A CORRECTION

It seems to have appeared one of our tabulated report of the returns published last week. In the report we gave Jim Moore 233 votes when it should have been 333, and the total vote reported was 1501 instead of 1533 as shown by our report. This was due to the similarity between figures 2 and 3 as made on the returns furnished.

"Happy" Smith And Joycie Ketner Marry

Although W. E. (Happy) Smith, county and district clerk, and Miss Joycie Ketner were married on July 12, the fact did not become known until last Saturday night, when the young bride and groom, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Nance, and Mrs. Buddie Knight left for a pleasure trip to Ruidoso, N. M.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith were married on the date above mentioned by Rev. R. T. Breedlove at the Methodist parsonage. They kept their marriage a profound secret until they were about ready to leave on their honeymoon trip. Happy and Mr. Nance returned from Ruidoso Wednesday night, but Mesdames Smith, Nance and Knight will remain out there for a week or two yet.

These are both very popular young people. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Ketner and has been reared in Tahoka. She is one of Tahoka's fairest and queenliest daughters. Mr. Smith, or "Happy" as he is familiarly known, has also been here a long time—just how long nobody knows—and for the past several years has been the efficient and popular county and district clerk of this county.

He has himself issued many a marriage license, and the boys say he has helped to deal misery to many a young Tahoka bridegroom. We do not know just what kind of a program they are preparing for his entertainment but we are sure that what they will do to him will be a plenty.

Republicans Held County Convention Saturday Afternoon

The Republicans of Lynn county met in the county court room Saturday afternoon, August 4. The meeting was for the purpose of sending delegates to the state convention in Fort Worth, August 14, election of officers for the ensuing year, and any other business that might come up. Hon. Hal Singleton was elected delegate and Mrs. J. L. Vaughn of Lubbock alternate.

The meeting, while few in numbers, was harmonious. I endorsed the administration of President Calvin Coolidge and expressed the opinion that at the election in November a great many Democrats would emphatically voice their convictions of the steam roller methods of the convention in Houston, that it did not meet their approval, and will cast their votes for a safe, sane, and dry candidate for the great office of President of the United States.

The same officers were elected for the ensuing year and the meeting adjourned.

More Showers Fall Over Lynn County

Tahoka and Lynn county were visited by showers on Friday night of last week and again early this morning. The rainfall last Friday afternoon and night amounted to .84 of an inch in Tahoka. The precipitation this morning amounted to .37 of an inch, making a total of 1.01 inches here this month. Prospects are good for more. While these showers are not needed they will certainly do no harm unless they induce worms.

SAN ANTONIO LADY VISITS TAHOKA TERRITORY

Mrs. W. E. Sanders of San Antonio is visiting her sister, Mrs. Jack Alley of the Sunshine Inn. Mrs. Sanders formerly resided in Lubbock and is greatly surprised at the phenomenal growth of the plains country and its rapid change from a ranching to an agricultural condition.

She still has property holdings in Lubbock and her faith in the country is evidenced by her holding on to her plains property. She says conditions never looked better and while she now makes her home in San Antonio, never has she lost her love for this great plains country.

The public school opened at Petty Monday morning and will continue in session for several weeks. It will then suspend until after the cotton picking season, when school work will be resumed. Prof. J. A. Humphries of Lubbock and Miss Thelma Ferguson constitute the faculty.

MAN ARRESTED ON STATUTORY AND LIQUOR CHARGES

Tom Pettit, who has been employed as a farm hand the past two months on a farm near O'Donnell, was arrested Wednesday at the instance of Scurry county officers, charged with the unlawful sale of intoxicating liquor and also with a statutory offense alleged to have been committed against his little niece. Both offenses are alleged to have been committed in Scurry county. Pettit is about 46 years of age and is a married man.

County Attorney Warren Dodson and Deputy Sheriff J. H. Byrd of Snyder were here Wednesday after the prisoner and took him back with them.

NOTICE

The News was requested to run a notice last week advertising for bids on the construction of a new school building at T-Bar, but same was inadvertently omitted. The same appears in the paper this week.

Straw Vote Shows Hoover Is Favorite

A straw vote conducted over a period of four days by the Lubbock Avalanche and Journal resulted in an overwhelming victory for Herbert Hoover over Al Smith. When the contest closed Monday night, Hoover had 268 votes and Smith 151. About 75 votes came in by mail that night, however, which boosted the figures to 357 for Hoover and 157 for Smith.

Straw votes are often very misleading, and such may be the case in this contest, but there is evidently a very strong sentiment for Hoover—or rather, against Smith—in this section of the state.

DRAINAGE AND GRADING LET ON HIGHWAY NO. 9

PLAINVIEW, Aug. 3.—Contract was let yesterday by the State Highway Department for the grading and drainage structures for Highway No. 9 from Lubbock County line to the Swisher county line through Hale County. Womack Construction Company of Ft. Worth were the successful bidders at $69,000. The estimate for this work made by the state engineer was $85,000 and the contract price is viewed with general satisfaction. It is probable that part of the work will be sub-contracted. Such arrangement that work will be available for local people as much as possible will be urged by Hale county authorities.

Hale county has voted bonds for paving two cardinal highways across the county. One of these, No. 9, traverses the county north and south and the other, No. 28, is part of the Lee Transcontinental Highway, and traverses the county east and west. A concerted effort will be made by the counties between Hale and Wilbarger to secure the hard surfacing of this highway at the earliest possible time.

County Judge George Mayfield and members of the commissioners court are in Austin, having attended the meeting of the Highway Commission on August 2nd.

Cotton Jumps $6.50 On U. S. Report

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 8.—Cotton prices soared practically $6.50 a bale today when trading was resumed after the government crop report was issued. The indicated yield of 14,291,000 bales was fully one million bales less than the trade expected and immediately after business was resumed, all active months jumped to 19.90, or 130 to 133 points net higher. Trading continued active and there were indications that values would rise higher.

After prices had advanced further to levels $7 a bale above the day's lowest, profit taking set in and before the offerings were absorbed, prices showed setbacks approximating $2.50 a bale. There was a spurt of buying right at the end and prices rallied a few points from the lows, the market closing steady at a net advance of 71 to 76 points.

The Methodists will start a revival meeting Sunday at Grassland, according to an announcement made Monday by Rev. Hamilton Wright, pastor of the Draw-Grassland circuit.

The meeting will probably run two weeks and the preaching will be done by Rev. Ham Wright, the pastor.

Wright just closed out a meeting Sunday at Woodrow, between Tahoka and Lubbock, with a total of 29 conversions. There were 11 additions to the Methodist church. Fourteen conversions occurred at the last services Sunday.

Wright just recently closed out a meeting at Three Leagues, Martin county, with 29 conversions and service additions to the Methodist church. During the first two weeks in July he held a meeting at Gossett, between here and Post, with a total of 60 conversions and 43 additions to the Methodist church.

Texas Tech Asks For More Buildings

Lubbock, Aug. 7.—Endeavoring to meet the demands of the increasing educational needs in West Texas, members of the Board of Directors of Texas Technological College are asking for more buildings on the campus here for the next two years.

The board met with the State Board of Control last week in considering the budget of Tech for the coming biennium. Included in the appropriation requests are petitions for the completion of the administration building, a new library building and a dairy products building to be erected on the campus during the next two years.

In speaking of the prospects for the coming school year, President Paul W. Horn stated here prior to his departure for Austin that he expected the enrollment of the school to exceed the 2,000 mark easily during the first term of the 1928-29 session.

W. T. C. Of C. Backs Move To Build Roads Leading To Carlsbad Caverns

CARLSBAD, N. M., Aug. 7.—Pledges of two governors and the West Texas chamber of commerce to cooperate in a road-building program that will make Carlsbad cave more accessible to the outside world, were made Tuesday when the annual meeting of the Inter-Mountain district of the chamber of commerce was held 750 feet below the ground in the heart of the famous Caverns.

Resolutions tendering the support of the chamber of commerce to a program that will promote the wonders of the cavern as the outstanding scenic spot of the Southwest were adopted at its epochal session, while promises of state aid in connecting up roads leading toward Carlsbad were made in speeches by both Governor Dillon and Governor Dan Moody. Before the session adjourned highway commissioners and engineers of the two states were in conference outlining the most expensive road improvement program the Inter-State district has ever known.

Definite plans for a new east and west state highway leading from the heart of West Texas direct to Carlsbad are expected to be made public within two weeks. The tentative routing calls for the highway to branch off the Amarillo-Sweetwater highway at Lubbock, going south through Gaines county to Ector, and then west to New Mexico and across the oil field district to Carlsbad.

Highway commissioners of the two states have expressed their approval of such a route. In the meantime the road bodies are busy with plans to improve and surface all routes possible leading to Carlsbad from the north and south.

The joint meeting of road authorities and public officials of Texas and New Mexico with the chamber of commerce annual session, was held at high noon in the "Big Room" of the cave, in probably as impressive a gathering as any ever witnessed inside the mile long chamber.

The three hundred men and women attending the meeting, with upwards of 600 tourists who went through the cavern, broke all records for a single day's admission into the cave. The crowd was so large that special government guards were called into service, and the visitors escorted through the six miles of underground avenues in two parties, the Chamber of Commerce delegation entering at 7:30 and remaining until 3.

Chief business transacted at the formal business session was a series of talks in support of plans to advertise the caves and connect and improve roads leading to it, and the selection of Roswell as the next meeting place of the Chamber of Commerce. Governor Dillon was chairman of the day. Principal talks were made by Governor Moody; President A. M. Bourland of the West Texas C. of C.; Ross Sterling, chairman of the Texas Highway Commission; and Chairman Charles Springer of the New Mexico Highway department. A regular political demonstration was created by Judge W. R. Ely of Abilene, member of the highway department, when he declared the cavern was "the biggest hole I've been in since the Texas Highway Commission took over the affairs of the Ferguson administration."

Roswell and Portales both offered invitations for the next annual meeting of the organization, and after a decisive vote in favor of Roswell, the Portales delegation went on record as demanding the 1930 meeting. Claude Simpson spoke for Roswell and Sam Seay for Portales.

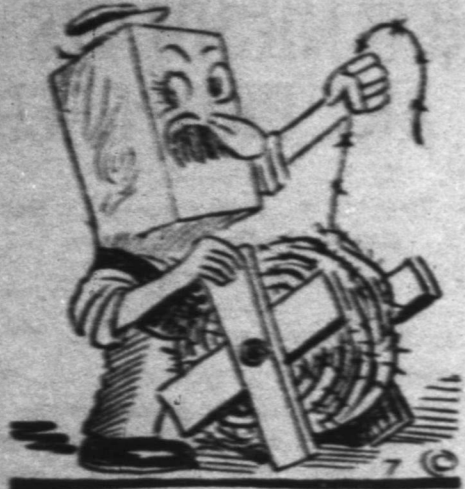

The Chamber of Commerce delegates, traveling in an auto caravan left the cave late in the day for Judge E. C. Hunter's ranch near Van-horn and will resume its itinerary Wednesday morning.

HISTORY OF TAMMANY'S CORRUPTION GIVEN

The founder and organizer of Tammany was one Wm. Mooney, who was charged with deserting the American army on September 16, 1776, and who joined the British army and wore the King's uniform for one year in New York. The investigation by the Common Council of New York showed that while he was leader of Tammany he swindled the City of New York out of many thousands of dollars, and he was finally removed as Superintendent of Almshouses for corruption.

Mooney was succeeded as leader of Tammany by Aaron Burr, who was accused of treason. It was disclosed during this time that Tammany had two constitutions, one for the public eye and one for its own secret use. Furthermore, during the regime of Aaron Burr Tammany created a secret committee, whose duty it was to spy on its members as well as the public in general, to report to the inner circles of Tammany who was its enemies, so that they could be punished. It was called the Committee of Spies.

Following Aaron Burr came one Ruggles Hubbard, who as sheriff of the county absconded on August 15, leaving a shortage in the treasury. Naphthali was another sachen of Tammany, whom Mayor Colden exposed in November, 1818, as a swindler to the extent of $100,000. Then came Daniel D. Tompkins, another sachen of Tammany. The report of the Comptroller showed that he was short $1,977,297.64.

In 1809 a series of exposures regarding the corruption of Tammany astounded the city of New York, while it was under the leadership of Benjamin Romaine.

In September and October, 1826, Baker and Henry Ecford, sachems of Tammany and Matthew L. Davis, Grand Sachem, were indicted for swindling to the amount of many millions. Baker fled south and lived to be 90 years of age. Ecford fled to the Orient and died in Syria, while other members of Tammany were indicted and sent to prison for terms of one to two years.

In 1838, Samuel Swartout, another Tammany leader, fled to Europe, and it was afterwards discovered that he had swindled the Government out of $1,222,705.69. (See House Document No. 13 and also House Report No. 313, 25th Congress) Swartout was last seen in Algiers. The same year Jesse Hoyt was charged with defaulting in the sum of $30,000. He was another sachen of Tammany.

In 1840 came the exposure of the Manhattan Bank, a Tammany institution organized by Aaron Burr, and it was disclosed that the Government had on deposit in this bank $600,000, while it had loaned to the members of Tammany and their families millions. It was discovered that $1,344,266.00 of these loans were worthless, and while the storm was breaking the cashier of this bank disappeared with $50,000.00 and another stole all the bank books, all Tammany men.

Next came Boss Tweed, who was Grand Sachem of Tammany from about 1860 to 1871. One day it was disclosed that he had robbed the City of many millions. He fled the city, was finally convicted, and died in the Ludlow Street jail, the City first having recovered a judgment against him for $6,000,000.00, but he had gotten rid of all his property. Sweeney, another Tweed Tammany leader, finally settled with the Government for several thousand dollars. Connolly another Tweed-Tammany leader, fled abroad with some $6,000,000, and never returned. Garvey, another Tweed Tammanyite, "turned State's evidence," fled to London, and died there in 1887. Of the three judges of New York City that were Tammanyites and leaders with Tweed, whose names were Barnardo, Cordozo, and McCunn, two were impeached and the other resigned to save himself. Matthew J. O'Rourke, who made a remarkable study of these Tweed thefts, while he was Tammany chief, states that from 1869 to 1871 about $75,000,000 was stolen by the Tweed-Tammany "ring," and that the total loot of the theft "ring" from 1865 to 1871, counting the fraudulent bonds which were issued, amounted to $200,000,000. Out of this "steal" the City recovered only $876,000.

Jim Kelley followed Tweed as boss of Tammany. He secured an appointment for Fowler, a henchman, and Fowler embezzled $155,000 from the Government. Of the Board of Tammany Aldermen during Kelley's reign in 1884, we have this record: Alderman Henry W. Jeanne was sentenced to hard labor for 9 years and 10 months; Honest John Neall to 4 years and 6 months and a fine of $2,000; Arthur J. McQuade to 7 years and to return $5,000 of bribe money to the City; six other aldermen fled to Canada, three returned and "turned State's evidence," and ten others were indicted by the grand jury.

After Kelley's death Richard Croker became boss of Tammany, and he, like the other leaders of Tammany, who were poor before they became Tammany leaders, suddenly became rich. In 1894, while he was boss Tammany became so notoriously corrupt that another Senate committee was sent to New York to investigate Tammany. Croker fled to Europe. The committee incorporated the report of the Grand Jury, which stated that Tammany's annual income from black-mailing and other sources of extortion amounted to $7,000,000. Richard Croker finally retired to his Castle in Ireland.

Chas. F. Murphy, another poor man then became a Tammany leader and he became immensely wealthy. It was said by another Tammany man, Bourke Cochran: "For every campaign, a fund large enough for six campaigns has been raised, and this fund has largely gone by secret channels to swell the $15,000,000 for Mur-

And during this time Al Smith became one of the sachems of Tammany, and since he has been elected Governor of the state, an annex to Tammany has been organized at Albany. All kinds of vice and corruption have been exposed among the members of this annex and the leaders are under indictment.

And this is the story of the leaders of Tammany—all beginning poor but after becoming leaders of Tammany amassed millions, and it was all gotten by corruption. Tammany's history is a long history of corruption. And Chairman Dean of the Beaumont convention of this year, who is supporting Al Smith, said in his speech of acceptance at the convention that "Al Smith is the finished product of the worst spoils system in the world, Tammany Hall."

No wonder Bryan, as well as other great statesmen, have fought Tammany and its leaders, for its whole long history has been replete with rottenness. The question is: Shall we move Tammany Hall to the steps of the White House?

The Best Place to Trade After All

Agriculture of Improvements

By J. F. JARVIS

Santa Fe Agricultural conditions were made a success in July, due to successful harvest, excessive rains, particularly in the rapid growth and feed crops, and marketing of heavy vegetation and such crops as potatoes. There have been less threatened with loss of 900,000 bushels of western counties. Some harvesting of state was much hastened by early summer severe hail and floods have reached the 3,000,000 bushels, believed. Even with this is a possibility that reach the record of shells produced in 19 Santa Fe's reports.

The founder and organizer of Tammany was one Wm. Mooney, who was charged with deserting the American army on September 16, 1776, and who joined the British army and wore the King's uniform for one year in New York. The investigation by the Common Council of New York showed that while he was leader of Tammany he swindled the City of New York out of many thousands of dollars, and he was finally removed as Superintendent of Almshouses for corruption.

Mooney was succeeded as leader of Tammany by Aaron Burr, who was accused of treason. It was disclosed during this time that Tammany had two constitutions, one for the public eye and one for its own secret use. Furthermore, during the regime of Aaron Burr Tammany created a secret committee, whose duty it was to spy on its members as well as the public in general, to report to the inner circles of Tammany who was its enemies, so that they could be punished. It was called the Committee of Spies.

Following Aaron Burr came one Ruggles Hubbard, who as sheriff of the county absconded on August 15, leaving a shortage in the treasury. Nathali was another sachen of Tammany, whom Mayor Colden exposed in November, 1818, as a swindler to the extent of $100,000. Then came Daniel D. Tompkins, another sachen of Tammany. The report of the Comptroller showed that he was short $1,977,297.64.

In 1808 a series of exposures regarding the corruption of Tammany astounded the city of New York, while it was under the leadership of Benjamin Romaine.

In September and October, 1826, Baker and Henry Eckford, saches of Tammany and Matthew L. Davis, Grand Sachem, were indicted for swindling to the amount of many millions. Baker fled south and lived to be 90 years of age. Eckford fled to the Orient and died in Syria, while other members of Tammany were indicted and sent to prison for terms of one to two years.

In 1838, Samuel Swartout, another Tammany leader, fled to Europe, and it was afterwards discovered that he had swindled the Government out of $1,222,706.68. (See House Document No. 13 and also House Report No. 313, 35th Congress.) Swartout was last seen in Algiers. The same year Jesse Hoyt was charged with defaulting in the sum of $30,000. He was another sachen of Tammany.

In 1840 came the exposure of the Manhattan Bank, a Tammany institution organized by Aaron Burr, and it was disclosed that the Government had on deposit in this bank $800,000, while it had loaned to the members of Tammany and their families millions. It was discovered that $1,344,266.00 of these loans were worthless, and while the storm was breaking the cashier of this bank disappeared with $50,000.00 and another stole all the bank books, all Tammany Government. Of the Board of Tammany Aldermen during Kelley's reign in 1884, we have this record: Alderman Henry W. Jeanne was sentenced to hard labor for 9 years and 10 months; Honest John Neall to 4 years and 6 months and a fine of $2,000; Arthur J. McQuade to 7 years and to return $5,000 of bribe money to the City; six other aldermen fled to Canada, three returned and "turned State's evidence," and ten others were indicted by the grand jury.

After Kelley's death Richard Croker became boss of Tammany, and he, like the other leaders of Tammany, who were poor before they became Tammany leaders, suddenly became rich. In 1894, while he was boss Tammany became so notoriously corrupt that another Senate committee was sent to New York to investigate Tammany. Croker fled to Europe. The committee incorporated the report of the Grand Jury, which stated that Tammany's annual income from black-mailing and other sources of extortion, amounted to $7,000,000. Richard Croker finally retired to his Castle in Ireland.

Chas. F. Murphy, another poor man then became a Tammany leader and he became immensely wealthy. It was said by another Tammany man, Bourke Cochran: "For every campaign, a fund large enough for six campaigns has been raised, and this fund has largely gone by secret channels to swell the $15,000,000 for Mur-

And during this time Al Smith became one of the schemes of Tammany, and since he has been elected Governor of the state, an annex to Tammany has been organized at Albany. All kinds of vice and corruption have been exposed among the members of this annex and the leaders are under indictment.

And this is the story of the leaders of Tammany—all beginning poor but after becoming leaders of Tammany amassed millions, and it was all gotten by corruption. Tammany's history is a long history of corruption. And Chairman Dean of the Beumont convention of this year, who is supporting Al Smith, said in his speech of acceptance at the convention that "Al Smith is the finished product of the worst spoils system in the world, Tammany Hall."

No wonder Bryan, as well as other great statesmen, have fought Tammany and its leaders, for its whole long history has been replete with rottenness. The question is: Shall we move Tammany Hall to the steps of the White House?

Agricultural Condition Of Southwest Improves In July

By J. F. JARRELL, Manager
State Fe Agriculture Department

Agricultural conditions in the southwest made a substantial improvement in July, due in a large part to the successful harvesting of a near-record wheat crop, notwithstanding excessive rains, particularly in Kansas; the rapid growth of cotton, corn and feed crops, and to the profitable marketing of heavy yields of fruit, vegetables and melons, with a single exception—potatoes. Prices of potatoes have been low and growers are discouraged with losses.

Kansas, with approximately 175,000,000 bushels of wheat still has some harvesting to do in the northwestern counties. The crop in this state was much heavier than indicated by early summer reports. But for severe hail and flood losses, it would have reached the enormous total of 200,000,000 bushels, it is generally believed. Even with these losses, there is a possibility that the yield will reach the record of 180,000,000 bushels produced in 1914. However, the Santa Fe's reports, which the company tries to make conservative, indicate a yield this year of 175,000,000 bushels.

Oklahoma has harvested its wheat and Texas is nearly through, the former with a yield of 82,000,000 bushels, and the latter, about 23,000,000 bushels, mainly in the northwestern area.

Wheat harvest is in progress in Nebraska, the prospects being for a yield of 52,000,000 bushels, well above the five-year average.

Missouri, California and Colorado each will produce from 16,000,000 to 17,000,000 bushels of wheat, or better; Illinois 13,000,000 bushels, and Iowa, New Mexico and Arizona together, 12,000,000 bushels.

The eleven Santa Fe wheat growing states named will have around 330,000,000 bushels of wheat, bearing out the estimate made in this report July 1, that in these states more than 71 per cent of the total of 554,000,000 bushels of hard winter wheat in the United States will be produced.

Reports from 112 localities in 11 states indicate that the acreage to be planted to winter wheat this year will be slightly higher than that of last year. A third of the wheat land already has been plowed for fall seeding.

Kansas experienced the first wet summer in many years. As a result of excessive rains, some of the wheat cut and threshed with combines reached the market damp, and farmers who were forced to sell did not receive the prices they expected. Other farmers, not satisfied with prices, have stored their wheat. More wheat is stored on Kansas farms than ever before.

Oklahoma and Texas did not have so much rain, and sold most of their crop.

Cotton still is king in many localities, notwithstanding efforts to reduce the acreage. Texas has 18,366,000 acres planted to cotton, the state's third largest cotton acreage, or nearly 40 per cent of all the cotton acreage in the United States. The country's total is 46,695,000 acres. Conditions range from excellent to fair, the latter being due to dry weather in the west. However, moisture this week probably saved the crop. Texas in 1928 produced 5,900,000 bales of cotton from practically the same acreage reported for this season.

Oklahoma, second in the list of cotton producing states, has 4,750,000 acres, or slightly under the acreage reported in 1928. There was some damage early in the season, due to excessive moisture, and later, due to boll weevil; but notwithstanding the early disadvantages, there will be a good yield in most places.

California has 223,000 acres of good cotton, an increase of 71 per

THE TWO PROHIBITION PLANKS

Following is a comparison of the attitudes of the Democratic and Republican parties, respectively, toward the prohibition question as expressed in their campaign platforms:

Democratic
The Republican party for eight years in complete control of the government at Washington presents the remarkable spectacle of feeling compelled in its national platform to promise obedience to a provision of the federal Constitution which it has flagrantly disregarded, and to apologize to the country for its failure to enforce laws enacted by the Congress of the United States. Speaking for the national Democracy this convention pledges the party and its nominees for an honest effort to enforce the Eighteenth Amendment and all other provisions of the federal Constitution and all laws enacted pursuant thereto.

Republican
We reaffirm the American constitutional doctrine as announced by George Washington in his "Farewell Address," to-wit:—"The Constitution which at any time exists until changed by the explicit and authentic act of the whole people is sacredly obligatory upon all." We also reaffirm the attitude of the American people toward the federal Constitution as declared by Abraham Lincoln. "We are by both duty and inclination bound to stick by that Constitution in the letter and spirit from beginning to end. I am for the honest enforcement of the Constitution. Our safety, our liberty, depends upon preserving the Constitution of the United States, as our forefathers made it, inviolate." The people through the method provided by the Constitution have written the Eighteenth Amendment into the Constitution. The Republican party pledges itself and its nominees to the observance and vigorous enforcement of this provision of the Constitution.

cent over the 1927 acreage. Arizona, New Mexico, and Louisiana have about the same acreage as that reported last year. Prospects for good yields are favorable.

Corn in the southwest likely will make the heaviest crop in many years if nothing happens to interfere with its maturity. Illinois, Iowa, Missouri and Kansas report condition as nearly ideal as it is possible to have them. The excessive rains which gave wheat growers much distress and caused them some losses are responsible for the bright prospects of corn. It is one of the few years in two decades in which excellent crops of both wheat and corn have been reported. Oklahoma, Texas, and Louisiana, which have smaller acreages of corn, will produce good crops.

California fruit, vegetables, and field crops are making heavier than normal yields. Production of grapes, for instance, based on present conditions, will be 2,555,000 tons against 2,406,000 tons last year. Valencia oranges, now moving, will not come up to last year's production, but the price is much better. Wheat, oats, alfalfa, potatoes, beans, apples, pears, plums, peaches and almonds all are making heavier yields than last year, while rice, prunes and sugar beets are not doing quite so well.

The Salt River Valley of Arizona has produced the largest crop of high grade cantaloupes in many years—about 5,000 carloads, nearly 1,000 cars more than were shipped last year.

Conditions in Colorado are favorable, on upland as well as in the valleys. "Dry-farming", so called, has been profitable, as the best crops in several years have been produced, there having been sufficient moisture. Sugar beets, fruit and vegetables in the Arkansas Valley are scheduled for good yields, due to an abundance of water for irrigation purposes. Much damage was done to melons by hail, and the total production will be considerably under that of last year, but the quality will be high.

"I am a Democrat and pledge myself to support the nominees of this primary." That is the pledge which appeared upon the official ballots in the recent Democratic primary election. It is the pledge prescribed by statute. The state executive committee and the various county executive committees have the power to prescribe additional qualifications for voters if they see fit. Some county committees prescribed the additional qualification that those participating in the primaries must be whites. This barred the negroes. No other qualifications for voters were prescribed. No attempt has been made by the state committee to prescribe the qualifications for candidates in the Democratic primary. The law does prescribe the conditions upon which a candidate's name may be placed upon the ballot. Complying with these conditions, the state Democratic executive committee certified to the various county chairmen, as required by law, the names of candidates for the various state offices, among them the name of Tom Love as a candidate for lieutenant governor. The county chairmen are given no authority, either by statute or by the state executive committee to leave off the ballot any name that may be certified to them by the state executive committee. Yet in the face of all these facts, some county committees and chairmen did bar the name of Tom Love from the ballot in their counties. They have announced that his name will be barred from the ballot in the August primary. In spite of an opinion rendered by Judge Fly to the contrary, we do believe that the county committee or the county chairman has the authority to do any such thing. We believe that Mr. Love is entitled to have his name printed on the ballot in every county in this state, as a candidate for this office. We believe that in barring his name, county committees and county chairmen have done him a grave injustice. We think that they have usurped power that does not belong to them. We think that this unauthorized and high-handed action on their part should be rebuked by the people on August 25. Lynn county gave Love a plurality over Miller in the first primary; it should give him a big majority in the second.

When Elijah challenged the prophets of Baal to put their god to the test they proceeded to pull off a stunt that reminds us of the performances of some of our modern day religionists. Having built an altar and prepared their sacrifices, they immediately went into action. They cried aloud unto their god, and when he did not answer they proceeded to work themselves up into a state of great excitement, either real or feigned. They leaped upon the altar and shouted at the top of their voices. We guess they pulled off some "holy dances." At any rate they kept up the racket all day. No doubt they alarmed the whole neighborhood. In fact, most of the folks in that vicinity came out to see them act the fool. In order to impress their visitors possibly and with the idea they could attract the attention of the gods by putting on a real show, these priests even cut themselves with knives, so that blood streamed from a hundred wounds. But their god did not answer. Now notice the contrast between their performances and that of Elijah. He went about the task of putting his God to the test in a most calm and deliberate manner. Having built his altar and prepared his sacrifice, he made his prayer earnestly but calmly to the true God. There is no record that he leaped upon the altar or that he leaped at all. He did not put on a "holy dance." He did not carve himself with a knife. He did not yell loud enough to be heard all over the mountain. He merely prayed in simple faith, fervently but not ostentatiously, and the fire came down from Heaven and consumed the altar and the sacrifice and the stones and even licked up the water from the trenches. All of which shows that the true God hears the still, small voice, when raised to Him in simple faith, but no man and no bunch of men can make enough noise to attract His attention when their chief concern is to attract the attention of men, whether their hollow petitions are addressed to some Baal or to the true God. Some modern day religionists are making a mockery of Christianity.

Those apologists for Al Smith up in New York are undertaking to justify his proposal to practically nullify the Eighteenth Amendment by asserting that the people of the South long ago nullified the Fourteenth and Fifteenth Amendments. All of which is not true. The laws which Southern States have passed relating to suffrage, the effect of which has been to bar negroes from the Democratic primaries and to disqualify many of them in the general election, do not in anyway conflict with the Fourteenth and Fifteenth Amendments according to decisions of the United States Supreme Court. The Fourteenth and Fifteenth Amendments do not cover the subject matter of these laws and therefore there can be no nullification of these amendments by these laws. Even if these charges had merit, the pot can not justify itself by calling the kettle black.

The News was for Tom Connolly in the first primary. We are for him because he is clean in his personal life, he has had the courage to stand by his convictions in matters of legislation, he is a man of outstanding ability, and he would reflect much credit upon this state as a member of the Senate. He has never voted with the big corporations when their interests were at stake. He is honest and true to the people. He is a dry that does not drink, and it is safe to bet that if elected to the Senate he will never be found drunk on the floor of that body or anywhere else. We believe that all good citizens who hate hypocrisy and love virtue should lend their support to this chivalrous, genial, able, and honest son of the South.

That a man smart enough to be elected to Congress may yet be both a criminal and a fool on occasion was demonstrated the other day when Charles S. Wharton, former Assistant Attorney General and former Congressman, of Illinois, was convicted of conspiracy in connection with the Grand Trunk Mail robbery which was perpetrated at Evergreen Park, a suburb of Chicago, last February. It is said that the loot amounted to $133,000, which was divided among the robbers in Wharton's home, his part being $4,000. In this country a common "crook" may and sometimes does break into Congress, but the "crooked" Congressman may be and sometimes is punished just the same as the ordinary hi-jacker.

These birds that go around asserting that there is more drinking now than before national prohibition went into effect should check up on themselves now and then. Last Saturday was election day and here in Clarendon, just an average high grade Texas community, not a single drunk man was noted, no fights nor brawls, and very few liquor breaths were noticed, if any at all. All the old folks remember how it used to be on election days when we had the saloons, and most of us younger folks, do too. One may be well suspicious of the self-styled political leader who cries out for a change in our liquor laws. They need no change. Better enforcement is the only possible improvement.—Clarendon News.

The cotton crop is not made yet but it promises to be very fine. Unless insect pests or early frost should cut it short, Lynn county will probably make a record crop this year. But in the mental intoxication that always results from the abounding prosperity that a good cotton crop and good prices bring, we should not forget our chickens and our turkeys and our hogs and our dairy cows. No country remains permanently prosperous that depends on cotton alone.

Another demonstration of mother love was given by a Dallas mother Sunday morning. Seeing that she would be unable to stop her car quick enough to prevent a collision with a train, she seized her child and threw it out of the car just in time to save it. Her car was crushed and she was killed instantly. Almost any mother would have done the same thing. The great Heavenly Father did a wonderful thing for the world when he gave it mother love.

If some of these guys who are shooting women to death and then turning their guns upon themselves would only be considerate enough to turn the gun upon themselves first it would be better all around.

Wonder of wonders! Jim Ferguson has announced that he will support Earle B. Mayfield in the run-off. That ought to make the election of Connally almost unanimous.

VOTE OF THANKS

To the people of Lynn county I wish to express my sincere appreciation for the vote given me on July 28th. I tried to conduct my campaign on a high plane for the reason that I think no campaign should be conducted otherwise. I hope that every vote cast for me was because the voter thought I was the best qualified man in the race, and not for any prejudice against any of my opponents. I hope that in this run-off the voting will be cast on the same basis. I want you to feel when you vote for me that I have tried to make Lynn county a good sheriff. If you so feel and further feel that a man who does his best is entitled to a second elective term in a county then I will appreciate your support. You will remember that Mr. Sanford, my opponent in this race, was elected to this office for three consecutive terms. Since he has already been your sheriff you can judge for yourself which has done the most for Lynn county law enforcement.

In Mr. Sanford's statement to the voters in last weeks Lynn County papers he said, "I carried my home town by a plurality of 60 votes over my nearest opponent." What he said is true, but the statement might be misleading. There are two boxes in Tahoka, north and south Tahoka. Mr. Sanford and I both live in North Tahoka box. He has lived there for about ten years and I have lived there for three years. The count shows that I carried my home box by five votes and lost south Tahoka by 55 votes.

I have not sanctioned the violation of one single law in Lynn county. If one individual will show when I have failed to do my best or hesitated to go when called to catch law violators I will resign my office immediately. If there be any thing going on in this county that should be stopped and the people will show me or get any lawyers in this state to show me how the same can be stopped I promise that every ounce of my energy will be put forth to see that it is stopped.

On the 25th day of this month I am asking for a second elective term for the office of Sheriff and Tax Collector of Lynn county on the basis of what I have done or tried to do toward making Lynn county a better and safer place in which to live.

J. W. SIMPSON

Resolved by the Legislature of the State of Texas: Section 1. That Section 2, Article 3, of the Constitution be so changed to read hereafter as follows:

H. J. R. No. 15.) HOUSE JOINT RESOLUTION Proposing an amendment to Section 51, Article 3, of the Constitution of the State of Texas, authorizing a tax levy for Confederate soldiers and sailors and their widows, and providing for submission of same to the qualified electors of this State at any election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, A. D., 1925, and providing the necessary proclamation and appropriation to defray expenses of proclamation, publication and election.

"The Legislature shall have no power to make any grant or authorize the making of any grant of public moneys to any individual, association of individuals, municipal or other corporations, whatsoever; provided, however, the legislature may grant aid to indigent and disabled Confederate soldiers and sailors under such regulations and limitations as may be deemed by the Legislature as expedient, and to their widows in indigent circumstances under such regulations and limitations as may be deemed by the Legislature as expedient; to indigent and disabled soldiers, who, under special laws of the State of Texas, during the war between the States, served in organizations for the protection of the frontier against Indian raids or Mexican marauders, and to indigent and disabled soldiers of the militia who were in active service during the war between the States, and to the widows of such soldiers who are in indigent circumstances, and who are or may be eligible to receive aid under such regulations and limitations as may be deemed by the Legislature as expedient; and also grant for the establishment and maintenance of a home for said soldiers and sailors,

Sec. 2. The foregoing constitutional amendment shall be submitted to a vote of the qualified electors of the State at an election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, A. D., 1925, at which all ballots shall have printed thereon "For the constitutional amendment authorizing aid to Confederate soldiers and sailors and their widows in indigent circumstances, and authorizing tax levy therefor," and "Against the constitutional amendment authorizing aid to Confederate soldiers and sailors and their widows in indigent circumstances and authorizing tax levy therefor." O'Donnell Water System Completed

Work was completed Thursday of this week on O'Donnell's new $40,000 water system. The final tests are being made this afternoon (Thursday) prior to being turned over to the city by contractor M. L. Friday. Workmen completed the new elevated tower Wednesday afternoon and water was turned into the tank Thursday. The 75,000 gallon ground storage tank was filled with water the first of the week and the mains were filled Thursday. About Tuesday noon, citizens who were near fire plugs saw for the first time water flowing through the new city mains, as every fire plug in the city was opened, releasing many gallons of water in order to make tests of the mains.

The five wells, which are equipped with electrically operated pumps, have been tested and found to afford an abundant water supply for the city's needs. It is the opinion of city officials that the present supply is sufficient to furnish the city's future needs for several years. The new system's storage capacity is about 130,000 gallons of water. The large booster pump is capable of filling the elevated storage tank in one hour and thirty minutes, raising 500 gallons of water per minute to the hundred foot level. The pump is also capable of increasing the pressure of the city mains from 54 pounds to 150 pounds in case of fire. This booster pump will allow O'Donnell a much lower insurance rate, thus saving the property owners thousands of dollars in insurance each year.

O'Donnell's new water system is one of the best of its kind on the entire South Plains and is a very valuable asset to the city's future development. O'Donnell can now take her rightful place among the progressive towns of West Texas.—O'Donnell Index.

Farm products in the South for 1927 were valued at $5,672,000,000 as against $4,777,000,000 for the entire United States in 1910. This showing could not have been made without Texas.

The output of cotton for the whole United States in 1900 was $340,000,000 whereas that for the South alone in 1925 was $940,000,000. Texas is making the South's leadership possible.

WHEN PROMOTERS USE "CHARITY" TO DECOY TRUSTFUL CONTRIBUTORS

Investigations of Various Schemes for Defrauding Public Out of Money Disclosed by Bankers Association—Many Kinds of Fake Industrial Promotions Used as Bait.

By W. R. WOREHOUSE, Public Relations Commission, American Bankers Association

MILLIONS of dollars raised under the disguise of charity go to line the pockets of promoters. Ticket sales on raffles are commonly used, and while the loss to any one person who buys a ticket is small the aggregate loss for the United States runs into millions of dollars. Usually the promoters of these schemes first make a contract with some charitable institution to conduct a campaign for funds on behalf of the institution. They are to run the campaign in the name of the institution and share the proceeds. The whole scheme is often one of deception. To those who have been led to believe that their contributions go practically 100 per cent to charity the following case we investigated should prove illuminating.

A number of promoters recently contracted with a charitable institution to put on a campaign to raise funds by the raffle of a new automobile. So far as the public could tell from the banners used in displaying the automobile, the full amount of the sale price of the tickets went to the institution. There was nothing to convey any other impression. Apparently it was open and above board and was being conducted by men who were contributing their time gratuitously.

For several days a new automobile, mounted on a truck, was driven up and down the streets, with banners calling about the drive for funds for the charitable institution. One day the truck would go by displaying one of the popular makes of automobiles. A few days later it would parade by displaying some other popular make. Periodically the truck would pass the curb where it would park for several hours while the promoters would set up tables to take tickets on the calls and thereby help a deserving charitable institution to meet its bills.

Thousands of people, lured by the appeal for help, bought tickets, the total sale running into the thousands of dollars. Contrary to the belief of the ticket buyers their contributions did not go 100 per cent to charity. Instead the charitable institution received but 25 cents on the dollar, the promoters getting 52 cents on the dollar as their net profit, or twice the amount received by charity, while the remainder of 22 cents on each dollar represented the amount charged against gross sales by the promoters as expenses.

In other words, every person who bought a 50 cent ticket for the sale of charity, contributed but 12 cents to charity and 37 cents to those promoting the scheme. Whether you give to charity or make an investment it will pay you to get the facts!

Unfortunately there is a general impression abroad that without pretensions are confined to oil, mining and new inventions. The truth is, many stock selling promotions are operated under the same "active" infatuations.

Fake Claims
A certain group of promoters investigated offered for sale stock in a proposed woolen mill. In order to sell the stock they resorted to the use of misrepresentation and false claims. After renting space on the ground floor of an office building fronting on a busy street they began their campaign. Orally and by printed advertisements extravagant claims were made for the proposed corporation which were grossly false.

Grassland

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Hill, Vernon Hill and Mrs. N. J. Bullock are back from Handley, where Mr. Hill was called to the bed side of his sister, Mrs. Chion. Mrs. Chion passed away after five years of illness. Mr. Hill said it rained all the time they were gone and that he never saw so much mud and water at one time.

Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Hill, Mr. T. L. Phillips and Miss Lillian Phillips of Lubbock visited J. L. Hill Saturday and Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. C. Gillispie of Taboka, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Burk and David Burk, Mr. and Mrs. W. Grass, and J. W. Chion were also visitors in the Hill home Sunday. They had a reunion. Ice cream was served in the afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Frankie Jones are visiting in the Goss home this week. Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Bullock spent the day Tuesday with the Hill family.

Mr. J. C. Walker was back in Grassland a few days, from New Mexico.

Mr. Paul Lawson visited home last week. The three Greer brothers are just back from their meeting. They were greatly surprised to see their fine crops.

Grassland sure is loaded for lots of cotton this year. Everybody has fine crops.
