

SCOOP SEZ

By J. M. Forbes

A big part of The Journal's income is derived from advertising. In fact advertising revenue accounts for twice as much income as all other sources combined. People who spend money for advertising certainly ought to study the whole subject of advertising.

We ran across some hints from Texas Press Association's bulletin that was interesting to us, and we are reprinting them here in the hope they will give our advertisers food for thought, too:

ADVERTISING — WHY, WHEN AND WHAT Advertising is a means of communication. To the merchant it is simply a means of telling the people what he has to sell, where it is available, and at what price. It is much easier, less time-consuming, and by far cheaper than person by person solicitations. But, advertising alone cannot do the complete selling job. It takes the cooperation of buyers, salesmen, clerks and everyone else in the store.

A successful merchant stands back of his goods. Why Should I Advertise? 1. Because you want to sell merchandise at a profit. 2. You advertise because there is something about your product that you want people to know. 3. Advertising then is the cheapest means of getting your message to the people.

When Should I Advertise? 1. Advertise consistently; it will pay. 2. Kick-up advertising for seasonal demands. 3. Advertise to create a demand in off-season. What Should I Advertise? 1. Guard against advertising too much at one time. 2. One item in a small ad is enough. Perhaps two items in a larger ad. Don't confuse the buyer by stuffing too much at him in one advertisement. 3. Watch seasonal items. Push them when people want and need them. 4. Use leader items to bring people into the store. 5. Advertise what you have to sell and also your place as the place to buy it.

Drastic Curtailment In Service At Postoffice May Be Effective April 15

Unless funds become available prior to April 15, drastic curtailment in postal service will be made effective on that date, according to postmaster Arnold Allcorn. Allcorn said Wednesday that unless further orders are received, the Muleshoe postoffice will be closed on Saturday and Sunday, and postal money orders will no longer be sold after April 29.

Coop Annual Meet April 19 at Bula

A stockholders meeting and annual dinner for members of the Farmers Cooperative Gin of Enochs will be held April 19 in the Bula school cafeteria and auditorium at 7 p.m. Women's club members will serve the meal.

Dividends on 1956 cotton will be paid, and 1948 stock retirements will be paid also. Speakers for the evening will be Roy Davis of Plains Co-op Oil Mill, and Dan Davis of the Plains Cotton Cooperative. Tom Brown of the Farmers Co-op Commission will also be on the program.

Tornado Early Warning System Is Set Up Here

A tornado early-warning system has been instituted locally, with the cooperation of service companies operating two-way radio, and the local radio station, KMUL.

The system goes into operation when drivers of butane company or REA service trucks observe the formation of tornadoes. These drivers call their dispatcher in Muleshoe, who immediately calls KMUL, which begins broadcasting the warning. The dispatcher then sends a mobile unit to KMUL so that warnings may be transmitted directly from the area of the tornado to the radio station without telephone relays of the messages.

In case of tornado warnings, the public is warned not to tie up telephone lines, but to stay tuned to the local radio station for regular bulletins and information. Cooperating in the warning systems are Wiedebush and Childers, Western 86, the Bailey County Electric Cooperative, and the sheriff's department.

Jimmy Crawford Heads Cotton Week

Jimmy Crawford was named chairman of the annual Cotton Week celebration committee, by the board of directors of the Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce in a meeting held Monday afternoon at Leigon's. Crawford, who is manager of Paymaster Gin here, will work with other ginners, merchants and business people in staging the annual event during the week of May 20-27. It is expected that the formal program and coronation of a county cotton queen will be held the night of May 25, and that the Trades Day drawing will be held immediately after the cotton program concludes. Further details of the program will be announced at an early date.

The new elementary school will be located in an area between 18th and 19th streets, four blocks south of the Clovis highway, school officials said. It is the first unit of a long range program which will include additional classrooms at the high school, a new band hall, a new business office and remodeling the football stadium. The plans for the building include 24 classrooms, offices and a cafeteria for the students. It will be of light buff varnished brick, with brown brick trim and steel windows. Construction is expected to begin at once, and at least one wing of the building will be complete by this fall in case enrollment warrants use of the new facilities.

The Bailey county unit of the American Cancer Society has received a certificate of merit for exceeding its quota in the 1956 fund campaign. Gil Lamb, county chairman, said that only two counties on the Plains exceeded their 1956 quota, and that Bailey county had gone over its quota two years in succession.

Chairmen For Cancer Fund Drive Named

The campaign is currently in force in this county, Lamb said, with the Muleshoe Jaycees in charge of the Muleshoe drive, with Pesky Winn as chairman. At Three Way, the Home Demonstration club is sponsoring the drive, with Mrs. A. H. Daricek, club president, as chairman. Wednesday morning the club reported $1,542.00 in collections already.

City Declares War On Open Privies; To Enforce Law

City officials warned this week that strict enforcement of privy ordinances will be put into effect immediately.

They cite an ordinance passed in May, 1951, declaring that: "It shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to permit a privy or dry closet of any kind or description to be maintained or exist upon any property in the city of Muleshoe, or area of police jurisdiction thereof, where any of said property is within 100 feet of the public sewer system of said city, and provided connection is physically possible."

City officials stated that the ordinance carries a penalty of $100 for violation, and that they have instructed city employees to report privies that violate the ordinance directly to the Council for prompt action.

Commissioners Accept Plat Of Richland Hills Monday

The Bailey county Commissioners Court met Monday to canvass returns of two recent elections and to take care of other routine matters in a regularly scheduled meeting.

The court canvassed the returns in the senatorial election held April 2, results of which were published in The Journal last Thursday, and also the returns of the school trustee elections held April 6, results of which are published elsewhere on this page.

In the election for county school trustee Ty Young received 173 votes, and incumbent Ross Goodwin and Horace Hutton each polled 33 votes. The court declared all three re-elected.

Bailey county voting on the proposed Circleback school consolidation tallied 39 votes for the move, and 16 against.

A plot of the Richland Hills subdivision to the City of Muleshoe was accepted by the Court on behalf of J. D. Leftwich, W. S. Moss and F. O. Bennett. The subdivision is described as part of sections 33 and 34, block Y, W. D. and F. W. Johnson subdivision 2, containing 93.14 acres.

Senate Conservation Committee Chairman To Speak Here April 18

Senator George Parkhouse, chairman of the water conservation committee of the Texas Senate, will speak at the Muleshoe high school auditorium on April 18 at 7:30 p.m., on the subject of water conservation in Texas, and what legislative measures are being taken to insure conservation of this primary resource.

Senator Parkhouse believes that Texas is facing an economic catastrophe if further delays are made in solving of the water problem. It is his contention that only by saving water that ordinarily runs off after a rain and drains into the Gulf, can enough water be impounded through lakes and reservoirs to serve the needs of the growing state of Texas.

Calling this the longest drought in Texas history, Senator Parkhouse is proposing a state wide system of dams on ravines and streams, built with funds from a $100 million state bond issue, voted through a constitutional amendment.

A second major proposal advocated by the senator calls for an amendment authorizing the state to issue $200 million in bonds to help water districts and other political subdivisions finance the building of water storage reservoirs through the U. S. Corps of Engineers.

The meeting is sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce which feels that the subject of water and water conservation is of paramount importance to everyone in Texas, and particularly to Texas. No admission charge will be made, and the public is urged to attend.

7th Annual FFA Rodeo Parades To Be At 4:30 Friday, 4:45 Saturday

The seventh annual Muleshoe FFA rodeo and parade will be held Friday and Saturday, April 12 and 13. The parade will be staged at 4:30 p.m., Friday afternoon and at 4:45 on Saturday, immediately after the Trades Day drawing. Performances of the rodeo will be at 8 p.m. each night. The parade will start at the high school on Friday and will start in the vicinity of the grade school Saturday afternoon. The FFA boys urge you to come and watch the clowns, Jim Ward and Buddy Calcutt. Jim Ward will play with a fighting bull and Buddy will ride a bareback bronc. Entries are from Muleshoe, Abilene, Lubbock, Snyder, Pecos, Amarillo, Canyon, Tulia, Sweetwater, Bula, Hart, and Meadow. Admission will be $1.00 for adults and 50 cents for children.

For Street, Water and Sewers

A $195,000 tax bond election has been called for April 27 by the Muleshoe City Council for the purpose of purchasing what may be the "last of the Sandhills water", and for street improvement as well as water and sewer improvements and extensions. An ordinance calling for the election was passed at a meeting of the Council Tuesday afternoon. Included in the uses of the money to be derived from sale of the bonds, will be the purchase of 1713 acres of water rights near the southern city limits from John McMurtry.

A breakdown of the bond issue shows that $100,000 has been allocated for a summer paving project; $60,000 for purchase of water rights; $100,000 for water works improvements including new and larger mains where needed, and replacement of old small lines; and $25,000 for sewer extensions.

TAX INCREASE Mayor W.T. Bovell pointed out that if the bond issue carries, the tax rate will be increased possibly by 15 cents per $100 evaluation. Present rate is only $1, lowest of most townships in the part of the country based on equal assessment. Mayor Bovell said, "We are particularly anxious for the voters to realize that this bond issue will carry an increase in taxes, but we feel that the need for the work is so urgent that we are fortunate in only increasing the taxes by such a slight amount".

With a large municipality to the southeast gobbling up every available bit of water rights in the sandhills, the Council believes that an opportunity cannot be passed to secure water rights to take care of the projected need of Muleshoe in its future growth. An option to purchase the water rights from McMurtry expires April 30, and the bond election must be held prior to the expiration date.

The directors of the Chamber of Commerce, after meeting with the Council to hear details of the issue, endorsed the move, and urged the public to support it. Voters residing in the newly annexed area in the west part of town are eligible to vote in the bond election. This fact was confirmed in a telephone conversation, with legal authorities Tuesday afternoon.

Preliminary plans of city engineer Ralph Douglas include revamping old water and sewer lines to conform to the cities growth, and adding new water and sewer lines to serve the increased area of the city.

Eight School Trustees Are Elected In Light Area Balloting Saturday

Light voting marked the election of eight school trustees Saturday in four area school districts. At Muleshoe, incumbent trustees Jim Cox and Gerald Allison were re-elected with 75 votes for Cox and 101 for Allison; and R. O. Gregory was elected to fill the place vacated by John Soder. Other candidates were Jack Schuster and W. L. Shafer. Houston Hart received one write-in vote.

At Circleback, Sudan voters voted 151 to 3 in favor of consolidating the Circleback school with Sudan. Enrollment at Circleback has been small for the past few years.

At Lazbuddie in Parmer county, I. T. Ford and J. T. Mayfield were elected to the board of trustees. Other candidates included incumbent C. C. Graef, Lloyd Vaughn, Leland Ivy and Demp Foster. A total of 70 votes were cast in the election, with Ford receiving 36 and Mayfield, 41.

At Three Way school, Ed Latimer and Morris Gant received the most votes from a field of seven candidates, including incumbents L. E. Warren and Jack Lowe; Millard Townsend, Tommy Taylor and Sheryl Lemons.

STRENGTH FOR THESE DAYS

... With men it is impossible, but not with God; for with God all things are possible.—(St. Mark 10:27.)

There is no limit to God's love for us, His children, or to His power to help us in all mortal troubles large or small. Therefore we overcome all fear and anxiety when, through faith, we ask His blessing and then place our complete trust in Him.

The county delegate will join other youth of the United States and Canada for a week's study of the U. N. in New York, the trip to begin June 1. It is the 8th consecutive year when this pilgrimage has been staged. Local Odd Fellows and Rebekahs explained the method of procedure to The Journal as follows:

All expenses will be paid for the delegates chosen. Boys and girls, now sophomores or juniors in high school, 16 years of age and under 18 years of age as of August 1, are eligible.

SOIL BANK OR WEED BANK

From Southern Statesmen
One provision of the Soil Bank Conservation Reserve program may result in greater loss to America than all its benefits. This provision permits planting Conservation Reserve acres with seed, regardless of weed content, to establish the vegetative cover for the first year phase of the conservation, or long term Soil Bank lease. Such seed need not be processed or tested, thus no control of weed content is possible.

Millions of tax-payer dollars have been and are being spent to control weeds. Weed control frequently is the greatest cost in production of a given crop. Seedmen are rigidly regulated and are subject to fines and imprisonment for violation of the laws governing weed seed. Millions are invested in processing plants and research to enable the American farmer to plant seed free of noxious weeds, yet the Soil Bank program is prepared to support the practice of planting weed containing seed by payment of tax dollars to farmers in the program.

In a typical Texas county, the cooperators can receive a payment of $1.30 per acre for seed, plus $1.70 per acre for land preparation and planting. Sorghum grain from the bin or elevator at approximately 2 cents per pound cost 10 to 20 cents per acre. No one will deny that the remainder of $1.10 to $1.20 per acre is a nice "profit" on the transaction, justified perhaps, to a farmer who has been through a disastrous drought.

But is it a good deal? Most elevator and bin run lots of grain sorghum in this area contain Johnson Grass and bindweed, along with other less noxious seeds. Cost of eradicating bindweed can exceed the value of the land, and a few seeds, once established, can take possession of a tract of land, hence the name "possession vine".

STRENGTH FOR THESE DAYS
Put on the whole armour of God, that ye may be able to stand against the wiles of the devil. — (Ephesians 6, 11.)
Temptations to evil surround us daily; we may succeed although knowing the results will make us suffer. Some of us are steel-willed enough to resist—but any one of us can, with God's help, fight valiantly, win gloriously, for then we will not be fighting alone.

CARD OF THANKS
We want to thank everyone for their kindness at the death of our father and husband; for your sympathetic expressions and your ever helpful acts; and the food brought to the home and the beautiful flowers.
May God bless you.

Bible Comment:
In Ancient Times
Micah Saw Peace
For All the World
THE vision of a world of peace, with the nations beating their swords into ploughshares and spears into pruning hooks, seems far off these days. But it is precisely because the world is at odds that this vision is important. One can look back to the days of ancient Israel and the prophet Micah, the man who saw the vision of a warless world and of a Prince of Peace judging righteously between the nations. It was a long time ago but it also seems a long way to look forward to the realization of any such dream when we think of the international hates and jealousies and strifes that are manifest in the world today.

There is hope on our own American continent. It was not long ago when, along borders that have now been peaceful over 100 years, men were at war. Novels and films have told the stories of these terrible conflicts when men, white and red, fought with awful savagery.

Yet today we live in a land of peace, and men and governments live side by side along those borders where horror and terror once prevailed.

It is not impossible to believe that such peace may yet come to nations in other parts of the world. There is still hope.

But what hope can there be of achieving this until there is a new heart in men and a new soul in nations? The new peace in the world is not going to come by chance. It is only going to come as men turn from ways of evil and greed to ways of right.

It was Micah who spoke of religion as consisting in loving mercy and in doing justice. He saw the Lord's house established on the top of the mountains and the nations coming to that house in reverence and devotion.

Holt Runs With Record Setting Mile Relay Team

Jimmy Holt, Muleshoe track star on the Texas University's sensational track and field team, again had to come from behind and he again put Texas in the lead as the University speedsters set up a new Texas Relays record in the mile relay Saturday. The Texas lads sped the mile in 3:19.8, best time in the nation this year for the event.

Running the second leg, Jim got the baton in third place but handed his third leg team mate a five yard lead. The mighty Bobby Morrow, running third leg, for ACC, again put his team in the lead but Eddie Southern, Texas anchor man pulled the race out of the fire and Texas won by five yards.

Texas U. won its own relays by an imposing margin. They will be competing April 18 against SMU, ACC, Southern California, and Texas A & M in the Dallas invitational. Other important meets will be April 19-20, the Kansas Relays, and the Penn Relays later on. The schedule calls for a trip to Mexico City and to the Pacific Coast before the season ends.

ASTHMA: TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN—

So that other sufferers of Asthma may know and profit from our experience, I am giving this statement. Our two daughters, ages 3 and 5 had suffered all their lives with Asthma. We had tried shots and other medications to no avail. We had also tried a change of climate, in an effort to find relief for them. We had even considered moving to a different climate. We could not take the girls out at night as they would cough and wheeze for the remainder of the night.

When we brought our daughters to the Muleshoe Chiropractic Clinic on February 2 of this year, we were very discouraged as we had tried everything and they were not getting any better. Dr. Green examined them and made Spinal X-rays. They were given adjustments on February 4 and from the first adjustments their condition began to improve. After a comparatively short period of time, the girls were much better. Their symptoms have disappeared and they have gained weight. Now for the first time in their lives, we are able to take them out at night.

I do not hesitate to say that I know Chiropractic has helped our girls with Asthma and I think anyone with Asthma, who fails to investigate Dr. Green's work, is doing much needless suffering.

So you want to be STRONG

Remember this: "Some folks just naturally wouldn't want a Farm Bureau as strong as all farmers working together could make it."

It is so easy to be "Against" things—A few loud voices can do farmers a lot of damage. Indeed, it is quite another thing for "Loud Voices" to be "for Something" and make it work.

Farmers, through Farm Bureau, have never made a policy of attacking any program without first advancing a better program. WHAT HAVE YOU DONE TO MAKE IT WORK? Do you exert your thinking in shaping policy making resolutions? Do you attend meetings?

Do you accept responsibilities of holding community and county office?

Do you accept committee assignments?

"Loud Voices" don't attack, criticize, and destroy that which they have helped to build.

Delta Kappa Gamma Sorority Holds Initiation Luncheon March 30

Members of the Gamma Iota Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma initiated five new members March 30 in Sudan. These were Mmes. Jewel Dale, Sudan; Mildred Macon, Olton; Imogene Chance, Sudan; Elsie Wilson, Sudan, and Marvin May, Olton.

For this luncheon the theme was "Oneness of Objective for all the World's Teacher Organizations." Mrs. Lee Nowlin of Plainview, who gave two vocal solos, "The Lord's Prayer" and "My Hero," also directed the presentation of the many state scholarships of this society. Four groups of four members each marched into the accompaniment of a drum beaten by Ms. Willie Merle Halthcock, each member bearing a pennant displaying the name of one scholarship. The leader identified each of these scholarships and urged the members to use them.

The luncheon was served in the Sudan high school cafeteria. Hostesses were Mmes. Charles Nichols, Marvin Tollitt, and James T. Lybrand of Sudan.

Spring Breezes Flutter New Scarf Accents

STYLES come and go as the whims of fashion designers dictate, but scarves are as constant as the first robins with their perennial message of spring.

Shown at left is a frothy, white organza, polka-dotted in navy. Made to tuck into the neckline of a spring suit or suit-dress, the oblong scarf has a narrow band of navy satin at each end. At right, a sheer, white organza Ascot is caught by a flower made of the same fabric to add a springtime touch to last season's dark dress. This wardrobe-stretcher can be tied in a bow or it can be permitted to stream down the front of the costume.

Spring Cleaning May Be Going Out of Fashion

Spring, or fall house cleaning, for that matter, is fast going out of fashion, according to Minnie Bell, extension home management specialist. It's a killing job when all of it is done at one time.

Smart homemakers are learning that they will look and feel better, and appearance of the home will always rate tops if some of the special cleaning jobs are planned throughout the year, along with the regular cleaning.

Women are both managers and workers in most homes. Even women with maids will get more for their time and money if they plan ahead. Good management means choosing the best time to do a job, choosing the easiest method, and keeping supplies and cleaning equipment handy and in good condition.

Keep plans simple and flexible, suggest specialists. Start by listing the jobs that need to be done. Decide when they should be done and make a schedule. If family members help with cleaning, decide who will do each job.

Work out the best method for doing each job. Ask yourself, "what do I do and why?" Answer by checking the way you work. Chances are you will be able to eliminate steps and cut down on walking, standing, carrying, stooping and reaching.

Decide what tools and supplies will be needed for the various jobs. Locate them in the most convenient places. Small equipment and supplies can be assembled in an open basket or box with a handle which can be carried easily from room to room. Convenient cleaning closets save time and energy and keep equipment in good condition.

HARRIED HOUSEWIVES

Organize Your Day So Myriad Problems Won't Spoil Your Disposition and Family

Hectic Hattie is easily recognized. She is usually a housewife with toddler underfoot and perhaps a new occupant in the nursery. She is always remarking, as she removes a wisp of hair from her eyes and attempts to straighten a hopelessly wrinkled dress, that twenty-four hours just aren't enough for formula brewing, diaper changing and rescue operations. Her household cleaning often takes a back seat to the demands of the children and a personal grooming routine is a luxury of the wonderful past.

A new and growing family can be a difficult one to propel thru a day of organization, much less relaxation. However, with a little planning, you can be relaxed and well groomed throughout the day, even though there is no time to work at it.

The first suggestion is to solve the clothing problem. For housework, wear well-cut, simple dresses, shorts or slacks. Easily wrinkled housedresses should be replaced by those inexpensive, wonder fabrics of seersucker, nylon or dacron. An iron never need nod to these miracle fabrics. Most of the "pretties" available today are crease resistant and sturdy. Permanently pleated wash and dry outfits are especially attractive, and hundreds of hours of slavery over the ironing board can be eliminated. Save the high-heeled pumps for a quick change before company arrives or hubby comes through the door. Low or medium-heeled shoes are a necessity if the day's activities consist of constant dashes from living room to kitchen to nursery and back again.

There are many extra minutes for relaxation to be found during the workday if we look for them. While the stew is brewing on the stove, Junior is playing outside, and the baby is asleep at last, take a "breather." This doesn't mean a neighbor on the phone or reading the paper. You have used your voice and eyes enough as it is. Turn the radio down low, stretch out on the couch, kick off your shoes and relax.

Follow these suggestions, and, of course, plan your chores on a logical and flexible schedule. Then, by the time the man-of-the-house arrives home, you will greet him with poise and prettiness, rather than with tears and traumas.

CHOIR PRACTICE

The Muleshoe community choir met Monday night at the First Christian church. Members present practiced on the Easter music to be presented at the Easter Pageant at the Cox Drive-In Theatre Easter morning. All choir members are urged to be present next Monday night, April 15, at 8 p.m., at the Christian Church to practice on the Easter music, as it is the last Monday night before Easter Sunrise Services.

GIRL SCOUT CONTEST

To honor one of the many men who have helped in the Girl Scout program over a period of years, Brownie Troop 69 is sponsoring a Mr. Girl Scout contest among 10 of the men who have helped in some way or other.

Each man will have a placard with a jar attached and his name on it in various stores, the one having the most money in his jars will be Mr. Girl Scout for 1957.

April is our month to re-register in the National Council, so, therefore each year we will elect a Mr. Girl Scout. Each Troop next year will select a man they think has helped with Girl Scouting and have him as their candidate.

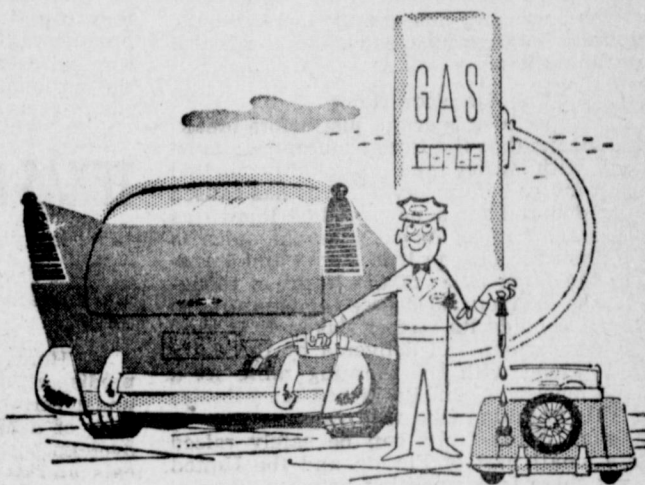

Men who have been selected are: Gil Lamb, Thurman White, Howard Cox, Charles Lenau, Judge Glen Williams, Bill Moore, Horace Blackburn, June Wagnon, Red Simmons, and J. M. Forbes.

Proceeds of this contest will go to beautifying the Scout Hut. In fact the flower beds have already been plowed and ready for planting.

Your cooperation in this will be greatly appreciated.

Babson Discusses ...

THE CITRUS INDUSTRY

Babson Park, Mass., April 11 — When a very small boy I remember my father driving his horse and buggy to Salem, 15 miles away, to get an orange for his very sick aunt. Those were the days when no Christmas was complete unless we found an orange in the toe of the stocking which we hung by the fire before going to bed on Christmas Eve. I remember later one orange was given by the public school principal as a reward for having perfect attendance for the entire school year.

How The Orange Industry Has Grown
In 1900 the entire State of Florida produced only 1,000,000 boxes of oranges. In 1923, when I first came to Florida, production was only 10,000,000 boxes. This year it will be 95,000,000 or 100,000,000 boxes. With babies continuing to be given orange juice as their first food and with continued heavy advertising, nothing can stop the demand for orange juice. Furthermore, there have been great improvements and developments in the industry.

When I first came to Florida winters only, "whole fruit" was shipped out of the state and sold. Then, about 25 years ago, the co-operatives were developed and some orange juice was then canned. This, however, always had a little bitter taste. Some 10 years ago the "frozen concentrate" was invented. This gives exactly the same taste as the fresh juice and has greatly increased the consumption of orange juice as well as the health of the entire nation.

The American Habit
Most orange juice is drunk just before breakfast. This means that the frozen concentrate must be mixed with water and thoroughly melted some ten minutes before serving. This has caused a growing demand for a new product known as "chilled" orange juice. As soon as the juice is squeezed from the orange it is stored and transported to the large cities of the North in refrigerated trucks at about 40 degree temperature, so that the juice holds its perfect flavor. It is then put in paper cartons and delivered by the dairy companies along with the morning milk. At a result, the housewife can lie in bed ten minutes longer! This is taking like wild fire.

Although citrus fruits can be safely raised in only a small part of Florida and the United States, yet there is competition between Florida, Texas, Arizona and especially California. The latter state, however, is growing so fast that orange groves are becoming more valuable as home sites and citrus production is decreasing.

Keeping Up To Date
All of this competition results in constantly improved quality and in keeping the price within the reach of all families. Hence, with the constant growth in population, demand will continue to increase. But North America is not the only market for citrus juices. Foreign governments are also recognizing their great health value.

The English government is buying the juice in a super-concentrated non-refrigerated form, like molasses, and distributing it to its babies to supplement a small supply received from Spain, Italy, and other Mediterranean sources. To get good products, however, these countries must import phosphate and other fertilizer chemicals, most of which come from Florida close by the center of the Florida citrus industry. This gives Florida an advantage over all the world.

Great Opportunities Are Elsewhere

I, however, am not telling this story about the citrus industry just to boom Florida. I am telling it to show what a group of farmers can do by uniting in co-operatives and getting the help of research and advertising. The citrus industry has never had subsidies or price guarantees. It has fought its own battles without any limiting of acreage of government loans on surplus crops.

Why cannot the farmers of our Central West and South do the same thing with their surplus corn, wheat, cotton, and other products? Henry Ford once said to me: "When the farmers wake up and quit crying on Uncle Sam's shoulders they can find a great use and market for their products as raw materials in industry." Agriculture needs a great leader like Henry Ford and the national advertising which the humble citrus growers of Florida are giving their products.

TEXAS FIGHTS CANCER

Is human cancer inherited?

A Texas scientist has made a study of this, and his answer is: "No. One can't inherit cancer."

Humans may inherit a susceptibility or a predisposition to cancer, however. That means that under certain conditions — possibly in the presence of a cancer virus (if such a thing exists), overexposure to cancer-causing rays and chemicals and a hormonal imbalance — certain humans are likely to develop a cancer.

Even in experimental animals it is not easy to develop a strain which inherits cancer. Mice and rats must be inbred for many generations for them to show cancer with predictable frequency.

Help Texas scientists fight cancer. Address your contributions today to: CANCER, c/o Postmaster, Muleshoe.

Bible Comment:

God's Great Mercy, Hosea Tells Us, Is Our Best Hope

PROPHETS who denounce social injustice, and warn of the sure judgment of God against evil men, are necessary. Amos was such a prophet. But there is another aspect of truth — the mercy of God who is full of kindness and forgiveness toward those who repent and seek His ways. In the prophecies of Hosea, the note of appeal is uppermost. His message is God's forgiving love. It concerns the God whose justice rebukes sin but whose love restores and heals.

Like Amos, Hosea represents God as desiring goodness. The knowledge of Him is more than burnt offerings. Even in the formal observance of religion, without the reality of good characters and deeds, Hosea saw the backsliding of the people whom God had chosen.

But he says that God will heal their sin. He loves them freely and His yearning for them to return is greater than His anger. This is the high point in the progress of Old Testament teaching concerning God. From the idea of vengeance—"an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth"—we are progressing toward the idea that will find its full expression in the New Testament—that only through good can evil really be overcome and that only love and grace can bring salvation.

As the way of selfishness and sin is the way of folly, so the way of return to God, the acceptance of His mercy and the dependence on His power is the way of wisdom.

"Who is wise," asked Hosea, "that he may understand these things? Prudent, that he may know them? For the ways of Jehovah are right and just, shall walk in them; but transgressors shall fall therein."
"May God's call of mercy prove stronger than His judgments to all of our day who have gone the way of folly."

Christian Science Services

How sickness as well as sin can be overcome through spiritual understanding of God, divine Principle, will be brought out at Christian Science services Sunday.

Keynoting the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Are Sin, Disease, and Death Real?" is the Golden Text walk in them; (103:2-4): "Bless the Lord, O my soul, and forget not all His benefits: who forgiveth all thine iniquities; who healeth all thy diseases; who redeemeth thy life from destruction."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

THEY CAN'T SEE TO READ VERY WELL

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Beller, early settlers here, now residing at Rocky Ford, Colo., are cancelling their subscription to The Journal. For one thing, they don't know many people here any more, and for another, they said, failing eyesight makes it hard for them to read their paper. Their interesting letter to The Journal follows:

Dear Editor:
Will you please discontinue the paper to us. Have enjoyed it, but as we are up in our years, 77 and 74, and neither well, and can't read too much; and very few there that we know.
Went there in 1925, left in 1935, having lived here since 1935. I myself am an aunt to Bill Hamblin; W. S. is an uncle of David Beller and related to the Buhmans at Y. L.

IN LUBBOCK

Doris English was in Lubbock Monday attending a sales meet, luncheon and luncheon for the World Gift Company. Also attending to Girl Scout business.

In addition to passages from the King James Version of the Bible, selections will be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy including the following (406:1-6): "The Bible contains the recipe for all healing. The leaves of the tree were for the healing of the nations. Sin and sickness are both healed by the same Principle. The tree is typical of man's divine Principle, which is equal to every emergency, offering full salvation from sin, sickness, and death."

As they drove away, Drummond sat with the driver. He said, "John, if your horses ran away, what would you do?" "I don't quite know," said John. "But," said Drummond, "if your horses ran away and you had someone by your side who knew how to manage the wildest horses, what would you do?" John replied, "Ask him to take the reins."

Then Drummond said, "Sometimes our passions are like wild horses." "Yes," said John, "I understand." Then Drummond said, "John, will you ask Jesus Christ to take the reins of your life? He can help you to master your passions."

A year later Drummond paid another visit to his friends. John

THIS WEEK

—In Washington

With Clinton Davidson
You can learn more about what Congress is thinking by talking with a few of the top leaders than by listening to all the long speeches made on the Senate and House floors.

Sit down across the desk from one of them, Sen. Warren G. Magnuson of Washington State, for example, and you get a pretty good idea of what is on their minds. As chairman of the powerful Senate Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee and a member of the Appropriations Committee, Magnuson, the 50-year old bachelor from the Northwest corner of the nation, is rated as one of the most influential men in the Senate.

When we dropped by recently to chat with the former iceman from Seattle we assumed he'd want to discuss the business situation and government spending. His committee memberships would indicate those are his main interests.

"I am very much concerned with those," he told us, "but right now I think low farm income poses a greater threat to our national economy than anything else. Not many people in cities realize how much of a threat it is to their jobs and their business. Our economy is like a three-legged stool. It rests on farming, labor and business. If one is appreciably shorter than the other it becomes unbalanced. Right now the farming leg is so short that, if not corrected, it could upset our whole economy and set off a serious depression. And, it wouldn't be the first time it has done that."

Magnuson thinks the threat of a farm-led recession is increasing. Last year, he said, corporation profits increased by about as much as farm income decreased, while labor's purchasing power stood about still. As a result, he added, the economy is becoming more and more lopsided.

"If it were not for large spending for defense and foreign aid," Magnuson said, "the 5-year decline in farm income very likely would have resulted in a serious reversal of business prosperity long before this."

He regards the present farm program as a series of "patches on patches" which has little chance of succeeding. He is one of the principal backers of the Domestic Parity plan, often called a two-price plan, for wheat.

"We formerly grew our own livestock feed in the Northwest, wheat," Magnuson said. "Now we buy corn from the Midwest and pay high freight costs instead of feeding wheat, and that leaves the government as the only market for a big portion of our wheat."

He is co-sponsoring with Sen. Frank Carlson, Kansas Republican, a bill identical with the one passed last year and then vetoed, to put a two-price wheat plan into effect — one price for human food and a lower price for livestock feed.

"Talk of farm surpluses doesn't scare Magnuson nearly as much as it does Agriculture Secretary Benson. "I see nothing to become alarmed about because we have enough reserve to do us six months," he said. "That much could be very valuable in any serious emergency, such as war." Like most other congressmen, Magnuson is concerned by our $4 billion a year defense and foreign aid program. "We've got a bear by the tail and no way yet to let go," he said. "If we suddenly stopped, with assurance of world peace, our economy could not stand the shock."

Sandhill Philosopher Says ... He Operates Farm On International Level, Explains Its Shape

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm explains his farming operations this week, or at least we suppose that's what he's doing.

Dear editor:
A lot of people tell me I don't know how to run my farm out here in the sandhills and they may be right, as most people are experts at not knowing how to do things anyway, but the trouble with these people is they don't understand the level I'm operating on.

I operate on the international level, and when you get upon that plane, it takes a different kind of sense.

For example, take the Suez Canal. It's an example of operating on the international level. As I understand it, Mr. Nasser, the president of Egypt, took over the canal last Fall from its builders, England, France and a few others, and England and France started a war to get it back. Then Nasser sank 47 ships in the canal, and that blocked it off from everybody.

Well, then the United States and the United Nations talked England and France into calling off the war, which they couldn't afford to wage anyway, and everybody agreed to something. What it was, nobody seems to know for sure.

At any rate, the United States put up 17 million dollars to have the canal cleared of those sunken ships, and now that Nasser is going to let ships sail through it, except everybody feels sure he intends to collect the money.

This is what I'm talking about. You'd think we'd had some binding agreement with Nasser before we put up the money to open up the canal, or we'd have let him clear it out himself, since he said it was his.

The way it stacks up now, somebody built the canal for Egypt, Egypt took it over, Egypt sank those ships in it, we paid for having them cleared out, and Nasser is still in charge without ever having put up any money, from start to finish.

This is known as operating on the international level, and you can understand why my farm is in the run-down shape it's in.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Today's Meditation

Read Luke 15:11-20.
If any man will do his will, he shall know of the doctrine, whether it be of God, or whether I speak of myself. (John 7:17)

Henry Drummond had been visiting some Scottish friends. Upon taking his leave, his hostess said, "Henry, I wish you would speak to John, our coachman. He has got into some bad habits and is drinking heavily. Nothing we say to him does any good."

As they drove away, Drummond sat with the driver. He said, "John, if your horses ran away, what would you do?" "I don't quite know," said John. "But," said Drummond, "if your horses ran away and you had someone by your side who knew how to manage the wildest horses, what would you do?" John replied, "Ask him to take the reins."

Then Drummond said, "Sometimes our passions are like wild horses." "Yes," said John, "I understand." Then Drummond said, "John, will you ask Jesus Christ to take the reins of your life? He can help you to master your passions."

A year later Drummond paid another visit to his friends. John met him at the station with the words, "I have given Him the reins, sir."

Small Irrigation Wells Increase Cotton Yield on J.D. Thomas Farm

The High Plains of Texas have been under the influence of a serious drought since 1951. Because of this, many farmers have turned to irrigation as an escape from the disastrous crop failures which have prevailed. Many of the farmers who are served by the Bailey County Electric Cooperative with headquarters at Muleshoe, Texas, are fortunate in that under their land is stored a very valuable ground-water resource. The amount of available water varies considerably in the different sections of the area. In the southern portion of Bailey county and the northern portion of Cochran county, well yields are, for the most part, rather limited. However, farmers are finding that expeditious use of the water for irrigation is paying dividends.

A visit was made in March 1957, with C. O. Jones to the farm of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Thomas, four miles northwest of Morton. There a sprinkler system was in use, storing valuable water in the soil at a time which in advance of the planting date. Mr. Thomas stated that he now has five irrigation wells, one of which produces 180 gpm and the other four averaging less than 60 gpm each. He had just completed construction of a new well which we watched him measure. It produced less than 30 gpm. By combining the flow of several of the wells into a single sprinkler system, it is possible to do a creditable job of irrigation. Mr. Thomas stated that without electric power it would be almost impossible to economically pump his small wells at an average pumping lift of 120 feet. Two of his pumps are powered with 10 hp motors, two with 5 hp motors and one with a 15 hp motor. These pumps are used to irrigate 224 acres of cotton. 1955 was the first year in which Mr. Thomas irrigated any of his crops. Last year, with the exception of three weeks during which he planted his cotton, the pumps ran continuously from the first of March to the tenth of September.

He irrigated 120 acres on which 82 bales of cotton were produced. Directly adjoining the 120 irrigated were 58 acres of dryland cotton which produced 16 bales.

The cost of power for production of the 82 bales was $700, which was less than $6 per acre. Last year two inches of rainfall were received after planting time and between six and seven inches total were received. The return per bale on the irrigated cotton was approximately $14 more than that on the dryland cotton. This was because of a longer staple on the irrigated cotton. Mr. Thomas estimates that the earnings on the irrigated land were $55 more per acre than on the dryland. The total investment on wells and irrigation equipment is $15,000 and he plans on spreading the irrigation over 224 acres. In anticipation of some day receiving normal rainfall, Mr. Thomas feels that he can use the available water over the 224 acres. He says that he has operated this farm since 1945 and did fairly well until 1952. Since that time he has lost money for four consecutive years. Following is listed the cotton yield and the number of acres farmed each year from 1952 through 1956:

Year	Yield Increase
1952	23 bales on 350 acres.
1953	69 bales on 450 acres.
1954	23 bales on 292 acres.
1955	52 bales on 237 acres.
1956	117 bales on 224 acres.

*In 1955, 27 of the 52 bales were produced on 60 acres which were irrigated.

*In 1956, of the 117 bales produced, 82 were from 120 acres of irrigated land.

Mr. Thomas was positive in his belief that he should have begun irrigation at least four years ago. In fact, he made enough money last year under irrigation to pay debts which had been mounting since 1952. He feels that with his $15,000 investment in irrigation equipment, he can now make a good living for his family, which includes Mrs. Thomas, Janice 7, and J. Mark 4.

The labor problem, as far as irrigation on the farm is concerned, has been solved by Mr. Thomas doing most of the work himself, with the assistance of one laborer. At the present time two sprinkler systems are in use, with plans for another to be purchased this year. Until now Mr. Thomas said he has been his own engineer. However, he is securing technical assistance from sprinkler irrigation supplier's engineers.

Because of the fact that the land has been dryland farmed, considerable residual fertility exists, and crop production, as listed above, has been accomplished without the use of fertilizers. However, a fertilizer program is planned for the future.

The family has two Durham milk cows from which calves are grown each year for beef; also a garden is grown to produce vegetables for storing in the home freezer; and a family flock of hens produce eggs for home use. With this diversified farming enterprise and with the

Hegari Varieties Are Explained By A & M Agronomist

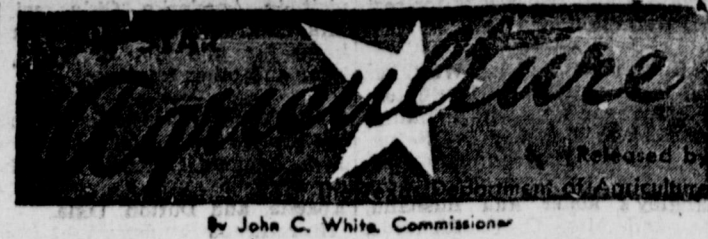

There is a lot of difference in the varieties of Hegari now available to Texas farmers. According to Associate Extension Agronomist Lee Coffey, reports reaching him indicate that considerable confusion exists among farmers as to the variety of Hegari they should plant.

Coffey offers these suggestions to farmers who plan to plant one of the varieties of the popular grain sorghum, Regular Hegari, he says, is recommended for bundle feed. Under good growing conditions, this variety will make a plant about six feet tall and is an excellent producer of forage and grain. Seed supplies are said to be on the short side.

Hi-Hegari is a comparatively new variety which was developed by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station as a silage crop. This variety, under good growing conditions, averages considerably taller than regular Hegari and is a heavy producer of forage. Seed of this variety have been reported from at least one section of the state as scarce.

Early Hegari grows taller than Martin milo and is often too tall for combining. Its stalks are finer than other varieties and is recommended for hay. Seed supplies are said to be adequate.

Combine Hegari, says Coffey, is shorter than Martin and should not be used for hay or bundle feed. Under ideal growing conditions, it is one of the better producing grain sorghum varieties. It is, however, a poor grain producer under drought conditions. Coffey adds that it is often difficult to combine because it has poor head exertion and dries slowly. It is also rather late in comparison to other varieties of combine grain sorghums. Seed supplies are adequate.

AGRICULTURE SIDELIGHTS ON TEXAS

TEXAS VEGETABLES may be slightly higher this spring, due to acreage cutbacks. Onions, already 16 percent higher than last year, and slightly higher prices on cabbage are due to reduced crops in the Valley and Winter-Garden Areas. Tomatoes are expected to continue to rise due to the short anticipated crop, one-fourth below last year's production. In contrast, bargains may result from big out-of-state crops such as Florida sweet corn lettuce, asparagus, broccoli and cauliflower.

TEXAS EGG PRICES, already below 1956 price levels, will continue to sell cheap through the spring, but are expected to begin a market increase by mid-giving protection for several should be getting prices well above 1956 levels.

BEST INSECT REPELLENT yet will be put on the market this spring. A product of agriculture research, the new repellent successfully defends against attacks by mosquitoes, chiggers, ticks, fleas and biting flies. The repellent, an organic chemical called diethyl toluamide, will provide long-lasting protection for outdoor laborers and sportsmen. Its pleasant lotion feel recommends it to picnickers and backyard gardeners.

One of its best features is that it can be used to impregnate fabrics, and can even be applied in dry cleaning processes. As a matter of fact, it is even more effective when applied to trouser cuffs or stockings than directly to ankles. Not only is it more effective, but the new diethyl toluamide repellent last longer where most damage occur, the hours.

GRASSHOPPERS will be with Texas again this summer, although if rainfall continues over West Texas and the Panhandle severe drought conditions, which threat will be lessened somewhat. Last year's bumper grasshopper crop was largely due to severe drought conditions, which always aggravate the 'hopper menace.

Short Course On Swine Planned At A & M May 6 and 7

Theme of the sixth annual Swine Short Course to be held at Texas A. & M. College on May 6 and 7 will be "Developing a Meat Type Hog Program in Texas". The short course committee headed by T. D. Tanksley, Jr., extension animal husbandman, emphasizes that the program will be of interest to swine producers, buyers, packers, and right on down to the consumer.

A special attraction will again be the cut-out contest and here the committee invites hog producers, both juniors and adults, to enter a barrow in this part of the program. Tanksley says each person may enter one barrow and it must weigh between 200 and 230 pounds when weighed in at the A & M Swine Center. Entries must be delivered to the Center either on the afternoon of May 5 or before 8 a.m. on May 6. Tanksley says local county agents, voc-ag teachers or swine breeders can supply detailed information on this phase of the short course.

Fungicides Are Tested On Cotton Seedling Disease

Healthier root systems and higher per acre plant populations resulted in 1955 and 1956 cotton tests when fungicides were mixed with covering soil at planting time. However, Plant Pathologist G. M. Watkins says the fungicide treatments were only partially effective in controlling cotton seedling disease complex.

No single fungicide or mixture of fungicides gave good results over all locations on all soil types tested. No general recommendations can be made for Texas at the present time. Watkins says, although better test results were generally obtained with mixtures of two or more fungicides. Dust fungicides used in 1955 tests tended to be toxic, relates the specialist, therefore only sprays were used in last year's experiments. Tests were planted at two locations in each of three cotton-producing areas of Texas. Two nozzles sprayed the soil immediately ahead of each covering device while a third nozzle sprayed soil as it was rolled over the seed. Sprays were applied at a 10 gallon per acre rate.

Vancide 51 and Dithane D-14 were the only fungicides to give any measure of control when applied alone. Other chemicals such as Captan, Zineb, PCNB, and Puratized Agricultural spray were not effective in single applications.

Watkins credits some of the improvement in 1956 results over those of 1955 to using all spray applications and a more efficient spray nozzle arrangement which gave a more thorough mixing of fungicides with covering soil. Research is still seeking a more satisfactory answer to the seedling disease problem. Watkins concludes.

Your county agent can provide further information about the fungicide tests, or complete details contained in Progress Report 1930 are available from the Agricultural Information Office at College Station.

Parmer County Farm Bureau

Thursday, April 26, 9:00 o'clock at Bushland, Southwestern Great Plains Field Station, the tenth annual meeting of the Texas Weed Control Association will take place. For the past several years, your Farm Bureau weed committee has had representatives in attendance. This will be no exception. We are sure you would enjoy the day of demonstrations, and gain some very helpful information. A free lunch will be served at noon, making it very convenient to spend the full day on the grounds without interruption. If you would like to go with a group, please leave your name at the Farm Bureau office, or with County Agent Joe Jones.

We expect to be able to give you a definite count of county Farm Bureau membership by next week. All we can say at this time is that it exceeds six hundred. Until all cards have been processed and accounted for, it is impossible to make a positive count.

Senator George Moffett of Chillicothe offered a senate amendment to the appropriations bill last week to increase funds available for Texas Experiment Stations. Senator Jerrard Secrest of Temple offered a similar amendment for the benefit of State Extension Service. Both amendments were defeated. We are happy to say that our Senator, Andy Rogers, of Childress gave full support to both amendments all the way through. The bill now goes to a conference committee for further action. Your local Farm Bureau Officials have wired again, urging passage of these amendments in the interest of research that will increase market value of farm products. If you will let Senator Rogers and Representative Jesse Osborn know you are interested in this legislation, too, it may help prospects of such passage. The only opposition we know of comes from the school teaching profession, which contends that money allotted to agriculture, would otherwise have gone into their pockets. It seems that 7 1/2 millions from a fund of ninety-one million would not be too much for that group to allow for agriculture, which is largely responsible for their employment in the state anyway.

American Eating Habits Affect Regional Market For Farm Produce

American families are continually changing their tastes and habits in eating, and these changes affect markets for various types of farm products. A. B. Wooten, extension economist, said this week that these changes reflect a number of influences such as a general rise in family incomes and new methods of marketing which make new foods and more foods generally available. A long term influence, Wooten said, is the movement of people from farms to urban communities and the general reduction in purely farm population. A food survey by the USDA covering more than 6,000 families in all parts of the nation shows a distinct difference between farm and city eating habits. As the population shift continues, this movement is bound to affect future farm markets, explained Wooten.

For one thing, city families showed a general preference for processed foods. Farm families used larger amounts of fresh vegetables while processed vegetables—frozen, canned or dried—appeared in larger quantities on city tables. City families also consumed larger quantities of bakery products and smaller amounts of such commodities as flour and cereals.

In general farm families were using more grain products than city dwellers. This is undoubtedly one of the reasons for a long-term downward trend in consumption of grain. Farm families used over twice as much flour and cereals as city families in the North Central region and nearly three times as much as the South.

Wooten pointed out that these regional differences in eating habits also play a part in determining how much of various types of food a family will eat.

Rabid Dogs Threat To Children In Warm Spring Days

The rabid dog is a constant threat to all children, asserts Dr. C. M. Patterson, extension veterinarian, especially on warm spring days when large groups of youngsters congregate in play areas. Rabies is currently a serious problem in several sections of the state, and should be a subject of real concern to pet owners everywhere.

Dr. Patterson says any warm-blooded animal is susceptible to rabies, but that it is most likely to be spread by the predator-type. Symptoms are hard to define, explains the veterinarian, but its a good practice to suspect any animal if it loses the fear of man.

U. S. Senator Lyndon B. Johnson, accompanied by Y. A. Yarbro of the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association, land in a helicopter on the roof of the Conrad Hilton Hotel in Chicago, where the Senator addressed the national meeting of the REA organization. The whirlybird brought the two Texans from the Chicago airport.

Keep under observation any suspicious animal should it bite a human, advises Dr. Patterson. If the animal is not available, the person should be placed under competent medical supervision at once.

Texas law now empowers commissioners courts to declare the county a rabies control area, Dr. Patterson says. This should extend more efficient control programs into the state's rural areas. Vaccination of all pets and strict impoundment of every stray dog are essential features of a good control program, he adds.

Wild animals sometimes carry the danger of rabies to farms and ranches, endangering livestock as well as farmers, Dr. Patterson warns rural people to be on the lookout for strange-acting animals, particularly foxes, coyotes, skunks, and civet cats. Pets coming in contact with any suspicious domestic or wild animals should be given a booster shot, he warns, even if already protected by a standard rabies shot.

Clergymen May Be Eligible For Social Security

Clergymen who want social security protection, but who have not filed waivers of their social security tax exemption, should file the waivers by April 15, 1957. It was announced today by District Director of the Internal Revenue Service and by John G. Hutton, manager of the Social Security Administration's district office. After April 15 some of the clergymen who have not filed waivers will be unable to come under social security.

By filing waivers last year many ministers, members of religious orders, and Christian Science practitioners elected to have their earnings in 1955 and subsequent years count toward old-age, survivors, and disability insurance. Those waivers remain in effect and need not be renewed.

Other clergymen who have not yet elected to be covered should file waivers by April 15 if they wish to have their earnings in 1956 and subsequent years count toward social security. The election is made by filing Form 2031 with the District Director of Internal Revenue. Form 2031 may be obtained from the District Director or from any Social Security Administration office. After April 15, 1957, a clergyman who has not filed a waiver is barred by law from electing social security coverage if in each of the years 1955 and 1956 he received $400 or more net earnings from self-employment, including any salary, fees or honoraria as a minister, member of a religious order, or Christian Science practitioner.

A clergyman who elects social security coverage pays his tax as a self-employed person. His church is not liable for the tax.

A representative from the Lubbock Social Security office will be in Muleshoe on April 18 at 9:30 a.m. at the Courthouse.

Fete Committee Deferred Grazing Bill Gets Okay

Senator Lyndon B. Johnson's bill providing for the establishment of a deferred grazing program in drought-stricken areas has been reported favorably by a unanimous vote of the Senate Agriculture Committee.

"I am going to get this bill up for action in the Senate just as soon as I can," Senator Johnson said, following the Committee's favorable report. "I am hopeful that we can get it passed soon."

by several Texas Congressmen, has been approved by the House of Representatives.

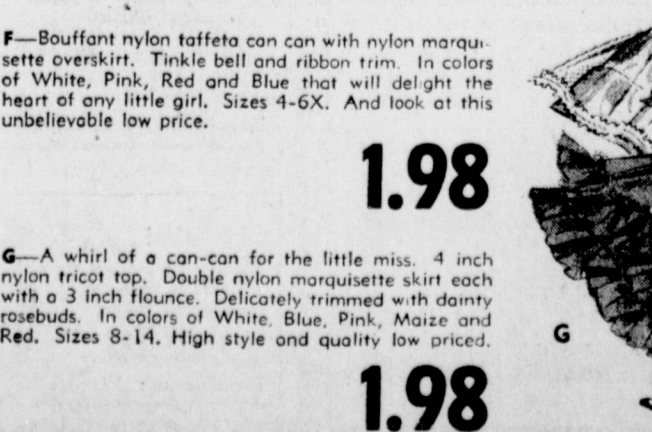

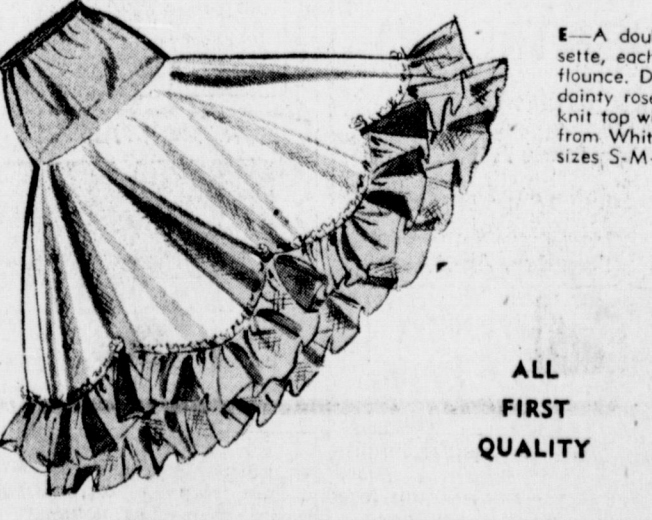

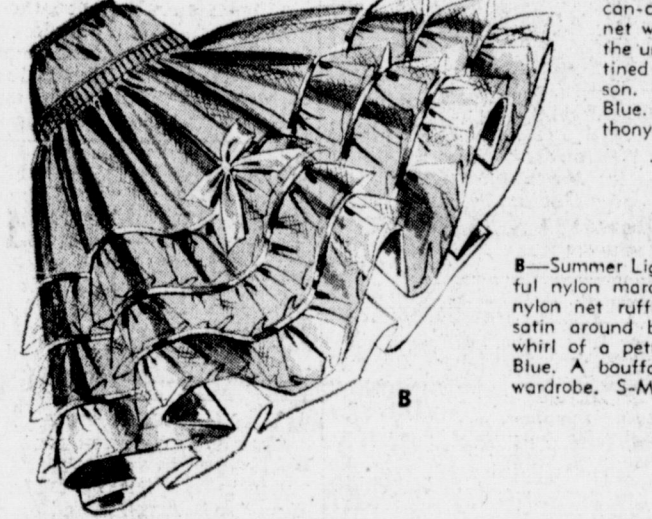

Senator Johnson's bill would require the Secretary of Agriculture to provide a program in the drought areas under which farmers and ranchers would receive payments for deferred grazing as a means of allowing the land to recover its productivity. As amended by the committee, the bill would be effective for five years after enactment, would provide for limited use as well as non-use, and would provide for payment at rates not more than the fair rental value of the land for normal grazing. Payment to any one person would be limited to $5,000 for land in any one county or land operated as a single unit.
