

SCOOP SEZ

By J. M. Forbes

Roy Bayless, the policeman, figures he has now seen everything. Late the other night he observed a colored man weeding his garden with a hoe, and the business end of which he had attached a flash light!

Well, Roy, I know who you mean. He's old Archie Scarlett, a good friend of mine, who puts in a full day in other people's yards and gardens and has to do his own work when he can. I have been watching Archie's garden and hoping he would remember me when the stuff gets ready to eat. The way it rains have made it to bloom like a rose.

Mrs. Butch Becker, ye genial hostess at the Cross Roads Cafe, thinks the name of Muleshoe must be really going around. From Georgia came a letter from a service man requesting more of the coffee takers the Bakers hand out ever so often; someone had given this man one, and he kept it for a luck piece; now he's lost it. We figure he'll have fun with the handout Mrs. Baker sent him.

My friend, Winford Smith, out to the southwest never got any rain as so many did early Sunday morning, and that's strange because very few spots on the Plains missed the bountiful shower, and you know that rain falls on the just and the unjust alike as the Book says.

An old friend from Plainview dropped through Monday to amuse me and old Cayle Reed, an old friend, a few minutes. He was going home from Ruidoso; told us that at the race track he "beat them out of everything he had." The Lord tempers the wind to the storm lamb.

Ollie Jones, the farmer, didn't make as much rye as some figured he might. It was such a pretty crop that I figured 60, 80 bushels an acre; the heat came and swelled the grains and Ollie estimated the combine got 30 bushels to the acre. Some wheat, I hear, was affected by that same heat wave and disappointed its grower somewhat.

On our annual trek to the family reunion at Raring Springs Sunday morning we observed water standing everywhere, in the barrow ditches, in the furrows, and lots of it. In places water was still pouring out of the fields. There was no place where there had not been a big rain and crops were responding quickly. We needed rain, and when we returned late in the afternoon it seemed certain to us that the plants had grown inches since we saw them in the morning!

And there is nothing good with the Hi-Plains that a good crop wouldn't cure (provided we harvest it and sell and get the money into the banks).

TOURISTS SPEND MONEY

Harrol Griffiths Tells Rotary Of Efforts To Popularize Highway 70

Tourists in 1956 spent more money than the total combined sales of America's 10 largest corporations. This was a striking thought from the talk made by Harrol Griffiths, president of Muleshoe Chapter, U. S. Highway 70 Ass'n., when he addressed the Rotary Club at noon Tuesday.

Many people feel that tourism is for places with spectacular scenery or outstanding features; yet people from 41 different states of the U. S. and from 4 foreign countries have enjoyed the hospitality of his motel since January 1.

He brought out these facts to show that Muleshoe and Bailey County have attractions that will appeal to tourists, and he appealed to his listeners to be thinking about historical or odd features that will "stop" the tourist, who will spend more money with our service stations, retail stores, etc.

He said that the local chapter of the U. S. 70 Association now has 16 paying members, and that the more who join, the better will the Association be able

Bracero Ceiling For July Is 977

The number of Mexican Nationals who may be employed in Bailey County for farm and ranch work may not exceed 977 during the month of July.

This information comes from the Littlefield area office of Texas Employment Commission.

The 977 figure is the certified number of Braceros who may legally be employed for farm and ranch work in the county this month following a survey by TEC of farm labor needs.

The TEC points out that the ceiling may be revised whenever agricultural requirements are filled or domestic laborers are available in sufficient quantity to handle the need.

Weekend Rain and Hail Strike At Young Crops; Yearly Moisture Over 13 Inches

Heavy rains and spotted areas of hail damage marked the holiday weekend, bringing the yearly moisture figure past the 13 inch mark, and destroying a number of fields of young cotton.

A generally heavy rain, accompanied by hail hit the Plains counties late Friday, bringing an official 1.23 inches of moisture to Muleshoe, and causing varying amounts of damage to crops.

Although several fields were reported heavily damaged by the hailstorm, one insurance agent in Muleshoe said he believed the hail was generally widely scattered, and that severely damaged fields were the exception rather than the rule.

The weekend rainfall of 1.43 inches here brought the half year total to 13.16 inches, with every month of the year thus far showing more moisture than its corresponding month for any year since 1955.

Cummings-Lander Vows Repeated In Wyoming Episcopal Church In June

Farmers Union Head Okays Extension of Bracero Labor Law

Alex Dickie, Jr., president, Texas Farmers Union, stated that the Texas Farmers Union Executive Board recently voted unanimously to support a three year extension of Public Law 78 as now written without amendments. The board heard a report by five county presidents of Texas Farmers Union who attended the Bracero Labor Users Conference in San Antonio June 24.

The San Antonio conference was attended by some 50 farmers and co-op managers representing most of the State Farm Organizations and it was agreed that all should present a united front in asking for an extension of P. L. 78.

Dickie sent the following telegram to Senators Yarborough and Johnson and ten members of the House of Representatives in Washington: "Texas Farmers Union urges your support of Public Law 78 for a three year extension without amendments."

Girls May Enter Stock In South Plains Stock Show

After twenty-five years of all-male competition, the South Plains Junior Fat Stock Show will open its gates next spring to girls who can qualify under new rules recently adopted by the area-wide exposition.

Announcement of the new rules which will allow girls to enter the event was made by the show's general chairman Ray Johnson following several meetings of the steering committee. The rule change is effective for the spring show, scheduled for March 16 through 18 at the Fair Grounds in Lubbock.

New entry rules provide that "all regularly enrolled 4-H, FFA and FHA members who are nine years of age and under twenty-one years on January 1, 1959 are eligible to enter stock in any of the divisions of the Junior Fat Stock Show."

Such members who show animals must have personally owned, fed and fitted their animals under the supervision of a county agent or vocational agriculture teacher.

Lazbuddie Local Organizes Junior Farmers Union

The Lazbuddie local Farmers Union had a regular meeting Tuesday, July 1. A Junior Farmers Union was organized with twenty young people present.

Peaches Head List Plentiful Foods For Next Month

The U. S. Department of Agriculture urges homemakers to give peaches a prominent place on their August shopping list, for they head the August plentiful foods list.

Supplies of peaches are large and they are expected to be favorably priced for consumers. Quality also is expected to be high.

Other fruit plentifuls in August are fresh and processed lemons and watermelons.

Potatoes also will be plentiful during August. There will also be a great variety of summer vegetables from market gardens — tomatoes, sweetcorn, snap beans, lima beans, cucumbers, lettuce and onions.

Too, there will be large supplies of vegetable fats and oils.

Small Grain Guide Made Available By Extension Service

Small grains occupy a unique place in Texas agriculture because they are suited to so many uses and are grown from the 50-inch rainfall belt and mild climate of Southeast Texas to the 15-inch rainfall belt of North Texas where winter temperatures are often very severe.

They are used extensively as grain and forage crops in Texas. The combined acreage of wheat, oats and barley generally exceeds six million.

Statewide small grain tests have been conducted to provide information on the best varieties to grow in the several areas, and to provide a means for final testing of experimental strains before they are named new varieties and distributed to growers.

Because of the wide diversity of climate under which the crops are grown and tests conducted, the state is divided into seven areas.

Results and conclusions derived from these tests are summarized in a bulletin just released by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station entitled "Performance of Small Grain Varieties in Texas, 1949-57."

Yields of experimental strains are not included in the bulletin — only yields of commercial varieties are covered.

Some of the topics included are growing areas and test locations; climatic conditions and soil types; field designs of tests and experimental data. It contains information on barley, oats and wheat. This 19-page bulletin may be obtained upon request from the Agricultural Information Office, College Station, Texas. Ask for bulletin 899.

Christian Science Services

To gain the blessings promised by Christ Jesus, man must be willing to follow his example in daily life. This is the theme to be stressed in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Sacrament" which will be heard at Christian Science

"Auntie Mame."

"Auntie Mame" first appeared as a book in 1955, and immediately topped all "best seller" lists. Soon after the publication, Jerome Lawrence and Robert E. Lee adapted the show for New York and it has been Broadway's biggest hit ever since.

The production to be seen in Lubbock will be an exact duplicate of the New York one as far as scenery, lighting and costumes are concerned. The rest of the cast has not been announced, but it will include some of New York's most prominent actors and actresses.

churches on Sunday. From Galatians will be read the Golden Text (3:26, 27): "Ye are all the children of God by faith in Christ Jesus. For as many of you as have been baptized into Christ have put on Christ."

The Lesson-Sermon also includes this quotation from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy (25:26-31): "Implicit faith in the Teacher and all the emotional love we can bestow on him, will never alone make us imitators of him. We must go and do likewise, else we are not improving the great blessings which our Master worked and suffered to bestow upon us."

Irrigated Cotton Guide Available

"Texas Guide for Growing Irrigated Cotton" is the title of a new bulletin just released by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The guide points out periods of peak water use and information on other production factors important to producing cotton efficiently under irrigation. It discusses such topics as planting dates, seeding dates, fertility requirements, weed control, diseases and insects, defoliation, and harvesting.

The bulletin also has a section devoted to water use and plant development and contains a thorough discussion of when to irrigate.

It can be a valuable source of information to anyone interested in this subject. Local county agents have the guide or it can be obtained from the Agricultural Information Office, College Station, Texas. Ask for B-896.

Sandhills Philosopher Wants World To Pick Out One Trouble Spot And Use It Permanently

Editor's note: The Sand Hills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm seems to be having trouble keeping up with the international news, his letter this week indicates.

I'm not really familiar with these places, I'm just copying them down from old newspapers I've been saving.

Now here's the thing. They never do seem to solve any of these problems, they just run their course in the papers a few weeks and no more is heard about them, while a brand new trouble spot breaks out some place else.

This skipping around from trouble spot to trouble spot is confusing, and I'm proposing that the world pick out one spot, preferably one that's easy to spell and pronounce, and let it serve permanently as the world's trouble spot. It doesn't make any difference where it is, so long as it's sitting on a powder keg and has some woods and mountains nearby for rebels to hide out in. It also needs a palace for the official government to hole up in, and there ought to be a good landing field for the U. S. to rush aid in on.

Outside of this, about all they'll need is a comfortably place for the reporters to stay, and the trouble spot will be in business.

The way I see it, one trouble spot's as good as another and it's sheer waste and a tax on a man's mind to shift it around every few months.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Dear editor:
When it comes to geography, I don't have any trouble in finding my way into Muleshoe, and if put to it could find my way to Sudan and Farwell, and if somebody would furnish the car and pay for the gas and go along to drive I guess I could make it to nearly any town in this country, by trial and error, although I'm perfectly satisfied to stay where I am, but after I get very far away from home, I'm lost.

For example, every once in a while, I'd say on the average of every three months, a new trouble spot breaks out in the world and the newspapers play it up and it sounds bad, although generally I don't know what they're talking about. Right now the world's trouble spot is Lebanon, wherever that is, and a while back it was Algeria, then Saudi Arabia, Seoul, etc.

Over the years, our country has been good to us—as it was good to our fathers and their fathers before them. We have had good times and we have had bad times. We have known both prosperity and adversity. We have experienced both war and peace. But even in the worst of times, our country has still offered us more freedom and greater opportunity than any other the world has ever known.

This is our heritage and it is a noble one. We must guard it against enemies from without. We must unceasingly protect it against erosion from within. Only through the exercise of unceasing vigilance can we hope we pass on to those who come after us the rich fruits of our heritage as Americans.

This is the road we must walk together—in a spirit of prudence, of confidence, of steadfast determination. It is the road for all Americans.

WASHINGTON NEWS LETTER

By Senator Lyndon Johnson

Dear Friend:
A deep concern about the future of our country is shared, I think, by all Texans and all Americans. All of us realize, I believe, that the way of life we have known is under attack as it has never before been under attack during the 182 years since our Declaration of Independence declared this a free nation and its individual citizens capable of self-government.

No one can read the alarming daily headlines without wondering whether our children will enjoy the rich, full life that has meant so much to Americans. All of us want our children to grow up in a country where freedom and opportunity are more than slogans.

This is a goal we can achieve if we unite on the things we are for—instead of dividing on the things we are against. The major problem before us is maintaining the strength that will preserve our freedoms. And that does not mean military strength alone. A nation that is strong and vital in spirit will lack for the power to defend itself. And strength and vitality exist in proportion to the care we devote to our problems as a nation and as a people.

One of the things we have learned in the 182 years of our existence as a nation is that independence and freedom cannot be maintained merely because we desire their maintenance.

We have to work at it—consciously and knowingly—to have freedom as a way of life. And part of the work, an integral part, involves making sure that our government is not only free but effective as well.

Working for freedom is not a part-time job. It follows that government itself cannot be a "sometime thing"—something we look to only when somebody is in trouble or when election day is at hand. Our responsibilities as freedom-loving citizens of a free and independent nation must be exercised every

BABSON DISCUSSES STRIKES

Babson Park, Mass., July 10—Ever since I was assistant to the Secretary of Labor during World War I, I have carefully followed labor conditions with special reference to wages and hours. In fact, during the past ten years I have had a part of the leading strikes placed upon my desk each month, and have given an analysis of these strikes and the outcome of each.

History of Labor Movements
Few readers realize that very little attention was given to labor matters by employers of government officials until 1913 when the Department of Labor was formed and W. B. Wilson was made its head and a member of the President's Cabinet. Mr. Wilson was a friend of mine and I wrote his biography, published by Brentano's in 1919.

The founder of the labor union movement in the U. S., Samuel Gompers, was also a friend of mine. Forgive me for rehearsing these details, but I know most readers of my weekly columns are members of labor unions. I want them to trust me and listen to what I say. I have always been labor's friend—and defended labor when many of its friends were viewed as so-called pink communists are today.

Labor Leaders vs. Preachers and Teachers
In these days, most preachers and college professors were unfriendly to labor demands. As a result, labor leaders lost confidence in churches and colleges. They were told that Protestant theological schools and most colleges were endowed and supported by employers and the "capitalists", so-called. Hence, they did not listen to what these preachers and teachers were telling their students. Furthermore, if too many boys mentioned their economic instructors defended labor unions and strikes, such instructors often lost their jobs.

In the meantime, the labor leaders were constantly getting more pay for their wageworkers for fewer hours of work. Hence, the wage-workers' respect for labor leaders increased as their respect for preachers and teachers decreased. Moreover, these labor leaders were under attack from other ambitious workers who strove to get their positions. As a result, the labor leaders were compelled to win higher wages and shorter hours every year, or they would not be re-elected and the plum would go to others. These plums were worth from $10,000 to $25,000 per year. This is the situation at present.

Labor Being Investigated
Finally, many labor leaders were not content to provide "fatherhoods" for their union members, as has so successfully been done by the leaders of railroad unions, but too many of them did feather their own nests. This has resulted in Congress's making investigations of both large and small graft. He had been succeeding until the Sherman Adams episode nearly wrecked Kennedy's good intentions.

This is especially unfortunate, coming at a time when Russia has thrown the U. S. into a business recession which employers as well as wageworkers are now suffering. Yet this is a time when a Senator or Congressman thinks he can help his re-election by claiming that capitalism is the cause of the recession. All of this is most unfortunate. Although government appropriations and other gimmicks may temporarily help employment, they will not be a permanent cure.

How To Prevent Strikes Now
Solution of the threatened strike problems and shortening of the present recession depend upon all parties—labor leaders, employers, and consumers—forgetting old prejudices and accepting the fundamental laws of sound impartial economics. These call for manufacturers and retailers to willingly accept less profits, and for wageworkers to ask now for no increases.

This means that, as wage contracts come up for renewal, labor leaders should unanimously urge renewal on present terms. It may be necessary for employers to demand a cut in wages or fringes, but this should be only to effect a compromise and renewal on the same terms. This would give the labor leaders some opportunity to show their union members what they have accomplished for them. It would both increase employment in the U. S. and prove a blow to Russian propaganda.

WASHINGTON RACKETEERS

There is something hidden and far more sinister back of the Sherman Adams vicuna coat sensation than has been put, or is likely to be put, on public display.

Compared with the multi-million dollar a year racket engaged in by several hundred professional influence peddlers, the vicuna coat and other gratuities bestowed on Adams by Boston industrialist Bernard Goldfine are strictly peanuts.

Goldfine undoubtedly was following what he believed to be a normal practice of getting what he wanted in Washington. Adams was accommodating a long-time, generous friend. Both were, to say the least, indiscreet.

The number of people who make a fat living as Washington "representatives" is not known, but a generally accepted estimate is between 5,000 and 6,000. That does not include the 500 or more associations and organizations maintaining legitimate representatives of their interests.

Many Are Phonies
The influence peddlers operate behind the scenes, and they have lavish expense accounts. They claim to "know the right people," or to be able to get legislation passed through devious methods. Many of them are 100 per cent phonies.

As an example, a few years ago we knew a lawyer who had nothing to do with getting a new tax formula adopted, but who looked over his list of clients the new formula would help and billed them for up to $45,000 each. He collected.

In more than 20 years of close association with congressmen and administrative officials we have known only a handful of government officials who would yield to influence. The vast majority resent efforts to influence their actions.

Congress Should Investigate
Congress has spent millions of dollars investigating all kinds of business and labor racketeering. Numerous committees have held extensive hearings, both in Washington and across the country. Some of their findings have made headlines.

But some of the worst racketeering in the country goes on right under the noses of congressmen. Many of the influence peddlers are known to the congressmen, although not favorably.

These racketeers operate within the law, or at least within the shadow of it. Quite a few former congressmen have become Washington representatives who legitimately sell their intimate knowledge of how Congress operates.

The practice of selling influence is far more widespread than the relatively innocent giving of gratuities. Most of the latter are simply an expression of appreciation for honest performance of duty by a government official.

There is need for some code of ethics, however, which public officials can follow as a guide in accepting entertainment and gifts from those with whom they deal in the performance of their duties.

REMEMBER WHEN?
by JOHN CROW

They called him "The Splendid Splinter". He had come out of the service to murder American League pitcher all season long, enjoying one of his best years at the plate. This was Ted Williams, one of the league's most dangerous hitters. It looked as if all a pitcher could do was throw and pray.

Then came a July afternoon with a double-header between Boston and Cleveland. In the first game Williams couldn't be stopped. He clouted three towering home runs.

In the second game Lou Boudreau, then the young manager of the Indians, tried a desperation measure. He shifted his entire outfield and infield over toward the right, presenting a solid wall of fielders to the right-field hitting Williams. Thus was born the "Boudreau shift" that has plagued Williams ever since . . . although it hasn't kept him from being one of the game's greatest hitters.

Remember the year? That was a year when Americans were just beginning to adjust to normalcy . . . and one of the foremost desires for the average family was a new car. And they weren't easy to come by!

IS THE FARM VOTE STRENGTH DECREASING?

The general opinion in some circles of government today is that the farm vote as a power at the polls is a thing of the past. Such a misconception has, on occasion, led to neglect of the rural segment of our economy in favor of a more vocal minority. This is known as "oiling the wheel that squeaks the loudest", among unsuccessful petitioners for governmental process. The group which gains its demands usually calls it, "Making Yourself Heard in Government".

It is true that the farm vote now represents only about 9 percent of registered voters on a national scale. But this does not present a true picture of agricultural strength. If everyone concerned only realized it and acted accordingly, the agricultural block could still be the mightiest power in effect in our Democratic form of government.

For a total of 63 percent of our population is directly connected with the buying, selling, manufacturing or processing of our farm products. Legislative matters important to agriculture are vitally important to all these persons.

Here is how it works! If everyone who buys the raw products of the farm would vote with the farmer as a block, the strength of the rural vote would increase to 14 percent. If those who pass these products through the channels of trade were counted, the total goes up to 24 percent. The processors and manufacturers of these goods would swell the total to 37 percent. Retailers of the ultimate product increases the strength to 56 percent.

And finally, those who sell the farmer only those tools and materials needed to produce his crop brings the grand total to 63 percent of our voting strength. Of course, all of us rely on agriculture for our daily needs. Hardly another single industry affects the entire population so directly.

The primary conclusion to be drawn from this is—that the fate of agriculture, its leaders and its legislation—is of concern to us all. For this reason, it is very important that every citizen know the man and issues which will guide and affect our agricultural outlook. And then VOTE!

Farm News

Parmer County Farm Bureau News

by Raymond Euler

Rhea Farm Bureau had one of the best 4th of July get-together meetings they have ever had. One political candidate walked through a mile or two of mud to get there, they say.

Several Parmer county men are checking location of bindweed plots on state highway right of ways the first part of this week. The accumulated information will be turned over to Lloyd Killough, of the Department, who will see that these plots are treated, provided the farmer adjoining has treated his. Have you?

American Farm Bureau is opposing efforts being promoted to increase farmers social security benefits and taxes. The proposal being offered would require payment of 7½% up to $6,000 in 1975, or a payment, in addition to Federal Income Tax, of $427.50. As usual, there is also a provision for Federal Health "Benefits" included in the proposal. Farm Bureau is continuing its opposition to proposals leading to socialized medicine, too.

We think the following subject is of vital interest to agricultural people: If anyone who reads this column has any leaning toward, or any sympathy whatever for Walter Reuther or the things he stands for regarding labor, agriculture or otherwise, we hope they will consider the last line of a letter he wrote to his brother while he (Walter) was attending a training school in Russia: "Carry on the fight for a Soviet America." He has never denied he wrote it. Yet he poses as a friend to American Labor, Agriculture and all other groups outside of big industrialists. Compare the plight of Russian labor and agriculture with the American brand, if you haven't.

Farm Safety Week Proclaimed July 20

"The health, prosperity, and well-being of our rural families are vital to the strength of the Nation and accidents suffered by rural residents result in thousands of deaths and injuries each year and constitute a serious social and economic problem," said President Eisenhower in his proclamation announcing National Farm Safety Week for 1958.

In setting the week of July 20 as Farm Safety Week, the President also said, "Experience has shown that these accidents can be reduced through educational programs directed toward safety precautions in the homes, in the fields, and on the highways of the Nation. I, therefore, call upon the people of the Nation to observe Farm Safety Week and urge all farm families and all persons allied with agriculture to join in a continuing campaign to prevent needless accidents."

The Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council has pledged their support to this campaign and join the President in requesting all persons and organizations interested in the welfare of farm people to participate in National Farm Safety Week activities.

In the United States last year, almost 13,000 farm people lost their lives in accidents and more than a million suffered injuries. The Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council suggests that a little checking be done in every neighborhood for the purpose of finding and eliminating accident hazards. "How many persons do you know who have suffered crippling injuries and how many neighbors are gone forever because of an accident?"

"Only by finding the cause and then making sure the same mistake isn't made by someone else, can we cut the farm and home toll of accidents," say the Councilmen. "Safety," they point out, "works for you when you work for safety." Don't tempt fate in '58 but put safety to work on your farm. It will save you time and money, and could save your life or a member of your family. Safety is that important, conclude the Councilmen.

Weekly Cotton Insect Report

Wind, sand, and hail damage to cotton has been much greater than that caused by insects. All cotton in the area has suffered wind and sand damage. Scattered locations had cotton severely damaged or destroyed by hail. No heavy infestations of insects were reported.

Thrips were present on cotton in light to medium infestations throughout the area. A majority of plantings showed satisfactory fruit set, indicating damage from thrips had decreased.

Fleahoppers were reported present in light to medium infestations in an increasing number of fields. Populations had increased somewhat over the previous week. Although control applications were made to additional plantings, only scattered fields have been treated for fleahopper control.

Lygus bugs caused damage to cotton in part of Terry county, and were present in small numbers in most fields. Aphids, cabbage loopers, grasshoppers, and garden webworms were reported in restricted areas of fields in plantings throughout the area.
