has been below the markets of Plainview and Floydada for months business men of Lockney have practically completed subscriptions to a stock company to be chartered as a corporation, which will deal in poultry and produce in an effort to better the poultry market at that point, according to H. P. Coleman, one of the large poultry raisers of that city and a prominent member of the Floyd County Poultry Association.

Arrangements have been made with Swift & Company, to whom sales of the new company's purchase will be made as long as the company meets the competition on the markets. Practically all the stock in the new concern has been sold, officials of both banks there being among those who subscribed to the funds raised for the company.

The organization is the outgrowth of discussion in the Lockney Chamber of Commerce luncheons in which discussions the alleged low market conditions at that point were contrasted with higher markets made by dealers in Floydada and Plainview in particular. In these discussions it was declared the market at Lockney for produce has not been what it should have been for months. The produce houses at Lockney are owned by Plainview firms, it is reported.—Floyd County Hesperian.

This year he raised almost every kind of vegetable, all kinds of flowers, and shrubbery and started a young orchard.

MEMPHIS—L. M. Thompson, County Agent is conducting an exchange list for the purpose of getting native blooded gilts placed with farmers in this section who need them. He is attempting to supply the demand with local swine as a precautionary measure against infected northern stock.

During full capacity runs, 32 pickers are employed besides packers and those operating shelling and grading machines. Shelled pecans from the plant will be retailed and sold wholesale all over the northern states in addition to shipping unshelled pecan in car lots.

HALE CENTER—A contract calling for the expenditure of $37,919 has been awarded for the installation of a complete system of waterworks for Hale Center.

ANSON—B. M. Whitaker, Exhibit manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and Manager Homer D. Wade of that organization were guests of the Luncheon Club here December 1st, at which time Whitaker made an address on agricultural problems to members and farmers of the community who were special guests. Similar lectures are given by Whitaker in any section calling upon the West Texas Chamber of Commerce for a service man to assist farmers and stock men in various communities.

The fire boys complain that all the bulbs and headlights were stolen from the old fire truck recently, which was stored in a building in town. From the tone of the remarks we heard some of them making, it seems entirely probable that complaints may yet be filed against the guilty parties. Not only should the fire boys feel aggrieved over this unlawful taking of public property but the citizens of the town should feel likewise. This is the property of the city that all taxpayers helped to pay for, and he is indeed a mean wretch who would steal it.

The Great American Dessert

ALL the world over, we Americans are known as a pie-eating nation. Our fondness for pie has come to be regarded as a national trait. Our farmers like it for breakfast. It is our business men's favorite luncheon. The American housewife is expected to supply her family with pie, almost daily. It is a staple dessert.

The modern cook is fortunate in having many different kinds of filling for pie put up in ready-to-serve form. After making her pie-crust, she has but to open a can of pumpkin, mince-meat, peach, apricot or berries of any kind, pour the contents upon the lower layer of pastry dough, and the pie is ready for the oven. If desired, a top layer of pastry may be used. The making of the crust is now the only real labor connected with pie-making.

Even the filling for apple pie—that general favorite—is now made ready for the housewife in the delicious form of canned applesauce. The addition of a few drops of lemon-juice will increase its tartness, while one or two eggs beaten well may be added for richness. The ready-to-serve pumpkin is smooth and creamy. A little spice may be added to suit the individual taste. The use of canned berries for pie saves quite a bit of time for the housewife.

Plenty of cotton to gather yet, and will be in January, I believe it would be best to let the balance stay in the field to fertilize the ground.

Our school at T-Bar is progressing nicely, with the same teachers we had last year. T-Bar is preparing to carry off the honors in playing basket ball this season.

FEW WITHOUT SOME IDEA OF "HOODOO"

Men Laugh at Superstition, and Believe in It.

In a French paper appeared the story of a French newspaper proprietor who was invited to dinner in a restaurant. Upon arrival in the dining room he was "horrified" to perceive that there were 13 guests at the table. In fact, so worried did he become that he declined to be seated and without any further excuses he went home. Of course, many will laugh at this man's silly superstition, but let them first ask themselves if they also have not some such ridiculous notion in their make-up. In this connection I recall the following written by Henry James:

"The term thirteen—Hoodoo—is derived from the circumstance that no intelligence developed beyond the degree that is normal to the age of thirteen pays any attention to the numeral as a factor in human destiny."

But, Frank Hanson comments in the Los Angeles Times, in this enlightened age there are many hotels in the country where the number 13 has been purposely omitted from the bedroom doors and the occupant of 12 has the tenant of 14 for a neighbor.

A writer had submitted a scenario and the day arrived upon which he expected a reply. What would the answer be? Then, on a Los Angeles street he met a beggar and at once it occurred to him that giving alms, generously, might conduce to his success with his masterpiece. The astonished mendicant received a dollar and the story was accepted. A plain case of cause and effect.

Later, when this same writer again submitted a story to some nabob in the movie world, he at once went in quest of a beggar. But, darn the lack of poverty in Southern California, not a beggar could he find on the streets in Los Angeles. Yes, finally he encountered a legless man, seated on the sidewalk, who sold pencils. He took a pencil and gave the mutilated one half a dollar. Next day came a rejection slip. Of course, that was to be expected. It was not so much because upon the last occasion he gave only half a dollar, but that the recipient of the alms was not strictly speaking a beggar, but a merchant.

A strange tale has been told of the birth of a certain superstition. During the Boer war, in Africa, the Boers noticed that the English soldiers were very economical with their matches, and that one match usually served to light the pipes of three smokers. Then, upon seeing a match struck, the Boer grabbed his rifle; when the third pipe was being lighted he took aim and then the third soldier to use the match was shot. Now this superstition that it is dangerous for three men to share a match has spread from England over the entire continent of Europe.

Have you a little superstition in your home?

Malaria as Insanity Cure

Mosquitoes infected with malaria are to be imported into Hull, England, for treatment of patients in the mental hospital suffering from general paralysis. The mosquitoes will be obtained from one of the schools of tropical medicine and they will be allowed to bite patients and infect them with malaria.

It has been found that beneficial results have followed inoculation of patients suffering from general paralysis with malaria. The treatment was discovered by Doctor Juregg of Vienna and was favorably commented upon by Doctor Lord, commissioner of the board of control. Hitherto one patient was infected with malaria so that others might be infected in turn by contact. General paralysis of the insane has up to now been incurable.

Failure on Success

The late Oscar S. Straus was generous both with his money and his sympathies. He hated slanders.

A parlor communist in Mr. Straus's hearing slandered this millionaire and that. They were all swindlers, their fortunes were all founded on the sob of widows and orphans, all their money was tainted, and so forth and so on.

When the communist halted a moment to take breath Mr. Straus said to him calmly:

"That's right, my friend. Ball at success. It is failure's one privilege."

Filipino Police

The Philippine constabulary, the police force of the islands, numbers 6,825 enlisted men and 306 officers. The annual report of Brig. Gen. Rafael Crame, head of the force, shows 2,410 constabulary in Mindanao and Sulu, where the Moros are most troublesome. The enlisted personnel is entirely Filipino, but a number of American officers are in the service from the rank of colonel down to third lieutenant.

Restore Napoleon's Villa

Villa San Martino in Elba, where Napoleon lived during his exile is to be restored and repaired at the expense of the Italian government following the initiative taken by the Fascist deputy, Esio Gray. Deputy Gray, who visited Elba in order to preside at the recent Fascist congress held there, was struck by the state of abandonment and disrepair into which Napoleon's villa has been allowed to fall.

Men Kill Deer With Arrows

New proof of the efficacy of an ancient weapon was demonstrated recently when Melvin R. Clover and John McCollum of Ventura, Cal., returned from the Kiabab forest in northern Arizona, with their Chevrolet decorated with the horns of two 200-pound bucks, which they had killed with bow and arrow in the ancient fashion which Robin Hood and his merry men practiced in Sherwood forest long ago. They brought with them a written statement from the forest ranger, verifying the fact that the deer were killed with bow and arrow.

"Our hunt began at the ranger station at Cane," said Clover in describing their expedition. "The ranger there offered to eat all the deer we brought in when he gave us our licenses to shoot and the remainder of the hunters who were in there with high powered rifles also kidded us quite a bit.

"We did not get our deer right away. The main thing we had to learn was that we couldn't hunt with bows on the way the other hunters went out, for we could not get close enough to the game without alarming them. When we finally resorted to tennis shoes instead of boots and moved as quietly as possible, we were each successful in getting a buck. Both were killed on the run at about 75 yards."

The bows which Clover and McCollum used were made for them by Mart Johnson of Ventura, an expert in this almost forgotten art. They are beautifully fashioned of California yew. The arrows are of ash, tipped with turkey feathers and pointed with a wicked steel barb. If you have a lingering idea that a bow and arrow is a harmless sort of a plaything, dismiss it when you see what Clover can do with his six-foot weapon. He drove an arrow clear through one of the bucks to finish it after the first shot had wounded it.

Hogs Beat Cotton Farmer Says

Last June S. J. Crawford's cotton crop on the Grover Stewart farm southeast of town was completely hauled out. A part of it was replanted but it was late and the worms got most of it. Consequently the yield this fall was short and the price is shorter, and so Crawford is trying to forget about his cotton crop.

But—last spring he and his landlord Grover Stewart, decided that it is not wise to depend on cotton alone. They went into the hog business on a small scale. They had four brood sows and they bought three more. Now they have sixty hogs. They have a fine wheat field for them to feed on and are doing fine. It will not be long until they have a carload to ship, besides all the meat they need for home consumption. With a fine wheat field and lots of cheap feed they expect to make the hog business pay. "It beats cotton," Crawford told the News man Saturday.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC
Any erroneous reflection upon the reputation or standing of any individual, firm or corporation, that may appear in the columns of the News,
will be gladly corrected when called to our attention.

A lot of people seem to have a misconception of the law prohibiting the manufacture of intoxicating liquors. Judge Leslie of Colorado took cognizance of this fact in his charge to the Mitchell Co. grand jury a few days ago and instructed that body to return bills of indictment against any and all persons found guilty of making "home brew"
containing more than one per cent of alcohol. It makes no difference whether this home brew is made to sell or for home use, it is a penitentiary offense to make it just the same if its alcoholic content is more than one per cent. The statutes are plain and unmistakable and there is no excuse for any person to violate this law through ignorance.
It is possible, however, that a good many people over this country are constantly violating it and thus becoming liable to prosecution for a felony. Better be careful about making home brew.

Blessings often come in disguise.
It may be that the low price of cotton this year will prove to be a blessing to the people of Lynn county.
In the first place, it will make us call a halt and economize. In the second place, it may teach us to rely on other things than cotton. It was said a long time ago that a man can not live by bread alone. We need to learn that neither can he live by cotton alone. This cotton calamity may cause us to develop along other lines. We need not quit raising cotton but if we will raise plenty of feed and dairy cows and hogs and poultry along with cotton, which we can easily do, we should be the most prosperous and happy people on earth. Why not?

It is a common remark by tourists and strangers that Tahoka is one of the most attractive towns on all the plains. One thing that makes it attractive at night is its street lights,
but there should be more of them.
Its paved streets, its handsome business houses, its splendid court house and lawn, its beautiful homes, and its ornamental trees make it attractive by day. But there should be more and better trees. Now that our water supply has been greatly augmented, our ornamental trees should be kept well watered and given the most careful attention at all times. A fine tree is beautiful anywhere, but it is simply magnificent out on these plains. Let's have more of them.

Charlie Chaplin and his young wife have separated. Chaplin's marriage to this little girl was little short of romantic. It is said that another "romance" between Charlie and a third person is brewing. The fact of the business is that Charlie has had a lot of "love affairs" and his life has been such as to lose him the respect of all decent people. He ought to be boycotted by all the respectable white folks, just as Fatty Arbuckle was. If a lot of this lovelomaking on the screen were cut out or made more decent, there would be less criticism of the movies by church folks and other right-thinking people.

With the immense quantities of cheap feed that we have in Lynn county just now, every farmer should have a nice flock of chickens. Thoroughbreds should be raised as much as possible, but where this is impracticable, good mixed breeds should be raised. Why let the feed go to waste when there is an abundance of it and no market for it? Let's feed it to chickens and turkeys and hogs and cows and thus help redeem the country from the calamity that the low price of cotton has brought upon us.

Every home owner in Lynn county who has abundant water or who can procure it should plant a lot of fruit trees and a few ornamental trees on his premises. Attention should also be given to grapes and berries, for they do well here. A few pecan trees might also be planted, for there is little doubt that they will grow and yield bountifully if sufficient water is supplied. Let's make Lynn county one of the most beautiful and productive and prosperous of all Texas. It can be done.

THE FULGHUM HATCHERY
Emory Texas

Some families in Lynn county are having all their living expenses
from the sale of cream, butter, eggs,
poultry and other such produce. Why should not every farm family do so?
Hogs and dairy cows, and chickens,
and turkeys will make Lynn county prosperous. Then the cotton and wheat will be surplus crops.

"If my people, who are called by my name, shall humble themselves, and pray and seek my face and turn from their wicked ways; then will I hear from heaven, and will forgive their sin, and will heal their land."—II Chron. 7:14.

Now is the time to plant trees.
Why not plant a tree and then take care of it? It will be a source of pleasure through the years to come.

A vast amount of propaganda is being put out through the daily papers and magazines, especially in the North and East, looking to the nomination two years hence by the Democratic National Convention of Governor Smith of New York for the presidency. Governor Smith would be unacceptable to the multitude of Southern Democrats, primarily because he has encouraged the state of New York to be in open rebellion against the Constitution of the United States in their attitude toward the 18th Amendment. Southern people will stand for the enforcement of the 18th Amendment and for the election of a President who will support the 18th Amendment. Furthermore, they will be opposed to electing any man as President who avows allegiance to any foreign potentate, political or ecclesiastical. They would not oppose a man because as an individual he was a Catholic in his belief, but because of his allegiance to the Pope at Rome. We may as well get ready for the fight two years hence. If the Democrats of the North are counting on the solid South to vote for anybody whom they may select, they will have an awakening in 1928.—Baptist Standard.

In discussing the distressing cotton situation that exists throughout the plains country, Judge Cain suggested to the editor a few days ago
that Tahoka needs a grain elevator.
He pointed out the fact that about fourteen hundred cars of grain, mostly maize, were shipped from Tahoka in a single year some eight or ten years ago. There ought to be better facilities for caring for our grain crop, whether it be maize and kafir or wheat, he thinks. He is of the opinion that the price of cotton will not be high again in the next few years and in that event more and more wheat will probably be raised in Lynn county. Somebody should be thinking along these lines with a view to taking care of Lynn county's needs in the matter of marketing her grain crops.

COW-SOW-HEN
That war cry of diversified farming, "cow-sow-hen" is making itself heard in Nolan county. It has ceased to be a subject of talk alone—it has become a subject for action, and Nolan county is going to benefit as the result.

The "cow" part of the cow, sow and hen movement, which, by the way is being taken up all over West Texas as it never has before, is to be taken care of in Nolan county by a creamery which is to be built here.
This will afford a steady cash market for dairy products. A carload of hogs has been ordered to be distributed among Nolan county farmers.
Another carload will be ordered if enough farmers want more hogs.
And plans are now under way to organize the poultry breeders of this section, work for better quality
birds and a better cash market.

CANNING
The proof of canning is in the profit and the edibles thus conserved.
Beef canning demonstrations in West Texas indicate that an animal on the hoof worth about $40 may be metamorphosed into cans of meat worth nearly $70, almost doubling its value and at the same time greatly contributing to the living at home.
Such things as this simply mean capitalizing the opportunity of the farmer. When he can raise his living at home, all that he sells means enlarging the bank account and an enlarged bank account means an enlarged opportunity to take advantage of other opportunities that may be offered.—San Angelo Standard.

Some families in Lynn county are
having all their living expenses
from the sale of cream, butter, eggs,
poultry and other such produce. Why
should not every farm family do so?
Hogs and dairy cows, and chickens,
and turkeys will make Lynn county prosperous. Then the cotton and
wheat will be surplus crops.

Plant Pecan Trees
At Scout Camp

Thirteen Scouts under the direction of two county agents and Supt.
D. L. Jones of the state experiment farm and with the assistance of Scoutmaster J. B. Caldwell of Slaton, Rev. L. G. H. Williams and the Scout Executive spent last Saturday
at the camp setting out pecan trees.
Dr. Loveless, who spends about 20 hours each day relieving suffering humanity at Loveless-Bennett hospital and general practice, has as his hobbies Boy Scout work and soft shell pecan trees. Hence the gift.
It is the opinion of these men that these trees will grow in the places selected if they will grow anywhere in West Texas. The soil is a sandy loam on a base of clay and subirrigated. These trees have a tap root averaging about three feet and were watered to settle the soil around the feeder roots.

The camp is valued at over $13,200
now. The citizenship of two towns and three individuals have, besides taking care of their regular budget,
made possible with cash and materials $4,800.00 worth of improvements on the site. There is something like $1,750.00 worth of lumber, cement and plumbing and the sanitary system to be paid for yet.
Some one will say, "Well, that is a lot of money to spend on a bunch of boys," or "No one ever bought me a camp site." Brother you never saw an auto nor an airplane when you were a boy either. The old world is rocking along at a terrific pace, and we must do all that is in our power to save for christian service and citizenship and youth of the land. So read this poem and think it over. After all the success you make in life is what your boy thinks of you. Are you a real
"Dad" or just a father?

SINCE JIMMY JOINED THE SCOUTS

That Jim of mine is mostly boy,
Not tough, but rather wild,
Up and down all the time,
A regular he-child.
Got his habits nacherally,
From his dad no doubt,
He's wild, but I don't worry none.
"Cause Jimmy is a Scout"
He used to cuss quite fluently,
Out back of the garage,
I've heard that kid lay down
A blue profanity barrage.
That made me pale, but recently,
He's cut the rough talk out,
(It's cause he is a Scout)
He had a scrap the other day,
But wouldn't tell a lye,
I asked him how about it,
And he looked me in the eye,
An' says, "I hit that bird because He won't salute the flag.
He said he thought it silly,
All this fuss about a rag.
Jimmy helps his mother round the house;
Don't whimper any more;
He's doing fairly well at school.
Don't kick at every chore,
Is captain of his football team,
Can skin me catching trout,
But what he's really proud of—
He's a Patrol Leader Scout.
When I look back some two score
years,
The thought occurs to me,
That lessons in clean living
Learned across my fathers knee
Are taught these days in kinder ways,
An' somehow I don't doubt,
I'd be a darn sight better dad,
If I had been a scout.

Produce and Cream Station at T-Bar

H. W. Crews, who operates a store at T-Bar, visited the News office Friday on business and while here stated that he was installing a produce and cream station in connection with his business. He believes in encouraging the production of cream, eggs, and other farm produce, and he is doing his part to encourage it. It is to be hoped that the farmers of his section will raise a lot of these commodities from this time on out.

C. B. Gregg of Grassland says that he has several Jersey cows and sells cream in Tahoka every week. He finds his cows much more profitable than cotton. Many others could do what Mr. Gregg is doing.

Daniel and the Dance

(By Chris L. Adair)

Since there is a statewide discussion of the proposed "inaugural ball, it may not be out of place to furnish some original contribution to the matter in hand. To properly do this it is necessary to be both brief and plain. As to the ethical discussion as to whether a church member or a professing Christian can or cannot dance without sin; this is neither the time nor place for any such controversy. It should be sufficient and satisfying to every requirement of good manners and common decency if the promoters of this dance would quietly ascertain the wishes of Governor and Mrs. Moody in the matter and act accordingly. If any further argument were required for the guidance of Col. Peeler and the rest of the dance boosters then the fact that the man who was the first choice of Texas, Woodrow Wilson's Democracy great est president since Jackson—first put the ban of official disapproval on the great quadrennial affair at Washington more than a dozen years ago should be sufficient.

Having been at the National Capital while an inaugural ball was in progress I am more able than some of the defenders of these affairs to speak from first hand knowledge as to what they are like. The great public dance which is projected for Austin the 18th of January 1927 will be very little different from other functions of a like nature in that it will be a rallying point for high-toned boot-leggers, gamblers, and white slavers. This condition will prevail regardless of the great number of decent people who will undoubtedly be in attendance and take part in the ball. It is to be regretted that many of our best people thus unconsciously become decoys and lure some of their best friends into the range of bad company. It should not be a question as to whether it is wrong for any certain individual to drink, dance, gamble or swear as it is the kind of example they set for those who look up to them in a moral and spiritual way. It should be remembered that ten per cent of Austin's population is made up of students and other young people in public employment who are far from home and on whom this big dance will exert no real elevating and refining influences.

The daily papers report that the Baptist convention made a protest against this so-called inaugural ball and that the ball's main booster sneeringly replied to the effect that the Baptists were a bunch of chronic kickers and that since the convention had no right to meddle in the local affairs of the great city of Austin, their wishes would not be regarded. It is unlikely that the Methodists would have received any more civil treatment had they protested. Austin of all the cities of Texas owes its existence almost wholly to the vast sums of taxes forcibly taken from all parts of Texas and spent so lavishly with in Austin's corporate limits. Even a city the size of Dallas is very sensitive to out of town public opinion and regulates its local affairs accordingly but at Austin we see a contemptible bunch of willful men who fear not God nor yet regard man who complementarily insult almost a half-million of the best citizens of Texas, fellow-churchmen of Moody, Burleson and Houston whose lives have been spent and whose blood has been shed in loyal service to Texas for a century past. Everyone knows that the united effort of Texas Baptists and Methodists for many years past have created the moral atmosphere which made Moody's nomination and election possible. And these people are supremely correct in their contention that the capitol building is not to be turned into a dance hall any more properly than it is to use it for a garage, a fat stock show or a prize fight arena. The Capital building was built and maintained by the taxes of the people of Texas for the sole purpose of properly conducting the state government and no organization of any kind has a right to subvert it to any other use. So many Texans like to think of New Mexico as a backward state, but there the turning of public buildings into temporary dance halls is forbidden by law. It is time our self centered friends at Austin were made to feel the weight of public opinion in the matter of mis-using public property for a purpose which has outlived its usefulness and which is opposed by most of the upright and God-fearing people of Texas. Beside that this modern young Daniel and his young wife are both members of a church which holds that dancing and everything connected with it are all wrong. Nothing is clearer than the proposition that if Col. Peeler and his self-appointed committee had the courage and the good manners to consult the wishes of Mr. and Mrs. Moody in the matter and be governed thereby, then there would surely be no inaugural ball in Austin, Texas, January 18, 1927. When Moody in making his famous acceptance of the now historic challenge of the Fergusons as he stood beside the monument of the immortal Travis that beautiful spring day said he would make any personal sacrifice to rid Texas of Fergusonism and all it stood for, he sounded a battle call to every night-thinking forward looking person in Texas. No one can forget the tawdry time and semi-vulgarity of the dance that ushered in the most shameful era—two short but eventful years—in Texas history. Today Fergusonism lies dead and buried and dead beneath an avalanche of ballots over a half-million deep. The public dance hall and all its natural and logical associated influences were all strong for Fergusonism. Now we face a new day and a forward start on the way to better things in the science of government. No more fitting celebration of this event can be had than to put this public detestable inaugural ball forever in the discard.

Again Chevrolet's
Greatest Year

In 1925 Chevrolet astonished the automotive world by attaining an annual production never before reached by any manufacturer of gearshift automobiles. Yet, so spectacular has been the increase in demand for Chevrolet cars, that a new and even more brilliant record is the climax for 1926. Thus, for two years in succession, Chevrolet has broken all its previous records and has set a new mark in automotive history. This splendid achievement results from a steadfast adherence to the fundamental Chevrolet policy of building a car of the finest possible quality to sell at a low price. That the vast majority of buyers now demand a car of this type—and that Chevrolet has been successful in building such a car—possessing the highest degree of smooth performance, smart appearance, and economical operation—is proved by Chevrolet's success during the year now drawing to a close. Come in and see this record-breaking car.

GRASSLAND NEWS

Mr. K. B. Russell, who made Grassland his home for the past year and has been living in Portales, N. M., a few months is back here on a visit, after going to his old home in Shelby county. Mr. Ingram and family have moved from here to Blanket, Texas, near Brownwood. On last Saturday, Mrs. W. T. Thomas went to Post and met her mother, Mrs. Anna Chest, who has been visiting her daughter and other friends in Shelby and San Augustine counties. On Friday afternoon, December 3rd, our Mother's Club was turned for the time being into an old time quilting party. About 15 or 20 quilts met at the teacherage and quilted two quilts which they had previously pieced. About 4 o'clock Miss Fox and her domestic science class of girls came in and surprised the mothers by serving a plate lunch, consisting of sandwiches, cakes and tea, all of which were delicious. We thank the ladies who helped with the quilts in any way, and will be glad if they will all join our club. Everybody remember to come to the pie supper here at Grassland School House, next Friday night, December 10. Two quilts will be given away that night. There will be many other attractions not common to pie supper. If the weather is bad on Friday night come Saturday night. Mr. Noble Melton is very sick with pneumonia at the home of his wife's father, Mr. A. R. Hood. The Melton live in Lynn Community. At this writing we may well say with the poet: "The day is dark and cold and dreary; It rains and the wind is never weary" The rains are stopping the cotton picking very materially. Our gin has up to this time ginned about 2,100 bales.

PHOBE K. WARNER CLUB STUDIES SOCIAL PROBLEMS The Phobe K. Warner Club met for regular study November 30 at the Court House. The subject for the day was "The Social Evil" and "Sex Education." Mrs. S. C. Clark conducted the program. Roll Call was answered by giving the names and authors of the text books of the year. Mrs. Bate prepared a very interesting paper on "The Social Evil." She closed her subject with Guest's poem, "You Can't Hide My Son." Mrs. Rogers, in her usual capable manner, presented the subject, "Sex Education." She stressed the point that parents should be trained to teach their children sex education. The Club will meet again December 10, at four o'clock. The subject will be "National Health."

Respirators Not Perfect Fifty per cent efficiency against tobacco smoke in the standard stippled by the United States Bureau of mines for gas masks to assure protection from smoke and dust. Many industrial dust respirators and many different filters, ranging from asbestos and absorbent cotton to various papers, were used in the laboratory tests made by S. H. Kinn, G. W. Smith and E. G. Miller. Tobacco smoke was used as a criterion because, being extremely difficult to arrest, it affords a severe test for the respirators. While the use among workers in such dusty industries an ability should be encouraged, the tests show that respirators cannot be regarded as a final safeguard, the experts say.

Australian Exploration A new expedition with a caravan of 25 camels has started for the thirty interior of Australia. Dr. Herbert Sponner, the leader, is a geologist, but he does not believe all that men who follow the mirage of gold have told him. He will examine the region at the head of the Victoria river for any traces of mineral wealth. Being also an anthropologist, he is in quest of other primitive tribes of a different sort, he carries a motion-picture outfit and a talking machine to make records of the fast-disappearing aboriginal life. He will keep in touch with the far office by wireless, and in any phase or the other his wealth of information promises a harvest worth the gathering.

Made His Opportunity America is not the only land of opportunity. Dr. Joseph Wright of London, now from the lively port of London, has in a tentative query to the professor of comparative pathology (genetics of languages) at the University of Oxford, a position he has just resigned. As all he wants to work in the query and taught himself to read and write. At twenty he became a "captain of self-reliance." Later he taught himself Greek, Hebrew, French, Latin, German, Gothic, old English, old Norse, old Dutch, old Spanish, old High German, middle High German, Icelandic, Anglo-Saxon and old English. As a result, at twenty he became an Oxford professor.

Married on His Day Doubtless marriages are not exactly new, but one recently held at Harlingen, International, was unusually touching. Miss Trullinger was recently injured with a serious condition, and on being given up, asked that the wedding be held for her. She was kept alive by attendants until the photographer arrived the morning ceremony, and she died just as the priest was saying the "I do's." Her father, who had been the guest, while the priest was saying the "I do's."

Phrases Link Mankind to the Lower Animals

Traits and characteristics of animals have furnished the English language some of its most expressive words and phrases. A pig is notoriously greedy, hence the word piggyish. It is also obstinate and perverse, as any one knows who has tried to drive one. From this trait is derived the word pig-headed. A dull, stupid fellow is termed an ass and a headstrong man is called a bull. Since the lion is the king of beasts, naturally he gets his share every time, hence the phrase, the lion's share. Being aggressive he furnished the inspiration for the word lion-hearted. To be feisty is to be wily or cunning like the fox; to be tigerish is to resemble the tiger in ferocity and bloodthirstiness. To snarl a rat, meaning to scowl a plot or to be suspicious of some scheme, comes from the rat's unsavory odor. To gobber, a term used in mining, is to burrow irregularly in the ground after the manner of gophers. To dog is a verb which means to follow like a dog; to hound has a little different meaning as it implies pursuing unrelentingly. A sheepish person is bashful, timorous, or meekly diffident, and a snail individual is stubborn. To be elephantine is to be clumsy and huge. To be chicken-hearted implies timidity, lack of courage. A wolf is crafty, rapacious, hence the word wolfish. A bear is a coarse, uncouth person. To ape is to imitate or to mimic as apes do human actions; to monkey with is to fool with or to meddle with, as monkeys do with anything which takes their fancy. Monkey business, which is listed with slang phrases, conveys a similar idea. From man's best friend come three familiar expressions, horse play, horse laugh and horse sense. The first two seem much less appropriate than does horse sense.—Indianapolis News.

Indian Gift A deed signed by Indian chiefs several years before the Revolutionary war, the signatures consisting of figures of birds, fish and other animals forming the symbols of the tribes concerned, would ordinarily be regarded as a historical curiosity. But an ancient document of this description became endowed with highly practical importance when it was found as evidence in litigation over this 2,500 acres of forest land in Hamilton county. The dispute, which has been in the courts for two decades, has at last been decided in favor of the state. It is an odd trait of events that brings into the transaction of a day of airplanes and wireless a bit of paper signed by men whose means of rapid transit was the canoe and whose written communications were in hieroglyphics.—New York Evening Post.

Not Concerned A business man teaches a class of small boys in an Indianapolis mission Sunday school. In the class are several youngsters to whom the slang term, "hard-boiled eggs," might well be applied. The teacher makes it a rule each Sunday to drive home some practical thought concerning right living and getting ahead in the world. On a recent Sunday he laid particular stress on taking advantage of opportunities. Suddenly he halted and, addressing one of the "eggs," said: "George, what do I mean when I say: 'Take hay while the sun shines?'" George's face took on a don't-ask-me look, then he blurted: "I don't know and I don't care!"

Sea Growing Safer For the three years from 1922 to 1924 the number of ships posted missing at Lloyd's averaged 20; last year there were only 10. It is believed that this is due to the law which requires all ships of 1,000 tons gross to carry wireless. Of the 20 ships missing last year all but 1 were without wireless; 1, lost on the voyage to Amsterdam, was 1,500 tons. If it had had wireless it would almost certainly have been saved. No doubt the law will soon be altered to include smaller vessels. The one ship with wireless that was lost out of its S. O. S., and many ships rushed to the rescue, but it had disappeared when they reached the spot.

Best Irrigation Methods If wheat is being grown in a dry country where there is little water, it is benefited most by a downpour when it is still in the early stages of growth. Prof. Alvin Kear of the Colorado state experiment station, in a report to the American Association of Cereal Chemists, described a series of irrigation experiments in which it was demonstrated that water applied while the wheat was still young produced a lower yield, but the final product had a much higher food value than that produced when irrigations were given during the latter stages of growth.

Canyon Teacher is Studying in Spain CANTON, Dec. 1.—Miss Mary E. Rudolph, head of the Spanish Department of the West Texas Teachers College, is doing graduate study in the University of Madrid, Madrid, Spain. She is away on leave of absence for the year, after which she will return and take up her work here. Miss Rudolph has done a great deal of work at the University of Mexico and combines with an excellent preparation in her work extensive first hand knowledge of the Spanish and Mexican peoples. She is a sister of Congressman Claude B. Hudspeth. The fire department was called to the Edwards-Lockhart gin one day to extinguish a fire that caught in the engine room but had been put out before the fire could get on the ground. The fire responded promptly, however, would have extinguished the fire had they gotten beyond the limits of those operating the gin plant.

When we open a can of spaghetti, all cooked and blended with tomato sauce, we give little thought to its origin. It is as much a product of the garden as the carrot and its big brother, macaroni, manufactured articles, made paste created out of the meal of wheat that comes from crust hard, glutinous wheat—in Italy known as durum or semolina.

The semolina is moisture very small quantity of holes and is then mixed by machine smooth and "tough." A kneading-machine works up the dough ready to go into the pot of a press, where revolving rollers establish an office for the practice of fashion, not as general practice as a specialist. His name appears elsewhere in the paper, who recommends it for very highly.

Spaghetti In The Making

WHEN we open a can of spaghetti, all cooked and tastily blended with tomato sauce and cheese, we give little thought to its origin. It is as much a matter of course to us as if it grew in the garden. Yet the fact is, spaghetti and its big brother, macaroni, are manufactured articles, made from a paste created out of the meal or "semolina" that comes from crushing very hard, glutinous wheat—in this country known as durum or macaroni wheat.

The semolina is moistened with a very small quantity of boiling water, and is then mixed by machinery until smooth and "tough." A powerful kneading-machine works up the dough until ready to go into the cylinder of a press, where revolving screws with tremendous pressure force it through small holes in a perforated plate at the bottom of the cylinder. This is called the "trafila," and its form gives the character of the product. The hollow form of macaroni is given by a steel pin in the holes. Smaller holes without pins produce the solid spaghetti.

Spaghetti and macaroni, cut off at the proper lengths, are looped over frames to dry. In the best-conducted factories in this country, the heated drying-rooms are supplied with washed, filtered and continually changing air. In Italy, the drying is done out-of-doors.

At the cannery, the spaghetti is thoroughly cooked in steam retorts, blended with cheese and tomato sauce, and automatically sealed in air-tight cans. It needs only re-heating, to be ready for the table. This dish of Italian origin adds variety to the menu.

Dr. P. M. Waltrip of Fort Worth has established an office here temporarily for the practice of his profession, not as general practitioner but as a specialist. His advertisement appears elsewhere in this paper. He is a warm friend of J. K. Calhoun, who commends the doctor very highly.

Olive Borden and Geo. O'Brien Play Pioneer Lovers

One of the most impressive spectacles ever witnessed on the screen is the race across the open plain for land in the epic "3 Bad Men" playing at Star Theatre Monday and Tuesday, December 13 and 14.

Thousands of people take part in this tremendous picture of the land rush, together with huge herds of cattle, horses and vehicles of every description. There is excitement galore and suspense that is unequalled, furnished by the "3 Bad Men" and the youthful pioneer lovers, parts played by winsome Olive Borden and the hard riding George O'Brien. The picture was directed by John Ford who became great with "The Iron Horse" and this film will do much to add to his reputation as one of the outstanding directors in the world.

Nearly All Rural Schools Now Open

All the public school in Lynn county except two are now in session according to County Superintendent H. P. Caveness. A few started Monday of this week, a number started on the preceding Monday, while several were already in session.

Among those which started last Monday was the Joe Bailey School. It would have started on the Monday preceding, but the high wind on Thanksgiving day unroofed the building and the roof had to be replaced before school could start.

Mr. Caveness states that his major objective during the present school year will be to standardize the work of the rural schools. At some time during the term he will cause all the pupils in all the grades in every school to be tested out under his supervision to determine whether or not standard work is being done. "It will hardly be possible to complete the work of standardizing the schools during the 1st year, Mr. Caveness stated, "but we expect to go a long way in that direction. During the next year we expect to give the pupils two tests," he said.

Mr. Caveness is very much interested in some of the measures proposed recently by the state teachers association and by the state school survey commission, and if these desired changes are made he thinks that the efficiency of our public school system can be greatly enhanced.

ASK BIDS TO CARRY LAMESA MAIL

LAMESA, Dec. 4.—There has been posted in the lobby of the local post-office notices asking for bids for carrying first class mail between Lubbock and Lamesa. This service was in operation for several months during the fall of 1925 and the spring of 1926, and the post office department wishes to inaugurate this service again. Previously it was impossible for the department to get a permanent contract with anyone which was the reason for disconnecting the service. Various persons and the commercial organizations of the town are to be benefited by this service have been at work on the proposition for some time and if it is at all possible for the postoffice to get a reasonable bid and are able to get a permanent contract this service will be started. It is hoped that some one will turn in a bid for furnishing this much needed service of these towns.

HOPELESS

Weak, Thin, Nervous Woman Gets Strong, Gains Weight.

Mrs. L. N. Crawford, Jr., of Logansport, La., writes: "I felt perfectly hopeless. Life wasn't worth living, it seemed. I felt like giving up but, you know, a woman with a family just can't do that. I was weak, thin and nervous. I tried so many things but didn't get better. Finally I asked my husband to get me some Cardui. After I had taken three bottles, I was like a new person."

"I gradually resumed my work around the house and went places. I quit suffering. Now I am strong, in good weight, and feel fine." Thousands of women have been helped by Cardui, in a similar way, in the last 45 years.

PLANS FOR LEAGUE MEET ARE MADE

mittee that the town in which the Meet was held should provide for the expense and provide banners for the events. It was also the general opinion that the Meet should hereafter be held at a centrally located place, that place agreeing to look after the Meet properly).

3. A motion carried providing for the County Meet to be held the last Saturday in March and the Friday preceding.

4. A motion carried providing that no charge be made for the attendance upon the Meet, either of the contestants or visitors.

5. A motion carried that 500 copies of the programs be printed, listing the approximate time, place, etc. of each event. An amendment provided that Mr. Rickard and Mr. Baze look after the printing of the program or schedule.

6. A motion carried requiring that the names of all contestants be sent to the director of the particular event one week prior to the Meet. Failure to do so will render the contestant ineligible to participate in the contests.

7. A motion carried requiring the Director General to appoint a committee to arrange a tentative schedule for the approval of the Executive committee at its next meeting.

8. A motion carried directing the Director General to have copies of the minutes of the meeting made and sent to each member of the executive committee and each of the papers of the county.

In general a very fine meeting was held, and enthusiasm for a good Meet was high. It is important that each school begin early for the contests. Attention is called to the new contests for one and two teachers—the Three-R and the Pen tathlon. It is the desire of Executive Committee that all the schools of the county enter the contests.

M. L. H. Baze, Director General; H. P. Caveness, Director of Rural Schools; A. V. Price Director of Athletics; J. A. Rickard, Director of Debate; E. E. Hancock, Director of Arithmetic; Janice Jennigin, Director of Essay; W. B. Bishop, Director of Declamation; Mrs. B. E. Adams, Director of Spelling; Gordon King, Director of Music Memory.

Miss Jennigin acted as secretary for the meeting of the Committee.

To those who are curious to know why the County Interscholastic Meet goes away from Tahoka again this year we offer the following reason: The Tahoka Schools did not meet with the other schools of the county in the Tri-County Institute last year. At this Tri-County Institute the Interscholastic League was organized and it was generally understood at the time that the Meet was to go to Wilson last year with the understanding that it was to go to O'Donnell this year. There was a moral obligation, it seems, upon the rural and small schools of the county to support O'Donnell this year as per arrangements of last year. It was decided at the Institute this year that the location of the County Meet be decided by the Executive Committee at a later meeting to be called by the Director General. This meeting was called last Saturday and the decision was strongly in favor of O'Donnell because of the general course of events last year. It was the sense of the committee however, that Tahoka was the logical place for the Meet, since it is the most centrally located, and a motion was made recommending to the next committee that the Meet be brought back to Tahoka. Let it be said, however, that hereafter Tahoka must be at all times willing to take care of the Meet and must not lose sight of the fact that the other school of the county have a part in the Meet and are essential to her own welfare. There should be no reason why in the future the County Meet should be held elsewhere than Tahoka, for the simple reason that it is centrally located and the place where the smaller schools of the county can come together most conveniently. It is the purpose of the administration of the Tahoka Schools to remove all barriers, prejudice, misunderstanding, etc., and invite the schools of the county to be our guests hereafter. There will be no reason we hope, why the schools of the county will not want to come our way after this year.

We give here the addresses of the different directors and take this means of urging each school of the county to enter contestants for the Meet. The practice and experience for the pupil is worth all the trouble. Let us forget about who might win and do the best for our school. Get in touch with your county Superintendent and the director and organ ize at once. If you are not sure about the organization, ask the director general or your county superintendent.

Ownership of "The Limit" Changes

Ross E. Ketter and Hubert Davis last week affected a deal whereby Mr. Davis became the proprietor of the "Limit", a drug sundry store conducted here for the past several years by Mr. Ketter, and Mr. Ketter became the owner of the fixtures in the confectionery recently opened up by Mr. Davis in the new post office building.

Mr. Davis took charge of "The Limit" about the first of the month, since which time his former place of business has been closed. It is understood that Mr. Ketter intends to remove these fixtures and open up a business elsewhere, possibly in one of the oil towns of the North Plains.

Mr. Ketter is a good business man and a splendid citizen. He has resided in Tahoka many years, and by his strict integrity and honest dealing he has accumulated a host of friends here and throughout the county who will regret his decision to locate elsewhere.

Mr. Davis is a young business man of splendid possibilities and his many friends wish him unlimited success in his new venture.

O. B. Adami, Wm. Zappe, and L. Lumsden left Sunday for Winters, where Mr. Adami expected to visit his mother a day or two before her departure for California. Messrs. Zappe and Lumsden were going on to Coleman, Tuscobia, and other places in that section on business. Mr. Adami phoned back Monday night that they were water bound.
