3,100 BALLOTS CAST IN LYNN

Much Interest Shown In Second Primary Election By Lynn County's Voters

In the second Democratic primary held last Saturday, much interest was shown and a comparatively heavy vote polled, though the total number of votes cast in the county was about 400 less than the number cast in the July primary. Approximately 3,100 votes were cast Saturday as against 3,491 polled in July.

There were only two contests for county offices, two for county commissioner and one for public weigher.

In the race for county superintendent, Prof. H. P. Caveness, the present incumbent, defeated Mrs. Paul Gooch of O'Donnell by a majority of 452, Caveness receiving 1760 and Mrs. Gooch 1308.

In the contest for tax assessor and collector, A. M. Cade, present collector, also won over his opponent, Edgar Edwards. Cade received 1784 votes and Edwards 1298.

Geo. W. Small of Tahoka, candidate for commissioner of precinct No. 1, defeated J. D. Hord of Southland by a majority of 183. Small received 675 votes and Hord 492.

In commissioners precinct No. 3,

Baptist Church Calls New Pastor

Rev. Geo. A. Dale of Madill, Oklahoma, has notified the Baptist Church here of his acceptance of the call to the pastorate extended him a couple of weeks ago. He expects to arrive in Tahoka about September 11.

Rev. Dale filled the pulpit here a few weeks ago and met many of the members of the church. He made a distinctly fine impression, and the Baptists feel confident that they have a worthy successor of the able pastors who have been here in recent years.

Merchants Planning Contests Saturday

Can you catch a guinea?
If you can there may be a dollar in it for you.

At any rate you will have a chance to show your skill in this line in Tahoka next Saturday. A number of the business men have planned a bit of amusement for those who may wish to indulge. At intervals of one-half hour throughout the day, a guinea will be thrown into the air on North Main Street, and the person catching the fowl and presenting it to the proprietor of the store will be presented one whole dollar.

A large crowd is expected to be present and participate in the fun. Of course you will want to be in the push. The festivities will begin at 11:30 and close at 4 p. m.

Singing Convention For Old-Timers

The News has received the following announcement of a singing convention to be held Sunday.

"The old-timers annual singing convention will be held at Caryn Sunday, September 2. Singing will begin at 10 or 10:30 o'clock. We urge everybody to be present. Dinner will be spread on the ground. Come, bring your lunch, and stay all day.—Reporter"

Governor-Elect

JAMES V. ALLRED

Allred Is Elected Texas' Governor

After one of the most bitter campaigns in recent years, Attorney-General James V. Allred defeated Tom Hunter of Wichita Falls for the Democratic nomination for governor by a majority of about 45,000 votes in the run-off primary held last Saturday.

In the first primary, held July 28, Allred led Hunter by about 56,000 votes. C. C. McDonald, Clint Small, Edgar Witt, and Maury Hughes were eliminated. Following that contest, McDonald and his political chieftain, James E. Ferguson, announced their support of Hunter, and it was freely predicted that most of the Ferguson-McDonald strength would go to Hunter in the run-off. Clint Small and Edgar Witt also announced their support of Hunter. Hughes made no public announcement but his following in the first primary was negligible. In the face of these combined forces, Allred staged one of the most determined and brilliant fights in the Farmers of Lynn county who have cotton ready to gin now may obtain Interim Tax Exemption Certificates at the county agent's office, according to C. A. Lawrence, assistant county agent. Mr. Lawrence states that these are temporary certificates to be used only where a farmer will have cotton to be ginned before the regular certificates are received, and will be issued only to those who have cotton ready to gin now.

Practically all the applications for Tax Exemption Certificates have been sent to the State Allotment Board, and it is expected that the regular certificates will be received in about two weeks.

Wilson School Is Building Gym

The Wilson Independent School District has begun construction of a combined auditorium and gymnasium. The building will be about 60 feet by 100 feet in size, one story, and is to cost about $15,000. The present auditorium in the high school building is to be converted into a study hall and class rooms.

Wilson is one of the most progressive school centers in Lynn county and has long boasted of the efficiency of its schools.

He carried every county in the district except Lubbock, Judge Mullican's home county, King, and Yoakum. Mullican carried Yoakum county by two votes. Only 152 votes were polled in King county and Mullican received 92 of these. No report has been obtained from Borden county, but it is in Mahon's judicial district and he carried it by an overwhelming majority. Practically complete returns give Mahon 35,029 and Mullican 19,165.

The figures for the twenty-four counties reporting, all of which give complete returns except six, are found below. A few scattering Announcement is made by B. J. It is now an Association under the Cooperative Marketing Act, instead of a Society as formerly operated.

Management of the Association is now in the hands of the board of directors, which is composed of the following: B. J. Emanuel, president; E. J. Cooper, secretary; M. E. McCord, Terry Noble, G. L. Cobb, I. B. Hill, and W. P. Inman. Claude Donaldson, who has been connected with the business for the past three years, will continue as manager.

Government Ready For Sheep Buying

Applications for the sale of sheep and goats in the Government buying program are now being received at the county agent's offices, according to V. F. Jones.

It is necessary that all the sheep that will be offered for sale be made before the buying can start. Mr. Jones says, "If you want to sell some sheep in this program, list them with the county agent. The only class of sheep that will be bought is ewes one year old and over."

County Superintendent and Mrs. H. P. Caveness left Tuesday morning for a few days visit with relatives at McGehee and possibly other points in East Texas. Mr. Caveness also has some business matters to look after in Coryell county.

Rains Improve Crop Prospects

The News was scarcely off the press last week when it began raining. The country received the best soaking Thursday night it has received this year. The rainfall that night and early Friday morning amounted to 1.05 inches in Tahoka. A light sprinkle amounting to .03 of an inch had fallen Wednesday night. On Friday night it rained again, .34 of an inch, and on Monday night a sprinkle of .02. This makes a total of 1.44 inches that has fallen in Tahoka.

In a large portion of the county the rainfall was heavier than it was here, notably to the west and northwest as well as in the extreme southeast corner. In much of the territory east of Tahoka, however, the precipitation was not quite as heavy as it was in Tahoka. Wilson possibly received a little more rain than Tahoka while O'Donnell probably did not receive quite so much.

These rains fell gently for the most part and thoroughly wet the soil to a depth of several inches. Already the fields of feedstuffs that had become brown and seared by the summer heat have taken on new life and growth and the yield now promises to be two or three times as much as it would have been without the rain. Many acres of cotton also have been greatly helped. Some of the cotton had suffered and shriveled up to the extent that any amount of rain now probably would not do it much good, but there is much other cotton that promises now to make a fair yield, especially if winter weather does not come too soon.

This was decidedly the best rain we have had this year. Practically all of the previous rains have been mere showers. A total of 2.20 inches were recorded here in May but this came in a number of light showers, each of which was soon dried out by the high wind that prevailed. June brought us 1.63 inches, but this likewise came in several installments and did not sink into the soil. In the entire month of July we had only .31 of an inch, while we had not had a drop of rain in August till the shower Wednesday night, August 22. Furthermore there had been practically no rain during the fall and winter months, so that this drouth had become about the most serious of any in many years.

More Rain Falls Here

One of the heaviest rains that have fallen in this section in years visited Tahoka and the surrounding territory this afternoon. The government rain gage kept by the News registered 2.82 inches. The major portion of the precipitation fell within two hours time.

As a result of this rain the lakes in and around Tahoka are filling rapidly. The streets and sidewalks in town were flooded. Perhaps more water flowed down the streets during and immediately following the rain than during any similar period of time in ten years.

Reports are to the effect that the rainfall extended eight to ten miles north, about the same distance west about six miles south, and nine miles east, though the heaviest rainfall seemed to be in and near Tahoka.

DISEASED TEETH MAY BE CAUSE OF MANY DISEASES

Austin, August 29.—A fact that is not generally understood, according to Dr. John W. Brown, is that diseased teeth frequently may be associated with disease manifestations in other parts of the body. The inter-relation and inter-dependence of the various parts which comprise this miraculous bodily mechanism are so sensitive that in many many instances when matters go amiss, not only is the location of the infection affected but other parts become involved also.

Thus diseased teeth or gums may directly develop an infection of the nose, eye, head sinuses, the stomach, and even the intestinal tract. Again, germs from a diseased mouth may be transported by the blood stream to the kidneys or heart, thus causing serious trouble frequently ending fatally. Even such extremely painful and tenacious conditions as neuritis and arthritis can often be directly traced to infections in and around the teeth.

lege, and was preparing for aeronautical engineering at the University of Texas when chosen to accompany Admiral Byrd to the South Pole regions. Tractor experience in West Texas wheat fields qualified Hill as a member of the expedition's winter party, tractor division, whose activities are reported every Wednesday night at 8 o'clock Central Time over the coast-to-coast Columbia network.

Texas Lady Tells How Black-Draught Laxative Helps All Her Family

Here's how Black-Draught fills the needs of a family laxative in the home of Mrs. J. S. Stoker, Fort Worth, Texas: "The grown-ups in my family," she writes, "have always taken powdered Theodor's Black-Draught for biliousness, headaches and other ailments (due to constipation) and found it a reliable remedy. I was very pleased when I saw Syrup of Black-Draught advertised. I bought it and gave it to my little daughters, ages 6 and 4. They needed something to cleanse their systems and Syrup of Black-Draught acted well." Your druggist sells this reliable laxative in both forms. "Children like the Syrup."

PASSENGER RATES ARE REDUCED BY RAILROADS

The railroads have decided to extend until Sept. 30, 1935, the present low passenger fares, based on three cents per mile for first class tickets, and two cents per mile for coach travel, according to announcement made by Mr. T. B. Gallaher, General Passenger Agent, Santa Fe Lines, Amarillo, Texas.

Round trip first class tickets cost two cents per mile traveled when the limit is ten days or two and one half cents per mile when the limit is six months. The round trip coach tickets with limit of ten days in addition to date of sale, cost but one and eight tenths cents per mile, a most remarkable fare for individual travel. These rates are not applicable to points in territory east of Chicago and St. Louis, however, through passengers are given benefit of the low fares up to these points.

Conventional travel, is accorded, when reduced fares are arranged for specific meetings, rates based on one and one third of the first class fare, which nets two cents per mile traveled in western or southeastern territory, but slightly higher to points east of Chicago and St. Louis.

It is reported that these low fares are appealing to the traveling public, causing many people formerly using private autos to again travel by rail.

Church News

There was an attendance of 96 at Sunday School last Sabbath Day. There was no church service as it was the pastor's day at Grassland.

Last Sunday evening a group of young people met at the Draw Methodist Church to hold their League services. The crowd numbered 28. Marvin Wheeler was the leader, and an interesting program was rendered.

Last Thursday evening the church gave a social honoring Mr. and Mrs. D. G. Cook, who have moved to Grassland. A large crowd attended the social and an enjoyable time was had by all. Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Thorpe were in charge of the amusements, while Sister Wheeler managed other things.

Gildersleeve and sons returned home the first of the week after spending the past month visiting friends and relatives in Minnesota and Nebraska and attending the Rural Letter Carriers convention at Denver, Colorado. Thanks

I take this method to thank the people of Lynn county for the vote given me in my race for County Superintendent, and especially do I thank the many friends who worked so tirelessly in my behalf.

To me the campaign was not a defeat. I have made friends in every community. I have not criticized my opponents, hoping to rise by their downfall, or made any promises to get votes.

I congratulate Mr. Caveness, who was so fortunate as to be re-elected. It will be my duty and pleasure to extend to him the fullest co-operation to this office.

MRS. PAUL GOOCH.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC

Any erroneous reflection upon the reputation or standing of any individual, firm or corporation, that may appear in the columns of The News will be gladly corrected when called to our attention.

One of the fine things about American politics is that the ordinary individual has learned how to be a good loser or a good winner as the case may be. There is little gloating these days over the prostrate form of a defeated candidate. There is little evidence of the ghoulish glee exhibited in an earlier day over the downfall of a political enemy. We have learned that the other fellow was probably just as sincere in his choice, just as devoted to principle, just as patriotic and unselfish as we claim to be ourselves. While we and thousands of other Texas citizens rejoice that Jimmie Allred has been nominated as the Democratic candidate for governor, and while we believe that he is decidedly the best man that offered for the position this year, yet we recognize the fact that others were just as devoted to their idols and their ideals, and that while we are rejoicing they are suffering the keenest disappointment. So, we have no disposition to "crow" over the victory, just a fervent wish that Allred may have the sympathetic cooperation of the vast majority of the people of Texas and that he may make a great governor.

The young district attorney from Colorado goes to congress as the first representative of the new 19th district. We predict that Mahon will remain in congress for many years and will become eventually one of the most useful and influential members of that body. It is fitting that a young man should go from the new district. It is gratifying too that a young man of brilliant attainments and fine moral character, such as Mahon possesses, should be selected to represent this great people of the south plains in the nation's congress. Mahon is of that type of man who will become humbled rather than arrogant by the tremendous majority by which he was elected. He will become an intense student of national and international affairs so as to be prepared at all times to represent his district and his country with the highest degree of intelligence and wisdom. He has the most genuine sympathy for the common people, for he has been brought up as one of them, and his ability to remember names and faces is remarkable. He possesses all the qualities of mind and soul necessary to make of him a great tribune of the people. All hail to George Mahon!

Now that the election is behind us, we rise to remark that there was entirely too much mudslinging in a few of the races. We do not object to a candidate criticising his opponent when there are real grounds for criticism. If a candidate has defects of character, is lacking in ability, or for any reason is unfit to serve in the position he seeks, the people have a right to know it, and it may become the right and even the duty of his opponent to fairly point out these defects and disqualifications. But it is highly improper for a candidate to grossly magnify the faults of an opponent. When any candidate becomes a mere carping critic or an unscrupulous mud-slinger, it is high time for him to be retired from politics. Likewise when the advocate of any candidate goes about lying on his opponent and attempting to smear him with slime, he should be given a rebuke that he will not soon forget. What we need in politics is not wrangling over insignificant or unimportant matters, not mud-slinging nor muck-raking, but the simple truth about candidates and issues.

The fact that beer may be legally sold in Texas makes it more difficult to enforce the laws against the traffic in hard liquors. That is one of the chief reasons so many of us opposed the legalization of the sale of beer. But it should be remembered that hard liquors are yet taboo in Texas, and officers of the law should redouble their efforts to enforce these laws.

In this issue we publish a statement made by Judge Mullican, defeated candidate for congress. We want to compliment Judge Mullican for knowing how to "take it on the chin." He exhibits a spirit of sportsmanship that is not always found in a defeated candidate. May he live long and prosper.

We wonder when candidates for office will learn that it avails them nothing to make extravagant pre-election claims. Most candidates are guilty of this fault. In the first primary Jimmie Allred suggested the possibility of his winning over all opponents. On the eve of the election Edgar Witt repeatedly claimed that he was assured of more than 300,000 votes. On the night before the second primary Tom Hunter told his home people that he was sure of a majority of not less than 200,000. If any of these gentlemen really believed their claims to be approximately correct, then they are easily duped. The probabilities are that these and other claims were made for purely political purposes. Yet, we doubt if they had much effect on the actual vote cast for any of the candidates. We hope the time will come when candidates will be candid and truthful in discussing their political prospects.

We wish to repeat that Jimmie Allred made one of the most remarkable races for governor in the history of this state. With practically all his opponents centering their fire upon him in the first primary, he led the field of six candidates by a plurality of about 56,000 over his nearest opponent. Then, in the run-off, practically all the defeated contestants lined up for Hunter, and in addition to this Jim Ferguson threw his full strength to Hunter. But Allred whipped the whole bunch to a "fare-you-well." Barring some picaresque criticism of his opponent that might well have been omitted, his campaign speeches were masterpieces, and he proved himself to be a power on the stump. He may be reckoned with for many years to come as a power in Texas politics. Jimmie Allred has arrived.

GOVERNMENT SHOULD STOP PROFITEERING

Something should be done by the government to put a stop to the profiteering which is now being practiced by certain dealers in commodities which people are compelled to buy. To take advantage of the necessities of the people during normal times is bad enough but to force them to pay enormous profits during the times of their distress is indefensible.

Probably the cotton seed oil mills are the greatest offenders at the present time. The cottonseed from which the cake and meal they are now selling was purchased last fall at not to exceed $7 a ton and some of it was bought as low as $6 a ton. The oil which was obtained from this seed was probably sold for enough to pay for the seed and for the cost of processing.

But now that the drought has caused almost a complete failure of feed crops and the pastures are brown and bare and the people must have feed for their starving livestock, these oil mills are taking advantage of the necessities of the people and are demanding $42 a ton for cottonseed cake and meal—from six to seven times as much as they paid for the cottonseed which went into these products.

Every business institution is entitled to a legitimate profit upon its products. This might be increased to a reasonable amount during certain times when conditions are unsettled and when all prices are advancing rapidly, but to charge from 500 to 600 per cent profit upon the things which people must have is not only unreasonable, it is positively criminal.

If the federal government has the authority to dictate to a business institution what wages it shall pay and what number of hours it may work its employees, it should demand that it shall not sell its products below the actual cost of production. It evidently has sufficient authority to prevent unreasonable and vicious profiteering.

Unless something is done before the ginning season opens up this fall the oil mills may find themselves without any cottonseed for the coming year. Farmers will refuse to sell them their seed at prices which will permit such enormous profits. Instead the livestock growers will buy the seed direct from the farmers and will feed the whole seed to their cattle and sheep.—Livingston Leader.

George Small Thanks Voters
I want to thank my friends throughout commission's precinct No. 1 for the splendid vote they gave me last Saturday. Especially am I proud of the overwhelming majority given me in Tahoka. It is an evidence of confidence and esteem that I shall ever cherish. It is my purpose to give the people of this precinct the very best service of which I am capable, and I thank you all.

PRODUCTION CREDIT CORPORATION TO HELP FARMERS

Farmers who are good credit risks will find their local production credit associations ready to help them put in a feed or forage crop for winter use if the farmers live in any of the sections of Texas where such crops will have a chance to mature before killing frosts come, according to Tully C. Garner, president of the Production Credit Corporation of Houston.

Because of the unusual conditions produced by the long drought, Mr. Garner pointed out, the feed situation has become serious in many counties in Texas and, wherever possible, the Production Credit Corporation of Houston wants to help the farmers to get feed crops planted before it is too late.

"We are lending every encouragement to production credit associations," he said, "in consideration of applications from producers in the sections of the state favored by climatic and soil conditions to produce feed crops for this year.

"It is our thought," he continued, "that where climatic and soil conditions will justify, farmers should plant early maturing feed crops to assist them in going through the winter and starting their spring farming program. We hope to take care of the many deserving, eligible persons in the pursuance of this program."

Farm Improvement Work Progressing

Austin, Aug. 29.—Checks totaling approximately $235,000, representing the Federal Government's allotment to Texas counties for rural rehabilitation projects, were being paid out today for administrators in 146 Texas counties.

The bulk of this money, according to J. E. Stanford, head of the rural rehabilitation department of the Texas Relief Commission, will be used to lease and repair farm houses with sufficient tillable land to produce food and feed requirements of the families who will occupy them. A part of the fund also will go for such capital goods as milk cows, laying hens, meat hogs, brood sows, and supplementary feed for livestock. Still another part of the money will be used in the building of rural work centers, where citizens of the community may find employment during their spare time.

The "big push" in the rural rehabilitation program, Stanford said, will be in September and October, at which time most of the constructional work will be done in order to have clients established in their homes before winter. The rural rehabilitation program hopes to take thousands of families from relief rolls and establish them permanently in these new rural homes.

Up till Tuesday of this week, sixteen applications for improvements had been made in Lynn county and several contracts had been signed.

Nance Children Are Bitten By Mad Dog

J. B. Nance received the startling information Sunday that his daughter, Christine, 11, and his grand-daughter, Bettie Joe Nance, were bitten by a mad dog at Tyler, where the family resides, on last Friday.

An examination of the dog's brain showed that the animal was afflicted with rabies and the children were immediately taken to the Pasteur Institute at Austin for treatment. Of course Mr. Nance is very much concerned about the possible consequences notwithstanding the fact that the physicians have given assurances that no serious results will follow. Medical science long ago learned how to prevent hydrophobia if treatment is begun in time.

Several other Tyler people were bitten by the same dog that bit the Nance children, it is said, and they too are taking treatment.

Devil's Sinkhole Is Door To Cave

Devil's Sink Hole, near Rock-springs in Edwards county, long an unprobed mystery of nature, is to be exploited as the "largest cavern in the United States."

Dr. Frank Nicholson, who is considered an outstanding authority on caverns and caves, is directing the removal of vast deposits of bat guano and hopes to have the cavern ready for tourists by 1936.

Recently when the first official party went through the explored region of the phenomenon, two employees of the Big Spring Daily Herald were along. They were Ray McMahon and W. W. Pendleton.

They witnessed the taking of the first flashlight pictures ever taken in the inexplicable sink hole and were the guests of J. W. Hutt, editor of the Rocksprings Record, at a dinner following the exploration party.

Forty years ago, Hutt told McMahon and Pendleton, he looked into the abyss, threw rocks down and listened a few moments after the faint reverberation resounded from the bottom of the pit. He filed a story with a Chicago paper, telling of the hole.

But not much came of the story. It was only comparatively recently that explorations of the hole were made. And now Rocksprings natives suddenly awake to find that they have a national drawing card in their backyard.

Standing on the brink of the sink hole, only a fathomless darkness appears below.

To enter the cavern, one must be lowered 271 feet down the sink hole. At that level it is possible to stand on the peak of a mountain within a mountain.

Then there is another decline of 200 feet down the side of the mountain to the base. Seventy-five feet below the base of the mountain there is a crystal clear lake in which Dr. Nicholson and Barton Dismukes of Rocksprings went swimming. The water is chemically pure and has a temperature of around 40 degrees. It is so clear that rocks covered with snow-white crystalline can be perfectly discerned at the bottom of 40 feet of water.

Dr. Nicholson contemplates installation of elevators and pathways in the caverns and other improvements not to exceed a private expenditure of $40,000.—Big Spring Herald.

PHILLIPS PETROLEUM TO FURNISH BOOK COVERS

Supt. Pace received a shipment of book covers sufficient to supply the needs of the local school recently. These covers are furnished through the courtesy of the Phillips Petroleum Company. In addition to having free text books each child will be furnished a cover with which to cover each book furnished by the state.

"The Board of Education, the Administration and the patrons of this independent district are indeed grateful to the Phillips Petroleum Company for this splendid type of service rendered the children of our District," Mr. Pace said Tuesday.

Mrs. Wiley Fortenberry, J. W. and Genell and Mrs. J. R. McIntyre visited the latter's sister in Amarillo over the week end.

Delegation Visits State Legion Meet

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Dye, Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Davis, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Oliver, C. W. Conway and Milt Finch attended the state meeting of the American Legion held in Mineral Wells Monday and Tuesday.

They report a great meeting with between 2,000 and 3,000 visitors present. They also report a most interesting program. Among the speakers were National Commander Ed Hays of Decatur, Ill., and other high officials. Senator Tom Connally, Attorney-General James V. Allred, and several Texas congressmen were also present, some of them addressing the convention.

District Attorney G. H. Nelson is attending court in Brownfield this week, court having convened and the grand jury having been empaneled Monday morning.

Mrs. Dewey Nicholson and children returned Monday from Merkel, where they spent the summer with Mrs. Nicholson's father and family.

Land of Wooden Shoes at New Fair

Windmills, dikes and canals of the Netherlands will be reproduced in this Dutch village of the new World's Fair which opens in Chicago May 26. It is one of fifteen "foreign villages" which will offer the visitor a "tour of the world" in a single day. The new Fair will have 84 miles of free exhibits. Music, fireworks, free public spectacles and free entertainment will be attractive features. Cost to visitors will be less than last year, when the average visitor spent only $1.17 a day inside the grounds. Chicago's beautiful June weather makes that month an opportune time to visit the entirely completed Fair and see it while it is fresh.

years. He is not and never has been a soldier of fortune. He is just an old cowman who has followed the cattle trails all over the western hemisphere—and sometimes these have been trails of danger.

He wears a round brimmed Stetson hat—the sort of hat Francisco "Pancho" Villa once wore—and his body is browned and burned and trimmed down like a clipper ship. About his eyes are seams made by squinting for a half century into the hot suns and winds of southern lands.

With these eyes he has seen President Porfirio Diaz heading parades down the streets of Mexico City while the peons mutter: "No frijoles, no dinero, mucho trabajo, pero viva Diaz."

He has seen Villa and his guerrillas galloping on stolen horses through the streets of northern Mexico villages. And he knew Francisco Madero when the martyred president was a young man.

From the 80's to the present day he has lived in Mexico, Brazil, Nicaragua, Columbia and he has watched the little Latin nations playing their war games, games which he believes they will play no longer.

Only a few years ago, in 1929, a revolution broke out in the three northernmost states of Mexico, and much of the fighting was in the vicinity of Santa Clara which is 200 miles south of El Paso.

"I was driving home one evening. A gang of rebels stopped my car at a bend in the road. The soldiers held the nozzles of high-powered rifles in my face while their leaders held a sort of caucus.

"I heard them say that they were going to hold me for ransom. I yelled that nobody would pay 10c for my hide. Then they went into another pow-wow, and after a while a big Mexican walked over and said, 'Gringo, go before we kill you.'"

"There will be no more revolution in Mexico," Mr. Wooten says. "Since 1929 the people have begun to realize the futility of revolutions. That is, all except the Yaquis. If there is any trouble, the Yaquis are usually mixed up in it."

One of Villal's old headquarters was in the mountains near the Santa Clara ranch. Now there are only rotting brush breastworks and many torn sod to mark the spot. But once the place was alive with ragged and heavily armed Villistas.

The Santa Clara ranch suffered much of Villa. The founder of the ranch, an Englishman named Benton, went to Juarez during the Villa-Carranza revolution to ask a favor of Pancho. He went to the office of the half-breed general. Villa was sitting at a desk.

"May I drive a herd of cattle through the town to the United States?" Benton asked.

"No," said Pancho. Benton continued to press his request. A look of annoyance appeared on Villa's swart face. He shot Benton neatly through the head.

This little incident almost embroiled Mexico in a war with Great Britain, Mr. Wooten said.

Wooten was in Saltillo, Coahuila the day Villa was delivered from the Saltillo jail and the clutches of his enemy, Victoriano Huerta, chief general of Madero's army, by a gang of "Dorados." Madero was later assassinated, supposedly by Huerta or his supporters.

Of Villa Mr. Wooten has a poor opinion.

"He looked like an Indian. He dressed like a vaquero. And he was always loaded down with cartridge belts. More cartridges than a man should use in a life time."

Mr. Wooten was working on a railroad between Tampico and San Luis Potosi during the years 1888 and 1889. He often visited at the rancho of Francisco Madero at San Pedro, Durango.

About any friendship or alliance between Pancho and Madero, Mr. Wooten is very vague. Pancho joined the main body of the revolutionists in 1910 in order to secure pardons from Madero.

After a half dozen years in Mexico, Wooten drifted southward to Central America and into the swirl of Nicaraguan revolution. President Theodore Roosevelt broke up the revolution, and Wooten got a job on the Panama canal construction. The French were working on the canal then. The dates?

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Thomas and son Skiles returned last Friday from a pleasure trip which carried them through the states of New Mexico, Colorado, Wyoming, Montana, Idaho, Utah, Arizona, and again through New Mexico. They spent a couple of days in Yellowstone Park and saw much magnificent mountain scenery in several of the states visited.

Texans Of Stephen F. Austin's Day Could Not Visualize State Today

Although he had a vision of an empire in Texas, Stephen F. Austin, the great colonizer, could not mirror the Texas that is today.

Although his compatriots of the same era of the early 1830's, Green DeWitt, Edwards, and others predicted great things for the undeveloped empire they were founding, they could not foresee the mighty commonwealth of a century later.

With dogged perseverance Stephen F. Austin, "Father of Texas," stood by his purpose, including time in prisons, long sojourns among a strange people in a strange country, distinguished service in civil life, finally to fall a victim of pneumonia just a short time after he had been made Secretary of State in the Texas Republic by Sam Houston.

For three days he had labored in the quaint capitol building at Columbia on the Brazos River. The weather was cold, there was no heat and the fatal disease took hold. His last act was for Texas. His last hours were spent in framing documents for presentation to the United States government which eventually was to result in the annexation of the Republic of Texas.

He lay in State at the capitol for two days and was buried on the estate of a sister near Velasco.

It is a far cry from the Texas of the days of Stephen F. Austin and the Texas of today.

It is this century of progress that the State will celebrate with its great Centennial exposition in 1936. That century of advancement is one of the outstanding events of all history.

Then schools were few, the buildings were of log. The children tracked an unmarked wilderness in some cases for miles to reach the little building where one teacher for a period of three or four months taught the rudiments of an education to a mixed assembly of children and of grades.

Then most of the settlers were along the rivers, because there was no method of transportation, save by water, ox wagon or on foot.

Then no oil fields, no gas fields, no coal mines, no mighty manufacturing plants dotted the landscape over the broad expanse of the State.

One of Austin's colonists, in a letter which has been preserved, even writes that a Bible could not be found in the settlement.

From the oppression of a despotic government the colonists rebelled. They were commanded by the former Governor of Tennessee, the bosom friend of Andrew Jackson, General Sam Houston. On the field of San Jacinto the few hundreds of men under General Houston won the sixteenth decisive battle of world history, this on April 21, of 1836.

But prior to that on March 2 at old Washington-on-the-Brazos a band of Texans had solemnly declared that State to be free and independent Republic. They realized in the making of that Declaration they were inviting and most certainly would endure a sanguinary conflict with the enemy.

In the conflict intervening bloody battles were fought.

As a result Texas has its sacred shrine of the Alamo. It has its Lexington—Gonzales. It has its Goliad. It has its ancient mission and fortress of Refugio. It has the thrilling events centering around Nacoches.

Texans of today have a century of romance, a century marked by valiant deeds of men and women, a century registering the most phenomenal progress ever recorded by a people to celebrate in 1936.

It is in commemoration of this past, which shall be the outstanding feature of the celebration, that Texas will hold its Centennial of 1936.

While it is paying due and proper homage to the founders of our present civilization, it shall also, in this Centennial, accurately portray the progress of the century along material, spiritual, cultural, educational, social and business lines.

By contrast will be shown the few rude implements of civilization available in 1836, and how heroic has been the struggle to build from that beginning into the present proud empire State.

Edgar Edwards Grateful

I wish I were able to make the people know how grateful I am for the splendid vote given me for tax assessor and collector at the polls last Saturday.

I have the deepest sense of gratitude to those who voted for me and only the kindest feelings for those who did not vote for me. I have no ill will whatever in my heart toward those who did not support me.

Furthermore, I appreciate the unfailing courtesy with which I was treated by the voters during the two campaigns, and I sincerely treasure the many new friends and acquaintances that I made.

Again I thank you all.

EDGAR W. EDWARDS

Bussell Expresses Gratitude

I find words too feeble to express my gratitude to the people of this precinct for electing me public weigher last Saturday. I wish to especially thank the good ladies in Tahoka and elsewhere who took the time and trouble to go out and do some electioneering for me.

The only way in which I can repay this kindness and prove my appreciation is to give the very best service possible, which it shall be my earnest endeavor to do. I shall ever strive to serve and to please the farmers and others who may have dealings with the public weigher.

W. P. BUSSELL

Mullican Thanks District Voters To The People of The 19th Congressional District:

"This is to thank my good friends and neighbors of Lubbock and all counties of this District for their unswerving loyalty and support in my race for Congress.

"To the victor belong the spoils, but I assure you the vanquished is equally happy in the knowledge that he fought a good fight and kept the faith and that he has so conducted his campaign as to have nothing to look back upon with regret.

"The people have made their choice. The Democratic voice has spoken. Now let us all cast aside our campaign prejudices and feelings and unite behind the young man who assumes the mantle of responsibility, to the end that he may achieve for the common good.

"I salute the first Congressman from the 19th District. I extend sincere congratulations and all good wishes, together with my warm personal friendship.

"To those who have worked and traveled and labored so faithfully and untiringly in my behalf, I express my thanks and appreciation. You have been my friends; I assure you I am yours, now and forever.

"To those who opposed me, I have only the highest admiration for your sportsmanship and your fairness. With few exceptions you have been a gallant and friendly bunch, and I have enjoyed the contest of 'thrust and parry' with you immensely. There are no scars to heal and no regrets to offer.

"I salute you all, and wish for our united people the hope of the future, which is the attainment of happiness and contentment as our goal in life." Sincerely,

CLARK M. MULLICAN

In the Sunbeam Band, Willella Nelson was the winner. The Intermediate contest in the G. A. work was won by Greta Joyce Applewhite, while Miss Pearl

D. Rogers won the Junior G. A. contest with an original essay which she read from memory.

In the Missionary Scrap Book contest, the Lucille Reagan and Sallee Circles of Tahoka tied for first place, while the Blanche Rose Walker Circle won third place. This was the first time scrap books had been exhibited and those from Tahoka were the only entries.

After dinner the guests were entertained with games, parlor stunts, music, and other amusements.

At a late hour the girls enjoyed a swim. Most of the crowd were ready for the "slumber" part of the entertainment but four of five very mischievous girls would not have it so. They kept the house ringing with music, singing, and laughter the entire night.

The guests were: Misses Florine Server, Annie Laurie Blakney, Lois and Natalia Crosby, Lillian Snodgrass, Elsie, Goldie, and Norma Pendleton, Margaret Sue Hines, Tommye Ruth Dulin, Marjorie Key, Marjory and Estelle Lamb, Eva Pearl Williamson, Maurine Hamilton, Grace Crews, and hostesses, Geraldine, Evelyn, and Zelta Campbell.

MAE WEST FILM, "I'M NO ANGEL," SENSATIONAL HIT

With all the traditional fireworks of the old Wild West shows, Mae West, screenom's current sensation comes here Sunday, Monday and Tuesday in her new picture, "I'm No Angel" at the English Theatre. Mae set herself a difficult task bettering her first picture, "She Done Him Wrong," which lifted her to the top of the cinematic ladder and made her a world idol, but she has succeeded!

From every standpoint—story, star performance, songs, wise-cracks, production value—"I'm No Angel" excels Miss West's previous picture.

It is a modern yarn, skillfully concocted by Miss West herself, presenting her in the picturesque characterization of a rowdy, wise-cracking carnival dancer and singer. She becomes a lion tamer, has nerve enough to put her head in the lion's mouth, and becomes a sensation in a big New York circus. There she captivates society millionaires.

Miss West contributes an acting performance that explains why Paris has acclaimed her as a successor of Lillian Russell, Rejane and Bernhardt. She sings five "scorch" songs, dances a glorified shimmy number known as "the midway," wears tights, enters a cage with savage lions, and wise-cracks.

Her supporting cast is a splendid one, headed by Cary Grant as her "tall, dark and handsome" sweetheart. Kent Taylor, Edward Arnold, Gregory Ratoff, Ralf Harolde, Dorothy Peterson, Gertrude Michael, Russell Hopton and William B. Davidson also have prominent roles. "I'm No Angel" was screened skillfully by Wesley Ruggles.

Central

You should see the smiles of everyone since the rain Thursday.

New Teacher Of Expression Coming

Miss Anna Ray Bishop, the new teacher of Expression in Tahoka schools, will be here Saturday, and she would like to see as many parents as possible during the first few days of school who would like to have their children take Expression. Supt. J. B. Pace Jr. stated to the News Tuesday.

"In addition to individual work with each pupil, she plans group lessons for the smaller children organized into a Children's Theatre." Mr. Pace further stated. "This work will include the dramatization of stories, holiday programs and plays. For the high school pupils there will be individual work plus group lessons which will include a regular drama course which will eventually lead to the Interscholastic One-Act Play contest, and also the fundamentals of debate and public speaking.

"The cultural advantages of Expression is very helpful and develops the personality of the child. She would like to have the opportunity to train those interested in this Department."

New Home School Will Open Monday

The New Home school will open Monday morning, September 3rd, for work.

The faculty consists of Supt. W. E. Patty of Lubbock, Eugene Hancock, Science teacher, Miss Marie Simpkins of Lubbock as English and Spanish teacher, L. A. Pace of Memphis as coach and principal of Grammar School, Miss Jones of Floydada as fourth and fifth grade teacher, Miss Loretta Newman as second and third grade teacher and Miss Bertah McAllister as primary teacher.

We are expecting a large enrollment this year. We have added two buses to transport students, including high school students from Petty and Slide.

We understand there will be Piano and Expression taught here again this year.

The parents are urged to attend the formal opening.

Miss Lucille Slaton Married In Dallas

Miss Lucille Slaton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Slaton of this city, was married to Mr. A. L. Davis of Dallas in Durant, Oklahoma, on Saturday, August 18. The young couple will make their home in Dallas.

The bride was reared in Tahoka. She is a graduate of the Tahoka High School and for the past three years she had been a student in the C. I. A. at Denton, where she recently received her degree in voice. She spent the summer in Dallas.

Mr. Davis holds a position with the Texas Power & Light Company in Dallas.

Black-Draught Good For Biliousness and Bad Taste in Mouth

"I have found Theodor's Black-Draught so good for biliousness, bad taste in the mouth and other disagreeable feelings due to constipation," writes Mrs. Mary Garner, of Burleson, Texas. "My mother used it for a number of years and we do not think there is a better medicine. I was pleased when I saw Syrup of Black-Draught advertised. I sent for it and gave it to my children (as a laxative) for colds and when they felt bad. Soon they felt fine." . . . Theodor's Black-Draught for the grown folks — and Syrup of Black-Draught for the children.

Miss Forrester Will Teach Expression

Miss O'Bera Forrester, whose work as a teacher of Expression has gained for her wide recognition, announces that she will teach Expression again during the coming school term.

Her studio is situated on the second floor of the Thomas Drug Building and she will be ready to begin work next Monday. Her pupils will give programs and recitals at intervals throughout the year.

Miss Forrester has just returned from Dallas, where she procured a number of plays from the Children's Little Theatre, and she also procured much other new material for her pupils.

Miss Forrester has taught classes in Expression here most successfully the past three years. Prior to that time she taught in Wilson, Slaton and Ralls.

After having graduated in the Expression Department of Wayland College, Miss Forrester studied one summer in the T. C. U. in Fort Worth. Later she attended Baylor College, Belton, where she received her Degree of Expression. She then entered the Curry School of Expression, Boston, Massachusetts, and she is a graduate of that institution. She has been very proficient as a student and teacher of the art of Expression. Her work speaks for itself.

Baptist Church
Buys Opera Chairs

The Baptist Church of Tahoka has purchased 200 opera chairs from the Wilson Independent School District.

The chairs were delivered Monday and are being installed this week.

McCord Has Feed
Just Coming Up

We don't know how much there is in the county just like it, but M. E. McCord, who resides a few miles east of town, has a fine feed crop just up.

Mr. McCord says that he planted a hundred acres of maize, kaffir, and cane in the dry dust about six or eight weeks ago. Before planting, he soaked the seed in kerosene to keep the bugs from eating them up. They lay there undisturbed until the fine rain came last Thursday night. Then those little seeds got busy. By Sunday morning they had sprouted and were coming up. Tuesday morning he had a beautiful stand of thrifty young feed.

This crop is almost sure to make a lot of roughness and may make heads. Anyway, Marvin is glad he planted it.

Miss Doris Lynn Hull, formerly of this city but more recently of Lubbock, has accepted a position in the home office of the Fidelity Insurance Company at Dallas.

Kept Taking Cardui Until She Got Rid of the Severe Pains

When Mrs. Ida Hege, of Edinburg, Ind., was in a painful, run-down condition, she took Cardui, with the results she describes below: "I had just been what one might say dragging around, feeling miserable and all out of sorts. I remembered how Cardui helped my aunt. I sent for six bottles of Cardui and when I had taken them, I was much better and stronger. I did not suffer so much pain. I continued taking Cardui until I had taken nine bottles. I do not have the severe pains." . . . "Thousands of women testify Cardui benefited them. If it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician."

JIMMY ALLRED ELECTED GOVERNOR OF TEXAS

history of this state. His victory writes him down as one of the strongest political figures of this generation.

In the race for attorney general Bill McCraw, the brilliant ex-district attorney of Dallas county, defeated the veteran lawyer and legislator, Walter Woodward of Coleman, by a majority of approximately 85,000.

Walter Woodul of Houston was nominated for lieutenant governor over Joe Moore of Greenville by a majority of 146,000. Both are members of the state senate. After the first primary, in which Woodul had a long lead, Jim Ferguson announced his support of the Houston man.

Lon A. Smith, railroad commissioner for many years, was an easy winner over John Pundt of Dallas, his majority being approximately 111,000. Pundt was the Ferguson candidate.

In the contest for justice of the supreme court, John H. Sharp of Waxahachie came up from behind his opponent, Hal S. Lattimore of Fort Worth, and won by a majority of approximately 17,000. Ferguson opposed Sharp during both the first and the second primary campaigns.

Latest returns published Wednesday morning accounted for 948,746 votes. This included the returns from 252 of the 254 counties in the state, returns being complete from 211 counties. Returns were not complete in 41 counties, a few remote precincts in these counties not having reported. No reports at all had been received from Yoakum county on the New Mexico border and Refugio county on the Gulf coast. Returns yet to come in, however, can not very materially change the results as published below.

The returns as counted and published are as follows:

For governor: Allred 496,546; Hunter 452,200.

For lieutenant governor: Woodul 513,433; Moore 367,519.

For attorney general: McCraw 493,457; Woodward 408,864.

For railroad commissioner: Lon Smith 499,588; John Pundt 389,452.

For supreme court justice: Sharp 445,655; Lattimore 428,461.

which they will begin the work of the year.

We are about to begin another school year and the children of this day and age should not be denied the opportunity for an education. The learning process never stops in a child's life, but there are periods in which learning takes place more rapidly than others. The period when the rate is usually the highest is during the school term where study periods are provided, assignments and recitations are made, and the whole study program organized that the child may accomplish the most good. The school not only gives factual and informational material, but affords opportunity for the children to exercise judgment, learn good manners and right conduct, develop good health habits, and helps to develop right attitudes toward life and living. The aims and objectives of the Public School is to afford such training that will best fit boys and girls to become useful citizens in society.

Come to Tahoka First Monday!
