Begin Paving On No. 9 North At Once

BEGIN GRADING SOUTH OF CITY

Many Local Men And Teams Being Used On South Half Of No. 9

The work of constructing grade and drainage structures on Highway No. 9 south of Tahoka was begun Monday morning.

The first sector to be constructed is that portion of the highway extending from the Nance Lake to Tahoka. When this job shall have been completed work will proceed from the lake southward to the Dawson county line at O'Donnell.

The contractors, Hall & Hannah of Waco, have sub-let a portion of the contract to Field Brothers of Lubbock. Most of the common labor is to be done by residents of Lynn county and some of the skilled labor. Lynn county teams for the most part are also to be used on the project.

About 4,500 Bales Ginned In County

According to reports given the News Thursday morning by the five gins in Tahoka, 1139 bales of cotton had been ginned here this season. At New Home 217 bales of cotton had been ginned, and 337 at Grassland; making a total of 2693 at these three ginning centers. We have received no reports from the other gins of the county, but judging from reports given heretofore the News estimates that about 4400 or 4500 bales have been ginned in the county.

The fine, open weather that has prevailed throughout this month has been favorable to the crop, though it has opened slowly. Some farmers report that their crops will be larger than they thought a few weeks ago. When a killing frost comes, the cotton will probably pop open rapidly and business will then pick up at the gins.

Community Chest Program Started

President Roosevelt Monday night spoke over a nation-wide radio hook-up in favor of the movement that has been started to re-establish the community chest. It is understood that efforts are to be made to form organizations in practically every county in the United States through which much of the charity now being dispensed by the government is to be administered.

President Roosevelt and every other thoughtful citizen realizes that the Government can not go on indefinitely borrowing money and giving it to the indigent and unemployed. More and more the people in their respective communities are going to be depended upon to look after the needs of their own citizens. The people of the various cities and towns and counties and communities throughout the United States are going to be called upon to relieve the government of a large part of this burden. So the community chest is to be re-established. The Government has done a great work in caring for the helpless but it will be a great day when the people shall quit depending so much upon the government and shall undertake again to hustle for themselves.

May Now Sell Option Cotton

We have been advised by V. F. Jones, County Agent, that his office now has the necessary forms and is taking applications either to sell or to borrow on the option cotton.

When you come to the office to make application for the 2 cent loan bring your Participation Trust Certificate which is the yellow slip of paper. In case this certificate has been lost or destroyed an affidavit slip may be filled out and substituted for the original slip.

Canning Kitchen Ready For Work

Miss Sylvia Robb announces that the canning kitchen here is ready to begin operation. Mrs. R. W. Fenton some time ago was named as supervisor and she will have charge of the work.

Any person having meats or vegetables to can should see Mrs. Fenton at once. The people of Lynn county should make the greatest possible use of this kitchen, as it has been placed here for the use and benefit of the people.

Lubbock Doctor To Speak Sunday

Dr. Fred W. Standefer of the West Texas Hospital staff, Lubbock, will speak at the Methodist Church Sunday morning, both at the eleven o'clock service and at the men's Sunday School class at 9:45.

Dr. Standefer has recently returned from Europe, having spent some time at Vienna studying, and it is expected that he will talk on the religious problems of that continent, particularly on the uprisings in Austria and Germany. He was in Vienna when Dolphus was assassinated and when the uprising was at its height.

All people of the community are invited to hear Dr. Standefer at the church hour, and all men, whether members of the Methodist Sunday School or not, are invited to visit that class Sunday morning.

Bankhead Law Is Unjust, Man Says

In answer to the claims of the U. S. Department of Agriculture that Southern farmers are in no danger of serious foreign competition in the production of cotton, George Sealey, President of the Galveston Wharf Company, set out the following figures: The five year average of cotton production for the years 1909 to 1914 were: United States, 13,143,000 bales; foreign countries, 7,713,000 bales; for the years 1929 to 1934: United States, 14,244,000 bales, foreign countries, 11,099,000 bales. This shows an increase in the United States of 8.33 per cent; in foreign countries, 43.90 per cent.

"Texas normally raises approximately one-third of the American cotton crop, yet sells 90 per cent of her crop to foreign mills and will, therefore, be more adversely affected than any other cotton state should our foreign business be lost," Mr. Sealey argues.

He sets out many reasons why he thinks the Bankhead Act and the AAA program in general are hurtful to the Texas cotton raiser and to the people of the South. "Half a cotton crop," he points out, "means half as many pickers, gin and compress hands, half as many train crews, longshoremen, weighers, classifiers, truckers and brokers, all of whom are equally interested with the farmer in securing a living in the raising and marketing of the product."

Noel D. Bray Weeks Dies At Longview

A letter received Wednesday from Mr. and Mrs. N. M. Bray, now residing at Longview, brought the sad information that their daughter, Mrs. Raymond Weeks, remembered here as Miss Noel D. Bray, died on Thursday of last week in a Longview sanitarium, following a brief illness.

Miss Noel married after removing with her parents to Longview and she leaves surviving her husband and two small sons. She was a very fine young woman and had many friends in Tahoka, who will deeply regret her untimely death.

Mr. and Mrs. Bray express a longing for the time to come when they can return to Tahoka, where they lived so long and where they have so many warm friends.

Dixie Blackbird Minstrel Coming

The Dixie Blackbird Minstrels will be staged in Tahoka Thursday evening, Nov. 1st, at the High School auditorium at 8 o'clock, under auspices of the Methodist Missionary Society.

Rehearsals which are already underway are under the direction of Miss Charley Marr, w. professional director.

This clever black-face play is said to be one of the most unique minstrels of the day, and is composed of snappy jokes, catchy songs and choruses.

The cast will include about fifty of Tahoka's local talent, selected especially for their ability in fun-making, wise-cracking and singing. The minstrel is in six parts, as follows:

First part, juvenile minstrel, in which the children are a special feature.

Part two will be the senior minstrel with Carey Mathis as Interlocutor. The circle will be composed of the following men: G. M. Reid, Lester Prater, Alvin Seth, Kenneth Reid, Dr. Durham, J. D. Smith, "Slim" Carpenter, J. D. Strickland, Boswell Edwards, Jimmy Jackson, Jack Alley Robinson, Reid Townes.

Part three is a "Now and Then" sketch featuring a girl of today and the girl yesterday. The parts are played by Mayfair Davis and Helen Applewhite.

Part four is a court scene entitled "The Dark Triangle," in which "Happy" Smith as Lawyer Butler attempts to settle divorce between Mandy and her henpecked husband.

The fifth part will be a womanless fashion show in which local citizens will model the latest fashions.

The sixth part is a typical old-time spiritual sermon preached by Jake Leedy and followed in due time by a negro wedding, when Jim Dye, as the bride, and J. D. Strickland, as the groom, will be denounced "man and woman."

More Opposition To The Bankhead Law

Our statement published last week to the effect that farmers of our county had met in their respective school communities and given almost unanimous endorsement to the Bankhead law has been hotly challenged. We have been advised that these meetings were not called for the purpose of passing on the Bankhead law but were called for the purpose of determining whether or not the farmers desired the corn-borg program to be continued, and it is claimed that no formal action was taken in at least some of these meetings respecting the Bankhead law.

Several farmers have expressed to the editor unrelenting opposition to this law. At Draw a few nights ago there was a public debate of the Bankhead law, with three men on each side, and the News has been informed that the opponents of the measure won the debate. A large percent of farmers in many communities are said to be opposed to it, and the News is giving these facts because we have been requested to do so.

LYNN CHAPEL SERVICES ARE ANNOUNCED BY PASTOR

Rev. J. C. Allen announces that the last services of the Church of the Nazarens at Lynn Chapel before the approaching district assembly will be held next Sunday morning and night. It is hoped and desired that large congregations may be present.

The general annual assembly of the Abilene district, which embraces all Northwest Texas and which extends as far east as Gainesville, Fort Worth, and Hillsboro, will be held at Wellington, meeting Tuesday, November 7, and closing on Sunday, November 11. It is expected that there will be a large attendance.

City Improvement Program Mapped

(Mrs. G. H. Nelson)

Mrs. L. E. Turrentine, sanitation chairman of highway beautification, has a program mapped out that should challenge the civic pride of every citizen of Tahoka. First, she asks that each and every resident of our town voluntarily and immediately clear his residence lots and alleys adjoining of rubbish. Then telephone Mrs. Turrentine and give your permission for relief workers to grub any mesquites on your property for the wood that they can get. She is most anxious that those owning vacant lots, particularly business lots, comply with this last request. If you own lots strewn with scrap iron, please remove it or at least stack it.

Consider the recent improvement in appearance of the former Legion Home and the States Telephone Company's grounds. Clear away your weeds, cans, papers, and scrap iron. Your neighbor will take the hint. Telephone 60, if you will give the wood to have your mesquites grubbed.

For years our editor has made an effort to get us to adopt a town flower or shrub. He has repeatedly suggested the rose. Nothing thrives better here than Radiance roses. Suppose we adopt the red Radiance rose? Vote your sentiment with one of the beautification committee. How many can you plant this fall? By pooling our orders we should be able to get prices within the reach of all. Let's talk roses.

Add yourself to the beautification committee. You are paid as much as anyone to beautify your town and county.

Mrs. E. I. Hill is the new local chairman of highway beautification. Under her capable and enthusiastic leadership every chairman is making plans to accomplish something in her phase of the work within the next few weeks.

Tahoka's Neighbors Good Advertisers

The two Lamesa papers come to this office practically every week filled with advertisements of the home merchants. The Lamesa Reporter last week, for instance, was a ten page paper. The Courier likewise looked prosperous. These were not Trades Day editions either. Lamesa's Trades Day is the same as our own. Yet Dawson county has not made a crop in three years, and is harder hit again this year than Lynn county is.

The Brownfield is a seven-column paper and always contains as much as eight pages, lean years and fat. So it is very discouraging and embarrassing when the publishers of the News are compelled, week after week, right in the middle of the fall, to issue a four-page or a six-page paper because of the fact that our business men decline to advertise. We believe that our list of rural subscribers will compare favorably with that of either of these papers and that the merchants of Tahoka may reach as many people through the columns of this paper as the merchants of Lamesa and Brownfield reach through their papers. We are wondering why our business men do not advertise. The business men of Lamesa and Brownfield certainly do advertise and they seem to get results. If Tahoka sits here and dries up, it will be nobody's fault but Tahoka's.

EASTERN STAR DELEGATES

Mrs. Irvin Stewart, Mrs. J. K. Applewhite, and Mrs. W. B. Slaton left from Lubbock with a bus load of other women for Fort Worth, where they are attending the annual state convention of the Order of the Eastern Star. Mrs. Stewart and Applewhite will participate in a mock wedding to be presented by the Lubbock women before the state body. Mrs. Slaton is visiting her daughter in Dallas.

Exemption Pool Closes On Nov. 10

Assistant county agent C. A. Lawrence has been officially notified that the surplus cotton exemption pool will close on November 10. Farmers are requested to take notice and govern themselves accordingly.

Mr. Lawrence also asks that we again call attention to the fact that a producer can not buy exemption certificates except from another producer in this county at 4 cents per pound.

Changes Are Made At Post Office

Boyd Rice and G. M. Reid have swapped jobs.

Mr. Reid has been rural carrier on route 4 out of Tahoka and Mr. Rice has been a clerk in the post office. Recently they decided to exchange places and the change became effective Monday morning. Reid is now carrying the mail on route 4 and Rice is writing money orders and licking postage stamps at the post office window.

Mr. Reid has been connected with the post office service here for nine years and has served well. Mr. Rice has been a mail carrier since 1926 but has been in Tahoka only two or three years, coming here from Wilson. Since March of this year he has been carrier on route 4.

Woosley-Humphries Nuptials Last Week

At the home of Judge W. E. Smith on last Thursday night, J. K. Woosley and Mrs. Viva Humphries were married. Judge Smith officiating.

Mr. Woosley was a rural mail carrier here for several years, retiring from the service several months ago, with continued remuneration however. Since his retirement he has been transporting the mail between the Santa Fe Railway Station and the post office. Mrs. Woosley has been a resident of the county since her girlhood days. For the past several years she has been alternately attending college and teaching. For the past two or three years she has been one of the teachers at New Lynn and is teaching there this term. She will continue her work as teacher through this school year.

Mr. and Mrs. Woosley have many friends here and throughout the county who will wish them many years of happiness.

Collecting Stones For Legion Home

Pete Coleman, who operates the Anchor Filling Station, has in his place of business a large quantity of small stones collected by Clay Hughes from different localities in Lynn county to be used in embellishing the American Legion Home now under construction here.

These stones are of many varied beautiful and curious designs and mineral content. Some of them are capable of receiving a high polish and all are interesting to a layman who knows little about geology. They might be much more interesting to a geologist. Any way, Pete hopes to make them both useful and ornamental.

Sub-Postoffice At New Home Closed

Upon orders from Washington, the sub-office of the Tahoka post office closed on Monday of last week.

This sub-office was established two or three years ago but the Department at Washington decided it was not worth the cost of upkeep and recently ordered it discontinued. In fact, we understand that difficulty in getting any one to attend to it for the salary offered was the main reason for its discontinuance.

AUSTIN GIVES JOB APPROVAL

Paving Will Be Relief Project; Many Men Will Be Given Work

Here is some good news for the people of Lynn county this week. The work of paving Highway No. 9 from Tahoka to the Lubbock county line is to begin immediately. So says a telegram which County Judge W. E. Smith received Tuesday afternoon from Senator A. P. Duggan at Austin. The telegram is as follows:

"Kneel Department just advised they have today approved project on highway No. 9. Work start immediately."

Judge Smith had received a telegram from J. B. Keely a little earlier in the afternoon stating that "setup and authorization will be made today."

This is good news to the people of Tahoka. Not only is a paved highway much to be desired, within itself but this project will provide a nice payroll for many weeks and afford relief to many Lynn county people who need employment.

This will be the first sector of paved highway in Lynn county. The paving will consist of concrete base and asphalt topping, we are informed. This makes a very fine highway.

While this is a Government relief project, the work will be done under the supervision of the state highway department.

Judge Smith says that he is informed that work is to begin Friday of this week.

Showers Aid To Wheat And Feed

Nice showers fell in most portions of Lynn county Monday morning. The precipitation in Tahoka amounted to only .16 of an inch but it was as much as a half inch in some places. Showers also fell in some portions of the county last Friday morning, .15 of an inch being the amount allotted to Tahoka. These showers were helpful to wheat and to late feed. This morning was the coolest morning of the season thus far, the mercury dropping to 40.

Band Will Play Again Sunday

Last Sunday afternoon's concert of the Tahoka band on the court house lawn was heard by a large sized and interested crowd.

According to the director, W. F. Fry Jr., the four o'clock concert will be repeated next Sunday, and possibly for a few weeks, or as long as the weather is mild.

Mrs. Claud Wells and daughter Marjorie went to Dallas Tuesday where they expected to have the cast removed from Marjorie's limb Wednesday. Claud accompanied them as far as Sweetwater.

Mrs. Ida C. Williams of Lubbock, the former Mrs. M. L. Handley, was here Monday transacting business.

4-H Club Exhibit Next Week End

Exhibits of 4-H Club work and Home Demonstration Club work of many different kinds are to be on display in the Cobb Department Store building on Friday and Saturday of next week and the following Monday, November 2-3-5.

This work has been done under the supervision of Miss Sylvia Robb, and the display will no doubt be a most creditable one. All the people of Lynn county are invited to see it.

Miss Hazel Bratley, home demonstration agent of Lubbock county, will do the judging.

FLOYD MEETS THE INEVITABLE

At last they got "Pretty Boy" Floyd. Several years ago he entered upon a career of crime. Ruthlessly robbing banks and murdering innocent people, he shot down in cold blood any who might cross his path, much as a policeman would shoot down a rabid dog. He never gave his victims a chance, and so when the officers of the law finally came upon him they never gave him a chance. They shot him down as he fled, but he fell grasping a deadly pistol. He had murder in his heart to the last.Yet Floyd's face would not indicate that he was a natural born degenerate. It carries the stamp of intelligence and kindness. But Floyd evidently had a burning desire for notoriety, and he conceived the idea that he could gain this through a life of crime. Contrary to his natural instincts of sociability and friendliness, he became an enemy to his fellow man; and once enmeshed in the alluring and exciting life of the outlaw, he went all the way, and became "public enemy No. 1." Just a few miles down this highway, however, was a violent and ignominious death, after months of hiding and being hunted like a vicious beast.With his natural mental endowments, one can not help but believe that with the proper environment and training Floyd might have become a most useful citizen—a leader of men in some noble cause. His wicked and wasted life is nothing short of a tragedy.Monarchism and autocracy nearly everywhere have fallen before the march of Democratic ideals.
The king business has taken a mighty slump since the World War.
Hereditary power is almost a thing of the past. But some of the countries of Europe are still clinging to these old discredited form of government. When King Alexander of Jugoslavia was assassinated a few weeks ago, his eleven-year-old son ascended the throne. Son Peter may be a fine kid, but think of a nation in this modern world of ours having a mere kid for a king. Of course others will do the thinking and the plotting and the ruling for the little fellow, but why have a mere lad as the nominal ruler of a nation simply because he happens to be somebody's son? In America that old idea was junked by a fellow named George Washington and his compatriots a hundred and fifty years ago.That strike of coal miners over in Hungary brought to the attention of the world one striking fact.
Thousands of miners, with families to support, were working for a dollar a day, or its equivalent in Hungarian money, two days in the week. Such wages as these may account for the fact that there is so much communistic sentiment in Europe. Poverty and economic injustice constitute the soil in which socialism, communism, and bolshevism spring up and thrive.

A lot of folks are worried as to just what the New Deal will lead to. This government has been ploughing through uncharted seas the past two years, and most of the time we have not been able to see far ahead because of the fog, but we have come safe thus far and we seem to have a wise pilot at the wheel. Roosevelt is now beginning to veer away from the policy of "direct relief" and to adopt more and more the policy of "work relief"— providing labor on useful enterprises for the unemployed. There may be much about the New Deal that is subject to criticism, but the Roosevelt administration is doing more for the common man, the forgotten man, than any President possibly in our history.As we have frequently stated heretofore, we believe that the cotton plow-up campaign last year and the cotton contract program this year have been helpful to our farmers, but we do not believe that they would prove helpful as a permanent policy of the government. These were adopted merely as emergency measures, and as such we believe that they served a good purpose.
We think the Bankhead law however is unjust and would have worked a great hardship on our farmers had a normal yield of cotton per acre been produced. We do not believe its operation should be

ECONOMIC HIGHLIGHTS

Once the stage is set, it doesn't take much to start a war. The classic example of that occurred in 1914, when the assassination of an obscure archduke in a city few people on this side of the water had ever heard of, set match to a powder keg and resulted in the greatest and most destructive conflict in the history of the world.A repetition ALMOST occurred a few weeks ago. King Alexander of Jugoslavia landed at Marseilles, was met by Foreign Minister Bar-thou of France. Surrounded by ceremony—and armed men—the procession started down the main street of the city. Suddenly a fat man leaped to the running board of the king's car, pressed the trigger of a new-style sub-machine gun which is hardly larger than a revolver. Twenty shots split the air —and Alexander and Barthou lay dying. The assassin was cut down by the sabres of cavalry officers, almost torn to pieces by the crowd.
All the details of the killing were at once flashed to every corner of the world—it was dramatic, vivid, "stagey". But in the chancelleries of the great nations, diplomats fev-erishly awaited the answer of a single question: "What was the assassin's nationality?" On that seemingly minor point pended the peace of Europe!The ambition of France today is to establish a "ring of steel" around Germany—if anything, she fears the central powers more now than she did before the world war. To accomplish her aim, she must enlist the cooperation of the nations which, like herself, bound Germany—and the most important of these are Italy and Jugoslavia. A difficult problem is caused by the fact that Jugoslavia and Italy are extremely unfriendly—while they maintain formal relations, accompanied by all the polite trappings of old-world diplomacy, each hates and fears the other. The object of Minister Barthou in inviting Alexander to France was to smooth out if possible the difficulties between Jugoslavia and Italy. Jugoslavia is the main link in the prospective "ring of steel" and so long as she and Italy are close to sword's points, France's purpose cannot be accomplished.Therein is the reason for the vast importance attached to the nationality of Alexander's assassin. Had he been Italian, it is safe to say that Italy and Jugoslavia would have been at war within 24 hours —and it might have been only a matter of time before all other European powers, and possibly this country, would have been drawn in.
Fortunately for world peace, the assassin was a Jugoslavian—a member of a secret society pledged to wipe out Alexander's dictatorship, which has incurred the enmity of thousands of people. Like Mussolini and Stalin, Alexander came into power in a troubled and torn country, did not pause at using harsh methods to insure harmony.The trouble isn't over, however,— the entire European situation has again been upset. Alexander will be followed on the throne by King Peter, who is still a child. Until he comes of age, Jugoslavia will be governed by a regency—and there are grave doubts if the turbulent Jugoslavian people can be kept under control. Again, as in the past, all eyes are turned to the Balkans, the powder-keg of Europe.—Industrial News Review.

WHAT PRICE GLORY?

The World War, all told, cost—apart from 30 million lives—400 billion dollars. With that money we could have built a $2500 house, furnished it with $1000 worth of furniture, placed it on five acres of land worth $100 an acre and given this home to each and every family in the United States, Canada, Australia, England, Wales, Ireland, Scotland, France, Belgium, Germany and Russia. We could have given to each city of 20,000 inhabitants and over, in each country named, a five million dollar library and a ten million dollar university. Out of what was left we could have set aside a sum at five per cent that would provide a $1000 yearly salary for an army of 125-000 teachers and a like salary for another army of 125,000 nurses.—

THE LURE OF THE PALO DURO

(By Jessica Morehead Young)

Many are the beauties of nature in the recently opened Palo Duro Canyon in the Texas Panhandle.
Tall grasses and long green fronded ferns screen its secluded pools, and dip their tips in the cooling waters.Variegated reds of canyon walls, green of shrubbery, blue of pools and reflected cloudland scenery, compose a sight not soon to be forgotten.Here the wild birds have sanctuary, and they flit from branch to branch, and merrily carol their mating songs. The mocking bird the mimic, runs the gamut of tones throughout the night.Here once came the lithe limbed antelope and the fleet footed deer.
Blackmaned buffalo wandered among the rocks and pools, and grazed contentedly.The coyote moved along the winding trails
And broke the quiet with his doleful wails;When morning sun looked down upon the glade
The bison sank to rest within thy shade.There was a time when thou didst look upon The browsing deer and many a playful fawn.Where are they now? Tell me whence have they fled, Those friends who oft have made thy slopes their bed?
Gone are they now, all gone to haunts unknown,
To rove in peace, beside some phantom throne."Once the Chieftain and his band roamed at will in this native haunt.
Groups of wigwags, where nightly campfires flared, revealed a picture of savage life, the blanketed squaw and little papoose in the background.
The babe perhaps playing with a dog, or sleeping on a soft pillable buffalo robe, tanned and decorated according to Indian art. The moth-er perhaps preparing the evening meal for her chieftain, her lord, who doubtless sat stoically in silence smoking his pipe of stone.The red flame of campfires has long since died down to ashes and enriched the soil, from which spring the colorful flowers. The tomtom and the weird Indian war dance is no longer heard to reverberate down the canyon's walls. No longer do the silken grasses of summer rebound to the stealthy tread. The night winds softly chant their requiem for the vanquished redman of the plains, and for their tepee homes in the heart of the canyon.This wonder playground of fourteen thousand acres is, at its lowest point, 1,563 feet deep. The hand of man in cooperation with the Great Creator, is providing roads giving easy access to this land of mirages, so that one may hunt and fish in the most beautiful surroundings.A. O. Nixon and family of the Grassland community moved this week to Colony, Oklahoma. Before leaving Mr. Nixon came in and ordered the paper sent to his new address. They expect to farm in Oklahoma next year but want to keep informed as to conditions in Lynn county.W. A. Caldwell, Amarillo, and

SLATON TIGERS DEFEAT BULLDOGS

Lady Luck seems to have deserted the Tahoka Bulldogs for the time being. On last Friday afternoon the stronger and heavier Slaton Tigers defeated the local gridsters 24-0.

The first quarter was scoreless but in the second period Simmons, Tiger halfback, scored twice for Slaton. In the third quarter, Dorsey Gentry, substitute for Simmons, pushed across for another touchdown and repeated the action in the last spasm. Slaton was never able to kick goal for extra point. Slaton made 16 first downs as compared to Tahoka's 4. All of Tahoka's first downs were made via air. Tahoka twice threatened with long passes, one for 30 yards and another for 32.

Simmons and T. Gentry were the outstanding Slaton players while Drennon at half and Minor at quarter showed up well for the Bulldogs.

This is the first conference game of the season in which the Pups have suffered a defeat. The Bulldogs need our support now more than ever. Let's get behind them and encourage them all we can. A bunch of fans behind a team means a great deal to that and to the school spirit and we owe them

How Do You Know Prof?

Speaking of the absent minded professor, there is one in Tahoka High School.

In a certain class, a teacher gave, as an example of disobeyed laws, the prohibition law in Texas. "You can go over to one of our near-by towns and get all you want," he told the innocent students.

Questioning laughs broke the silence. The teacher colored and added, "So I've been told."

"Say Walshall, if you had five bucks in your pocket, what would you think?"

Walshall: "I'd think I had somebody else's pants on."

Miss Faye Massengale, a 1934 graduate of the Tahoka High School, enrolled in Draughon's Business College at Lubbock Monday morning.

Arlene Grace of Moran, Texas, enrolled in the Sophomore class Monday.

Several students who have been out of school in order to work have resumed their studies.

Black-Draught Brings Refreshing Relief of Constipation Troubles

Constipation produces many disagreeable sensations, several of which are mentioned by Mr. T. E. Stith, of Bonville, Ind., who writes: "I have used Theodor's Black-Draught many years when needed for biliousness and other minor ailments when a laxative was needed. I have a tight feeling in my chest when I get bilious. I get dizzy and feel very tired, just don't feel like doing my work. After taking Black-Draught, I feel much better. This is why I continue to use it when needed." "Theodor's Black-Draught is a good, purely vegetable laxative, obtainable for 25¢ a package."

Allred Airs Views On Amendments

Fort Worth, Oct. 25.—Fulfilling a campaign pledge to talk frankly with the people about the problems of government, governor-designate James V. Allred delivered a second address in explanation of proposed constitutional amendments relative to taxation. Allred addressed the County Judges Association.

"With a $12,000,000 treasury deficit this state is facing a financial crisis," Allred said. "The present Legislative Special Session is being urged to appropriate many million more. Add to this the ever mounting relief burdens and surely every citizen must know that something must be done to equalize oppressive tax burdens."

"Real estate and other tangible property simply cannot bear any further increase of the tax load," declared Allred. "Not only that, but the existing tax burden on tangible property and real estate must be materially reduced."

"While real estate and tangible property represent only half of the wealth of the state it bears 97% of the tax burden. The other half such as stocks, bonds, money, notes, mortgages and other intangible wealth bears only 3% of the tax burden. This is decidedly unfair."

Allred said.

"This grave injustice in our tax system can be righted on November 6 if the oppressed taxpayers will vote for the constitutional amendment that appears first on the ballot. Amendment No. 1 authorizes a classification of property for tax purposes and will enable the Legislature to add untold millions to the tax rolls that now escape taxation altogether."

"Amendment No. 1 should not be confused with Amendment No. 3 on the ballot. Amendment No. 3 seeks to place a per capita limit upon state revenues and expenditures. If this amendment had been in force the past two years it would have reduced state revenues approximately $40,000,000. That would have been ruinous to our schools and vital governmental agencies. Every friend of the public schools and of efficient state government is against Amendment No. 3."

"I urge that the people be not deceived about these proposed amendments," Allred said. "Amendment No. 1 should be adopted and Amendment No. 3 should be defeated. The moneyed interests and designing politicians are trying to confuse the people with the slogan 'swat them all,' or with the absurd statement that Amendment No. 1 might in some manner affect the $3,000 homestead exemption."

"In order that real estate may be relieved of the crushing tax burden it now bears, I urge the people of Texas to vote for Amendment No. 1. In order that our schools may be kept open and the vital functions of government may be efficiently carried on, I urge the defeat of Amendment No. 3."

CHURCH OF CHRIST NOTES

Another fine day with us last Lord's Day with the house almost full at the morning hour. But where do people go Sunday night. Every place I hear from it is the same. It seems to me it is not fair to the preacher, church, lost souls and Jesus to stay away from church Sunday and Wednesday nights.

Brother Randolph of Slaton is in a fine meeting at Lynn school house this week with interest running high.

This weather is sure fine for gathering crops and holding meetings.

Preaching here next Lord's Day both morning and evening. The evening subject will be: "The Church that Jesus Built." Come study, sing, pray and worship with us.

A welcome awaits you at the friendly church.—R. P. Drennon.

Sports on Parade

(By Beatrice White)

Friday night of this week the Rattler crew will invade the den of the Graham Chapel basketball and endeavor to inject enough of their venomous stuff to bring them down in defeat. Already this season has the Chapel school felt the sting of the yellow and black clad warriors from Redwine. The game was anybody's contest in both boys and girls games up to the last whistle. The forthcoming game is predicted even a more bitter game than the previous one.

Last week saw the Rattlers idle, for the most part, only two games being played in which the Senior girls won a close decision from Midway and the down-trodden Junior boys were edged out by the same school. Much improvement has been shown by the juniors and it will not be long before they will break into the winning column. The main stays for the juniors are: Junior Giles, center, Farnell White, forward, and Truett Holloway, guard.

"GIFT OF GAB" PICTURE SAYS IT WITH SONGS

"Say it with music" is the slogan of Universal's "Gift of Gab", the unusual musical comedy - drama starring Edmund Lowe which will make its bow at the English Theatre Sunday, Monday and Tuesday. The production featuring six songs has become famous already as a vehicle for the talents of 30 radio, screen and stage stars.

One of the outstanding musical performers is the golden-voiced, Ruth Etting, who sings "Talking to Myself," written by Con Conrad and Herb Magidson, and "Tomorrow, Who Cares?" written by Charles Tobias and Murray Mencher.

Phil Baker, famous for his comedy and his accordion, sings "I Ain't Gonna Sin No More," written by Con Conrad and Herb Magidson, with the three famous Downey Sisters.

Ethel Waters, the internationally known colored singer, gives her version of "I Ain't Gonna Sin No More." June Knight, captivating blonde Universal contract player, does "Somebody Looks Good to Me," written by Albert Von Tilzer and Jack Meskill. "Don't Let This Waltz Mean Goodbye," by the same authors, is sung by Gloria Stuart, and the famous Gene Austin, with the accompaniment of Candy and Coco, sings "Blue Sky Avenue," by Conrad and Magidson.

The Beale Street Boys, a quartet, have fun with "Trivers Livera, I Love You," and "I Ain't Gonna Sin No More."

Gus Arnheim, ranked as one of the greatest orchestra leaders of this generation, directs his orchestra in the accompaniments.

"Gift of Gab" was directed by Karl Freund, under the supervision of Rian James, and much of it is staged in a radio broadcasting station. In it, Edmund Lowe rises from the ranks of the Broadway auc-

The drought caused the city of Emporia, Kansas, to restrict residents to four inches of water in their bath tubs. One wonders whether the city sent around an inspector to make sure that the ordinance was obeyed.—Roanoke Times.

We don't know why sweet potatoes are not grown in Lynn County in larger quantities. D. A. Parkhurst brought to the News office a few days ago a bucket of the finest potatoes we have seen in a long time, large, fine fellows, fit for the table of a king. He grew them in his backyard.

FARM PRICES ADVANCE TOWARD PARITY, 1933-34

Stacked coins show additional returns per crop unit to cooperating producers in benefit payments on domestic allotment or other portion of crop designated in contract.

The real price (farm price plus benefit payments) that farmers are receiving for their allotted production of major farm products in terms of parity shows marked improvement. The figures along the parity price line of the above graph represent the amounts per unit farmers must receive, however, before their products will have as great exchange value as they did in the parity years, 1910-14. The increase in real prices since March 15, 1933, and the proportion of the real price farmers are receiving on designated portions of their crop in the form of benefit or rental payments under agricultural adjustment contracts are shown.

FACES SHOW TEXAS ALWAYS BEEN A PROGRESSIVE STATE

Galveston, Oct. 15. —(Special)—When citizens of all the world come to Texas during the Centennial celebrations to be held in San Antonio, Houston, Galveston, Brenham, Nacogdoches, Huntsville, Gonzales, Galveston, Dallas and other cities in 1936, they will see many things to prove that Texans always have been as progressive as the citizens of other States. Not the least evidence of progress will be the large percentage of telephone now in use by the population of Texas.

It is believed currently that the first telephone used in Texas was one used in Galveston in 1876—the year of that invention's first acceptance by the public and the year of the Centennial Celebration by the United States at Philadelphia. Alexander Graham Bell had placed his invention on exhibition that year in an obscure booth of the exposition, where it received scant attention until the Emperor of Brazil investigated and talked over it. Even then the press of the United States belittled its import.

It is related, however, that Col. A. H. Belo, publisher of the Galveston News, became interested in the telephone at the exposition and purchased two of Bell's instruments. These he is said to have brought back to Galveston, placing one in his office and the other in his residence. Wires were stretched between his home and The News' building, via roof tops, fences, and trees, completing a successful hook-up, according to the story.

No documentary evidence of this is readily available and Colonel Belo says nothing about it in his memoirs. However, it is certain that Colonel Belo did visit the Philadelphia Centennial, where the telephone was exhibited, and it seems historically authenticated that the first commercial use of the telephone in Texas was between the offices of The News and the Western Union in Galveston.

The Southwestern Bell Telephone Company in its booklet, in 1926, regarding the Semi-Centennial of the telephone, asserts that the first telephone wire in Texas extended from Colonel Belo's home to the editorial rooms of the Galveston News. It credits Alexander Russell, editor of the Galveston Tribune in 1926, with making the installation. Manager David Hall of the Western Union, according to the Galveston News, of Sept. 11, 1877, connected his office on the evening of Sept. 10 with the Galveston News and gave a "demonstration of the commercial uses of the new scientific marvel, the telephone."

All of this, of course, was previous to the days of telephone exchanges and before switchboard equipment had been instituted. T. W. Milburn, later a resident of Dallas, was the manager of the first telephone exchange, which was opened in Galveston. Shortly afterward, the second exchange in Texas was opened in Houston with George W. Foster as manager. In 1883, Mr. Foster succeeded Mr. Milburn as manager of the Galveston exchange, which by that time had almost three hundred stations. When the numbering system was adopted, telephone No. 1 in Galveston was assigned to the firm of Dealey & Son, which was credited with becoming the first regular telephone subscriber here on March 18, 1878. Mr. Dealey was the father of G. B. Dealey, President of A. H. Belo & Co. of Dallas.

Old Records Claim Philip Nolan Was Killed In Texas

Cleburne, Texas.—Philip Nolan, "the man without a country," did not die on shipboard but was killed by Mexicans near Cleburne between 1820 and 1830, according to historical records revived here.

Nolan was the main character in Edward Everett Hale's famous book, "The Man Without A Country." According to the book version Nolan was ostracized from the United States for cursing it, dying on a ship at sea, without ever again seeing his native land.

That version is held to be fiction, however, by persons who believe the accounts resurrected here are true. Nolan river, which flows through this county, was named for Philip Nolan because he is said to have died on its banks.

Nolan, according to these accounts, entered what is now Texas in 1797 to produce cavalry horses. He was given free access to the territory by the Spanish government, then sovereign over Texas.

Later, he came to Texas, ostensibly for the same purpose, but this time he was suspected of plotting and was ordered to be kept out.

He managed to elude Mexican soldiers and made his way into Central Texas. Here, with fourteen Americans, five Spaniards, and a negro, he built a blockade, intending to capture wild mustangs. He was pursued by Mexicans who attacked the blockade. Nolan was killed by the first discharge. His body, according to one account, was buried near what is now the little village of Blum.

RESOLUTION BY THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY OF TEXAS CONDEMNING THE PROPOSED TAX - LIMITATION AMENDMENT AND URGING ITS DEFEAT NOVEMBER 6.

"Whereas, since the submission of the proposed constitutional amendment to limit state tax income in Texas on a population basis, there have developed unforeseen contingencies in the finances of the state, particularly in carrying and retiring the bonds for poor relief and in meeting the requirements of Federal Highway Act No. 393, Seventy-Third Congress; and

"Whereas, under these circumstances the amendment threatens the continuation on existing bases of State aid to local units for schools and roads; and

"Whereas, the amendment if adopted would further shift tax burdens from the State to local communities, and from large to small taxpayers; and

"Whereas, the adoption of these restrictions on the State's income would decrease the ability of Texas to carry on those activities of state government hitherto regarded as fundamental in the traditions and time-honored principles of the Democratic Party; be it

"Resolved, that this Convention now recommends to the people of Texas that this amendment be defeated at the coming November election."

I hereby certify that the above is a true and correct copy of the resolution adopted by the State Convention of the Democratic Party held in Galveston, Texas, on the 11th day of September, 1934.—Van M. Kennedy, sec'y State Democratic Executive Committee.
