Rural Route No. 5 Is Granted Tahoka

BEGIN SERVICE IN DECEMBER

Long Sought Mail Service Extension To The West Is Granted By Government

Rural mail route No. 5 out of Tahoka has been granted by the Post Office Department at Washington, according to official information received by Postmaster D. A. Parkhurst Monday. It is to be a little more than 38 miles in length and will serve about 120 families. While it does not extend as far west as West Point nor as far south as Three Lakes, yet it is hoped that extensions into the heart of these communities may be made later. The route as granted will be of great service to the families residing in that portion of the county and to the business men of Tahoka. As is the case always, the service at the start will be for only three days in each week, the mail carrier going out on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays. The amount of mail matter over the route monthly must reach a certain volume for three months in succession before daily service will be authorized. It will depend largely on the patrons on this route, therefore, as to whether or not when daily service may be established.

Mr. Parkhurst says that the name of the carrier over this new route can not yet be announced. The service will begin on December 2. He also says that the Department at Washington requires patrons of new routes to purchase mail boxes of the larger size and to erect them on the right side of the road as traveled by the carrier.

A log of the new route has been furnished us by Mr. Parkhurst and is as follows:

Starting at the postoffice, the carrier will go east to Main street, north to Lockwood street, east on same to the Burleson corner, .55 of a mile; north to Wilson road, 2.05 miles; west to the Davis corner, 1 mile; south 1 mile and west 1.05 miles to the Montgomery corner; south to highway No. 84, 1 mile; west on same to the Knight corner, 10.15 miles; south to the Briley corner, 5 miles; east with jogs south and north to the Edwards corner, 5.15 miles; north to highway No. 84, 5 miles; east on same to the Tahoka post office, 6.70 miles; total 38.65 miles.

Co-Op Speaker Here Last Night

B. S. Burgess of Dallas, director of field service for the Texas Cotton Co-operative Association, spoke to a crowd of farmers and business men that assembled in the county court room Wednesday night to hear his address. A few ladies also were present.

The purpose of Mr. Burgess' address was to show the farmers the advantages of marketing their cotton through the Cotton Co-operative Association and to urge them not to sell their cotton at present prices. He declared that while the present Cotton Co-operative Association is an outgrowth of the associations organized several years ago yet it is quite a different kind of organization and is far superior to these as an instrumentality for marketing cotton.

Pointing out the fact that there are 480 grades of cotton as classified by Cooperative classifiers last year, he declared that the first fundamental principle in marketing cotton was for each bale to be sold on its quality. The second fundamental principle of successful marketing is that the cotton should be carried from the producer to the mills at the lowest possible expense. The average cost per bale for cotton handled by the Co-Op last year was only $1.28, he said. A third fundamental was that there should be an intelligent merchandising of the crop and he discussed this point at length.

FARMERS ASK BETTER PRICE

Demand Oil Mills Pay More For Seed; Also Ask Another Cut In Ginning Rate

A meeting of farmers was held in the district court room here last Saturday afternoon to protest against the price that is being charged for ginning and also the price that is being paid them for cotton seed. After much discussion, most of the farmers present pledged themselves to take their seed home to be used for feed, fuel, or fertilizer until they are paid as much as $12.00 per ton for the seed. A committee was also appointed by Judge J. W. Elliott, who was presiding, to confer with the gin men of the county with respect to a reduction of ginning charges from 25 cents to 20 cents per hundred pounds of seed cotton and also with respect to the price being paid for seed. This committee was composed of an individual or individuals from each town and ginning community in the county.

Prior to taking action many addresses were made. I. M. Draper explained the purpose of the meeting and explained what the farmers of Lubbock county had recently done. J. B. Walker secured the floor and made an attack on the oil mills and the corporations generally. He charged that little or nothing had been done by Congress or by our own state legislature to curb the power of the corporations and wound up by appealing to his hearers to vote the Democratic ticket next year.

Others who spoke were Messrs. Burekhart, Richardson, and others.

Sign New Lease For Post Office

A new lease to run for a period of ten years, beginning about November 1, has been signed up and accepted by the Post Office Department at Washington and by Thomas Bros. of this city, leasing to the Department the entire building now occupied by the post office here including the two rooms now occupied by a barber shop and a cafe.

This will give the postmaster and employees more room here and there will be a re-arrangement of the interior, according to Postmaster D. A. Parkhurst, for the convenience of the employees and the public.

Mr. Parkhurst is to be congratulated upon his success in inducing the Department at Washington to lease the entire building and thus provide larger quarters for the mail service here.

Gipson Infant, Few Days Old, Dead

The little infant of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Gipson, just nine days of age, died at the family residence in the Magnolia community late Tuesday afternoon. The remains were buried in the Grassland cemetery Wednesday. The mother will be better remembered here as Miss Fannie Jackson, daughter of T. J. Jackson, who formerly operated a grocery store near the railway tracks. The parents have the sincere sympathy of a large circle of friends.

1837 Bales Of 1931 Cotton Ginned At Local Gins Up Until This Morning

Up till 7:30 o'clock this, Thursday morning, the five gins of Tahoka had ginned a total of 1837 bales of cotton, counting two round bales as the equivalent of one square bale. At the yard W. O. Henderson reported that 1172 bales had been weighed, while S. L. Leathers reported that 254 bales had been handled by the Texas Cotton Cooperative Association. This would indicate that quite a considerable per cent of the cotton is being taken home by the farmers and held off the market. Most of the cotton handled by the Texas Cotton Cooperative Association is not being sold outright but is going into the seasonal pool.

The trend of the market price has been decidedly upward this week. The average street price Monday was about 4.15 or 4.20 cents per pound, Tuesday about 4.40, Wednesday it went as high as 4.90. These prices are the lowest that cotton has commanded since 1898. The New York market on middling 7-8 staple closed at 5.71 Wednesday. On this basis, the Cotton Cooperative Association here was able to advance on cotton placed in the seasonal pool 3.26 cents per pound, 15-16 staple 3.51, strict middling 7-8 staple 3.51, strict middling 15-16 staple 3.76. Very little cotton is being sold outright to the Cotton Co-Op. S. L. Leathers urges farmers, however, to bring samples of their cotton to him for classification and if they wish to sell it the Co-Op will buy each bale on its individual merits, and he says that the Co-Op can make them money on the higher grades.

The weather for gathering the crop has been ideal thus far. There has been little high wind and practically no rain. There are few transient pickers in the country but since all the schools in the county have suspended for the present the school children are assisting in the gathering of the crop.

ALL OF COUNTY SCHOOLS CLOSE

Children Helping Farmers Harvest Cheap Cotton Crop; Tahoka Closed Monday

Due to the large amount of open cotton in the fields and the scarcity of pickers and due to the stressful financial conditions that exist now, the school board here decided to close the public schools in this district Friday afternoon for a period of four weeks to enable the school children to assist in gathering the cotton crops. Many of the pupils hid themselves to various cotton fields Monday morning to spend about four weeks in picking cotton and earning a few dollars for themselves.

The schools at New Home and Pride also closed Friday afternoon, according to County Superintendent H. P. Caviness, thus leaving no school in the county open. The others had already closed for the purpose above indicated.

Redman, And Adams Cases, Set For This Week, Are Delayed By Absentees

The case against Mrs. Ola Mae Redman, charged with murder, was continued by Judge McGuire last Monday morning until the February term of court upon the application of her attorney, Mr. Outlaw of Post. The application for continuance alleged that two material witnesses for the defense were not present.

Mrs. Redman is charged with the killing of Howard Chase early in June of this year, the homicide having been committed while the defendant and Chase were in a car on a public road near the east line of this county. It is understood that the accused woman will plead self defense.

The case against R. H. Adams, which was set for trial today, Thursday, was also continued by the court.

Lynn-Garza Boundary Dispute Still Unsettled; Case At Abilene Reversed

Abilene, Oct. 3.—Reversing the decision of the trial judge in the case of Garza county vs. Lynn county, the eleventh court of civil appeals at Eastland has remanded for trial the question, involving the boundaries of the litigants. Boundaries of several other West Texas counties are hinging on final solution of the case.

Citing that the trial court fixed the common corner of Lynn and Garza counties where the corner of Lubbock and Crosby is now marked on the ground, the appeals court holds that this point is some distance north and east of the point which would be correct under the evidence and the law.

The appeals court decree explains the controversy as growing out of legislative action in 1876, requiring that West Texas counties be laid out in square form and to contain not less than 900 square miles and directing establishment of the lines as though they were to be laid out on a plain surface, apparently overlooking the fact that they had to be laid out on a spherical surface.

As a result, the opinion sets out, the south boundaries of some counties are more than 30 miles, because the east and west lines follow the meridians which spread as they go south and are not parallel. The appeals court gave the opinion that county boundaries should be located at intersections of parallels of latitude and meridians of longitude.

The appeals court contended that the question involved is whether boundaries of counties never established should be made to conform to incorrectly established and recognized boundaries of other counties, or whether established and recognized lines, if incorrect, should yield to a correct location, if necessary to prevent small areas being left out of any county.

CHILD DROWNS IN DIRT TANK

Year Old Bain Child Found Floating Face Down In Water At Pennington Place

Falling into a surface tank at the Garland Pennington residence a few miles southeast of town, little Dilton Bain, 1 year and three months old, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Bain, was accidentally drowned Tuesday afternoon.

The mother and grandmother, Mrs. W. A. Hibdon, had gone to the Pennington home to fill some barrels with water. They went into the house a few minutes and when they got ready to start away with the barrels of water, they missed the little child. Making a hasty investigation, they found the body floating on the water, face downward, and life was already extinct. The water in the tank was almost hidden by trees that surrounded it and the child had fallen into the water unnoticed by the elder people present.

The father, R. M. Bain, was at Hart in Castro county at the time. An inquest was held by justice of the peace B. F. Rogers Wednesday morning and he pronounced it a case of accidental drowning. The remains were laid to rest in the Tahoka cemetery Wednesday afternoon, Rev. J. W. Shepherd, pastor of the Methodist Church here, conducting the funeral.

The parents and grand-parents have the sympathy of the entire community.

Williams Home At Draw Burns

The residence of W. H. Williams who resides on his farm near Draw, was totally destroyed by fire last Friday morning, the fire starting from a kitchen stove. It was a five room frame structure and was one of the most substantial homes in that community. Most of the contents were also destroyed. The house was only partially covered by insurance.

Mr. Williams was in the house himself when the fire started but it originated in the kitchen, which was in the southeast corner of the building, while Mr. Williams was in a northwest room. The kitchen door was closed and the fire had made much headway before it was discovered. Mrs. Williams was out about the lots at the time, and she and Mr. Williams found it impossible to extinguish the flames.

Paul Howell And Miss Roberts Wed

On last Thursday evening, Paul Howell and Miss Idella Roberts were married in Lovington, New Mexico. On Saturday morning they left with Mr. Howell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Howell, for Wauchula, Florida, where they expect to reside.

Mr. Howell has resided here for a number of years and has been employed principally at garages and service stations. He is a young man of strict integrity and enjoys the confidence of our people. The bride is the daughter of A. M. Roberts, who has resided here the past few years, and is a young woman of lovable character. Their many friends will wish them many years of happy married life.

HANDLEY LAST RITES FRIDAY

Prominent Citizen, Killed Last Week In Gin Accident, Honored By Masonic Order

The funeral services for M. L. Handley conducted from the Methodist Church here last Friday afternoon attracted one of the largest crowds that ever attended a funeral in Tahoka. Friends were here from a number of neighboring towns as well as from Tahoka and surrounding territory to pay their last tribute or respect to the memory of the dead. All business houses in Tahoka closed during the services.

The obsequies were under the direction of the Masonic fraternity, of which Mr. Handley was a member. Dr. J. D. Moorehead of Meadow, a warm friend of the deceased, was in charge of the ritualistic ceremonies conducted by that order, which were very beautiful and impressive. Rev. C. A. Duncan, former pastor at Meadow and now pastor at Lovington, New Mexico, delivered the funeral sermon, while Rev. J. W. Shepherd, the Methodist pastor here, made a brief talk and paid a glowing tribute to the character of deceased. Active pall bearers were Messrs. Chester Connolly, G. M. Stewart, W. B. Slaton, and W. L. Burleson of Tahoka, Earl Cadenhead and Theodore Lucas of Meadow, Judge Homer Winston of Brownfield, and Mr. Roquemore of Lamesa. Many honorary pall bearers were named.

Mr. Handley was born at Bear Creek, Alabama, on December 25, 1889. He came to Texas with his father's family when but a youth. He was married to Miss Ida Jeffcoat on August 25, 1912. He moved to Meadow in 1923, where he engaged in the ginning business, and removed to Tahoka in 1927, since which time he has been part owner and manager of two gins here. His tragic death in a gin accident at Meadow was related in these columns last week.

Fire Damages L. F. Craft's Home

Fire of undetermined origin did much damage to the furniture and some damage to the walls of the residence of Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Craft Tuesday afternoon. The fire evidently originated in a front room closet and it is believed to have been the result of spontaneous combustion. A door of the closet was almost entirely consumed by the flames while little other damage to the building itself was done by the flames. The water damage, however, was considerable.

Mr. and Mrs. Craft had left the house only an hour or two before the fire was discovered. Mr. Craft says that a bag in which they kept the rags with which they dusted and varnished the furniture hung on the inside of the closet door. It is believed that chemical changes in the oils and varnishes with which the rags were saturated produced combustion.

The fire department responded promptly to the alarm and saved the building from destruction. The furniture, however, was nearly ruined by the fire and water. Both house and furniture were partially covered by insurance.

PLAINS BAPTISTS WILL MEET AT LUBBOCK SOON

Rev. R. C. Campbell, district organizer for the Baptists of Texas, will preside at a meeting to be held at the First Baptist Church, Lubbock, on October 14. There are 188 churches with a membership of 28,198 in this district.

Dr. W. M. Wright, pastor of the First Baptist Church, and Dr. J. Howard Williams, executive secretary of the Baptist General Convention of Texas, will appear on the program.

The seven members of the Promotion Committee from each church in this district are expected to attend this meeting.

Early Day Ranch Sold Under Hammer

A ranch consisting of about 2,200 acres, situated at Tahoka Lake and known as the old Tahoka Lake Ranch, owned by Mr. Wolfarth of Lubbock, was sold at public auction on the court house steps here Tuesday afternoon to satisfy a loan held by the Texas Land & Mortgage Company of Dallas, the loan being secured by a deed of trust on this land.

The land was bought in by the Loan Company for a consideration of $15,000.00.

This was one of the oldest ranches on the South Plains. Originally it was held under lease as a division of the great C. C. Slaughter ranch. Then Jack Alley filed on this land and held title to it for many years. In recent years it has dwindled in size. Some years ago it was acquired by Mr. Wolfarth. A loan was placed on it, and then the hard years came, and so Tuesday this historic old ranch went on the auction block.

Prior to the coming of settlers, Tahoka Lake's two springs were favorite watering places for Indians, buffalo and antelope. Then, in the 1870's it is possible that more buffalo hunters worked in its vicinity than any other one spot. With the passing of the buffalo, in about 1878, two sheep herders had their headquarters at the lake, and ruins of the old rock corrals can be seen yet. They soon abandoned the place. Then came Slaughter and Jack Alley. It was in this lake that old Col. C. C. Slaughter almost lost his eyesight while trying to get a herd of 3,000 water-crazed cattle out of the dry lake bed. It was here that the citizens of the then unorganized Lynn county met in 1903 to perfect plans for the establishment of Tahoka and the formation of the county. For many years the old freight and mail lines to the XIT ranch and later to Lubbock passed by the lake.

The history of the Tahoka Lake Ranch is interwoven with the history of the South Plains, and it is to be regretted that this misfortune overtook the owner.

Clifton Janak Is Audition Winner

Clifton Janak was one of the winners in the preliminary audition contests held in Dallas Wednesday according to a telegram W. E. Sudarth received from his wife, Mrs. Rubie D. Sudarth, Thursday morning. Clifton will be in the final contest which will be held tonight, beginning at 11 o'clock. This contest will be broadcast over the radio from Station WFAA, and Clifton's Tahoka friends may have the pleasure of hearing him and others in this state final contest.

Mrs. J. L. Harris, mother of Mrs. C. A. Thomas, and Mrs. A. N. Thomas, mother of the Thomas brothers, left Wednesday for Dallas, Ennis, and Honey Grove, Mrs. Harris on a visit to her other children and Mrs. Thomas returning to her home in Ennis after spending the summer here and at Post and Canyon.

PAINS QUIT COMING

"When I was a girl, I suffered periodically with terrible pains in my back and sides. Often I would bend almost double with the intense pain. This would last for hours and I could get no relief.

"I tried almost everything that was recommended to me, but found nothing that would help until I began taking Cardui. My mother thought it would be good for me, so she got a bottle of Cardui and started me taking it. I soon improved. The bad spells quit coming. I was soon in normal health."

Prosperity Plan Meets Approval

President Hoover this week proposed a "six-point" plan for the rehabilitation of commerce and industry which seems to have met with almost universal acclaim. The six points are as follows:

1. Creation of 500-million-dollar credit agency to handle credits unacceptable to the reserve banks.
2. Liquidation of the frozen assets of insolvent banks.
3. Appointment of regional bankers' committees to aid in credit expansion.
4. Liberalization of the rules to permit reserve banks to handle a wider variety of securities.
5. Creation of a government credit agency similar to the old war finance corporation.
6. Strengthening of the resources of the federal land banks to further accommodate the farmer.

Leading New York bankers started working out details Wednesday of the proposed $500,000,000 credit corporation. Twenty-four New York banks immediately signified their intention of joining the credit pool. Feverish buying on the New York stock exchange followed announcement of the Hoover plan. Prices on the London, Paris and Tokio stock markets rallied. Praise of the President's plan came from Washington officials, business leaders, economists and newspaper editors throughout the country, and from financiers in European capitals. Congressional leaders of both parties pledged their support, and ex-Governor Al Smith of New York voiced his approval. The American Bankers' Association in convention at Atlantic City voted quick approval of the proposed pool.

It is believed that this and other relief proposals made by the President will prove to be the turning point in the present economic crisis and will eventuate in the return of prosperity.

Frank P. Cook Is Taken By Death

After a lingering illness from an intestinal cancer, Frank P. Cook, residing on the Wolforth Ranch near Tahoka Lake, died soon after four o'clock Wednesday afternoon. Funeral arrangements have not been completed, awaiting the arrival of a son, Tom Cook, who resides at Seligman, Arizona. The funeral will probably be conducted from the Methodist Church, however, and burial will be in the City cemetery.

Mr. Cook had been a resident of Lynn county for the past nine years and had resided on the Wolforth Ranch for six years. He had been a resident of Texas almost forty years, coming to this state from North Bloomfield, Ohio, where he was born. He spent almost his entire life in this state as a ranch employee. He was first married in 1895, and of this marriage two children were born, Mrs. Dewey Hollebeke of Pecos, Texas, and Tom Cook of Seligman, Arizona. Mrs. Hollebeke arrived Wednesday night following her father's death. Deceased was married a second time on November 24, 1923, and his second wife, Mrs. Cora Cook, survives him. He leaves no brothers nor sisters.

Mr. Cook was of a quiet retiring disposition and came to town very infrequently but those who knew him highly esteemed him for his sterling character and genial nature. The News joins other friends in expressions of sympathy to the bereaved wife, son and daughter.

New Lynn

Well, folks, it seems boll pulling is still the call of the country. Cotton is coming in rapidly at the gin now, but owing to very little help the gin has never been able to run steady. If the fine weather continues, in a very short time many will be able to help their neighbors who were not so fortunate in securing help in gathering their crops. Cotton is averaging from a quarter to a half a bale to the acre.

A fair crowd attended singing Saturday night. But since we have our new song books we are in hopes the singing interest will be better. Mr. Luther Rudd of Wilson and Mr. Dearwood Maxie of Garlynn were with us Saturday night, which helped us greatly in learning the new songs.

Mr. Carpenter and family, long citizens of our community who at the first of the year moved to South Texas, are back in our midst. They are expected to make this their home again.

Mr. McCarty and family were called to Roswell, New Mexico, where Mr. McCarty's father is seriously ill.

Rev. Thurston of Wilson, pastor of the Methodist Church, will fill his regular appointment Sunday at 2:30 p. m. Everyone is invited to attend the service.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Pharr and family of Edith were visitors in the Janes home Sunday.

Many citizens of our community attended the fair at Lubbock last week and reported the greatest fair the South Plains ever had.

Ginning seems to be the order of the day here. Both gins are running steady.

Our school has closed for two weeks in order that we might use the children in the cotton fields.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Hancock of Anton visited home folks, Mr. and Mrs. F. N. Hancock, here Sunday. Mrs. Hancock returned home with them for a few days visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Link of Tahoka visited in our community Sunday.

Mr. Marsh, one of the employees of the Farmers Co-Op Gin, happened to a very serious accident about 5 o'clock Tuesday morning when his hand was caught in the saws. He was rushed to the Sanitarium at Lubbock for treatment. There were about sixty stitches taken in his hand. He was resting very well the last report we had.

Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Sherrod and Mr. and Mrs. Charley Brown are very ill from the effects of arsenic poisoning. The arsenic was mistaken for baking powder and used in the bread that they ate.

We are glad to report that Grandpa Hilton, who has been so ill at Lubbock for three weeks, has improved enough to be brought home. Misses Edith and LaVern McCormick of Wilson visited Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Hamilton Monday. —Reporter.

Who Killed Earl Wright?
Wilson residents won't have to leave their own streets to see and hear a murder trial, for one is to take place at the School Auditorium Sunday, October 11, 3:00 p. m. A young man, Calloway Huffaker, will be "tried" for murder and the whole setting will deal with the "killing" of a man by his friend, whom, it is shown, was under the influence of liquor at the time he struck the blow which snuffed out the life, left a widow and a family of fatherless children. The trial is being put on in cooperation by the churches and is a means of pointing out a lesson in prohibition law enforcement. Twenty-five prominent local leaders will take part in the trial. The cast follows: Rev. J. W. Partin, sheriff, W. E. Galloway; Jack Stiles, bootlegger, Pat Swan; deputy sheriff, J. T. Williams; Frank Lloyd, defendant, Calloway Huffaker; Court reporter, R. C. Forrester; Mrs. French, star witness, Mrs. Clyde Shaw; Mr. Cook, coroner, Prof. A. L. Faubion; Mrs. Lloyd, defendant's mother, Mrs. Fannie Dawson; Mrs. Wright, wife of deceased, Miss Clara May; counsel for defense, Atticus Webb, Dallas; prosecuting attorney, Rev. H. L. Thurston; summoned for the jury, Bob Finley, W. C. Huffaker, John Heck, Clyde Shaw, John Hamilton, C. E. Campbell, W. A. Tadlock, H. B. Crosby, W. H. May, C. A. Coleman, B. W. Baker, and J. E. Richardson. You are urged to be present at this play. It will doubtless be worth your while.

School Opening Postponed
At a meeting of the board of trustees of our school Monday night it was decided to put off the opening till Nov. 2. The teachers are being notified of the change as it was understood school would begin Oct. 19 until the meeting Monday night. The change is for the purpose of having more time for the children to assist in gathering the tremendous cotton crop now open in the fields. After starting it is planned to run a full nine months term.

Grandpa Neiman Passes
Tuesday evening at 8:25 the Death Angel visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Ehlers and claimed the life of one of Wilson's most beloved and highly respected citizens, August Neiman. Mr. Neiman was born in Germany 80 years, 7 months and 9 days ago, accepted the Lutheran faith in his young life, and has lived a consistent Christian throughout the many years allotted to him. He came to America in 1884, settling in Fayette county, Texas, afterward moving to Dewitt county, and in 1916 together with a number of his children settled near Wilson, at which place he has resided until called away to meet his life's companion who passed on Dec. 24, 1925. Funeral services were held at the St. John's Lutheran of Wilson at 4 p. m. Wednesday, Rev. C. N. Roth, pastor of the church, officiating. Immediately after the service, interment was made in the Slaton cemetery. The passing of Grandpa leaves a host of friends and relatives to mourn his passing. He leaves eight children, five sons, Fritz, Gus, Rudy, Emil, all of Wilson, and Henry of Yoakum; and three daughters, Mrs. J. F. W. Maeker, Mrs. Geo. Ehlers and Miss Ida, all of Wilson. There are also 26 grand-children and 16 great-grand-children.

L. Lumsden and John Heck made Lovelland a brief visit last Sunday afternoon. Mr. Heck reported that a grand-child of his who had been suffering several days with scarlet fever as getting along fine.

H. B. Crosby and family were Lubbock visitors Monday afternoon.

B. W. Baker has been quite a bit under the weather for several days. Mrs. Henry Heck and son Rodney Fern were very acceptable guests in the Forrester and Heck homes last week end.

Mr. Earl Faubion of Adamsville, brother of Supt. Faubion, came in Monday for a visit. He is at present working at the Planters Gin.

Locals

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur White have removed to Tahoka from Panhandle. Mr. White has accepted a position in Morton & Dye's barber shop. Mr. White was formerly connected with another shop here and married Miss Eva Shroyer while here. Many friends will welcome them back to Tahoka.

Fred Hegi of Petersburg has accepted a position with The First National Bank here again. He was with this institution last fall and winter.

Mrs. Rubie D. Suddarth, Miss Charlene Maddox, and Clifton Janak left Tuesday morning for Dallas, where Miss Maddox and Mr. Janak expected to enter the preliminary audition contests to be held in that city Wednesday morning. If successful in the preliminary contests they will enter the final contests to be held Thursday evening. They were accompanied by some Brownfield people, who were also to enter the contests.

Our good friend Thomas J. Williams brought a hen egg to this office a few days ago 7 inches in circumference one way by 8 1/2 inches the other way. Mr. Williams says it was the product of a barred Plymouth Rock. Even the hens seem to be in on this over-production business.

Dr. Anne West returned from Dallas Wednesday morning to visit her mother a few weeks, Mrs. W. J. West, who resides nine miles north of Tahoka. Dr. West is believed to be the only Lynn county woman who has studied and is practicing medicine.

Among Tahoka business people who attended the opening of Market Week in Lubbock Sunday were R. A. Hoover, Mr. and Mrs. Al Lehman, Miss Allene Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Roberts, and Miss Frankie Wells.

E. H. Boullion left Tuesday morning to attend the national convention of the Red & White stores in session in San Antonio this week. He is expected home Thursday or Friday.

A. M. Sullivan and W. M. Spears of Coahoma were here on business Tuesday. Mr. Sullivan resided here for many years and met many old-time friends while here.

Miss Lilje Wilson of Snyder was the guest Tuesday of Miss Lou Woosley. The two attended the style show in Lubbock Tuesday night.

R. E. Key and Rev. O. J. Hull visited Meadow, Ropes, and Wilson

Tuesday. They say they saw oodles of cotton open in the fields along their route.

Mrs. D. W. Gagnat and Mrs. J. H. Powell left Sunday for an examination in the clinic of the Scott & White Sanitarium in Temple.

WE MUST OUTLAW WAR

That the present world-wide depression is due primarily to the destruction and waste attendant upon the great World War is the belief of many. A writer in the Saturday Evening Post of October 5 calls attention to the fact that in this war, ten million men were killed, 13 million others were reported missing, there were ten million refugees and six million children who had lost their fathers. "A parade of the dead men, marching ten abreast from sunrise to sunset, with a new rank passing every two seconds, would take forty-six days to pass a given post," the writer states. The cost of the war came to a total of $338,000,000,000—in other words, $20,000 for every hour since the birth of Christ. The war itself cost $9,000,000 an hour to wage. In those four years Europe lost all the savings it had accumulated during a century.

In view of these facts, is it any wonder that Europe now finds herself unable to buy American cotton? Would it not be wise to wipe the slate clean as to the public war debts and give the people of Europe a chance to "come back"? Would it not be well also for the United States to lead the way in reducing war armaments? In our opinion, this country failed in its duty ignominiously when it refused to follow Woodrow Wilson and join the League of Nations. With the United States as a member of the League it would have been in position immediately to have led the way toward permanent world peace. We believe it should lead the way yet. Another world war would be too terrible to contemplate. This same writer in the Saturday Evening Post calls attention to the inevitable horrors of the next war, if there should be one. He quotes Marshal Foch as follows: "The next war will be a world war in the fullest sense. . . . Almost all countries will take part in it, and not only the men but the women and children will fight too. Poison gas bombs will spread deadly fumes which will penetrate any mask and produce death in a few minutes. Phosphorus bombs, impossible to extinguish will burn the flesh to the bone within half a minute. Hundreds of tanks, each one able to shoot a thousand deadly bullets a minute, machine guns like automatic rifles, which, in the hands of a million men, will shoot 100,000,000 bullets a minute, will also be raging, and the heavens above will be darkened by a thousand airplanes pouring a rain of horror in the earth. Behind the lines cities and villages will crumble in ruins under the destructive fire of the latest artillery. In the next war there will be no such thing as the front and the rear. The whole nation will find itself on the firing line."

But this picture of the next war, painted by Marshal Foch a number of years ago, is a mild one as compared with the picture painted more recently. The next war will be a poison gas war, the experts say. "The laboratories in all the great countries are busily studying systematic ways of infecting human beings and animals in enemy territory, of spreading mildew to kill the crops, anthrax to kill the cattle, bacilli to destroy the inhabitants of hostile countries", says Winston Churchill, and the writer says that "Lewisite gas, discovered in Chicago after years of study, has been developed to produce fantastic results. Every nation now secretly believes that it possesses the most powerful poison gas in the world. . . . Twelve big bombs of Lewisite gas, dropped on Berlin or Chicago, would be enough to destroy all life in those cities of several millions within a short space of time. . . . There will also be airplane smoke screens which will conceal wide stretches of territory in impenetrable darkness. . . . A visible or invisible cloud of poison gas will be released on a city and will annihilate all inhabitants, from infants to gray-haired men sitting in the secret recesses of the deepest cellars. . . . A special type of airplane will be able to fly without a pilot and be manipulated with wireless with an instrument no larger than a typewriter. . . . A new American device about a yard long, known as a candle, spreads a mixture of impenetrable smoke and poison gas, and can be planted and lighted anywhere by soldiers." Prof. Cannon of Harvard University is quoted as stating in a written article that "We saw nothing in the last war that compares with the destruction of industrial cities and the mass massacre which awaits us with the outbreak of the new war." The deadly work that could be done by the submarine is also described. "The largest submarine today—the Surcouf, which was launched a year ago last June at Cherbourg, and which is superior to the American V-4 and all English submarines—can cross the Atlantic four times, or go half-way around the world, without taking on new fuel. It could make its way into New York Harbor unseen, and suddenly pour grenades with poison gas from its fourteen tubes upon the banking quarter of the city."

Much more to the same effect depicts the horrors any world-wide war of the future. Whatever else we do, the world must outlaw war.

The cotton restriction law recently enacted by the Texas legislature seems to have had no effect as yet on the price of cotton. But if the other states of the South will follow the lead of Texas in this matter, we believe that such legislation will have a fine effect in the course of time. The cotton world has not probably taken this legislation seriously. They regard it doubtless as a mere gesture. They figure that it will either be repealed or declared unconstitutional before cotton planting time rolls around again. All of which may happen. But if it is not repealed or invalidated and if other Southern states enact similar laws, it will eventually boost the price of cotton just as surely as prices are controlled by the law of supply and demand. Prospect for a short crop next year will naturally affect the price—possibly too late to help the farmer much this year. But an actual short crop next year will most assuredly boost the price. It is folly to argue otherwise. We are disappointed that the farmer is not to get the benefit this season of this legislation but if this legislation stands the test of the courts it will help greatly further on down the road. We yet believe that Texas has done a wise thing in passing a cotton acreage restriction law.

Wails and lamentations will never get us anywhere, but a "merry laugh doeth good like a medicine". Let's quit bewailing the low price of cotton and prophesying that everybody will starve to death this winter. The price of cotton is most disappointing but the people of Lynn county probably have more home-canned vegetables, fruits, and meats stored away in their cellars and pantries this fall than ever before. Besides, while cotton is cheap, clothing is also much cheaper. We are going to dig out of this depression in great style, folks.

It is not good for any country for the wealth to concentrate in the hands of the few. The masses are becoming too intelligent and too independent in spirit to long continue as the economic and industrial vassals of any class or group of their fellow citizens. If they can not find peaceful means of correcting great economic injustice they will resort to violent means. Our statesmen should be using every brain cell they have to work out some radical reform in our economic system.

Believe it or not, the Panhandle-South Plains Fair held in Lubbock last week was one of the best in its history. The exhibits of agricultural products, dairy stock, beef cattle, hogs and poultry were excellent. The amusements were the best ever, and a visitor to the fair any night last week would not have suspected that old man Depression had ever visited this section. It was good to see the folks having such a good time.

A Pound of Butter Takes a Ride!

SWIFT & COMPANY

OFTEN a pound of butter takes a ride of a thousand miles to find its dinner table!

In more than a hundred produce plants, Swift & Company is taking the butterfat, eggs and poultry of its 200,000 farm patrons daily, paying cash for them and sending them into national channels of distribution.

Thousands of miles of leased telegraph wires keep Swift & Company executives informed where these products command the best prices. To the best markets are rushed the surpluses of over-supplied districts. Lacking a national market like this one, many a pound of butter—and many an egg, too—would grow useless right at home, or else be sold at much less than present prices.

To distribute produce as well as quality meats, Swift & Company uses all the facilities of its over 400 branch houses and its 600 refrigerator car routes. Its great organization has 55,000 employees living in hundreds of towns where their pay checks help support community interests and trade. They are local men doing a national job, relieving producers of all selling worries and minimizing local gluts and shortages.

A nation-wide marketing system for poultry, eggs and butterfat must render a complete service, covering purchasing, grading, refrigeration, transportation, selling and delivery. The system functions smoothly when one concern undertakes all these steps. Swift & Company performs all these services at the lowest possible cost. Swift & Company profits from all sources, over a long term of years, have averaged less than a half cent a pound.

the wrong end of the problem. We must have a diversion of man-power and land to the production of other things, especially a diversion of man-power. Acreage can lie fallow. But men must make a living. We have no pride of opinion in demonstrating that we are right and the Lynn County News is wrong. We are concerned that Texas and the South shall face the real situation and do something practicable about it now, instead of coming to recognize it as the result of bitter experiences with such quick remedies as restriction by future, if ever again. That means that many who have produced export cotton must find something else to do. Far from opposing restriction of cotton acreage, we have been among the chief advocates of acre-law.

WHAT OTHERS THINK

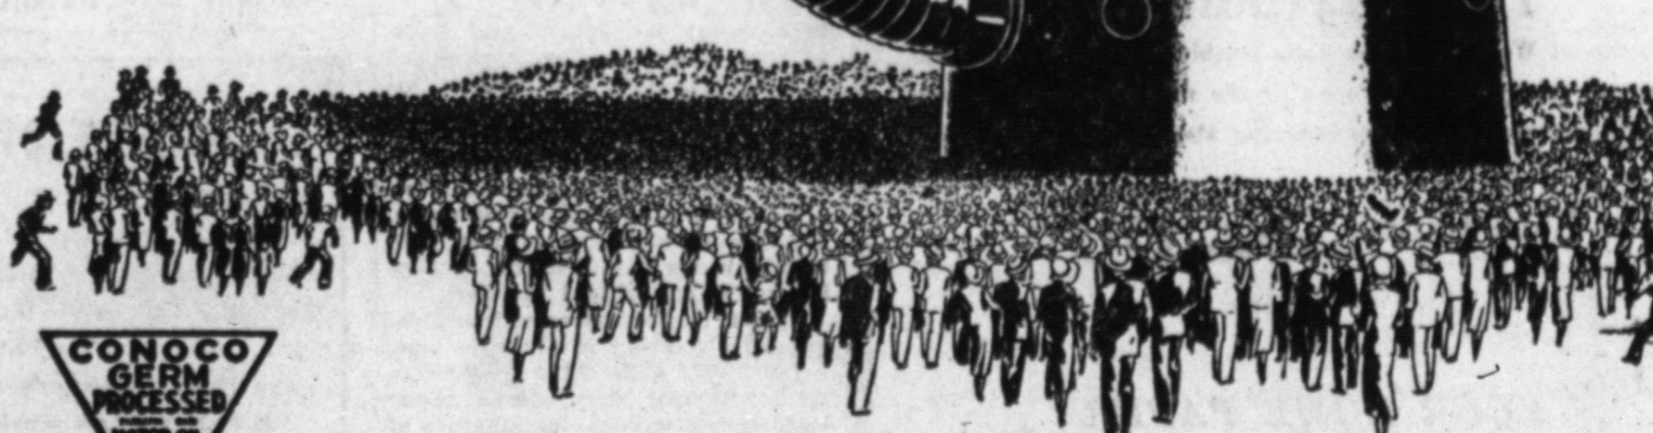

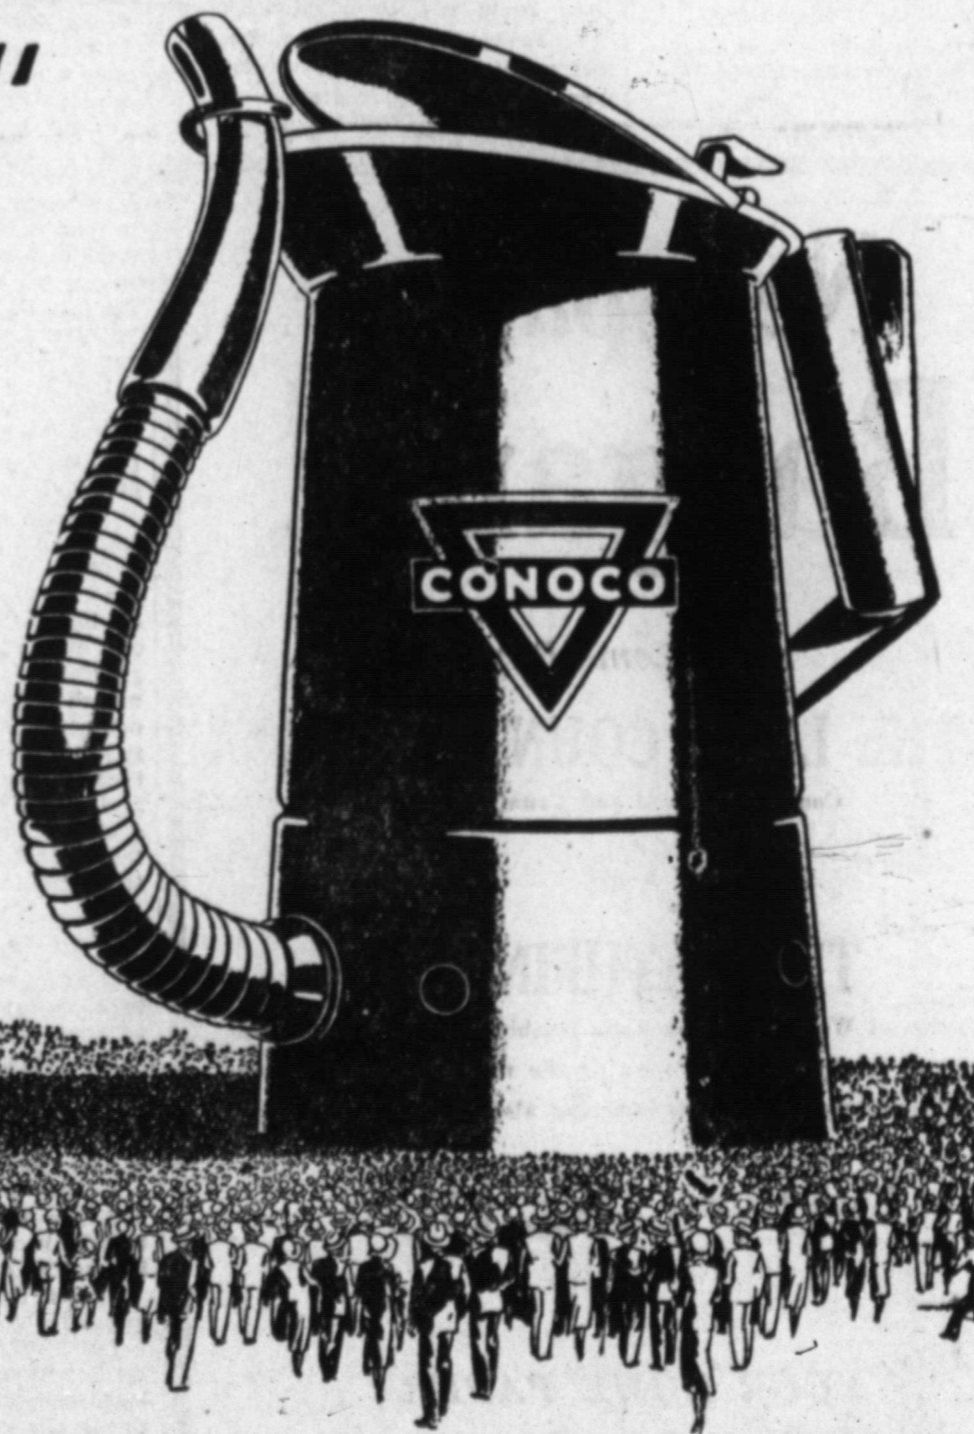

PETER MOLYNEAUX REPLIES

After publishing our editorial of two weeks ago commenting on an editorial which had previously appeared in The Texas Weekly, published at Dallas, Peter Molyneaux, editor of that publication, replied last week as follows:

The above is an unusually thoughtful editorial. But it overlooks the main point, which is that the world consumption of foreign cotton has not been falling off. "We see nothing unusual or alarming in the situation at all," it says, "except that owing to worldwide depression the world is using less cotton than formerly." But there is something unusual in the situation, nevertheless, and that is that while the world is using less cotton than formerly it is using more foreign cotton than formerly. During the fiscal year ending last July 31, world consumption of foreign cotton was 770,000 bales MORE than during the fiscal year ending July 31, 1929, and 1,443,000 bales MORE than during the fiscal year ending July 31, 1928. On the other hand, world consumption of American cotton during the fiscal year ending last July 31 was 4,169,000 bales LESS than during the fiscal year ending July 31, 1929, and 4,500,000 bales LESS than during the fiscal year ending July 31, 1928. And world consumption, be it remembered, includes American consumption. The change from American to foreign cotton outside the United States has been much more marked than these figures indicate. We have never said anything about foreign production. Never in so much as a single sentence have we expressed the opinion that other countries would increase their production of cotton if the production of American cotton should be curtailed by law. That the increased demand for foreign cotton will ultimately bring about increased production we do not doubt. But we have never been concerned about that. The decreased consumption of American cotton has no relation to increased foreign production. It has been caused by the same forces which have reduced foreign consumption of all American goods. Does the Lynn County News know that during the month of August American exports of all kinds were one million dollars less than imports? The situation has been moving toward that condition for months. In due course that condition will become permanent. We cannot escape it. And that affects cotton more than anything else because cotton is the chief American export, and because normally more than half of the American crop has been sold abroad. The export market will not be very profitable for American cotton for many years in the age restriction. But not restriction by law with the object of increasing the price of the present crop. That's

THE "HIDDEN QUART"

That Stays up in the Motor and Never Drains Away

— is Worth its Weight in Gold to Any Motorist!

It's not the mileage your speedometer shows that makes your car wear out quickly, lose power and need costly repairs. It's motor wear, caused by friction, that does it! And almost half of all the motor wear occurs while you're starting. Cut down starting wear and you'll give your motor longer life.

That's just what the "hidden quart" of Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil does! It stays up in your motor and never drains away and thus cuts down starting wear! Ordinary oils drain away, leaving working parts unprotected until oil is pumped from the crankcase through the motor, which takes several minutes. Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil penetrates and combines with metal surfaces of working parts, stays there and never drains away. The "hidden quart" safely lubricates every cylinder, piston and bearing the instant you touch the starter.

The "hidden quart" is worth its weight in gold to you! From the first fill with Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil, you'll have this "hidden quart" up in your motor, giving safe lubrication at all times, lengthening your motor's life. Drain your crankcase now... fill with Germ Processed Oil at any station displaying the Conoco Red Triangle.

We had a large crowd at B. Y. P. U. and church Sunday night. Bro. Johnson brought us a wonderful message both Sunday morning and Sunday night.

We were glad to have a number of visitors with us Sunday night in B. Y. P. U. We invite you back again. Bro. Horn and Bro. Partin will be with us Sunday evening at 3:30. We urge our church members to please be present. They are going to help us and show us how we may call a pastor. I am sure they will know some plan that will help.

Mr. Frank Wood of Portland, Oregon, who has been visiting in the Bosworth home for several days, left Wednesday for Houston.

We are glad to have Mr. and Mrs.

Walker back with us. They have been gone for several months.

Mr. and Mrs. Thrallkill and family spent Saturday and Saturday night at the Lubbock Fair.

Mr. and Mrs. Deen Nowlin, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Hawthorne, and Albert Blair, of Tahoka, spent Sunday with R. Bosworth and family.—Reporter.

ANNOUNCE PROGRAM FOR TAHOKA H. D. CLUB MEET

The Tahoka Home Demonstration Club will meet at the Legion Hall on Wednesday, Oct. 14, at 3:30 P. M., when the following program will be rendered:

Subject: Achievement day of poultry demonstrators.

Roll Call: Number of birds I raised this year.

Order of business.

Report by Demonstrator, Mrs. John Stokes.

Report of co-operators.

A demonstration on canning chickens will be given by Miss Harrison and all who are interested are invited to attend.

TAXES MUST BE PAID NOW, A. M. CADE SAYS

Notice is hereby given that October 15 is the last day on which last year's state, county, and school district taxes may remain unpaid without becoming delinquent. The attorney general has ruled that the bill enacted by the present legislature exempting the tax-payers from the payment of the penalty and interest is unconstitutional and has ordered me to collect the same.

A. M. CADE, Collector. 7-1tc.

YOUR DIFFICULTIES SOLVED

These are stressful times, are they not? Yes, indeed they are. But what are you going to do about it? Cuss the Government? No, you are not going to do anything like that—then what? Go see Uncle Ben, and let him show you how to invest the meagre sum of $15.00 and add to your estate $5,000.00.

It can be done, and Uncle Ben is ready to show you how to do it. Adv. 7-4tc.

CHAIN, GROUP AND BRANCH BANKING

Bankers' Commission Describes Differences Among Various Kinds of Multi-Office Banks.

THE Economic Policy Commission of the American Bankers Association has made the following statement on various types of banking systems operating through more than one office:

"We find that there are recognized in the banking world three types of multiple banking organizations, namely, chain bank systems, group bank systems and branch bank systems. They are alike solely in respect to the fact that each embraces under some form of common control or influence two or more banking places, but here the similarity stops since there are essential differences in organization and administration, especially as between branch banking and the chain and group forms.

"Chain banking is recognized as probably the least definite form of multiple banking organization. Generally speaking, this term refers to merely a string of individual separately chartered banks owned or controlled through stock holdings by one or more common individuals, sometimes without public knowledge of the common ownership. Frequently the controlled banks are not administered as a coherent whole under the guidance of a central, publicly known head office, but rather each bank is run as a separate unit bank in accord with the wishes of the dominant interest. In some cases, however, there is a central, publicly known control with a head office that formally supervises the operations of all the banks controlled, and this is perhaps the more desirable arrangement. It lacks, however, the definite legal responsibility that a corporate head organization would have. Each bank in a chain system operates under its own capital and there is ordinarily no binding relation among members of the string.

Group Responsibility

"Group banking, on the other hand, is a system in which, while the member banks are separately chartered and operate as individual units with their own capital, control is exercised through a publicly known corporate organization under the direction of a responsible head office. It openly holds stock control of the member banks and is morally and legally responsible as the chief stockholder for their administration and the statutory share of their liabilities. An essential feature is the fact that an organization of this kind is publicly known, which creates a large degree of responsiveness to public opinion. This is true because anything of an undesirable nature developing in one member of the group would create public distrust of the whole group. Therefore its sense of self-preservation as a group, if nothing else, tends to make it enforce standards of conduct throughout the members of the group and to assume responsibilities for them beyond what mere legal responsibilities would bring about.

"Branch banking is completely distinct from the two foregoing forms of multiple organization in that it does not consist of a string, chain or group of independent banks, for there is only one chartered bank in a branch organization and the extensions from it are all in the form of sub-offices without separate capital or corporate existence. For everything that is done through these offices the bank itself is just as responsible legally and in every other sense of the word as though it were done over its own counters in its head office."

Bankers Help

In a report on banker-farmer work, H. Lane Young, Chairman Agricultural Commission, American Bankers Association, shows that during the past year there were 409 meetings reported in 38 states, with a total attendance of 33,578. County key bankers numbering 2,541 were appointed in 39 states. Thirty-four states reported an expenditure by banks of $105,926 for developing better agricultural practices.

Special banker-farmer activities engaged in by banks in 27 states numbered 8,493, while 7,140 projects or farm programs were carried on by rural people through the influence of bankers.

For three years the Agricultural Commission has given special recognition to the state reporting the highest record of accomplishments and this year Georgia achieved first place with its banker-farmer agricultural program. Representatives of the Georgia State College and officials of the Georgia Bankers Association developed the methods and policies which made it possible for Georgia to carry out an effective program which emphasized "directed credit from banks for producing crops on the live-at-home basis."

Appreciation for the cooperation received from local bankers was recently expressed by County Agent R. E. Bodley of Gallatin County, Montana, who said: "My personal experience has been that the average banker will go more than half way with the county agent, providing the latter has demonstrated that his work is constructive and conservative, that he is a man capable of handling confidential information and treating it as such, and one who can 'keep his feet on the ground'."

Advertising and Advertising!

This is the age of publicity and he who employs the best medium of reaching the buying public achieves the greatest success.

For many years newspapers furnished the only means for carrying messages to the buying public. Later, magazines and other periodicals entered the field, then circulars, and finally the radio

Volume advertisers employ advertising experts who are constantly on the job studying the subject, and well may they for they spend annually hundreds of millions of dollars to create and stimulate buying.

These experts are generally agreed that no medium of publicity approaches the newspaper which enters the home and is read by every member of the family, and often by neighbors who are not subscribers. Direct-by-mail circular advertising is being discarded as of little value. The radio as an advertising medium has seen its peak. A recent survey shows that 60 per cent of the radio audience turns the dial onto something else when an advertising talk is on. You cannot turn off the home town paper. You can throw it away but you never do until you have read it through-out.

Ask the rural mail carrier what the patrons do with the purely advertising matter that has not been written in for. He will tell you that such advertising matter is invariably thrown away at the box or on the way home, which shows conclusively that that kind of advertising has no appeal.

The merchant who reasons that he is so well known that he does not need to advertise is courting a visit from the sheriff. Older readers will recall St. Jacob's Oil, a remedy that was in the medicine cabinet of nearly every home in America thirty years ago. It had been placed there with the excellence of the product, aided by a great and intelligent campaign of newspaper advertising that extended over a period of many years. We can visualize their ads. even at this late date. Finally the original owners sold out to some concern for a large sum of money. The new owners of St. Jacob's Oil reasoned that the product was so well known that further advertising was throwing money away, and by discontinuing the use of newspaper space they could effect a saving of something like two million dollars per year, the sum the former owners had been spending to keep their product before the public. What happened? Sales immediately began to fall off and in a few years St. Jacob's Oil became but a memory to the old timers. The owners, of course, went to the wall. Countless others have met with the same experience, and yet others, who persist in following in those footsteps, will meet the same fate.

Newspaper advertising brings buyer and seller together at less expense and with much greater effect than any other medium.

COURT DOCKET DELAYED ON ACCOUNT ABSENTEES

for the reason that one of Adams' attorneys, G. E. Lockhart, is a member of the legislature and is engaged in the performance of his official duties in Austin. A special venire had been summoned in this case and the Court felt that it would be unnecessary trouble and expense to have the jurors report here Thursday when it was already evident that the Court would be compelled to continue the case.

Other cases in which Judge Lockhart is an attorney are set for trial next Monday morning. It is very probable that Judge Lockhart will still be in Austin and that it will be necessary to continue all these cases until the next term. It is possible that some cases in which Judge Lockhart has not been retained as counsel may be brought to trial Monday.

CO-OP MAN SPOKE AT COURT HOUSE WEDNESDAY NIGHT

operative Association and of the Federal Farm Board, he declared that the Act creating the board and setting up the cooperative plan of marketing wheat and cotton was not a party measure. Both parties had planks in their platforms almost identical in their purport in 1928 demanding this legislation, he said, and more Democrats voted for it in the Congress of the United States than Republicans.

In discussing the failure of the old plan of marketing cotton, he asserted that under this plan the average farmer was practically ruined financially every few years. He might prosper fairly well for a few years and then a big crop would be produced, prices would fall, and the result was disaster to the farmer. This year 85 per cent of the cotton crop was produced under mortgage, he declared, and 90 per cent of the land is under mortgage.

His address was one of the most sane and illuminating we have ever heard on this subject.

Special Church Programs Given

Rev. Atticus Webb, head of the Anti-Saloon League in Texas, and Mr. Johnson, who is also connected with that organization, presented a sermon-drama at the Methodist Church at 10 o'clock and at the Baptist Church at 11 o'clock Sunday morning. They were assisted by two local young people at each service.

This playlet was pronounced as one of the best presentations of the cause of temperance and prohibition that has been heard here in a long time. It was so true to life and so fully answered the arguments that are so often heard against the Eighteenth Amendment that it seemingly left no ground for the opposition to stand on.

It was heard by a good sized and attentive congregation at each service.

Weather Here Is Unusually Warm

The records kept by the News show that September was an unusually warm month this year. It ranked in temperature right along with June, July, and August. And thus far October has been unusually warm also. On Sunday of this week the thermometer registered 95, on Monday 94, and on Tuesday 97—regular mid-summer temperatures.

The mean maximum temperature in September was 92.56 against 92.65 in August, 95 in July, and 94.77 in June. The mean minimum temperature in September was 65.13 against 65.52 in August, 67 in July, and 63.73 in June. The mean temperature for September was 78.85 against 79.09 in August, 81 in July, and 79.25 in June.
