GIN 9,686 BALES COTTON HERE

2,378 Bales Brought In During Past Week; Much Cotton Is Left In Fields

Tahoka gins had turned out a total of 9,686 bales of 1933 cotton, counting round bales as half bales, at 9 o'clock this morning, according to reports given the News by the five gins. A total of 2,378 bales have been ginned since last Thursday morning, when 7,308 bales were reported.

Gins have been running constantly for the past two weeks, day, night, and Sundays, and almost five thousand bales have been ginned since Thursday two weeks ago.

However, with the rain which fell Wednesday night and today and the accompanying cool spell, there is expected to be a let up in the rush. At least, the gins will be enabled to catch up for the first time in many days.

Farmers have been getting their cotton out at a rapid rate. Many, unable to get the staple ginned as fast as they could get it picked, have great heaps of cotton in the fields, preferring to have it piled up than on the stalk in case of rain.

Bank Account Is Built From Cans

"On the farm, as in business, it is the savings that pile up the profits," thinks Mrs. V. A. Botkin, farm food supply demonstrator of Edith Home Demonstration club.

Mrs. Botkin has a well stocked pantry of delicious home canned vegetables, fruits, and meats to supply her family a balanced ration for a period of six months, valued at $246.35, at a cost of $58.35, and a profit of $190.00.

In July, at a demonstration on budgeting the farm and ranch food supply, given by the home agent, Miss El Fieda Harrison, Mrs. Botkin made a food budget for her family, estimating the amount of food needed to supply a balanced ration for the non-productive months of the year, and planted a garden to provide the food to preserve.

She has stored on her shelves, organized and labeled 120 containers of leafy vegetables of six varieties; 100 containers of starchy vegetables, three varieties; 80 containers of other vegetables, nine varieties; 80 cans of miscellaneous foods, eight varieties; 120 cans of tomatoes and tomato juice; 150 containers of canned fruits or dried fruit substituted pound for pound for canned fruit; pickles and relishes, 52 containers; jellies and jams, 52 containers; hominy, peanut butter, nuts, dried peas and beans, potatoes, pumpkin, cheese and meats. Those foods such as sea foods and fruits, apples, sugar, and cereals, Mrs. Botkin has bought from the store, are on her shelves ready to be used and are included in the expenses.

Mrs. Botkin, anxious for others to live at home and can according to a budget, has helped seventeen non-club members plan their food budgets and can several hundred containers of food.

Lamesa Pioneer Died Tuesday

LAMESA, Oct. 31.—E. J. Bartlett, 86, pioneer and old settler of Dawson county, died here this morning. He was buried in the Lamesa cemetery this afternoon after funeral services conducted by Rev. J. W. Simpson.

Mr. Bartlett is survived by 12 children, all of whom were present for the funeral. Four other children are deceased. The twelve children are: Mrs. Carrie Putnam, Abilene; G. M. Bartlett, Plains; L. R. Bartlett, Levelland; W. D. Bartlett, Huggins, Cal.; D. H. Bartlett, Combs; J. A. Bartlett, Tahoka; H. T. Bartlett, Dimmitt; W. E. N. D. W. H. and N. E., all of Lamesa. Mr. Bartlett also is survived by 45 grandchildren, 47 great-grandchildren and one great-great-grandchild.

J. E. Barker, 69, Died Wednesday

Jim Evans Barker, 69, residing on the D. R. West place seven miles north of Tahoka, died at his home at about 1:30 p. m. Wednesday.

The funeral was to be held this afternoon.

He is survived by his wife and five children: C. Barker and James Barker of Tahoka; Mrs. Thelma Charlton, Jolietville; Ina Barker, Fort McKavitt; and Mrs. Geneva Matthews. The daughters were unable to attend the funeral.

C. M. Finch Has Two Bales Per

Our hat is off to C. M. Finch, of the Edith community.

Mr. Finch is the champion cotton producer of Lynn county—if somebody else does not show up with a better record.

From five and one-half acres of J. R. Penn Half and Half, Mr. Finch reports that he has picked eleven 500-pound bales of cotton, and will get one more—and Mr. Finch is an honorable man. From three acres of Chapman Ranch cotton he has picked six bales and will get at least one and one-half bales more—TWO AND ONE-HALF BALES PER ACRE.

Now who can beat that?

It is true that this cotton is in a low place, but it was not irrigated. Although the stalks stand not over two feet high, Mr. Finch says they were literally loaded. He also says the Chapman Ranch cotton was much easier picked than the other.

He expected to receive about three-fourth of a bale per acre on the rest of his farm.

Come to Lynn county!

Big Increase In Postal Receipts

More evidence of the improving financial condition of Lynn county is offered by Postmaster H. M. Larkin.

Mr. Larkin reports that in October, 1932, the post office records show that 807 money orders were written locally, while this October, 1933, a total of 2,107, an increase of 1,300 money orders were written.

Stamp sales for October, 1932, totaled $1,053.31, while the total for October this year was $1,446.23, a gain of $392.92.

Business has become so heavy at the Tahoka office that an auxiliary clerk was added November 1. In the past an auxiliary clerk has not usually been necessary before December 15th.

Rep. John Thomas Meets Notables

Our Representative, John N. Thomas, slipped down to Fort Worth and Dallas, without our knowledge or consent, when Jim Farley and John Garner were pulling their big party down there, and he met these and other distinguished gentlemen at Arlington Downs. John says, however, that they all looked just like other human beings. Whether John placed any money on the races or not, we do not know, for we failed to ask him. But we rather guess not.

We understand that John will be a candidate next year to succeed himself in the legislature.

Physicians Should Register All Births

County clerk H. C. Story asks that we again call the attention of doctors and parents to the fact that the registration of births is highly important.

Immediately following a birth, the attending physician should record the birth with the justice of the peace. It is to the interest of parents to see that the births of their children are recorded.

Some births in Lynn county are not being properly recorded, Story says.

STORE AT REDWINE
Boyd Smith has opened a filling station and grocery store at Redwine, this being the first business institution for that community.

SLATON WINS GRID CONTEST

Local Team Went Down 25 to 0, But Played Good Game; Lamesa Next

Though "snowed under" from a scoring standpoint, Tahoka furnished a very interesting game to Slaton on the local field last Friday afternoon, when the visiting team won a football game 25 to 0.

Twice Tahoka was on Slaton's two yard line, but lacked the punch to pierce the stronger foe's line. Slaton made 21 first downs to Tahoka's 8. The visitors attempted three passes, one completed for 12 yards, one was incomplete, and one was intercepted by Tahoka. Tahoka attempted 20 passes, 9 of which were completed for a total of 109 yards, nine were incomplete, and two were intercepted. Tahoka's feature play was a 55-yard return of a kickoff, Jolly being the ball-toter.

Tahoka is scheduled to play Lamesa at Lamesa Friday, Friday, Nov. 10. Brownfield come to Tahoka for a game.

Cotton Checks Total $498,639.00

Sixty-six additional cotton checks were received Tuesday of this week for distribution among as many farmers as a result of the Government's plow-up program. The total amount of the checks was $18,830, an average of $285 to each farmer.

This brings the total number of checks received by Lynn county farmers to 1576 and the amount to $498,639, or an average of about $316.40 to the check.

County Judge W. E. Smith states that there are about 150 checks yet to be received, and these are expected at almost any time.

Good Report From Draw Conference

Presiding Elder C. A. Bickley of Lubbock held quarterly conference of the Draw-Grassland-Graham charge of the Methodist Church at Draw last Saturday, according to the pastor, Rev. J. N. Hester.

Most satisfactory reports from all three of these churches were given, he says, more than $500.00 in money being reported. The salaries of the pastor and Presiding Elder were almost paid up and will be paid up in full at an early date.

Brother Bickley preached at 11 o'clock in the morning and the business meeting was held in the afternoon. Dinner on the ground was enjoyed at the noon hour. A large congregation was present at all the services.

Brother Hester has been pastor of this charge for the past three years and the work has prospered notwithstanding the stressful times through which the country has passed.

Resolutions commending the work of the Presiding Elder were adopted by the conference.

Lubbock Club Has Student Loan Fund

Lubbock, Nov. 1.—The Lubbock Rotary Club student loan fund now amounts to $2403.98 and during the last year 87 students have borrowed from this fund to help pay expenses while attending Texas Technological College. According to Dean J. M. Gordon, chairman of the loan committee, loans have been paid promptly in most cases.

The average amount of the 87 loans was $35.35 and 129 payments averaging $18.63 have been made during the fiscal year. The principal of the fund is augmented each year by gifts from members of the Rotary Club and others.

Mrs. Homer Harrison was brought home from Lubbock Sanitarium last Thursday. She is reported to be recovering rapidly from her appendicitis operation.

C. J. CAMPBELL DIES SUDDENLY

Lived At Morton But Had Long Been Prominent Farmer Of Lynn County

Word was received here Tuesday of the sudden death of C. J. Campbell, about 65, at about six o'clock that morning in his home near Morton, Cochran county. Heart failure is thought to have been the cause of his death. Burial details were not learned, but it is supposed he was buried at Morton.

Mr. Campbell lived seven miles southeast of Tahoka in the Edith community twelve or fifteen years, but traded his Lynn county farms for Cochran county property and moved there about four years ago. He was well known here as one of the county's leading farmers and best citizens and many friends here are grieved to learn of his passing.

Mr. Campbell is survived by his wife and five children, the latter being Mrs. Oscar Sanders, of the Edith community, in this county; Harve Campbell, Hermleigh; Mrs. Myrtle Hall, somewhere in New Mexico; Mrs. W. E. (Ethel) Grimes, Temple; and Miss Edith Campbell, who was at home.

Pink Bollworm In Gaines County

Pink boll worms have been found at all cotton gins in Gaines county, this fact was made known the first of this week by representatives of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, who have been working throughout this area for some time.

It is rumored that the pest has also been found in the neighboring counties of Terry, Dawson and Andrews.

The following news item is from the Lubbock Avalanche of Wednesday, and states that a quarantine is placed on cotton seed from this county:

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—Secretary Wallace today ordered a boll worm quarantine for Gaines county, Texas. Under its terms cottonseed shipped from the county must be sent only to those oil mills which maintain special safeguards for preventing spread of infestation.—Seminole Sentinel.

H. C. Smith Is An Oldtimer In Lynn

H. C. Smith, Lynn county pioneer and father of our county judge, "Happy" Smith, was in Monday to pay up his subscription to The News a year in advance. He stated that he was one of the two or three farmers in the Dixie community whose cotton crop was hauled out in August. But Mr. Smith was raising no complaint because he hasn't shared the prosperity this fall; he expects to take another whack at farming next year.

Mr. Smith says he arrived in Lynn county thirty years ago last April, getting to Tahoka on Monday following the county organization election held Saturday.

By coincidence, while farmer H. C. Smith was visiting the News office, preacher H. C. Smith dropped in, and the two H. C.'s met for the first time.

Profiteering Is Being Charged

WASHINGTON.—Summons have been prepared requiring certain manufacturers of overalls and other wearing apparel to appear and answer in public hearings charges that they have increased prices on their products out of all proportion to increased costs under their codes. General Johnson had given repeated warnings that profiteering would be curbed instantly. Retailers complain that manufacturers of certain specialized products have been offenders. Some retailers claim that huge stocks of merchandise were built up with the intention of forcing on them at exorbitant prices, under the claim that increased costs under the codes were responsible. These cases are being examined minutely. Manufacturers in every case will be required to justify their action in public.

Clovis Dead Man Not J. C. Harris

CLOVIS, N. M., Oct. 27.—Mrs. J. C. Harris of Lynn county, Texas, who came to Clovis last night in an attempt to identify a body discovered near Clovis as that of her husband, said she was convinced it was the remains of another man. Mrs. Harris said her husband had been missing 30 days, whereas physicians said the man found here had been at least 90 days.

Road Jobs Put Men To Work

FORT WORTH, Oct. 31.—Direct employment for more than 31,300 men will be furnished in Texas this winter when the $24,000,000 road building program being financed by the federal government gets fully underway, and C. E. Swain, regional engineer of the federal bureau of roads, estimates that 85 per cent of it will be started by January first.

Swain also expressed the belief that the entire program will get underway before the end of January, providing the maximum of jobs when they will be most needed this winter.

Work costing more than $4,000,000 and providing direct employment for 4,807 men is now under construction and a total of $9,430,000 in highway construction has been authorized by Swain, which will employ 12,225 men.

Plans and specifications for the road building program, which includes some construction in each of the 254 counties, were being prepared by the state highway department at Austin as rapidly as possible.

Rain, Cool Spell Stop Crop Harvest

Rain which began falling early Wednesday night has put a stop to harvest of crops for a few days at least. The precipitation totaled .31 of an inch in Tahoka at noon today. O'Donnell had not received as much, while the north part of the country reported heavy rains. Hail at New Home did some damage to cotton not yet gathered, but the extent of the hail or the damage done has not been learned by the News.

This morning the wind changed to the north, the skies are still overcast, drops of rain falling frequently, and prospects are good for more rain and probably colder weather. The thermometer stood at 41 degrees at noon.

New Lynn Youth Seriously Injured

Bill Barnett of the New Lynn community, who was thrown from a horse and injured two weeks ago, is said to be improving as well as could be expected, though he will probably be confined to his bed for a long time.

With a hip and a shoulder broken as a result of the fall, young Barnett was taken to a sanitarium in Lubbock for treatment. There he was placed in a plaster cast but was able to be brought back to his home at New Lynn a week ago.

Canned Foods Aid During Rush Times

Why can? "To prepare in advance for busy seasons and rush days," is Mrs. J. W. Taylor's answer. "I have fed an average of fourteen people per day for four weeks from my pantry. Had it not been for my previous conning such meal preparation would have been most difficult," she says.

Mrs. Taylor is a farm food supply demonstrator of Edith home demonstration club.

CARD OF THANKS

Words will not express our thanks to our many friends and neighbors for the kindnesses shown us since the destruction of our home by fire Tuesday before last. We greatly appreciate your help.

Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Henry and family, Midway.

HIGHWAY WORK STARTS SOON

Resident Engineer And Four Men Begin Work; Men, Teams Needed On Job

The last right-of-way deed for Highway No. 9 was signed this week and engineers are already on preliminary work toward building the new roadway from Tahoka to the Lubbock county line. County Judge W. E. Smith states.

Walter W. Hyde of Post will act as Lynn county resident engineer and has already established an office on the second floor of the court house here.

Mr. Hyde states that four engineers of the State Highway Department are now engaged in moving the telephone line of the West Texas Gas Company and will next set back the State Telephone Company line, and fence lines of property owners along the right-of-way.

The Panhandle Construction Co., Lubbock, which holds the contract for building the grade and drainage structures, is expected to start work in the very near future. The contract calls for 15.6 miles of roadway.

Judge Smith says that all men who wish to work on the project or who have teams they wish to work should sign up with Judge B. P. Maddox, whose duty it is to furnish the contractors with Lynn county laborers.

Many Marriages Being Performed

Dan Cupid got busy again last week end. Four marriage licenses were issued on Saturday and one on Sunday night, according to County Clerk H. C. Story.

Judge W. E. (Happy) Smith was called on Saturday afternoon to perform the marriage ceremony for a colored couple. These were Garvaine Edwards and Geneva Harris. The wedding took place in the Judge's office.

On Saturday night Judge Smith also officiated at the marriage of Wilbur Shumake and Bertha Mae Holtsclaw, both of O'Donnell, the ceremony being performed in the office of the county clerk.

On Saturday afternoon, J. Weldon Martin of Draw and Miss Mary Ruth Edwards of Three Lakes were united in marriage by Rev. Lawrence Hays at the Baptist parsonage. The groom is the son of J. D. Martin of Draw and a brother of Mrs. H. C. Story, wife of the county clerk. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Wright Edwards of Three Lakes.

On Sunday night, Wayne McClintock of this city and Miss Ona Jewell White of Redwine were married at the Baptist parsonage here. Rev. Lawrence Hays officiating. Mr. McClintock is the son of Mr. and Mrs. McClintock of Redwine but has been employed the past several weeks in Jones Dry Goods store here. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. White of Redwine.

A marriage license was also issued Saturday to H. H. Ferguson and Miss Veda Bowen, who reside in the Grassland community, and they were married on the same day by Rev. J. N. Hester of Draw.

Monday night, Rev. H. C. Smith, pastor of the Methodist Church, performed the ceremony which, united in marriage Mr. Mays Tarpley and Miss Thelma Linton, the affair taking place at the home of Dr. and Mrs. G. W. Williams. Mrs. Tarpley is a niece of Mrs. Williams. Dr. and Mrs. Williams, who "stood up" with the couple, were celebrating their thirty-second wedding anniversary on that day.

License was secured here by Kelsea Story and Miss Ollie Cooper, both of Garza county, who were married at O'Donnell Tuesday by Justice of the Peace D. M. Estes.

IS ANOTHER RELIGIOUS CON-FLICT IMPENDING?

There is, without a doubt, much misinformation and much lack of information among Protestants in this country about the Roman Catholic Church. These misinformed or uninformed people readily believe any wild charge that may be made against Catholics.

On the other hand, there is another class of uninformed people who regard the Catholic Church as merely "another denomination," not much different from the various Protestant denominations.

The first of these classes is bitterly opposed to and prejudiced against Catholics. The last is ignorantly indifferent or friendly to the Catholic Church.

Well informed Protestants occupy
a middle ground between these two extremes. They recognize the fact that there are many good people who belong to the Catholic Church
and that there are some practices of the Catholics which Protestants would do well to adopt and practice themselves. But they recognize also that there are elements of danger to our form of government, to say nothing of the religious welfare of the people, in the doctrines of the powerful Roman Catholic organization. For instance, the Roman Catholic Church teaches that the education of the people is not properly
a state function but is a Church function. It teaches that in such matters, if not in all matters, the Church should dominate the state.
It therefore either opposes our public school system, sometimes secretly and sometimes openly, or it advocates the support of Catholic schools from public funds.

If the Catholics continue to increase in power in this country and should become insistent that public funds be appropriated from time to time for the support of their schools,
they will precipitate a religious conflict in this country such as we have never yet known. That such a conflict is not altogether improbable would appear from the following editorial statement appearing in The Presbyterian, a religious journal published by the Northern Presbyterian Church.

"The Roman Catholic body has invested millions of dollars in building up their own school system, erecting buildings, and supporting their own church teachers, with the express purpose of demanding back all that it has cost them thus to express, sectarianly and unpatriot-ically, its organized opposition to our public school system and our unified national life.

"For years we have known that they would demand this. We have been sleeping over a volcano. The time has come, in their opinion, for an eruption. It has come in Ohio.
They now demand that their schools, unpatriotic and inadequate, be supported by public money. It has been refused, recently, by the Ohio Legislature. Many members avoided voting. Many were intimadated into voting as Rome demands.
The question is not settled. It will be a burning issue. Cincinnati Presbytery puts itself on record as being utterly opposed to such appropriation of tax monies, as it would be in direct violation of the separation of Church and State, and would open the way for similar grants to other denominational schools."

This editorial elicited the following comment last week from the Baptist Standard published in Dallas:

"In the new order that is precipitated on the world we may expect anything. It is certain that freedom of conscience in religion is going to be denied by several governments.
Germany is definitely denying such freedom now. Baptists will never pay tax to support Roman Catholic schools. We would not pay tax to support Baptist schools nor would we take Roman Catholic tax money to support Baptist schools. Let our people everywhere be alert and firm

on the doctrine of complete separation of church and state.

CAN THEY ILLEGALLY LEGALIZE BEER?

Both Brownfield and Plainview
voted wet last week in local elections called to determine whether or not 3.2 beer should be sold within their limits. Now they are preparing to sell the stuff in both these towns. Beer is not riotously intoxicating—only mildly so—and so the business men of these towns
as a rule voted for beer for business reasons.

But as a matter of fact, these elections were void and gave no legal right to anybody to sell beer. The county attorney of Lubbock county
so held and prevented the calling
of an election at Slaton recently.
The Lubbock county attorney is right. It has long been the settled law of this state that when a county goes dry it must remain dry throughout its bounds until the people at a county-wide election vote wet. The courts so held many times many years ago and no Texas court in the past thirty or forty years has held to the contrary.

To hold to the contrary would be against common sense and reason as well as justice, for it would enable any municipality or precinct in a county to nullify county-wide prohibition that had been adopted by the people of the whole county.
There could be no such thing as county-wide prohibition if any precinct in the county chose to vote
wet in a precinct election.

The authorities in Plainview and Brownfield who called these elections either did so without proper legal advice or deliberately ignored the law. There is no excuse for such errors on the part of county or city officials.

Plainview and Brownfield are still legally dry. No town can illegally legalize the sale of beer.

SILVER IN THE LIMELIGHT

Silver is going to be very much in the headlines when Congress meets again.

It's going to be there for a number of reasons—because world trade is still lagging and many authorities believe that higher silver prices must be achieved before it can pick up; because talk of inflation has caused still other authorities to r-mark that some plan for silver monetization might be a cure for currency ills; because the general depression in the mining industry has deprived thousands of jobs, and lost
the nation millions in purchasing power, taxes, etc.

The silver problem hasn't yet received the official attention it deserves—there's been a great deal of talk, with a minimum of action.
And that attention should be forthcoming as soon as possible—Industrial News Review.

President Roosevelt has chosen to so modify the NRA program as to exempt from its operation all business concerns in towns of less than 2500 population except chain stores and other business concerns employing as many as five employees. Most of the business concerns of Tahoka therefore are no longer under the NRA. We believe that this was a wise change. The NRA is doubtless of great benefit to the people in the great industrial centers and consequently to the people as a whole, but its application to small business concerns in agricultural districts is of doubtful propriety.

FAY WRAY PAID HIGH TRIBUTE AS ACTRESS

First of her calling to be honored,
Fay Wray, featured at the English
Theatre Sunday, Monday and Tuesday in the Columbia picture, "Ann Carver's Profession," has been made an active member of the League of the Arts and Professions, a national organization which includes in its ranks many of America's foremost women authors, scientists, attorneys, physicians, painters and sculptors.

The installation ceremony, held on the stage representing a court of law as used for "Ann Carver's Profession," was colorful and appropriate. Miss Wray's role in the production is that of a talented woman attorney, fighting for the life of her husband on trial for murder.
Burton Pitts, District Attorney of Los Angeles and former Lieutenant Governor of California, presided over the meeting.

After thanking the committee
that welcomed her into the League,
the actress said:

"More than ever, today, women
are taking leading parts in the affairs of America, and it is a great honor to be recognized as a person who is doing something useful.

"We have, for the first time, a member of our sex in the President's Cabinet, Miss Frances Perkins of New York, Secretary of Labor. We have for the first time a woman in the diplomatic corps. Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen of Florida, Minister to Denmark. We have a woman in the United States Senate, Mrs. Hattie Caraway of Arkansas. We have had several in Congress, including Mrs. Florence P. Kahn of New York and Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick of Illinois. We have had two women Governors, 'Ma' Ferguson in Texas and Mrs. Nellie Taloe Ross in Wyoming. And it was only a few years ago when women were not even permitted to vote!"

In private life Fay Wray is the wife of the noted writer, John Monk Saunders, author of "Wings,"
"Dawn Patrol," and other well known pictures.

Curiously, "Ann Carver's Profession" deals with a young married couple, each of whom has a career.
Ann Carver's husband is an architect, she is an attorney. But she rises to great heights, while he remains in the rut. Dissatisfaction results in a separation, climaxing in a spectacular murder scene.

History Of Blue
Eagle Is Told

How does it happen that the eagle was ever selected to be the emblem of the American nation,
and that now the blue eagles in our store windows have become the symbol for the mightiest industrial effort that the American people ever made?

The eagle has figured in the poetry and patriotic feeling of many nations. The Roman armies 2,000 years ago marched under this symbol to the conquests that created the greatest empire of ancient days.
The eagle seems to have been adopted as an American symbol, as the result of its amazing powers of vision, and the height to which it can soar in the sky. The eagle sees

100 YEARS OF BAPTIST HISTORY IN TEXAS

Sunday morning we are to celebrate 100 Years of Baptist History in Texas. On Nov. 9, 1833 the first Baptist church arrived in Texas territory already set up and ready for business. Because of Catholics being in power here at that time, no Baptist or Protestant church was allowed to be organized. Nine people from the state of Illinois, desirous to come to Texas, and feeling the need of an organized church life, organized themselves into a Missionary Baptist church and started for the territory in ox-wagons.

After crossing the Red River they continued their journey until they arrived at what is now Anderson county, and there planted the Pilgrim Missionary Baptist Church. The little church has grown through these hundred years to more than three thousand such churches now in Texas. The membership has multiplied many, many times. 100 years is a long time. This was only 10 years after the Monroe Doctrine; 44 years after the inauguration of Washington as our first President; 18 years after the fall of Napoleon at Waterloo and just 8 years after the building of the first locomotive and the invention of the first matches. The first Baptist church was planted in Texas 10 years before the telegraph was perfected and 11 years before the first sewing machine was invented. The church had been in Texas territory 5 years when Queen Victoria began her long and blessed reign in England, and was 28 years old when the first typewriter was invented.

The pastor will give a brief resume of these eventful years and something of the present day Baptist activities now in Texas. All of our people will surely want to be in this service.

The subject for the evening hour will be "The Consumation of the Kingdom" or the closing chapters of Revelation. This is the last message in the series on Revelation. Attend all the services and bring the visiting friends. Welcome!—Lawrence Hays, Pastor

Helped By Cardul

Here's the true story of how Cardul helped Mrs. H. E. Dunaway, of McCombs, Miss., as written by herself:

"I was sick and rather discouraged. I was so weak and thin, I was not able to do my work as it should be done. This made me fret a good deal, and did not help my condition.

"I had pains across my back and lower part of my body. My nights were spent in rolling from one side of the bed to the other, hoping I would soon go to sleep. Then when morning would come, I would be just as tired as when I went to bed. A neighbor, seeing how badly I felt, told me to try Cardul. After I had taken one bottle, I was much better. I kept on taking Cardul, and I was stronger and slept much better at night."

New Home

The two gins here have ginned 2758 bales of cotton up until Wednesday Nov. 1.

Rev. W. R. Campbell of Lubbock preached at the church Sunday morning. He and Mrs. Campbell were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Newman. Rev. and Mrs. Carpenter of Denton were church visitors, too.

Mrs. C. W. Seth had as her guest this week end Miss Augusta Jenkins of Lubbock. Miss Jenkins is a former teacher of New Home school.

Mr. Charley Farris is home again. He has been in New Mexico for sometime.

Harvey Allen Bates, who sustained a broken limb several days ago has been removed from the hospital to the home of his grandmother, Mrs. Hester of Lubbock. He is doing nicely, but will have to remain in the cast for several weeks.

Our school will re-open again Monday for work.

Wool Suits Place Tech In Limelight

Lubbock, Nov. 1.—An avalanche of requests for catalogues and information about Texas Technological College have been pouring into the registrar's office following the recent nationwide publicity given the institution in regard to the presentation of suits to President Franklin D. Roosevelt and Vice-President John N. Garner. The picture of President Bradford Knapp and Vice-president Garner made at Uvalde and showing the nation's second executive in the act of putting on the Tech made suit has been published all over the United States, and Canada.

Requests are coming from the New England States, from New York City, Chicago, and from a number of other sections. Several have written from Canada asking about the school, according to W. P. Clement, registrar. Inquiries from many sections of the country have been received asking about the hand weaving machines being used by the textile department of the college. Demand for the cloth being made by the students has exceeded output. A number of prominent Texas citizens have brought material for suits and overcoats.

LOSES FIVE CARS

CLOVIS, N. M., Oct. 30.—For the fifth time in less than three years, Carl Osborn, Clovis merchant, is hunting for his stolen automobile. Osborn's latest loss came Friday night, less than 48 hours after he had recovered an automobile stolen from him on April 8, last.

He claims a record for consecutive and consistent losses.

Although he actually performs many duties that the law says his wife, the Governor, should perform, Jim Ferguson holds no official position and owes no more allegiance or responsibility to the State than any other private citizen. So he probably feels that it is nobody's business where the money he gets comes from.—Texas Mesquiter.

But nothing can be done about it Brother John. The President of the United States or the King of England do not enjoy the power that Jim Ferguson enjoys. The two former are hampered about with laws. They are responsible to the people for their acts, but Jim Ferguson is not.—Sterling City News Record.

Locals

S. A. Cummings, a good citizen residing near Wilson, dropped in Monday to renew his subscription, and reported that his wife had just recently returned from a sanitarium in Lubbock. She had undergone a major operation and was confined in the sanitarium for three weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Keltner and daughter Sarah Lee of Ada Oklahoma, were here last week end visiting Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Keltner and family. The two Messrs. Keltner, who are brothers, married sisters.

A. C. Weaver, now of Slaton but formerly of this city, accepted a position at the post office Tuesday, and he will be here during the remainder of the rush season. Mr. Weaver is now an experienced postal worker.

Unknown to us, Dr. C. B. Townes attended a meeting of the Panhandle-Plains Medical Association which was in session in Plainview one day last week. He reports a good meeting of the association.

Ira Doak, and old-timer in Tahoka but now a resident of Lubbock, was here Monday meeting friends. Tahoka doesn't seem quite like the same town without Ira Doak and family.

D. B. English made a business trip to Dallas Sunday. He reports that he booked a number of good pictures for showing at the English Theatre during the coming weeks.

Daniel Davis has accepted a position with the Fort Worth Star-Telegram as district agent. His territory covers several counties on the South Plains.

Miss Goodman of Dallas, a trained nurse, returned home Tuesday after a visit with Dr. Ann West.

RED HAIR

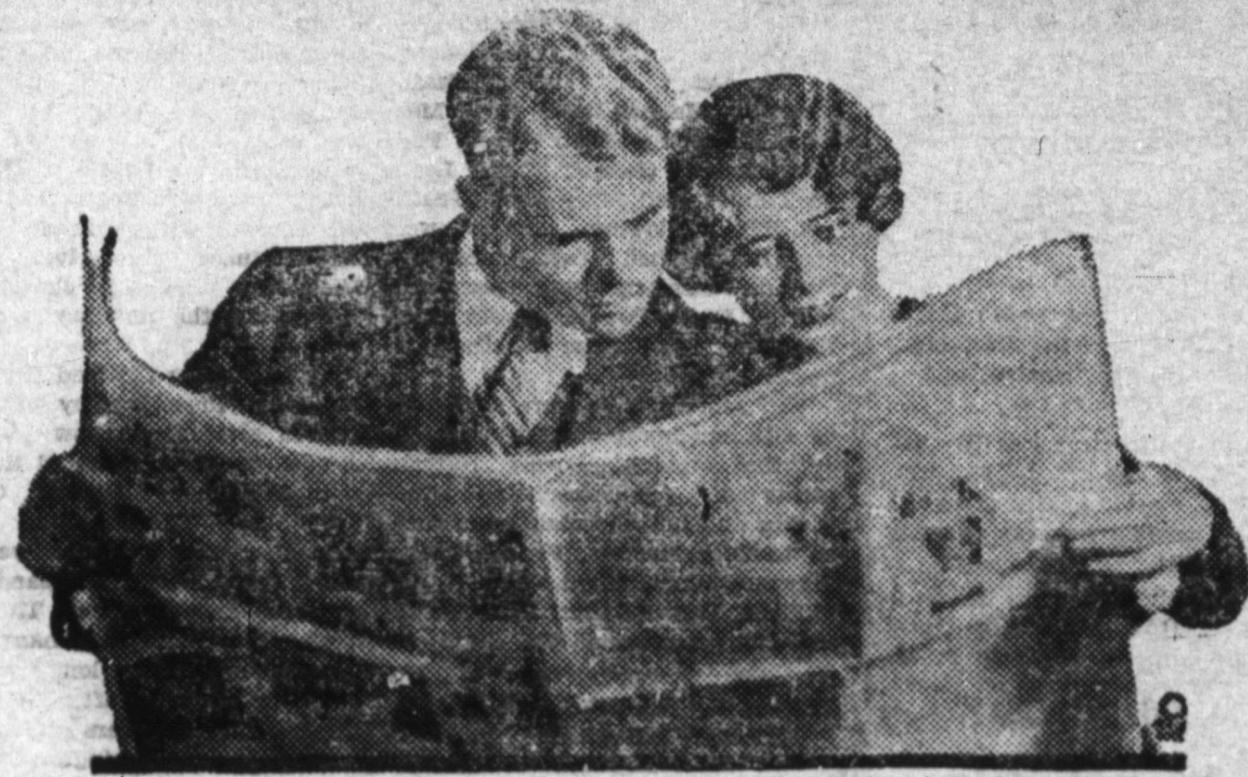

Red hair being unusual is a mark of distinction. A man with red hair—though his eyes be a weary-blue and his face a freckled expanse—has always had great fascination with the ladies. A Titan-haired girl even an ugly one, seldom fails to change her name. Of course, Queen Elizabeth, England's red haired sovereign, was not wedded, but every one knows that she could have married anyone or more, of a dozen of her favorites.

Rare Ben Johnson certainly left signs of his popularity with the fair sex when he penned—"Drink to me only with thine eyes, and I will pledge with mine." His was a fiery, auburn crown and John Keats, also red-headed, in truth must have known feminine favors ere he wrote: "The day is gone and all its sweets are gone, sweet voice, sweet lips, soft hands and softer breast." And glorious Ellen Terry, queen of Shakespeare's lute whose reign of gentle sway o'er hearts of men was closed but days ago, her hair was red.

Then there is Sinclair Lewis and Clara Bow, both red-heads. Does red hair endow one with an independent trait, making the wearer seem unattainable, therefore sought after? Are all red-headed people of an independent disposition? An independent person produces an air of capability, dependability. This perhaps is the reason a red-headed man was chosen to write the Declaration of Independence. Independence, no doubt was in Thomas Jefferson's blood whether his red hair was responsible or not. Both nature and circumstances prepared him to draft the Declaration.

How The States Were Named

By Martha L. Emmons
State Home, Waco

What's in a name? That is the question which the seventh grade of Waco State Home undertook to answer, regarding certain states in the United States. It occurred to these young people to peep behind the name plate of a state and see if perchance they might learn something of its history, of its traditions, and of the life of its people. They consulted references in their own library; they wrote to several libraries. In every case the correspondent was courteously answered, and in some instances the material was received immediately. In some instances references were given to other agencies or channels of information, as bureau of publication; traveling free library in connection with the state's university; while from North Dakota the pamphlets, letters and all materials came thru the commissioner of immigration. Results from a few of these inquiries are given.

Arizona was obtained from Mexico by the treaty of Guadalupe-Hidalgo, in 1848. It had been called by this name since 1736. The early Spaniards gave the country its name, from a word which they heard among the Papago or Pima Indians, "Arizonac," meaning "little springs."

Arkansas takes its name from the Arkansas Indians, who lived along the Mississippi and along the mouth of the Arkansas river.

The story of Florida's name is well known. Ponce de Leon, looking for the Fountain of Perpetual Youth landed on the coast of this beautiful land and named it "Pascua Florida," because there were so many flowers and because it was Easter. The name meant "flowery Easter."

There are different stories about how Idaho got its name. Some say the name was taken from a steamboat called "Idaho," which used to run on the Columbia river. Another story is that some miners were going through the region and were awakened one morning by Indians shouting "Idaho! Idaho!" The Indians meant "gem of the mountain;" and they considered "Idaho" a good name for the whole name.

Iowa, nicknamed the Hawk Eye State, in honor of the Black Indians, was probably given its name by Joliet and Marquette. These two men came down from the north over the Great Father of Waters, which also was named by the Black Hawk Indians. They had traveled several days on the western side of the Mississippi, when they discovered some footprints close to the bank of the river. Going farther they found a path leading from that place. They followed it, and soon stumbled upon a Black Hawk Indian camp. They gave the sign of peace, gave the Indians bright beads and soon made friends with them. The two Frenchmen stayed with the tribe about a month. During that time they were so impressed with the beautiful territory that they applied to it the name by which the Indians had already called it, "Iowa," meaning "beautiful land."

Louisiana was named in honor of Louis XIV, who was king of France at the time of La Salle's exploration. The present state is but a small part of the great valley of the Mississippi which La Salle named in honor of his king in 1682. Louisiana is the only state in the Union which the French really settled for good. Its laws and many of its customs are different from those of other states, because it was settled by French.

When the Dutch took possession of the region which is now called New York, they named it New Netherlands. But when the English took it over and it was granted to the Duke of York, it was named in his honor, New York. This state has been named "The Empire State."

The Carolinas were given the name by Sir Robert Heath, in honor of King Charles I (Carolus in Latin) of England. The name applied at first to an ill-defined territory where settlements were being made by frontiersmen from Virginia. But in 1663 Charles I extended the boundaries to the Pacific Ocean. The land now making up the state of North Dakota has been under the rule of three nations besides the Indians. It first was claimed by the French, in 1683. Then the French and Indian war gave part of the territory to England. France gave the rest of it to Spain but took it back, along with the rest of Louisiana in 1800 by the treaty of San Ildefonso. After the purchase of this territory by the United States, Lewis and Clark were sent out to learn something about the new country. They spent the winter in this land of many Indians, and built a fort known as Fort Mandan. Among the Indian tribes who inhabited this country were Sioux Indians, or Dakotas, and it is from them that the state takes its name.

Ohio is an Iroquois Indian name, meaning "beautiful river." The name Tennessee means "big bend" or "big spoon." The state of course, takes its name from the river, and the river was so named because of the big elbow turn in it.

Vermont, meaning "green mountain," was named by Champlain, though it was many years after Champlain's exploration before any real settlements were made in the region now known as Vermont. Champlain was shown the mountains, which the Indians called "green mountains," and told by the Indians that near the mountains were beautiful fields of green and fertile grain. From what he saw and from the reports of the Indians, Champlain applied the name of the mountains to the whole region.

Wisconsin is located in the north central part of the United States. The word Wisconsin is an Indian name meaning "wild and rushing river" or "gathering of the waves." Another meaning which is sometimes given it is "great rocks." Either meaning is appropriate to the state's geography.

Wyoming, out on the high plains, got its name from an Indian word meaning "great plains."

Tech Students Are Turning Out Cloth

LUBBOCK, Texas, Oct. 25. Weaving of 800 yards of cloth was recently begun by the Texas Technological College department of textile engineering to be used in making 70 uniform suits for the Matador band. The cloth is to be the same as was used in the suits for President Franklin D. Roosevelt and Vice-President John N. Garner, with the exception that the fabric will be dyed black and scarlet instead of being solid white. When the weaving is completed a local tailoring company will make the suits.

"In the meantime a temporary uniform will be used," Oliver McElyea of Lubbock, president and business manager of the band this year, announced. "We expect to wear the new uniforms before the season is well under way."

Baptist Meeting In Fort Worth

The Baptist General Convention of Texas which will hold its eighty-fifth annual session at Fort Worth beginning November 7th, will this year celebrate the one hundredth anniversary of the beginning of Baptist work in Texas. The Convention program will give large space to "Our Century of Progress," and will present the story of the first Baptist organization in Texas. The church was organized in Illinois and moved to Texas as a unit, crossing the Sabine River in November 1833.

Dr. J. Howard Williams, General Secretary of the Convention, announces that Texas Baptists will celebrate their "Century of Progress" with a great Mission Offering amounting to $134,000.00. Some $50,000.00 of this fund has already been paid in, and Dr. Williams expressed himself as being very hopeful that Texas Baptists would raise the remaining $85,000.00 within the next two weeks.

During this fall Texas Baptists have held 107 Associational meetings all over Texas, with record attendance in almost every instance, demonstrating the progress of the past century. When the first organized group of Baptists came into Texas one hundred years ago, there were less than fifty Baptists in the State. At this time there are more than five hundred thousand white Baptists, and a total of more than a million of all races according to Dr. Williams.

At the Fort Worth meeting, representatives from various mission fields will speak of the work Baptists are doing there, and the Convention will receive reports from the work of Baptists all over the world. More than five thousand visitors are expected to attend the Convention.

Mrs. L. S. Kuykendall, who has been seriously sick for several days, has been visited the past week by her four daughters, Mrs. Roy L. Green of Breckenridge, Mrs. Grady Beard of Cleburne, Mrs. Lonnis Taylor of Grassland, and Mrs. Cecil L. Moore and little daughter, Dorothy Gene, of Bakersville, Calif. They also visited their father, W. L. Kuykendall, at New Home.

A boy, Doyle Don, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Alton Traylor of the Grassland community on October 25. Mother and babe doing well.

Cotton Mill Payroll Doubled Under NRA

WASHINGTON.—Declaring employment figures in cotton textile industry are "back to predepression levels as a result of the NRA," and the weekly payrolls of cotton mills 100 per cent higher than on March 1, 1933, George A. Sloan, president of the Cotton Textile Institute, in his annual report just published, said:

"The 40-hour week reduced the work week 25 per cent. During the last week of August the number on pay rolls had increased 140,000 over last March. The average wage for seven groups in 1932 that earned more than the minimum wage now prescribed by the code was 34.9 cents an hour. In August 1933 the average for the same groups was 43.9 cents an hour. Furthermore, the August 1933 rate was about 40 per cent in excess of the code minimum."

New Poem By Lamar Is Found

Austin, Oct. 25—An unsigned poem by Mirabeau B. Lamar, third governor of Texas, has been discovered by Dr. Philip Graham, University of Texas adjunct professor of English. Dr. Graham has written an article on the poem which is published in the current number of "Studies in English," a bulletin written and edited by members of the University English faculty. This poem, entitled "Beauty," appeared with three others in The Texas Republican, a weekly newspaper printed at Brazoria, 1934-36, all four poems bear the initialed signature "Z." The other three, "Song," "Give to the Poet His Well Earned Praise," and "Stanzas," were later republished by Lamar in his "Verse Memorials," but "Beauty" did not appear in any of Lamar's publications.

The poem follows:
Beauty
Round love's elysian bow'r
The softest prospects rise,
There bloom the sweetest flow'rs,
There shine the purest skies.

And joy and rapture gild awhile,
The cloudless haven of beauty's smile.

Round love's deserted bow'r
Tremendous rocks arise,
Cold mildews blight the flow'rs,
Tornadoes rend the skies.

And pleasure's waning moon goes down,
Amid the night of beauty's frown.

Then Youth, thou fond believer,
The wily syren shun,
Who trusts the fair deceiver
Will surely be undone.

When beauty triumphs—ah, beware!
Her smile is hope, her frown despair.

"Lamar came to Texas during the late spring or early summer of 1835," Dr. Graham pointed out in his article. "As early as January of that year he was in Alabama en route to Texas, and at some time in July he was in Nacogdoches, Texas. There is no evidence that he was in Brazoria when 'Beauty' was published, July 4, 1835. It seems most likely, however, that he was in communication with the editor of the Republican even before arriving in the State, for a copy of the paper for December 13, 1834, appears among the Lamar papers."

Governor Alfalfa Bill over in Oklahoma reports he will not ask for re-election but has selected his successor. Texas is not so fortunate. Governor Pa said some time ago that Governor Ma's successor would be C. C. McDonald, but along came the special session, nosing into Ferguson's affairs, so it will be necessary for Governor Ma to run again, in order that the Ferguson name be again vindicated.—Canyon News.

Why not recognize Russia? The Soviet government has had charge of affairs over there and has not made any more of a mess of things than most of the European governments, and not little more of a mess than some American cities and counties. So long as Russians will pay for what they buy, good business dictates that we sell to them.—Canyon News

Geraldine Arnold And Her Parents Are Given A Life

A 12-year-old girl, bright-eyed, small for her age, cleanly but cheaply dressed, stood in the relief office, almost at Administrator Joe Monroe's elbow. Her daddy leaned wearily against the door facing. Her mother stood in the center of the office and did most of the talking.

They were broke. Daddy Arnold had been in the veteran's hospital at Muskogee, Oklahoma, until a few days before. He displayed honorable discharge papers. He had seen service overseas.

Health did not glow in his face. The hospital had not cured him. But he had been offered a small paying job in Tucson, Arizona, by a friend . . . if he could get to Tucson. He was trying the hitchhiking route, family and all.

Mother Arnold was clean, too, and neat. She spoke the language of better times behind.

Geraldine, Daddy and Mother caught the sympathies of the relief men, and money was given to help them along their hitch-hiking way. "Now we can get there!" 12-year-old Geraldine exclaimed, as thanks were given from three hearts.

But the Arnolds have not yet reached Tucson. They have broken into national headlines, but not into the Arizona job.

Somewhere along the way little Geraldine was given a diff by a nice talking man and an attractive woman. The pair carried her over many a mile; finally to Memphis, Tennessee. She went other places, too.

"Pop," she called the man. The woman became "Auntie" to her.

"Pop" is better known as "Machine Gun" Kelly; "Auntie" as the much married Kathryn. America knows the other links by heart . . . the story-book ransom . . . the capture of Bailey at Paradise . . . Bates' capture in Denver . . . Kelly's capture at Memphis . . . Uncle Sam pushing rapidly through the trials to convictions.

Geraldine told on the gang, and it looks like she will get several thousand dollars as a reward.

But when Geraldine and Daddy and Mother were in Snyder more than a month ago, adventure was almost gone . . . and a $10 bill from the relief office was the pot of gold near the rainbow's end.

Snyder played a role in the most famous of modern dramas—the Urschel kidnapping case and its sensational results.

The role was played more than a month ago, but it just came to light early this week. Sam Hamlett, who was handling records in the relief office here, put two and two together, and the answer was an important link in the chain of circumstances that bridled a nation and involved scores of persons.—Scurry County Times

SIMMONS UNIVERSITY WILL SEND SPECIAL TO TECH GAME

Lubbock, Nov. 1—Simmons University is planning to send a delegation of 500 or more by special train to back the Simmons Cowboys when the two schools clash on the Tech field November 11. This is the homecoming game for students of Texas Technological College and a large crowd is expected. Caution's Matadors are anxious to get revenge for the upset they received last year by the Abilene Baptists.

J. A. Humphries Is Visitor In Tahoka

J. A. Humphries and H. T. Kimbro of Lubbock visited friends in Tahoka last Thursday afternoon.

Mr. Humphries, who has been prominent in politics for several years, served for several months under State Superintendent L. A. Woods as inspector of rural schools for the purpose of determining how much state aid should be extended them. More recently he has been connected with the Texas Rehabilitation and Relief Commission under Lawrence Westbrook. His job has been to organize the "set-up" in a Panhandle district. He was to leave Lubbock Monday for Sherman to take charge of a Reforestation camp there. Before leaving, he just dropped down to Tahoka to see a few friends, including County Supt. H. P. Caveness and J. S. Wells, of whose death he had not learned until he reached Tahoka, having been of things all the time.

in Austin at that time. Having been a life-long friend of the editor, of course he dropped in for a brief visit.

Mr. Kimbro, who accompanied Mr. Humphries, is a Lubbock pioneer, and has had a great part in building that fine little city. During the Sterling administration he served ably on the State Industrial Board at Austin. He has long been prominent in the business and political life of this section.

Modern Swapping

"What are you going to give Joe for his birthday?"

"The necktie I gave him last Christmas."

"How can you give him something he already has?"

"He hasn't got it. He gave it to me for my anniversary."

"I suppose your baby sister cries some?" asked one of the neighbors.

"Cries!" said Mary, "why, she just seems to look on the dark side of things all the time."
