FACULTY FOR 1936 COMPLETE

Board Elects Home Economics And Fine Arts Teachers, Completing Faculty For Schools

With the election on Monday night of Mrs. G. B. Sherrod, the former Miss Thelma Greenwade, as teacher of Home Economics, the faculty of the Tahoka schools for the ensuing year has been completed.

Mrs. Sherrod was formerly home demonstration agent of Lynn county and taught for a year or two in the O'Donnell school. She had also had some teaching experience before coming to Lynn county. She succeeds Mrs. Charles Nelms as Home Economics teacher. Mrs. Nelms not being an applicant for the position this year.

With the above exception, the present faculty in its entirety has been re-elected. Mrs. J. K. Applewhite will also teach Music again and Miss O'Bea Forrester has been chosen as the Expression teacher.

The faculty proper for the next school year will consist of the following members:

High School building—J. B. Pace Jr., Superintendent; J. T. Carter, Principal; Prentice Walker, Coach; J. D. Strickland, Vocational Agriculture; Mrs. Lenore Tunnell, History and English; Mrs. Lucille Bludworth, Spanish, History and English; Mrs. G. B. Sherrod, Vocational Home Economics; Mrs. S. H. Assiter, Seventh Grade.

Central Ward Building—W. K. Mathis, Principal and teacher of Sixth Grade; Miss Lowell Douthitt, Fifth Grade; Miss Linnie Tippit, Fourth Grade; Mrs. Deck Dunagan, Fourth and Fifth; Mrs. W. D. Smith Jr., Third; Mrs. W. O. Henderson, Second; Mrs. A. B. Swan, Primary; Mrs. L. F. Craft, Primary; Miss Anna Ray Bishop, Second and Third.

South Ward Building—A. R. Bostick, Principal and Teacher; Miss Mable Magard, Teacher.

Colored Teacher—Para Lee Saylor. The present janitors have also been given their jobs for the ensuing year: J. W. Jaquess at the high school and Dwain Peters at Central Ward. Mr. Jaquess has been janitor at the high school continuously since the building was constructed.

Alvin Hicks, president of the school board, reports that the school is closing this year with all teachers fully paid, notwithstanding the fact that the district thus far has received only $11.00 per pupil from the State. Two additional dollars per capita are to be received this month and $3.50 per capita later. Financially, the Tahoka district is in better condition than most other districts in this section of the state.

Rural Routes Are Inspected By Wells

The United States Postal Department requires that postmasters at all post offices having rural routes shall inspect these routes in the month of May each year.

Postmaster W. C. Wells recently made an inspection of the routes leading out of Tahoka and on Monday called our attention to the large number of inadequate, run-down, or otherwise defective mail boxes on these routes. Many of the boxes had neither the number nor the name of the owner thereon. Many of the lids were gone. Some were leaky. Some were erected at improper places. There were various and sundry defects.

Notices to the owners were placed in all these defective boxes. If the owner fails or refuses to remedy the defects, the Post Office Department at Washington may discontinue the service, but Mr. Wells believes that most of the owners will gladly comply with the requirements of the Department promptly. It is important that they do so.

The O'Donnell Index last week reported that similar conditions existed on the mail routes out of O'Donnell and made this very pertinent comment.

"In view of the fact that numerous bills have been offered in Congress from time to time to have rural routes placed upon contract basis the same as star routes are, or to otherwise curtail the rural service which, as everyone knows, is an

'DEATH' AGAIN VISITS JAYNES

Floyd Jaynes' Little Daughter Dies; Climaxes Long Series Of Family Misfortunes

Funeral services for little Thelma Rae Jaynes, 5, daughter of Mr and Mrs. Floyd Jaynes, were conducted at the Methodist Church at 10:00 o'clock Wednesday morning by Rev. H. C. Smith, the pastor, assisted by Rev. Berry Baker of Tye. Interment was in the Tahoka Cemetery under the direction of Harris & Applewhite, undertakers.

Little Thelma Rae died at Merkel about ten o'clock Monday night after a prolonged attack of pneumonia. Her death marked the climax of a series of misfortunes and sorrows that have recently befallen this year.

Negro Jailed For Assault To Murder

Walter Collins, colored, is in jail on a charge of assault to murder, his victim being Charley Malone, also colored.

The assault occurred Friday night "over on the hill", the negro section of town. Collins used a knife with almost deadly effect. Without saying a word, according to witnesses, he approached Malone and began using his knife. The first wound was inflicted near the mouth, and at the second stroke the blade entered the face directly under one of the eyes and was broken off.

The wounded man was brought to a physician, who was unable to find any knife blade in Malone's face, as he claimed, but on Tuesday an x-ray examination was made and the blade located. About three inches of the blade was completely buried in the face. Malone has been suffering intensely and is in a serious condition but the doctor says he will probably recover.

The cause of the trouble has not been revealed.

St. Clair Manager For Cicero-Smith

Homer St. Clair, who has been here in charge of the local Cicero Smith Lumber yard since the death of J. H. Powell, has been named as permanent local manager. His family will remove to Tahoka as soon as school closes at Lamesa next week.

Mr. St. Clair and family resided here a long time, his wife being practically reared here. For many years he was with the Cicero Smith Lumber Company here and then made manager at O'Donnell. Later he was transferred to Lamesa as local manager there.

Many friends here will be glad to learn that this good family is coming back home.

Tahoka Tigers Win Game Over Snyder

The Tahoka Tigers, our colored baseball team, went down to Snyder Sunday and won a game from the Snyder team, 14 to 4.

On the previous Sunday they defeated Crosbyton by a score of 35 to 12. They had played one game this season prior to that time, which they lost. They were defeated by Midland to the tune of 14 to 5.

Mrs. Spurgeon O'Neal of Lubbock is spending the week here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Walker.

Five Farmers Go To Washington

Lynn county farmers sent five representatives to Washington to list the President and Congress know that they favored the continuation of the AAA program and the processing tax, as follows: Tom Hale, J. E. Morgan, Marshall Stewart, Lamar McLaurin, and R. W. (Buster) Fenton. Mr. Fenton went as a substitute for Joe Poindexter, who found it impossible to go.

The party left here last Saturday and they are expected back tomorrow. Probably they will have some interesting stories to relate upon their return.

Peter B. Kyne at His Best in "Golden Dawn"

Peter B. Kyne, that famous writer of absorbing fiction, tells a thrilling tale of love and mystery in GOLDEN DAWN, which will be published as a serial in The Lynn County News. The first installment appears this week—on page three. GOLDEN DAWN, like all of Peter B. Kyne's stories, has the characteristic of appealing simplicity, and the human quality which endears a writer to his readers. Perhaps that is because Kyne had behind him a long and varied experience of life before he ever turned his hand to authorship.

He was born in San Francisco where, working in the wholesale lumber and shipping business, he obtained the material which he afterwards used in the famous "Cappy Ricks" series. He fought in the Spanish-American war, seeing much action in the Philippines. In the World War he was a captain of artillery. With such a background and with a wide knowledge of people gained by rubbing elbows with them all up and down the world, Peter B. Kyne is enabled to write the sort of stories those same everyday people enjoy. In this story of a girl who was really two girls, of her lively adventures and her rescue from the mental shadow by an engaging young doctor, Kyne is at his best. This story has love and mystery, humor, suspense, surprise—and above all, ACTION.

Cato Trial Is Set For Next Monday

Announcement has been made that the case of the Government against W. F. Cato, sheriff of Garza county, Dr. L. W. Kitchen, Dr. V. A. Hartman, and Tom Morgan, a farmer, all charged with the murder of Spencer Stafford, a federal narcotics agent, in Post on February 7, has been set for trial in the Federal Court at Lubbock on Thursday, May 23. It was originally set for trial on Monday, May 20, but was reset in order that minor cases might be disposed of first.

United States District Attorney Clyde Easton and Assistant District Attorney Joe Jones arrived in Lubbock Monday and set up temporary offices in the federal court building. Three other assistants, Clyde G. Hood, Frank B. Potter, and Alex M. Mood, will arrive Friday, it is said.

Defendants will likewise be represented by an array of attorneys. Scott & McLean of Fort Worth and perhaps others will represent Cato. Judge James C. Wilson, who has been on the bench many years, will preside.

This is regarded as the most important case ever tried in the federal court in Lubbock, and it has excited intense interest throughout this entire section of the state.

Cows Freeze To Death During May

Speaking of the near-freezing temperatures here on the third and fourth days of May, Dave Childress said Wednesday that about twenty-five head of cows and calves died from exposure to the cold rain and wind that came at that time.

This is the first time in many years that cows have died from exposure to cold weather in May.

Negro Woman Is Jailed For Theft

A negro woman was placed in jail here the first of the week for the alleged theft or misappropriation of about fifty or sixty dollars worth of bed clothing and other household articles from Mrs. L. F. Craft.

The woman had been working for Mrs. Craft. Since the property is valued at more than $50.00 the case is a felony, and will be investigated by the next grand jury.

LYNN COUNTY YOUNG MEN ENLIST IN ARMY CAMPS

Three young men of Lynn county have enlisted in the U. S. army and have been sent to Fort Bliss at El Paso within the past few days, according to Sergeant T. W. Mattson, enlistment officer at Lubbock.

These are: Floyd E. Blair of Wilcox, and M. L. Kuykendall and Oscar Raper of Tahoka.

County Judge W. E. Smith and the members of the commissioners court attended the highway meeting for division No. 5 held in Lubbock last Friday.

Bit Is Still Hung In Test Oil Well

Drillers are still endeavoring to extricate the drill which is hung in the Wanete-Hart test oil well on the T-Bar ranch 10 miles west and 2 miles south of Tahoka.

Since they have thus far been unsuccessful there have been no new developments since our report last week. Practically all the leases have been extended and drillers will be ready to resume operations as soon as the bit can be dislodged.

Federal Charge Filed On Hogue

Federal authorities have filed charges against R. L. Hogue for selling liquor without having paid the U. S. internal revenue tax, as we understand it. The defendant was arrested here and taken to Lubbock recently.

Sheriff B. L. Parker also has a negro in jail for selling beer in violation of the state law. His name is Willie Dodson. His case will be investigated by the next grand jury that convenes here.

Texas' Quota For CCC Is Increased

Texas' quota of the young men who may join the Civilian Conservation Corps has been nearly doubled that of last year, according to a press report from Austin. Texas will be allowed 26,880 this year as against 14,200 last year.

This means that the quota for Lynn county will likewise be almost doubled. Enrollment will take place between June 15 and August 31. The age limits have been broadened also. Heretofore the limits have been 18 to 25. This year it will be 18 to 28. Applications must be made to the county administrator, Judge B. P. Maddox.

FORMER VAN ZANDT COUNTY RESIDENTS TO HAVE PICNIC

H. M. McEachern of Woodrow announces that the annual get-together meeting of Van Zanders in West Texas will be held in Shannon Park in Lubbock on the fourth Sunday in this month, May 26.

All former residents of Van Zandt county are invited to come and bring a basket dinner.

ALL THE SICK IMPROVING

All the Tahoka people who recently underwent appendicitis operations in Lubbock hospitals are said to be improving satisfactorily.

E. J. Cooper was brought home Monday and is improving nicely.

A. B. Swan is improving more slowly and it will probably be necessary for him to remain in the hospital another week, but his condition is said to be satisfactory. Hall Robinson is steadily improving and it is hoped that he may be able to come home Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Sults spent Sunday at Jayton with his mother.

34 Seniors Are To Finish Friday Eve

MANY ATTEND C. C. MEETING

Next Convention Goes To Amarillo; Nichols Is President For Coming Year

Many Tahoka people were in attendance at the annual convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce in Plainview Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of this week.

J. K. Applewhite represented Tahoka in the directors' meetings, and was re-appointed a director of

CIA PRESIDENT WILL BE HEARD

Marion Draper Is Valedictorian And Thelma Jo Griffin Is Salutatorian

When the curtain falls at the close of the graduation exercises at the high school auditorium here Friday night, another most successful school term will have ended, marking the close of the fifth year of Mr. J. B. Pace Jr. as superintendent.

Eighteen girls and sixteen boys will receive their diplomas from the hands of the president of the school board, Alvin Hicks, and it will doubtless be a proud moment in the life of each of them.

Miss Thelma Jo Griffin will be the salutatorian and Miss Marion Draper valedictorian.

The class address will be delivered by one of the most distinguished educators in Texas, Dr. L. H. Hubbard, President of the Texas State College for Women, better known as the C. I. A., at Denton.

Scholarships will be awarded by Superintendent J. B. Pace Jr.

The high school faculty for the term which is drawing to a close consists of Supt. J. B. Pace Jr., J. T. Carter, principal and teacher of Mathematics; Prentice Walker, coach and teacher of Science; J. D. Strickland, teacher of Vocational Agriculture; Mrs. Lenore M. Tunnell, teacher of History and English; Mrs. Lucille Bludworth, teacher of English and Spanish; and Mrs. Charles Nelms, teacher of Home Economics. Mrs. Assiter has been teacher of the seventh grade at the high school.

The graduating class consists of the following members:

Boys—Leo Brooks, Raymond Bulman, Glen Boydston, Bryce Barlett, Joe Bob Billman, Robert Drennon, Garland Edwards, B. J. Emanuel, Harris Frazier, Ernest Gill, Dale Jones, Walthal Littlepage, A. R. Milliken, O. J. Sproles, Dwayne Taylor and Preston Strasner.

Girls—Ruby Carpenter, Maxine Connolly, Carmen Crawford, Marion Draper, Cora Lee Deaver, Thelma Griffin, Louise Jennings, Sylene Littleton, Elsie Dee McKaughan, Edith Macha, Mary Helen Park, Mable Perkins, Martha Helen Powell, Pauline Smelser, Lenora Sikes, Mary Gene Tippit, Thelma Thrallkill, and Gaynell Tate.

Grammar School Exercises Tonight

The Seventh grade graduation exercises are to be held in the high school auditorium tonight, beginning at 8:30 o'clock.

Fifty-four members of the class are to receive their certificates of promotion to the high school, which are to be presented by Alvin Hicks, president of the school board.

The salutatory address is to be given by Dick Bosworth and the valedictory address by Mary Margaret Tunnell.

Hon. G. H. Nelson, district attorney, is to deliver the class address.

A piano duet by Faye and Flay Perkins, a song by a group of girls, and the class song will constitute the remainder of the program. Mrs. J. K. Applewhite will be piano accompanist.

Invocation will be by Rev. H. C. Smith and the benediction by Rev. George A. Dale.

Commencement Sermon. All the churches of the city dismissed their services last Sunday morning in order that they might attend the Commencement services at the high school auditorium.

Elder R. P. Drennon, local minister of the Church of Christ, delivered the "Baccalaureate" discourse—an earnest, thoughtful message, which was much enjoyed by the congregation and the members of the graduating class alike.

Clay Bennett went down to Whitney in Hill county Wednesday for Mrs. Bennett and the baby, who have been visiting there this week.

Phebe K. Warner Died Tuesday

Many friends here and throughout the state were grieved to learn Wednesday morning of the death of Mrs. Phebe K. Warner of Claude, which occurred early Tuesday night.

Mrs. Warner had long been one of the most prominent and active club women of the state, was a most capable and lovable woman, and had many devoted friends throughout the state. She had visited Tahoka a number of times and had many friends and admirers here. Her husband, Dr. Warner, died last August.

Mrs. Warner was held in such high esteem by the women of Tahoka that when they organized their first civic club here in 1922 they named it the Phebe K. Warner club. It is the only women's club in the state bearing this name, according to Mrs. J. W. Elliott, a charter member. The club is today the outstanding civic club of Tahoka. The club has sent a beautiful spray of flowers for the funeral.

Smith To Address Classes At Wilson

Rev. H. C. Smith has been invited to deliver an address at the Junior-Senior banquet at Wilson Friday night of this week, and he has accepted the invitation, though with some reluctance because of the fact that it will render it impossible for him to attend the graduating exercises here on that night.

Brother Smith preached the Commencement sermon to the graduating class of the O'Donnell school last Sunday. He reports that the attendance, the music, the service, and everything about it except the sermon was just fine. He declines to brag on the sermon, but our guess is that it also was excellent.

There were eighteen members of the graduating class.

F. L. Prater Has Cotton Coming Up

F. L. Prater who lives about six miles east of town was here Monday and reported that he had 70 acres of cotton beginning to come up. Probably there are others, but this is the first we have heard of in the county. Possibly there will be quite a bit of cotton up by the end of this week in some localities.

A nice shower fell over a limited territory east of town Saturday afternoon and a more general shower Monday morning. These showers in addition to the nice rain of two weeks ago have afforded enough moisture in many places to insure stands of cotton and feed.

Slow Rain Covers All Of County

A slow rain which seems to have covered most of the county fell Tuesday night. The precipitation in Tahoka amounted to .22 of an inch. It was heavier in some localities while some sections got no rain. A shower amounting also to .22 of an inch fell early Monday morning. The total precipitation in Tahoka this month has reached 1.34 inches.

Many framers have been planting and a few report cotton and feed coming up.

GOLDEN DAWN

CHAPTER I

By PETER B. KYNE

Copyright by Holt Rinehart & Winston, Inc.

Mr. Theodore Gatlin's married life had demonstrated to him the absolute fallacy of the ecclesiastical contention that marriages are made in heaven.

In the beginning he had married Louise Hanchett for a number of reasons, none of them really important. She was of good family; i. e., her parents were prosperous middle-class folk whom scandal had never touched. They were eminently respectable if a little bovine in disposition and Louise was their only child, and sole heir to such worldly goods as her parents might have accumulated and which Mr. Gatlin believed they were not likely to dissipate; for which reason he did not contemplate having to support them in their helpless age.

These were the common sense reasons which his self-respect as a business man indicated he should conjure to his defense in making this important step; in reality they were merely a sop to his real reason for the step, which was a mad infatuation he mistook for love. Louise Hanchett's cold, classical beauty and Vere de Vere form, which she knew how to dress beautifully and in good taste, had so dazzled him that it never occurred to him to ask himself whether the object of his passion had wearing qualities; if she had common sense; if she was healthy and capable of bearing children; if she was of sound ancestry. However, there was some excuse for this carelessness in Mr. Gatlin's case, as, indeed, there is in the case of all but superman. Engaged as he was in the retail shoe business, he had never heard of Mendel's law, and if anybody, not infrequently found in securing a job and working at it. So when a physician informed him that his hopes of fatherhood were not apt to be realized he had a brilliant idea and broached it to Mrs. Gatlin.

"Let's adopt a baby!" he urged. Louise demurred. She had her doubts as to the advisability of taking over somebody else's troubles—one never knew how an adopted baby was going to turn out—there was no hurry, anyhow—she must have time to consider the idea—her health.

"To h— with your health!" Mr. Gatlin roared, for the first time in his married life becoming vulgar. "Every doctor you've had tells me you're organically sound. You only think you're sick."

"My nerves," she protested, but he silenced her.

"You think too much about yourself and not at all about anybody else, particularly me. What you need is a baby—to fuss with. You'll learn to love it in a month as much as if it was your own flesh and blood."

"I'm afraid you'll not love it, Theodore. You're so cranky and irritable," she defended.

"Listen!" Mr. Gatlin commanded. "I'm at the point where I'm seriously considering suing you for divorce on the grounds that you're a barren woman. In other ways you don't measure up to my idea of a wife and companion. It's no fun for me to come home night after night and have to listen to your tales of woe—"

"You are devoid of sympathy," his wife charged. "You neglect me."

"Maybe I've failed," said Mr. Gatlin, "but by Jiminy, I've tried, and I'm willing to keep on trying a little longer. Only, from now on, we're going to try my methods, and adopting a baby is one of them. If that fails I'll take the baby over myself and we'll call in the lawyers."

She knew she had gone as far as she dared. Even the dullest of married women know when that point is reached; that is, they know when it has been reached for that day.

"Well, if we can find a baby of good, sound, intelligent, healthy parentage," she assented grudgingly.

"I've got one staked out," Mr. Gatlin cried joyfully, "and I know its parents. They're sound as grindstones. I know the grandparents of the child on both sides."

"I don't know them personally," he went on, "but I've had a doctor look up their records. High class people. No insanity and no crookedness in them."

"I'll have to meet these grandparents and parents, Theodore."

"Unfortunately," he replied, "they're all dead."

"What did they die of?" "The grandparents on both sides, of old age; the father of the baby was an army captain and he got killed in a fight in the Sulu Islands. The mother died in childbirth and the baby is in the infants' shelter in San Francisco."

"Boy or girl, Theodore?"

"Boy."

"I could never stand a boy, Theodore. I must have a girl."

Mr. Gatlin grinned evilly. "I figured you'd try to edge out of it that way. It isn't a boy. It's a girl."

Louise Gatlin was not very intelligent, but she was sufficiently so to realize that for once in his life Mr. Gatlin was due to have his own way. That night as he lay abed, Mr. Gatlin suddenly gave himself a prodigious poke in the ribs. "What a jackass I was not to consult that doctor before I married Louise," he groaned. "When I thought I could father a child of my own I didn't pay any more attention to its ancestry than I would to selecting a necktie. Anything that looked well would fill the bill. But when it came to selecting some other man's baby, I gave the job all the attention I would give to the purchase of a piece of property. I wouldn't think of buying a lot until I had run down the record of the title and satisfied myself there were no flaws in it. If men would only employ that much common sense in selecting their wives—or wives, in selecting their husbands—I know what a nervous, complaining, selfish old shrew her mother was—what's that law the doctor spoke of? Ah, yes, Mendel's law. The law that like shall produce like. Simple! Natural! Any fool should have thought of that—and yet it took an old monk—a celibate—to promulgate the news. Where—where—"

"Theodore," said his wife, from the other twin bed, "I should think you might be more considerate of me than to whistle like that and wake me up."

"I'm so happy, darling, I couldn't help it. Forgive me."

"Have you thought of a name for the baby?"

"I have, Penelope."

"A horrid name. Where under heaven did you get that name?"

To her unspeakable amazement he quoted a verse from Henry Herbert Knibbs' poem, "Out There Somewhere."

"We'll dance a merry saraband from here to drowsy Samarband; Along the sea, across the land, the birds are flying south. And you, my sweet Penelope, out there, somewhere you wait for me, With buds of roses in your hair and kisses on your mouth."

They went by train to San Francisco next day. With the child in his arms and accompanied by his wife and the lady manager of the infants' shelter, Mr. Gatlin registered in the Superior court and legally adopted the daughter of Capt. Ronald Elliot and Janet Elliot, both deceased.

From the courtroom they went to Grace cathedral and had her baptized in the Episcopalian faith—out of courtesy to Mrs. Gatlin's latest religious crotchets, Mr. Gatlin having no religious affiliations whatsoever. There was a slight hiatus here. The pastor had just sprinkled water on the little dark head and said: "I baptize thee in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost, and give thee the name of—" when Mrs. Gatlin interrupted softly—"Lucretia."

"Nothing doing," Mr. Gatlin declared. "Lucretia! Wasn't that the woman that poisoned people—a wop woman? Her name shall be Penelope. I like that name."

The pastor smiled faintly. Having already sensed that all of the enthusiasm for the child was Mr. Gatlin's, he was seized with a perverse desire to please the sentimental fellow, so he said quickly:—"and give thee the name of Penelope."

Mr. Gatlin hugged Penelope to him and kissed her back of the left ear.

"You mustn't kiss her, Theodore," his wife protested. "Kissing is unsanitary. You might give her some sort of disease."

"Oh, lord," Mr. Gatlin murmured, "will I ever cease making hideous mistakes?"

For in that illuminating instant he realized that in adopting Penelope he had made a terrible mistake. His wife didn't want her! At the very moment of the commencement of his experiment he knew it was a failure. However, it was no part of his wife's intention (at least for the present) that he should realize this, so she took the baby from him.

Within the week, Theodore Gatlin, having communicated with the adjutant general of the army at Washington, ascertained that Capt. Ronald Elliot's body had been brought home from the island of Sulu and interred in the national cemetery at the Presidio of San Francisco. So he had Penelope's mother disinterred from the Potter's field and reinterred beside the soldier, after which he gave orders for the erection of a suitable monument over them.

Viewing him from every angle, he was a most peculiar retail shoe dealer. For a month all went well with the Gatlins, and then Mrs. Gatlin issued her fiat.

"Theodore," she said, "I must insist on one thing. Penelope must never know that you and I are not her natural parents. I feel that such knowledge might detract from her love for us."

"Boy or Girl, Theodore"

"That won't work any hardship on me, my dear," he replied. "I feel just as enthusiastic about her as if I were her real father."

"Another thing, Theodore. I love Penelope dearly, as you know, but I can't be made a slave to her. Do you realize, dear, how she keeps me tied down?"

He gritted his teeth, and his wife went on: "We simply must have a nurse for her."

"Have two of 'em," he growled. "Whatever she needs she shall have."

"That's right. Start spoiling her immediately."

It was always like that. However, as the child developed, she brought Mr. Gatlin each day closer to happiness than he had ever before. She was his refuge. She was a healthy baby and hence a happy baby, and there was not the slightest chance that she would ever be spoiled by having her own wishes perennially deferred to. If Louise Gatlin accomplished nothing else worth while (and this she accomplished unconsciously) she did nothing to inflame Penelope's ego, which, as everybody knows, is the breeding ground of human selfishness, which, in turn, accounts for the unpopularity of most of humanity. Mr. Gatlin, of course, would have ended, in secret, much of this good work, had not the realization come to him quite early in Penelope's little girlhood that any demonstration of excessive affection on his part was inevitably counteracted by an excessive severity on the part of his wife toward the child.

Smart Daytime Fashions of Lace

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

A LACE epidemic is raging throughout the realm of fashion. You couldn't escape wearing lace if you would and you wouldn't if you could, not after you have seen the charming, smart and flattering apparel designers are creating of lace this season.

Not in all the centuries past has lace played so versatile a role as it is now playing. Fashion has decreed that we are not only to drape and to dance and attend functions of high degree clad in filmy, exquisitely patterned lace but we are to wear tailored lace in the daytime, go swimming in lace bathing suits, make our smartest sports clothes of lace tufted to the occasion and if we keep pace with the mode our lace-gloved hands will carry handbags of lace. The newest number on the summer program is the all-lace hat; also cape, jackets and evening wraps that are fashioned of lace.

The idea of lace used in a fabric way has been welcomed by designers as a new avenue of expression for their talents. The outstanding gesture of the moment is the shirtwaist dress which is tailored of fabriclike lace. It is smart in navy and other dark colors and it is adorable in the new pastels. We predict that the new season will not be far spent ere the majority of us will be going about in these flattering lace shirtwaist fashions. For a summer of travel and week-end visits a lace shirtwaist is ideal, for it packs without creasing or wrinkling and it looks smart wherever one goes in the daytime.

Lace has been shown in beautiful and striking creations at every Paris collection this season and our own American designers are equally as enthusiastic and excited in their use of it. While lace is fashionable for every hour of the twenty-four, the big news about lace is its acceptance as a medium for practical daytime clothes.

One of the most distinctive daytime lace costumes of the Paris season is shown to the right in the illustration. It is a Martial et Armand creation in answer to the call for an ensemble that would be appropriate for the races without having to resort to a formal full-length gown. A beautiful pattern of ecru in cotton lace was selected to pose over black silk. Both the dress and jacket are made of this combination of black all-silk crepe and lace. The black crepe is used also for the belt which ties like a sash.

While the all-lace theme is vastly important, it is not any more so than is that of lace used in a trimming way. Lace edgings and trimmings cannot be left out even in tailored things. For instance Dikusha tailors a blouse (pictured to the left) of navy blue linen using narrow white val lace on the sleeves and the cuffs and in rows up and down the front. In fact, all of the French designers are making voluminous use of val lace for trimming this season.

Speaking of lace sports fashions, you will be wanting one of the new jacket-wraps made of cotton lace in the color you like best. They are to be worn over your linen and pique frocks this summer.

GRAY IS MODISH

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

Among best dressed followers of fashion gray is proving a favorite. Gray weaves fashioned into coats, suits and tailored street dresses make special appeal. The gray woolen dress here pictured is typical of the sort of costumes worn by the smart set. The stunning cape is lined with red woolen and is detachable, in that it buttons on to the sleeves.

Smart Sport Suits

Little tailored jackets with detail of pleats and fullness at the back in men's suiting, flannel or gabardine worn with odd skirts will constitute smart sports suits this spring.

Wrist Ruffles

Wrist ruffles are flaunting their graceful folds on some of the new and dressier blouses. They usually occur with jabots or ruffled collars.

NEW BLOUSES HAVE FEMININE ACCENTS

When considering blouses, remember they have gone feminine. Some of them are even made of chiffon. Soft lines, delicate colors, ruffles, all the typical feminine accents, make this season's styles.

For example, shirring is smart and new. Shirred collars, cuffs and pockets, shirred shoulders, even shirred sleeves, are among the most popular style notes. One of the smartest of these is shirred in black at the neckline, just as a peasant frock. But it doesn't stop there. Three rows of shirring are used to set the sleeves into the blouse.

Monograms to Be Popular

With Maids This Season

The ultra-smart maid and matrons will bear labels this season. Handsome monograms in the new modernistic letters are available for handbags and vanity cases.

There are brooches in beautifully-wrought metal or wood or rhinestones for scarfs and the lapels of tailored suits.

There are broad metal bracelets with an open side into which initials may be slipped, and a smart metal fob on the same principle. Even pull-on gloves are being lettered with small initials especially designed for gloves.

Cellulosic Tissue Fabrics

All Glitter Like Metal

Wonders no end! The new "glass fabric" heralded earlier in the year has been duplicated in several cellulosic tissue fabrics for the style-right spring wardrobe.

The fabric is much like the tissue used in wrappings and has a mystifying effect when first seen. It is stiff as malle but very light in weight, it is durable, and glitters like metal cloth.

You'll find it in black, white and rainbow colors, and wear it in glamorous evening gowns, formal blouses and collar and cuff sets that lend a formal note to the street clothes for afternoon.

Would Silence Church Organs for Five Years

Church music comes in for severe criticism at times, and the latest suggestion for improving it is that organs should be silenced for five years.

This isn't the first time that church organs have been regarded with suspicion. When they were first introduced in Scottish churches Presbyterians of the old school disapproved strongly, and called them "kists o' whistles." One old lady, after hearing an organ and choir for the first time, pronounced the service "verra bonny, but oh, what an awfu' way o' spending the Sabbath!"

Even in the Church of England organs haven't been popular among those who like the old plainsong or Gregorian chants. But opinions have always differed as to the beauties of plainsong. A bishop once confessed that when he heard it he wanted to "lie down and howl like a dog."

And when a country parson, who had revived the Gregorian chants, remarked to a visitor: "It was plainsong in which David sang the Psalms to Saul," he received the reply: "No wonder Saul threw a javelin at him."

Plainsong, however, seems to be creeping back into favor, partly because the B. B. C. has helped people to rediscover old English music—London Answers.

CHAIN LETTERS

Chain letters are the rage. In some places people have gone wild. Hundreds of thousands of people seem to imagine that they may swipe up many hundreds of dollars by this graft. Many others expect to make a few dollars by investing a few dimes. All who will stop to figure on the proposition know that if one man wins another must lose.

The original and most popular of these schemes asks the receiver of the letter to send a dime to the person whose name is at the top of a list of five, dropping that name, adding his own, and sending the same on to five other persons. The letter points out that if the chain remains unbroken each person sending such a letter will finally receive $1,562.50, upon an investment of one dime.

If five names will work such wonders, why not make it ten names and reap a real fortune. By using ten names instead of five, the sender of a chain letter would finally receive $4,882,962.50; and if twenty names were used the original sender would swipe up all the wealth of the United States. It's a great game.

State and Federal Government departments, corporations, universities and colleges, and other institutions and interests certainly do waste a lot of money on junk mail matter that they send to the newspapers. Most of this stuff is long-winded articles that no newspaper would print—except occasionally as a filler—and nobody would read it if it were printed. They seem to have no conception whatever as to the kind of matter the reading public demands and that the newspapers therefore can use. We do not know how much these interests pay for extra clerk and stenography hire but the postage bill alone must be enormous. But we guess it has one redeeming feature. It furnishes employment for a lot of folks that otherwise would be out of a job.

We are wondering if the time will not come when the State will care for the health of the people just as it now cares for their education. We are wondering if physicians will not be employed and paid by the State to make frequent and thorough examinations of every individual to detect the symptoms of any lurking or incipient disease and to teach the people the laws of hygiene. This would not require fewer but more physicians perhaps than the present hap-hazard system. Some people now are too poor to have proper medical attention. Yet health is the most important asset that an individual can possess. Yes, some day there will be a New Deal in preventing disease and in caring for the sick.

The Millenium seems to be far in the future yet. Germany at least is not expecting it to be ushered in soon. She is preparing for war, not peace. A Berlin dispatch Sunday said that Germany is entering upon a program to build gas-proof and bomb-proof cellars under the houses of the city. Some of the Government buildings are to be torn down and new buildings constructed on the site, a replica of the buildings above ground to be constructed underground. In addition to this Germany has provided an air force that she boasts is adequate to keep enemy planes out of the capital city. Other nations may dream of worldwide peace, but Germany is having no such dreams.

Believing they were being crooked, 1,000 racing fans staged a riot at the Alamo Downs race track at San Antonio Saturday, tore down the mutuels odds board, threw stones through the press box, and stopped racing for several hours. If the legislature that adjourned Saturday had done its full duty, this and every other pari-mutuel racing establishment in Texas would have been put out of business for at least two years. We can not understand how this kind of gambling house is any better than any other kind.

Dennis Chavez, 47, a New Deal Democrat, who was a bitter rival of Senator Bronson Cutting in New Mexico last year, has been appointed by the Democratic governor of New Mexico as Cutting's successor in the U. S. Senate, Cutting having been killed in an air plane accident two weeks ago. Senator Cutting was an independent Republican. Chavez had previously served two terms in the House. He is said to be an able man.

It may be that there are individuals that nobody loves. If so, they are rare specimens. That any one could fall in love with a bank robber and murderer seems strange indeed. Yet, during the last months of his life, that desperate and condemned criminal, Raymond Hamilton, so completely won the affections of a young girl that she is said to have fainted three times at his bier. Truly, love is a strange thing.

COTTON PAVEMENTS

Alabama is waking up. More than a year ago Louisiana made a successful test of Dr. Carver's paving blocks. A few weeks ago a similar test, the first in Alabama, was made on a stretch of road near Troy, Ala. The unique feature of these blocks is that they are reinforced with cotton lint, thus creating another market outlet for cotton, still the South's staple crop.—Tuskegee Messenger.

The Messenger is an organ of Tuskegee Institute, the well-known industrial college for Negroes. Dr. Carver, a professor of chemistry at that institution, has won wide fame for his practical discoveries in the chemistry of the peanut and the sweet potato. If he has now found a way to utilize lint in paving blocks, and to improve the quality of the blocks at no extra expense, the South will again be debtor to this eminent colored scientist. There is no mistake about the value of his previous labors. Dr. Carver is accepted as a genuine scientist by the foremost scientific societies. Often it has been suggested that cotton might in some manner be used for paving material. It is used in a score of ways besides fabrication, but mostly in connection with products of limited demand. As a paving material of proved value and reasonable economy it would command a wide and continuing market. Cotton is going always to be our South's premier crop, whether foreign countries buy it or not. If the foreigners intend to raise their own or buy from the 'Egyptians and Zillians, all right. But if they stop buying our cotton we will stop buying their gimcracks. Of course we don't want to come to that pass. We do not yearn to hermitize our nation. But if pushed too far, we can and will live on our own.—State Press in Dallas News.

Refreshing Relief

When You Need a Laxative

Because of the refreshing relief it has brought them, thousands of men and women, who could afford much more expensive laxatives, use Black-Draught when needed. It is very economical, purely vegetable, highly effective. Mr. J. Lester Robinson, well known hardware dealer at Martinsville, Va., writes: "I certainly can recommend Black-Draught as a splendid medicine. I have taken it for constipation and the dull feelings that follow, and have found it very satisfactory."

BLACK-DRAUGHT

SEEK TO DRIVE SWINDLING STOCK DEALERS FROM STATE

A concerted effort to drive out of Texas the swindling and fraudulent dealer of stocks and securities will be made under the terms of a new law known as the Texas Securities Law, recently passed by the Legislature. This measure replaces the present outworn and outmoded Texas Blue Sky Law.

Under the terms of the new legislation every dealer and salesman of securities must be registered with the Secretary of State. The licenses of dealers and their agents or salesmen may be revoked for cause by the Secretary of State after a hearing. No salesman will be permitted to use his license in an attempt to influence a customer into believing that the State endorses the stock which he is selling.

Before securing a permit the salesman will be required to tell something of his past history and associations. If it can be established that he has been guilty of fraudulent practices no license will be issued.

The new law is designed on the theory that stocks or securities in themselves do not commit fraud but salesmen sometimes do.

The law seeks to regulate and control the human element.

In no case does the State attempt to say to an investor that "This is a good stock" or "This is a worthless security." The law recognizes the fact that all investments are speculative in varying degrees.

The public is cautioned against the smooth-talking, suave type of salesman who does not present satisfactory and sufficient credentials. The files of the Secretary of State will be open for public inspection to determine whether or not salesmen or dealers are registered. This information is available to those who seek it.

In certain cases the advertising matter used in connection with the sale of securities must be submitted to the Secretary of State. Virtually every type of security commonly used in business comes within the scope of the new law, by virtue of its extensive definitions. No longer will it be possible to evade the law by avoiding the common names of securities. Among other things oil and gas leases are defined as securities.

"The heart of the bill is the control given the State to hold dealers and salesmen accountable for the representations made in the sale of securities," Secretary of State Gerald C. Mann said.

The law was passed by the Legislature at the insistence of Governor Alfred and Secretary of State Gerald C. Mann, and was authored by Representative W. O. Reed of Dallas and sponsored in the Senate by Senators John Hornsby of Austin and E. M. Davis of Brownwood.

Miss Lola Belle Johnson, who has been teaching again the past year in Dawson county, came up to Tahoka Monday to spend a few days with her sister, Mrs. C. N. Woods, before returning to the home of her parents, Rev. and Mrs. D. D. Johnson, in Abilene. Her school work closed Friday. She has been elected to the same position for another year.

MELODY MAIDS OBSERVE NATIONAL MUSIC WEEK

The Melody Maids were graciously entertained in the home of Mrs. H. M. Snowden on May 3, with Julia Snowden as hostess. After the regular business session the members rendered an interesting program of various musical selections. The hostess then served a lovely course of cream and cake, with plate favors of beautiful roses.

In observance of National Music Week the club cooperated with their "Mother", the Minor Baton, in a twilight program of sacred music at the Methodist church Sunday, May 5.

Still observing National Music Week, and also honoring their mothers the Melody Maids held a special meeting last Friday afternoon in the home of Mrs. W. E. Suddarth, with their mothers as guests. The following program was effectively rendered: Vocal duet, Laura Jane Milliken and Polly Anna Walker; reading, Eloise Roberts; solo, Rudell Prater; club pledge and song by entire club and sponsors, Robble Milliken and Ruth Suddarth; solo, Julia Snowden. This program was in keeping with the spirit of Mothers' Day. A plate of delicious white and pink brick cream and angel food cake was served. Five mothers, Mesdames Ed Park, J. O. Tinsley, G. R. Milliken, O. C. Roberts and J. B. Walker were present. Several mothers were unable to attend. Mrs. K. R. Durham was also a guest.—Reporter.

CHURCH OF CHRIST NOTES

We want to express our appreciation for the many kind remarks and also the words of encouragement we have received about the baccalaureate sermon. Also we think it is fine thing, the way the community is cooperating with the school in the closing exercises. It speaks well for the school and town.

I wonder if we appreciate our little town as we should. If we do, let's lay down our hammer and take up our horn. When I can't boost the town I will move. What do you say?

Services for next Lord's Day: Bible study 10 A. M. Preaching 11 A. M. and 8:30 P. M. Communion both morning and evening.

We want every member to put his shoulder to the wheel so that we may not have a summer slump.

Now that school is out let's have our children study the Bible more.

Visit the friendly church next Lord's Day. "Zeal" will be the morning subject. "The Life of Stephen" will be the subject for the evening.—R. P. Drennon.

ARTIST IS PRESENTED IN SUCCESSFUL RECITAL

The Tahoka Music Club presented Miss Madeline Ely, gifted young vocalist, at present a Lynn county teacher from the West Point school, in a very enjoyable recital at the High School auditorium on Thursday evening of Music Week. A large and appreciative audience greeted Miss Ely's first appearance in Tahoka in a full program, and was charmed by her wonderful voice and winning personality.

Her program was in three lovely groups—the first of classics from the French and Italian schools; second, the dainty waltz "Ah! Je veux vivre" from Goudod's "Romeo et Juliette"; and the last a modern group including Campbell-Tipton's "Spirit Flower" and "The Sleigh" by Koutz, which was probably the most enthusiastically received number, by reason of its novelty. She closed the group, as the first, with a familiar and well-loved air, "Mighty Lak a Rose" and "Annie Laurie" respectively. She graciously responded to the applause following her last number with a delightful rendition of "Comin' Thru the Rye."

The Minor Baton Trio, Misses Milliken, Stevens, and Suddarth, sang during the two intermissions of Miss Ely's program, their first group simple offerings of the classic composers, Brahms and Mozart, and the other, two modern favorites, Mrs. Rubie D. Suddarth was the capable and sympathetic accompanist.

Friends of Miss Ely are of the opinion and certainly, the sincere hope that this will be only a beginning of many successful appearances.—Contributed.

MOTHERS' DAY PROGRAM AT METHODIST CHURCH

The Mothers' Day program at the Methodist Church Sunday evening was enjoyed by the large congregation. The musical numbers were the best that have been rendered here in many months. People have been calling Mrs. S. E. Reid since Sunday night to express their appreciation of the work of the large choir. Miss Louise Rodgers gave a beautiful reading.

Two other programs have been arranged for Sunday. Come to Sunday School at 9:45, stay for the eleven o'clock service, then come back for the evening hour. You will enjoy the beautiful numbers that will be given on these occasions. Let us have large numbers next Sunday.

ADDING MACHINE ROLLS now in stock at The News office.

MUSIC CLUBS OF TAHOKA OBSERVE MUSIC WEEK

The Tahoka Music Club and its two connectional federated clubs observed National Music Week with four special events, a larger program than they have attempted heretofore.

The Minor Baton opened the week with a sacred musicale at the Methodist Church on Sunday evening at 5:00 o'clock. The hour's program of hymns, with their stories, and special numbers was heard by a good audience which gave splendid attention. The features were two violin numbers—a solo by Miss Gladys Douthit and a duet "Deep River" by her and Vance Gilderleeve; two numbers, "The Green Cathedral" and "The Prayer Perfect" by the club trio, Misses Milliken, Stevens, and Suddarth; and a vocal solo by Miss Eva Douthit. The orchestra was composed of the two above-mentioned violins, Robert Maddox, trumpet, and Dale Gilderleeve, saxophone, with Miss Marjorie Wells as pianist. The Melody Maids sang three numbers and assisted in the full chorus.

At 5:00 o'clock on Thursday afternoon, at the American Legion hall, members of the Maids and Matrons club of Brownfield were entertained by the Tahoka Music Club. With Marjorie Wells at the piano, a violin solo was beautifully played by Charles Gaignat; as a distinct officer, Mrs. Suddarth gave the informational talk on the Music Federation; Miss Madeline Ely, federation winner and guest artist, sang, with her inimitable charm, the lovely "Spirit Flower" by Campbell-Tipton, and one other number—a juvenile entertainment novelty—comprised the program.

Mrs. Jacobson, president of the visiting club, gave a gracious response to the introductory greetings, and the local president presented both her and Miss Ely with a dainty rose corsage.

A most delectable plate dinner, served on small tables centered with rose bud vases, included pressed chicken, congealed vegetable salads, hors d'oeuvres, hot rolls and butter, fruit pie with whipped cream and iced tea. Tiny brown imitation cellos stood at each plate.

This occasion was one of the most delightful the Music Club has sponsored and their guests were cordially appreciative. A number remained over for the recital that night at the High School by Miss Ely, an account of which has been contributed to another column.

The closing event of the week's observance, when the Melody Maids honored their mothers with a program and social hour on Friday afternoon, is also covered by their own reporter elsewhere in this issue.

This is the third year since the organization of the Tahoka Music Club in September, 1932, that special programs have been locally presented in observance of annual National Music Week. It is hoped that the general public, which accepted invitations to the twilight musicale and to the recital by Miss Ely, enjoyed them as thoroughly as did the participants therein, and will be inclined to cooperate even more fully in the future than in the past. These three clubs are all sincere in their desire to be of service to the cause of good and better music.—Reporter.

APPLEWHITE-WALKER MARRIAGE ANNOUNCED

The approaching marriage of Miss Helen Applewhite and Mr. J. Prentice Walker was announced at an informal bridge party given Saturday afternoon by Miss Anna Ray Bishop to the intimate friends of Miss Applewhite.

Mrs. Edgar Edwards won high score and Mrs. James Taylor was given low score.

An ice course was served to the following: Mesdames Townes, Haney, Roberts, Fenton, Summer Knight, Edgar Edwards, Taylor, R. B. Jones, Turrentine, A. P. Edwards, Evans, Gaignat, Kendrick of Brownfield and Miss Evelyn Wells.

Tea guests were Mesdames Davis, Stewart, Dunagan and J. K. Applewhite.

Caveness, Faubion At Austin Meeting

In company with a number of other school men from neighboring counties, County Superintendent H. P. Caveness went to Austin Sunday, returning Monday afternoon and night. Mr. A. L. Faubion, superintendent at Wilson, was also a visitor at Austin at about the same time.

Mr. Caveness and Mr. Faubion went down to interview the "powers that be" with respect to federal relief funds for some of the public schools of the county for which they had made application. Mr. Faubion was interested only in the school at Wilson but Mr. Caveness was looking after the interests of quite a number of the schools of the county for which he was seeking federal aid.

He secured the approval of claims amounting $7,000.00 provided any federal funds at all are available. He was informed at the Emergency Educational Relief Office before leaving that word had just been received from Washington that no funds for this purpose would be available; but since the Relief Office ever since January has been informing Mr. Caveness and other school men at intervals that funds would be provided for this purpose and have furnished the necessary application forms and made other preliminary preparations for the disbursement of these funds, Mr. Caveness is hopeful that whatever difficulties are in the way may be ironed out and the funds furnished yet.

NO CASH TO BE GIVEN RELIEF CLIENTS ON RRDO'S

To all County Administrators and Field Personnel of the Rural Division:

Our attention has been called to an erroneous impression which apparently is becoming prevalent with regard to the issuance of RRDO's. We refer to the practice of allowing the merchant to issue a part of the RRDO in cash.

In order to eliminate misunderstanding, this is to advise all concerned that in no instance shall a client be permitted to accept cash upon an RRDO when it is filled by the Vendor. This is a policy of long standing on regular Disbursement orders and will prevail also on Rural Disbursement orders.

Those issuing RRDO's should take every precaution to make the amount of the RRDO as nearly as possible exactly equal to the cost of the goods itemized. Where such costs vary slightly from the merchants total cost, the client shall be permitted to accept extra quantities of merchandise commodities item-

Mrs. Davis' Kin Burn To Death

Bob Davis, 45, brother of Mrs. E. S. Davis of this city, and his son, Woodrow, 17, were burned to death in a sleeping room adjoining a dance hall in Hot Springs, New Mexico, early Tuesday morning.

The dance hall is believed to have been set afire, and two men are being sought for the alleged crime, according to press reports.

The bodies of the two men were found after the building had been completely consumed by the fire. A little window in the sleeping room had been nailed shut and it is believed that the men were overcome by the smoke before they could escape from the building.

Funeral services are being conducted at De Leon today, and Mrs. Davis and her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Daniel Davis, have gone to attend the funeral.

LAST PRISON BREAKER IS BACK IN PENITENTIARY

Huntsville, May 15.—The last of four desperate convicts who shot their way out of Eastham prison farm was back in custody Wednesday.

R. C. Tipton, life term killer, emerged from hiding in Madisonville Tuesday night and surrendered to Constable M. A. Humberston and J. R. Gibson without a fight, although he carried a rifle when they surprised him on a highway.

Jack Peddy, leader of the break, was shot to death a few hours after the escape, in which a guard was killed and several others wounded. Sam Grant was killed Monday. Harry Lutlow was captured.

IN SERIOUS CONDITION

L. M. Nordyke, county commissioner, who has been suffering from ulcerated stomach for several months, is confined to his room this week and is reported to be in a rather serious condition. He is showing little improvement but friends are hopeful that physicians may successfully cope with the malady and restore him to his health soon.

Mr. and Mrs. Harley Henderson and children and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hill and daughter attended a Mothers' Day reunion of the B. H. Howard family in Blanco Canyon, Crosby county Sunday.

REPORTS FROM THE COUNTY CLUBS

Miss Sylvia Robb, H. D. Agent

Candlewick Spreads Studied At Meeting

"Unbleached domestic is most frequently used for making candlewick spreads," said Miss Robb, C. H. D. A., to the meeting of the New Lynn H. D. Club members at their meeting with Mrs. Roy Kelley on May 7.

A spread of all white or all cream is always in good taste. It is often very appropriate and if closely tufted it has a richness and beauty which surpasses the colored spreads.

Visitors present were Mesdames Arthur Bartlett, Lewis Kuykendall, Raymond Young, Durwood Bartlett, Ambrose Grey and Tom Cashion.

Those present were: Mesdames John Spears, Weisel, F. S. Barton, Cayeness, Short, Cearley, Browning, Wayne Barton, P. K. Fleming, Luther Reid, Lewis Kenley and Roy Kelley.

Mrs. Pennington Gives Mattress Demonstration
A mattress demonstration was given by Mrs. Willis Pennington to the members of the Draw-Redwine H. D. Club at an all-day meeting on May 10 in the home of Mrs. Pennington.

Beat the mattress when the bat has first been put in the ticking and the ticking sewed up. Beat it well into the corners. Turn it over several times, both side to side and end to end, and beat it well when mattress has been completed.

The ladies all enjoyed a picnic lunch at noon.

Mattress Making Is Demonstrated

Mattress making on the farm was demonstrated by Mrs. Loyd Edwards, bedroom demonstrator of the Midway H. D. Club in an all-day meeting on May 8 in the home of the demonstrator.

In making the roll count nine stripes up from the boxing seam and insert roll needle. Come out in the first stripe below boxing seam. Make stitches 1 1/2 inches apart. In rounding corners take shorter stitches on top of the roll than on the bottom.

Fourteen members and one visitor, Mrs. Littlepage, were present.

Petty Club Girls Plan Hard Work

The Petty 4-H club girls have all agreed to work during the summer months and make their club a larger and stronger club for the coming year than it has been the past year.

Miss Robb, C. H. D. A., met with us and gave us some recipes. The club planned a picnic for May 22 to be held in the Lubbock County Park.

Edith H. D. Club Makes Mattress

The Edith Home Demonstration club met Thursday, May 9, in the home of Mrs. Garland Pennington. The members made a mattress by placing layers of cotton in the mattress tick and fluffing and beating it. The finished product was not only comfortable but was beautiful.

A covered dish lunch was served at the noon hour and every member present enjoyed the day.—Reporter.

Garden Plans Are Discussed At Meeting

Garden plans for the summer months were discussed to the Wells 4-H club members by their agent, Miss Sylvia Robb, at their meeting on May 2.

We were given some recipes for using the products grown in our gardens.

STATE WINS SCHOOL LAND TITLE BY COURT DECISION

Austin, May 15.—The Texas Supreme Court today gave the State title to the minerals in 3,901,300 acres of school land, much of it in productive oil territory, increasing by potential millions the wealth of the public free school fund.

The court ruled the State retained title in all minerals in school land forfeited and repurchased under an act of 1925 and was entitled to one-half bonus, rentals and royalty from oil development.

Although much of the land involved is in oil producing areas, a major portion is undeveloped and is regarded as non-oil bearing.

Under the decision the State will collect between $500,000 and $1,000,000 now due, will retain another $1,000,000 paid into the treasury under protest during pendency of the suit, and will receive one-half the bonus, rentals and royalty from future development.

Ralph W. Yarbrough, former assistant attorney general who handled the case, said he was unable to estimate the ultimate revenue that would accrue to the school fund, but believed it would approximate $20,000,000. The school fund now holds securities with a par value of about $46,000,000. Income is used for current operation of the school system.

The ruling was in a suit brought by the Magnolia Petroleum Company to compel J. H. Walker, land commissioner, to reinstate a lease canceled for failure to pay the State one-half the bonus and rental from an oil lease on a section of land in Reeves County.

The company contended that under the forfeiture and repurchase act the State divested itself of title and made the surface owner the sole proprietor of the minerals, subject to the State's one-sixteenth royalty interest. The forfeiture and repurchase act authorized the land commissioner to revalue and resell lands surrendered by original purchasers.

No portion of the contractual obligation between the surface owners and the lessee was reserved in the State, the company alleged.

The court sustained the land commissioner's pleading that title to the minerals did not pass to the surface owner but that he merely was designated the State's agent in development of the mineral resources.

SOAKING RAIN FALLING

A slow but steady rain is falling as we go to press with prospects for it to continue for hours or for a heavy downpour before the skies clear.

Heavy lowering clouds have hung over the south plains all day with light sprinkles of rain at intervals throughout the morning. The precipitation grew heavier about 1 p. m. and promises to soak the ground thoroughly before nightfall.

A cool northeast wind has been blowing for two days.

JUNIORS MAKE FINAL REPORT

This edition of "The Growl" will mark the end of Junior news items for 1935.

The class aim this year has been to have the highest scholastic record and to receive the fewest demerits of any class in school. Although we've fallen short of the latter we have attained the position of having the highest scholastic average.

In a resume of the accomplishments of the Junior class, we would find James Minor and Ina Bess Hicks entering debate and winning in the county, Neida Jem Hicks entering extemporaneous speaking for Tahoka and winning third place, Pansy Tankersley representing us in tennis doubles, several of our boys entering in athletic events, James Minor representing Tahoka in the Home Town contest at Plainview and winning third place.

The Juniors had a very successful banquet for the Seniors, and now the Juniors are acting as ushers for the various commencement exercises.

As a whole the Juniors have been very progressive this year and have been one of the best classes in school.—Junior Reporter

THE SOPHOMORE CLASS REFLECTS

Having completed the final examinations, given by pessimistic teachers who looked upon them with disgust, as though contemplating having them in their classes next year because of the pupils' failing to make passing grades, members of the Sophomore class of 1935 can proudly proclaim that there will in all probability be no failures in the class this year.

The Sophomore class of Tahoka High School has made a very creditable showing in school activities by producing a winner in essay writing in the county meet as well as a winning team at the annual Texas Tech judging contest. It is the intention of the present Sophomore class as Juniors to set the pace for the others to follow during the next school year.—A Sophomore.

PRESENT CLASS NIGHT PROGRAM

Unique in presentation and original in theme, the class night program staged by the Seniors Tuesday night was one of the best programs presented by a graduating class in recent years.

Some of the numbers were rather clever while all of them reflected the excellent training the students have been receiving during their high school careers.

THE GROWL MAKES LAST APPEARANCE

With this number of the News appears the last issue of The Growl this school year and perhaps for all time.

The degree of success, if any, which it has attained is determined by the benefit it has been to the student body. If it has served no good purpose, those responsible for the column are indeed sorry. Their intentions were good. On the other hand, if the The Growl has been of any benefit, those students making the column possible are gratified and feel that their work has not been in vain.

The staff wishes to express its appreciation to those students and teachers who have cooperated in trying to make the "noble experiment" a success.

MINOR WINS THIRD PLACE

James Minor, president of the Junior class and member of the debating team which this year won the county meet, went to Plainview Monday to represent Tahoka in the Home Town oratorical contest at the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention in session there the first three days of the week. According to word received here Wednesday, James won third place in his group, composed of 21 contestants.

The speeches were limited to five minutes in length, however, they could be filled with facts of unusual interest concerning each contestant's home town.

Hear ye! Hear ye! We, the fishermen, will soon be Sophomores!

GRADUATES

From the Tahoka High school there is this week being graduated 34 Seniors.

For eleven years these boys and girls have struggled with their eyes fixed upon one objective—graduation. They have reached that goal and they are happy. Yet, when they think of leaving the old school, a curious lump rises in their throats when they realize that they will never be able to return to the dear old institution with any purpose. Nevertheless, they are a brave group and they banish these sentimental thoughts and with their faces turned toward the rising sun, take hope for the future. It was this hope that sustained them when their paths looked dark during those eleven years. It is this same hope that enables them to take upon themselves the burden of a larger life before them and carry on.

A small percent of those graduating will go on with their education in colleges and universities. For the majority, however, formal schooling is over because there is no other choice.

A college education is very much to be desired and all those who possibly can should get this training. To those who find the path to higher learning closed the next few lines are directed.

All knowledge is not found within the walls of colleges, and all the college training in the world will not make a person successful. One thing—a definite aim in life—is much more important. The course for those whose formal education is over to follow is to as early as possible select the calling you wish to follow in life—a calling that is perfectly legitimate and truly desirable. Fortify your ambition to reach the thing for which you are striving with a burning, conquering determination to achieve your goal. Season this with a genuine sympathy with and understanding of human nature and flavor the product of the before mentioned recipe with as much of a pleasing personality as possible.

Remember always—"Give to the world the best that you have and the best will come back to you."

LIST SHOWS 183 CANDIDATES FOR GRADUATION AT TECH

Lubbock, May 15.—A preliminary list prepared in the president's office May 7 at Texas Technological College contains 183 candidates for graduation in June this year. The exercises are to be held June 2 and 3.

These candidates and their degrees follow: 27 candidates for the bachelor of science degree in agriculture; 21 for the bachelor of science degree in engineering; 19 for the bachelor of science degree in home economics; 15 for the bachelor of business administration degree; 9 for the bachelor degree in education; 9 for the bachelor of science degree in education; 15 for the bachelor of arts in the sciences; 20 for the bachelor of arts degree in the social sciences; 42 for the bachelor of arts degree in language and music; and 6 candidates for the master of arts degree.

District Attorney G. H. Nelson was a professional visitor to Wichita, Kansas, last week, returning home Sunday. He reported the wheat crop in the immediate vicinity of Wichita as very good, elsewhere there was practically nothing.

This map does not pretend to locate the SOURCES of farm products, except in a general way.

"I foresee the time when industry shall no longer denude the forests which require generations to mature, nor use up the mines which were ages in making, but shall draw its raw material largely from the annual produce of the fields... I am convinced that we shall be able to get out of yearly crops most of the basic materials which we now get from forest and mine."
Henry Ford

THE map above tells only part of the story—the little-known story of the inter-relation of the Ford V-8 car and the farm.

The figures in the map are based on what will be used this year if the Ford Motor Company reaches its intended production of 1,000,000 cars and trucks.

WOOL goes into upholstery, floor coverings, lubricants and anti-rust preparations.

LEATHER goes into upholstery—and in addition, glues are made from cow hide, and from cow's milk... Other parts of cattle, through other processes, yield stearic acid, greases, glycerine (for shock absorbers and body enamel) and soap chips (used in washing machined parts and bodies before painting).

HOGS furnish lard oil, oleic acid and brush bristles.

GOAT'S HAIR (Mohair) goes into upholstery.

BEEWAX goes into electrical imbedding compounds.

COTTON goes into tires, batting, cloth, battery box, timing gears, brake linings and, not least important, into Safety Glass. (Every Ford V-8 car built this year will have Safety Glass in every window, at no extra cost to the car buyer... Cotton, in the form of cellulose acetate, is the central part between the two sheets of glass that make up every finished sheet of Safety Glass.)

CORN yields butyl alcohol (for enamel finishes and other purposes) and starch (for stiffening cotton linings).

LINSEED OIL is the basis for paint—is used in foundry cores—and is one of the ingredients of the beautiful, synthetic baked enamel finish on a Ford V-8.

SUGAR CANE yields molasses for solvents, anti-freeze and shock absorber fluids.

CASTOR OIL goes into lacquers and artificial leather suitable for rumble seats, where real leather would be damaged by exposure to the weather.

TUNG OIL is part of the top material used in Ford cars and is also used in brake linings.

TURPENTINE is used in paints, adhesives and solvents.

SOY BEANS are used in making cores for metal castings in our foundry and are also an important part of the baked enamel finish of a Ford V-8 and of the plastic knobs and buttons in the car's interior.

LUMBER is used for packing purposes. It is not used for any structural part of the Ford car, which has a welded, all-steel body, reinforced with steel, for maximum safety.

TYPE OF DRESS ALWAYS CORRECT

Here is a dress with real character. Its nice simple lines are made interesting by an original jabot, cut in one with the soft shoulders. Gathers relieve any tendency toward severity while vertical seams, released into pleats below the knees, define the skirt and give an illusion of slenderness. It's the type of dress you can wear and wear—every place. So, for a smart spring season, select a matelasse crepe—or one with definite surface interest, of which the shops are full—and choose a lovely new color. Gray and beige are important now, as are navy blues and shades of brown. Sleeves may be made long.

Pattern 2029 is available in sizes 16, 18, 20, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46. Size 38 takes 4 1/4 yards 39-inch fabric. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included. SEND FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for this pattern. Write plainly name, address, and style number. BE SURE TO STATE SIZE. Address orders to Sewing Circle Pattern Department, 243 West Seventeenth street, New York City.

TREMENDOUS TRIFLES

By ELMO SCOTT WATSON

MOST HISTORIC THREE R'S

SPEAK of the Three R's and you naturally think of those you learned in the little red schoolhouse—readin', ritin' and 'rithmetic. But more historic are those which kept James G. Blaine out of the White House. They were Rum, Romanism and Rebellion.

Blaine, twice denied the Republican nomination for the Presidency, had won it in 1884. Despite the attacks made upon his character, he seemed a certain winner over Grover Cleveland, the Democrat. Republican leaders, to counteract those attacks, staged a reception for their candidate by a group of Protestant clergymen.

Rev. Samuel D. Burchard, a Presbyterian minister, acting as spokesman for the group, said to Blaine: "We are Republicans and don't propose to leave our party and identify ourselves with the party whose antecedents have been rum, Romanism and rebellion." Blaine, tired out from a long speaking trip, was paying little attention to the speaker and did not catch those three fatal words. If he had, there is no doubt that he would have repudiated them.

But he didn't and the news leaked out. Immediately the Democratic press took them up. Soon Dame Rumor whispered that Blaine himself had uttered the Three R's. They were a direct slap in the face, not only for the people of the South but more particularly for the large body of patriotic Roman Catholic voters.

In vain the Republican candidate repudiated this slander. It was too late. As the campaign drew to a close it became apparent that the state of New York would decide the issue. Cleveland carried New York by only 1,149 votes.

Had it not been for Doctor Burchard's "three little words," it is probable that Blaine would have had that narrow margin and with it, the election.

A BOX OF PILLS

JUST before sunrise on June 22, 1918, a train en route to Hammond, Ind., stopped just east of the little town of Ivanhoe, because the conductor had noticed a hot box on one of the cars. It was the second section of the Hagenbeck-Wallace circus train.

The trainmaster, dozing in the caboose, awoke suddenly to see the headlights of a speeding locomotive boring through the dim morning light. It was an empty troop train—21 steel pullmans drawn by a powerful locomotive. It had not slowed down for a caution signal two miles back; it had passed the next one set on the red; it had ignored a flagman from the circus train, frantically waving his red lantern, and as a last resort—he had tossed a lighted fusee at the engine cab window as it roared past.

In another moment the big engine had plowed into the rear of the circus train. Wooden coaches crumpled like cardboard boxes and almost immediately burst into flames from the shattered oil lamps.

Hours later when they cleared away the wreckage and counted the toll, it was 68 dead and 127 injured—clowns, bareback riders, trapeze performers, acrobats, animal trainers, veterans and internationally known stars of the "big top."

An investigation followed. The engineer of the troop train admitted he had been dozing at his post and hadn't seen any of the warning signals. Was his health good? Yes, it was all right except—well, just before starting on his run, he had taken some pills! The pills left in the box were sent to chemists who found in them drugs which produced unavoidable drowsiness. Because of them, there had occurred the worst disaster in circus history!

A COUGH AND A MASSACRE

CHARLES LOUIS NAPOLEON BONAPARTE wanted to be emperor of France, as his uncle, Napoleon Bonaparte, had been.

The revolution of 1848 gave him his first chance, for it resulted in his being elected to a seat in the national assembly. His popularity grew and he secured the office of president.

But Louis Napoleon wasn't satisfied with this. He wanted his term of office extended to ten years and a residence in the Tuilleries. Then on December 2, 1851, he staged his famous coup d'etat. The assembly was dissolved and 180 of its members were placed under arrest. At once there was an uprising in the French capital.

An excited young aide dashed into the palace with news that a mob was on the way to storm the gates. He gave the information to Count de St. Arnaud who happened to have a very bad cold. Between his fits of coughing, he heard the aide's news and, in apology, said "Ma sacré toux!" (My d—d cough!) The aide misunderstood him, and thinking he said "Massacrez tous!" (Massacre them all!) ran outside to give the order to the troops.

Several hundred people were killed and before the day was over the fighting in the streets of Paris was a bloody slaughter—all because of a bad cough! Western Newspaper Union.

The Tree

By James J. Montague

MR. WILLIVER bought the farm because of the tree. The tree, viewed in October was a blaze of red, like a torch. Miles away it could be seen on the hill where it has stood for more than two hundred years, looming like a bonfire when the sun cast its setting rays upon it. But the very night that Mr. Williver moved his goods and chattels into the farm house, a black cloud arose in the west, and came head on, widening as it went, till it's murky depths were directly over the tree. Then, it seemed to swoop down as a hawk would swoop on a chick pheasant, and when it had passed, the tree was riven from topmost bough to deepest set root.

Mr. Williver, thanking Providence that his cottage had weathered the storm, went out early in the morning to estimate the damage. From where the blasted leaves still clung to the splintered branches, came winding a spiral gash down to the roots of his leafy monarch. Fragments of dead wood lay heaped up all about it. Still hoping that something might be saved from the ruin he drove over to the nearest town and returned with a tree expert. One glance upward, and the visitor said:

"A good clean job. The last sap has flowed through that old fellow." "Can nothing be done about it?" inquired Mr. Williver.

"Nothing but cutting it down, unless you want it to fall down. And if it falls it won't do your roof much good." "How much will it cost to have it taken down?"

The expert made some mental measurements. "Forty dollars. We have to take it down in sections. You can't get a couple of hundred cords of wood out of the sky all at once."

"I couldn't I chop it down? I need the exercise." "You could, if you want to spend six weeks with an ax in your hand. And then it might fall the wrong way."

"I suppose I could take a chance." "Take one, if you want to risk it. I'm busy on a lot of estates around here, and I might not be able to get at it for six weeks, anyway. But you'll be up against more trouble than you know."

The following day, with a new ax, Mr. Williver stood by the tree. Selecting the side away from his house to make the cut, so the giant would topple on a field where there was nothing to damage, he fell to work. But before he had dealt the tree a half a dozen strokes he was halted from beyond the fence.

"Ye ain't goin' to cut that tree down, be ye?" inquired a gentleman who was leaning over the rail. "Certainly. Why not?" "That's the oldest tree in the country, that's why. My great-grandfather planted that tree."

"But it's dead, now." "No little lick of lightning could kill that tree. You'd know that if you wasn't a city slicker."

"Well," said Mr. Williver, a trifle nettled, "it's my tree." "Neighbor, that tree may be on your property, but it's a county tree, that's what it is. I'm just warnin' you, to save you trouble."

"Well, I'll risk the trouble. And, honestly, I'm sorry to have to cut the tree down."

"You're goin' to be sorrier," said the other, and walked briskly up the lane. For an hour Mr. Williver continued to hew, taking it easy so as not to get fagged too soon. At the end of that time he rested against the huge bole and was startled to observe some seven or eight women lined along the fence. One of them instantly addressed him.

"Don't you know, mister, that only God can make a tree?" inquired the oldest among them. "We ask you not to lay your vandal hands on that monarch of the forest."

"What forest?" inquired Mr. Williver, looking about him. "The forest was here when it was born, a helpless little sapling. The forest it has outlived as it became the chief beauty of our village."

"You'll have to excuse me, ladies. I regret to cut down the tree, as I have said, but I cannot see how a dead tree—"

"That tree, mister, will never die. Long before George Washington and his band of patriots set foot on this soil, that tree was casting its shade over the landscape. That tree, sir, was—"

"Hack, hack!" said Mr. Williver's re-employed ax. Presently, weary, he looked about. The women were solemnly marching away down the lane. He could not hear their conversation, which, perhaps, was just as well.

Two days he was left unmolested save by an occasional native who stopped, expostulated energetically and moved on. The third day the weekly newspaper of the place containing the information that it was a sample copy was tossed on his front porch. On it's first page, he read: Historic Leviathan of the Hillside Ruthlessly Destroyed. Newcomer From City Shatters Our Chief Glory. Local Grange Notified.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

By REV. F. B. FITZWATER, D. D., Member of Faculty, Moody Bible Institute of Chicago, & Western Newspaper Union.

Lesson for May 19 BAPTISM

LESSON TEXT—Matthew 28:19, 20; Acts 8:26-29. GOLDEN TEXT—Go ye therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost.—Matthew 28:19.

PRIMARY TOPIC—When People Are Baptized. JUNIOR TOPIC—When People Are Baptized. INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Why Be Baptized? YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Meaning of Baptism.

I. The Baptism of Jesus (Matt. 3:13-17).

1. His request of John (v. 13). This was in act, if not in word. He came from Galilee to Jordan to be baptized of John.

2. John's hesitancy (v. 14). He perceived something in Jesus which impressed him with the impropriety of such an act, even moving him to hinder the execution of his demand.

3. Jesus' explanation (v. 15). He insisted upon John's compliance on the ground that it was a method of fulfilling all righteousness.

4. The heavenly acknowledgment (vv. 16, 17). As Jesus emerged from the waters of the Jordan the heavens were opened, the Holy Spirit descended, and a voice from heaven declared: "This is my beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased."

II. Jesus Enjoins Baptism (Matt. 28:19, 20).

In Christ's commission to the apostles he imposes the following obligations:

1. To teach, to make disciples of all the nations (v. 19). They were to make known to the world that Christ had died to save sinners and that God had committed to Jesus the redemption of the world.

2. To baptize those who believed (v. 19). This is the divinely appointed way of making a public confession of faith in Christ. This baptism is to be in the name of the Father, Son, and Holy Ghost, indicating that the believer has been brought into definite relationship to each member of the holy Trinity.

3. To teach the disciples obedience (v. 20). Profession is not enough. It must issue in obedience. This commission is preceded by the assurance of the divine authority of Jesus (v. 18). All authority was given him in heaven and earth and was followed by an all-sufficient promise (v. 20).

III. Baptism Practiced in the Early Church.

1. At Pentecost (Acts 2:38, 41). This was the first baptismal service in the Christian church. Multitudes were brought under conviction of sin as a result of the apostolic preaching and thousands were baptized. Baptism was administered in the name of Christ, which doubtless refers to the authority of Christ.

2. The Samaritans under the preaching of Philip (Acts 8:5-12). As a result of his preaching men and women believed on the Lord Jesus Christ. Their profession of faith was followed by baptism.

3. The eunuch (Acts 8:26-39). In the conversion of the Ethiopian eunuch the Lord's work is seen broadening in its scope. The gospel was first preached to the Jews, then to the Samaritans who nationally were on the borderland between the Jews and the Gentiles. This Ethiopian was in all probability a Gentile, a proselyte to the Jewish faith. The Spirit of God called Philip away from the great work in Samaria and directed him to go near and join himself to the chariot of the Ethiopian treasurer. This providential meeting gave Philip the opportunity to preach to the Ethiopian. Philip preached to him Christ as the Savior, who through suffering and death saved from the guilt of sin. This resulted in the eunuch's request for baptism.

4. The baptism of Paul (Acts 9:18, 19). The great apostle to the Gentiles, before entering upon his work, received baptism at the hands of Ananias, who was not even himself a church official.

5. Cornelius and his household (Acts 10:47, 48). When God would send the gospel upon its world-wide conquest, he providentially brought Peter and Cornelius together. Peter preached to Cornelius the sacrificial death of Christ for sin and his triumphant resurrection. Seeing the visitation of the divine Spirit upon the Gentiles, Peter proposed baptism.

IV. The True Meaning of Baptism (Rom. 6:1-14).

Water baptism symbolizes the identification of the believer with Jesus Christ in his death and resurrection. It is the outward sign of the inner experience.

Friendship

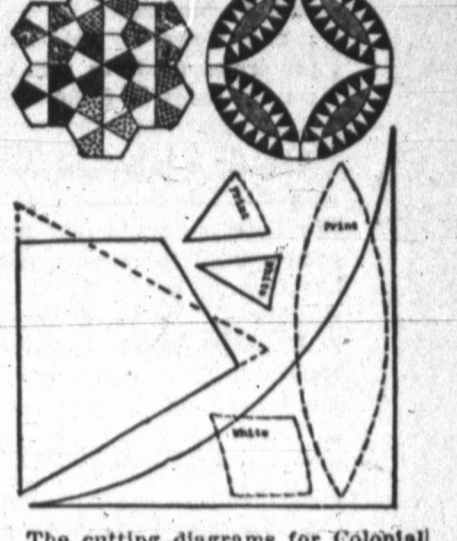

When I see leaves drop from their trees in the beginning of autumn, just such, think I, is the friendship of the world. Whilst the sap of maintenance lasts, my friends swarm in abundance; but in the winter of my need they leave me naked.—Warwick.

Adversity

I account it a part of unhappiness not to know adversity. I judge you to be miserable. There is no one more unhappy than he who never felt adversity.—Thomas Brooks.

CORRECT GUIDES TO QUILT MAKING

By GRANDMOTHER CLARK

The cutting diagrams for Colonial quilt No. 97B and Indian Wedding Ring No. 90B are offered to quilt makers who are particular to have the patches cut out right. These cutouts include the seam allowance. It is necessary to cut the patches out right if you want neat results. The Indian Wedding Ring has five different pieces to be cut out and the Colonial quilt is set together, leaving a running vine between units. The Indian Wedding Ring is identical with the Double Wedding Ring, only more patches are used to produce the effect.

Send 10 cents to our quilt department and we will mail both of these cutout sets postpaid.

Active Volcanoes

Central America has a large number of active volcanoes. In January, 1932, Acatanango, Fuego and Agus, in Guatemala, burst into activity, covering several cities with a blanket of ashes. Six months later Ometepe, Nicaragua's largest volcano, erupted to send ashes 36 miles away.

Overcame Her Nervousness "A few years ago," writes Mrs. Charles Sivill, of Hartshorne, Okla., "I was weak and run-down. It seemed that nervousness was about to get the best of me. My mother told me about Cardui and that is what I decided to take. After I began taking Cardui, my appetite was better. I gained strength and was less nervous. By the time I had taken two bottles, I felt fine. First, better appetite, and then more strength and a feeling of well-being! Thousands of women testify Cardui benefited them. If it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician."

MANY ATTEND CHAMBER OF COMMERCE CONVENTION

Tahoka's sponsor in "La Fiesta", a musical entertainment in a Spanish setting, given Monday and Tuesday nights, was Miss Auda Mae Aycox.

James Minor entered the "My Home Town" speaking contest, and in his division won third place in a field of twenty-one speakers.

The climax of the meeting was reached Tuesday night with an address of Gov. James V. Allred.

Amarillo won the convention for 1936 after a spirited fight with Wichita, Falls, Fort Worth, and Brownwood. Twelve or fifteen bands were present, and the Memphis band was chosen official W. T. C. C. band for 1936 succeeding the Rails New Deal Band.

Ray H. Nichols, editor of the Vernon Record, was elected president of the body succeeding Judge James D. Hamlin of Farwell.

Among the Tahoka citizens present at Plainview in addition to Applewhite, Minor and Miss Aycox, were W. O. Henderson, Alvin Hicks, Bill Burleson, Bill Holland, "Happy" Smith, Aubra M. Cade, Sam Holland, R. B. McCord, J. B. Nance, Jim Dye, G. H. Nelson, Truett Smith, G. G. Aycock, and Frank Hill. There were possibly many others.

SERIES OF MISFORTUNES COME TO JAYNES FAMILY

the family. The parents, who reside about three miles northeast of Tahoka, lost a three months old infant by death about four months ago. About three weeks ago they were called to Merkel by the serious illness of Mrs. Jaynes brother, who died soon after their arrival. While they were attending his funeral services, Mrs. Jaynes' grandfather, who resided in Merkel, died. Just a few days prior to this time another brother of Mrs. Jaynes underwent an operation for appendicitis. Before he recovered, from the operation he contracted pneumonia and is now in a critical condition. Before Mr. and Mrs. Jaynes had time to leave Merkel for their home here following the death of her grandfather, their little daughter, Thelma Rae, became ill of pneumonia. She was reported last week to be much improved and the parents then hoped to bring their little daughter back home sound and well again soon, when peritonitis set up with fatal effect.

Deceased was the grand-daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Jaynes of New Lynn and the great grand-daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. O. P. Nicholson of Tahoka. Besides these and her relatives here and elsewhere. Out of town people here attending the funeral included Mrs. W. C. Lee, Mrs. Cora Hester, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Jaynes, Mrs. Jack Hays, and Mrs. Ellis Harris of Merkel, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Higgins of Hale Center, Mrs. N. V. Nicholson, Curtis Nicholson, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hammond, and Mrs. Horace Masten of Plainview.

The family have the sympathy of many friends in their deep sorrow.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Noble returned this morning from Rockport, where they spent the winter and spring. They report a lot of rain all the way from that place to Big Spring. In fact good rains had fallen as far north as Ackerey. A terrific rain fell yesterday at Sterling City, they report.

Mr. and Mrs. John Berry of Draw left Tuesday morning for Crowell, where Mr. Berry expects to engage in truck hauling during the next several weeks. They were accompanied by Willie Florence, who expects to find work at Clairmont or Jayton.

W. T. Jones Jr. of Coleman was here Wednesday visiting friends. For three or four years Mr. Jones was manager of the Tahoka Produce Co. here. He is now manager of a produce house at Coleman. He reports lots of rain in his section recently. 37-2tp.

Scripture Reading—Herschel Roberts.

Reading—"Every Day is My Mother's Day"—Neil Dudgeon.

Reading—"My Mother's Dimple"—Lewis Mack Bostick.

Trio—"If I Could Hear My Mother Pray Again"—Miss Zelta Campbell of Wilson, Miss Mary Ellen Inman and Mr. Bostick.

"Amazing Grace" was read by Miss Mable Maggard and sang by choir.

Closing prayer—Mr. Wayne Slimmons.

We had several visitors at Singing Sunday afternoon.

Several attended Singing at Edith Sunday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Campbell and daughters, Zelta, Evelyn and Geraldine of Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Appling and daughter Eugenia of Grassland spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. John Campbell and daughter, Avis.

A Mother's Day dinner was given for Mrs. W. P. Inman. The following were present: Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Shearer and children of Crosbyton, Mr. and Mrs. T. Cowan and family of Tahoka, Mr. and Mrs. Tiny Nelson and daughter of Meadow, Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Inman, Miss Margie Ethridge of Post, Miss Marie Owens, of Edith, Miss Vera James and Clinton Gandy.

Miss Birdie Hardt went to T-Bar Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Pete Ethridge of Post visited Mrs. Ethridge's mother, Mrs. James, Sunday.

Miss Marie Owens of Edith spent Saturday night and Sunday with Mary Ellen Inman.

Miss Flora Maggard of Hale Center spent Sunday with Miss Mable Maggard.

A birthday party given for Miss Vera James Saturday night by Herschel Roberts was enjoyed by everybody present.

There is going to be a play, "Womanless Wedding" presented at South Ward Thursday night. Come and see Sherman Inman as the bride, Herschel Roberts as the groom and Mr. Bostick as the jilted sweetheart. There are numerous other characters. So come and have your fun with us.

There will be a school program and graduation exercises Friday night. Everyone come. Remember Sunday School Sunday morning and come.

W. H. Williams was in town Monday exhibiting a big long cartridge, still loaded, which he picked up in his field a few days ago. It was probably the same kind used by the buffalo hunters of an earlier day. The lead had somewhat corroded, but otherwise the cartridge remained intact, and it would probably fire yet if placed in the right kind of firearms. How many years it had been lying where he found it is a matter of speculation, but many years no doubt.

Dr. W. K. Johnston of Lubbock was here Sunday to fill his regular appointment at the Presbyterian Church. Services Sunday morning were dismissed on account of the Commencement services at the high school auditorium, but Dr. Johnston preached to a good-sized congregation Sunday night. As usual he dropped around to the News office Monday morning to say hello to the force.

GOVERNMENT REPORT ON OFFICE POSITIONS

The United States Department of Labor has just issued a comprehensive survey on employment in business offices—showing the range of salaries of 43,000 office workers, the kind of training required, methods of hiring help, and the like. This survey shows the median salaries to be $156.00 a month; of Stenographers, $114.00; of Bookkeepers, $111.00; and of Cashiers, $123.00 in the cities surveyed, representing the different sections of the country.

This survey further says that young, inexperienced workers are more in demand, it being considered more satisfactory to employ beginners and to advance them as vacancies occur, and that searching for the person who had just enough experience was not deemed economical.

Young people who are interested in obtaining business positions are invited to investigate the training and placement facilities offered by Draughon's Business Colleges, through which many graduates are being put in touch with inspiring opportunities. Write for Bulletin No. A today. Address nearest Draughon's College, Dallas, Wichita Falls, Abilene, or Lubbock. 37-2tp.
