

HARLEY SADLER

Gives Information On Proper Feeding

Severity of seasonal fluctuations in milk production can be reduced to a considerable extent by proper feeding, according to L. F. Frazier, manager of the local Swift & Company produce plant.

"It is of interest to the producers in this region," said Mr. Frazier, "to insure maximum milk production at all seasons of the year. Annual production figures can show a considerable increase only if summer and fall feeding is carefully worked out, and cows are given a proper ration. There is too much tendency to let the dairy cow shift for herself as long as there is pasturage. This is bad enough in the early summer, when pasturage is plentiful, but it is extremely serious in times of short pasturage in late summer. Producing cows to be kept at maximum milk flow, should receive a grain ration throughout the year, and in late summer, when pastures are drying out or burned out, some roughage, such as silage hay, or soiling crops is also needed. When the amount of grain fed is small, any farm grains such as corn, barley or oats serve the purpose. The grass supplies a liberal amount of protein. "When there is a grass shortage, such common feeds as wheat, bran, standard wheat middlings, so called 'brewers grain', gluten, cotton seed meal, and linseed meal, all of which are rich in protein, may be fed to good advantage."

If grain feeding has been kept up through the summer, Mr. Frazier added, and is supplemented by roughage and protein feed in late summer and fall, there need be little fear of marked reduction in milk flow. The Minnesota Agricultural College has worked out a proper grain feeding schedule for cows on pasture. For Guernseys and Jerseys they recommend three pounds of grain for a cow producing 20 pounds of milk daily, four pounds for a cow with 25-pound production, five and a half pounds for 30-pound production and eight pounds of grain for a 40-pound daily production.

Holsteins, Brown Swiss, Ayrshire, and Shorthorn cows will produce equal quantities of milk without losing flesh or getting out of condition on a slightly smaller grain ration. The ratio of the daily grain feed to daily milk poundage for these breeds is as follows: three pounds for 25-pound production, four pounds for thirty-pound production, seven lbs. for 40-pound production, and nine pounds for 50-pound production.

The college has tabulated the results of grain feeding experiments in cow testing associations in Minnesota to show the value of grain feeding during the entire pasture season. According to their figures, comparing herds on pasture only and those getting both pasturage and grain, an average of $7.46 spent for additional grain during the pasturing season gave a return of 68 pounds of fat worth $27.50 at 40 cents a pound.

Many producers will undoubtedly see the wisdom for heavier fall and winter production, because it comes at a time when market values are usually higher than during the summer months.

1,625 Are Enrolled In Tech College

LUBBOCK, Oct. 2.—With a total of 1,625 who have completed enrollment at Texas Technological College for the opening of the fourth annual session all former records have been shattered. This represents more than a thirty per cent increase over the enrollment for the same period a year ago, and if percentages are maintained will mean that more than 2,500 students will enter the doors of the institution during its fourth year.

Housing facilities so far has been entirely adequate due to the great building activity in Lubbock. Even with the new engineering building completed the College is taxed to its capacity to take care of all classes. The completion of the new chemistry building by January first will provide much more room.

Five members of the Texas legislature were present at the first convocation and marveled at the progress made by Texas Technological College, and promised to do all in their power to secure funds for the erection of additional buildings necessary to accommodate the growing student body.

Democratic Nominees Speak at O'Donnell

Hon. Pink L. Parrish of Lubbock and Judge Hill Stewart, also of Lubbock, and Carl Rountree, of Lamesa representative-elect of this district, spoke at the High School Auditorium last night in the interest of the Democratic party. A good sized crowd heard the issues discussed in the presidential campaign which is getting warmer as election time draws near. The above speakers made interesting talks in the interest of Al Smith's campaign for the presidency.

Miss Opal Jackson Marries Lott Man

Miss Opal Jackson, daughter of city, was married last Saturday night to Ed Hamilton of Lott, Falls county. The marriage ceremony was performed by Rev. B. N. Shepherd at the Baptist parsonage.

The young bride has a large circle of friends here who wish her the best that life can bring. We are not acquainted with the groom but he is said to be a most excellent young man.

BAPTIST W. M. S. HAS BUSINESS MEETING

The Baptist W. M. S. met at the church Monday in their regular business meeting. The vice-president, Mrs. J. K. Applewhite, presided in the absence of the president, Mrs. Jeff Higginbotham.

Reports were heard from committee chairmen. As Mrs. Doak is moving to Lubbock she tendered her resignation as treasurer and Mrs. J. B. Walker was elected to that office. After a song, we were dismissed with prayer by Mrs. Shepherd.

Congratulations!

The News wishes to voice the appreciation of the people of our city and county to Prof. Taylor White, teacher of vocational agriculture here, Miss Milie M. Halsey, retiring home demonstration agent, Miss Thelma Greenwade, the recently selected home demonstration agent, the board of directors of the Chamber of commerce, and the superintendents of the various departments in the fair held here last week for their untiring and sacrificial efforts to make the fair a success.

Much praise is also due the women's and girls' clubs and the various school communities of the county as well as the business men of Tahoka for their contribution to the success of this fair.

Let us resolve now to make the fair bigger and better success next year than it has ever been. In spite of temporary divisions over politics and other matters, let us all pull together for the development and advancement of Lynn county.

Let's Go!

Grassland

Miss Ebie D. Bearden, who is in the Lubbock Sanitarium, is very much improved at this writing. We have been very anxious to hear from her each day and am so glad she is doing so well.

Miss Ruth Childs is here with her sister Mrs. P. E. Adams, for the next month, her school at Berry Flat closing for cotton picking.

Grandma Walker, as we all know her, left for her home last Wednesday at Portales, N. M. She has been visiting her grandson, Mr. E. M. Walker, and family. She also visited among some of her old friends while here. She is dear to us all and we were so glad to have her with us again.

Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Thomas visited Miss Ebie D. Bearden at the Lubbock Sanitarium Sunday.

Mr. Edd Horthone has come back to be with us again this fall. He will be employed at the Thomas Bros. gin again.

Cotton is beginning to come in quite a bit of late. There were Eight bales ginned here last Friday. A few pickers are coming in and still more are needed, as some of the farmers have some good picking. All hands are in demand for maize heading which is going to interfere with the cotton for a while. Most every one has their bundle stuff harvested.

The singing school began last night at this place with a good number present. This is a busy time but would enjoy your coming and be with us.

Mrs. E. A. Thomas and Miss Katie B. Bosworth went to Lubbock Monday to see Miss Ebie D. Bearden and attend the fair.

Miss Sybil Thomas and Miss Naomi Lawson spent a day in Lamesa last week.

Mr. LeRoy Davis from Shelby Co. is visiting his sister, Mrs. E. M. Walker.

South Ward Items

Mrs. Looney's sister, Mrs. Gorman, returned from the hospital Monday. Mrs. Looney spent Saturday and Sunday with Mrs. Gorman in Lubbock.

There was a play and program at the South Ward school Friday night. There will be a picnic for school children this Friday night.

The school children have purchased two pigs and they seem to enjoy feeding them.

Mrs. Finley has been ill for some time. We hope that she will soon improve.

Mrs. T. B. Cowan, Mr. and Mrs. Rhyne, Mr. and Mrs. Walker, and Mr. and Mrs. Inman and their families spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hood.

The program which was supposed to be given at 8 o'clock Friday, Oct. 5, has been postponed until Friday October 12.

Mr. and Mrs. Greenwood carried their grandson to Bula Saturday and they returned Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Wright went to Lubbock Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Smelser are attending the revival meeting at Tahoka.

Edith

Everybody is busy gathering their crops now. Hands are wanted by several farmers.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Thompson and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hodge visited Mr. Tom Early and family in the Redwine community Sunday.

Mr. N. E. Wood returned Wednesday from Commerce, Texas, where he has been visiting with home folks the past few weeks.

Uncle Frank Vaughan's brother whom he went to see in Missouri, passed away Tuesday morning at 8:30 o'clock. Just when Uncle Frank and Mr. Hammonds will return home is unknown.

Rev. B. N. Shepherd will preach Sunday evening at 3:30 o'clock. Everybody is invited to attend the service.

We're planning on a big S. S. Sunday week. You will miss something worth while if you are not there. Come be with us.

School will begin next Monday, Oct. 8, if the school house is finished this week, as is expected. Every grade on through the eleventh will be taught.

Locals

J. W. Wade of Bonham was here the first of the week, shaking hands with friends. Mr. Wade says that cotton is rather sorry in Fannin county. He estimates that it will average about a quarter of a bale per acre. The shortness of the crop is due to dry weather that prevailed in that section of the state at a critical stage in the development of the cotton plant. Mr. Wade formerly resided here and indicated that he might come back soon.

Judge B. H. Howard of Crosbyton was here Wednesday as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Frank P. Hill. He is Mrs. Hill's father. The Judge says that the cotton crop of Crosby county is better than most other places in the plains this year, though it is not as good as had been hoped. Feed crops are fine, as they are here.

Rev. H. C. Cagle, District Superintendent will preach at Nazarene church next Tuesday night at 7:30 and will hold a board meeting after services. All members are urged to be present and the public has a special invitation.

J. B. Reese says the cotton east of town is no good. He thinks it will take many acres to produce a bale, in most fields. Most farmers and cotton men say that the crop is so "spotted", that it is difficult to estimate the crop.

The members of the Draw Methodist Woman's Missionary Society desire to thank the women of the Tahoka Methodist Church for the use of Text books loaned by the latter. The books have served their purpose well.

J. F. Stewart knows the cotton business from start to finish. He is guessing that the production in Lynn county will be in the neighborhood of 30,000 bales. Lynn county produced nearly 42,000 bales last year.

The Workers Meeting of the Brownfield Association will meet next Tuesday at Meadow instead of Brownfield as was announced in the Baptist Builder.

L. Darden of Post who worked at the red gin several seasons in the past, is back in Tahoka, having accepted a position with the Farmer's Gin Company.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Neyland returned Tuesday from Dallas, to which city they went Saturday to make purchases for the Neyland store.

Hub Moore accompanied his mother back to Archey City Sunday, returning Monday. She had been visiting here a couple of weeks.

G. B. Moss and family have moved here from Wilson. Mr. Moss will be bookkeeper for the Farmer's Gin Company.

A new awning is being erected over the west front of the Connolly Motor Company work shop this week.

Miss Faye Slater left Sunday to take a course in nursing in the Lubbock Sanitarium.

Chris L. Adair has just completed a new duplex residence in the west part of town.

SHUGART'S STUDIO IS OPENED IN TAHOKA

Announcement was made today that Shugart's studio, formerly of Dallas is locating here for a short time.

The location of the studio is over the Thomas Bros. Drug Store. The Cooper-Hewett lighting equipment has been installed to be used in taking photographs. This eliminates much of the trouble formerly experienced by using mercury or carbon.

Shugart is a graduate of the Brissells Art College in Michigan and has been working in Texas for the past 10 years. Mrs. Shugart is a graduate in art of the Kidd Key College at Sherman and is in charge of the finishing department, including tinting.

The couple attended the National Photographers convention at Atlanta in March.

Draw Items

The local Thomas Brothers' gin at this point has pressed about 12 bales with prospects of a number this week. The weather has been fair conducting to rapid opening of mature bolls. It is estimated that an average yield of about one bale to five or six acres will be the rule in this area.

The Epworth League put on a special "Early Methodism" program Sunday evening—one of the best in many months. The program was prepared by "Billie" Porterfield, lay leader, for the Draw-Grassland-Gossett Methodist circuit. The League has been greatly revived in the last two or three weeks.

The binder is heard throughout the land and many are now shocking their feed. Some are cutting their maize heads. The air of the autumnal harvest is prevalent in the land.

Those who attended the Sunday School Standard Training Course of the Methodist church at O'Donnell last week included "Billie" Porterfield, J. M. Casbeer, Rev and Mrs. Hamilton Wright, Miss Euna Knowles, I. N. Standefer, Mrs. J. M. Casbeer and Mr. W. W. Caswell. Five credits were obtained by the local Sunday School.

A Sunday School Standard Training Course to be held at Draw for Sunday School on the circuit will probably be instituted here in the near future. The text will be "What Every Methodist Should Know." The course will be free save for incidentals of lights and textbooks. The pastor probably will do the instruction. It is hoped to have a large attendance.

Many Draw people heard the Rev. Frank Norris, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Fort Worth, when he spoke on the political issue at Tahoka last week. The great majority of the Draw people are in sympathy with the issues as explained by this divine.

Several new residences are being erected in this and the Redwine area as well as the handsome new school building at the latter place, a credit to any community. The Assembly of God Church is erecting a parsonage just to the south of the church building at this place.

CARD OF THANKS

With grateful hearts we sincerely thank our friends of Tahoka and vicinity for the many kindnesses with which you helped us sustain the misfortune in the loss of our infant baby. Though we may never repay you, we want you to know we are grateful for such friends. We invoke God's blessings upon you.

SOME NEEDED CHANGES IN CRIMINAL PROCEDURE

The county and district attorneys association of Texas in session in San Antonio last week went on record as favoring several changes in procedure in the trial of criminal cases that should have the hearty support of every good citizen.

Among the changes advocated was one requiring that any defendant desiring to interpose a plea of insanity should be required to do so and said issue should be tried and determined before the case is called for trial upon the question of his guilt or innocence and requiring that a commission of alienists be appointed to examine defendant as to his sanity.

Another change would repeal the law prohibiting comment upon defendant's failure to testify, when he does fail, by the prosecuting attorney. The law prohibits the jury from taking such failure of defendant to testify into consideration in arriving at their verdict should also be repealed. These statutes have enabled many a criminal to go free by tying the hands of the prosecution.

Another demand is for the amendment of the "search and seizure" law. While the suggested amendment does not go as far as we would like, still it is in the right direction.

The association should urge these and other changes before the legislature which meets in January.

Carnes has been captured. Another criminal will be brought to the bar of justice. Whether he will be compelled to suffer the full penalty

for his crimes at the hands of the courts is problematical. But whether the courts are able to mete out adequate and exact justice or not, Carnes will be fully punished. The law of retribution will bring him his full meed of punishment. "Vengeance is mine; I will repay" saith the Lord.
Carnes stole approximately a million dollars from the Southern Baptist Home Mission Board while the trusted treasurer of that organization. He had the full confidence of the good and unsuspecting secretary of the board, Dr. Gray. He was trusted implicitly and was given a free hand. Recently he disappeared and an examination of the books and records in the office revealed that his peculations had extended over a number of years. The injury that he has done to those who had trusted him and to those who had paid money into his treasury is not limited to the amount of his peculations.
More serious than the financial loss possibly is the fact that he has created a feeling of distrust and suspicion that will hurt the good cause for years to come. Hence his offense becomes doubly serious. But he has been caught and he will be punished.
He may live many years, but what a life! Can he hope to extract any real joy out of it? Has he had any real happiness during all these years that he has been stealing and practising deception? We doubt it. He must have known that some day there must be an accounting, some day in some tribunal, here or hereafter, he must face the bar of justice. That knowledge must have made him constantly uneasy and unhappy.
As shrewd and conscienceless as he may be, the criminal is a fool. Crime can not bring happiness. It can only bring ruin and disaster. Carnes goes from a mansion to prison, from the high esteem of friends into the infamy with which he will forever hereafter be regarded by all good people and even by bad people. "He that soweth to the wind shall reap whirlwind." Carnes is not only a criminal; he is a fool.

It is easy to get wrought up in a political campaign and say hard things about your neighbor, about men that are better than you. Some men here in Tahoka are saying all manner of evil things about those from whom they differ politically, accusing them of being dishonest, treacherous, hypocritical. One of the beautiful things about the greatest character of all history was that
"When he was reviled, he reviled not again." Keep sweet, gentlemen. Remember that "He that brideth his own tongue is greater than he that taketh a city."

Governor Al Smith in his Milwaukee speech Saturday put the "drys" of this nation on notice that if he is elected President he expects to make relentless war on national prohibition. He reiterated his stern opposition to the Volstead law and to the Eighteenth Amendment. He denounced national prohibition in the most unflattering terms. He charged that it has been a failure, that it breeds disrespect for all law, that it is responsible for the crime that is rampant in this country that, it has increased rather than diminished the amount of drinking. He even attributed the existence of the murderous gangsters in the cities of this country to national prohibition. In fact, according to his view, it is responsible for about all the evils that afflict us. He would not even concede that it was a "noble experiment," as Herbert Hoover stated in his acceptance speech. Therefore he vehemently declared that if elected President he would undertake to lead this country to abandon it. He again proposed two changes that he would advocate, first a modification of the Volstead Act by increasing the alcoholic content of liquors that may be sold legally, and second, an amendment to the Eighteenth Amendment so as to permit any state that desired to do so to go into the liquor business. In answer to those who have been saying that he could not bring about these changes even if he tried, he vigorously asserted that what this country needs in the Presidency is leadership and that if he were elected he would carry the issue to every community in this country and force Congress to yield. In view of the Milwaukee speech, no Southern dry leader can further support Smith in this campaign without laying himself liable to the charge of treason to the cause. Dry Senators and Congressmen who remain on the stump for Smith after this deliverance should not be surprised if they meet stern opposition at the next election. There are multiple thousands of Democrats in Texas who regard them as traitors to the cause and who will fight them to the last ditch. No man can serve two masters.

It is no longer a fight between Republicans and Democrats. It is a fight between "wets" and "drys".
Everybody sees that now except the man who refuses to see. Al Smith himself has drawn the line. Not only has he drawn the line on the liquor issue but he is attempting to make political capital out of the religious question. He is posing as a martyr to Protestant "intolerance".
A member of the most intolerant religious organization of all time, he would have the people of America believe that he is the champion of tolerance. It is because of the intolerance and the political activity of the Catholic Church during its entire existence of sixteen hundred years that Protestants are now inclined to be intolerant toward it. We are not among those however, who believe that the Pope would "get us" if Al Smith were elected, but we do know that the Catholic political machine does not stand at all times and everywhere for complete separation of Church and State; that it does not and never has stood for complete religious liberty except when it was to its own interest to do so; that it does not represent American ideals in government. This is a Protestant country with Protestant ideals and we believe that a Protestant should be at the head of our government. Furthermore we are agains any man, Protestant or Catholic, who would lead this country back into the re-establishment of the legalized liquor traffic. Al Smith has put the country on notice that he is seeking to do that. He has forced the issue.
He has made it a fight between the
"wets" and the "drys", between the political ideals of Protestantism and the political tenets of Catholicism. The war is on.

Again we repeat, Crime never pays. A city tax collector down at Waco apparently yielded to the temptation to embezzle. We do not know whether he had an extravagant family that lived beyond his income, or whether he had an inordinate greed for gold, or whether he gambled and lost, or whether he was just a natural-born criminal, but at any rate temptation came to him in some form and he yielded. Evidently realizing that he could not long cover up his defalcation, one day recently he placed the muzzle of a gun against his temple and pulled the trigger. An investigation of his books reveal a shortage of more than $5,000.00. No doubt when he stole the first dollar he never dreamed that some day it would lead to suicide. But when any man deliberately enters upon a course of crime of any nature, he may expect nothing else but a tragic end. Truly the inspired writer knew what he was writing about when he said, "The wages of sin is death."

The assertion which Governor
Moody made to the Sheriffs' Convention which was in session in Austin last week to the effect that "all this talk about a breakdown of prohibition enforcement is mere propagandism" was most timely. There has been no breakdown in prohibition enforcement. Prohibition has not been well enforced in many places.
In most places in Texas, however, it has been as well enforced as other laws, and the effects of prohibition have been most salutary. All this hue and cry in Texas about the bootleggers overrunning the country is about eighty per cent bluff. Where liquor is sold now by the pint it was sold in the old saloon days by the barrel. Of course, in the large cities, especially in the North and East, proper effort has not been made to enforce prohibition. But if the "drys" win in the pending presidential contest, there will be a tightening up on the part of enforcement officers, and in the course of time New York and Chicago will be as dry as Dallas and
Fort Worth now are.

SANDSTORMS IN POLITICS

The writer, having grown up in Texas, has seen many sandstorms that hid the sun and filled the air with so much dust that objects that were perfectly visible a few minutes earlier were almost totally hidden. No one could form a correct estimate of the landscape unless he remembered it as it appeared before the storm.

We have seen a good many political fights since the writer's birth, but never one with as much dust in the air as the present campaign has raised. It is our prediction that the dust will continue to fly until November the sixth, after which date we shall see whether any of the old landmarks have been covered up or moved. And, though this particular political sandstorm seems to be destructive to honesty, right ideals, clean government, moral issues and the future of our boys and girls, for which this government stands, we believe it will pass, and we shall see our landmarks in their places when it is all over and the atmosphere is again clear.

The first dust cloud is black. The wets have attempted to their sorrow to raise that question. They were indeed hard up for arguments when they raised an issue that was forever settled when our grandfathers chased the last carpetbagger north of the Mason-Dixon line. I am tired of looking on the ghosts of the Negroes. Why not let the poor old ex-slaves stay buried?

This sandstorm of color has cost the Wets more than they have gained. They have lost ten votes to one gained. Now they would like to forget the wet nominee's attitude toward the Negro. They wish they had never heard of Ferdinand Morton, friend and appointee of the wet candidate. And wouldn't they like to forget that the civil service commissioner of New York is a Negro? This particular Black sandstorm, instead of beclouding the issue has uncovered some things that the wets didn't intend to show and smell just yet. But the poor old dead thing has blown clear again, and every white democrat of the Solid(?) South will have to hold his nose until we can bury the thing again on November sixth, "It's an ill wind that blows nobody any good." Every wet speaker would like to shovel some dirt on the stinking thing, but he has the smell on his garments, and the public knows it now. That Nigger in the woodpile is dead.

This cloud on the horizon has appeared all along through the past. It rose in Egypt when Moses was preaching a crusade against a corrupt and tyrannical government. It blew over, however, and the whole of the Egyptian army was dead on the shore of the Red Sea. It was seen again when conditions brought Elijah and King Ahab face to face, and it reappeared when John the Baptistizer lost his head to Herod. Jesus' enemies raised sand because He, the Great Teacher, taught that sin and evil were morally wrong wherever found. John Huss, John Knox and the other John were disturbing factors for those who were in power and wanted to go backward instead of forward. Martin Luther and the reformers that preceded him disturbed the times in which they lived. Yet the world has been infinitely blessed by that disturbance.

"Political preachers" have in some way had a lot to do with the world and its progress from savagery to Christian Governments. In spite of every intemperate and unkind and unholly criticism heaped upon them and the orders they represented, they have felt called to speak in no uncertain language about corruption and corrupted men. For claiming the same right to free speech that the politician foams and rants about, he is cussed and bemeaned. A preacher who supports the wets for any reason is lauded as a patriot and a Christian, while Frank Norris is damned as a skunk and a criminal. Bishop Candler is praised from Mexico to the Lakes for taking no stand and James Cannon Jr., another bishop is branded as a feke and a liar. It's altogether owing to which side the preacher is on. If he mentions prohibition from the pulpit, he is out of place, while if he speaks in Fair Park, Dallas, he is condemned as Holbrook condemned Stratton at Tahoka last Wednesday. Whether in the pulpit or out of it he is said by the wets to take unfair advantage of the enemy.

How many of the readers heard at the Democratic (?) Rally held at the City Tabernacle last Wednesday references to "being shot" or to "being run out of town" if reference were made to preachers. Those speakers would have been dumb as oysters had they not had the false issues, flim-flam, hokum, buncombe, "political preachers," "party of our fathers," "Thomas Jefferson," and "Old Hickory" to rave about. What would Jefferson and Jackson think if they could spend 10 days in Tahoka with the decent, clean, godly, lawabiding, patriotic elements of the community. (Who would look for them with the bootleggers or home brew guzzlers?) Would they line up with the crowd that wants to soak this fine community with light wines and beer? No. They were good citizens, not alienists and modifiers and nullifiers of the constitution. They would stand in defense of the best interests of the people of his nation, and they would be side by side with "political preachers" and not wet politicians.

Adding machines can never estimate what "political preachers have been worth to the South. Sam Jones Sam R. Steele and J. B. Galloway, who published the first prohibition paper in the South, and our own Texan Rankin and Gumbrell have led the way to progress and sobriety. May God give the South more men of that stamp of courage and godly leadership.

How much crime has been committed in the name of religion! How many wars have been fought in the name of religion! How many countries have been ruined and destroyed in the name of religion! How many men have been let into the public sheepfold during a sandstorm of religious hatred! Now that we have another religious dust storm, watch the gate to the sheep pen, or a wet wolf may steal in while the country is buzzing about Catholicism and Protestantism. Nobody with the brains of a peewee but that knows religion can not be a major issue in this campaign, and all the senseless drive about religion and politics is simply to cover up the movements of wet forces that seek to control in the election. The hypocritical inconsistency of wet Catholicism in pushing forward this sham issue is almost too ridiculous to deserve mention. But it is in keeping with the other "issues" in the fight. Who started all this yelling of "intolerance"? Joe Robinson! How much have you heard speakers abuse Catholics? "One sparrow does not make a summer." This writer has heard only one man claim that Religion is the real issue, and he was a nit-wit. Nobody is following that public speaker.

Party of Our Fathers
Yes, that's a fine phrase! How it rolls and swells and booms and thunders from the lips of barrel shaped public speakers, who have to lean back to support a big bay window (polite name for big beer receptacle). "Party of our Fathers!" The implication is that given that phrase by these wet political spellbinders, who never drank a pint of liquor in their lives, yet are ripping their britches for the wet crowd today is a libel on our fathers. My grandfather was a wet, but before he died he saw a great light, and he voted the dry ticket until the end. Now, when the baby grows up, there will not be a wet in the family.

That "party of our fathers" stuff doesn't go with the sons of today. It was the restless element that left the Tory Party and established thirteen free and independent states along the Atlantic seaboard. This nation left the old paths and set a lot of white gentry to work in the South, making a country for the future. Some disaffected good citizens got together, and in spite of political windjammers, kicked out the liquor traffic. And if it were not for the yellow-streaked citizenship, and the alien element in this country it would bid us a last farewell. We could get rid of the bootlegger in thirty days if it were not for the man who sympathizes with him and patronizes him. The greatest need this country has at this time is for a revival of real citizenship that will demand that every officer from the president down shall enforce the letter of the law, and show no leniency anywhere until we have a decent respect for law.

SOME NEEDED CHANGES IN CRIMINAL PROCEDURE

association of Texas in session at
support of every good citizen.

upon the question of his guilt or in-
examine defendant as to his sanity.

does fail, by the prosecuting attorney. The law prohibits the jury
from taking such failure of defend-ent to testify into consideration in arriving at their verdict should also be repealed. These statutes have
by tying the hands of the prosecution.

Another demand is for the amendment of the "search and seizure"
law. While the suggested amendment does not go as far as we would like,
still it is in the right direction.

The association should urge these
and other changes before the legislature which meets in January.

Carnes has been captured. An-

courts is problematical. But whether
quate and exact justice or not, Carn-
meed of punishment. "Vengeance is
mine; I will repay" saith the Lord.
Carnes stole approximately a million dollars from the Southern Bap-
tion. He had the full confidence of
of the board, Dr. Gray. He was trust-
him and to those who had paid mon-
to the amount of his peculations.

possibly is the fact that he has creat-
been caught and he will be punished.
that he has been stealing and prac-
tising deception? We doubt it. He
day in some tribunal, here or here-
after, he must face the bar of justice. That knowledge must have made him constantly uneasy and unhappy.
As shrewd and conscienceless as he
people and even by bad people. "He
criminal; he is a fool.

from whom they differ politically,
accusing them of being dishonest,
"When he was reviled, he reviled not
member that "He that brideth his
taketh a city."

Governor Al Smith in his Milwakee speech Saturday put the "drys"
the Eighteenth Amendment. He denounced national prohibition in the most scathing terms. He charged
amount of drinking. He even at-
tributed the existence of the mur-
sponsible for about all the evils that
cede that it was a "noble experi-
President he would undertake to lead
advocate, first a modification of the Volstead Act by increasing the alcoholic content of liquors that may be sold legally, and second, an increment to the Eighteenth Amendment so as to permit any state that
not bring about these changes even
Presidency is leadership and that if
Southern dry leader can further
charge of treason to the cause. Dry
main on the stump for Smith after
at the next election. There are multiple thousands of Democrats in
two masters.

fight between "wets" and "drys".
Everybody sees that now except the
martyr to Protestant "intolerance".
A member of the most intolerant religious organization of all time, he
the tolerance and the political activity
entire existence of sixteen hundred
years that Protestants are now inclined to be intolerant toward it. We
believe that the Pope would "get us"
if Al Smith were elected, but we do
know that the Catholic political ma-
and everywhere for complete separa-
complete religious liberty except
ican ideals in government. This is a Protestant country with Protestant
ant should be at the head of our government. Furthermore we are against
re-establishment of the legalized li-
to do that. He has forced the issue.
He has made it a fight between the
political ideals of Protestantism and the political tenets of Catholicism. The war is on.

Again we repeat, Crime never
Waco apparently yielded to the tempta-
lost, or whether he was just a natural-born criminal, but at any rate
up his defalcation, one day recently
he placed the muzzle of a gun against his temple and pulled the trig-
ger. An investigation of his books
nature, he may expect nothing else
sin is death."

Moody made to the Sheriffs' Convention which was in session in Austin
talk about a breakdown of prohibition enforcement is mere propaganda" was most timely. There has
enforcement. Prohibition has not
been well enforced in many places.
In most places in Texas, however, it has been as well enforced as other
about eighty per cent bosh. Where
barrel. Of course, in the large cities, especially in the North and East,
in the course of time New York and
Fort Worth now are.

Millions of spectators thronging Buick showrooms in all parts of the country! Tens of thousands enthusiastically placing their orders for the Buick of Buicks and car of cars!

And all because it is not only a leading engineering achievement of the past twenty-five years—embodying performance abilities unmatched anywhere in the world—but also because it ushers in an entirely new style—a fascinating new mode-of automotive beauty

The writer, having grown up in Texas, has seen many sandstorms that hid the sun and filled the air with so much dust that objects that were perfectly visible a few minutes earlier were almost totally hidden. No one could form a correct estimate of the landscape unless he remembered it as it appeared before the storm.

We have seen a good many political fights since the writer's birth, but never one with as much dust in the air as the present campaign has raised. It is our prediction that the dust will continue to fly until November the sixth, after which date we shall see whether any of the old landmarks have been covered up or moved. And, though this particular political sandstorm seems to be destructive to honesty, right ideals, clean government, moral issues and the future of our boys and girls, for which this government stands, we believe it will pass, and we shall see our landmarks in their places when it is all over and the atmosphere is again clear.

The first dust cloud is black. The wets have attempted to their sorrow to raise that question. They were indeed hard up for arguments when they raised an issue that was forever settled when our grandfathers chased the last carpetbagger north of the Mason-Dixon line. I am tired of looking on the ghosts of the Negroes. Why not let the poor old ex-slaves stay buried?

This sandstorm of color has cost the Wets more than they have gained. They have lost ten votes to one gained. Now they would like to forget the wet nominee's attitude toward the Negro. They wish they had never heard of Ferdinand Morton, friend and appointee of the wet candidate. And wouldn't they like to forget that the civil service commissioner of New York is a Negro? This particular Black sandstorm, instead of beclouding the issue has uncovered some things that the wets didn't intend to show and smell just yet. But the poor old dead thing has blown clear again, and every white democrat of the Solid(?) South will have to hold his nose until we can bury the thing again on November sixth, (it's an ill wind that blows nobody any good.) Every wet speaker would like to shovel some dirt on the stinking thing, but he has the smell on his garments, and the public knows it now. That Nigger in the woodpile is dead.

A chartered Training School for Nurses is conducted in connection with the Sanitarium. Young women who desire to enter training may address the Lubbock

This cloud on the horizon has appeared all along through the past. It rose in Egypt when Moses was preaching a crusade against a corrupt and tyrannical government. It blew over, however, and the whole of the Egyptian army was dead on the shore of the Red Sea. It was seen again when conditions brought Elijah and King Ahab face to face, and it reappeared when John the Baptist lost his head to Herod. Jesus' enemies raised sand because He, the Great Teacher, taught that sin and evil were morally wrong wherever found. John Huss, John Knox and the other John were disturbing factors for those who were in power and wanted to go backward instead of forward. Martin Luther and the reformers that preceded him disturbed the times in which they lived. Yet the world has been infinitely blessed by that disturbance.

"Political preachers" have in some way had a lot to do with the world and its progress from savagery to Christian Governments. In spite of every intemperate and unkind and unholly criticism heaped upon them and the orders they represented, they have felt called to speak in no uncertain language about corruption and corrupted men. For claiming the same right to free speech that the politician foams and rants about, he is cussed and bemoaned. A preacher who supports the wets for any reason is lauded as a patriot and a Christian, while Frank Norris is damned as a skunk and a criminal. Bishop Candler is praised from Mexico to the Lakes for taking no stand and James Cannon Jr., another bishop is branded as a feke and a liar. It's altogether owing to which side the preacher is on. If he mentions prohibition from the pulpit, he is out of place, while if he speaks in Fair Park, Dallas, he is condemned as Holbrook condemned Straton at Tahoka last Wednesday. Whether in the pulpit or out of it he is said by the wets to take unfair advantage of the enemy.

How many of the readers heard at the Democratic (?) Rally held at the City Tabernacle last Wednesday references to "being shot" or to "being run out of town" if reference were made to preachers. Those speakers would have been dumb as oysters had they not had the false issues, flim-flam, hokum, buncombe, "political preachers," "party of our fathers," "Thomas Jefferson," and "Old Hickory" to rave about. What would Jefferson and Jackson think if they could spend 10 days in Tahoka with the decent, clean, godly, lawabiding, patriotic elements of the community. (Who would look for them with the bootleggers or home brew guzzlers?) Would they line up with the crowd that wants to soak this fine community with light wines and beer? No! They were good citizens, not alienists and modifiers and nullifiers of the constitution. They would stand in defense of the best interests of the people of his nation, and they would be side by side with "political preachers" and not wet politicians.

Adding machines can never estimate what "political preachers have been worth to the South. Sam Jones Sam E. Steele and J. B. Galloway, who published the first prohibition paper in the South, and our own Texan Rankin and Gambrell have led the way to progress and sobriety. May God give the South more men of that stamp of courage and godly leadership.

How much crime has been committed in the name of religion! How many wars have been fought in the name of religion! How many countries have been ruined and destroyed in the name of religion! How many men have been let into the public sheepfold during a sandstorm of religious hatred! Now that we have another religious dust storm, watch the gate to the sheep pen, or a wet wolf may steal in while the country is buzzing about Catholicism and Protestantism. Nobody with the brains of a peewee but that knows religion can not be a major issue in this campaign, and all the senseless drivell about religion and politics is simply to cover up the movements of wet forces that seek to control in the election. The hypocritical inconsistency of wet Catholicism in pushing forward this sham issue is almost too ridiculous to deserve mention. But it is in keeping with the other "issues" in the fight. Who started all this yelling of "intolerance"? Joe Robinson! How much have you heard speakers abuse Catholics? "One saporow does not make a summer." This writer has heard only one man claim that Religion is the real issue, and he was a nit-wit. Nobody is following that public speaker.

Yes, that's a fine phrase! How it rolls and swells and booms and thunders from the lips of barrel shaped public speakers, who have to lean back to support a big bay window (polite name for big beer receptacle). "Party of our Fathers!" The implication that is given that phrase by these wet political spellbinders, who never drank a pint of liquor in their lives, yet are ripping their britches for the wet crowd today is a libel on our fathers. My grandfather was a wet, but before he died he saw a great light, and he voted the dry ticket until the end. Now, when the baby grows up, there will not be a wet in the family.

That "party of our fathers" stuff doesn't go with the sons of today. It was the restless element that left the Tory Party and established thirteen free and independent states along the Atlantic seaboard. This nation left the old paths and set a lot of white gentry to work in the South, making a country for the future. Some disaffected good citizens got together, and in spite of political windjammers, kicked out the liquor traffic. And if it were not for the yellow-streaked citizenship, and the alien element in this country it would bid us a last farewell. We could get rid of the bootlegger in thirty days if it were not for the man who sympathizes with him and patronizes him. The greatest need this country has at this time is for a revival of real citizenship that will demand that every officer from the president down shall enforce the letter of the law, and show no leniency anywhere until we have a decent respect for law.

 means of purging the party of the wet and alien elements that have sought to rule. So mote it be! If it can not be saved by this means, bury it so deep that the stench will no of our fathers smells to heaven like that.

The answer to a simple question:
 Is it right or wrong, ought to settle every issue. If it is right to soak this country in light wine and beer and debauch the boys and girls, vote the wet ticket—and it's wet. Nobody on earth can conscientiously deny that. If it's right to vote for a dry nation, then support a crowd that doesn't want to let down any bars, but that promises to nail them higher. Any honest voter can answer the question as to right or wrong. We believe the overwhelming majority will answer that it's right to do right.

The Canadian Liquor Law That storm came a long way to get down here, like the blizzards that are born in the cold heart of the northern Rockies. But she finally got here, and is busy obscuring the issue. Oh! But that's a sweet morsel for our friends in the Phil-istine camp! How many know what the conditions in Canada really are?
 "The Bootlegger question is all solved," they say, "and Canada is not bothered with bootlegging". Is that so? We shall see. What are the real facts in the case? Do the wets think Southerners are fools? We know the facts.

 The wet mob says that Canada has what we want. Let's see if we want what Canada has. In the Province of Ontario the Liquor Board reports that sales will run a million dollars a week. "That is in just one of the provinces of Canada. $52,000,000 a year for liquor in one province in Canada. In Alberta, a rather sparsely populated province, the sales were four million gallons of liquors.
 Quebec reports that the increased CONSUMPTION OF BEER ALONE was one million gallons in one year.
 Does that look like what we want here in the South? These provincial, East Side New Yorkers and these New Jerseyites must think we are all idiots or else that we are all rum runners or beer guzzlers! We do not want that sort of government, and we will not have it. The spirit of '77 will be first revived!

The total expenditure for booze in seven of the Canadian provinces last year was $160,000,000. The combined population of these seven provinces is possibly a little more than twice that of Texas. Do we want that? Has Texas $80,000,000 for booze? Do we want to spend more for hooch than for the education of the public school children of Texas? I think not, and I vote not.

"How about hard liquor in Canada?" That's a wet's question, isn't it? All right. He hung himself when he asked that. The liquor boards of Canada report that the sale of hard liquor has increased 33 per cent in two years, and more than fifty per cent since the opening of beer sales places. The increase in liquor consumption is possibly best shown from the fact that in one province 60,000 permits were issued the first year, and two years later there were issued 144,000. They are cultivating a liquor habit up there. Do we want that?

But the claim is made that there is no drunkenness and no bootlegging in Canada. Hear the Montreal Star say that drunkenness among women has increased 53 per cent. And they say prohibition is ruining our girls!
 If keeping them from an increasing drunkenness is ruin, let's ruin them all. A police commissioner of Manitoba C. F. Burton has written: "If all the drunks were arrested there would be no room for them in the jails." "Arrests for drunkenness increased 125 per cent during the first eight months of government control" the Saskatchewan Liquor Board. The Toronto Star reports that "All records for inebriates were broken today when 89 Labor Day celebrators faced Magistrate Cohen.
 Instead of prohibition being a failure, it appears that government control is a failure, and that the government is being controlled by the liquor traffic.

Oh, Yes! "There are no bootleggers in Canada". What does Canada say to that? What has happened to the Canadian bootlegger? Where is he? He is still in business, and his whole family is now in with him.
 The Alberta Liquor Board says:
 "Our greatest problem is moonshine in the country districts." Shades of Prohibition!

The Saskatchewan Liquor Board says: "As much liquor is sold by bootleggers as is sold in the government stores." That means that more than $160,000,000 worth is sold in seven provinces. It means that every year the Canadian government is in an increasing business with a bootlegging partner, debauching men and women and little children.
 The British Columbia Liquor Board has announced that bootlegging has increased 111 per cent during the first year." Does that make it appear that the Canadian plan has put the bootlegger out of business?

If that is the kind of modification for enforcement and relief from present conditions the wets want the dries of the South will have none of it.
Consistency
 The writer has heard a number of times the phrases, "honest effort to enforce the present laws", and "relieving the present terrible situation" that he has wondered about the record of those using the expressions. In fact about the most hypocritical position he has ever found anyone in is that of the man who has had about eight years of opportunity to enforce the laws of New York State. Instead of making "an honest effort to enforce the laws," according to J. B. Cranfill of Dallas in The Advance, he went to the last necessary senator and browbeat him into submissively voting for the repeal of the Mullan-Gage Act, thus destroying every vestige of enforcement for the eighteenth amendment in that state. Yet this same man who did not make any sort of effort to enforce the law in New York, but on the contrary broke it down and nullified it in effect, is willing to go to Washington and swear that he will again make "an honest effort to enforce the eighteenth amendment to the constitution. He is lauded for his honesty.

 May a merciful Providence shield us when we are faced with that sort of "honest efforts". that were emphasized in the wet candidate's Milwaukee speech last Saturday night—a declaration of his purpose to go to every part of this country to throw down the gauntlet and let liquor back in.
 It was put in politic phrases all right but that was his plain meaning. This is the same man, remember, who said that he would "make an honest effort," saying that he would place one hand on the Bible, raise the other to heaven, swear that he would enforce all laws, and especially the prohibition laws. Does he mean that, or here in the South? These provincial, East Side New Yorkers, or does he mean what he said at Milwaukee? Take your choice.
 We will follow a man who means what he says, and who says what he means. "Consistency, that art indeed a jewel," even in the mouths of presidential candidates.

Political Treason
 We'll take up the gauntlet of challenge and return it. If it was treason for Saul to turn from Judaism to Jesus, or for Luther to turn from dead formalism to a living Christianity, or for the fathers to turn from despotism to Democracy in founding this nation, or if it was treason for our country to turn from drink to dry by the biggest majority that any constitutional amendment ever had, we will turn from a wet presidential candidate to a dry with no compunction of conscience, and we shall glory in our shame.

means of purging the party of the wet and alien elements that have sought to rule. So mote it be! If it can not be saved by this means, bury it so deep that the stench will no more offend the public, for "the party of our fathers smells to heaven under the domination of this Eastern wet-alien-modifier-nullification crowd. Better let it die than to live like that.

The answer to a simple question: Is it right or wrong, ought to settle every issue. If it is right to soak this country in light wine and beer and debauch the boys and girls, vote the wet ticket—and it's wet. Nobody on earth can conscientiously deny that. If it's right to vote for a dry nation, then support a crowd that doesn't want to let down any bars, but that promises to nail them higher. Any honest voter can answer the question as to right or wrong. We believe the overwhelming majority will answer that it's right to do right.

The Canadian Liquor Law That storm came a long way to get down here, like the blizzards that are born in the cold heart of the northern Rockies. But she finally got here, and is busy obscuring the issue. Oh! But that's a sweet morsel for our friends in the Philistine camp! How many know what the conditions in Canada really are? "The Bootlegger question is all solved," they say, "and Canada is not bothered with bootlegging". Is that so? We shall see. What are the real facts in the case? Do the wets think Southerners are fools? We know the facts.

The wet mob says that Canada has what we want. Let's see if we want what Canada has. In the Province of Ontario the Liquor Board reports that sales will run a million dollars a week. That is in just one of the provinces of Canada. $52,000,000 a year for liquor in one province in Canada. In Alberta, a rather sparsely populated province, the sales run four million gallons of liquors. Quebec reports that the increased CONSUMPTION OF BEER ALONE was one million gallons in one year. Does that look like what we want here in the South? These provincial, East Side New Yorkers and these New Jerseyites must think we are all idiots or else that we are all rum runners or beer guzzlers! We do not want that sort of government, and we will not have it. The spirit of '77 will be first revived!

The total expenditure for booze in seven of the Canadian provinces last year was $160,000,000. The combined population of these seven provinces is possibly a little more than twice that of Texas. Do we want that? Has Texas $80,000,000 for booze? Do we want to spend more for hooch than for the education of the public school children of Texas? I think not, and I vote no.

"How about hard liquor in Canada?" That's a wet's question, isn't it? All right. He hung himself when he asked that. The liquor boards of Canada report that the sale of hard liquor has increased 33 per cent in two years, and more than fifty per cent since the opening of beer sales places. The increase in liquor consumption is possibly best shown from the fact that in one province 60,000 permits were issued the first year, and two years later there were issued 144,000. They are cultivating a liquor habit up there. Do we want that?

But the claim is made that there is no drunkenness and no bootlegging in Canada. Hear the Montreal Star say that drunkenness among women has increased 53 per cent. And they say prohibition is ruining our girls! If keeping them from an increasing drunkenness is ruin, let's ruin them all. A police commissioner of Manitoba C. F. Burton has written: "If all the drunks were arrested there would be no room for them in the jails." "Arrests for drunkenness increased 125 per cent during the first eight months of government control" the Saskatchewan Liquor Board. The Toronto Star reports that "All records for inebriates were broken today when 89 Labor Day celebrators faced Magistrate Cohen. Instead of prohibition being a failure, it appears that government control is a failure, and that the government is being controlled by the liquor traffic.

Oh, Yes! "There are no bootleggers in Canada." What does Canada say to that? What has happened to the Canadian bootlegger? Where is he? He is still in business, and his whole family is now in with him. The Alberta Liquor Board says: "Our greatest problem is moonshine in the country districts." Shades of Prohibition!

The Saskatchewan Liquor Board says: "As much liquor is sold by bootleggers as is sold in the government stores." That means that more than $160,000,000 worth is sold in seven provinces. It means that every year the Canadian government is in an increasing business with a bootlegging partner, debauching men and women and little children.

The British Columbia Liquor Board has announced that bootlegging has increased 111 per cent during the first year. Does that make it appear that the Canadian plan has put the bootlegger out of business?

If that is the kind of modification for enforcement and relief from present conditions the wets want the dregs of the South will have none of it.

Consistency The writer has heard a number of times the phrases, "honest effort to enforce the present laws", and "relieving the present terrible situation" that he has wondered about the record of those using the expressions. In fact about the most hypocritical position he has ever found anyone in is that of the man who has had about eight years of opportunity to enforce the laws of New York State. Instead of making "an honest effort to enforce the laws," according to J. B. Cranfill of Dallas in The Advance, he went to the last necessary senator and browbeat him into submissively voting for the repeal of the Mullan-Gage Act, thus destroying every vestige of enforcement for the eighteenth amendment in that state. Yet this same man who did not make any sort of effort to enforce the law in New York, but on the contrary broke it down and nullified it in effect, is willing to go to Washington and swear that he will again make "an honest effort to enforce the eighteenth amendment to the constitution. He is lauded for his honesty. May a merciful Providence shield us when we are faced with that sort of "honest efforts", that were emphasized in the wet candidate's Milwaukee speech last Saturday night—a declaration of his purpose to go to every part of this country to throw down the gauntlet and let liquor back in. It was put in polite phrases all right but that was his plain meaning. This is the same man, remember, who said that he would "make an honest effort," saying that he would place one hand on the Bible, raise the other to heaven, swear that he would enforce all laws, and especially the prohibition laws. Does he mean that, or what he said in his telegram to Houston friends, or does he mean what he said at Milwaukee? Take your choice. We will fillow a man who means what he says, and who says what he means. "Consistency, that art indeed a jewel," even in the mouths of presidential candidates.

Political Treason We'll take up the gauntlet of challenge and return it. If it was treason for Saul to turn from Judaism to Jesus, or for Luther, to turn from dead formalism to a living Christianity, or for the fathers to turn from despotism to Democracy in founding this nation, or if it was treason for our country to turn from drink to dry by the biggest majority that any constitutional amendment ever had, we will turn from a wet presidential candidate to a dry with no compunction of conscience, and we shall glory in our shame.

Miss Fay Slater went to Lubbock Sunday to enter the Lubbock Sanitarium for the three year's Nurses' Training Course. As a member of the Methodist Hi-League Miss Slater last spring, volunteered for Life Service in Christian work, and her Nurses' course is to fit her for her choice of the different lines of service. She was a graduate of the 1923 class of the Tahoka High School and this momentous step she has taken reflects credit on the school and church influences that have surrounded her here. A host of friends wish her unbounded success in this beginning of a noble career.

Prof. A. L. Faubion, superintendent of the Wilson public school, was a Tahoka visitor Wednesday. He states that the enrollment in the Wilson school has reached 340 and that they now have a faculty of ten teachers. They expect to add two teachers later. Wilson has one of the best schools in this section of the state, due to the fine school spirit that exists there. Prof. Faubion had his name added to our subscription list.

Elder W. A. Kercheville, the new minister of the Church of Christ here, spoke briefly at the Kiwanis luncheon Wednesday. Mr. Baze made a brief report as to the South Plains Fair now being held in Lubbock. No formal program had been prepared. Judge Gordon B. McGuire of Lubbock, who is here holding court, was a guest of the Club.

The infant child of Elder and Mrs. W. A. Kercheville born Saturday night was buried Sunday afternoon. Elder W. M. Davis of Lubbock conducted the funeral services. The parents have the sympathy of many friends in this bereavement.

A. A. Mourfield is beginning the construction of a neat four-room residence on East First Street near the Clinton home. It will be of stucco finish and will be a natty little home.

S. B. Goodrich has been sick several days of catarrhal fever. His condition is quite serious and it is feared that he will not be able to be up for several weeks.

FOR SALE—1927 Model Chrysler 60 Roadster. In good condition with 5 new six ply Lee Tires and 5 new tubes. For price see E. M. Swan or Texas Garage, Tahoka, Texas.

Miss Myrtle Murray district home demonstration agent, of Lubbock, judged the exhibits of the women's and girls' clubs at the Lynn County Fair last week.

W. H. Smith and J. W. Ritter and family of Dawson, Navarro county, arrived this week. Both are employed at the Farmers' Gin.

Ed Knight of Temple is here this week and is having a nice five-room residence built on his farm sixteen miles west of Tahoka.

J. V. Dyer says some folks are excited about the cotton crop. He says we are going to make enough to "get by" with.

Mrs. T. B. Bailey and children of Fort worth are here visiting the former's sister, Mrs. F. E. Redwine.

Miss Millie M. Halsey, who is now visiting relatives in Slaton, expects to return to Rogers next week.

Miss Jewell Redwine is attending McMurray College, Abilene.

J. T. Williams, a prominent citizen of Wilson, was among those from Wilson who attended the speaking here last Sunday afternoon, and he added his name to our subscription list.

J. W. Young, who lives on Route A out of Post near the Lynn county line, came in today and ordered the paper sent to his address for the next twelve months.

Prominent Pastor To Speak At Draw

Methodist laymen from Tahoka, O'Donnell, Grassland, Gassett and Draw will gather at Draw next Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock for a "reunion" when Rev. Virgil Fisher, pastor of the Lamesa Methodist church, will preach. It is hoped to have special music on the occasion.

The Lamesa pastor is recognized as one of the foremost preachers in the Panhandle and Plains. A large congregation is assured provided the weather is propitious. A large delegation is already assured from Gossett and many expected from Grassland.

Complete Program Legion Convention

Addresses by internationally known speakers, a parade of 60,000 persons, varied contests, music of 100 to 150 bands and drum corps, consideration of problems of vital national import, awarding of trophies and a round of varied entertainment are on the program for the tenth national convention of the American Legion to be held in San Antonio October 8 to 12.

The official program for the Legion convention sessions, to be held in the municipal auditorium, was received today from National Adjutant F. Barton by Philip B. Stapp, general Legion convention director.

On Monday, the opening day of the gathering, Field Marshal Viscount Allenby, of Great Britain; General John J. Pershing, Secretary of War Dwight F. Davis and Frank T. Hines, director of the United States veterans' bureau, will speak. Governor Dan Moody, Mayor C. M. Chambers, of San Antonio, and Walton D. Rood, commander of the Texas Department of the Legion, will deliver welcoming address. Response on behalf of the Legion will be made by Post National Commander John R. Quinn, of California. Memorial services for World war dead will be conducted at the close of the session, with the noted opera star, Madame Martha Attwood, singing "There is no Death."

Tuesday will be given over to the convention parade, which will move at 11 o'clock. General Beaumont B. Buck, Texas war hero, will be grand marshal, with Post National Commander Howard P. Savage, of Illinois, as honorary grand marshal. Five or six hours is expected to be required for the parade. The rest of the day will be given over to committee meetings and entertainment.

Major Georges Scapini, war-blinded member of the French chamber of deputies, will speak at the Wednesday morning session. Other speakers at that meeting will be William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, and Assistant Secretary of War F. Trubee Wavenson. Miss Mary Jordan, concert singer, formerly of San Antonio, will be the soloist of the day and will conduct the "Spirit of the A. E. F. Jubilation" as a special feature.

Judge Kenesaw M. Landis, baseball commissioner, will address the convention at its closing session on Thursday morning, October 11. Ten distinguished Legionnaires will deliver a combined speech on "The Preamble to the Constitution of the American Legion." Madame Ella Ran some will be the soloist of the day.

Election of officers will take place at this session. Twelve candidates are already in the field for national commander. Five national vice commanders and a national chaplain will also be selected. Other national officers will be elected by the national executive committee on nomination of the newly chosen national commander at a special meeting, immediately following the adjournment of the convention.

On the entertainment program are a world's championship rodeo, a decision prize fight, a Follies Bergeres show, an air circus, dancing every night on Alamo Plaza and at various organization halls, a Spanish fiesta, side trips to the Mexican border with bull fights and Spanish fiestas and a 12-day tour of Old Mexico.
