Many Boy Scouts Advanced At Meet Held Here On Last Friday Night

Last Friday night the Boy Scout troops 21 and 40 of Tahoka held a Court of Honor under the direction of the President of the South Plains Area Council, Mr. L. G. H. Williams. Although the cold weather reduced the number of advances, a fair attendance was there. There were about fifteen or twenty boys present, and the following officials: Messrs. Walter Anglin, Jesse Eubanks, and M. O. Canady. Judge Grider was also present and gave a short complimentary talk concerning the Tahoka Boy Scouts. Mr. Williams was assisted by Eagle Scout John Massey of Lubbock.

This Court of Honor was the first one held in Tahoka since last summer, and if it had not been cold weather, many more Scouts would have gone up to the Court for advancement. It is hoped that another Court will and can be held soon.

The following is a list of the boys who advanced Friday night: To Second Class Scout—Lonnie King of Troop 40, and Preston Strasser, of Troop 21; First Class—Frank Ivy of Troop 21; Merit Badges—Walter Conway received Pioneering, Painting, Public Health, Pathfinding, Electricity, Civics, Athletics, First Aid, Bird Study and Woodwork; Lester Prater: Handicraft, Woodwork, Personal Health, Beef Production, and Kieth Kemp received some badges. Kieth Kemp and Walter Conway received Star Scout Rank. Walter Conway received Life Scout Rank.—Reporter.

RELIC OF PIRATE DAYS FINDS WAY TO CUSTOM HOUSE

GALVESTON, Dec. 21.—A relic of the restoration period when swash-buckling cavaliers in England sought merriment with fervor, has found its way beneath the prosaic roof of the United States custom house here.

The relic is an antique four-poster bed produced back in 1665 when James II reigned over Great Britain and Ireland. The bed, dismantled and crated, was brought to the United States aboard the steamship Western Queen.

The carved oak bedstead, nearing its third century of age, has been purchased by a Texan from the Old World Galleries, Ltd., of England, which early this year was bought from J. Elliott, in whose family it doubtless was a valued antique for many years.

Held at the custom house for appraisal and classification, the relic appears substantial despite its antiquity and is attractively designed with carved deer heads. It is consigned to James D. Hamlin of Parker county and entered the country duty free.

SCHOOL CLOSES ONE WEEK

American Legion Helps The Needy

The Marion G. Bradley Post of the American Legion gave a much pleasure out of the good work of distributing to the needy on Tuesday. They supplied twenty-five or thirty families with some of the necessities of life. Their gifts included groceries, fruits, nuts, candies, stockings, handkerchiefs, underwear, etc. They supplied two bare-footed boys on the streets with shoes and stockings Tuesday afternoon and had already given shoes and stockings to two other little fellows in the country.

This was certainly thoughtful and helpful service on the part of the Legion boys and they are to be highly commended for the good work.

Nazarenes Give Pastor Pounding

The members of the Church of the Nazarene met at the home of their pastor, Mrs. Sam Bates, on Saturday evening, December 21, for a surprise pounding. Christmas wishes were exchanged, as Mr. and Mrs. Bates were to leave soon for Waco to spend the Christmas holidays with Mrs. Bates' parents.—Reporter.

SLATON SEEKS NEW HIGHWAY

Would Pass Through Tahoka And Wilson; Result Of Lubbock Bond Issue

SLATON, Dec. 19.—Following the success of Lubbock county's $991,000 road bond issue at the polls Tuesday, officials of the Slaton chamber of commerce announced they would begin working immediately to secure state designation of a north-south highway through Slaton, leading from Tahoka to Wilson and Slaton, thence north to intersect highway No. 53, there connecting with other north and south roads that have been given tentative designations by the state highway commission. The new road, if designated, would save north and south traffic considerable mileage, leaders declare.

Lubbock, Tahoka, Wilson and other points have pledged their full support to Slaton in working for the designation, officers of the Slaton chamber of commerce said. If the new designation is secured, it is planned to have another bond election in Lubbock county later on to provide funds for paving the north-south road through Slaton and also the road west from Lubbock toward Levelland.

Slaton voted 452 for and 96 against the bond issue Tuesday, thus giving more than 4 to 1 approval to the measure.

It will be helpful to winter wheat.

Several communications and news stories were crowded out last week. Some of them appear in the paper this week.

ANOTHER CHRISTMAS PASSES

(Editorial)

All our readers have just enjoyed another Christmas holiday. Most of them are yet indulging in the various kinds of festivities that accompany the celebration of this day.

Christmas! There is no other day like it. There is none other so universally observed. There is none that brings such cheer and good will among men.

This is so because it commemorates the birth of the Christ child, the great Personality who has influenced the history of the world more than have all the philosophers and statesmen and military heroes and kings of this world combined. Born in a manger in Bethlehem, reared as a carpenter's son in Nazareth, he was almost thirty years of age before he entered actively upon his real life work, and he finished that work in three short years. Not with the sceptre of a king, not with the sword of a war lord, not with the weapons of the statesman, nor with the discovery of scientific truths, did he make a name which is above every name. His work was to teach men spiritual truth, to minister to the needy, to live and to die for humanity, and to save those who would put their trust in Him.

To these ends he devoted three short years of his life, going about teaching, healing, and doing good everywhere. Because he did this and because he was willing to die for the truth and for humanity, we worship Him today and hundreds of millions celebrate his birth.

Christmas! What joy it brings to the world. May the spirit which inspires the celebration of this day keep on growing and spreading until the knowledge of the Lord shall cover the earth as the waters cover the sea.

CENSUS TO BE TAKEN IN 1930

Dr. I. E. Barr, Lubbock, In Charge Of this District; Will Select County Enumerators

The decennial census of the United States is to be taken in April, 1930. We understand that Uncle Sam is preparing to take this census in the shortest time ever employed at such a task. It is said that counties will be divided into small districts so each enumerator may complete his or her work within two or three weeks time. The accuracy and efficiency of the work done will depend almost solely on the proficiency and energy of the local enumerators. It is highly important that capable, conscientious and hard-working enumerators be selected for this work. We have not yet heard of any one who is making application for a job of this kind in Lynn county. We presume that announcement of the plans will be made early in the year and that ample opportunity will be afforded for any who may be thinking of making application to do so. We hope that capable enumerators for Lynn county will be appointed. Dr. I. E. Barr of Lubbock is supervisor for this district.

Methodist Women Help Little Colored Children of City

A Christmas Tree was given to the colored children of Tahoka by the Home Mission Sisters of the Methodist Church (White) and was attended by Mrs. Suddarth, Misses Mary Fenion, Sybil Prater and others.

Music was had, games were played and an excellent recitation was said by Mrs. Suddarth which just tickled the little black boys and girls to death, as well as the grown-ups.

Not a child was missed. Words cannot express our thankfulness and happiness for the Christ-like spirit shown to us by these Christian women and the American Legion also has kept us in memory.

All of this instills in us a courage to carry on. We have always felt that Christianity should be the only solution to the trouble of our racial groups. We feel now like that we as a race are willing to trust our fate in the hands of our Christian white women of the South.

As the noble eagle in the heart of the desert rises in the air to a certain height, circles three times to get his bearing, and strikes a bee-line for the north, so it is with Christianity. She has risen to the necessary height, got her bearings and nothing can hinder her from her true course of religion. We, the colored people, heartily thank our kind white friends for their favors.

We hope for you a happy Christmas and a prosperous New Year.—Deo.

CANYON COLLEGE TO EXPERIMENT WITH GRAPES

CANYON, December 24.—The West Texas State Teachers College farm, located on the old T-Anchor ranch one mile north of Canyon is to be the scene of an extensive grape growing experiment.

W. H. Upchurch, county agent of Randall County has secured for the farm cuttings of forty different varieties of grapes which came from the U. S. Experimental Station at Woodward, Oklahoma.

It is believed that soil conditions on the farm here are ideal for the development of a successful vineyard, and that the experiments carried out there will be valuable to the farmers of the region.

ROAD BONDS IN DAWSON FAIL

Issues In Haskell and Crockett Carry; Dawson Loss Is By Narrow Margin

(Ablene News) Citizens of two West Texas counties, Haskell and Crockett, Sunday cast landslide votes in favor of county-wide road bond issues, while a third, Dawson county, where the largest program was to be decided, defeated a $1,250,000 issue.

Voting for the fourth time on a county-wide movement for good roads the Haskell county citizenry adopted a $985,000 issue by a vote of 1,876 to 704, a count of 2.56 more than the required two-thirds majority. One small box of about 30 votes had not been heard from last night.

With four out of 17 boxes out, the Dawson county vote last night stood at 755 for and 599 against the $1,250,000 issue. Lacking 437 votes of the two-thirds majority, the outcome would not be changed, by the four missing boxes, having a possible total voting strength of 98.

Haskell county's $985,000 road fund will be divided five ways. Of the amount $325,000 will be used for construction of highway 30; $171,350 for highway 51; $242,700 for highway 120; $125,000 for retiring outstanding bonds in district No. 7; $100,000 for the same purpose in district No. 1. The remainder will be used to purchase right-of-way and to cover incidental expenses.

$75,000 in Crockett

Crockett County will spend its $375,000 on two hard-surfacing highway projects involving 81 miles, 53 of it on the highway 37, the Old Spanish Trail, crossing the county east to west. Twenty-eight miles of new highway will link Ozona up with Barnhart, just over the line in Irion county. With state aid there will be better than $1,250,000 available for the undertaking.

Dawson county proponents of good roads are not disheartened by Saturday's defeat. Henry J. Price, president of the Dawson County Good Roads Association said last night. He expects a petition to be filed with the county commissioners in about six months, asking for a second road bonds election.

Haskell county had voted three times before on a road bonds issue, the third having lost two years ago by a narrow margin.

440 Miles of Paving

Today's affirmative decision by Haskell county means that highway 30 soon will be the longest all-weather north and south highway in Texas. Its total length from Red River to the Mexican border at Del Rio is 455 miles, and closing the gap in Haskell County means 440 miles of pavement on No. 30. Only a 15-mile gap in Edwards county is yet to be paved or contracted, and that strip is all-weather.

No. 30 meets Oklahoma state highway 8 at Red River, that road extending to Oklahoma City and Tulsa, and on to Kansas City, St. Louis and Chicago. The entire Oklahoma section is paved or provided for. Within another year it will be possible for the motorist to get on No. 30 at Del Rio and travel on pavement to Chicago, except for the 15-mile gap in Edwards county—that route being by way of Abilene.

Assures 51 and 120

The Haskell county vote also assures a happy fruition of plans for making highways 51 and 120 important trans-state arteries, the former north and south, and the latter east and west. No. 51 joins highway 18 in Haskell county, going northward through Knox, Ford, and Hardeman to Quanah.

Highway 120, east and west thru Haskell county, will give Lubbock and the South Plains a short route into Fort Worth via Aspermont, Haskell, Throckmorton, Graham and Jackboro.

Wilson Pastor To Preach Here Sunday

The pulpit committee of the Baptist Church announces that Rev. Phillip McGehey, the pastor at Wilson, will fill the pulpit of the Baptist Church here next Sunday morning and evening. Brother McGehey is well and favorably known by many of the members and it is hoped that large congregations will be present at both services.

Keeping Up To Terracing Demand Is One Hard Job

College Station.—Farmers who are inclined to criticize the county agent because they can't get him out to terrace their farms may feel better about it when they learn that it's the same story all over the state. From two to five times as many farmers have called on agents for help in this line this winter as it is possible to aid, Extension Service authorities assert. In spite of the fact that the acres terraced per agent have been steadily increasing from year to year, they say, and that more than 600,000 acres are estimated to have been protected by terraces or contours in 1929 alone, farmer demand has swamped nearly every county agent in Texas with more work than he can handle.

The solution the Extension Service has been working on for a few years back under the leadership of M. R. Bently, Farm Engineer, has been the training of farmers to do the work themselves in community and county terracing schools. This is because terracing as a means of conserving soil and rainfall has been demonstrated thoroughly enough in most sections to convince the majority of its value. County agents must largely abandon helping individuals in favor of training enough men to carry the terracing program forward rapidly, Mr. Bently believes.

As a part of this training system quite generally used now, farmers and business men in many places have formed central committees to assist county agents in every possible way to speed up the terracing program," he continues. "Every local agency willing and capable of helping is being pressed into service, and even club boys and vocational agricultural students are laying off terracing lines.

At the same time county agents are increasing the number of soil building demonstrations through the planting of cover crops, especially legumes, and establishing suitable crop rotations on terracing land. This is in recognition of the fact that terracing is only the first step in soil conservation."

Annie Moore, professor, Teachers College, Columbia University: "If there is anything I abhor it's stories about children accomplishing wonders by eating cereals and spinach."

CANNING THEIR WAY TO HEALTH IN LUBBOCK

LUBBOCK.—That eating too much of the wrong things and not enough of the right things causes most human ailments is a health philosophy gaining many converts among farm families in Lubbock county. Last winter brought much unnecessary illness to many rural districts, but now many of these households are awaiting winter with grim batteries of canned fruits and vegetables on Pantry shelves. It's a part of Lubbock county's rural health drive planned by Miss Louis Baird and carried out by women and girls in the home demonstration clubs. Since June they've been studying dietary requirements and canning home grown stuff against winter's onslaught.

From recent questionnaires received it has been found that 22 farm housewives made canning budgets, and that more than 10,000 containers of food stuffs were canned by 50 who replied, or an average of more than 200 cans per family. The canning budget as suggested by the Extension Service provides various food stuffs in the proportions to enable a balanced diet to be supplied the family through all the winter months. It consists of 48 cans of leafy vegetables, 140 cans of other vegetables, 130 cans of fruits, and 40 cans of meats for a family of five for six months.

Meals are balanced according to the adequate diet which calls for 1 1/2 pints of milk daily per person; at least three servings weekly of leafy vegetables, and two servings daily of other vegetables; fruit every day and citrus fruit or tomatoes three times a week or oftener, and two servings daily of such protein-rich foods as meat, beans, cheese, nuts or eggs.

WHY NO ROAD ISSUE?

(By MEFO in Houston Press)
Gasoline will build Texas highways and no state bonds will be needed. That is the verdict of many who have analyzed the situation, following the enactment by the last legislature of a law requiring a four-cent gasoline tax, of which one-fourth goes to the school fund and the remainder to road maintenance and construction.

Such being the case there should be no road issue in the next gubernatorial campaign. The problem has been solved, and those who have the state's interests at heart should unite upon or urge some other great measure or needed reform. There is still the penitentiary problem, the public utility issue and the proposed income tax over which statesmen and politicians may argue and make their pleas.

Only two things in the road-building program have caused disagreements in the past. One was how fast should Texas build roadways and the other was how to build state highways through counties that could not or would not do their part to aid the state and nation.

The securing of the four cent gasoline tax has answered both questions, in the opinion of Hon. Leonard Tillotson of Sealy, who introduced the measure during the last session of the Texas legislature.

His emphatic statements were obtained by a Press representative because of assertions made by bankers and other business men who in a friendly discussion showed a lack of information as to the present highway laws and just what may be done with the money contributed by all the people for building roads for all to use.

These men made the statment that we could not complete our highways—fill in the gaps—without the au-

Retired Minister Praises Orgatone

"In a Short Time Orgatone Has Built Me Up—I've Suffered 20 Years," Says Wichita Man

"I've suffered twenty years and Orgatone has built me up in a short while," said R. E. Helms of 800 Polk St., Wichita Falls, Texas, a retired minister, while talking with the Orgatone representative.

"I had a severe case of stomach trouble and everything I ate would sour on my stomach and bothered my heart, which would beat so fast at times, I thought it would run away with me. I had to take soda all the time, and never had any appetite for I was afraid to eat. I was bilious and dizzy all the time, and was very nervous. I never got very much sleep for I just couldn't seem to rest. I was in a very run down condition and kept going down hill, every day. My system was getting worse every day and I realized that something must be done, but everything I ate didn't seem to do me any good.

"I was reading the paper one day and noticed a stomach preparation, Orgatone. I got a bottle and have commenced to get better ever since. I simply feel better and stronger than I have in twenty years. I am glad to endorse Orgatone, for it is the best stomach medicine I ever heard of, or have ever taken. Anyone who will give it a trial will soon learn of its value."

Genuine Orgatone may be bought in Tahoka at the Thomas Bros. Drug Store.

thority of a state bond issue secured by constitutional amendment and a vote of the people.

If supposedly well-informed business men have that idea, isn't it likely that many thousands of our citizens generally have the same impression?

Is it because they have not investigated or is it due to the misinformation that has been circulated?

Whatever the cause, shouldn't some newspaper get the facts or secure the opinion of those who have studied the subject?

That's what the editor of The Press thought and that is the WHY of the Tillotson interview in today's issue of The Press.

Read that interview and learn for yourself what a four-cent gasoline tax will mean for Texas and how easy it will be to complete every state highway regardless of what may or may not be contributed by the various counties through which the roads will pass.

Mr. Tillotson estimates that the state will have available next year a total of $32,350,000 for road building purposes; that certain counties and districts are committed already to the expenditures of $5,500,000 of their own funds, or a grand total of $37,500,000 to be spent for state highway construction and betterment in 1930.

He further estimates that within two years we will have from $45,000,000 to $50,000,000 annually to spend on our state highways, new and old.

But what about the gaps. There will be none, according to Mr. Tillotson's interpretation of the laws and the rights of the Texas highway commission.

Says he most emphatically:

"The law as it stands on the statute books today gives to the Highway Commission every necessary measure of legal authority to fill in the missing links in our major and partly completed highways from the State monies available.

"It also vests them with all necessary legal authority to plan and execute a program of statewide highway construction without the contribution of any local funds whatsoever."

That all being true, what is there left to argue? Nothing but the question of reimbursing some counties for the monies they have contributed or are committed to contribute, and that can be settled by the legislature or by a vote of the people. Whether it should be done is debatable.

To delay a state-wide building program another two years while discussing an amendment to the constitution for a state bond issue would seem the height of absurdity. Let us proceed with the use of state funds and federal aid and complete a few highways and build more each year.

Fill in the gaps. Cease making the state a patch work of road building. Have connected highways and let there be no missing links.

Let us have no road bond issue in our next gubernatorial campaign, but let us have roads as fast as we can use the huge sums soon to be showered upon Texas by the users of gasoline.

Electrical Test-Farm To Be Established

LUBBOCK, Texas, Dec. 23.—An electrical test farm near Lubbock will be established within a year according to the present plans of the Texas committee on Relations of Electricity and Agriculture. The purpose of such a farm, according to Dean Wm. J. Miller of the school of engineering of Texas Technological College, will be to do research work in connection with the application of electricity and electrical appliances to dairy and poultry farming. Deans Leidigh and Miller have just returned from a meeting of the committee in Dallas where the plans were discussed. This committee has 32 designated farms over the different sections of Texas which have been equipped with electricity through the cooperation of farmers, power and light companies and colleges of the state. Each of the co-operative industries has an equal number of representatives on the committee and has a full time research engineer, J. T. Montford, at Texas A. & M. College, who is general supervisor of the work. The local test farm, when established, will be under the direct supervision of Deans Miller and Leidigh and the equipment will be installed upon a privately owned farm near a power line, through the cooperation of the power company, the farmers and the local college men. There are about 6,000 farms in Texas now supplied with electrical equipment at practically the same cost as it is supplied to the city homes, according to a recent report of Mr. Montford, the research engineer of the committee. Electrically is used in the farm homes for heating, lighting, cooking, etc., in connection with the dairies for power milking, milk refrigeration and cooling, and for lighting and heating poultry houses for increased egg production.

MRS. HANEY ENTERTAINS LITERARY CLUB DEC. 12TH

The beautiful home of Mrs. Haney was opened to the Phebe K. Warner Club, Dec. 12th. The spacious living room was made more beautiful by the decorations of Holly (from back in Texas) and a real Christmas tree. The tree held a pleasant gift for each of the little girls of yester-year who compose the membership of the Club.

The outstanding feature for the year, a public library is being sponsored by the Club. Mrs. Nevels told of her recent visit to the County Library of Tom Green County, in San Angelo. She says this library is being carried to every nook and corner of the County. Readers, don't you think Lynn County needs some good books in circulation?

Mrs. Callaway told, almost verbatim, Van Dyke's Christmas story of the Fourth Wise Man.

Dainty refreshment plates were passed to the following ladies: Mesdames Caveness, Callaway, Shook, Nevels, Slaton, Applewhite, Nash, Turrentine, Fenton, Stokes, Hood, Craft, Henderson, Stewart, Elliott, and Haney.

Harold Lloyd Film Here Sun. and Mon.

Initiative, ability, genius. These are the qualities which a Western journalist attributes to Harold Lloyd in a recent article.

Thus is the public favor reflected. For Harold Lloyd is perhaps the best known active comedian of the screen today and did he not have qualities which are above the average he would not have enjoyed the prolonged and increasingly great success which has attended his career as a producer and actor.

He is the personification of American humor, Yankee ingenuity and the effervescence of youth. He is the all-American boy. Born in Burchard, Neb., thirty-five years ago, Lloyd always had an ambition to become an actor. When he was nine years old he played in a Shakespearean company that made a one night stand in the middle west town where he was then living. At twelve he made his first real progress on the stage, playing with the Burwood stock company in Omaha.

He was nineteen before he appeared in his first motion picture. That was as an Indian in a Spanish production filmed by Edison at Balboa Park, San Diego.

Subsequently he came to Los Angeles, started as an extra at Universal, in two years was portraying comedy leads and in his third year in pictures was starring in "Lonesome Luke" comedies. His greatest success came, however, after he had adopted the shelled rim glasses—or glassless rims, and today in every corner of the globe, in fact, these specs have been popularized by Lloyd to such an extent that they are now sold for children's Christmas presents. Surely a tribute to Mr. Lloyd's status as a comic. Lloyd for five years has been head of his own production unit, the Harold Lloyd corporation, during which time he has produced some of the screen's outstanding successes, including "The Freshman," "For Heaven's Sake," "The Kid Brother," "Speedy" and now "Welcome Danger" which comes to the English Theatre on next Sunday and Monday.

The year 1929 is drawing to a close. In many respects it has been an eventful one for Tahoka. In spite of the protracted drouth through the summer and the short cotton crop in the fall, financial conditions are fair. By the practice of thrift and economy, the people of Lynn County will have little trouble in meeting current expenses and financing their farming operations during the coming year. It is reasonably certain that far better crops will be produced in 1930 than have been produced this year, and if so, next fall and winter should see the beginning of another period of prosperity. Tahoka itself has made remarkable progress under the circumstances during the year which is closing. It has seen the construction of a number of business houses and possibly forty residences, as well as the installation of a sewer system and other valuable improvements. Both the business houses and the residences construct-

NERVOUS SUFFERING

Lady Says She Took Cardui, Felt Better In a Few Weeks, and Steadily Gained Health.

Moscow, Ohio.—"I had been in awful, bad health for months and months," says Mrs. Cynthia Stator, of this place. "My nerves were 'all to pieces,' and I was all run-down."
"My back hurt all the time, and I had to drag myself around the house. My legs ached and I worried all the time. I could not stand the least noise. The least little thing upset me."

"One day, I read a Ladies Birthday Almanac that my husband brought home, and I thought I would try the medicine I read about in it—Cardui."

"I began taking Cardui, and in a few weeks I felt myself getting much better. I took it for several months, as I was steadily gaining in health. When I finished taking Cardui, I felt fine."

"Since that time, thirty years ago,
I have taken Cardui several times when I needed a tonic to help build me up, and it has always helped me.
I give it to my daughters and I have recommended it to others. I think it is a fine medicine."

Great numbers of women, of all ages, have written to tell how they have been helped back to good health by taking Cardui. NC-218

The Little Yard That's Growing

ed have been of the most substantial character. Already there are rumors of other buildings to be constructed during the coming year.
There has been considerable development in the country round about too, especially in the northwest portion of the county. When we begin to take stock of the progress that has been made during this year and then contemplate what may reasonably be expected in the way of crops during the year 1930, the future looks roseate indeed. In fact, Tahoka seems to be "sitting on top of the world."

We know nothing about the facts upon which Calles, ex-President of Mexico, was indicted for conspiracy to murder down at Laredo in 1922.
We presume that they had evidence sufficient to justify an indictment.
If that is true, it seems to us that district attorney Valls is doing nothing more than his duty in seeking to bring the gentleman to trial. If Calles is to be given immunity simply because he has held high position in Mexico, or because he represents his government yet in official capacity, or if he is to be given immunity simply because his arraignment in court interferes with business then it seems to us that we are indeed making a mockery of justice and a monkey of our court officials.

It seems that Mexico has not yet learned to rely upon the ballot instead of the bullet. The chances over there seem to be about two to one that the defeated candidate for the Presidency must face the firing squad. Not until Mexico learns that she must hold fair elections and then abide by the result, that every citizen possessing the necessary legal qualifications has the right to run for office and is entitled to fair and just treatment in the event he is defeated—not until Mexico learns the lessons of civil liberty, will there be peace and prosperity in the land south of the Rio Grande. Civilization has much work to do on the other side of the river yet.

We confidently expect much progress to be made in the dairy industry in Lynn County during the next twelve months. In spite of the temporary slump in prices for dairy products, there is going to be ever increasing demand for them. Production may exceed demand at times, but our rapidly increasing population means that the demand for food will also rapidly increase. Scrub cows, however, should be converted into beef, and high-grade dairy cows should take their places. Lynn county needs more good dairy cows and more bull circles.

The poultry show recently held is proof that many people in Lynn County are deeply interested in good poultry. This is the greatest feedproducing section of Texas, and with a county agent and vocational education teachers in the county to show the people how to mix and prepare these feeds so as to bring the best results, Lynn County should be made famous for her fine chickens.

Rule—Plans being made for organization of turkey pool.

In spite of the fact that experience every day teaches that crime does not pay, yet there are a lot of fools that will not be convinced. Not one man in a hundred who deliberately enters upon a career of hi-jacking or banditry but that ultimately is shot down by officers of the law or lands in the penitentiary. Crime is not the safest of all occupations, as some good men have intemperately asserted. It is the most unsafe of all. Every man reaps what he sows.
No man can sow murder and robbery and theft without reaping disaster as his harvest. A man may escape the clutches of the law for a while;
it is possible that he may escape through a life time; but it is not probable—and even if he escapes he must live in constant fear of being caught. There is no satisfaction in a criminal career—there is only disaster and death, for "the Wages of Sin is Death."

It takes public sentiment to enforce laws. The officers can not do it in the face of general opposition on the part of the public. If the people of Tahoka and Lynn county are in favor of the enforcement of our Sunday laws they know how to make the fact known. The News is not particularly favorable to the enactment of rigid Sunday laws. We believe that the observance of the Sabbath should be a religious duty rather than a legal requirement. But we believe that there should be substantial observance and reasonable enforcement of all laws, including our Sunday laws. If our Sunday laws are wrong they should not be disregarded but should be amended or repealed. As long as they are on the statute books the public should respect and observe them. These are our honest sentiments. What are yours?

We do not pose as the moral guardian of the people of Tahoka.
We do not claim the right nor assume the task of setting up standards of conduct for others. But we are moved to say that there is one institution in Tahoka, of recent origin, that we believe the town could get along very well without. We do not think that it is in any sense a credit to our town that a public dance hall is being operated one night in each week in the business section.
We know very little about the character of the dance hall that is being operated here but dance halls generally are not in very good repute.
We wish the promotor no harm whatever but we hope that this dance hall may be short-lived.

Whitey Walker, notorious bandit, was convicted and sentenced to the penitentiary for life in Oklahoma Saturday. Clyde McNeil, prominent American Legion leader and popular citizen, was also convicted of bank robbery at Brownwood Saturday and his punishment assessed at forty years in the penitentiary. May the courts keep up their good work.

GEMS OF LITERATURE

(By J. A. HUMPHRIES)

Many years ago I purloined from the Scrap Book of one of my Civil War friends the following letter. I thought then and yet feel that it is one of the severest arraignment and one of the most appropriate rebukes to feminine folly that literature has given us.

Briefly told, the letter had its inspiration in a comradeship that grew out of soldier service of two young men serving under the Stars and Bars, one of whom (the author) was a Texan. The capture by the Union Army of the young soldiers was merely an incident of those four unhappy years. Their imprisonment in Camp Chase, Missouri, was bad enough but worse was the fact that one of them was afflicted with that dreaded white plague, and still worse was an infatuation with and for a Society girl living in Alabama. His daily thought and talk were expressions of devotion for this faithless young woman. His last request was in the nature of an appeal that death be stayed until he could receive one letter. The letter and the lock of hair were all that he asked. They came, but two hours after his death.
Seeing the end he requested his loyal comrade to place the lock of hair in his bier and answer the letter.
The letter:

Your letter came but came too late,
For Heaven had claimed its own.
Ah! sudden change from prison bars
Unto the great white throne.

And yet I think he would have stayed
For one more day of pain
Could he have read those tardy words
You have sent in vain.

Ah! fair lady, why did you wait
Through many a weary hour?
Did you have other lovers with you
In that dainty silken bower?

Did others bow before your charms
And weave bright garlands there,
And yet I ween in all the throng
His spirit had no peer.

"Her love", he said, "could change
for me
The winters cold to Spring."
Ah! trust of thoughtless maiden's
love,
Thou art a bitter thing.

For when the valley fair in May,
Once more with blossoms wave,
The northern violets shall bloom
Above his sunken grave.

Your dole of scanty words
Mad but one more pang to bear,
Thought till the last
He kissed with love, this tress of your soft hair.

I did not put it where he said,
For when the angels come
I would not have them find
The sign of falsehood in his tomb.

Tonight the cold wind whistles by
As I my virgils keep,
In the prison dead house Where but few mourners come to weep.

A rude plank coffin holds him now,
Yet death gives always grace,
But I had rather see him thus,
Than clasped in your embrace.

Tonight your rooms are very gay.
With wit and wine and song,
And you are smiling
Just as if you never did a wrong.

Your hands so fair, no one would think,
They penned these words of pain,
Your skin so white, would God your

Discomfort Until She Tried
Black-Draught; Found
It Brought Relief.

Townville, S. C.—"I had a bilious spell. I would get very dizzy, and have such a bad taste in my mouth," says Mrs. Bertha Whitfield, of this place.

"When I would stoop over, I felt like I was going over on my head.
"When I would get up mornings,
I felt as tired as when I went to bed."
"A friend told me how she had been helped by taking Black-Draught, and how she kept it in her home. So I thought I would try it, any way, which I did, and from then on I have used Black-Draught when I feel bad, get up tired, or feel that I need anything. Now I recommend it to my friends."

"If I get tired and sluggish, feeling like I must sit around when I have lots to do, I take Black-Draught. A few doses seem to be what it takes to cleanse my system of impurities that may cause this trouble."

Black-Draught is made from fine-

Judge T. L. Price, district attorney, dropped in Monday morning before leaving on official business for Post and reminded the editor that this is the Christmas season. If you catch us wearing a new tie, you may know where it came from. The judge expects to be a candidate for reelection and will make his announcement at an early date. He has just closed a very successful term of court at Lamesa, having secured fourteen convictions during the term, ten receiving penitentiary sentences without any suspension of the sentence.

Vick Lamb of the publicity department of the Lamesa Chamber of Commerce was a caller at the News office Monday. Mr. Lamb stated that the city of Lamesa voted 3 to 1 in favor of the highway bonds Saturday but the rural vote prevented the necessary two-thirds majority in the county. A change of 146 votes, however, would have changed the result. Mr. Lamb says that another election will probably be held about the middle of the year 1930.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred McDaniel of Petersburg spent the week end with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. N. McDaniel.

Miss Jo Bullock of Aspermont is taking Christmas with her sister, Mrs. J. B. Walker.

Rev. R. T. Breedlove states that one of the devoted members of the Methodist Church presented the Church with a beautiful communion set as a Christmas present. The donor requested, however, that the name be withheld. The set was used for the first time Sunday. A feature of the service was the fact that two young ministers of this church, Jesse Roberson and Frank Sargent, assisted in conducting the communion service.

Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Wise and family of Dimmitt visited relatives here Saturday and Sunday. Mr. Wise was a resident of this county for many years and he informs us that he has been a reader of the News for twenty-three years, and he expects to keep it up. Lynn county lost a good citizen when B. B. Wise moved away.

Mrs. Joe L. Brown of Richland Springs, who has been visiting her parents here for several weeks, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Crouch, returned to her home Saturday. She was accompanied by her daughter, Miss Marie, who is teaching at Plains.

E. J. Nolan residing on the W. J. Crouch farm west of town was taken to a sanitarium at Lubbock last week for treatment. He is reported to be much better and it is hoped that he will be able to return home by the end of this week.

FARM LOANS.—See A. J. Glasgow & Co.

Mr. and Mrs. John Stokes left Monday morning for Bangs where they expect to remain for some time on account of the physical condition of Mrs. Stokes' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alleorn. Both of them are sick at this time and as they have reached advanced age Mrs. Stokes feels that she must remain with them. They celebrated their sixtieth wedding anniversary Sunday, Mrs. Stokes states.

Miss Annette Weathers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larkin Weathers, was taken to a sanitarium at Lubbock early last week, suffering from inflammatory rheumatism superinduced by an affection of the tonsils. Her tonsils were removed Friday and the patient is improving, but it will probably be two or three weeks before she will be able to return home.

Miss Elizabeth Pickett of the Tech College, former student in Brenau Conservatory, Georgia, was here Monday arranging for classes in Violin and Piano. She expects to begin immediately after the holidays. She comes highly recommended and it is expected that many will avail themselves of this opportunity to study under her.

Dr. J. J. Provisioning the Aquitania

SUPPLYING food for 16 million meals is no soft job. This is what Catering Superintendent William H. Allison does for the Cunard fleet yearly. This amount of food would fill a train of cars reaching half-way across the United States.

Among the items which Supt. Allison has to think of before a single ship, the Aquitania, sails, are 50,000 pounds of meat, 50,000 pounds of potatoes, 12,000 pounds of fish and 12,000 pounds of sugar and 60,000 eggs.

A Week without a Cow
"Everything must be aboard before she starts," says Supt. Allison, "imagine what would happen if we failed to provide the milk, for instance. There are no opportunities to replenish on the wide Atlantic."
Five hundred gallons of canned condensed milk are used during the six and a fraction days it takes to make the crossing from New York to Southampton in the rush season. In the days when Charles Dickens made his transatlantic trip, no one had ever heard of milk in cans. Cows were driven aboard, and the ships took on something of the appearance of floating barnyards. Gail Borden, the inventor of canned milk, made the trip in 1851, and, seeing babies die of starvation because they could not drink the milk of cows tossed about at sea, he finally perfected a process which is still the basis of the world's condensed and evaporated milk industry.

Two hundred tins of assorted biscuits are also on the commissary list. These, as fresh as the day they were baked, bear no resemblance to the soggy biscuits which used to absorb the sea's dampness before the days of tins.

Business Interested In Flood Control

The Brazos River Conservation and Reclamation District, created by Special Act of the Legislature in June, and formally organized in November, not only marks a new State Policy in the encouragement of flood control, water conservation and beneficial use, but has provided a basis for the cooperation of all business enterprise in the accomplishment of a great constructive undertaking for the preservation of existing wealth, and for the development of new forms of wealth and public service.

When this District was created, it attracted the serious consideration of important business interests generally and particularly of railroad interests whose lines in Texas are more or less continuously affected by uncontrolled and destructive floods.

The management of the Missouri Pacific Railway lines, under the direction of Executive Vice President H. R. Safford, directed an investigation of the practicability of the purposes of the District to be made by the Chief Reclamation Engineer of the Missouri Pacific Railway System, Mr. Gordon R. West of St. Louis, and this well known engineering authority has just filed a preliminary report, in which the District movement is endorsed by the statement that the data available from surveys of State and Federal Engineers, and from general studies of the situation, show that some plan in harmony with the conception of the Legislature in the creation of the District, is feasible within a reasonable limit of expenditure. The report presents a comprehensive outline of the situation in the Brazos watershed area, upon which are indicated the tentative location of 12 dams for the control and storage of flood waters, their estimated capacity and probable cost, together with a summary of the different uses to be made of the water conserved and for the improvements necessary. Attention is directed to the fact that the sources of income to provide for the Brazos river drains an area of about 41,700 square miles, almost 27 million acres, a territory larger than the great state of Ohio. A particularly interesting point of the report is that relating to the more destructive overflows that have occurred in the Brazos in recent years; the property damage of the overflow in 1899 is estimated as the highest, being $7,500,000.00; that in 1921 being next, with a little more than $5,000,000.00; and 1913, with $3,500,000.00; in addition to property losses, the 1921 overflow resulted in the loss of 166 lives. It is suggested that perhaps $2,000,000.00 would be a reasonable estimate of the average annual property damage caused by uncontrolled flood waters in the watershed of the Brazos River and its tributary streams over a considerable period.

JACK REAVES GETS JOB IN HIGHWAY PATROL SERVICE

Jack Reaves received notice Monday from L. G. Phares, Chief of the State Highway Patrol, that he had been selected as one of those to enter into training as a member of the State Highway Patrol. He is requested to report for duty at Camp Mabry, Austin, on January 10, when the training is to begin.

Jack is one of forty-six men who were selected out of 300 taking the examination recently. At the close of the training period, he will be assigned duty on the highways. He does not yet know where his headquarters will be but he will doubtless be stationed somewhere in West Texas. His many friends here are highly gratified that he has been selected as a member of the Patrol Service and they believe that he will make good in every respect.

"We expect to build this organization into one that not only the State Highway Department and the members of the Patrol will be proud of but the people of Texas will sanction," Chief Phares wrote Mr. Reaves in his letter of notification.
