E. R. MUNN DIES VERY SUDDENLY

Prominent Tahoka Farmer Buried Sunday Afternoon; Had Fatal Appendicitis Attack

The people of Tahoka and Lynn county were greatly surprised and shocked to learn Saturday that their fellow citizen, E. R. Munn, had died early that morning. Just two or three days prior to that time he was on the streets, conversing with friends, and apparently in good health. Stricken suddenly with appendicitis, he was taken to Lubbock, and underwent an operation Friday. The disease had already reached the acute stage, however, and physicians were fearful from the start that his life could not be saved. He died at an early hour Saturday morning. The funeral was conducted from the Methodist Church Sunday afternoon, Rev. O. J. Hull, pastor of the Baptist Church, officiating, the Methodist pastor being out of town.

Mr. Munn was born in Arkansas on February 9th, 1878, and was 54 years of age, therefore, at the time of his death. He removed to Texas in 1900 and to the Plains in 1920. He lived at Draw in Lynn County several years before purchasing and moving to a farm a few miles north of Tahoka.

Mr. Munn had many friends in Lynn County, as was evidenced by the fact that so many crowded into the Methodist Church Sunday afternoon to attend the funeral services and to pay their tribute of respect to the memory of the man who had lived and walked among them. Twenty-eight years ago he professed faith in Christ and united with the Church. He lived a manly, upright, Christian life, and was a tender husband and father, a good neighbor, and an excellent citizen.

Besides his beloved wife, he left a son, Marvin, and three daughters, two of whom are married, one residing at Slaton and another near Tahoka. One little girl is left in the home.

We join many friends in deploring the untimely death of this good man, our beloved fellow citizen and friend.

"Love For Governor" Forces To Organize

Supporters of Tom Love for governor are preparing to thoroughly organize throughout Lynn county, we understand. Tom Love sentiment in this county seems to have been crystallizing rapidly since he spoke in Lubbock a couple of weeks ago, and his supporters are preparing for greater activity from this time on out.

Baptist Revival Will Begin Here July 13

Baptist are making every preparation for the revival services which are to begin here Sunday, June 13, and continue two weeks.

Mr. Grady Helms of Fort Worth has been engaged to lead in the song services. He comes highly recommended, and the song services promise to be a great feature of the meeting.

Rev. O. J. Hull, the pastor, will do the preaching. He is one of the strongest gospel preachers in this entire section, and he expects to throw his whole soul into this campaign.

Every Baptist in and near Tahoka is expected to do his full duty during this series of services, and all other Christians are cordially invited to cooperate.

Baptist Roll Call Is Next Sunday

A feature of the service at the Baptist Church next Sunday morning will be a roll call of the entire membership. This has not been done for several years and it is believed that a call of the roll will be both enlightening and interesting. Besides, there are possibly some omissions and other errors that need correcting, and this will aid in detecting the errors. It is earnestly desired that every member of the church be present, if possible.

There will be a forceful sermon by the pastor and the song services have come to be one of the most enjoyable features at the services of this church.

A big, live Sunday school, with a class for every child from 1 year to 80, will meet at 9:45. You are urged to be present at 9:45 too. Don't wait till 10.

Tahoka Wins From Brownfield; Levelland Plays Here Friday

Tahoka won her second game of the South Plains League season last Sunday afternoon at Brownfield, the local team scoring 13 runs while Brownfield failed to cross the home plate.

Tomorrow, the Fourth of July, Levelland comes to Tahoka for a game. Although Levelland has lost both of her games in the league, she defeated Tahoka several days preceding the formation of the league, and tomorrow's game may end with either team the victor. Sunday afternoon Lubbock will play here.

In the game with Brownfield, "Lefty" Squires secured 12 strikeouts and allowed no bases on balls. Tahoka received 17 hits and Brownfield 5.

JIM FERGUSON HERE SATURDAY

Heard By 1000 Lynn County Citizens; Was First Time He Had Spoken Here

A crowd of 800 to 1,000 people heard James E. Ferguson as he spoke from the court house steps last Saturday morning in the interest of his wife's candidacy for governor. Speaking for thirty or forty minutes, his address consisted mainly of a defense of his administration and that of Mrs. Ferguson in the management of the penitentiary system. He declared that when he was governor he made the penitentiary pay its way, and he explained how he went about the matter. In this connection he also defended his record in granting pardons and contended that the liberal use of the pardoning power was both wise and humane. In a touching—almost thrilling—manner he related how he slipped in to the dining room with the convicts on one occasion and ate dinner with them in order to get the "low-down" on penitentiary problems, how the presence of the governor finally became known, how he talked to the inmates and how they then opened up their hearts and talked to him.

In a most effective manner he also defended his right to give Mrs. Ferguson advice and counsel if she should be elected governor. "Yes, sir,"

Visiting Pastor At Methodist Church

In the absence of the pastor, Rev. R. T. Breedlove, who is away from home in a revival meeting, the pulpit of the Methodist Church here was filled Sunday at both the morning and evening hours by Rev. Ed. Sharp, the Methodist pastor at Post. He had a good congregation at each hour.

Rev. Mr. Sharp is a brother of our own J. F. Sharp and a warm personal friend of H. W. Calaway. We understand that he and Calaway as boys used to raid water-melon patches together somewhere over in Coryell county. But that was a long time ago, and young Sharp grew up and made a dandy good preacher in spite of early associations.

Labeled Infertile Eggs Draw Money

Local produce dealers are advising poultry raisers that if they will label their infertile eggs as such they will bring a better price on the market. It is a violation of the law, however, to label eggs as infertile when in fact they are not infertile. The State Health Department at Abstin is said to be keeping close tabs on petty cheating of this kind and is able to trace it down long months after it is done. Very few people in Lynn County have been guilty of this offense, local dealers say. Poultry raisers selling infertile eggs should label them and get the higher price.

Texas has more prisoners confined for violation of the prohibition law than any other state in the union and more than 32 other states combined on that count. (Authority: Representative Bachman, W. Va.)

Two Women Hurt As Car Turns Over

538 Names In Last Week's Paper

Last week's issue of the Lynn County News carried the names of 538 Lynn County people, one person out of every twenty-three in the county. All of these people did something that was of news to our readers.

POULTRY STILL BEING STOLEN

Thieves Continue Depredations On County; Arrests Almost Made Friday Night

Quite a number of poultry raisers have been complaining lately of the theft of chickens from their hen houses. The sheriff's department has been making a special effort recently to catch some of these thieves but thus far all their efforts have been in vain. The officers got hot on the trail of some parties Friday night who are said to have been out raiding hen roosts but the culprits finally succeeded in eluding the officers and getting away. Boyd Rice, who lost a bunch of hens recently, is said to have discovered some persons again prowling around his hen house and gave chase. They beat him to town and he lost them. Mr. Rice resides in the Dixie community. On the same night, W. C. Cowan, who resides here in Tahoka, claims to have lost 50 or 60 hens. It was about the time they were leaving the Cowan premises, it is said, that Lawrence Sanford, son of the sheriff, who resides near the Cowan home, discovered that something a bit unusual was happening at the Cowan hen house and proceeded to investigate. The culprits had already gotten in their work. Lawrence made a quick follow-up but was unable to bag his game.

Mr. Sanford advises owners of chickens to keep their poultry houses securely locked at night and to keep as close a watch as possible over their hen houses. He is very anxious to catch some of these miscreants whose chief occupation seems to be raiding hen roosts but it is hard to catch them after they are gone.

Scouts Attending Camp At Post

Eleven Tahoka Boy Scouts and assistant Scoutmaster Everton Nevils are attending the encampment of the South Plains Area Council being held on the scout encampment grounds near Post beginning last Monday. This encampment will continue for two ten-day periods, the Tahoka boys will remain during the first period.

Those in attendance from Tahoka include Preston Strasser, Bob Caviness, Lester Prater, Elwayne Nevils, Kenneth Reid, James Applewhite, Joe Bob Billman, Eura Reid, Jack Childers, Jack Speight and A. G. Cook.

Fifteen or twenty tents have been erected and boy scout troops from a number of counties in this district are on the grounds. The boys get a fine outing and splendid training at the same time at these encampments.

Young pigs needs plenty of exercise to prevent them from becoming too fat. It is often necessary to force the pigs to take exercise several times a day during the first ten days of their lives. The indications of too much fat are small rolls of fat around the neck and jerky breathing. The common term for this trouble is "thumps."

ONE'S INJURIES LIKELY FATAL

Died At Marshall; Failed To Make Corner On Highway 84 At Central Church

Mrs. J. W. Lively, 83, received probably fatal injuries and her daughter, Mrs. Vernon Jenkins, was seriously injured and rendered unconscious when their car overturned Tuesday afternoon on Highway No. 84 at Central Church 11 miles east of Tahoka.

After receiving emergency treatment at a near-by farm house, they were taken to a sanitarium in Lubbock, where both ladies are still unconscious. Physicians held out little hope for the recovery of the elder woman. She is suffering from an apparent fracture of the skull. Dr. Townes of Tahoka, who was called to give emergency treatment, says that the scalp was almost completely severed from the skull. Mrs. Jenkins suffered a fracture of the clavicle and possible injury to the spine. Her condition is considered very grave.

The two ladies are said to be residents of Marshall and were on their way to Brownfield to visit another daughter of Mrs. Lively, Mrs. W. A. Bell.

Jack Reeves, who is in the state highway patrol service, made an investigation of the accident for the Department Wednesday, and according to statements made to him the car was running at a speed of 50 to 60 miles per hour when the accident occurred. The driver, Mrs. Jenkins, evidently was not aware of the turn in the highway at Central Church until she was near the point where it began to curve. She was then unable to make the turn and hold the car in the road. Evidently the brakes were applied just before the car went over the outer rim of the curved roadbed but when the car left the dump it leaped a distance of twenty-one feet, Mr. Reeves says, and then turned over completely three times. Mrs. Lively was pinned under the wrecked car while Mrs. Jenkins was thrown twenty feet beyond it and was found in the bar pit.

Mr. Brookshire, who was at work in a field near by, was a witness to the accident.

Introductory Letter Aid Mexico Visitors

Those who plan to visit Old Mexico on their vacation trips this summer may avoid some trouble in getting permission to cross the international boundary if they will get letters of introduction from their local Chamber of Commerce secretary. This information has been written C. C. Williams by C. Munn, secretary of the chamber at Laredo, and is passed on for the benefit of our readers.

FIFTH SUNDAY MEETING HELD

Motor Accidents Are Increasing

Motor vehicle accidents continue as the red blot on American accident experience, which, in 1929, resembled that of other recent years in three respects: an increase in the total number of persons killed, an increase in the death rate per 100,000 population, and a marked increase in automobile deaths.

Motor vehicle killings in 1929 totaled 31,000, more than 3,000 in excess of any previous year, claiming a human life every 14 minutes.

When compared to casualties in the World War in which 34,249 American soldiers were slain in action and 13,700 died of wounds, or a total death roll of 47,949, automobile accidents last year took a toll of life equal to 64 per cent of the total fatalities to American participants in that conflict.

Casualties resulting from grade crashes in 1929 totaled 2,485, or only 8 per cent of the 31,000 killed in all types of automobile accidents. It would, therefore, seem that the railroad grade crossing is not the place to look for the correction of this alarming situation.

The economic costs of motor vehicle accidents continue to rise along with the number of deaths and injuries. The estimated economic loss for 1929 was $850,000,000 or $350,000,000 more than in 1923. An annual waste of $1,000,000,000 from motor vehicles will soon become a reality, unless something is done to check the increase.

Only 16 passengers were killed in train accidents on the Class I railroads of America in the entire year of 1929, while 85 persons were killed by automobiles every day.

Any reductions brought about in the number of other types of accidents are every year more than overcome by increases in motor vehicle casualties.

This is a problem which vitally concerns the public and it is one in which the public must show some concern before any improvement is possible.

LIVING ROOM IMPROVEMENT IS TAKEN UP IN TOWNS

Jacksboro—Living room furniture built of old pieces, and treatment of walls and floors are of chief interest to visitors who have toured the living rooms improved in the recent contest among Jack county home demonstration club women, Miss Alpha Lynn, home agent, states. Centering around seven demonstrations, 73 other farm women added comfort and beauty to their homes, and so contagious has the spirit become that several Jacksboro women have begun improvements similar to those of the country women.

Among the improvements noted in the various homes are the refinishing of woodwork in 21 homes, of walls in 14 and of floors in nine. A total of 114 pieces of furniture were added, including chairs, couches, tables, bookcases, pictures, victrolas and radio sets, and writing desks. Magazines and newspapers were subscribed for in 38 homes. Useless furniture, calendars and bric-a-brac were moved out of 40 homes; 29 added draperies; nine commercial and 35 home made rugs were laid; and 23 better lighting systems adopted. Facilities for games were added in 13 homes.

JAKE PARALYSIS IS INVESTIGATED BY U. S.

"Jake" paralysis, which has been in vogue in many parts of the country for some time is undergoing intensive investigation by governmental officials.

The many cases of this disease have at least made drinkers all over the country cautious and thus tended to hinder liquor traffic temporarily.

After making a trip to Mississippi and Louisiana U. S. Prohibition Commissioner Doran declared the concoction consisted of creosote, carbolic acid, alcohol and the ginger flavoring and that some impurity in the creosote was believed to be causing the malady.

LIMBER NECK DISEASE NOW LAID TO USE OF "JAKE"

Oklahoma City.—Prevalence of a form of face and neck paralysis believed to be caused by drinking poison liquor is alarming Oklahoma City physicians, according to city Health Director Miles.

Miles said the condition is known as "swellhead" or "limberneck" and that it is caused by drinking poison liquor. He said the victim's face becomes swollen and that the neck becomes uncontrollable from partial paralysis.

CLUB WOMEN WORK TO IMPROVE COUNTRY BUTTER

Wichita Falls.—Wichita county home demonstration club women are determined to make country butter something more than country butter, 127 women having gone in for scientific butter judging on a systematic basis. Each of 15 community clubs, aided by Miss Ethel Louise Webb, home agent, selected champion butter judges, and at Iowa Park recently Miss Evie Swanson was declared the county champion and will represent the county in the state contest at College Station July 30.

Work Of Ancient Engineers Found

An elaborate system of canals built by Indian engineers somewhere about 1200 A. D., and now almost entirely lost to view, has been successfully mapped by the penetrating eye of the airplane camera. The mosaic map of what might be called invisible ruins was made from a United States army plane and by an army photographer. Neil M. Judd, archaeologist of the United States National museum, supervised the aerial survey over the Gila and Salt river valleys, in Arizona.

Preliminary reports from the army officers reassure Mr. Judd that the photographers achieved their purpose though the work of developing and arranging the negatives is not complete. The pictures were taken from an altitude of about two miles.

The magic ability of airplane photography to bring back into existence plans of vanished buildings surprised the people of England when Maj. O. G. S. Crawford showed that his air pictures could record the plans of Roman towns and fortresses long since plowed over. Now, Mr. Judd has shown that the same magic works for America's prehistoric.

Tasty Home Dresses Made At Low Cost

Abilene.—All but ten of the 184 home demonstration club women enrolled in Taylor county made and exhibited house dresses in white is said to have been one of the largest contests of this kind held in Texas. It was conducted by Miss Caroline Chambers, home agent, who shows that it cost these women on the average $1.57 for material for a house dress that required four and one-half hours to make.

The value of the average dress constructed was placed at $3.40, leaving each woman about 40 cents per hour for her labor. But the chief value, according to contestants, was in securing well-made garments of color and design appropriate to the wearer.

Sonora's first railroad station is under construction. Operation of Santa Fe trains is expected there soon.

RANDOM THOUGHTS

(By W. J. Crouch)
Editor Lynn County News:—
To say that I enjoy reading the News columns would be putting it mildly. Sometimes—quite often, in fact—I don't agree with you in your editorial expressions and feel tempted to severely criticize you for such ideas as you endeavor to inculcate in the minds of your readers. Then I think of the Scriptural language where it says: "Add to your patience knowledge," or something to that effect. Well Mr. Editor I have been trying to hold my patience for quite a while and since I have accumulated some knowledge to add to it I thought I had better unload some of it before I become top heavy and topple over. In the first place I want to hand you a bouquet in appreciation of a recent editorial in reference to newspaper publicity of state candidates and your belief that the reading public was entitled to such information as the editor was in possession of in reference to the various candidates. Yes Mr. Editor I want to say that I agree with the sentiment expressed by you in said article.
Now Mr. Editor I have chosen "Random Thoughts" for a heading, but perhaps "Random Shots" would be more appropriate as it somehow comes back to my mind after a half century's time since I studied "Webster" that the word means shooting without taking aim, and I guess you and most of your readers will agree that the title is correct.
I am glad, Mr. Editor, that you found out about Clint Small's record heard that speech of Tom Love's and in the Senate for like you I have formed a very favorable opinion of the gentleman and rather consider him as my second choice among the numerous candidates. Now-as Clint is a candidate and of course as Tom feels kinda sore over the muck raking it is only natural for him to paw up a little earth on the battlefield and lay aside his Senatorial courtesies and tell a few secrets out of the Legislative school down at Austin. Now most of us fellows out west were led to believe that the Legislature was just holding a burlesque session or Kangaroo court just to tease Tom and a few of his friends and that Dan was in on the joke. Well anyhow after reading your comments and finding out that Clint was in dead earnest I went over to the courthouse and sat down on the steps to listen to the speech of Jim Ferguson and when he arose with that old time smile and announced that he was "The only Specimen of humanity outside of captivity that was permitted to run at large that was debarred of the right and privilege of holding office," and as he proceeded with his speech and told of his experience and management of the prison system and related his talks to the prisoners, told of his kind and humane treatment and promises of clemency to those who would reform, I could not doubt his statement and somehow the conviction came to me that he was exemplifying something of the Spirit of the Blessed Saviour when he hung on the rugged cross and the thief on the other side asked him to remember him when he cometh into his kingdom and Christ's answer that "This day thou shalt be with Me in Paradise." Somehow, Mr. Editor, your comments in your Clint Small article came into my mind and I was made to realize that if a legislature can pass judgment on a lot of free American citizens and forbid them the privilege of participating in a primary election, perhaps another legislature in the remote past could have been influenced by certain powers and parties to impeach the then young, vigorous and active Governor of Texas, James Ferguson, who was afterward tried in the Court of Justice for the alleged offenses for which he was impeached and was freed and declared not guilty. Now Mr. Editor, Tom Love, yourself and a number of others resent the action of the last legislature in their endeavor to prohibit you from participating in the coming Democratic primary. You feel there was an attempt to do you a wrong and you were glad that the governor vetoed the law. Well no governor had the power to veto the impeachment verdict of the same body that disfranchised you; and Jim Ferguson as he stood before the audience with his greying hair, his tired and careworn expression, still held his head erect and faced the world as a brave man, not asking either sympathy or the pity of his fellowman. But only the privilege to serve his country in a secondary capacity and to shoulder his part of the responsibility as a citizen of his native state which had dealt him such a blow.

O. J. JACKSON

Oh the woe that politics bring. Of sorrow, grief and pain, It poisons minds with a deadly sting Or leaves it victims over the battlefield slain.
Now, Mr. Editor, you may conclude from the foregoing that I am electioneering for Mrs. Ferguson and Jim, but to disabuse your mind I wish to state that I am only paying tribute to a man whom I am convinced the State has greatly wronged, and to set all minds at rest will say that Jim Young's name will be counted on my ballot unless he proves unworthy between now and election day. I am for a new deal, sick and tired of old worn out isms, and obsolete issues, don't favor the proposed bond issue, nor removal of the penitentiary, I am willing to concede every Texas voter the inalienable right to form his own opinion and vote for whom he chooses, but when he enters the portals of the Democratic or any other party primary I think he ought to be game enough to throw his dice and abide by the results. And further, Mr. Editor, I don't go much on this conscience apology that some of my friends are resorting to. Why not come square out and say that their judgment dictates to them that it would be to the best interests of the Nation or State to adopt certain measures and if the party to whom they have always given their allegiance makes a blunder on some particular issue but stands square up to the measure on every other vital question is it to the best interests of yourself or neighbors to go over to an enemy party that promises you no definite legislation or policy in return for the surrender of your life long convictions? I have always felt that many of my dearest friends were misled during the last National election and subsequent events are proving that their expectations were not being realized. One of the most iniquitous tariff laws ever enacted has been passed by Congress and signed by President Hoover adding millions of dollars to the already overburdened taxpayers and American consumer of manufactured products. Foreign protests against duty increase has had the effect to already cause a decrease in foreign trade volume for the first quarter of the present year. The American export trade has sloughed off $380,000,000 and import trade is off $330,000,000 a shortage of $50,000,000 as a trade balance and as a consequence other nations are looking elsewhere for their supply of raw material. Farm products have gone down despite the farm board's assistance. Anti-prohibition activities are proclaimed from all the northeastern states. "Raskob and Tammany" don't seem to be the only forces working for the return of the saloon. Press dispatches announce that President Hoover openly gave his support to the nomination of Dwight Morrow, a dripping wet candidate for U. S. Senate from N. J. and Mr. Morrow has already requested that the Republican party of his State adopt a plank in party platform for the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, and furthermore I read in the press about the Bishop Cannon incident before the lobby investigating committee that about the only friends or members of that committee that showed him any respect or courtesy were the two Al Smith Democratic members, Walsh and Caraway and that Bingham as spokesman on the Republican side exhibited a very vindictive spirit despite the fact that Cannon had aided the Republicans to carry several of the States of the South which exemplifies the trite old saying of poor old Tray keeping bad company.

Texas had 7,021 farms electrically served from transmission lines at the end of 1929. This represented a gain of 1,236 over 1928, but only 1.5 per cent of the 465,646 farms in the state.

THE VALUE OF SOUND DESIGN

New Ford engine gives outstanding acceleration, speed and power without sacrificing reliability or economy

The good performance of the Ford car, so apparent on every highway, is due largely to the sound mechanical design of the engine.

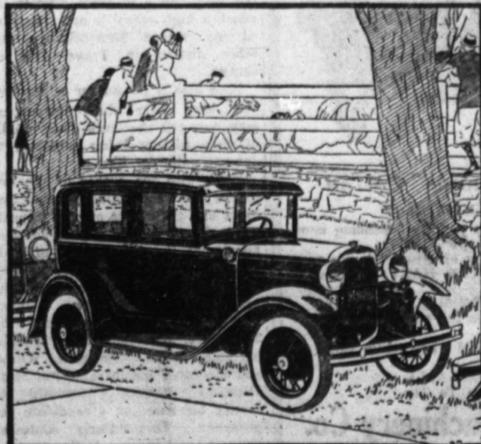

It has outstanding acceleration, speed and power, yet that is only part of its value to you. Greater still is the fact that it brings you all these features without sacrificing either reliability or economy.

That is the reason the Ford car has given such satisfactory service to millions of motorists all over the world and has been chosen by so many large companies that keep accurate cost figures. In every detail of construction it has been carefully planned and made for the work it has to do.

The design of the compression chamber is an important factor in the efficiency of the Ford engine. It is built to allow free passage of gases through the valves and to thoroughly mix the fuel by producing turbulence within the cylinders during compression. The spark thus flashes quickly through the whole fuel charge, resulting in quieter and more effective engine performance. Other factors are the direct gravity gasoline feed, the specially designed carburetor, the new hot-spot manifold, aluminum pistons, chrome silicon alloy valves of larger diameter, statically and dynamically balanced crankshaft and flywheel, the simplicity of the electrical, cooling, lubrication, and fuel systems and accuracy in manufacturing.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC

Any erroneous reflection upon the reputation or standing of any individual, firm or corporation, that may appear in the columns of the News, will be gladly corrected when called to our attention.

Jim Young keeps on charging that Clint Small is the candidate of "special interests". Clint Small has entered a vigorous denial, stating that no "special interest" has contributed a single dime to his campaign. Young also insists that Small was brought into the race for the sole purpose of dividing his vote.
We do not believe that Small was brought into the race for any such purpose, but it does seem to be a fact that his candidacy has knocked the very whey out of Jim Young's chances to get into the run-off.

The jury system was given another knock when that Eastland jury brought in its verdict in the Davis case a few days ago. The jury found the defendant guilty and gave him a five years suspended sentence. A jury a year or two ago had found him guilty and assessed the death penalty. Presumably the evidence was about the same in both trials.
Yet one jury says "Death" and the other swings the jail doors open and tells the defendant to walk out a free man. The News does not favor the abolishment of the jury system but it does favor transferring from the jury to the trial judge the power to assess the penalty in every criminal

RID OF BAD TASTE

Georgia Man Tells How He Takes Black-Draught
When Bilious.

Valdosta, Ga.—In telling how Theodford's Black-Draught has helped to keep him well, Mr. O. A.
Aldrich, of this city, says:
"Black-Draught is a good medicine. I began taking it when just a boy, for biliousness and as a laxative.

"When I get bilious, my mouth has a bad taste and I get dizzy, feel light-headed. A few doses of Black-Draught usually make me feel like new. It seems to cleanse my system of impurities, my head gets clearer, and the bad taste is gone from my mouth.

"I am a rather healthy, strong man, taking very little medicine, except for the dizziness I mentioned.
"It is good to know that there is a good laxative like Black-Draught to take and give quick relief."

Thousands of other men and women find Black-Draught a great help in relieving common ailments due to indigestion, constipation and biliousness.

Theodford's Black-Draught is prepared from medicinal roots and herbs, of highest quality, finely powdered, carefully combined and packaged by automatic machinery.

Easy to take—no disagreeable after-effects. Price 25 cents. Net 200 case, just as they do in the Federal courts. This would require a constitutional amendment, and the people should demand that this and other amendments to our state constitution should be submitted.

IS THIS THE WORK OF A BAD MAN?

Tom Love has been abused so much during the past two years that it is possible that many of the people of Texas have forgotten his long record of service to his country.
Here are some of his accomplishments briefly told.

He entered political life as a member of the legislature from Dallas county in 1903 and helped to write and to pass the Terrell election law. This law wrested power from the politicians and vested it in the people and wrought a revolution in Texas politics.

He is the author of the law enacted in 1903 requiring railway locomotives to be equipped with electric headlights. It was enacted over the opposition of the railway corporations for the benefit of the employees and the public.

He was one of the authors of the law requiring street railways to carry school children for half fare. In the passage of this law he won a signal victory over the street railway companies of that day. They went into the courts contesting its constitutionality. Love fought them all the way through to the Supreme Court of the United States, in which tribunal the constitutionality of the law was upheld.

He wrote and helped to pass the resolution submitting a constitutional amendment providing for the establishment of state banks in Texas, and in 1905 he helped to draft and to pass the present state banking law. The state banks of Texas owe their very existence to Tom Love more than to any other man.

In 1903 he had his first conflict with the liquor interests. Under the local option law then on the statute books, many counties were going dry. To combat the inroads of the Drys, the liquor interests secured the introduction of a bill providing that when a county went dry, any city or town or political sub-division in the county might hold an election immediately and vote the saloons back in to such city or town. This would have killed county-wide prohibition in many counties, and Love fought the bill, well known in that day as the Willacy bill.

The brewery and liquor interests fought him at the next election, but he defied them and was over-whelmingly re-elected. In the following legislature, in 1905, he introduced a bill taxing out of existence the cheap-license beer saloons, but it failed of passage.

In 1906 he was again re-elected, on an anti-beer saloon platform, and over the opposition of the liquor interests he was elected speaker of the next house. In this, the 30th legislature, he helped to pass the law making it a felony to run a gambling house in Texas. He also helped to pass a law taxing out of existence C. O. D. shipments of liquor from wet to dry territory, which practice was making virtual saloons of many express offices in dry territory. He also secured the passage through the House of a high license bill which would have closed every brewery saloon in Dallas, but it was killed in the Senate. He succeeded, however, in writing into the city charter of Dallas provisions which closed all saloons in residential districts.

In 1905 he introduced and secured the passage of the law providing for county depositories of public funds, whereby these funds draw interest, as a result of which many counties in Texas have saved many thousands of dollars for the people. He was likewise author of the state deposti-tory law, making similar requirements as to state funds. This law has likewise saved the people of Texas countless thousands of dollars.

In 1905, Tom Love of Dallas, W.
D. Williams of Fort Worth, and A.
M. Kennedy of Waco were the joint authors of laws that greatly reduced ad valorem taxes, substituting other sources of taxation.

In 1907, he was appointed by Governor Campbell as Commissioner of Insurance and Banking, which office he held till 1910, when he resigned.

In 1908 and 1910 he actively supported the submission of a prohibition amendment to the state constitution, and in 1911, after the amendment had been submitted, he made speeches for state-wide prohibition.

In 1911 he issued the call for the meeting which resulted in the organization of the Woodrow Wilson State Democratic League of Texas and was elected president of the organization. As such he invited Wilson to Texas to speak. Wilson accepted and spoke both in Dallas and Fort Worth. The next Spring Love was elected one of the delegates from Texas to the Baltimore convention, which nominated Woodrow Wilson as the Democratic candidate for President of the United States. It was in this convention that Love had his first political encounter with Tammany Hall. Tammany was fighting the nomination of Wilson, Bryan, who was instructed for Champ Clark, was bitterly opposed to Tammany, and he finally swung over to Wilson. His fight for Wilson and against Tammany in that convention has become historic. Love and the other members of the Texas delegation stood steadfastly by Bryan and Wilson and helped them to win a signal victory over Tammany.

In 1916, when Wilson was a candidate for the second term, Love was called upon by the National Democratic Committee to assist in its organization work. He responded and served without pay.

In 1917, he was drafted without consultation and without notice by William G. McAdoo, Secretary of the Treasury, to act as one of his assistants. He was given supervision of two important bureaus, that of Internal Revenue and that of War Risk Insurance. He had 20,000 employees under his supervision and disbursed 500 million dollars of government funds, and the succeeding Republican administrations that investigated everything done by the Wilson administration were unable to find a single criticism of the manner in which these bureaus had been conducted and the money expended.

In 1917 Love favored the ten-mile liquor law which prohibited the sale of liquor within ten miles of any army camp or navy camp and closed practically every saloon in Texas.
In 1919, he made speeches for statewide prohibition and woman suffrage and he also actively supported national prohibition and national woman suffrage.

In 1927, he was elected to the State Senate. As a member of that body he actively and loyally supported the Moody policies. He introduced and secured the passage through both houses of a bill repealing the Amnesty Act. The Amnesty law, passed in 1925 while Ma Ferguson was governor, undertook to restore the civil rights of Jim Ferguson who had been impeached and removed from office. Love contended that the Amnesty Act, which undertook to kill the effect of Ferguson's impeachment, was unconstitutional. The supreme court of this state has recently held that the Amnesty Act was unconstitutional.

In 1927, Love introduced and secured the passage of the bill providing that pupils in rural districts in which a high school is not maintained may attend high school in any other district in Texas, free of charge.

Love also is the author of the new libel law, under which newspapers may now tell the truth about public officials without being subjected to damage suits for libel.

He is also the author of the law passed this year giving the supreme court and the courts of civil appeals original jurisdiction to issue writs of mandamus to compel party officials to comply with the primary election laws of this state. It was under the provisions of this law, whipped through a hostile legislature by Tom Love, that Love later brought his suit against Chairman Wilcox and the other members of the State Democratic Executive Committee to certify his name as a candidate for governor. They bitterly contested the suit but Love won in the supreme court on every inch of the ground.

And this is one reason why Love is so soundly hated.

In 1905 he introduced and secured
the passage of the law providing for
county depositories of public funds,
whereby these funds draw interest,
as a result of which many counties
in Texas have saved many thousands of dollars for the people. He was
likewise author of the state deposti-tory law, making similar requirements as to state funds. This law
has likewise saved the people of Texas countless thousands of dollars.

In 1905, Tom Love of Dallas, W.
D. Williams of Fort Worth, and A.
M. Kennedy of Waco were the joint
authors of laws that greatly reduced ad valorem taxes, substituting
other sources of taxation.

In 1907, he was appointed by Governor Campbell as Commissioner of
he held till 1910, when he resigned.

In 1908 and 1910 he actively supported the submission of a prohibition amendment to the state constitution, and in 1911, after the amendment had been submitted, he made
speeches for state-wide prohibition.

meeting which resulted in the organization of the Woodrow Wilson State Democratic League of Texas and was elected president of the organization. As such he invited Wilson
to Texas to speak. Wilson accepted
and spoke both in Dallas and Fort
elected one of the delegates from Texas to the Baltimore convention,
which nominated Woodrow Wilson
as the Democratic candidate for
was in this convention that Love had
his first political encounter with
fighting the nomination of Wilson, Bryan, who was instructed for Champ Clark, was bitterly opposed
to Tammany, and he finally swung
over to Wilson. His fight for Wilson and against Tammany in that convention has become historic. Love
delegation stood steadfastly by Bryan and Wilson and helped them
to win a signal victory over Tam-
many.

In 1916, when Wilson was a candidate for the second term, Love was called upon by the National Democratic Committee to assist in its organization work. He responded and served without pay.

In 1917, he was drafted without
William G. McAdoo, Secretary of the Treasury, to act as one of his assistants. He was given supervision of two important bureaus, that
of Internal Revenue and that of War
Risk Insurance. He had 20,000 employees under his supervision and
disbursed 500 million dollars of government funds, and the succeeding Republican administrations that investigated everything done by the Wilson administration were unable
to find a single criticism of the man-
conducted and the money expended.

liquor law which prohibited the sale
of liquor within ten miles of any
army camp or navy camp and closed
practically every saloon in Texas.
In 1919, he made speeches for statewide prohibition and woman suf-
national prohibition and national woman suffrage.

In 1927, he was elected to the State Senate. As a member of that body he actively and loyally supported the Moody policies. He introduced and secured the passage through
both houses of a bill repealing the Amnesty Act. The Amnesty law,
passed in 1925 while Ma Ferguson
was governor, undertook to restore
had been impeached and removed
from office. Love contended that the Amnesty Act, which undertook
to kill the effect of Ferguson's im-
recently held that the Amnesty
Act was unconstitutional.

cured the passage of the bill providing that pupils in rural districts in which a high school is not maintained may attend high school in any
charge.

Love also is the author of the new
officials without being subjected to damage suits for libel.

He is also the author of the law
passed this year giving the supreme
original jurisdiction to issue writs of
laws of this state. It was under the
through a hostile legislature by Tom Love, that Love later brought
his suit against Chairman Wilcox
and the other members of the State
certify his name as a candidate for
court on every inch of the ground.

And this is one reason why Love
is so soundly hated.

In 1905 he introduced and secured
the passage of the law providing for
county depositories of public funds,
whereby these funds draw interest,
as a result of which many counties
in Texas have saved many thousands of dollars for the people. He was
likewise author of the state deposti-tory law, making similar requirements as to state funds. This law
has likewise saved the people of Texas countless thousands of dollars.

In 1905, Tom Love of Dallas, W.
D. Williams of Fort Worth, and A.
M. Kennedy of Waco were the joint
authors of laws that greatly reduced ad valorem taxes, substituting
other sources of taxation.

In 1907, he was appointed by Governor Campbell as Commissioner of
he held till 1910, when he resigned.

In 1908 and 1910 he actively supported the submission of a prohibition amendment to the state constitution, and in 1911, after the amendment had been submitted, he made
speeches for state-wide prohibition.

meeting which resulted in the organi-

WHAT OTHERS THINK

We may be dumb but we can't understand why the baby of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Lindbergh should create any more consternation in democratic America than any other of the millions of children born annually.
True its daddy flew across the Atlantic by his lonely; also its mother is the daughter of a former Ambasador to Mexico, and has a great chance to become a United States Senator. Its blood is no thicker or bluer than other children born the same day in America, and a generation from now their child must take his place in competition with the sons of other parents in the race of life. Their son may win. We hope so. But somebody's son, whose parents went to their grave unsung, may be young Lindbergh's boss. We are glad to live in such a nation.
But the daily papers with their double and compound headlines would lead one to believe that an heir apparent to the throne of America has been born in a little village in New Jersey.—Terry County Herald.

Congress gives away more and more money to this and that group with little regard for right or wrong.
Seemingly all these congressmen want is to please importunate people by giving them the public money in exchange for good will and votes for themselves. It is positively dangerous to the politician, so he yields and pretends to like it. He secretly hopes, perhaps, that the President will have courage enough to save the treasury with his veto, while said congressman shirks his duty to protect the tax-payers from exploitation by the professional leg-pullers.
Then some of the Congressmen will come home and howl their heads off about the people being held up by high taxes when they themselves are directly responsible for this deplorable state of affairs. When will the American people take enough interest in public affairs to locate their friends and detect their enemies, rewarding the one and punishing the other? From present indications it will be a long, long time before the people learn to keep up with the devious ways of the politicians who are supposed to be their public servants protecting their financial interests.

Nature Thought of Everything

Nature thought of everything when the human body was made. When the body is about to become ill, nature planned danger signals to warn us. Thus, if our children grind their teeth when they sleep, or lack appetite, or suffer from abdominal pains, or itch about the nose and fingers, we should know that they may have contracted worms. Then, if we are wise, we buy a bottle of White's Cream Vermifuge and safely and surely expel the worms. Thus we avoid the danger of very serious trouble. White's Cream Vermifuge costs only 25c a bottle, and can be bought from

Happy Mother Is Enthusiastic About Konjola

Relates How New and Different Medicine Did Wonders For Her Little Boy Of Twelve

HARMON GLAZE

Results are what count, and Konjola can be counted on for results. Sufferers want relief, not promises. Konjola has made a matchless record simply because it does the things it is designed to do. Take, as a typical example of Konjola at work, the case of Harmon Glaze, 12, whose mother, Mrs. Annie Glaze, Route 4, Lonoke near Little Rock, Ark., says:

"My boy, Harmon, 12, had typhoid about five years ago, and his health since then was not good. He frequently had fever and had attacks of nausea. He had no desire to play and his appetite was poor. Nothing I gave him seemed to do any good. Konjola had helped me so much that I decided to give it to Harmon. Today, he is like a different person. He eats, sleeps, and plays like other children and is no longer subject to fevers. I am still giving him Konjola for it has done so much for both of us."

So it goes: victory after victory wherever Konjola is given the chance to prove its merits. You can put your faith in Konjola feeling that you will be rewarded abundantly.

Konjola is sold in Tahoka at the Tahoka Drug Co., and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

"Caught Short" One Of Best Pictures

"Caught Short" gives every indication that the names of Dressler and Moran will go down in history alongside of Amos and Andy, Gallagher and Shean, Anthony and Cleopatra, ham and eggs and any and all other famous combinations. Metro's program for next year specifies two more Dressler-Moran pictures. That is not nearly enough, and I'll be watching for them. And so, I'm sure, will the crowds who have contributed to the almost constant uproar at the Capitol.

Marie and Polly run rival boarding houses. They're constantly quarreling and vying with each other. Polly, much more modern than her competitor, goes in for electrical beds, three-syllable words and the stock market. Especially the stock market, in which she is much more successful than either of the other two. For the bed folds up at the wrong times, and her long words are quite malapropos. Marie resents all three. She refuses to be lured into gambling with the $3,800 she has saved up, even when Polly cleans up $50,000 in Brazilian Bananas. She learns that her daughter Genevieve and Polly's son, William, have broken up and that Genevieve is very miserable about it. Polly has taken her family to a ritzy summer resort and is trying to live like a lady. Marie is furious, and, casting all discretion aside, orders a broker to buy stock for her. That he chooses wisely is quite evident when we see Marie and her family proudly enounced in the same resort that Polly selected. But Marie's efforts to reunite the young couple seem to go awry when William revengefully decides to lead Fanny Lee, a show girl, to the altar. The ceremony is interrupted by the news of the Wall Street crash, which decides Fanny that William is not the boy for her. Marie and Polly are wiped out of the market and into partnership. We leave them in their bigger and better boarding house. To Charles Riesner should go a good deal of the credit for the hilarious effectiveness of the picture. His direction was superb. The dialog must have been written especially for Dressler and Moran. No one else could have done nearly as well with it.—Harry Tugend, New York.

Four members of the Flynt family of Ysleta, El Paso county, are 4-H Club members and two more, just under age, are training to get in to still further increase the family prestige in growing pedigreed cotton. Jack and Bill have won state trips to Chicago in previous years for having grown more than two bales of cotton each per acre.

Would You Know One If You Saw It?

If you ever came face to face with a germ, would you recognize it? Of course it is not likely that you ever will see a germ, unless you own a tremendously powerful microscope, for you would have to magnify one over a thousand times to make it as big as a pin head. But you should recognize the fact that these tiny germs can get into your blood stream through the smallest cut, and give you typhoid fever, tuberculosis, lockjaw, blood poisoning, and many more dangerous and perhaps fatal diseases. There is one sure safeguard against these dangers — washing every cut, no matter how small, thoroughly with Liquid Borozone, the safe antiseptic. You can get Liquid Borozone at THOMAS BROS. DRUG COMPANY.

"TRY CARDUI AGAIN"

Mother's Advice to Daughter Was Followed, and She Soon Got Better.

North Little Rock, Ark.—"Shortly after my marriage, my health wasn't very good," writes Mrs. W. E. Burgen, 315 West Second Street, this city. "I had severe cramping spells, and at times I would have to go to bed. This would be very weakening. I took about five bottles of Cardui at this time and my strength came back. I did not have any more trouble for some time."

Several years later, Mrs. Burgen found herself debilitated by heavy home responsibilities, and she explains: "I seemed very slow in getting my strength back. I was too weak to do anything but just lie around. I would get very nervous over my condition."

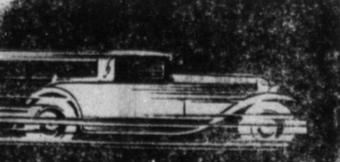

"My mother told me I ought to try Cardui again. I did, and soon was getting better. When I had taken about four bottles of Cardui, I was able to do my work again, and haven't had to take it any more."

If you are run-down, nervous, or suffer every month, take Cardui, a medicine used by women for over fifty years. As your health improves, you will share the enthusiasm of thousands of others who have praised Cardui for the benefits they have felt after taking it. Get a bottle, today. NC-228

Sees Better Days For Poultry Men

(By J. T. Hatch, Plainview, Texas)

There is a wave of depression following the early break in egg prices. A depression under such conditions is always to be expected. However, there is no reason to be alarmed. The man who gives thought to what usually follows such conditions and uses good judgment always wins. When a boy on the farm in the early days before marketing conditions were what they are today I observed when all the farmers planted beans the prices were low. The next year everybody laid off from beans and the prices went sky high, then everybody would put in beans the next year with a reverse of price conditions and so it went. It seemed to me to be a condition caused by lack of application of reason and judgment. Things are not so much different today. How many have given any thought to what would be natural to happen after a slump in early egg prices? I predict there is liable to be less poultry this fall and far greater demand for laying and breeding stock than many anticipate. It would be well to mark these predictions down on your calendar for future reference. The conditions the poultrymen have gone through this spring will prove a blessing for those who have been reading the handwriting on the wall and are prepared to have plenty of stock on hand to take care of the demand. An unexpected early break in egg prices alarm which swings the pendulum the opposite way to such an extent it causes many to regret their inactivity and lack of the application of reasoning judgment. This season has caused many a hatcheryman to get cold feet, stop advertising and loose money. I happen to know of others who have applied reasoning, pushed ahead with common sense and judgment and are recording the largest business they ever enjoyed. After all, business in any line is somewhat like a game of checkers. It pays to keep your eyes on the other fellow's moves. Of course you can follow him if you want to but it might be well to find out where he is going.

Long advocated as one means of maintaining satisfactory egg prices throughout the twelve months, seven Lee county poultrymen have banded forces to ship fresh infertile eggs thrice weekly to cold storage in Houston, there to await a more favorable market. An advance of $4.25 per case is made by the storage company.

WHAT OTHERS THINK

HONOR THE SABBATH

We hear much these days about modernism. We find that this rage of "fast and furious living" has well nigh torn down the ideals of former days, when the Sabbath was observed as a day of rest and worship, but we are of the opinion that it would pay large dividends if we would still observe the day as it should be observed. Marshall Field is one of the most successful men of today and here is a statement that he has sent out in print and it's worth your time to read it.

At the end of their first week in business the owners of a little shop lowered the curtains of their windows and went home.

On each succeeding Saturday night the curtains were pulled down and kept down until Monday morning.

As the little shop grew the suggestion came from many sources that the curtains should stay up. "The windows are beautiful," people said, "let us walk by and look."

The owners had an old-fashioned back-ground. They had been taught in childhood that six days are enough for the things that are seen. The first-day of the week, they said, is for the things unseen—rest and worship, and family life, and freedom from thoughts of business.

Seventy-five years have passed. The store has grown until its windows are said to be more valuable than any windows in the world. But the example of the founders remains and all day Sunday the shades are drawn.

Is this old-fashioned custom good, in days when so many old-fashioned customs are being crowded out? We like to think so. We like the idea that on the first day of the week the Church and the home should come first.

Strong churches and strong homes build strong cities. All the great words of business—service and courtesy and kindness and truth—have their inspiration in religion. And prosperity is only permanent where there is reverence and mutual trust, and faith.—Plains (Lubbock) Progress.

THEY ALL WANT UNDER THE DOME

With another Moody fellow in the race and one who is all Sterling, there should be some pessimism and some quality in political maneuverings before July 26th rolls around. But then there will be small things bobbing up all along, and the Walker may find the sledding pretty rough. At that, there will not be much Love lost for some of the candidates May-field that they are not getting along fast enough just by pushing issues. After all, though, all except one of them will be Millers when the race is over—just milling around looking for another job.—Snyder News.

Just as people's nerves were becoming normal from a former administration's liberality with the pardoning power, we are again reading from speeches where that same administration promises, if returned to the governor's office, a release of 2000. They come clean with the threat. No use for any one to vote for them ignorant of these threats, as they are uttered right out from the platform. The only way to head that condition off is to not let them pass.—Killeen (Bell County) Herald.

Electric service will be extended to 1,000,000 farms in the United States within the next four years is the prediction of the Middle West Utilities Co., Chicago. Farm electric customers added in the past eight years are almost as many as the total of all kinds of electrical customers at the end of the first twenty-five years of the electric light and power industry.

Farmers are warned by the U. S. Bureau of Animal Industry against investing their money and placing their faith in hog-cholera medicines. Anti-hog-cholera serum is the only thing known that is a reliable preventive.

The FORD TRUCK has a Sturdy Chassis

IN THE CHASSIS of the Ford truck, you will see features—many of them unusual—which add greatly to its reliability, strength, safety and economy.

The front axle, for example, is twice as strong as formerly. The front spring is heavier, with wider leaves. Front radius-rod is heavier, and king pins, wheel bearings and thrust bearings are larger.

A 4-speed transmission gives an increased range of speed and power. Internal expanding brakes of the mechanical type provide a high degree of safety. Front brakes have been enlarged to the same size as those in the rear and all are fully enclosed.

Dual rear wheels are available at small additional cost. Balloon tires of one size are used throughout with the dual equipment, so that all six steel disc wheels and tires are interchangeable all around. Only one spare need be carried.

The rear axle has a spiral bevel gear of special Ford truck design, with straddle-mounted pinion. Axle shafts are heavier than formerly, and because of the three-quarter floating type of construction, they serve only to turn the wheels, without carrying any of the weight of truck or load.

These and other features make the Ford truck a value far in excess of the price. Come in and let us show them all to you.

We also make 157-inch wheel base Truck.

FERGUSON—ADDRESSES LARGE CROWD SATURDAY

 I'll be right there picking up chips and bringing in wood and water for Mamma," he declared and the crowd laughed and cheered.
 Mr. Ferguson also caught the crowd with his assertion that Mrs. Ferguson is right in her position that every peace officer in this state should be required to take an oath that he had not taken a drink of bootleg liquor in six months before being allowed to take office, and any peace officer guilty of drinking such liquor should be deposed from office. He declared that he was an anti and always had been but that he wanted to give prohibition one more chance to prove its worth, and so he said Ma was right.

 This was the first time Mr. Ferguson had ever visited Lynn County. That he made a good impression must be conceded by all who heard him. Having aged considerably, his voice husky from much speaking in the open, he spoke with less vigor than he used to in other days. Somewhat mellowed possibly by events of the past, he also spoke with much less bitterness than usual. In fact his speech was almost entirely free from bitterness or vindictiveness. Yet, his speech was one of the most appealing and artful campaign addresses ever delivered in Tahoka and it inspired much enthusiasm among his old-time supporters. It was made perfectly evident that Mrs. Ferguson will get a big vote in Lynn

 A mixture of one part of ammonium sulphate and three parts of cottonseed meal makes an excellent fertilizer for lawns, says the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Apply it three times in the growing season, at the rate of 12 or 15 pounds per 1000 square feet. Cottonseed meal alone is satisfactory, though it does not act as quickly as the mixture of ammonium sulphate and cottonseed meal.
 There are 146 members of the 4-H pig club in Terry County, said to be about the largest pig club in the country. In 1929 the bankers in Brownfield financed the purchase of eighty head of gilts for the club boys. All the notes have been paid out of the returns. The success last year was so encouraging that this year the membership in pig projects greatly increased.

Texas Terracing Records Smashed

College Station—All records were broken in saving Texas soil from washing away during the year ending May 31st, with 868,000 acres terraced or contoured in 202 counties by farmers, county agents and 4-H club boys, according to figures just announced by M. R. Bentley, Farm Engineer of the Extension Service. The total acreage in the State terraced or contoured to date is now placed at 3,689,000 acres, of which 3,000,000 acres have been done since 1920, and more than 2,000,000 acres since 1925. Of the land protected last year about 20,000 acres were contoured, Mr. Bentley says.
 West Texas is saving the soil at a rate ten times as fast as Central Texas, he believes, if figures from five typical counties in each section may be considered a fair sample. These showed that 3,500 acres per county terraced annually in the Blackland Belt, while around 35,000 acres per county are put under terraces or contours in the West. Randall county is given the distinction of having the greatest total area terraced or contoured to date with about 150,000 acres protected.
 The huge totals above are attributed to terracing schools of recent years which last season trained 3810 men and 2585 boys to run levels and build terraces. A total of 1213 such schools were held in 125 counties. During the year, 730 farm levels were bought and placed for use in communities, and 864 terracing machines and 420 terracing plows. In 55 counties, county road machinery has been made available by commissioners' courts for use of farmers in constructing strong terraces cheaply.
 "Contouring, which consists of following the contour lines with rows without throwing up any terraces at all, is adapted to more level countries," Mr. Bentley explains, "and in recent years has become very popular in the West. About one-fourth the total Texas acreage protected last year consisted of contoured land. That it is no serious bar to big scale farming is shown by the fact that it is done in the section of the State where some of the largest farm machinery in the United States is used."
