SPEAKER FOR YOUNG HEARD

Claude Miller, Waco, Spoke Here Wednesday Afternoon For Candidate For Governor

Claude Miller, Waco, was the principal speaker at a Jim Young-Ford Governor political rally on the court house lawn Wednesday afternoon at 5 o'clock.

Mr. Miller, who spoke here four years ago in the interest of Lynch Davidson, highly praised Jim Young as a citizen and as a man of ability to fill the governor's office, picturing him as a conservative man hopeful of lowering taxes on farms and raising them on sulphur, gas, and the big corporations. Mr. Young, he said, is a life-long prohibitionist, and "if he is backed by Tammany Hall, as is charged by his opponents, Tammany Hall is doing a great service to Texas." He said he did not see why Tammany would support a pro like Young when there were wets in the race.

The major part of Miller's address, however, was given to an attack on Ross Sterling, "The Houston millionaire and proponent of the $350,000,000 road bond issue which would burden our children and our children's children"; Clint Small, who he said was not consistent in his voting and in his platform for governor; and Tom Love, whom he took several raps at for bolting and for lending support to heavy bonds. Judge C. H. Cain in introducing the speaker said he would probably have been in the same questionable state of mind as to whom to vote for if he had not known Jim Young for a life time and known his qualifications.

J. B. Walker acted as chairman of the meeting and previous to the address called on several local candidates for talks.

PAT NEFF SPEAKS TO 1200 STUDENTS AT W. T. S. T. C.

CANYON, July 10.—Pat M. Neff, former governor of Texas and now chairman of the State Railroad Commission, spoke to over 1200 students of the West Texas State Teachers College this morning on "Happiness." Although Mr. Neff is a candidate for re-election to his present post, no hint of politics or "campaigning" entered into the informal 30 minute address to the students and members of the faculty. Mr. Neff was enthusiastically greeted by the audience, the entire group standing when the former governor, accompanied by President J. A. Hill of the Teachers College, climbed the steps to the stage. After the address, a large number of students crowded around the foot of the stage, where they were met and cordially greeted by Gov. Neff.

Highway Parking Warning Issued

"On account of the numerous accidents and deaths," writes L. G. Phares of the State Highway Patrol, "that have occurred throughout the State the last few nights as a result of motor vehicles parked on the highways without tail lights, you are requested to file a complaint in the future in each case of this kind."

This is from a letter to Jack Reeves, highway patrolman, and Mr. Reeves asks us to pass this warning on to our readers.

Mr. Phares also asks that local officers assist in making our highways safe for the law abiding motorists.

Edgar Witt Was In Tahoka Tuesday

Edgar Witt of Waco, candidate for Lieutenant Governor of Texas, was in Tahoka Tuesday shaking hands with voters. He was accompanied by R. L. Darden, a waco cotton man.

Mr. Witt is an old time friend and distant relative of the editor. For 24 years he has been practicing attorney in Waco. He has been serving in the State Senate for 12 years, and has been prominent in this law making body proving himself a capable man. He is endorsed by practically every leading citizen of Waco and scores of men of state-wide prominence. His visit to Tahoka ended a trip that has carried him thru the Panhandle-Plains region.

MERCHANT SAID HE DIDN'T NEED ADS

"No, don't need to advertise," remarked a certain merchant one day four years ago. "People know I'm here and they know the kind of merchandise I have to sell." And then one day along came another store and planted itself two doors from him. It carried the same lines of merchandise and proceeded to tell the public about it. The merchant who said he didn't need to advertise isn't there any more. He closed out recently. Advertising is business insurance. If neglected, you simply invite aggressive competition. —Lorenzo Enterprise.

ATTENDANCE AT REVIVAL GOOD

Rev. O. J. Hull, Baptist Pastor, Is Doing Preaching; Fort Worth Man Leading Songs

With Rev. Owen J. Hull, pastor of the local church, preaching, and Mr. Grady Helm, Fort Worth, directing the song services, the Baptist meeting which started Sunday is progressing nicely. Almost 200 have been attending the morning services held at 10 o'clock and at night the tabernacle has been well filled.

Brother Hull has been doing excellent preaching using "Fundamentals of the Bible" as the subject from which his series of sermons is taken. Mr. Helm, who has a pleasing personality and an excellent voice, leads the singing in a capable manner, this part of the service being a feature of the meeting. No invitation has been extended so far.

The meeting is growing in interest, power, and attendance, the pastor reports. Many business houses are closing for the morning services. All Christian people of all the churches in town are co-operating. Prayer meetings are being held evenings at 7:45 with divisions for men, women, young people, and juniors. Evening services begin at 8:30. The meeting will continue thru next week.

Will Let Highway 9 Paving Contract Soon

Contract will be let by the State Highway Commission for approximately 28.4 miles of additional paving on state highways in Lubbock county at a meeting of the commission July 30, 31, and August 1.

The paving in this county will include 12.3 miles on Highway No. 9 from Lubbock south to the Lynn county line, and 16.1 miles on Highway 9 from Lubbock north to the Hale County line.

Letting of contracts for these two strips of roads will continue the program of Lubbock county for hard-surfaced roads, following the voting last year of a bond issue in the county totaling almost one million dollars.

Work has been progressing steadily on a strip 15 miles in length from Lubbock through the City of Slaton on Highway No. 7 and officials in charge of the work hope to report completion within the near future.

Marvin Jones Is Seeking Re-Election

Marvin Jones of Amarillo, congressman from this district, was in Tahoka Wednesday greeting friends and making new acquaintances in his race for re-election. Jones is opposed by James O. Cade, also of Amarillo.

Mr. Jones, due to the fact that congress did not adjourn until last week, is making a rush trip over the district and did not speak here. He asks that his friends consider his past record and vote accordingly when they go to the polls.

Colgate and Palmolive are quoted as saying that they spend five cents of their advertising dollar to develop new customers, ninety-five cents to hold their present customers. Those of you who think of advertising only in terms of new business, should ponder a bit over those figures.

CANDIDATES TO SPEAK JULY 25

Political Rally Will Be Held In Tahoka Day Preceding Primary Election

Speaking engagements of county and precinct candidates will end Friday afternoon of next week, the day before election, when a political meeting will be held on the court house lawn at 4 o'clock. Other dates are Friday night of this week at Magnolia, and Tuesday night of next week at O'Donnell.

The meeting was previously announced for next Friday night, but was moved up to Wednesday night of this week when a petition was circulated to that effect. This date at Tahoka was CHANGED, however, back to Friday afternoon on account of the Baptist meeting being in progress.

At the meeting Friday afternoon, July 25, all the candidates will make their announcements, and the people of the entire county are invited to be here and hear them.

Shower Is Given To Nazarene Pastor

When Mr. and Mrs. Sam Bates returned from the Nazarene District Encampment at Spur their apartment was not only swept but every sign of dust removed and the dining table was overflowing with groceries and all kinds of nice things to eat. No one was near but it was later learned that the members of their church were responsible.

Highway 9 Will Be Made Shorter

State Highway No. 9 between Lubbock and Tahoka will be shortened about a mile by the new route when the bids for the grading and drainage in Lubbock county are opened by the state highway department at its July letting, Judge Robert H. Bean, county judge, explained yesterday afternoon.

"The distance to be saved will not be in Lubbock county, but in Lynn county," he explained. "The new route south of Woodrow school will go to the west instead of the east, avoiding that unhandy detour. It will cross the county line into Lynn at a point that will save more than a mile of road in that county."

Distance of the contracts to be let when the board meets about July 30 and 31 and August 1, will be approximately 30 miles. Of this, 16 1/2 miles will be between Lubbock and Abernathy and 13 1/2 between Lubbock and Lynn County.—Lubbock Avalanche.

Canada produces more than 25,000,000 pounds of honey annually. Of this, three provinces, Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta produce one-third.

Pat M. Neff Praises Panhandle Museum

CANYON, July 10.—Among today's visitors to the Museum of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society was former governor Pat M. Neff.

Mr. Neff stopped off in Canyon for a few hours between speaking engagements in Lubbock and Amarillo, and asked to be shown thru the Museum.

"It's a great museum," he said, after having seen the Society's collection. "It is perhaps the most important piece of work the West Texas State Teachers College is sponsoring. In years to come this museum will be the most interesting place about the whole plant."

Mr. Neff left for Amarillo immediately after his visit to the museum.

Deep plowing demonstrations in shinary sand regions of West Texas have stopped soil blowing and greatly increased crop yields. The clay sub-soil is thrown to the surface by plowing 12 to 18 inches deep. County agents in Gaines and Terry counties have many such demonstrations which reduced farming hazards. The method is said to be applicable to more than a million acres.

Baptists of this section of West Texas will hold their Annual Encampment at Two Draw Lake near Post beginning Monday, July 28, and ending Sunday, August 3rd. This encampment has been held each year for six years, and this year's promises to be the best ever according to Rev. M. C. Bishop, pastor at Post.

"The Lake is well filled with fresh water," Bishop says, "and the shades are fine. There is plenty of fishing for all and boating to please those who desire such sport. Swimming will be fine for those who are interested. It will all be free except the boats."

"Some of the best teachers and preachers of the state will have parts on the program. There will be courses in Sunday School, B. Y. P. U., Church Administration, and women's work for all who desire these courses."

"Let those who have musical instruments bring them and help in the music. Bring your tennis racket as the afternoons will be given to recreation. There will be tents and cots on the grounds for rent. No bedding for rent."

Two Prisoners Sent To The Penitentiary

Will Bratcher, colored, and E. T. Russell, white, were carried to Post Tuesday by Sheriff S. W. Sanford for delivery to "Bud" Russell, who escorted them to Huntsville where they are sentenced to serve two and one year terms, respectively.

Bratcher was sentenced here in the February term of district court for forgery. Russell, who formerly lived in O'Donnell, was convicted in September, 1929, for the unlawful sale of intoxicating liquor. His case was appealed and affirmed. Only one prisoner, Jim Wheelus, is left in the local jail. Wheelus has a sentence from Garza County of two years and was the man who was charged with Mrs. "Whitie" Walker in connection with the burglary of Tahoka Drug.

Texas ports in 1929 handled 9,564,922 tons of exports and 1,421,699 tons of imports, valued respectively at $699,384,268 and $32,003,268. Petroleum products supplied 56.3 per cent of the exports and cotton 13.7 per cent.

White Finds Cheap Feed For Chickens

Wheat at the present low price is the cheapest feed that can be bought for chickens, is the belief of Taylor White. Mr. White and Verner Smith recently bought a truck load of wheat at Abernathy for 64c a bushel to be used as feed.

Mr. White and Mr. Smith are raising 2,000 White Leghorns this year. Part of them they are selling as fryers, but the majority will be kept over as layers.

KIWANIS CLUB HEARS SMITH

President Of Club Tells Of Recent Trip To Kiwanis International Meet At Atlantic City

Truett B. Smith, president, was the principal speaker at the regular Wednesday noon luncheon of the Kiwanis Club. He told of his trip to the recent Kiwanis International convention held in Atlantic City and especially of the addresses at that meeting of Dr. Glenn Franks, president of Wisconsin University, Premier Anderson of Saskatchewan, Canada, and Dr. Lewis, president of Lafayette University. He also told of his visit to a session of Congress in Washington, D. C.

Other numbers on the program were a short talk by Rev. M. C. Bishop of Post and a vocal solo by Grady Helm of Fort Worth, who is here conducting the music at the Baptist meeting. Helm was accompanied by Miss Clarice Hull at the piano.

500 Men And Boys Wanted At Meeting

Five Hundred men and boys are wanted Sunday afternoon at the City Tabernacle at 3:30 o'clock. This is a service for "Men and Boys Only" in the revival which is being conducted under the auspices of the First Baptist Church of Tahoka. This is the second Sunday of the campaign and is given to a service for men only.

The pastor, Rev. O. J. Hull, who is doing the preaching in the revival, will speak, and Grady Helm who is singing for the meeting, will sing at this time, "The Gospel Railroad." Mr. Helm is a great gospel singer and it will be a great hour for the men not only of Tahoka, but for others of nearby communities.

We are very anxious that the men from all the adjoining communities be in this service. We will greatly appreciate it if this announcement will be made in churches and Sunday Schools over the county. We believe in a great men's meeting like this there can come a wonderful blessing from the Lord. Men in Lynn County need to understand conditions better. They need to get closer to the Lord and each other. Let the men and boys come. When? Sunday afternoon at 3:30. Where? At City Tabernacle where revival is being held. Let the fathers bring the sons. There will be some plain talking.—Reported.

Ballots were delivered to County Chairman H. M. Larkin Monday night, and they will be delivered by him to the various election judges.

Meeting Held At Lubbock Tuesday Attended By Representatives Of This Section

Plans for organization of district two of The Texas Cotton Co-operative Association division of the American Association were completed in Lubbock Tuesday afternoon at a meeting attended by 150 leading citizens of the South Plains. Twenty-two attended the meeting from Lynn County. They were: Chester Connolly, T. J. Bovell, D. W. Gaigant, J. K. Applewhite, W. B. Slaton, W. S. Taylor, Taylor White, and C. C. Williams, representing the Tahoka Chamber of Commerce; J. P. Bowlin, M. J. Whitcutt, Guy Bradley, and G. S. Dowell, representing O'Donnell; R. E. Shaver, A. M. Willingham, M. J. Handley, K. C. Holmes, A. J. Edwards, W. A. Yates, W. O. Henderson, J. W. Elliott, J. R. Offenburt, and W. R. Stokes.

Talks were made by R. J. Murray, who was elected chairman of the drive in this district; C. O. Moser, vice-president and secretary of the American Cotton Co-operative Association; Lawrence Westbrook, organization director; and Herman Dieterich, who will have active charge of the campaign for members in this district.

The proposed organization is a co-operative marketing association sponsored by the government thru the Federal Farm Board in its effort to give aid to the farmers in getting a just price for their cotton. Organization will permit the farmer to operate as in the case in other big business enterprises.

Lubbock has put up a guarantee of $27,500 for a district office including 48 counties, 26 of which produce cotton. Within the district, will be six or eight branch offices. Plainview, Littlefield, Lamesa, Levelland, Wellington, and Clarendon have applied for such branches and are certain of getting them since each reports that they will soon be ready to sign contracts to guarantee the marketing of 15,000 each. Tahoka has been assured a branch in case Lynn county can guarantee the marketing of 15,000 bales through the co-operative and the backing of the guarantee with fifty cents for every bale less than 15,000 she falls to market.

The organization already has 5,700 members in the district according to reports made at Lubbock Tuesday, most of which were secured from the absorption of the Farm Bureau. The district branch is being backed by the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, the First National Bank, of Lubbock, and scores of Lubbock business men.

Light Shower Is Of Some Benefit

A drizzling rain which fell over most of Lynn county Tuesday morning was of some benefit to crops. The precipitation at Tahoka amounted to .12 of an inch. The rain was possibly heavier in the northeastern part of the county.

Some sections are beginning to need rain badly especially on the feed. Cotton is growing nicely, but a good rain would be a big help.

Bethel Baptists In A Revival Meeting

All of the functions of life are not pleasant to consider. Perhaps this is why some mothers refuse to think that such symptoms as restless sleep, loss of flesh, lack of appetite or itching nose and fingers in their children, can be caused by round or pin worms. Over a Billion Deadly Germs in a Single Drop of Water Germs are so small that there may be as many as one billion, seven hundred million of them in a drop of water. And just a few of these tiny germs, if they get into your blood through a cut in your skin, may make you so sick you will be in bed for weeks—may cause the loss of a limb through blood poisoning—may even infect you with that most dreadful and fatal of diseases, lockjaw.

Just because you can see no dirt in a cut does not mean that it is clean. You cannot see germs. The only safe way every cut, no matter how small, with Liquid Borozone, to kill the germs, and then dust it with Borozone Powder, to hasten the healing. Liquid Borozone costs 30 cents, 60 cents, $1.20 and $1.50; Borozone Powder, 20 cents and 60 cents, and can be had at THOMAS BROS. DRUG COMPANY

DAIRY PRODUCTS SHOW ENORMOUS SALES INCREASE

Washington, D. C.—The increase in consumption of dairy products in the United States in recent years has given the American dairy industry a practically uninterrupted period of financial well-being, according to figures obtained from the bureau of agricultural economics, United States Department of Agriculture.

Statistics compiled by the bureau show that people in the United States are now drinking more milk, eating more butter, cheese and ice cream, and using more condensed and evaporated milk than they were ten years ago. The increase in the consumption of dairy products started with national prohibition, the most conspicuous evidence of a change in drink habit being the quart bottles of milk now consumed by men at lunch time, where formerly they drank pailfuls of beer. In addition to the per capita increase in consumption there are today nearly 15,000,000 more mouths to feed in the United States than there were a decade ago. Each person is now consuming approximately thirteen gallons more milk per year than in 1919; three pounds more butter; one pound more cheese; two pounds more condensed and evaporated milk, and half a gallon more ice cream.

There is an increasing appreciation of the value of dairy products in the human diet and a steady improvement in the quality of these products. Relatively high wages have made it possible for practically all classes of people to use dairy products. No small part of the increase is due to the purchase of cream and ice cream by persons who formerly regarded these products as luxuries.

Improvement in sanitary conditions in dairy production and distribution has been an important factor contributing to increased consumption, as exemplified by the passing of the tin pail in retail buying in favor of the sealed container. Families of all classes now have their milk and cream delivered regularly at their doors each morning, a distribution system which has undoubtedly increased consumption. Persons who formerly regarded peaches and cream, strawberries and cream as luxuries even in season, now consume more of these products not only during the summer months but in late spring and late fall. Fresh strawberries at Christmas time are a bit high in price, yet their presence on fruit stands is not uncommon throughout most of the winter months.

FARMERS SHOULD ORGANIZE

Farmers opposed to co-operatives often cite the mistakes made by the organizations as their reason for not joining them. History is full of stories of organizations that have failed, but we would never have had our successful ones if someone had not tried to form organizations, successful or unsuccessful. It will take time but farmers MUST organize. These were among the statements made by Alexander Legge, chairman of the National Farm Board, at Amarillo last week. Mr. Legge and his associates, Arthur M. Hyde and N. A.
Olsen, who also spoke are perhaps among the best informed agricultural experts in America. We believe they are right. Every business under the sun is organized to some extent; every class of labor is identified with unions—all have "live and let live" prices and wages, non-fluctuating to a great extent. But the farmer is suffering due to the fact that he cannot command his price; and we don't believe he will ever be able to get his price until each farmer co-operates with his neighbor in holding his products until the price is right, or in reducing his acreage to meet the law of supply and demand. The world can use so much of each agricultural product. When there is a surplus there is not so much demand for the product and its value diminishes.

Right now the government is making an effort to show the farmer the value of co-operation as in other lines of business. A cotton co-operative is being formed, and branches are being located in cotton centers all over the South. Smaller stations are being placed in smaller cities, and Tahoka has an opportunity to secure one of these, through the guarantee of 15,000 bales to be marketed in the organization.
This is an agricultural county strictly, and it is to the interest of every one of us that the farmers join in this marketing plan. Joining will cost any farmer very little money and trouble, and it looks as though this is the last resort in finding a way to get the just price we demand.

Ross Sterling, who is apparently one of the leading candidates in the race for governor, made a hurried trip through the Panhandle-Plains this week, speaking Monday morning at Lubbock. Sterling is not an orator, but talks to his audiences in a business like matter-of-fact way, and anyone who hears him is convinced that he means what he says and means business.
Sterling is a millionaire, but we don't know that this is necessarily a quality to be condemned. He has always been a man who wished to be of service to his fellow-man. Since he has unselfishly given of his time and of his money to help others, it does not seem unreasonable that he should want to be of service to his state. He has contributed a million and a half to a Houston hospital, much money and time to the Texas Christian University at Fort Worth and also to his church in Houston, much time to the affairs of the State Highway Department, when he had little to gain for personal benefit; and more than anyone else he was responsible for the great deep water channel that has made Houston the second greatest city of the South. He is a man who has achieved success through hard work, rising from a poor boy, orphaned in youth, to the position he now commands. He's a successful business man, a prohibitionist, and a philanthropist. His highway bond plan would relieve a burden instead of be a burden as is claimed by opponents. It would take much of the heavy highway tax off the property in over-taxed counties, since he proposes that the state refund on hard-surfaced highways already built at an equitably appraised value. It would help counties like Lynn get permanent roads when it would otherwise be many years before they could have them. It would place the payment for past road construction and future entirely on the automobile driver through the gasoline tax, and take the burden off the farmer and business man. It would give us a permanent road system quicker than the present system. For the penitentiary he guarantees no cure-all, but offers a plan for complete re-organization, separation of first-offenders from hardened criminals, development of more industries within its walls, and building of levees to restore the overflow land of penitentiary farms.

He says no one realizes the value of education more than he since he was forced to leave school when but a youth to help make a living for a family of fourteen, and he favors better school conditions for every child through public schools and colleges. Ross Sterling is a graduate of the university of hard knocks, he deserves the place he has climbed to, and he has a common-sense platform.

The Terry County Herald is making an effort, assisted by other citizens, to secure a county home demonstration agent. Lynn county was a little hesitant about employing one, but we believe that there is little doubt in this county now as to the value of such an office. The two home demonstration agents in Lynn County have been worth more than their pay for the interest they have developed among the farm women in the use of steam pressure canners and sealers if for nothing else—and that is only one little accomplishment to their credit.

WHAT OTHERS THINK

UP TO THE FARMER AFTER ALL

Personal contact with Alexander Legge, chairman of the Federal Farm Board, must strengthen the confidence of the public in the leader selected for the nation's important program of farm relief.

Following his address in Amarillo Friday Mr. Legge did what few public speakers can do with poise and safety when he invited his hearers to propound any question they wished. Despite the fact that many of the questions were born in minds more or less radical, Mr. Legge had a common sense answer supported by statistics and recognized economic facts.

It was easily seen in his answers to these questions, as well as in the statements in his main address, that the warp and woof of his theory of farm relief is that the main endeavor must come from the farmers themselves.

Repeatedly questions were asked about farmer organization, particularly about "who" would organize the associations with which the farm board would deal. And just as often came the answer that the farmers themselves must organize their own bodies.

To the statements regarding disparity between price of the farmers' products and the things he must buy, Mr. Legge replied that labor is the primary cost in most of these things, particularly manufactured articles, that he could not say that he desires any reduction in the wage of labor, but that the farmer should place himself in similar position of vantage with labor by organizing to the point that he can somewhat control his products and set the price thereon himself.

Unquestionably Mr. Legge is a man of vision and is capable. He is thoroughly sympathetic with the farmers of America and understands many of their problems.—Plainview Herald.

STERLING MADE GOOD IMPRESSION

Perhaps of all the candidates for governor who have spoken at Hillsboro, Hon. Ross Sterling made the best impression, and there seems to be a general feeling as his campaign progresses that he will lead Young and Small, and find a place in the run-off for a representative of the conservative element of Texas voters nosing out one of the radical leaders who are seeking to perpetuate the division of the party.

Mr. Sterling made a plain business speech that brought a better understanding to the voter of the proposed $350,000,000 road bond issue and destroyed much of the prejudice against that proposition.
He made it plain that the bond issue would reduce the ad valorem tax for roads rather than increase it, and would transfer the burden of state highway building from the farm and home to the users of highways where it belongs.

His position on the prison question was one which a business man rather than a politician would take. He declared that conditions were far from satisfactory and that he thought the biggest need was business management, but was candid enough to state that he had not given the matter the deep thought a man ought to give before offering a definite remedy and that he would co-operate with the legislature in seeking to solve its problems.

On prohibition he was first of all a prohibitionist in practice, being a teetotaler and in theory had always supported the effort to bring prohibition.
He would repel any effort to weaken the prohibition laws and would put forth his best efforts for their enforcement.

Finally he was for harmony in the party, wanted to see Democrats working for the development of the state, rather than to keep its people divided, and he believed that any progress which came to the state must come through the Democratic party.—Hillsboro Mirror.

A Seagraves merchant who is in the feed business, informed us last week while down there that he was selling lots of feed to farmers who sold all their corn last winter and bought new cars and other things not absolutely necessary. He says he cautioned some of the farmers when they were selling close last winter and spring that they would be buying feed in the summer if they were not careful. We don't know but what some of our farmers are pulling the same cork. If so, it is a very poor business policy, and no farm relief on earth can help farmers who practice such a policy.—

CRIME RAMPANT

Houston, with a population of 290,000, in one month chalks up as many murders as London, with its millions of people, can count in the course of an entire year.

London police, by the way, are fairly successful in solving their so-called "murder-mysteries" but Houston officers as yet haven't acquired that knack. Police of other cities, moreover, have not proved to be a great deal more efficient than Houston's.

It might be expected that law enforcement officials so widely separated would evidence widely different talents, and they do. Texas police may not solve a lot of murder mysteries, but they do tag a lot of automobiles. Probably they are the world's most efficient and prolific "ticket" writers. Seldom indeed does a lady shopper overstay the sixty minute parking limit but she is hailed into court and relieved of a dollar or two of her husband's hard earned money.

It's quite a different story however when some victim is "taken for a ride," a helpless girl is raped, or the body of an unarmed man is pumped full of lead ejected from a felon's sixshooter. Texas police are so busy writing up traffic violations they haven't a lot of time to devote to the hunting of robbers and murderers.

Obviously the police should enforce the traffic laws of state and city, but not so much at the expense of other and more serious infractions of the legal code.

The Wichita Falls Times relates an interesting story of one of the old-time Texas rangers:

A mob had gathered and the sheriff had appealed to the governor to rush a company of Texas rangers to the scene. In due time one lone ranger reported to the sheriff.

"Where are the rest of your force? Where are the others?" demanded the sheriff.

"Others?" returned the ranger, surprised. "Shucks, there ain't but one mob, is there?"

Then, by way of contrast, the Times comments upon the recent instance when not one but several rangers permitted a mob to roast their prisoner alive and drag his corpse through the streets of a popular Texas city. Texas rangers, once the pride of the whole southwest, also have lost prestige and mention of their name no longer "chills the marrow" in the bones of bad and vicious men.

The crime problem in Texas is more serious than many people think —so serious, in fact, that more than one editor has urged the public to forsake politics long enough to devise some effective remedy for a situation which has become admittedly hurtful to Texas' reputation.

Respect for courts is at low ebb, and contempt for jury verdicts is everywhere expressed. Our criminal code is antiquated and cumbersome, and justice is not only blind, but dilatatory.

One newspaper goes so far as to contend that to fire upon a man and kill him while in the heat of passion is comparatively inconsequential and is punishable by five years imprisonment; but to fire upon a man and miss him is serious enough to involve attainment to the extent of fifteen years in the penitentiary.

The editor distinguishes, of course, between the crime of man-slaughter to some extent justified by an insane and temporary passion, and the offense of assault with intent to murder.

Even with this explanation, the fact remains that Texas laws are archaic and that Texas courts are hamstrung by rules of procedure applicable only to another day and age. Moreover, Texas jurors too often forget the solemnity of their obligations, and too easily are swayed by the eloquence of lawyers whose arguments are as incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial as many of the questions they propound to squirming witnesses.

All in all, Texas needs a legal housecleaning and renovation. It is improbable that the legal structure either will be cleaned or renovated, however, until a loud, persistent and insistent demand to that effect is voiced by the people. This job accomplished, attention should be turned to the more efficient organization of the police.

When these two tasks have been completed, perhaps the peace and dignity of the state will be trampled upon less frequently, the rights of law abiding citizens will be respected more generally, and the sacredness of life and inviolability of person will be recognized more widely.

Until then, the rule in Texas seems to be for every man to look out for himself and "the devil take the hindmost."—Editorial Digest.

Man Says He Took Black-Draught After Each Meal and Soon Got Relief.

North Charlotte, N. C.—In telling how he was benefited by Theodor's Black-Draught, Mr. John M. Creps, of 902 Charles Avenue, this city, writes:

"I had three spells of indigestion, one after another. I suffered a lot of pain. My back ached and I had pains in my stomach frequently. It felt like my breath was cut off in my chest.

"I was bothered this way for about a year. A friend whom I told about my condition asked me to try Black-Draught.

"I began by taking a pinch of Black-Draught after each meal and found that I soon got relief.

"I have been taking Black-Draught for fourteen years, and I find that it prevents headache and constipation. We keep it in the house all the time. I have told a lot of people about it, and gladly recommend it to others."

Many people have written that they found relief from pains after eating by taking Black-Draught in the manner described above.

Mississippi Lady Says She Felt Stronger, Better After Taking Cardui.

Greenwood, Miss.—Mrs. W. D. Taylor, of 1313 Carrollton Avenue, this city, has written of her use of Cardui as follows:

"About five years ago, I was in ill health. I suffered a great deal of pain in my sides and in the lower part of my body. I was weak and nervous, and at the least noise I felt like I must scream.

"At times I would have to go to bed. My head would ache. It would take me three or four days to get over these spells.

"A friend told me to take Cardui, which I did. After my first bottle, I saw some improvement. When I had taken three bottles, I felt stronger and better than I had in some time. I did not have any more of those bad spells.

"I certainly recommend Cardui." Thousands of other women recommend Cardui, after having found it of valuable assistance to them in building up their health.

Cardui is a purely vegetable medicine, and contains nothing harmful. The medicinal value of the herbs from which Cardui is extracted have been well-known in the history of medicine for more than six hundred years.

Try it for your troubles. NC-220

THE NEW FORD TUDOR SEDAN

YOU are buying proved performance when you buy a Ford. You know it has been built for many thousands of miles of satisfactory, economical service.

Letters from users in every part of the world show the value of the sound design of the car, good materials and accuracy in manufacturing. You sense a feeling of sincere pride in the oft-repeated phrase—"Let me tell you what my new Ford did."

Further tribute to the sturdiness, reliability and general all-round performance of the new Ford is shown in the repeated and growing purchases by government bureaus, by police departments, and by large industrial companies which keep careful day-by-day cost records. In most cases, the new Ford has been chosen only after exhaustive tests covering speed and power, safety, comfort, ease of control, oil and gas consumption, low yearly depreciation, and low cost of up-keep.

They have found, as you will find, that the Ford embodies every feature you want or need in a motor car at an unusually low price.

"HELL HARBOR" BROADWAY NOTABLES FIRST FILM

Paul E. Burns, the "Blinky" of "Hell Harbor", latest Nited Artists-Inspirational Picture, featuring Lupe Velez and Jean Hersholt, which comes to the English Theatre on Friday and Saturday, was born to the stage. His mother and father had been troupers together for a number of years before he was born.

Burns began his theatrical career when he was four years old, playing child parts with a Philadelphia company. At the age of eighteen he did the inevitable, signing with A. H. Woods, for whom he played many comedy roles. Two years later he was managing his own stock company and he now looks upon Henry King, the director of "Hell Harbor", Anne Nichols, George Bancroft, Edna Leedom and Emma Haig, both Follies comedienne, as his prize pupils.

In New York Mr. Burns is best known for his comedy roles, the most memorable being his portrayal of Abe Potash in "Potash and Perlmutter." George M. Cohan had him twice as a feature artist in Cohan revues. "Hell Harbor" is his first picture and Henry King his favorite director.

Burnett Smith and Jewel Lowe Marry

The News failed to carry a write-up last week of the wedding of Burnett Smith and Jewel Lowe due to the fact that a friend forgot to report the details to us.

THREE REFEREES ENGAGED FOR "BE YOURSELF" FIGHTS

Three referees licensed by the California Boxing Commission were used in the fight sequences of "Be Yourself", Fannie Brice's United Artists starring vehicle for United Artists, showing at the English Theatre Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

Thornton Freeland, director, in his desire to recreate authentic ring backgrounds for the musical comedy, engaged the professional "third men" to judge a series of fights culminating in a "championship" battle between Robert Armstrong, Miss Brice's leading man, and G. Pat Collins.

The referees are Frank Ward, Barney Meyers and Bob White.

For the purpose of the fights a regulation ring was constructed on one of the huge United Artists' sound stages along the lines of the squared edifice in which Mickey Walker successfully defended his title against Ace Hudkins at Wrigley Field, Los Angeles.

Hundreds of extras were used as atmosphere.

"Be Yourself" is a story of the New York nightclubs and the prize-ring, and was supervised by John W. Considine, executive production head at the United Artists studios.

Others in the cast of principals are Harry Green, Gertrude Astor, Budd Fine and fourteen-year-old Jimmy Tolson, who makes his screen debut in "Be Yourself."

Commissioners Court To Set Tax Rate

The County Commissioners Court will meet some time next week to set the county tax rate for the year, according to Judge G. C. Grider. He says that in spite of the fact that the assessed valuation has decreased about $200,000 the court hopes to set the rate at a figure no greater than that of last year and possibly less.

Only routine matters were attended to by the court at its regular meeting Monday.

Organization Only Solution To Farmers' Price Problems

Legge and Hyde Present Nation's Farming Outlook

The only solution to the farming business, especially in the raising of wheat and cotton, is organization, was the idea forcefully set before 1500 farmers representing every section of northwest Texas at a meeting held in Amarillo last Friday. The principal speakers were: Alexander Legge, chairman of the Federal Farm Board and former president of International Harvester Co.; Arthur M. Hyde, United States secretary of agriculture and former governor of Missouri; and N. A. Ol-

Konjola Put Kansas Man Back To Work

"Proved To Be A Wonderful Medicine In My Case," Says This Former Sufferer

MR. H. C. SHERMAN

Any medicine that can win more than a million friends in seven years must have merit, and that is exactly what Konjola has done. You wonder why Konjola has become a household word? Well, read what Mr. H. C. Sherman, painting contractor, of Goddard, Kansas, says: "Konjola proved to be a wonderful medicine in my case. Last July I was hurt in an automobile accident, and was in the hospital many weeks. When I got out, I was in a badly run down condition; had rheumatism in the shoulder, arm and hand, and my stomach was out of order. I suffered terrible pains, and medicines did me no good. The many endorsements of Konjola led me to try it, and six bottles of this wonderful medicine made me able to resume my work. I am feeling better in every way than for a long time." Konjola's 32 ingredients work together, battling at their very source, the causes of stomach, liver, kidney and bowel troubles, and of rheumatism, neuritis and nervousness. Konjola is sold in Tahoka at Tahoka Drug Store and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

sen, of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. A delegation from Tahoka, composed of C. C. Williams, Taylor White, W. M. Harris and Frank Hill, attended the meeting. Though the talks were directly applied to the wheat situation (the price of that agricultural product is now selling at from 60c to 70c per bushel) most of the facts presented by these experts may also be applied to cotton. In spite of the fact that press reports made it appear that the Federal Farm Board plan was not endorsed in the Panhandle, these experts opened the eyes of many and won over scores of converts to the idea of co-operative farming. By co-operation, the speculators would be cut out, and an acreage reduction could be effected which reduction would create a demand for wheat and therefore a better price. As it is, there is more wheat than the world can use. The News is of the belief that co-operation is the logical salvation of the farmer, and we therefore present some of the facts gleaned from these talks hoping that they may be of benefit to our readers.

N. A. Olsen opened the speech-making with a talk filled with statistics concerning a world-wide survey of the wheat situation. His conclusion was that the price of wheat will be lower in the future than in the past, unless farmers do something to prevent the continued drop. The price drop is world-wide and the United States is not the only country affected.

Some of these facts follow: The drop in price of wheat since the World War corresponds almost identically to that following the Civil War, and the price is due to continue downward. The introduction of the combine and tractor to wide-spread usage is causing a vast expansion of acreage and therefore of production. Prices have always declined with increased world crop production and increase only when production decreases. World production of wheat has increased 60 per cent in the past 30 years. In 5 years, 1890 to 1894, Canada, Argentina and Australia produced less than one-third as much as the U. S.; while from 1925 to 1929, their crop amounted to 95 per cent of that of the U. S.

Wheat acreage and production is rapidly growing in all wheat growing countries. In the U. S. from 1910 to 1930, the acreage increase was from 45 million to 60 million acres; Australia, 6 million to 14 million; Argentina, 1905 to 1930, 15 to 20 million acres; Russia, 1922 to 1930 (no previous records) 20 to 75 million acres. The purchasing power of other nations has grown weaker. The foreign market for wheat is rapidly diminishing. Russia is preparing to begin exportation on a tremendous scale, and has millions of more acres adaptable to wheat. Thirty years ago the average U. S. Citizen was using 5.4 bushels of wheat a year while today the average individual use is only 4.2, a decrease of about 20 per cent. In the past 30 years America and Europe have had a population increase of 30 per cent while wheat production was increasing 40 per cent.

Germany and France have increased their tariffs 80 and 90 per cent. Practically every country using imported wheat has increased its tariff. Since these conditions exist the world over, the speakers at Amarillo agreed that the United States cannot hope to increase its exports to a very great extent. It cannot raise very much more than can be consumed at home, and the farmer cannot get his price on the commodity without organizing and reducing the acreage from 10 to 25 per cent.

LEGGES SPEECH
The following is the report of Al Hill, Avalanche-Journal farm editor, on the talks of Legge and Hyde which is worth the time of every farmer to read:

One word spells the one answer to all farm problems facing America today, so Alexander Legge, Chairman of the Federal Farm Board, told the more than 1,500 who heard him Friday at Amarillo.

"Organization." This is the word he used and the answer he gave to the innumerable questions popped at him from the audience, following his speech.

"If the wheat farmers and the cotton farmers and other farmers," asked one man, "were now fully organized, what then would you and the Federal Farm Board be doing?"

Answer Is With Farmer
"Bless you," answered Mr. Legge, "then I could go home. There would be nothing whatever for me to do. My job would be finished."

"When you are properly organized you'll get what's coming to you. You are the answer. The thing is in your hands. That is what has helped all other industries and it is what will help agriculture."

"If you were organized, there would be no use on earth for a futures market." He commented further on the futures market by stating he did not deem it wise to do away with present systems of marketing grain and other farm commodities. "Our present system should not be destroyed, but should be replaced by a system that will work," he said.

Touching upon conditions surrounding the marketing of cotton, Chairman Legge stated his belief to be that world production of this crop would not be so extensive as that of wheat and that export problems would not be so great for cotton as for wheat.

Compete With Paupers
"Farmers of this country," he said in referring to wheat growers, "when operating in the world markets are competing with the pauper labor of other countries."

In answering proposals made that the United States raise all the wheat it could and take chances on selling it, Mr. Legge declared he could see no advantage farmers could have in raising something to dump into the sea or to give away. "The trouble with you people is that you're waiting for George to do it. Your problems can't be solved by legislation. You've got to do it yourself," he declared, and added, "farmers will come to organization."

Scores The Politicians
Politicians were scored by the Farm Board chairman, particularly many attempts made by some to bring the board and agricultural problems into politics. He told that no one in Washington even knew what ticket he voted, adding "It's none of their business."

"One of the most common questions we are confronted with," he said, "is that we are advocating something new, radical change. After all, we are only advocating that you adopt the same policies and plans of procedure that all other industries have long ago adopted." He referred then to what he considered the greatest progress of all industry occurring in his life-time—that of a better gauging and better understanding of markets.

Conditions Worse Elsewhere
Other nations have farm problems worse than those of the United States, and now are in far worse financial condition than this country, were statements of Mr. Legge. Increased acreage of wheat in Canada, Argentina and Australia, with Russia promising soon to be again the world's greatest wheat exporters, were conditions referred to, with decrease marked everywhere for demand of the crop.

Dumping Is Bad Habit
Loans have been made by the Federal Farm Board to help steady the boat and to stabilize conditions. They have bought 60,000,000 bushels of wheat, which cost a million dollars a month now for carrying charges and storage. This will not be sold in competition with the 1930 crop, unless the price goes up high enough to warrant it.

HYDE TALKS

Secretary Hyde said in part: "We haven't yet found an audience that honest to God wanted to hear what we have to say. Legge and I happen to be posted in watch towers and have been given the job as sentries to warn you by imparting the information we have. We feel it is our duty to give it to you for your guidance. Use it or not—that's your job. We want you to have the facts. You can run by the red lights if you want to. It's up to you."

Secretary Hyde declared that there was a time when agriculture was more a means of living than a means of getting a living. He said the farm family no longer is a self-sustained unit.

Affairs Need Regulating
"Agriculture has become industrialized," he said. "You sell what you produce. You do not eat it or use it. You sell it to get the money to buy the things you need and want. Therefore, we need to regulate our affairs along industrialized lines."

"Former problems of the farmer were within his own fence lines. His need of productions was for his own family. His surpluses now are subject to all the vicissitudes of foreign markets and he must plan at planting time what he is to produce, in regard to all world markets."

Must Study World Markets
Farmers must take into consideration the things that control markets of the world. Mr. Hyde explained, as all nations are contending in these markets for control of them. He said the true theory of economy was the free and open operation of the law of supply and demand, yet the merger object of big business is to control the supply below the amount the world will take at a profit.

"You are proud of your production records," he declared. "Yet, what are you in business for? Is your object in life the production of wheat, or the raising of the standard of living on the farm, by the making of profit out of what you produced?"

Standard Of Living Talked
"Opportunity alone does not make economic equality. Whenever the standard of living on the American farm is as high as that of any other industry, we will have economic equality. Until we do have the same standard, there is something wrong." "If you can produce a little less and get more for it that sounds like logic, doesn't it? Profits of your transaction—not the bushels of a crop you can raise—that is what pays your debts, raises the standards of living and gives the farm boy and farm girl a better opportunity."

ANOTHER VICTORY
FOR THIS REGULAR STOCK MOTOR OIL

CLOSE ON THE HEELS OF ITS ACCOMPLISHMENT AT INDIANAPOLIS MAY 30, CONOCO WINS 3RD, 4TH, AND 5TH PLACES AT ALTOONA AT BETTER THAN ONE HUNDRED MILES PER HOUR

Frank Farmer, in a Miller Special, "placed" third with an average speed of 102.2 miles per hour. "Sborly" Cantlon, in a Miller-Schofield Special, was fourth with 101.5 miles per hour. "Speed" Gardner was fifth in a Miller Front Drive Special. All three used CONOCO Germ-Processed Motor Oil in this convincing demonstration of the qualities of this regular "stock" motor oil. At Altoona, as at Indianapolis, this was the first time that a stock oil had placed so high in the finish of the race.

Indianapolis race; after they had observed its full body and good color as it came from Dave Evans' motor, the word went out that CONOCO Germ-Processed Motor Oil had displayed the qualities necessary to solve the lubrication problems of racing motors. CONOCO had earned the respect of this most skeptical group—and earned it fairly.

In view of the Indianapolis results, it was only natural for a majority of the drivers at Altoona to choose CONOCO Germ-Processed Motor Oil for America's fastest competitive race.

And as these cars whizzed around the boards at Altoona on June 14, CONOCO again proved its worth in a field previously dominated by castor blends—a field which other stock oils have repeatedly tried to enter without success!

So chalk up another victory for CONOCO

Germ-Processed Motor Oil, close on the heels of Indianapolis... a victory won with the same stock Germ-Processed oil that you can buy at any Red Triangle station.

These CONOCO victories have a definite meaning to every one who drives a car. They substantiate every claim that was made for it when the oil was introduced last November.

You can experience the safety and economy of this oil by stopping at the next Red Triangle Station and asking for:

Miles of Conveyors in Ford Plant

This picture shows two types of conveyors in use in the Rouge Plant of the Ford Motor Company.

AN ENDLESS chain conveyor, three and a half to four miles long, said to be the longest in the world, has just been completed at the Rouge Plant of the Ford Motor Company at Dearborn, Michigan. On it parts of Ford cars in the process of manufacture are transported from one building to another and completed parts are carried direct to railroad cars for shipment to branch assembly plants.

The value of the conveyor in reducing physical labor, in saving time, in preserving system and in cutting costs soon became apparent and its use was extended to other purposes about the plant. Now there are literally miles of conveyors of various types in the Ford plant. Some of them carry parts from one building to another and are carefully synchronized so that the parts arrive at precisely the right moment and in the exact spot where they are needed. Others transport red hot ingots of steel weighing nearly a ton each still others carry out the shipments.

The conveyor, which carries its cargo on suspended hooks, has a daily capacity for 300,000 parts weighing over 2,000,000 pounds. It supplants freight cars and trucks which have been used for the transfer of many parts from one point to another in the Ford plant.

If it were not for the conveyor, according to officials of the Ford Company, mass production would not be possible on its present scale.

This longest conveyor of them all is a development of the Ford policy that nothing should be done by manual labor that could better be done by machine.

In the early days of his manufacturing career, Mr. Ford devised the assembly line—a moving track on which cars in the process of assembly went to the workmen instead of the workmen carrying parts to the car. The assembly line, perfected in many ways, is now used by automobile manufacturers generally.

Took Soda For Stomach For 20 Years

"For 20 years I took soda for indigestion and stomach gas. Then I tried Adlerika. One bottle brought complete relief."—John B. Hardy.

Adlerika relieves GAS and sour stomach in TEN minutes! Acts on BOTH upper and lower bowel, removing poisons you never knew were there. Don't fool with medicine which cleans only PART of the bowels, but let Adlerika give stomach and bowels a REAL cleaning and see how good you feel. Thomas Bros. Drug Company. F-1
