NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC Any erroneous reflection upon the reputation or standing of any individual, firm or corporation, that may appear in the columns of the News, will be gladly corrected when called to our attention.

The death of editorials this week is due to the fact that the editor is still away on his vacation and to the fact that the force does not have the time or the ability to properly fill these columns. Please pardon us for the lack of editorials and scarcity of news in this issue, and we promise you that next week the editor will be back in the harness. Enlivened and inspired through a short vacation trip, we imagine he will be better able to furnish you with interesting reading matter. Send us a dollar and a half for another year's subscription, and we'll bet you don't regret it.

Had a fellow to hand us the other day a printed article about a certain brand of goods he carried and told us we could use that to help fill up the paper. Went over to the same fellow in about an hour, took $5.00 worth of stuff from his shelf and was walking out when the fellow said, "do you want to pay for them or have them charged?" We told him we needed a few things in his line and we figured the amount we charged for his article would pay for the goods. He got sore, of course, and we had to put the goods back and kill the fellow's item brooding up his goods.—Graham Leader.

THE TARIFF AND THE FARMER

The tariff is an economic and not a political question. Further, it seems to be an established principle in the United States. The demand is no longer for free trade, but for adjustment of tariffs for the purpose of equalizing the benefits derived therefrom.

Thus far in our history, the benefits of the tariff have largely accrued to the manufacturers. Producers of raw materials have paid the price. Until recent years the South has not been industrially inclined. Therefore it was quite natural that the stronghold of free trade was south of the Mason and Dixon line. Now that industry is developing in the Southern State, there is less demand for free trade or even for a tariff for revenue only.

In the old days when the tariff question was the political football, it was argued by Republicans that by protecting industry it gave employment to labor, thus creating a market for farm products and benefiting the farmers. The South never agreed to this as their chief product was cotton, much of which was exported. Western farmers, however, fell for this manner of presenting the question and remained in the Republican columns.

But time is bringing about further changes in views on this great economic question. Industry is developing rapidly in the old free-trade States, and the tariff on manufactured products is looked upon with more favor. The South is also producing various commodities which come in competition with foreign-grown products, and protection is demanded. No Southern Democrat would think of demanding the removal of the tariff on vegetable oils, as they are producers of cottonseed, peanuts and soy beans. The Southern wool grower is asking protection from Australian wool imports. The sugar grower does not want free wheat, nor does the producer of eggs desire to compete with China without protection of the tariff.

but what about the cotton grower? Here we have an export commodity the price of which is largely influenced by a foreign market. The producers of wool, butter, eggs, peanuts, beef, sugar and wheat are protected. The cotton grower has protection only by his by-product, cottonseed oil. It has been suggested that inasmuch as cotton farmers buy in a protected market, they should receive a fair portion of the $600,000,000 in duties collected by the Government, in form of an export debenture. To illustrate: For every bale of cotton exported, let the government pay the exporter in certificates valued at $10. These certificates would be legal tender in the payment of import duties and therefore would have a commercial market. It is argued that such action would automatically advance the price of cotton sold at home to the full amount of the certificate value. It is proposed that the same plan be used in connection with export wheat, corn, and other agricultural commodities.

It would be useless to put a tariff on any exported agricultural commodity and expect producers to benefit. It seems that we must reverse the procedure and pay the exporter a part of the money producers pay for protected manufactured products. The export debenture plan is advanced as a means to that end. It has never been tried, and the success of such a scheme is more or less questionable. It might be worth experimenting with. Certainly some way should be found to equalize the benefits of the protective tariff on which the majority of voters evidently believe the prosperity of this country is based.—Texas Farm and Ranch.

NEW HOME PARTY FOR BRIDE

The home of Mrs. T. H. Hancock was the scene for a pretty shower party Monday afternoon, when Misses Grosse and Hancock entertained in honor of the recent bride, Mrs. Oscar Izard.

The guests arrived about three o'clock and immediately a program began in the form of a mock wedding. The congratulations and goodwishes were written by each guest in a book especially prepared, after which Mrs. Izard was invited to follow the rainbow line which took her over all the house and finally to a bed laden with lovely gifts which proved to be her "pot of gold."

Stamped tea towels were then passed to the guests with needle and thread which were embroidered and given to Mrs. Izard.

A course of delicious punch and cake was served to the following: Mrs. Wood, Seth, Levett, Farris, Henry Heck of Wilson, Bradley Sam Smith, Beaty, Hancock, P. W. THE WHINERS

I don't mind a man with a red-blooded kick
At a real or a fancied wrong;
I can stand for the chap with a grooch if he's quick
To drop it when joy comes along.
I have praise for the fellow who says what he thinks,
Though his thoughts may not fit with mine,
But spare me from having to mix with the ginks
Who go through the world with a whine.
I am willing to listen to a sinner or saint
Who is willing to fight for his rights,
And there's something in an honest complaint
That the soul of me really delights.
For kickers are useful and grooches are wise,
For their purpose is frequently fine,
But spare me having to mix with the guys
Who go through the world with a whine.

Simmons To Play Olympic Squad

ABILENE, July - West Texas will get a chance to see the greatest array of football stars on the Pacific coast here next December 14, when Coach Jimmy Howell brings his Olympic Club aggregation from San Francisco to meet the Simmons University Cowboys here on that date.

Coach Frank Bridges of the Abilene school has sent a contract to Howell and says acceptance is a mere formality, as the Olympic mentor has already assured him he would be glad to sign for a game.

Some stars already familiar to Texas football fans will be in the visiting roster, which will include "Tubby" Brewster and "Rags" Matthews, both of T. C. U. fame. Some of the others on the club which was coached by Bridges last year and met only one defeat, are: Merton Egan, all-American back, "Cowboy" Hatch from Iowa, Lloyd Yoder of Carnegie Tech, McCree, captain and center of the 1927 Stanford team, "Snip" Carrothers, center on the West's team in 1927, and Hicks of St. Mary's fame.

The Cowboy roster is uncertain at present. Ten letter men, together with some likely transfers from Junior colleges and a host of freshmen will be worked into the Cowboy line-up. First year men are still available at Simmons.

A crowd of over 10,000 is expected for this first inter-collegiate football clash in West Texas. The new steel stadium, now under construction, will make the regular seating capacity of Parramore Field 10,000 and additional seats can be provided.

Transportation By Motor Vehicle Is Growing Annually

(By S. T. Bledsoe, General Manager Santa Fe System)

Tradition says that man's effort to construct a self-propelled vehicle began in the early Egyptian period, and history records such effort without success for many centuries prior to the steam engine.

Nicholas Joseph Cugnot in 1769 operated a three wheel steam propelled wagon, in which coal was used as fuel. This wagon was heavy, awkward and difficult to manage, but succeeded in making a speed of two and a half miles an hour.

Improved design or self-propelled steam driven roadway carriages in the first four decades of the Nineteenth Century caused their rapid growth in public favor in England until 1845, when a law was enacted preserving the highways for the use of horse-drawn vehicles, and in effect prohibiting their use by self-propelled vehicles.

The exclusion of steam driven, self propelled roadway carriages from the public highways practically suspended their use and it was forty years before there was a resumption of the manufacture or further improvement of such vehicles.

In 1885, Gottlieb Daimler patented a high-speed gas or mineral spirit engine. This engine is regarded as the parent and prototype of the variety of motors for self-propelled vehicles since produced.

Daimler's motor was first used in 1885 in propelling a motor bicycle or velocipede and in 1886 in propelling a four-wheel vehicle—a modification of the horse-drawn carriage.

The gasoline motor was first successfully used for roadway propulsion about 1888. The gasoline motor driven carriage embodying devices of American design and construction made its first appearance in the United States in 1893 or 1894.

The electric motor and storage battery came into use as roadway vehicle motive power in the last decade of the Nineteenth Century, and electricity became a recognized motive power for self-propelled vehicles in 1894.

The development of motor driven vehicles was greatly stimulated by trial races and particularly those in France in 1894 and 1895; at Chicago in 1895 and 1896 and at New York in 1896.

In 1895 there were four automobiles manufactured in the United States; in 1900, 5,000 and in 1927, 2,939,000 automobiles and 455,000 trucks.

In 1895 the total number of automobiles registered in the United States was four; in 1900, 8,000; in 1927, 20,230,000 automobiles and 2,897,000 trucks.

Since 1900, the improvement in motors, body design, comfort, convenience, speed and serviceability of motor vehicles has made such rapid strides that today they constitute a most important factor in the social, business and economic life of the world, and particularly of the United States.

The manufacture of motor vehicles (based on the wholesale price of the product) ranks first among the manufacturing industries of the United States, and that of motor vehicle bodies and parts ranks ninth.

There are more than two billion dollars invested in automobile manufacturing, and 325,000 employees whose compensation in 1927 was $586,000,000.

Eighty per cent of all gasoline produced and 405,000,000 gallons of lubricating oil were consumed in the operation of automobiles and trucks in 1927.

The automobile industry in 1927 used 14 per cent of the iron and steel produced in this country; 63 per cent of the plate glass; 60 per cent of the leather upholstery; 2 per cent of the rubber consumed; 13 per cent of the hardwood lumber; 26 per cent of the aluminum; 11.6 per cent of the copper; 22 per cent of the tin; 16.7 per cent of the lead; 3.4 per cent of the zinc and 29 per cent of the nickel; and large quantities of softwood lumber, cloth, paints and varnish, hair and padding and other raw materials.

The manufacture of so many motor vehicles requires bringing together at places of manufacture great quantities of diversified raw material, and results in distribution therefrom of large volumes of the finished product, thus furnishing the railroads a large amount of freight traffic which they would not otherwise receive.

The National Automobile Chamber of Commerce states that motor vehicle taxes in 1927 aggregated $760,000,000, of which $635,000,000 was special motor taxes and $125,000,000 ordinary personal property taxes. On this basis the total averaged per motor vehicle for 1927, as follows: federal, $2.61; state, $29.61; municipal, 65c. Of the $29.61 state tax, $13.02 was registration fees including drivers' licenses, $11.19 gasoline and $5.40 personal property.

Owners of motor vehicles used for both pleasure and business soon discovered it was necessary in order to get the full measure of service, comfort and convenience from their use, that modern highway systems be constructed and that the main highways be hard-surfaced or paved.

Motor vehicles are therefore in the main responsible for the great improvement in public highways and the large expenditures incurred therefor.

The motor vehicle has superseded other methods of private transportation and travel on public highways, and has not only greatly added to the comforts and conveniences of life but has become a necessity of modern business and social life.

In recent years, motor vehicles have engaged in transportation service as common carriers on public highways in movement of freight and passengers, particular on hard-surfaced and paved roads.

There are 85,600 motor buses in service in the United States of which 44,500 are common carriers, 35,900 school; 2,750 sight-seeing buses, 1,000 hotel buses, 1,100 industrial buses, and 400 are engaged in miscellaneous terminal and transfer service. 994 buses are operated by 67 steam railroads, or their subsidiaries, to supplement rail-passenger service.

There are 2,897,000 motor trucks in service in the United States, 77 if which are operated by railroad companies, 17 to replace local freight trains, 47 in terminal service and 13 in store-door delivery service.

you go into the primary in July, that you will pledge yourself to support Al Smith or any candidate for President or Vice President is either presuming on the voters' ignorance or they are making a statement that is not supported by the law. If you go into the July primary, you only pledge yourself to vote for the nominees of THAT primary, and Al Smith or any other candidate for President will not be a nominee of the July Primary, but the Presidential candidates for both the Republican and Democratic parties have already been selected, and not by a primary at all but have been selected by convention in which but a few of the voters participated. Go into the July primary and help select your county and state officers, that is your duty, but rest assured that you will not be pledged or bound either in law or morals to support any particular party's candidate for President, for you will be absolutely free to vote for whom you please in November for President, for you are not bound either in law or morals to vote for any candidate for President, even Al Smith, just because you voted in the July primary.

Don't make your car a glutton for punishment

JUST because most motors are built to withstand terrific abuse is no good reason for carelessness with regard to lubrication. Lack of oil or the use of the wrong oil sends many a good engine to an early grave.

Reason enough why you should use Conoco Motor Oil—regularly. This tried and tested oil is of the same high quality whenever and wherever you buy it. Stands up under extreme engine heat. Saves gasoline. Reduces friction to a minimum. Does a thorough lubricating job and hence assures extra life for your car.

There's a grade for your motor. Ask your dealer for the chart.

THE RACE FOR UNITED STATES SENATOR

There are six candidates in the race for United States Senator. The line of difference between Alvin Owsley and the other five, is clearly drawn.

Owsley is the only candidate that was and is for Governor Smith, the Democratic nominee. He declared openly for Governor Smith months ago when it took real courage to face the fanaticism that was sweeping over the country and still has to be faced and fought in this campaign.

Owsley is the only candidate that demands equal chance for the farmer by direct loans from the government without red tape or delay, the same as now given to the banker, the merchant and the manufacturer. All the other candidates either proposed no relief, or they favor some board or bureau that would take all the money before the farmer would get any of it. Most of the other candidates have been in Congress for years and they have never proposed any relief or consideration for the farmer.

Owsley is a prohibitionist by precept and practice. But in the same time he is opposed to the private home and premises of the citizen being searched and seized by officials agents because it is suspected that somebody might have a little home brew on hand for home consumption. For reason Owsley stands with Governor Smith in favoring a change in the present liquor laws so as to bring about a more safe and sane and fair enforcement of the law.

All the other candidates want to continue the present deplorable condition of prohibition enforcement and if they were sent to the Senate, they would be out of harmony with Governor Smith for President, nor for the same reason they could be of no service to the people of Texas.

Owsley demands that gambling in cotton and grain futures be stopped by law. He says all gambling looks alike to him and that offering to sell cotton that does not exist can beat but one effect and that is to beat down the price of cotton that does exist. To bring about this relief, Owsley wants to pass a law with heavy penalties to stop future gambling by cotton exchanges.

All the other candidates only want to regulate cotton exchanges and permit them to stay open and speculate in the price of farm products in the production of which they have no part.

Owsley was a gallant soldier in the World War and went through the campaigns on the bloody battlefields in France. The other candidates were not there and most of them were enjoying lives of luxury as members of Congress where they were safe from the shot and shell of battle.

Owsley is just forty years old, in the prime of life, and mentally and physically vigorous, capable and active. All the other candidates have had their opportunity for service and have not produced results. They are now too far advanced in years to expect much from them.

Texas needs new blood and a new Senator from Texas, that is in harmony with the Democratic president soon to be elected. Let "Al and Al" be the slogan.

For these reasons based upon these facts, the voter is asked to consider the candidacy of Alvin Owsley to be decided at the Democratic primary on the 28th.

South Ward Items

The Sunday School was pretty good at South Ward last Sunday. The Sunday School and preaching were called off for the next Sunday so the people could attend the protracted meetings that are now going on at the different places.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. White of this place gave a birthday dinner last Sunday in honor of their son, Roscoe, and daughter, Mrs. Everett Smith. All present reported a good time.

Everybody remember the pie supper to be given at the South Ward school house at 8 o'clock Tuesday night, July 24th. All girls are invited to bring pies and the boys their pocket books.

Mrs. W. P. Inman and Mrs. J. W. White visited Mrs. Tom Johnston Monday afternoon.—A Subscriber.

Petty

After so long Petty was blessed with a good rain which was badly needed. Crops look good in this part. We only wish everybody could get a good rain. Prospects were never better for a bumper crop.

Mr. and Mrs. Scott of New Home spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Blair and Mr. Scott reports his crop burning up.

Mr. Brocke Smith and son, Warren, have gone to Stonewall county to attend the Smith family reunion. Quite a few of the Petty people attended singing at Meadow last Sunday.

We are sorry to learn that Mrs. Duckery is on the sick list this week. There have been quite a few sick around here.

—REPORTER—

R. F. Barton stated Monday while in the News office that cotton on his place one mile south of Dixie was blooming. Crops out there are needing rain badly, he says, but seem to be growing very well.

CREAM SEPARATORS

You will appreciate this new De Laval feature

The Turnable Supply Can

Separate parts which have been used in the new 1927 De Laval are placed with the turnable supply can—it is so handy and convenient. The supply can may be turned so that mixture and cream can be put in place or removed, even though the supply can is filled with milk. This is just one of a number of new features on the 1927 Series De Laval Separator, which are everywhere being praised as the best separators ever made. Other features are:

- 2. Easier Turnings: For three years the De Laval experimental and engineering departments have been conducting extensive tests to develop still easier turning separators. The results of these tests are embodied in this new series, which both start and turn easier than any other machines.
- 3. Oil Window: The new oil window enables you to see at all times the level and condition of the oil. It shows at a glance whether or not the separator is being properly oiled.
- 4. Floating Bowl: All new De Laval have the wonderful "floating bowl" now used in De Laval Separators, with such splendid results. It is self-balancing, runs smoothly without vibration, with the least power and wear, skims cleaner and delivers a richer, smoother cream.

You can't afford to use any other separator, because the new De Laval skims cleaner, separates better, handles and operates, and more convenient, and saves you far more money. Place in your old separator an equal payment. See

TAHOKA GETS FOUR INCHES

Rains General Over County—Opportune Time For Cotton And Feed

Crop prospects in Lynn county were never more promising at this time of the year than now. Unusually heavy rains in the past few days, a record cotton crop should be gathered this fall and winter feed also will be fine.

This rosate outlook is due to making rains that have fallen in Lynn county and over most of West Texas during the past few days. The rains began falling Saturday afternoon and up to time we go to press, Thursday morning, the U. S. rain gauge shows 4.89 inches have fallen in Tahoka. Reports from other parts of the county show about the same amount of rainfall, heavier in some places and possibly not quite so heavy elsewhere. O'Donnell and Wilson, adjacent territory were through soaked. Jim Inard out at New Home reports that the rainfall there measured 3.1-2 to 3.2-4 inches. J. D. Soeman reports about 4 inches at his place near Dixie. Jackson Bros. report 4.1-2 to 5 inches at Draw. H. I. Burkhalter reports 5.1-2 inches at Grassland. It was not quite so heavy at Magnolia. Three Lakes, New Moore, West Point, Joe Stokes, Morgan, Gordon and other communities all bring the same reports—ground soaking and gully-washing rains with prospects for bumper crops.

These rains could not have come at a more opportune time. Feed in many places was beginning to suffer while cotton was not growing rapidly. While the acreage in feed this year is comparatively small yet enormous yields per acre are now expected. The cotton acreage is, perhaps the largest in the history of the county, and the prospects are that there will be an unprecedented demand for cotton pickers here in the fall.

Kiwanis Club Now Meeting At Methodist Church

The Kiwanis luncheons are now being given each Wednesday at the Methodist Church. The Kiwanis Club have been serving luncheons for the past two years. In spite of the rain and mud there were 18 present Wednesday noon. No program was given but a very pleasant hour was had. The club heard an interesting report from Mr. Baze as to the committee's investigation into the Kiwanis business and the committee will give a final report at an early date. The prospects are that the Club will be able to assist materially in the development of this business in Lynn county.

League Intitute Meets At Lubbock

A number of the members of the Kiwanis Methodist Hi-League expect to attend the session of the First District Institute which will be held at First Church, Lubbock, Thursday and Friday, July 26-27. The Institute is in charge of the Hi-League Dist. Sup'l., Miss Eva May. She has many friends in Tahoka, and promises an excellent program of entertainment for the visitors. The group has been assigned to give minutes of special music during the session, and their Committee will give the "efficiency talk" on the subject of Excellence. The Hi-League expects to bring back with them the Conference Hi-League which was held by Lubbock District at the annual Assembly, and promises to give a safe keeping unit to the assembly, as a reward for their part in winning it.
