TAHOKA MEETS WITH TEE BAR

Good Crowds Attend Joint Program: Tee Bar Is Wide Awake Community

(C. C. Williams, Sec'y C. of C.)

The people of T-Bar were host to the Tahoka Chamber of Commerce last Friday evening at which time a joint program was presented by the people of the two communities. A large crowd was present and an excellent program was rendered. The Tahoka people were very agreeably surprised at the nice up-to-date school house which has recently been built at T-Bar. These people are to be congratulated for the fine civic spirit which they have. A row of young Chinese Elms have been planted around the outer edge of the spacious school grounds and these are being watered during the dry season. It was reported that every tree set out has lived. In a few years T-Bar Community will have the most beautiful school building and ground in Lynn County just because of this forward step toward the beautification of the school grounds.

A fine spirit of cooperation was exemplified by the people of the Community. Mr. J. C. McCarley reported that a committee had been appointed to get the exhibit ready for the Lynn County Fair and that the community would attend the Fair in strong numbers.

The 4-H Club girls of T-Bar were much in evidence, as they served cream and cake, and will use the money to secure and equip a Club Room in the school house which is not being used at present. May the girls secure a beautiful and well equipped room and continue the wonderful work which they are doing.

The program was presided over by Mr. J. C. McCarley of T-Bar and the following program was rendered.

Talks on various phases of co-operation and community building by Rev. Kerchville, County Judge G. C. Grider, Taylor, White, County Agent Ray Shaver and C. C. Williams, secretary of the Tahoka Chamber of Commerce. Secretary J. S. Dowell of the O'Donnell Chamber of Commerce was present and made a short but interesting talk.

The South Plains Quartet, with Mrs. J. K. Applewhite at the piano as usual were applauded and required to sing their third number. Clifton Janak's cow boy songs were greatly appreciated and applauded. Four girls of T-Bar dressed in beautiful Spanish costume sang "Ramona" in Spanish. They sang very beautifully and the song and costume was very interesting. A group of boys entertained the group with a short play in which they illustrated the disgust which some of us have on the road when the air suddenly leaves that piece of fabric and rubber which surrounds the wheel of our automobile. The play was very clever and well acted.

Another indication which shows that the people of Tee Bar community are up and doing is the fact that the men are talking Bull Circles. This is a natural dairy country and the sooner a number of good bull circles are organized in Lynn County the sooner will the people start to building better homes, drive better automobiles and have less debts hanging over them.

Mexicans Tangled In Triangle Affair

A Mexican hombre and a fair senora, the wife of another son of Mexico, are looking through the bars of the Lynn County Jail because of an alleged illicit love affair. Complaint was made Wednesday by the aggrieved hombre that his fellow citizen had won the affections of his wife and eloped with her. The two were found in another part of the county and were brought to Tahoka to answer for their misdeeds. This is a rare offense among Mexicans and the injured hombre was deeply grieved over the affair. Just how it will terminate is yet a matter of much conjecture.

QUATTAQUE'S Chamber of Commerce has reached an agreement with the commissioner's court whereby a portion of the road bond issue of the district will be sold. The local committee is now engaged in endeavoring to secure the desired right of way for the permanent improvement of the lateral roads.

Contest Winner Is Sent To A. & M.

The winner of the Apron Contest being conducted by the women's club members of the county under the supervision and direction of Miss Greenwade will attend the state contest to be held at the A. & M. College soon. Her expenses to the amount of $25.00 will be paid by the Tahoka Chamber of Commerce and the Kiwanis Club, each organization paying half. Action to this effect was taken by the Chamber of Commerce at its meeting Monday night and by the board of directors of the Kiwanis Club Wednesday.

COUNTY GETS ANOTHER RAIN

Hail Damages Some Sections, But County As Whole Is Very Greatly Benefitted

All the south half and a portion of the north half of Lynn County was blessed with another good rain Saturday night. The precipitation in Tahoka amounted to .78 of an inch. The portions of the county visited by rain were those portions which most needed it. Much of the territory east and southeast of Tahoka and part of its southwest of Tahoka was beginning to suffer severely. This rain put all this section in fine shape except a few localities where destructive hail fell.

A small territory out in the New Lynn Community northeast of town, another small territory a few miles southeast of town, and a much larger territory southwest including portions of the Three Lakes, T-Bar, Wells, Newmoore and Pride communities suffered greatly from the hail. A few crops were almost entirely destroyed while many others were badly damaged. W. B. Slaton, cashier of the First National Bank, who made a survey of the country Sunday and Monday, estimates that about ten thousand acres of cotton were badly damaged. Of course, some of this may come out and make good cotton yet, but great temporary damage at least was inflicted.

Possibly the largest hailstones that have fallen in Lynn county for many years, fell Saturday night. Some of these were large enough to break through the roofs of buildings. Several came through the roof of Judge

Discussing Finances At Baptist Church

A series of meetings of a novel character are being held in the Baptist Church at night this week. The meetings are devoted almost exclusively to discussions of the church budget and church finances. On Tuesday night, Rev. M. C. Phipps pastor at Post, spoke. On Wednesday night Mr. J. D. Carrill, educational director of the First Baptist Church of Lubbock, was the speaker. Tonight Rev. B. G. Holloway, pastor at Slaton will speak, and on Friday night Dr. W. R. White, pastor at Lubbock will be the speaker. Good sized crowds are attending and it is believed that the church will be greatly benefitted by these discussions.

Along with the addresses, devotional services are held, special music is rendered, and some local speakers are used.

Test Well Reaches Contract Depth

The steel tape was put to the Ash Syndicate well five miles west of Tahoka Tuesday to determine its depth and it was found to be just 3527 feet to the bottom of the hole. The original contract was to drill to a depth of 3500 feet and the contract has therefore been complied with, but it is understood that the drillers are to proceed with the drilling. Just how much farther they expect to drill the hole we are unable to state.

SECURITY STATE BANK BUILDING BEING REPAIRED

Workmen are now busy placing a new roof on the Security State Bank building. The doors and windows of this structure are also to be worked over, and it is to be repainted inside.

Group Quarterly Conference Was Held Here By Methodists Monday

Aviators Ask That 'Tahoka' be Painted On Court House

At a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce Monday night, it was made known that aviators had requested the secretary to have the name "Tahoka" painted in large letters on the roof of the court house or the tallest building in town. The body decided to take the matters up with the Commissioner's Court with a view to inducing this body to have the request of the aviators complied with.

Dickson Sells Fire Insurance Business

Martin of the new firm comes from Breckenridge, and he will be in charge of the insurance department. The new firm will also do a loan and real estate business, Mr. Glasgow being in charge of the real estate department.

These gentlemen are experienced business men and will be warmly welcomed to the business circles of Tahoka.

Mr. Dickson will remain here and conduct a life insurance business.

WILL PREACH AT DIXIE NEXT SUNDAY AFTERNOON

We are requested to announce that Elder L. A. Nowlin will preach at Dixie in the school auditorium next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Everybody cordially invited.

Kill the Johnson Grass Says Farmer

With a bright prospect for a bumper crop for 1929, we should not overlook the necessity of keeping down the Johnson grass, which is getting scattered all over the county, not only in the fields but also in the bar pits of our public roads. I see that in several counties the commissioners are keeping it mowed down and not letting it go to seed.

I have been very well pleased with the results I got in using burnt lube or coal oil on small bunches. The grass can be killed by keeping it cut off under the ground every two or three weeks and not allowing it to make a joint above the ground.

American Legion To Serve Dutch Lunch

The Marion G. Bradley Post of the American Legion has planned a Dutch lunch to be held at the Legion Hall here next Monday night at 8:30. A splendid program is being prepared and a most enjoyable time is expected. Prof. Taylor White, County Attorney G. H. Nelson, Secretary C. C. Williams, and Rev. B. N. Shepherd are among the speakers listed. All business men are invited and their presence will be greatly appreciated by the Legion boys.

STOCK LAW VOTED IN LAKEVIEW DISTRICT

By a vote of 17 to 0, the people of the Lakeview school district voted last Saturday to adopt the stock law. Hereafter it will be unlawful for any kind of live stock to run at large in that district.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Krebs are the happy parents of a little daughter who made her debut into this world last Friday; name, Nell Jean.

Special School Tax Voted at West Point

The voters of the West Point school district on the west line of the county voted last Saturday in favor of an additional tax of 25 cents on each one hundred dollars property valuation. With the additional funds thus provided it is proposed to either remodel the present building or build an addition to it. The vote was 13 to 0 in favor of the tax.

Community Meeting At Edith Friday

The Tahoka Chamber of Commerce will meet with the people of Edith Friday night. The Edith people are expected to turn out en masse, and a number of Tahoka business men are expected to be present. A good program of music and addresses has been arranged.

At the meeting of the Chamber of Commerce Monday night, it was decided to have these community meetings after this week on Tuesday night instead of Friday, since this night seems to suit the majority of the business men better.

PLAN SIGNS ON HIGHWAY NO. 84

Proper Direction Will Boost Travel Over East and West Highway Through Here

The report of the highway committee was adopted by the board of directors of the Tahoka Chamber of Commerce Monday night recommending that signs be erected at three points on the highways east, designed to direct traffic over highway No. 84. One of these signs is to be erected at Post, one at Snyder, and one near Breckenridge where the two branches of the Bankhead Highway diverge. These signs are to be painted on boards 9 by 12 feet and are to give some useful information to the tourist.

People further east do not know, possibly, that while the most direct route from Fort Worth and Dallas to the Carlsbad Cavern does not lie over Highway No. 84, yet the distance over this route is just slightly greater than that over any other route and taken as a whole it is much the best highway.

Possibly, they do not know, further, that it is the most direct route from Fort Worth, Dallas, and other places in that section of the state to Roswell and the wonderful scenery of the White Mountains, with their play grounds, their Indian reservations, and the yet living relics of the quaint civilization that existed in the Southwest before the coming of the Caucasian.

No. 84 is one of the best highways in the west and from the New Mexico line on to Roswell and further west it is said to be in almost ideal condition.

Members of W. O. W. To Discuss Building

The members of the Woodmen of the World are to meet in the county court room in Tahoka Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock, according to A. R. McGonagill. The purpose of the meeting is to elect new officers and to discuss the matter of building a hall on the lot owned by the Order. The local Camp has quite a sum of money on hand, it is understood, and it is proposed that this money be used in the construction of a hall. All members of the order are urged to attend the meeting Saturday afternoon.

New Currency Now in Circulation Here

We've got new money. Coleman Wells of the Security State Bank traded us five of these little teeny one dollar bills, Wednesday, that Uncle Sam is now putting out, for a perfectly good old-time five-dollar bill that has done good service over many a counter and in many a mart, no doubt. Banker-like, he refused to give us any "boot" and we had to trade even. If these little bills prove to be as skillful in getting away from us as the larger bills have been, we do not expect to be able to swing on to these little fellows long, but may-be there will be others coming our way once in a while.

The new money was released for general circulation Wednesday in denominations of one, two, five, ten, twenty, and one-hundred dollar bills, we believe. The new bills are about half the size, in area, as the old bills and it is claimed that they will be more convenient to handle. It is also claimed that it is less expensive to the Government to put out the small bills. Both banks here are now handling the new currency.

WILL VOTE ON 2 AMENDMENTS

Call For Raise In Governor's Salary and More Members of Supreme Court

On next Tuesday the people of Texas will pass upon two proposed amendments to the constitution, one proposing a raise of the governor's salary from $4,000 to $10,000 annually, the other providing for an increase of members of the supreme court from three to nine and for continuous session of that body.

Ballo's and election supplies have been received by the county judge and are being distributed to the various voting precincts of the county.

The governor's salary was fixed a half century ago, since which time living conditions and expenses have changed greatly. While the governor is the chief officer of our state, yet there are hundreds of officials even in minor positions who draw higher remuneration than the governor does. It is practically impossible for a governor to live on the salary which the office pays. The proposed raise amounts to nothing so far as the additional expense to the people is concerned. If each legal voter in the state would pitch one penny into the hat once every two years, that would take care of the proposed raise in the governor's salary.

The other proposal is to increase our supreme court from three to nine members. This court got so far behind with its work several years ago that a commission of appeals was formed to assist the court in its work. But this commission cannot render final decisions and its work must be duplicated to a large extent by the Court. The Texas Bar Association, which recommended a number of court reform measures, included among them an increase in the membership of the supreme court as proposed in this amendment. Hon. C. M. Cureton, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, recently made an appeal to the people of Texas to vote for this amendment so as to enable the court to do its work in a creditable way.

What the people will do with these two amendments remains to be seen. It is not believed that a heavy vote will be polled. It is an off year politically; there are no candidates to be voted for; and the people are not likely to be wrought up over issues of this kind sufficient to bring out a heavy vote.

No man nor woman should vote blindly either for or against these proposed amendments. Taxpayers should glean all the information possible and be able to give a reason for his vote at any time anywhere. An intelligent, well-informed citizenship is the virtue of a Democracy.

Local C.-C. Favors Peddlers' Ordinance

At a meeting of the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce Monday night that body went on record as favoring an ordinance which would prohibit all peddling in the fire limits of the city. The body does not object to the sale of fruits and vegetables from wagons or cars in the residential districts, but it does favor the barring of peddlers of other goods, wares, and merchandise from the town entirely. These traveling vendors do not reside here, have no financial interest in the town, pay no taxes, and don't assist in any way in the upbuilding of the town or the promotion of any worthy enterprise, yet they use our streets for business purposes free of charge. An exception should be made, possibly, of the fruit vendors, for the reason that there seems to be a genuine demand for this character of business in the town. It is not contemplated nor desired that any farmer be prohibited from selling any of the products of his farm anywhere in town. It is understood that the city council will be petitioned to pass a peddlers' ordinance in line with the above suggestions.

TURKEY is adding the finishing touches to the large 200,000 gallon reservoir for the city the contractor is furnishing the pump houses which complete one of the most modern, up-to-date water supply plants in West Texas.

Edith

The farmers of our community are working hard since the rain to get their crops in good shape again. The rain is fine, although some few crops were damaged greatly by the hail that fell here Saturday night. We are in hopes it will make good yet. It was estimated that three or four inches of rain fell in parts of this community.

Mrs. Jess Osborn went to Lubbock yesterday to undergo an operation for appendicitis. Hope she may get along well.

Well, you know since the big rain people surely have got busy, even to the cooks.

Tommie Greenwood and folks visited his parents at South Ward Saturday night, and they made ice cream and played "42" while it rained. Mr. Boyd and family were there too.—Reporter.

POULTRY HINTS

(Poultry Calendar, Extension Service, Texas A. & M. College)

Any change in feed at this season will be disastrous to profits. Especially should the regular egg mash be continued straight through the summer. Feed grain only slightly at night, forcing the flock to eat at least three pounds of mash to each two pounds of grain. Retard the molting with a wet mash at noon, using the regular egg mash mixed to a crumbly consistency with milk or water. Feed two to three pounds per 100 birds. Chopped up green feed may well be mixed with the mash.

Abundance of succulent green feed is very essential in maintaining production during hot weather. Lack of green feed will encourage early molting. Much of the trouble with summer colds and roup is due to absence of green feed. Early planted green stuff such as Sudan and peas is apt to be old, tough and stemmy by this time, so mow off the range and allow new growth to start.

July is a good month to caponize April hatched cockerels. This will allow them to mature for a good price in late season.

All pullets should be culled in July. Watch them closely and remove and sell the small late, maturing pullets that have little chance of development into healthy, vigorous hens. Keep pullet flock on range. March-hatched pullets should not be pushed with heavy mash feeding, but should be retarded so they will come in production late enough to avoid molting. Don't follow any fad in culling. Consider all points that go to make up a good bird.

Mites and bluebugs increase with hot weather. Examine cracks about the roosting quarters for them and take immediate control steps if they are found to be present.

The poultry house ventilators should be left wide open during the day and night to avoid heat prostration.

Feed broody hens in the broody coop just like you feed the layers. Feed wet mash at noon with slight laxative. Broody hens that are not fed properly will remain out of production longer than is necessary.

Standard production for July is fifteen eggs.

Lubbock Brick-Mason Says He Feels Better Than the Past 20 Years Since Taking Orgatone

"Yes Sir, I would go before a notary any time and testify to the wonderful benefits I have received from Orgatone," said James E. Riddle of 1020 Fifteenth St., Lubbock, Texas. Mr. Riddle is one of the best known stone cutters and brick masons in this section.

"My health has been badly broken up for the past twenty years. I was in a general run down condition and suffered from some ailment or other all the time. I had headaches continually, my stomach was out of order and I was nervous, weak and dizzy. Sometimes I was bothered with indigestion, so bad, that I could hardly stand it. Gas formed on my stomach and pained me so bad that I felt that I would die. I had awful pains in my sides and back and was so nervous I just couldn't get a good night's rest.

"I reckon I took fifty different kinds of medicine trying to get relief but nothing did me any good and no one can realize what terrible feelings I had unless they had the same troubles I had. I read an advertisement for Orgatone and a friend of mine advised me to try it and I am certainly very grateful for the results I have received. I feel better than I have for the past twenty years and am enjoying about as much good health as anybody. My suffering is gone, my appetite is splendid, and my stomach trouble seems to be a thing of the past. Before taking Orgatone I wasn't able to work but two or three days a week but now I work every day and feel fine. Things are different with me now and I feel that I wouldn't be doing the right thing not to tell others about the medicine I have reaped so much benefit from.

Genuine Orgatone may be obtained in Tahoka, Texas, at Thomas Bros. Drug Co.

Arkansas Convinced Since His Childhood That "Black-Draught Can't Be Beaten" For It.

West Helena, Ark.—"I am fifty-two years of age, and I have taken Black-Draught, when needed, all my life," writes Mr. C. L. Smith, of 203 North Third Street, this city.

"When I was just a child, my mother made Black-Draught tea, and gave it to me for colds and biliousness. It was a family medicine with us.

"After I was grown and went out on the farm, working hard, I would get a dull, tired feeling and a bad taste in my mouth. I would know then, that I was bilious. I would take a few doses of Black-Draught, and soon feel good as new.

"In later years, I have taken Black-Draught and it has helped me for constipation and biliousness, and I am still of the same belief, as when a child, that Black-Draught can't be beaten.

"Thousands of men and women find Black-Draught of great help in relieving the common ailments, due to constipation, biliousness and indigestion.

Fijians Convinced of Devil in Automobile

Although the automobile is steadily gaining in popularity in the Fiji Islands it encountered great fear and superstition on the part of the natives when first introduced. The first self-propelled vehicle was used in the colony in 1903 by an American, who was touring the islands. This car was viewed with awe by the inhabitants, being considered the contraption of a madman, and conservative residents suggested that the owner be deported as a dangerous character.

The second car made its appearance in 1907, destined for the wife of the mayor of Suva. A liveried chauffeur was provided, and it is not known which created the greater stir, the vehicle or its driver. One day the owner found under the machine several bushmen, poking about and exploring the mysteries. Explanations revealed that the Fijians had held a conference about the new vehicle that lacked visible means of locomotion and had concluded that the affair was nothing less than a devil wagon; therefore, partly out of kindness to the owner and partly to prevent the escape of the devil into the bush and into the villages, the "devil doctors" constituted themselves a committee to study this weird thing and to exterminate its concealed monster.

Age Not Determined by Number of Years Lived

I must confess that I have arrived at the time of life when I do not like to be asked how old I am. What in the dickens do the number of years matter?

Many of us old-stagers are really as young as the lads in the air force. At least, that's the way we feel.

Youth is not a time of life. It is a state of mind. It is determined by how you think and how you feel.

Recently, I met a young man of twenty-eight who was full of fears. His brain had become static. He seemed to be vaccinated against new ideas. I am twice his age, but I contend that I am younger than he is.

A few gray hairs don't matter. A few wrinkles don't matter, especially if they are around the eyes, and not around the mouth.

The main thing is not to have wrinkles on your brain. Nor your heart. Nor your soul.

As long as a man keeps going and jumps out of bed every morning with a smile, he is young.—Herbert N. Casson in Forbes Magazine.

Violin East and West

A leading music house says: "We have no record of ever having heard of the Chinese making a violin, and the instruments made by the Japs are of the very cheap commercial quality. The violin took root in Japan during the World war. Since the peace Germany and France have furnished practically all of the cheap instruments for America, and the Japs are out of the picture. We have no records of any well-known Russian makers. However, the violin is an extremely popular instrument all through eastern Europe, and doubtless thousands of them have been constructed in Russia, and perhaps there are some good makers there. None of them, however, seems to have been outstanding."—Washington Star.

Art's Definition

Shakespeare had not art? He was had by art; compelled and held by it. And by that holding and compulsion we get a vision of what art is: not a system, not a set of rules which perchance Aristotle might teach us, or another Greek, but a changing, growing form-compelling power that is individual, but at its greatest expresses an age. This was the great age of English, never repeated in its aggregate of color, wealth, diction and power of words.—Henry Chester Tracy, in "English as Experience."

The Foods We Eat

A commission man, "shopping" in New York city found produce from Mexico, honeydew melons from South Africa, fresh almonds from the Holy Land, new potatoes from Florida, green peas and asparagus from California, butter from Denmark, eggs from China, meats from New Zealand and Argentina.

That's what modern transportation and cold storage refrigeration does for us.—Capper's Weekly.

Dows in Rio

That a Frenchman in a new country will open a cafe, a German a general store, and a Briton a bank, has long been an axiom regarding the men of those races in foreign lands. That regarding the Briton might be amended by stating that along with the bank goes the Church of England. Here in Rio, says a correspondent, which is a city of churches, an English church has been the meeting place for the British community for 110 years.

Singing Promotes Health

"If you want to be healthy sing as often as possible," advises a French doctor, who has experimented with cases of overexcitement and sympathetic nerves. He says that when patients were kept in a cheerful mood, singing gay music, the equilibrium of the nervous system was restored in a few weeks, and badly damaged appetites began to reappear with full force.

CONGRESSMAN MARVIN JONES SPEAKS AT KIWANIS LUNCHEON

Congressman Marvin Jones of Amarillo was guest of the Kiwanis Club at its luncheon Wednesday, and upon invitation addressed the members for about twenty minutes. He chose for his subject, The Constitution, devoting most of his time to a recital of the circumstances surrounding its adoption, calling attention to the discouragements that beset those who participated in the Constitutional Convention that formed it and the apathy of the people and even of the delegates to the Convention with respect to the success of the new government established by it.

There were seventy-two accredited delegates to the convention Mr. Jones stated, but not more than fifty-five were present at any one time. It was ten days or two weeks after the time set for the convention before a sufficient number of delegates arrived to constitute a quorum. The convention was in session eighty-three working days, during which time many acrimonious debates occurred. At its close, only 42 members were present and only 39 signed the document. Many of these did so with many doubts and misgivings as to its efficiency and permanency. Benjamin Franklin, then 81 years of age, seemed to be the most sanguine of the entire group. He predicted that under this constitution the new nation would grow to be the greatest in all the world. Soon after the ratification of the constitution by the states, ten amendments were adopted, Mr. Jones pointed out. These constitute what is known as the Bill of Rights and are to all intents and purposes part of the original document. Two other amendments were adopted in 1801 or 1802.

The thoroughness and brilliancy with which the members of his convention did their work is attested by the fact that for a hundred years afterward it was not found necessary to adopt a single amendment except the three amendments adopted during the Civil War period relating to the negro, Mr. Jones pointed out.

In 1913, the Income Tax Amendment and the amendment providing for election of U. S. Senators by vote of the people instead of legislatures of the respective states were adopted. Then came the Eighteenth Amendment relating to the liquor traffic and the Nineteenth Amendment providing for Woman Suffrage.

Since the adoption of this constitution, magic changes have been wrought, but under its benign provisions the United States has grown to be the greatest nation in all the world, Mr. Jones thinks that our country will continue to flourish and bless the world for many years yet to come, in spite of the direful predictions of a calamity howler now and then. Mr. Jones stated that some years ago one of these made a characteristic calamity speech on the floor of the House. For thirty minutes or more he decried the condition that existed and predicted the speedy downfall of the Republic. At its close, Uncle Joe Cannon arose and after complimenting the gentlemen's efforts remarked that he had been hearing this kind of speeches for 30 years but as for him he thought the United States Government was a "hell of a success."

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC.
Any erroneous reflection upon the reputation or standing of any individual, firm or corporation, that may appear in the columns of the News, will be gladly corrected when called to your attention.

It is remarkable how a single individual or a mere handful of men may sometimes unwittingly change the whole course of history. As we were celebrating the one hundred fifty-third anniversary of the birth of our country, we could not help but speculate what the history of the world might have been during this century and a half had George the Third and the British Parliament adopted a conciliatory instead of a hostile course toward the American Colonies. If George the Third had been wise and sympathetic instead of perverse, and if Parliament had never passed the Stamp Act and other unjust and tyrannical measures, there never would have been a Boston Tea Party, nor a Battle of Lexington and Concord, nor a Bunker's Hill, nor a Yorktown. There would have been no Patrick Henry delivering his fiery Philippic against the British Government; no Thomas Jefferson penning that immortal document, the Declaration of Independence; no George Washington leading, barefooted, untrained, but patriotic soldiers in a successful rebellion against the tyranny of the Mother Country; no new nation born on the Western Continent; dedicated to the proposition that all men are born equal before the law; no Constitution of the United States, which that great English statesman, Gladstone declared to be the greatest document ever struck off at a single time by the brain and ingenuity of man. Without a Patrick Henry, a Washington, a Jefferson, what would our country have been? It would have been great any way. Independence of the Mother country possibly would have come at some other time and in some other way, but whether it had ever come or not it is unthinkable that there should not have been a great and powerful people on this virgin continent. But it is strange how the fool-hardiness of a handful of men resulted in the setting up of a new nation which in time should become the greatest and best the world has ever known.

July 4th has been gone a week but it is not too late for a few remarks about its observance. One who has lived as much as forty or fifty years must note the wonderful difference in the way in which this day is observed out on these plains now and the way it was observed back in the old home town or the old home community a generation ago. Without fail there was the Fourth of July picnic, with speeches suitable to the occasion, with lemonade stands scattered over the picnic grounds, and usually a "flying jenny" making things merry among the young folks. If it was a political year, the candidates were there in great numbers and sometimes there were joint discussions between opposing candidates. The Fourth of July is still observed in somewhat the same fashion back in the "sticks", where groves and shade and spring water are plentiful, but we rarely experience anything similar to this out on these plains. Automobile races and aviation stunts are now offered as about the only attractions. A return to the old type of Fourth of July celebration is practically impossible out on these plains because of the lack of shade trees. But why not have something similar to this on a small scale next year in our city park? Why not set it out in grass and have a carpet of green over the entire park? The trees are becoming large enough to furnish some shade and much beauty. Watered liberally and abundantly, this park twelve months hence ought to be one of the most beautiful spots of the plains. We do not believe the expense would be prohibitive, either. We are for the constant improvement of these things and then for the use of them to the people of this city.

Governor Moody disapproved the White House Tea resolution adopted recently by the Texas legislature in so far as it might "be reasonably construed as a personal criticism of the wife of the President of the United States" and in so far as it undertook to upbraid officially Southern Democrats for voting for Hoover last fall. He brusquely declined to have any part in any criticism of the first lady of the land, and he asserted that every citizen had the right to vote as he pleased and that the legislature had no right to upbraid any one for doing so. Governor Moody is eminently correct. What business of the legislature is it as to how you vote? When was the legislature authorized as the official adviser of the people of Texas as to how they should exercise their right of suffrage? Who constituted the legislature the keeper of the public conscience at the ballot box? Governor Moody approved the resolution in so far as "it condemns customs that bring the two races into contact upon the same social plane." In this, he was right again. There is a racial and social barrier between the Caucasian and the Negro, erected by God Almighty and we believe that this difference should be recognized and respected in our official and diplomatic functions. To ignore this barrier at these functions is to augment race hatreds rather than allay them and to invite racial trouble.

Up in New York a couple of weeks ago an aviator was pulling some stunts with two passengers aboard, when he lost control of his machine and it crashed to the earth, killing him and the two passengers. Later a chemist made an analysis of the vital organs and announced that he found a large amount of alcohol in the dead aviator's stomach, liver, kidneys and brain and his conclusion was that the aviator was "very drunk at the time of his death." Stultz was a noted aviator and had the reputation of being an unusually careful pilot, we are told. But he took a few drinks and liquor did its deadly work. Now an investigation has been started with a view to making a drive against local speakeasies, "which are said to supply liquor to aviators." Why not repeal the Prohibition laws and convert all the "speakeasies" into open saloons where aviators can buy and drink liquor to the heart's content. Shouldn't they have the personal liberty to do so?

The legislature and Governor Moody are to be commended for repealing the "Evidence" section of the Search and Seizure law enacted during the Ferguson regime. We have long contended that this law was a monstrosity. That any credible evidence should be withheld from the jury in the trial of any case on the sole ground that it was not procured in the right way has always seemed to us to be an absurd proposition. This law was enacted at the behest of those who were seeking to cripple the enforcement of prohibition, but it had a much wider application than that. It could be invoked frequently in the trial of other serious crimes, such as murder and theft, and it was a thorn in the flesh on numerous occasions to conscientious officers striving to enforce the law and to mete out justice. All honor to Moody and the legislature for the repeal of this statute.

BILL, YOU'RE GETTING OLD.
After watching a few hundred tourists patching tires, doctoring boiling radiators, erecting tents and making camp for the night, getting on wrong roads, having their sugar can occupied by ants and losing half their equipment, we have decided that it is pleasanter to stay at home under an electric fan and take our vacation in the fall and winter when temperatures are lower and one can put on enough clothes to keep warm. We'd rather freeze in a duck blind than roast in a touring car.—Garland News.

Bill, we know you hate to admit it, but you're getting old. You will remember when you used to slip off from dad and go swimmin'. There were no thermometers in those days—it was too hot, they couldn't live. You jumped in the swimming hole in the boiling sun. You came out with blisters as large as the palm of your hand. When you got home you had stone bruises on your heels, had knocked the nail off your little toe and stuck a thorn in the middle of your foot. Then the spots on your hide that didn't have blisters, your dad filled in the vacancies with applying a supple. We may never ride in an airplane but he dogged it we will allow ourselves to get so old we won't enjoy lying flat on our back and let Old Sol shoot his beams down on our shining countenance at the degree point of 106 in the shade while we are changing a punctured tire on our summer vacation. That would be exceedingly cool pleasure along side of the job the weekly editor performs getting out his paper.—Graham Leader.

On July 16 there are two amendments to the Texas Constitution to be voted upon, both of which should have the support of the people of the state. One of these will speed up the process of the law in this state by increasing the number of judges in the state's supreme court and making possible a twelve-month term of the court instead of a nine-month term as now required by the constitution. Undoubtedly, the cost of the change would be immaterial and would greatly reduce the injustices resulting from the law's delay under the present system. The other amendment would increase the governor's salary from $4,500 per year to $16,000. This is desirable because it would provide a living wage for the governor of the state and make it practical for a citizen, not possessed of great wealth, to serve as chief executive without ruinous sacrifice. It seems to us there are no reasonable arguments against either of these proposed changes, and Texas should adopt them as befitting the changed conditions that have come about in our state.—Hamilton Herald Record.

We want to warn the people of the Rotan country not to get too optimistic over the three-inch rain this week. Well, now the rain gauge measured only 1.25 inches, but the cloudy, misty weather through Tuesday was equal to another inch rain in general benefit and the heavy dew Tuesday night surely equalled another three-quarters of an inch. This was a fine rain, but we are too conservative to state that it is going to guarantee the biggest crop in all history. We don't expect the rain to insure a bale and a half or two bales an acre for cotton. We think our people should not expect more than a bale to the acre on the present prospects. Of course if we have another rain as good as the one the first of the week there is no telling how much the farms of Fisher county will produce this year. But in talking about our crop prospects, and especially when talking with strangers, let's get together on about a bale to the acre so they'll come nearer believing us. We don't claim Fisher county is the best place on earth—it's just the best place we ever heard of.—Rotan Advance.

Statistics give the population of America as third in the world. And we are increasing all the while. This means that this country can not afford to let up for a single moment on its education plans and programs. An educated populace is a prosperous contented one. A Nation of ignoramus is a place where anarchy prevails, where all government is despised and where ruin takes the place of construction and prosperity. With the coming of people into America from all countries it is very necessary that the matter of mind training be carefully looked after. Proper education makes for patriotism, and it is upon this foundation only that any Nation can base a hope for permanency.—Paducah Post.

Land Commissioner Robinson has at last been exonerated by our law-making bodies on the charge that were filed against him. The vote was more than two to one in his favor. He has received much criticism since this trial has been in progress. Perhaps no one will ever know for sure that any of the charges were just, but it should be a warning to the rest of the officials to watch their step. An editorial appeared in one Texas paper saying that the office he held did not pay sufficient salary and that many of our officers had to work some scheme to get more money if they were to live as they should. That argument was very poor. If the office did not pay enough to support Mr. Robinson, then he should not have accepted it.—Paducah Post.

It won't be long now, maybe only a matter of days, until Miami citizens who are lucky enough to get hold of a piece of paper money will find it considerably reduced in size. The government has started the distribution of its newer and smaller treasury notes and almost before we know it the old size will have disappeared. We wish we could assure everybody that the new bills even though smaller, will buy still more. But that isn't going to be the case. And as far as we know now they are going to be just as hard to get hold of as the old ones were. But it still remains the best money on earth, and the most sought after. The government will save several million dollars each year from the smaller bills in paper and printing costs.—Miami Chief.

WHAT OTHERS THINK

Governor Moody has signed the repeal of certain features of the search and seizure law which hindered the apprehension of bootleggers and those in possession of liquor. Thus an infamous law passed by careless legislature has been removed from the path of law enforcement and the cordon draws tighter on those who flout the eighteenth amendment and the state liquor laws. —Clarendon News.

In a few days Texas voters will be called to decide whether or not the supreme court will be augmented in numbers in order to hasten the administration of justice and equity in this state. At this election will also be submitted the matter of raising the governor's salary from $4,000 to $10,000 per year. These two matters the voters of Texas should have attended to years ago and we hope they will pass both measures this month. We certainly need to speed up court action, and the salary of our governor is a reflection on the citizenship of the Lone Star State. —Clarendon News.

SLATON TO HAVE OLD SETTLERS' REUNION

SLATON, Texas, July 9th.—Plans are practically complete for holding the three days' Old Settlers' Reunion, July 18, 19 and 20, at the old Igo Ranch, five miles north of Slaton, in the Yellowhouse Canyon. This is announced by H. L. (Bud) Johnston, former Lubbock County sheriff, one of the ranch owners.

The three-day program of entertainment will include swimming, fishing, boating, rodeo performances, many kinds of sports, buffalo riding, pony racing, a terrapin derby, band concerts, public speaking and other forms of diversion.

Extensive improvements on the 5,300 acres ranch, which is a natural playground, furnish excellent facilities for entertaining the several thousands of West Texas who are expected to attend, Johnston said. Included among the visitors will be hundreds of old timers, he announced, after receiving scores of letters from all parts of West Texas.

SOY BEANS WILL NOT FLAVOR MILK

No Undesirable Effects Are Found in Illinois Test.

(By W. R. NEVENS, University of Illinois.)

Complaints that the feeding of soy bean hay or ground soy beans as dairy rations affected the flavor of milk, cream, and butter to such an extent that the products were either not suitable or their market value was lowered, reached the department of husbandry during the past year. These complaints originated in several different counties in the state, showing that the trouble was not confined to one locality.

Experiments, therefore, were undertaken to learn the cause of the trouble and, if possible, a remedy for it. Three groups of eight cows were fed during six consecutive weekly periods on rations consisting of either red clover hay or soy bean hay, and a concentrate mixture with or without ground soy beans. The ground soy beans formed from 30 to 25 per cent of the mixture. The milk produced was used in studies of flavor and composition, and butter was made from the cream.

Neither high-quality soy bean hay nor poor quality, moldy soy bean hay was found to have any effect upon the flavor of the milk (raw or pasteurized) skim milk, cream, or butter. Ground soy beans were likewise without effect upon flavor. The fat content of the milk was affected but slightly, and the acidity was not changed appreciably. Marked differences in cream volume were noted, but these seemed to be associated with individual cows.

The most pronounced effects of the rations were upon the body of the butter. Ground soy beans changed the body to be gummy and the condition became worse when the proportion of soy beans in the ration was increased. Soy bean hay had a similar effect but to a less degree. There was a tendency for the iodine number to increase slightly with the larger amounts of soy beans in the ration.

While the effects of soy beans upon the body of the butter were not serious, the score of the body of this butter was 1 to 1 1/2 points lower than that of the butter produced by the ration without soy beans. The studies of this problem are being continued, and it is hoped to be able to combine some feed with soy beans which will overcome the great measure the undesirable effects upon the body of the butter.

Cream Producing Cows Return Monthly Income

When properly fed and cared for the cream producing cow will return a sure profitable income each month in the year. On farms where only one or two cash crops are grown such an income is badly needed to meet the operating expenses of the farm while the cash crops are being grown and marketed. A good average cow when properly fed, will produce 600 gallons of milk annually containing 222 pounds of butterfat. This milk at 30 cents per gallon an average wholesale price, is worth $180. The manure from this cow is worth $20 per year as a fertilizer, making a total income of $200. Where a milk market is not available the butterfat from this cow, at 49 cents per pound, will bring $22.80, when sold to a creamery for butter making, and the skim milk left on the farm is worth $25, as a calf, chicken and pig feed.

Dairy Facts

- Fresh land is scarce where cows are abundant.
Ship cream at least three times a week in hot weather.
Dull knives in the ensilage cutter increase the power requirement about 50 per cent.
Had you ever thought that scouring of calves may be caused by a lack of scrubbing feet pads?
Good breeding and good feeding go hand in hand. Success depends upon combination of the two.
Cold drafts are responsible for pneumonia, garget, etc. Ventilation should be provided without drafts.
The safest method for one man to lead a bull is with a staff. This applies with equal force to the gentle and the cross bull.
Feed flavors enter milk mainly through the body of the cow and not by absorption from the surrounding atmosphere.
Feed flavors and odors produced in milk usually show a decrease in intensity four hours after feeding and practically disappear in seven hours.
Highly flavored feeds may be fed immediately after milking without seriously affecting the flavor and odor of the milk produced at the next milking.

I Am the Master Salesman

Lo, the people of the earth do me homage. I am the herald of success for men, merchants, manufacturers, municipalities and nations.

I go forth to tell the world the message of service and sound merchandise. And the world listens when I speak.

There was a day long ago, when by sheer weight of superior merit, a business could rise above the common level without me, but that day has passed into oblivion.

For those who have used me as their servant I have gathered untold millions into their coffers.

I Sell More Merchandise—

per dollar of salary paid me than any other salesman on the face of the earth. The fabled lamp of Aladdin never called to the service of its master genii half so rich and powerful as I am, to the man who keeps me on the payroll.

I Hold the Business—of the Seasons in the hollow of my hand. I command the legions of fashion, mold the styles and lead the world wherever I go. I drive unprincipled business to cover, and sound the death-knell to inferior merchandise. Frauds are afraid of me because I march in the broad light of day.

Whoever Makes Me Their Servant—

for life takes no chances on drawing down dividends from my untold treasures bestowed with a lavish hand.

I have awakened and inspired nations, sent millions of men to fight the battles of freedom beyond the seas; and raised billions of dollars to foot the bills. Nations and kings pay me homage and the business world bows at my feet.

I sow broad fields for you to reap a golden harvest.

Louisiana Lady States That The First Bottle of Cardui She Took, Helped Her.

Montgomery, La.—"I was in a dreadfully run-down condition," says Mrs. Charles L. Lacroix, of this city. "I suffered a great deal of pain. I was in misery all over. I could not sit up and I could not lie down. I couldn't sleep and at times I would have dreadful vomiting spells. The aches and pains seemed to cover my whole body."

"I had taken Cardui, off and on, since 1903. It had always done me good, so when I got in this bad condition, I thought I would take it again."

"One night, my husband brought me home six bottles of Cardui and I began to take it. I could tell that I was improving from the first bottle, but I kept on taking the medicine, for I knew that I needed a tonic that would build me up and strengthen me where I was weak and run-down. That is exactly what Cardui did for me. After I had finished the sixth bottle I felt fine. I feel truly thankful for what Cardui has done for me, for I could not have gone on living in the desperate condition I was in."

Cardui is a harmless extract of valuable medicinal herbs, and acts as a strengthening tonic. NC-200

C. C. Williams says that he has located the champion milk cow of Lynn county. At least he believes this cow to be the champion. She belongs to G. C. Lindley out in the Edith community. During eight days recently she produced 409 pounds of milk, Mr. Williams says. This would be 51 pounds or about six gallons per day. The calf is about six weeks old. If we had a thousand cows like that in Lynn county, this land would literally flow with milk and honey provided somebody would furnish the honey.

LITTLE MILK IS NEEDED FOR CALF

Youngster Is Early Taught to Eat Hay and Grain.

Although whole milk is often regarded as being the main source of feeding, it is no longer necessary to be hantaged in raising an animal enough calves on dairy farms to take care of replacements in the herd.

For feeders and animal husbandmen have found that they can raise thirty calves successfully and use only about 275 pounds of suitable whole milk in doing it.

The general method of feeding calves is practically the same for all dairy breeds, reports J. V. Russell in charge of the work at the Wisconsin College of Agriculture. The calf is given a start on whole milk for a few weeks and during this time is taught to eat hay and concentrate. Thirty calves are then gradually taken off the milk and equipped on concentrates, hay water and salt.

But, in their experiments, Russell and his associates have also found that one schedule was most successful for Holsteins and Brown Swiss, while another schedule had to be worked out for Jerseys, Guernseys and Jerseys.

The method the workers found best for the Holsteins and Brown Swiss was to leave the calf with the mother for three days and then to pull feed whole milk by gradually getting the calf to take by the end of the first week, nine pounds until it was six weeks old, and then the allowance was gradually reduced until, at the end of the seventh week, no milk was fed.

The process for the other three breeds was slightly more complicated. The calves were left with the mother for three to four days and then were pulled fed at the rate of six pounds daily for two weeks, when the amount was increased to seven pounds daily for five weeks. After the calves were seven weeks old, the milk was reduced gradually until at nine weeks no milk was fed.

Because the calves must get along without milk, it was found that it is necessary that the feeds given be highly palatable and nutritious. The protein supply must be especially liberal, and so the concentrates need to carry a high proportion of protein rich feeds. The experts also found that the hay needs to be of the highest quality obtainable, preferably clover or alfalfa.

Dehorning Calves Best Done While Still Young

The best way to dehorn calves is to use caustic potash when the calves are about one week old.

When the calf is a week old the horns may be detected as small buttons or scars which are covered with hair. To remove the scars, clip the hair over and around them, then take a stick of caustic potash, moisten it and rub vigorously until the buttons are red and bleed appears about to ooze through.

The stick of potash should be wrapped in paper at one end so that the hands of the operator are not injured and only a small amount of water should be used so that it will not run down over the calf's head. If the water from the stick of caustic or from the horns is allowed to run, it will either injure the eyes or take off the hair. If a small amount of vasoline is rubbed around the hair surrounding the buttons it will aid in preventing any injury to the skin adjacent to the horns.

Calves should be kept in stanchions or separated from other calves while they are being treated and for a few days afterwards. Then any remaining caustic may be washed off and the place greased with oil.

Inefficient Separator Is Extravagant Waste

An inefficient cream separator is an extravagant waste. Separators normally lose about 25 of 1 per cent of butterfat into the skim milk, but when the loss amounts to as much as 35 per cent, this excess makes itself sharply felt in the cream check. In a herd of twenty 400-pound cows, a separator out of adjustment to this extent would bring about a loss of something like 225 pounds of butterfat annually. Figure this at the prevailing prices for butterfat and the total is not to be sneezed at.

Through frequent tests of the separator this loss may be controlled. It is by stopping the small leaks that the dairymen can boost the margin of profit.

Withholding Salt

At the Wisconsin experiment station some milk cows, well fed otherwise, were given no salt for periods as long as a year. After two or three weeks the cows showed abnormal appetite for salt, but the health of the cows was not noticeably influenced for a much longer time. But finally a complete breakdown occurred, accompanied with complete loss of appetite, rough coat, and a rapid decline in both weight and amount of milk given.

His Life Dedicated to Fight on Tuberculosis

Dr. Edward Livingston Trudeau, the pioneer in the modern treatment of tuberculosis in America, was himself a sufferer from the disease. In spite of his illness, however, he did much experimental work as well as diagnosis and treatment. Dr. J. A. Myers, a health magazine, observes that perhaps nothing in the whole field of medicine in the last fifty years has done so much directly and indirectly to relieve suffering and extend the years of usefulness of so many people as the principles that this physician laid down at the sanatorium at Saranac Lake.

It was Trudeau who opened the first laboratory for the study of tuberculosis in America. It was he who first arranged the principles of tuberculosis immunity. It was he who did the first experimental work in tuberculosis in this country. It was he who first stained and visualized the tubercle bacillus in this country. It was he who built that pioneer sanatorium at Saranac Lake which has treated more than 4,500 patients and today stands in the front rank of such institutions.

Sacred Stone of Erin Lodged in Cathedral

The ancient Clugi-Oir stone from which Clugher, Ireland, is said to have derived its name, has, with the consent of the bishop of Clugher, been placed in the vestibule of St. Macarum's cathedral, to preserve it from the weather. The Clugi-Oir stone is said to have been one of the three sacred stones of Erin, the others being the Liff Fall, or Stone of Feasting, which rests under the coronation chair in Westminster abbey, and the Great Clough, which is supposed to have been before St. Patrick. This famous stone which has hitherto rested against the north wall of the cathedral, was visited at one time by Concorde MacVessa, high king of Ulster. Canon Maguire, who wrote a commentary on the register of Clugher in 1490, states: "This sacred stone was preserved on the right of the entrance into the church, and traces of the gold with which it has been covered by the worshippers of the 16th Desmond Conestable are still visible."

Early Street Lighting

Some form of artificial light must have been in use for domestic purposes from the very earliest times, but though large cities and a high state of civilization existed among the Egyptians, Greeks and Romans, the systematic lighting of streets was unknown to them. From the writings of Lbanus, however, who lived in the beginning of the Fourth century after Christ, we may conclude that the streets of his native city, Antioch, were lighted by lamps, and Edessa, in Syria, was similarly illuminated about A. D. 300. Of modern cities Paris was the first to light its streets, in the beginning of the sixteenth century it was much infested with robbers and inventories, so that the inhabitants were ordered in 1524 to keep lights burning after nine o'clock in the evening before all houses fronting a street.

Louisiana Purchase

In the treaty providing for the Louisiana Purchase there was no definition of the boundaries of the territory. When the American commissioners insisted upon a definition of the extent, they were informed that the boundaries were the same as they had been when the land was in the hands of the French, that is, according to Barthelemy's original treaty of cession. It included Louisiana west of the Mississippi, Arkansas, Missouri, Iowa, Minnesota, most of the Redoubt, the Indian Territory, Wyoming, Nebraska, most of Kansas, Indian Territory and Colorado east of the Rocky mountains.

Famous Building

The Mormon tabernacle in Salt Lake City is 250 feet long by 130 feet wide and 80 feet high, and seats from 6,000 to 8,000 people. Its self-supporting roof rests on pillars or buttresses of red sandstone, which are from ten to twelve feet apart. In the entire circumference of the building, no nails were used in making the roof, the timbers being tied in place with rawhide and held together with wooden pegs. It was begun in 1863. In its shape the Mormon tabernacle is a perfect ellipse.

River Divides States

The north bank of the Ohio river is the northern boundary of the state of Kentucky, the exact boundary line being fixed by the low-water mark of the river. The jurisdiction of the state of Kentucky extends to the low-water mark in the Indiana side. The United States government has jurisdiction over the whole river, as far as commerce is concerned. According to the Constitution the federal government has a right to regulate commerce, and the Ohio river is the commercial highway.

Expect Immigrants To South Plains

A. E. Davis, the wide-awake secretary of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, who has been directing an advertising campaign for the entire South Plains section the past several months, was a visitor in Tahoka Tuesday and in a conversation with a representative of the News he expressed the belief that there would possibly be a thousand families moving to this part of the state within the next few months. The response to the advertising campaign which he has been directing has been wonderful. Thousands of inquiries have come to him about this section as a result of the advertising run in a number of popular magazines.

Mr. Davis is exceedingly anxious that a good impression be made on these immigrants and prospectors when they come into our midst, and while he says that the people of these south plains are the friendlier and most hospitable in the world, he thinks it vitally important that they show themselves, unconditionally hospitable to the stranger that may come among us this summer and fall. He is therefore sponsoring a movement at this time to have everybody on the entire south plains, to cultivate a spirit of friendliness and hospitality to the stranger. The banker, the lawyer, the doctor, the merchant, the hotel proprietor, the cafe operator, the hamburger man, the cook, the barber, the sanitation engineer, everybody, should be as polite and as obliging to a stranger as a neighbor on the night before election, Davis thinks.

Davis is a live wire and he has a lot of good ideas as a New South Plains man in all of his activities. He is one that all of us should know.

LEGION HOLDS DUTCH LUNCH

Legionnaires and Business Men Enjoy Luncheon of Paying Club

A number of O'Donnell citizens and residents of other sections of the county in addition to a large number of Tahoka people attended the Dutch Lunch given by the Marine G. Bradley Post of the American Legion at the Legion Hall Monday night. Money for the occasion was furnished by Messrs. Wittington and Morris. The lunch itself was much enjoyed by all present.

Post Commander Emmet Fleming made a few opening remarks and introduced Trust Smith as the master of ceremonies, who made a most excellent talk as introductory to the main program.

Joe Estabro followed with a report of the purposes of the meeting, reading the preamble to the Legion Constitution, explaining the purposes of the organization, setting forth some of the accomplishments of the Marine G. Bradley Post, stating that the local organization had purchased the building in which the meeting was being held some time ago for use of the Legion and other civic organizations, that $2,500 cash had been paid for that about $6,000 in contributions on the building and appealing to the people of Tahoka for financial and moral support in paying for the building.

C. E. Hagan followed, praising the American Legion and declaring that the people of Tahoka must see to it that its property be not sacrificed. He suggested some ways of raising sufficient funds to meet the obligations against it. He pledged himself to do everything in reason to help pay off the indebtedness.

Judge C. C. Grider substituted for J. P. Weatherly, who was unable to be present. He was supposed to furnish a little fun for the occasion and he fulfilled his mission well.

"The American Legion as a Community Asset" was the subject of the address by the editor for discussion. He explained the principles for which the American Legion stands as outlined in the Preamble of its Constitution, recalled some of the accomplishments of the local post, and appealed to those present to give the organization their whole-hearted support, financially and morally.

Ray, M. L. H. Hagan was the last speaker on the program. He highly commended the purposes of the organization, and expressed surprise at the accomplishments of the local Post. He appealed to the members not to be content heretofore in giving publicity to their achievements. He had never before heard the principles of the organization set forth nor had he given heed to the accomplishments of the local organization as recited by Mr. Weatherly and others. He thought more publicity should be given the work of the Legion. He also made some suggestions as to paying off the indebtedness the Legion Hall.

The officials of the organization expressed themselves as being highly gratified at the interest shown by the business men of Tahoka in their work. It appears that a better day for the organization in Tahoka is about to dawn.
