

Flowers Will Be Planted In Texas For Centennial

Dallas, Nov. 6. (Special) — A blanket of beauty, expressed by the blossoming of countless acres of flowers and shrubs to be planted over the State in preparation for the Texas Centennial celebration in 1936, will result from work of the State Highway Beautification Committee.

In the section around Dallas, a comprehensive program in seven counties is due to be launched soon through co-operation of city and county governments. As soon as first choice has been determined for the flower or shrub in this section, every highway leading into Dallas will be planted.

Similar work is due to be carried on in every section of the State so that thoroughfares leading to historic shrines in such cities as San Antonio, Houston, Galveston, Brenham, Nacogdoches, Huntsville, and other cities, where Centennial celebra-

RED CROSS RELIEF GIVEN TO VICTIMS IN 103 DISASTERS

Tornadoes, Fires, Hurricanes, Floods, Epidemics, Make Record of Year

A history of the disasters in the United States in any year is written annually by the American Red Cross, according to Chairman John Barton Payne, commenting on the report for the year ending June 30, 1934, which has just been issued in Washington.

Because of the charter provision which places upon the Red Cross the responsibility for disaster relief, our chapter and staff workers are notified of all calamities of storm and fire and flood," he continued. "The emergency period may prove to be brief, in cases where the victims have their own resources to draw on. While it lasts, however, whether it brings the immediate need of food, clothing and shelter for the homeless, or entails a program of investigation and rehabilitation, the Red Cross is the official director of all relief."

A great variation in type, and a wide geographical distribution, characterize the 103 disasters reported last year. Tornadoes, hurricanes, hailstorms and other storms made up almost one half of the total. Especially numerous were the tropical storms which swept in from the sea to the Atlantic and Gulf Coast region. There were 21 storms of this type, establishing a new record for frequency.

Next in number to storms were disasters of fire, the report shows. Red Cross aid was given following 25 fires in the United States and insular possessions. The most spectacular was the Chicago stockyards fire, where Red Cross workers arrived shortly after the fire started, administering relief until the emergency period passed, giving first aid to about 1,000 persons.

Floods caused serious damage in some sections, 17 calling for Red Cross relief. Three epidemics were reported, and three epidemics of malaria and typhoid fever. A school bus wreck was one of the year's tragedies for which Red Cross funds were needed for relief and rehabilitation.

Technique acquired by the Red Cross in these disasters and the hundreds of others we have handled is at the service of the public," Chairman Payne said. "To make this possible the disaster relief service has issued a manual containing instructions for chapters interested in advance preparations for emergencies. Disaster institutes were held last year in 33 strategic locations, to enable Red Cross and civic workers to formulate plans for possible disaster emergencies in their communities."

Support of the disaster relief activities of the Red Cross comes from the annual roll call held each year from Armistice Day to Thanksgiving Day. Contributions are to be staged, will be similarly beautified.

TEXAS VISITORS CAN FIND UTOPIA OR EVEN PARADISE

(Star Telegram) Where's Elm? Not where you can reach him by merely adding Texas to his name—but Charlie and Gus and Fred are. Charlie is a town in Cay county. Gus is in Burleson and Fred is in Tyler.

Texas is approaching its centennial, but in a hundred years you could not guess all the strange names that have been given to the towns within its vast reaches in a length of time. Incidentally, here is one named Time, too. They range from the Sublime (in Lavaca County) to the ridiculous. For example, Mud in Travis County, or Noodle in Jones and Nix in Lampasas.

We can go from Utopia in Travis down to Earth in Lamb County. And—Goodnight—there's an Eden in Concho, an Elysian Fields in Harrison and Paradise in Wise. We may meet our Fate in Rockwall or an actual Fairy in Hamilton.

The nomenclature of Texas towns is as democratic, for the most part, as a Muleshoe, a Board House or a Red Barn, but we are not lacking in either Nobility or Regality. We have a King and a Queen City and Regency. A regency, it will be noted, is what is ruling in Jugoslavina, during the nonage of the boy monarch. Texas has not only its Regency, but its Rule as well.

What's in a name? Two Texas towns are Barnum and Bailey. Jim Wells County has both Alice and Ben Bolt. After mentioning Caps and Climax, it seems fitting to call attention that there is a Coy City and a Dimple. We have a Birthright and a Nursery, a Baby's Head and Dad's Corner. The best town in the State is in Reagan County. It's always Friday in Trinity County. It's Halfway in Hale County, but its Midway in Dawson, Madison and Upshur. You get the Odds in Limestone.

Ces Vee, Oce and Okay are our alphabetical contributions. We have a Novice and at the other end of the scale, a Pioneer. We have a Plymouth a Pilgrim and a Mayflower, and—fancy that!—a Bonus and a Leg on. There's a Mckey, but no mouse, and a Fife but no drum. Also we lack a Pythias for our Damon, a Brutus for our Caesar and what's for our Jonah. We have Iago and Desdemona and Verona, but no two gentlemen. Although we have no papers for our Pckwick we have our own Dickens.

Hope and Necessity are forever with us. Thanks to the names of our towns, we are not without Merit, Grit, Pep and Pluck. We have Energy, Ginger and Pride. Some are pert and Potty, but others are Choce, Placid and Thrifty, although two are Plum, Loco.

For attraction there is a Magnet in Texas. We have a Big Spring, Sweetwater and a Cistern. Even in times of a drought we have towns that are Jolly and Happy; we have Joy and a Lark. You guessed it—we have a Hobby. And we enjoy Comfort.

It's a great State in spite of its Bigfoot. We are never without Cash, Dikero and a Dime Box, and there may well be Gold at the bottom of our Rainbow.

Colorado, Ohio, and Nevada; China, Crete, Egypt, England, Ireland, Malta, Italy, Macedonia, Nubia, Scotland, Sudan and Turkey. Among our prominent "cities" are: Athens, Atlanta, Belgrade, Boston, Carthage, Cleveland, Columbus, Detroit, Dublin, Egan, Ekhart Fairbanks Gary, Gen a, Liverpool, London, Los Angeles, Manchester, Memphis, Miami, Moscow, Naples, Newark, Newcastle, New York, Nome, Omaha, Paducah, Paris, Pasadena, Portland, Richmond, Roanoke, Rochester, Rock Island, Salem Saratoga, San Juan, Scranton, Seattle, South Bend, St. Paul, Tacoma, Tokio, Toledo, Trenton, Trinidad, Troy, Vienna, Warsaw, Washington and Westport.

BARB-WIRE MARKS PASSING OF OPEN CATTLE RANGES

San Antonio, Oct. 31.—(Special) The great open cattle ranges of Texas are no more. Barb-wire fence doomed the open range sixty-three years ago. The colorful era of the "big pastures" has passed, too, in accord with economic demands, and visitors to Texas' Centennial celebrations to be held in 1936 at San Antonio, Houston, Galveston, Brenham, Nacogdoches, Huntsville, Gonzales, Galveston, Dallas and other cities, will find only a few of the original old ranch houses standing on their shrunken domains.

Although barb-wire fence had been on the market for some time, Texas cattle men had refused to believe that a few prickly wires could hold penned their wild Longhorn cattle until 1871. In that year, John W. Gates—later known as "Bet-a-Million" Gates of the New York Stock Exchange—bought up a discouraged barb-wire agency in San Antonio, fenced off a plaza in the city, secured a hundred Longhorns, hired some vaqueros, and with much ballyhoo announced a public demonstration.

The cattlemen turned out in full force. Again and again Gates' vaqueros, whooping and yelling, drove the wild range steers against the barb-wire. It always turned them back. The demonstration was dramatically convincing; yet many of the cattlemen maligning the new-fangled fence and fought obstinately for the open range.

In those days men ran for office on a free-grass platform. But barb-wire had started its relentless march across the plains, checking off into ranches the wild prairies and grass lands. In time, the "big pastures" succumbed; cotton went up and cattle went down, and cowboys rode cultivators with their boots and spurs on.

Th: News has an apology to make; to Maasen Produce an all others concerned for an error we made in that firm's ad. in last week's paper. Mr. Maasen had told us to run the same ad. we had run for him in a previous issue, except that he wanted the line "prices up on poultry and eggs" left out. Unintentionally we reset the advertisement putting this line into it. Th: error was the cause of some misunderstanding among readers of the News and much explaining on Mr. Maasen's part, for which Th: News force was wholly to blame. We greatly regret the error both on Mr. Maasen's account and on account of the trouble caused produce raisers and other produce merchants, but errors will creep into the best of papers.

Wells Club Ladies Meet With Mrs. McLaurin The Wells Club Ladies met at the home of Mrs. John McLaurin, Miss Robb being present and giving a demonstration on salad making which everyone enjoyed very much. Those present were Meses. Askew, C. Bolch, Dewey Greenwood, Warren Tucker, W. J. Jordan, Levi Gray, Gooding, Helen Askew, Fred McGinty, W. G. Allen, John McLaurin, Johnnie Alexander, A. E. Tyler, Shelby Baucum, D. J. Bolch, J. E. Etter.

E. I. Hill, wife, and son, Bill, are in Hamilton, where they were called Friday morning to the bedside of the former's mother, Mrs. Rachael Hill, aged 88, who is critically ill and not expected to recover.

E. H. Bouillon has gone to Temple, where he is in a clinic for medical examination. He went by way of Fort Worth on a business mission. Mrs. Dr. Winstead of Wichita Falls and Mrs. Beulah Shaw of Slaton visited Mrs. J. O. Patterson last week. Mrs. Winstead is a cousin and Mrs. Shaw the mother of Mrs. Patterson.

A girl was born to Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Weaver Monday. The little Miss, named Alma Joyce, made her arrival on Mr. Weaver's birthday, and employees at the postoffice reported he was so happy he was not able to report for work Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jess Gurley and little Ronnie Mack visited in Seagraves last week-end.

J. W. Fortenberry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Fortenberry of this city, underwent an appendicitis operation at Lubbock sanitarium this afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Clements of Lubbock were visitors in the A. O. P. Nicholson home Saturday night and Sunday Mrs. Clements is a daughter of the Nicholsons.

"Why... I never knew that before!"

Scarcely a day passes that we do not hear this or some similar expression of complete surprise when some feature of the Gas Radiant Heater is demonstrated. Many, for instance, are astonished at its amazing efficiency... how it utilizes and consumes every particle of gas; leaving not even the slightest trace of odor... how it sends an instant flood of glowing heat to the far corners of the room how simply and easily it may be adjusted to whatever room temperature is desired at the moment.

There are styles and colors to suit any decorative scheme. See your gas appliance dealer.

TEXAS WAS ONCE THE HOME OF OVER 25,000 INDIANS

Livingston, Nov. 6.—(Special)—Tourists speeding over the network of highways in Texas in 1936 to attend the various celebrations to be staged by such cities as San Antonio, Houston, Goliad, Brenham, Nacogdoches, Huntsville, Gonzales, Galveston and Dallas in observance of the Texas Centennial will find it difficult to realize that the vast domain now so easily negotiated in a matter of hours instead of days, was, less than eighty years ago, a virgin land that knew no mode of transportation other than that via horseback, the ox-team and wagon train; a land in portions of which the buffalo and other wild animals, now almost extinct, roamed in large numbers.

Also at that time, the State was the home of over 25,000 Indians, representing fourteen different tribes. The Gonzales Inquirer of Feb. 23, 1856, gives the total Indian population of Texas at that time as 25,000, basing the figures on returns from the Texas Indian Agencies and statistics on file at the Indian Bureau in Washington. Of this number, 20,000 were Comanches and Kiowas, the representation of other tribes, with the exception of the Apaches, being much smaller. The account says:

"Most of the powerful tribes are so far from settlements as to give no trouble. It is the small and broken bands, which furnish most of the marauders."

There is in Texas today only a remnant of Indians, the census of 1930 showing slightly more than 1,000, and the only distinct Indian settlement left is that of the Alabamas and Coushattis on the reservation in the eastern part of Polk county.
