The child became ill last Friday and was brought here for treatment by her father, F. L. Burrus. She died at 12:15 a. m. at the home of her grandparents.

Burial was beside the grave of her mother, who died here on October 2.—Abilene News.

NEW COUNTY AGENT IS NAMED FOR GARZA CO.

W. C. Taylor was elected Wednesday by the Commissioners Court of Garza county to serve as county agent for this county beginning on December first. Mr. Taylor is well known to Garza farmers and business men as he has been actively engaged in this county as the agent of the plow-up program of the government for the past several months and his services and advice have been most beneficial to men affected by the plow-up campaign. He is a graduate of A. & M. College and was vocational agriculture instructor in Crosbyton prior to his postwork here.—Post Dispatch.

THOMASON RUSHES PLAN FOR BIG RIVER PROJECT

Austin, Nov. 27—Congressman Ewing Thomason, El Paso, left here today for Washington to lay before the public works administration a $6,000,000 Rio Grande reclamation project.

The work calls for straightening and preserving a permanent channel for the Rio Grande in the El Paso vicinity. A dam at Cabella, half way between El Paso and Elephant Butte, is a part of the proposed work.

Thomason said the approval of the international boundary commission has already been secured. The work is designed to end the frequent shifting of the Rio Grande channel by which many acres of territory are left at various times on the northern and southern sides of the international boundary stream.

Mr. White has recently purchased from Z. D. Kemp of Post the farm known as the Sossoman place in the Dixie community and will move upon it about January 1. Mr. White traded in exchange for this farm his own farm in the Graham community, which was the first tract of land the late C. W. Post sold out of his vast holdings on the plains, Mr. White says.

Mr. White is the son-in-law of the late J. V. Dyer, who resided near Tahoka so long and who was so well known throughout this county.

Farmers Think County Should Engage Agent

A couple of farmers came to the News office Tuesday and suggested that some action be taken by the farmers to let the commissioners court know that they favor the employment of a county farm agent. The services of a county agent will be almost imperative to put over the Government's cotton program next year. A large part of the cost will be paid by the government.

They suggest and urge that farmers of each community select some one to represent them and to come before the commissioners court when it meets again the second Monday in December, which is December 11.

We pass this suggestion on to the farmers of our county so that they may take such action as they may desire to take.

TEXAS CAPITOL BUILDING REPAIRS ARE PLANNED

AUSTIN, Nov. 27.—Use of civil works administration funds to make needed repairs in Texas' historic capitol building is under consideration, the Texas relief commission was advised today by Lawrence Westbrook, commission director.

Discussion of capitol repairs came shortly after a section of the heavy plate glass ceiling of the senate chamber fell. Fortunately only the custodian was in the chamber when the glass fell and no one was injured. Had the accident occurred when the senate was in session it was likely that several persons would have been seriously injured.

MEAT CANNING PLANS FOR SOUTH PLAINS STARTED

Preliminary work is scheduled to start today on the federal meat canning program for Lubbock and the South Plains, to be operated in Lubbock. W. E. Inmon, county administrator of welfare work, said yesterday afternoon following a conference with the city-county welfare board. Lubbock was recently announced as location for one of the 16 meat canning units in the state, established by the federal government.

Equipment has been ordered sent here by the Austin office, Mr. Inmon said, and he is expecting it to arrive the latter part of the week. Lumber for the construction of necessary tables and other equipment is being secured by the city-county welfare board. This work will be finished before the equipment arrives.

Sealers, meat grinders and four retorts or pressure cookers, will be sent here from Austin, Mr. Inmon was advised. The retorts will have a capacity of 150 No. 2 cans each.

"We will work 40 people a day in four shifts of 10 each," he explained. "The plan will probably work five days a week. That will give each employee 30 hours a week. Pay will be made from CWA funds."

Members of the city-county welfare board, comprising the county commissioners court and the city commission met Monday and went on record assuring their support. The city will furnish the water for the outfit and the West Texas Gas company has agreed to supply the necessary gas, it was announced.

Mr. Inmon met with them. Capacity of local unit is expected to be 7,000 No. 2 cans daily. The product will be distributed to county welfare boards in this area, for distribution as needed, in relief work.—Lubbock Avalanche.

S. W. Cain of Happy is here this week visiting his son, Alton Cain, who is employed at the D. W. Gaigard Hardware store, and his brother, Judge C. H. Cain. Mrs. Cain expects to come down to spend Thanksgiving with her son and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Cowan.

RED CROSS CLOTHES THE NATION'S NEEDY

Flour, Bread, Clothing Reach Into More Than Five Million Homes of Jobless

The greatest task ever undertaken by a relief agency in the history of private charity is drawing to a close with the final distribution of cotton clothing to more than five million families by the American Red Cross.

At the direction of the Congress, beginning eighteen months ago, the Red Cross undertook to convert the wheat and cotton surpluses of the Farm Board into food and clothing for the unemployed and needy. In the consequent operation, this relief agency entered upon a commercial enterprise greater than any single commercial firm has ever undertaken in the same period of time.

In the ensuing months the Red Cross converted 25,000,000 bushels of wheat into flour and bread and gave it to 5,505,000 families. The distribution was through 3,700 Red Cross chapters and hundreds of other charitable agencies. During the severe northwestern drought of 1931 the Red Cross also gave wheat in the form of food for livestock to 184,122 families.

The clothing—dresses, underwear, overalls, jumpers, sweaters and stockings for men, women and children, and even blankets and comforters—was distributed to 5,468,410 families. More than 54,000,000 ready-made garments and 22,000,000 yards of cotton cloth were given to the needy. This clothing came from 244,000 bales of cotton.

The wheat distribution was concluded in June, 1932, and final distribution of cotton clothing is occurring in the fall months.

In handling these tasks voted to it by Congress, the Red Cross will expend from its own treasury $735,000. At the same time the organization carried on its regular program of disaster relief; of service to the veterans of all our wars; of educational and welfare work through the Junior Red Cross; of health education and public health nursing and of life saving and first aid. Funds for this work come from the membership roll and the Red Cross chapters conduct from Armistice Day to Thanksgiving Day, when every one is invited to join the Red Cross and aid in this vital relief work.

Seven hundred thousand women volunteers under the Red Cross banner sewed for the needy last year and many thousands still are making cotton garments for their Red Cross chapters.

The Red Cross has 2,701 chapters and 10,000 branches of chapters. Thus it can be mobilized nationwide in a great relief task within 24 hours.

Scenic Palo Duro Now Open To The Public

The Panhandle's great canyon playground, the Palo Duro Park, was thrown open to the public for the first time yesterday when the mile scenic driveway from the rim to the canyon floor was opened for travel.

Views of the canyon seen heretofore to only a few fortunate individuals were revealed to the public for the first time. More than 500 cars from over the entire Panhandle and neighboring states as well traveled the new road during the day.

The road into the Palo Duro leaves the plains near where Panhandle folks have viewed the canyon from a looking-off place for many years. The road in itself is an engineering feat, dropping 630 feet in a mile with the grade in no place more than 10 per cent.

The colors of the Painted Desert of Arizona, and the sense of greatness of the Grand Canyon are combined in the scenes. Hundreds of persons who had never been into any major part of the Palo Duro witnessed these on the fine scenic drive yesterday.

Dropping gently away from the rim just east of the C. C. C. Camps, the wide road is in a continuous descent for a mile before it levels out at the canyon bottom.

Visitors to the site were amazed to find the cliff-like canyon walls conquered by the engineering achievement.

With the road open to the bottom of the canyon, the park work can go forward much more rapidly. Mr. Miller reported. Two miles of the road will be built along the canyon floor and more than a mile on the canyon rim to the site of the tavern and stables. These two projects will keep the veteran workers from the four C. C. C. camps at work for nearly two months, according to the superintendent.

When the last barrier in the road was removed at 11:30 o'clock yesterday morning, the first car to travel the route carried five outstanding park boosters including Congressman Marvin Jones. The others were Mr. Miller, Wilbur C. Hawk, T. E. Johnson, and Mason King.

Floyd V. Studer, early student of Panhandle history, and also the archaeology and geology of the canyon, said "The history of Panhandle is written in rock indelibly, and permanently, within the walls of this canyon."

Evidence of past civilizations, of animal life including tigers, mastodons, and even kinds of elephants can be found here.

"Opening of this vast canyon to the public can be termed part of the Panhandle educational system." Randall County Judge S. B. Orton, Mrs. Phebe K. Warner, Claude, and Fred Wortham, were others who saw their most far-fetched plans realized when the road into the canyon was opened.

Animal Refuge
More than a playground, the state park including at present 15,000 acres of land, is one of the very few rugged places in the Panhandle-Plains country. It is a refuge for wild life. Scores of birds and wild animals thrive there that can exist at no other place in the Panhandle. Literally scores of species of cacti, bushes, and trees grow in the park not found on the plains.

Before the C. C. C. workers have completed their work in the park, underbrush will have been cleared away, dead wood will be cut to convenient lengths for use of picnic and camping parties, and fireplaces, tables and benches will have been constructed from the natural rock—all for the pleasure of the Panhandle nature lovers.

The park development is now at a stage where more and more can be accomplished, but months will be required to bring the great project along to where visitors may realize the full significance of it.

To reach the park from Canyon, motorists had to travel 15 miles of detour roads since the highway is being paved. Part of the caliche is already down. Several hundred CWA workmen are rushing construction on the road and a few weeks will see it near completion.

The Palo Duro Park tavern will be located near the canyon rim, at a point south and west of the location of the C. C. C. barracks. Stables and a museum, built like the the tavern of natural rock, will be grouped at that point from whence the panorama of the Palo Duro is revealed for miles away.

Improvements Sought
Sixteen one and 2-room cottages will be built in the canyon.

Mr. Miller has applied to the park authorities at Austin for additional appropriations to carry on still further improvements including a water well, more roadways, bridges, and other structures that will make the park ever more delightful and more usable to the Panhandle citizenship.

PROJECTS APPROVED FOR TULIA STREET PAVING

Tulia, Nov. 28—Projects were approved recently for hard-surfacing six or seven blocks of streets in Tulia, including the streets leading from the square to and beyond the public school grounds. A delegation from Tulia was in Austin and succeeded in getting a portion of the funds allowed for payment of teams and trucks for hauling caliche for this purpose.

Six or seven block that received caliche topping last spring will be oiled, using C. W. A. funds for labor and the City of Tulia furnishing the oil.

Other street paving projects are under consideration when the present projects are finished.

Lloyd Nowlin, who has been employed at Ladonia, Fannin county, for several months, has returned to Tahoka and accepted a position as mechanic for Jack Corley.

Tornado Is Most Frequent Disaster; Causes Heavy Loss of Lives

What type of disaster occurs most frequently in the United States? This question is answered from the relief annals of the American Red Cross which show over a period of years that the tornado, or cyclone as it is called in some sections, is the most frequent and claims a heavy toll of life. It swoops almost without warning, and in the terrific whirlpool of its fierce winds it destroys all in its path.

The Red Cross gave relief in 44 tornadoes in eighteen states last year. The tornadoes killed 326 persons, injured 2,755 and the Red Cross gave aid to 21,738 who were homeless, injured or otherwise victims of the storms.

Toll of the Earthquakes

When a severe earthquake killed 95 persons; injured 4,911 and destroyed several thousand homes in Southern California last March, the Red Cross was first upon the ground with emergency relief. It required more than three months for the Red Cross to restore the needy to a self-sustaining basis. The organization expended a relief fund of $411,000.

Serves Under Five Presidents

John Barton Payne, a retired judge and lawyer of international reputation, is serving his twelfth year as chairman of the American Red Cross. His service is without pay, and his appointment is by the President of the United States. He has served by appointment in high public office under five presidents—Wilson, Harding, Coolidge, Hoover and Roosevelt.

SKELETON OF PIGMY FOUND IN COLLINGSWORTH CLIFF

Wellington, Nov. 25—Belief that a pigmy tribe once inhabited this section of the Panhandle was advanced here today by A. B. Smith, county surveyor, who reported the discovery of miniature bones in a cliff on the Joe Wilson ranch, near here.

Mr. Smith stated that the small skeleton was found in a sitting posture, facing the east, and the discovery was made possible by the constant erosion of the cliff. The teeth in the small skull led to the belief that the skeleton was that of a person near the 60-year mark. Many of the bones, including the skull, were well preserved by the red clay which surrounded them.

The discovery is considered as a possible connecting link between prehistoric life on the plains of Texas and the numerous cliff dwelling discoveries of Colorado.

The Texas Mesquiter tells about a Dallas county man who got drunk on the sidewalks. The Colorado Records informs its readers of a 9-year-old San Angelo boy who got drunk on the streets. Shux, that ain't nothing. A Fisher county man came to a barbecue at Sterling last July and got drunk on the race tracks and sobered up in jail. A Mitchell county man was bitten by a rattlesnake last summer and got well before they could summon the bootlegger, but the snake died of a broken heart.—Sterling City News-Record.

Rule The sale of eggs is not the only source of poultry revenue on B. Walter's farm in Haskell county. The poor layers are canned and sold by Miss Nora Walters, home industries demonstrator working with Miss Johnnie Reed, home demonstration agent. Hens last year that would have sold for 8 cents per pound or 21 cents apiece brought 75 cents apiece sold in cans.

Getting her inspiration from a West Texas meat show in 1932 where her canned chicken was judged a good product, Miss Walters went in for canned, boned, and ground chicken for the market. Since June she has put 67 hens into 131 cans which sold for a total of $43.63.

TEACHERS WILL MEET AT AUSTIN THANKSGIVING

Austin, Nov. 27—The fifty-fifth annual convention of the Texas State Teachers association will open on Thanksgiving.

Approximately 4,500 teachers have reserved rooms, Walter E. Long, secretary of the chamber of commerce, said. From 7,000 to 9,000 visitors are expected.

About 3,000 teachers are being taken into Austin homes as guests without charge. The university dormitories, rooming houses, sorority and fraternity houses are being made available for visitors.

HOOKED RUG MADE BY H. D. LADY GIFT TO MISS WALTON

San Benito—A hooked rug made by Mrs. Charles Yost, home industries demonstrator of Cameron county, was selected by the Extension Home Demonstration staff as a gift to Miss Walton, daughter of President T. O. Walton of A. and M. College, when she was married to Mr. Frank Bartle in September.

Mrs. Yost was asked to make an original leaf design in all wool. A soft cream ground was used as a setting for the beautifully colored autumn leaves in the conventional design. Mrs. Yost is particularly in handling the autumn colors and has received special orders for five rugs in these colors this fall.

INSURGENT PROTESTANTS SHUT OUT; PROMISES BROKEN BY THE NAZIS

Berlin, Nov. 27—Thousands of insurgent protestants were shut out in the rain tonight as the Nazi church leadership went back on its promise of non-interference and tried to force the abandonment of two opposition mass meetings.

In an effort to check the spread of the opposition movement through out the reich, Nazi Christians refused to permit insurgents to use the Evangelical cathedral and the old garrison church for scheduled meetings.
