

Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Reid and Miss El Fleda Harrison made a flying trip over to Carlsbad Cavern in New Mexico last week. They went over Wednesday afternoon, went through the cavern Thursday, and returned home that night. Mrs. Harrison says the cavern is indeed the eighth wonder of the world and that it has not yet been given half the publicity that it deserves.

U. of T. Newspaper Library Contains History Of Nation Since Revolution

AUSTIN, Texas, Dec. 6.—Although few of the papers in the newspaper library at the University of Texas date prior to the American Revolution, it is possible to read in their columns of all wars, political changes, and other important events in the United States since then. Copies of the United States Gazette published in Mississippi and Kentucky when those states were frontiers give facts of pioneer life about the beginning of the nineteenth century. Philadelphia, Boston, New York and Richmond publications cover the War of 1812. The stories of the Texas Revolution in 1836 and the War with Mexico in 1846 are told in southern newspapers of that time. The library contains several anti-slavery and pro-slavery publications, among them the Liberator, favoring the abolition of slavery, which was published in Massachusetts in 1832 by Mr. Lundy. During the Civil War most southern newspapers were suppressed; only papers from New York, Boston, Richmond and Philadelphia give the story of that period. Ample information for study of the Spanish-American War and the World War is available.

The collection of southern newspapers is probably the largest in the country, E. R. Dabney, newspaper librarian said. The file of the Dallas Morning News is complete from the first number. The Dallas Herald, which was first published in 1849, when there was only twenty families in Dallas, was absorbed by the Dallas News in 1885. There are copies of the Galveston News from 1842 to 1873. The Austin-Statesman was begun by legislators opposed to carpet-bagging in 1871 and has continued ever since. The Telegraph and Register began publication in Columbia in 1832. On one occasion when the Mexicans were approaching the town, the press, which was set to run the next issue, was thrown into the river. Later the paper continued publication in Houston until 1877.

The library, established in 1915, is issued mostly by students doing research work in southern and southwestern history, but it is expected to become more useful to the general student body when it is moved from its present quarters in Sutton Hall to the new library building.

At present the collection is increasing at the rate of about one thousand volumes a year. Newspapers are received from most large countries, four dailies from England, three from France, four from Germany, and one from Spain.

Many volumes of old newspapers are donated to the library as memorials to their editors. Others are purchased from private collections. Some volumes are valued as high as $200 apiece, Mr. Dabney said.

Dixie

The Divine Maker selected our neighbor and friend, Joe Aycox, last Sunday afternoon. His sudden death in the West Texas Hospital at Lubbock was a great shock to his many friends.

Paul King, who has been living in Oklahoma the past few years, is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. O. King.

Miss Lollie Murrah is in the Lubbock Sanitarium for treatment.

We are having a picture show each night this week presented in the school auditorium by a traveling company.

Mrs. J. Floyd Jordan, who underwent an operation in the West Texas sanitarium last week, is reported doing nicely.

The highway traffic has been detoured by Dixie while the highway is under construction. Our school building faces south and the road is east of the building. It is rumored that the student body is threatening to petition the school board to turn the building around to face east.

That no doubt would be difficult and expensive but the teachers think it would at least be a neck saving proposition, for as it is we are likely to have many to go through life with unusually long necks as a result of the present situation.

STRONG CAST IN PICTURE "BEAUTY FOR SALE"

Beneath the same old tree, on the same garden bench, beside the same waterfall where many of the scenes most famous love scenes were filmed, Madge Evans and Otto Kruger waxed romantic for "Beauty For Sale", which shows at the English Theatre Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

The woodland glen, located in Franklin Canyon, over the laureled ridges that bowl Hollywood on the North side, has long been used as a location by film companies. It offers streams, lakes, trees and the quaint charm and picturesqueness so sought by directors as a background for love scenes.

"Beauty For Sale" is a daring picturization of the sensational Faith Baldwin novel "Beauty." It is a drama of modern city life, with a particularly intimate locale behind the scenes in a fashionable beauty salon. The story, which ran serially in Cosmopolitan Magazine, was one of the most popular of the past season.

Heading an impressive cast are Madge Evans, Alice Brady, Otto Kruger, Una Merkel, May Robson, and Phillips Holmes.

Our good friend, J. N. Lemond of Draw, dropped in Monday to place his subscriptions figures into the future. Mr. Lemond says that he and his neighbors made excellent crops this year, for which they are truly thankful. We rejoice with them.

Helped By Cardul

Here's the true story of how Cardul helped Mrs. H. E. Dunaway, of McComb, Miss., as written by herself:

"I was sick and rather discouraged. I was so weak and thin, I was not able to do my work as it should be done. This made me fret a good deal, and did not help my condition.

"I had pains across my back and lower part of my body. My nights were spent in rolling from one side of the bed to the other, hoping I would soon go to sleep. Then when morning would come, I would be just as tired as when I went to bed. A neighbor, seeing how badly I felt, told me to try Cardul. After I had taken one bottle, I was much better. I kept on taking Cardul, and I was stronger and slept much better at night."

John Johnson On Trial For Murder

John Johnson of O'Donnell, deputy sheriff of Lynn county, is on trial at Lamesa this week on a murder charge, growing out of the slaying of B. O. (Bunk) Best on the highway between O'Donnell and Lamesa last May 24.

John and D. A. Barnhart were on their way to Lamesa to ask the sheriff of Dawson county to assist in investigating the theft of a calf from Barnhart a short time before. They met Bunk and Grady Best and Hazel Hancock in a car coming this way, who stopped them and began a conversation about the accusation. Johnson testified that the Best brothers cursed him and approached his car and attempted to pull Barnhart out of the car. He testified that he shot when he thought his own life was in danger. Bunk was killed and Grady seriously wounded. Johnson had had previous trouble with the Best brothers while serving as a peace officer.

The case will probably go to the jury tonight.

Mrs. V. A. Botkins, Farmer's Wife, Has Model Pantry Filled With Edibles

On Wednesday of last week, which had been designated in home demonstration circles as Achievement Day, the editor had the privilege of inspecting the pantry of Mrs. V. A. Botkins, who resides four miles east of town. For this rare treat we are indebted to the home demonstration agent, Miss El Fieda Harrison.

Mrs. Botkins has her cellar literally filled with good things to eat, and the numerous jars and other containers of preserved and canned products, systematically and artistically arranged, certainly make a wonderfully attractive display. Not only is it attractive to the eye but it constitutes a most valuable food supply, the value in dollars and cents being placed at $317.35.

On her shelves we took note of the following products: 32 containers of pickles and relishes; 99 containers of preserves, jellies, and jams; 52 containers of sea foods; 162 containers of starchy vegetables; 158 containers of leafy vegetables; 170 containers of other vegetables; 90 containers of fruits and fruit juices; 87 containers of miscellaneous products; 60 pounds of dried fruits; 104 pounds of dried peas and beans; 26 pounds of nuts; an assortment of pumpkins, popcorn, turnips, and sweet pepper; also some honey and syrup.

Mrs. Botkins says that she has

QUICKER, BETTER RELIEF from use of Black-Draught

"I have taken Black-Draught, off and on when needed, for twenty-five years, for it is easy to take," writes Mr. George T. Wharton, of Petersburg, Va. "I take it for constipation and when I have that dull, tired feeling. I take it for colds and other complaints where a good laxative is needed, and I believe it gives me quicker and better relief than any other medicine I know. It certainly has been a help to me."

P.S.—If you have children, give them the new, pleasant-tasting SYRUP of Theford's Black-Draught.

bought her sugar, spices, flour and Irish potatoes out of the proceeds of her garden and from the sale of poultry and turkey products. She of course bought the honey, syrup, nuts, etc. also.

From her pantry Mrs. Botkins has selected an even dozen Christmas gifts to be presented to relatives and friends during the approaching Christmas holidays.

Mrs. Botkins gives the entire credit for this pantry to the home demonstration agent. She says that if Lynn county had had no agent she would have had no pantry.

There are many such pantries in Lynn county, we are told; some of them even larger than this one, many of them smaller. We did not have the time to inspect others, but an inspection of this one was enough to give some idea as to what the farm women of Lynn county are doing in the matter of providing the family table and giving the children a well balanced diet.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC

Any erroneous reflection upon the reputation or standing of any individual, firm or corporation, that may appear in the columns of The Attorney-General James V. Allred very pertinently calls attention to the fact that the sale of intoxicating liquors is still unlawful in this state notwithstanding the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment. Even the sale of 3.2 beer is still unlawful in Lynn and many other counties in Texas. The statutes of Texas invest peace officers with broad powers in enforcing our liquor laws. Although many newspaper publishers seem to have forgotten the fact, yet it is unlawful for any newspaper in Texas to carry any advertisement of intoxicating liquors. It is possibly legal to advertise 3.2 beer, since the legislature recently undertook to legalize the sale of this beverage, but it is a violation of the law to advertise any liquors of stronger alcoholic content than 3.2 per cent. All newspapers should comply with the spirit as well as with the letter of the law, and all peace officers should continue to make it hot for the bootlegger, whether he be a back alley negro or a higher-up moving in respectable society.

We believe that some kind of a general sales tax in Texas is coming. We are opposed to a cumulative tax that would be piled on every time an article of commerce changes hands from the manufacturer or producer down to the retailer. But a tax that will be attached at only a single sale of an article is meeting with much favor everywhere. It would largely take the place of the present ad valorem tax, and people are tired of the ad valorem tax.

Politics is going to be warm next year. There are already several avowed candidates for governor. Edgar E. Witt of Waco, lieutenant governor, has been running for some time. Tom Hunter of Wichita Falls has never quit running since the last election. C. C. McDonald of Wichita Falls has recently announced as a candidate. It is generally understood that Attorney-General James V. Allred of Wichita Falls will be a candidate. Last week Clint Small of Amarillo announced. There is sure to be a Houston candidate, maybe several from that section of the state which comprises central, east, and south Texas. So, there is going to be a big free-for-all. Besides, in this new South Plains congressional district, there is to be a whole bunch of candidates for congress. If rumors are to be relied upon, there will be a lot of county candidates in Lynn county too. Better lay by that dollar-six-bits for a poll tax receipt, folks. You'll wish you had it before the weather gets hot.

Before our paper was off the press last week Mrs. Ferguson had announced that she would not be a candidate for governor next year. We believe that this announcement meets with the approval of a vast majority of the people of Texas. Certainly the present administration has been nothing for the people of Texas to be proud of. Following closely upon the heels of her announcement, C. C. McDonald of Wichita Falls announced that he would be a candidate. He hopes for the Ferguson mantle to fall upon his shoulders. He will run as the Ferguson candidate. He is a very able stump speaker and will doubtless have a mighty following. But we do not believe it would be wise to elect him governor. Jim Ferguson would still be the power behind the throne at Austin, and we think it time to retire the gentleman who has been bringing in the wood and the water so long.

The Roosevelt policies have put millions of unemployed men back to work in this country. His cotton plow-up program greatly reduced the crop and accordingly boosted the price of cotton, and this has brought a fair degree of prosperity back to Texas. The South Plains section is far more prosperous than it has been for the past four years.

Under the Roosevelt regime, many farmers have been able to pay all their debts and have money in the bank. Business men in this section have seen a marvelous revival of business and have thus kept out of bankruptcy. In the face of these facts, the people of this section will not take kindly to the bitter warfare that Al Smith and others have launched against the Roosevelt administration. We like Al Smith's brilliance and his spirit of party independence, but we do not like his stand-pat attitude when honest people are going hungry and ragged. It's not a time for a do-nothing policy at Washington; it's a time for action—and that's just what Roosevelt has given us. Action!

Al Smith says he has gotten too old to stand hitched just for the sake of party regularity. In other words, he asserts his right to bolt the party when his conscience so dictates. Thus far we think Al is right. But we can not endorse his attack upon the Roosevelt administration. He sneers at Roosevelt for "experimentation." But if old remedies have failed and old remedies have not brought about a cure of our economic ills, why not try something new? Are we just to sit down and do nothing about it? Would that have been Al's policy if he had been elected President? Judging from his present attitude it would. Hoover tried to rout the depression, but he was not willing to try any radical remedy. Smith lines up with the Hoover position and against the Roosevelt position. Roosevelt may be wrong and his policies may fail, but certainly he deserves credit for making a desperate effort to save the country.

There seems to have been a general let-down in liquor law enforcement everywhere since it became certain that the Eighteenth Amendment was to be repealed. This has been particularly apparent since the bars were let down to beer. There has been more "drunks" here in Tahoka the past few weeks than for many months preceding. Also there have been more automobile accidents attributable to the fact that the driver was under the influence of liquor. With the actual repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment and whiskey and beer saloons open in New Mexico, this condition may be expected to become worse. And, if the prohibition amendment in our state constitution is repealed and the Dean law abrogated, as our wet friends are advocating, then we may expect drunkenness in this state to greatly increase.

The News rejoices because of the new prosperity that has come to the farmers of this country. Our farmers as well as our local business men have been under a terrible strain for the past three years. Debt, taxes, low prices for farm products, no markets—these have been a continual nightmare to the farmer. A big cotton crop and a better price for cotton have enabled him to pay his debts and lay up some money in the bank. It is fine, folks, it is fine.

Say, had you realized, folks, that Christmas is right here? You have not been able to buy many Christmas presents the past few years. Maybe you are in a position to buy this Christmas. Why not make those kiddies glad with a lot of nice Christmas presents? Why not remember your friends, here and elsewhere? Our business men will be glad to supply you. So, get busy, folks. Let's have a big Christmas!

Read What the Shamburger Graduates Say Of The Shamburger System

"I think I have told you your system was ten times easier, now I say it is fifty times easier. I think nobody can appreciate your system as much as a teacher of one of the old systems."—Ex-Teacher, Margaret Watkins.

"I finished Shorthand at Shamburger's in less than seven weeks and started right in doing the work an experienced stenographer had been doing."—Elizabeth Harritt.

"No mistakes so far, and I will do all in my power to induce my acquaintances to take your course. . . . I think it wonderful."—Josephines Du Val, Dallas.

"I had two years of Shorthand in high school. Now that I have just completed a six weeks' course of the Shamburger system in Southern Methodist University Summer School I do not hesitate to say that I consider the latter system much more simplified than the former."—Nolan R. Vance.

"I had two years of Shorthand in high school and changed to the Shamburger system. I find it easy to learn, write and read, and much more practical."—Margot Davidson.

"When I entered your school I had already studied Shorthand. I have found the Shamburger system not only easier by far, but also more practical. I would advise anyone to take your system in preference to any other."—Esther Norris.

"Your system of shorthand has enabled me to hold a secretarial position for the past six years, and at the present I am making my school expenses by means of shorthand and typewriting. I am secretary to the librarian in T. C. U. this year."—Louise Blumberg.

"This is indeed shorthand—Gregg is a language."—Clara A. Bixby.

"Will be very glad indeed if I can be of any assistance in helping prospective pupils realize the superiority of your system over other systems."—Ruby Askew, Dallas.

"After having Shorthand in high school, I decided to change to the Shamburger system, and found it much easier to learn and to remember. In just four weeks study I accepted a stenographic position and I find no trouble at all in reading my notes. I have not made a mistake so far."—Alma Whitley, Dallas.

"I find the Shamburger system easier to write, easier to read, and easier to remember. I have found this course all that it is advertised to be, and many times easier than other systems of shorthand."—Irma Dee Mathews.

"I had another system several months, then changed to Shamburgers. I find the system all that they claim. I have made good on the position they secured for me after eight week's study."—Maretta Chambers, Garland.

"Shamburgers is not only 'a' system, but it is 'the' system. All the praise one could offer would be altogether inadequate."—Doris Lowden.

Supt. Pace Tells Of Recent Trip To Texas State Teachers Association

(By J. B. Pace Jr., Supt.)

Austin and the University of Texas were hosts to the teachers of Texas for the fifty-eighth annual convention. Something over 6,000 teachers registered and attended the various sections of the three-day program, which dealt with problems of universal interest in public education in both our state and nation.

Austin and the University were prepared to receive and entertain the visitors, and all who attended were adequately housed and taken care of during the meeting.

The places of meeting were in University buildings, and in going about the campus one was impressed with the many new buildings that had been erected and completed within the past three years. There are eleven beautiful buildings artfully designed and fully equipped and used by the boys and girls of Texas. The impressiveness of the building, the historical statues that have been recently erected on the campus, and the new driveways that have been constructed makes one feel proud that our own state has provided well for the educational opportunities of her boys and girls.

I arrived in Austin Thursday morning but got there too late for the first general session, the Thanksgiving service, which was held in the Gregory Gymnasium. Dr. J. W. Mills, pastor of the First Methodist Church, Beaumont, spoke on "Gratitude of God's Gift."

The first professional session was held at 2:00 P. M. at the Gregory Gymnasium and the theme of the program was "Salvaging School Children from Economic Disaster."

Addresses were made by A. W. Birdwell, president of Stephen F. Austin State Teachers College, G. O. Clough of Southern Methodist University, Dean Gordon J. Lang of the University of Chicago, and Mrs. S. M. N. Marrs, a former national president of the Parent-Teachers Association.

Dr. Birdwell proclaimed the challenge for federally supported "opportunity schools" and for federal scholarship loans, both as obvious self-supporting programs which mean much to education and citizenship. He stated that there were 80,000 fewer teachers now than in 1929; two million children were affected by short terms; salaries of teachers have been reduced; more than $40,000,000 in salaries have not been paid; 6,000 college teachers have been dismissed from service and a number of young men and women are out of college because of increased fees.

Demand for reorganization of the school system and greater unity was suggested as a remedy. The schools are intimately related to the plan the government uses to get the taxes to maintain them. Schools should teach that good citizenship consists in doing that which helps the government perform its functions. The federal government and the codes have created more leisure for children of school age, and the opportunity and burden alike lie upon the schools for greater service and greater expenditure than in the past.

Education must provision a better social and economic order. These things include the concepts of security, equality of opportunity and happiness. Schools should stress and develop social studies, and must lead the way to group thinking and group consciousness. But in the group we must preserve individual initiative and responsibility.

Dr. Clough rectified exhaustive statistical analyses dealing with income and school revenues, and with the overlapping of school functions. He pointed out that more than 30,000 people, besides teachers, now have a part in administering education. He urged an integration of all phases of education and avoidance of setting the different groups into destructive competition.

Dr. Lang urged the conservative view of improving the general mental equipment of the pupil, and sticking to the tried and traditional basic matter, naming Latin, mathematics and history especially. He took the front page of a newspaper and read the headlines to show that three-fourths of the words, except connectives, were Latin derivatives.

Mrs. S. M. N. Marrs conveyed a message of greeting from the Congress of Parents and Teachers to the educators of Texas.

The third general session brought greetings from President H. Y. Benedict of the University of Texas, Mayor Tom Miller and Supt. A. N. McCallum, of Austin.

Miss Jessie Gray, president of the National Education Association, of Philadelphia, addressed the teachers and outlined the objectives of the National Association and how teachers should interpret and defend education.

Nomination of officers for the ensuing year was made at this time and Mrs. Roy C. Owen, Tyler, and J. O. Loftin, San Antonio, were nominated for president. Next day, when the ballots were counted, J. O. Loftin was the winner, and will be the next president of the Texas State Teachers Association.

Friday morning was given to the various section and departmental meetings. I attended the Superintendent's section and the general theme was "Child Progress."

Hon. F. L. Henderson, member of the State Board of Education, addressed the superintendents and discussed the progress of education and the conditions that now exist in Texas. He emphasized the fact that education should no longer emphasize the material phases, but should stress culture, refinement, and citizenship, which contributes to joyous living. He also outlined the objectives and work of the State Board of Education and how it sought the cooperation and unity of all people that public education might be beneficial and meaningful and worthy of the cost.

Dr. Fred C. Ayer, director of research, reported on the research that had been made in Texas as to child progress of the different ages at entrance. This was a very exhaustive study and was based upon the actual findings of pupil progress made in Texas this past year. The report shows that the six year old children at entrance made more progress in our schools than did the five, seven, or eight year old children. The fourth general session had for its theme: "Intelligent Reorganization and Financing of the State's System of Public Education."

Addresses were made by Col. Nat. Washner, president of State Board of Education, State Superintendent L. A. Woods, N. S. Holland, Supt. of Breckenridge, E. E. Oberholzer, Supt. of Houston, and County Supt. Bryan Dickson of Kaufman county.

Col. Nat. M. Washner called attention to a survey being made of the elementary schools by the State Board of Education and asked for the cooperation of all the school people in order to make the report complete. The purpose of the report is to find out the actual conditions of the schools of Texas and if possible bring about such action that will simplify and improve methods and cause greater efficiency.

L. A. Woods, State Superintendent, recommended establishment in the state department of education of an elementary school division to supervise elementary education and increase its efficiency.

Supt. E. E. Oberholzer emphasized school finance and stated that it is time that the leaders in every state begin critical thinking and careful action to see that the school, our most important governmental institution, does not become bankrupt and that intelligent citizenship for the next generation is not foredoomed.

The fifth general session was entertained by a pageant presented by the University of Texas which depicted interesting episodes of Texas History.

The remainder of the program was given to recent legislation and legislative trends in Texas.

Soon after this session teachers began packing grips and bidding adieu to Austin with the thought that they had spent three very beneficial and with-while days there. The meeting brought them together where they could exchange greeting and experiences with their fellows, stimulated their interest, gave them a greater vision of the profession and its problems, and sent them home with a greater determination to serve and serve efficiently.

W. F. Fry, Jr., John Bulman, Bill Thompson, and T. W. Stephens left Wednesday afternoon for Dallas to attend a showing of the new 1934 Model Fords to be staged there all day Thursday. Mr. Fry says that he will unload a car load of these new Fords Friday and will have them ready for display here Saturday morning.

Tahora again has a photograph studio, the Waffle Studio over the Wells Store. Mr. Waffle has operated a studio in Lamesa for some time and is still operating it, but recently established one here also. He invites you to call and see his work.

Pantries Filled At Small Cost

"Pantries filled at the small cost of $14.00 to $58.00 were found to contain as high as 63 varieties and as many as 1,200 containers of food when visited last Wednesday in the tour sponsored by the Home Demonstration Council," said Miss El Fleda Harrison Wednesday.

Hundreds of farm women in Lynn county have learned the value of a well filled pantry, and foods of many varieties valued at many thousands of dollars are being preserved by these women each year.

In addition to the pantry demonstrations inspected on this tour, inspection was also made of wardrobes, yards, and bed room demonstrations.

Baptist Services Are Announced

The pastor will preach Sunday morning on "Foreign Missions" and as a follow-up of the week of prayer for foreign missions we will observe the Lottie Moon Christmas offering. All this offering goes directly to foreign missions.

Southern Baptists carry on mission work in 14 foreign countries, being represented on the foreign fields by 401 missionaries. During the 88 years of the activity of our Foreign Mission Board 973 missionaries have been sent out. Today there are 2698 churches, 2352 outstations, with 1956 self supporting churches and last year our missionaries reported 17,284 professions of faith on baptism. The professions of faith last year on foreign soil cost us in dollars a good deal less per capita than those won to Christ in the homeland.

Sunday evening the pastor will preach on "The Christian Attitude To Social Sins."

There will be special music at both hours. Sunday School meets at 9:45. Baptist Training Service at 6:30. The evening worship hour is 7:30. You will greatly enjoy the choir and congregation singing. Welcome to the church with a growing fellowship.—Lawrence Hayes, Pastor.

Church Of Christ Showers Pastor

Many members of the Church of Christ gathered at the home of their pastor, Elder R. P. Drennon on Tuesday night and showered him and family with many good things to eat and wear. The gifts consisted of groceries, dry goods, and a purse for a new overcoat for the preacher. Following the presentation of the gifts, the evening was spent in singing.

The pastor says the shower was appreciated very much not only because of the value of the gifts themselves but also because of the fine spirit manifested.

How Cardui Helps Women

"Mal-nutrition" means that your body is not getting enough to keep it up, so that what it has to do is not done well. You may not be eating enough to keep up the work of the body, or there may be something wrong that keeps you from getting full value from the food you eat.

Because of mal-nutrition, some women have aches and pains every month. Such pains should not be neglected.

Take Cardui to give you a better appetite, to give you more strength from the food you eat—to build up and increase your feeling of well-being. Aches and pains go away as you build up with the help of Cardui.

Make Report On Music Convention

For the first time, the Seventh District Federation of Music Clubs had a representation from Tahoka in their annual convention which met in Amarillo last week, Tahoka being next to the "baby" club of the district. To be exact, there were three representatives—the largest delegation from any other than the Amarillo clubs to attend the entire session, having also traveled the greatest distance to be in attendance.

The Seventh District which comprises forty-nine West Texas and Panhandle counties, has fifteen senior music clubs, six of which have headquarters in Amarillo. The Tahoka ladies report a most delightful convention in every way—such cordial hospitality, so many affairs for the enjoyment and entertainment of guests: two luncheons, a banquet, a musical tea, a midnight frolic, a marvelous Fine Arts program, lovely programs of music at each session—besides all the courtesies extended by not only the hostess clubs themselves but by the numerous other friends of music in Amarillo churches, colleges, and private homes.

The Tahoka attendants were Mrs. H. C. Story, member of the District staff representing the National club publication; Mrs. Harold Edwards, who was the local representative on the Fine Arts program with the vocal solo, "Roses of Picardy"; and Mrs. Suddarth, who served as chairman of the resolutions committee and as a judge of "stunts" at the midnight frolic. She was also elected district recording secretary succeeding Miss Mattie Swisher of Canyon, who assumes the new presidency. The local club thus has the distinction of being the only club with two members on the district board.

Methodist S. S. Enjoys Program

On last Sunday morning the Methodist pastor gleaned a lesson of splendid courage from the text: "But Jesus steadfastly set His face toward Jerusalem." He was heard by an appreciative audience and again, at the evening hour, also, when an evangelistic message was brought from the familiar story of Saul's conversion, reading from Acts 9.

On Tuesday night the church school held a delightful "get-together" in the basement. Superintendent Claude Donaldson was host and Prof. M. J. Weaver, chairman of the program committee, while the young people's department was responsible for appropriate Thanksgiving decorations of grain, cotton, fruits, pumpkins, thistles, etc.

The ladies served delectable refreshments of pumpkin pie and coffee following an amusing round of games conducted by Miss Maxine Jones.

The following splendid program was presented: Violin duet, Miss Mary Jane Weathers and Mr. Chas. Gaignat; reading, Miss Faye Masengale; reading, Miss Greta Joyce Applewhite; vocal duet, Misses Mildred Davis and Eva Douthit; talk, Rev. H. C. Smith; piano solo, Miss Marjorie Wells; reading, Mrs. J. B. Pace; talk, Mr. Claude Donaldson; Mrs. M. J. Weaver accompanied the two duets.

About seventy-five partook of the evening's enjoyment and will eagerly await announcement of the next event of like nature.—Reporter.

Presbyterians Hold Services Sunday

After our quiet and beautiful Thanksgiving season, and now on the very eve of Christmas holidays, the climax of the old year and the initiatory of the new year, its a fine time to take stock religiously and cash in next Sunday 100 per cent strong. Last month it was about 150 per cent for the morning service and about 30 per cent for the night service. Of course, this approaching Christmas season puts a holiday flush on things, and may we not expect an overflow, at both services next Sunday? As the best books are full of delightful surprises, so are congregations to preachers. No balm in Gilead like the Lord's faithful folks, all the year around. What a good year we have had at Tahoka together. Thank the Lord for our friends and open doors of life, in time like these, for ministers. I certainly wish our members and friends a most happy and delightful Christmas season, and spiritually, the best year in all our years. Remember our services next Sunday, Morning theme, "Conserving the waste and time of the years." Special music and a good attendance wanted. Subject Sunday night, "Those Wise Virgins." Good song service, and an opportunity to meet most of your old friends. They will be there without failure. When we only have services one Sunday a month, always try to tune in, and thank you. Never was a better age in which to let all lights shine than now. Come next Sunday.—W. K. Johnston, Minister.

The State of Texas, County of Lynn.
Notice is hereby given that by virtue of a certain Order of Sale issued out of the Honorable District Court of Lynn County, on the 5th day of December 1933, by W. S. Taylor, Clerk of said Court, for the sum of Thirteen Hundred Five and 50-100 ($1305.50) Dollars and costs of suit, under a Judgment, in favor of The Peck, Wright, Peck Investment Company, in a certain cause in said Court, No. 911, and styled The Peck, Wright, Peck Investment Company vs. J. C. Wells, et al., placed in my hands for service, I, B. L. Parker, as Sheriff of Lynn County, Texas, did, on the 6th day of December, 1933, levy on certain Real Estate, situated in Lynn County, Texas, described as follows, to-wit: Lot No. Five (5), in Block No. Thirty-seven (37) of the North Tahoka Addition to the Original town of Tahoka, Lynn County, Texas, and levied upon as the property of Jack E. Wells and that on the first Tuesday in January, 1934, the same being the 2nd day of said month, at the Court House door of Lynn County, in the City of Tahoka, Texas, between the hours of 10 A. M. and 4 P. M., by virtue of said levy and said Order of Sale I will sell said above described Real Estate at public vendue, for cash, to the highest bidder, as the property of said Jack E. DIZZINESS

relieved by Black-Draught
"I decided to take Thedford's Black-Draught, as I had been having bilious spells," writes Mr. Charles E. Stevens, of Columbus, Ind. "When I get bilious, I feel sleepy and tired and do not feel like doing my work. It is hard to tell how I feel, but I do not feel good. I get awfully dizzy. I know then that I had better take something. After I found how good Black-Draught is, that is what I have used. I guess it rids me of the bile, for I feel better—don't feel like I am dropping off to sleep every time I sit down. That, to me, is a very bad feeling."
Now you can get Black-Draught in the form of a PLYNOL, for CHILDREN.

Yoakum Citizens Talk Road Plans

A delegation of Yoakum county men was here yesterday to discuss plans with the state highway department office for a new route on highway No. 84 west of Plains. The group included R. P. Moreland, former county judge and J. J. Blanken ship and his son Will Blanken-ship.

The commissioner's court wants to turn the highway to the southwest at Plains, with the hope of connecting it with Lovington at a point southwest of us," Mr. Moreland said. "Most people in Plains and the county want it to follow in a northwesterly direction to Bronco, where it will connect with an all-weather road to Tatum and Roswell."

Judge Moreland said he believed he could get easements for a right of way, following the present route to Bronco, from the ranchers and farmers. He and a group of men are planning to secure the easements and present them to the state highway department.

Yoakum county has been hard hit this year by drouth conditions, he added. There was very little cotton grown this year and the yield is small. A fair crop is being harvested.—Lubbock Avalanche

Dave Childers reports having shot a Canadian goose near the T-Bar ranch headquarters Sunday. He says the bird was a beautiful specimen and of a breed he had never seen in this country before. He shot the goose in flight, fully 200 feet in the air and the bird dropped directly to the ground, 110 steps from the point where Dave pulled the trigger. He was using buckshot in a single-barrel shotgun.
