Canning Project Is Given Cash Grant

KITCHEN OPEN TO ALL PEOPLE

$4,609.40 Available For Operation Of County Kitchen For Canning Season

Among the work relief projects approved by the Texas Relief Commission Engineers at Austin Saturday was the Lynn county canning project for $4,609.40.

This represents quite a substantial increase over the amount allowed last year, which was a little over $3,000, about half of which was used to purchase equipment. Nearly all of the allowance this year will be used for labor, according to Judge B. P. Maddox, county administrator. Besides, additional funds may be procured later if needed, Judge Maddox says.

The plant this year will open with additional equipment, capable of doing much more and better work than last year. In fact, it will be an ideal canning kitchen, according to Judge Maddox and Brown Bishop of the local Relief office.

In this connection, Judge Maddox and Miss Sylvia Robb, the county home demonstration agent, urge that the people of the county make larger use of the kitchen than they did last year. They suggest and urge that more people plant gardens than last year, and that they plant larger gardens. Thousands of dollars can be saved the people of Lynn county by raising gardens and canning their own products, they point out. With favorable garden growing weather, it should be much easier to raise gardens this year than it was last year. Some who patronized the kitchen last year have already indicated that they will patronize it on a still larger scale this year.

This project is for the benefit of all the people of the county, not simply for the relief of those who may be in distress but for the use of any, rich or poor, who may wish to raise gardens.

The plant will open for business just as soon as the demand is sufficient to justify it.

Miss Robb states that there were 551 community canning plants in Texas last year and 21 federal meat canning plants. Statistics gathered show that the output of all these plants was 58,928,318 cans of food.

200 More Cotton Checks Received

About 200 additional cotton rental checks were received at the office of the county agent Monday and Tuesday, bringing about $20,000 to the farmers of Lynn county.

This brings the total number of such checks received so far up to more than 2,000 representing a total of about $90,000.

The number of farmers signing contracts this year was considerably in excess of the number signing last year.

Washington News Made Understandable

The vast amount of news emanating from the national capital today is apt to be confusing to the average reader. The rapidly changing scenes, the many new projects that are being undertaken, are difficult to follow. To help you to get a clear understanding of the events taking place in the capital we are providing for you each week the written by William Bruckart, noted capital correspondent. Mr. Bruckart's clear interpretation of what is going on makes the Washington scene understandable. No matter what your political beliefs you will find Bruckart's column interesting and fair because it is always unbiased. Make a habit of reading this feature every week if you want to be well informed.

Griffin In Jail, Federal Charge

Ferg Griffin of this city and his brother-in-law, J. D. Pruitt of Brownfield, were arrested and placed in jail by federal officers early this week on charges of having procured seed and feed loans under assumed names.

The alleged offenses occurred at Brownfield. Griffin is charged with having procured a loan of $50.00 under the name of J. L. Ferguson. Pruitt is charged with having procured a loan of $75.00. The accused men are in jail at Lubbock, the charges having been filed in the federal court there.

O'Donnell Man Drowning Victim

Becoming excited while crossing a swollen stream in Crockett county on a horse last Thursday, James Milwee of O'Donnell, 25 jumped from the animal into the water and was drowned. The stream was ordinarily a dry arroyo, but had become a raging torrent as the result of heavy rains.

Milwee was reared at O'Donnell. He had been studying pharmacy and soon would have been prepared to take the pharmaceutical examination, it is said. He had been down in Crockett county only a few days when the incident resulting in his death occurred.

Veterans Wanted For CCC Work

Jim Dye, post commander of the Marion O. Bradley Post of the American Legion, a few days ago received information from headquarters to the effect that the veterans contingent of the Civilian Conservation Corps will be increased to 55,000 men between June 15 and August 31, more than double the number allotted to the same territory last year.

"In order that we may be able to fill our quota when the time arrives, it will be necessary that we receive many more applications than we have in the past," the communication states. "It will be appreciated if this information can be given wide publicity in your locality and advise any and all veterans interested to communicate with the Regional Office having jurisdiction over the territory in which they live."

"Necessary application blanks will be sent to all those interested. Any honorably discharged veteran of the world war or previous war who is physically able to do a reasonable amount of work is eligible for enrollment in the Civilian Conservation Corps. Preference will be given in enrollment to those men having dependents who agree to make allotments of three-fourths of their pay to dependents; also preference is given to those men who have been unemployed for long periods of time."

DALE HOLDING REVIVAL AT WASKOM BAPTIST CHURCH

Rev. and Mrs. George A. Dale left at noon Sunday immediately following the preaching service at the Baptist Church to be away two weeks. Brother Dale is engaged in conducting a revival meeting at Waskom over near the Texas-Louisiana line, twenty miles east of Marshall and about the same distance west of Shreveport. Mrs. Dale is visiting a son and daughter in Dallas.

Announcement is made that Rev. W. M. Draper of Lorenzo will fill the pulpit at the Baptist Church at both services here next Sunday. He is said to be an able speaker and the members of the church are urged and others invited to hear him.

E. H. Boullion has been in federal court in Lubbock since last Thursday. He is one of the jury trying the Cato-Morgan-Kitchen murder case.

ASK PAVEMENT OF HIGHWAY 84

Road Meeting Held at Throckmorton Monday Boosts Route's Improvement

County Judge W. E. Smith and Commissioner Jim Izard attended an important highway meeting at Throckmorton Monday, the purpose of which was to procure the merger of several connected highways into one cardinal highway through Texas from the Arkansas line at Texarkana to the New Mexico line near Bronco. This would constitute a practically straight course through the state.

Resume Drilling Of Test Oil Well

After repeated but unsuccessful efforts to remove a section of the pipe which had become hung in the well, the drillers of the Wanete-Hart test oil well a week ago decided to drill around or through the obstruction.

Beginning at a level of about 2400 hundred feet they proceeded to a depth of about 2900 feet with the new hole. They then set the casing and are waiting for the cement to settle before proceeding with the drilling. I. L. Dillard, superintendent of drilling, has gone east but is expected back about the end of the week, when it is expected that drilling will be resumed.

Drillers had reached a depth of 4,817 feet in the original hole when the drill became lodged. The new hole, which evidently diverges some distance from the original hole, is said to be logging about 100 feet higher than the original.

Judges Appointed To New Positions

Upon the death of Judge William Pierson a few weeks ago, who was killed by his son, Judge Richard Critz of the Commission of Appeals was appointed to fill the unexpired term of Judge Pierson on the supreme court.

This appointment produced a vacancy on the Commission of Appeals, which was created some years ago to assist the Supreme Court in its work. Last week Governor James V. Allred announced the appointment of Judge J. E. Hickman, Chief Justice of the Eleventh Court of Civil Appeals at Eastland, to fill the vacancy on the Commission of Appeals created by the promotion of Judge Critz.

Thereupon he promoted Justice W. P. Leslie from the position of Associate Justice to that of Chief Justice of the Eastland Court of Civil Appeals and appointed Judge Clyde Grissom of Haskell as Associate Justice of that court. Judge Grissom was district judge of the Haskell judicial district, Dennis P. Ratliff, a Haskell attorney, 33 years of age, was appointed district judge to serve out the unexpired term of Judge Grissom.

G. A. Brasfield Buys Out Filling Station

G. A. Brasfield on Monday purchased the Phillips 66 Service Station from L. F. Frazier and took charge immediately. Mr. Brasfield formerly operated the Texas Service Station, having sold this business about three months ago to Clay Bennett and Vernon Wilhoit.

Mr. Frazier will continue to operate his produce business in the same building.

NEGRO BASEBALL TEAM WINS GAME OVER CROSBYTON

The Tahoka Tigers, Tahoka's crack colored baseball team, went to Crosbyton last Sunday and won another game, but the score was exceedingly close, 10 to 9.

County Commissioner, Levi Nordyke, who has been so seriously ill, was able to come home from the hospital several days ago and was in town Tuesday performing his duties as a member of the commissioners court.

Come to Tahoka Trades Day.

FARMERS' POOL CHECKS COMING

Lynn County Farmers Sold Over Nine Million Pounds Tax-Exempt Certificates

The final checks covering the sale of tax-exemption certificates through the National Pool will be ready for distribution to participants within a few days, it was announced by B. M. Meeks, representative of the AAA.

The National Pool reported that Lynn county had pooled 9,381,895 pounds of tax-exemption certificates. Of this poundage, approximately 70% had been sold, or 6,567,326 pounds. The poundage was sold (Cont'd. on last page)

W. F. Cato Murder Trial Ends Today

Evidence in the trial of W. F. Cato, Tom Morgan, Dr. L. W. Kitchen and Dr. V. A. Hartman, charged jointly with the murder of Spencer Stafford, federal narcotics officer, in Post last February 7, ended in the federal court at Lubbock at 4:55 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

Attorneys were to begin their arguments before the jury when court convened this morning, and it was expected that the case would go to the jury late this afternoon.

When the Government rested its case Monday, attorneys for Morgan, Kitchen, and Hartman presented a motion for an instructed verdict for their clients. Judge Wilson granted the motion as to Dr. Hartman and will instruct the jury to find him not guilty but declined to give an instructed verdict for Morgan and Kitchen. Cato's attorneys did not ask for an instructed verdict.

Forty-eight witnesses were used by the prosecution and thirty-four by the defense.

The jury will probably reach a verdict tonight or tomorrow.

Firemen's School At Tahoka Soon

A firemen's training course is to be given here on Wednesday night, June 5, beginning at 7:30 p. m., according to announcement made by the local fire chief, Pete Coleman. This school will be conducted by Chief Frank Williams of the Texas A. & M. College.

All firemen are expected to be present and the mayor, members of the city council, and all private citizens who might be interested are invited and even urged to attend. This Firemen's Training School is sponsored by the State Firemen's and Fire Marshals' Association and is conducted by the A. & M. College. Like schools are being held throughout the state. The purpose is to increase the efficiency of local Volunteer Fire Departments.

In discussing the local situation, Mr. Coleman called attention to the fact that Tahoka has had very few fires during the past year or more. It will be remembered that for a year or two prior to that time there was a regular epidemic of fires in Tahoka, the effect of which was to increase the fire insurance rates in Tahoka. The past year Tahoka was favored with a substantial reduction. It is to be hoped that the record may be held low in the future and that further reduction in insurance rates may be gained.

Mr. Coleman hopes that a representative number of our citizens will be present next Wednesday evening at the training school.

New Produce Firm Opens House Here

Plains Cooperative, Inc., is the name of a new produce house that opened here Wednesday of this week with D. L. Nicholson in charge.

Mr. Nicholson has recently been with the Calvery Hatchery here. The new place of business occupies the building formerly occupied by the Tahoka Bakery just east of McCord's Phillips 66 Service Station.

Judge W. E. Smith and County Commissioner Jim Izard, who attended a highway meeting at Throckmorton Monday, report that they saw much fine wheat and oats on the trip. Other crops were promising too.

Crowd Is Expected Here First Monday

Park Election Set For July 6

Upon a numerously-signed petition, an election has been called for July 6 to determine whether or not bonds in the sum of $6,160 shall be authorized and issued, the proceeds to be used in the purchase of 563 acres of land to be used in the construction of a state park.

If the county will furnish the land, the state and federal governments will furnish the money with which to improve and beautify the tract. The labor will be provided through the Government work relief set-up, just as it is being provided for the construction of highways and for the establishment and improvement of other parks.

Publicity Stunt Pulled By Hen

Even the practical and prosaic old hen will occasionally pull a stunt that gets her name in the paper—motivated by something of the spirit of a Huey Long, a Dr. Townsend, a Rev. Coughlin, or possibly we should say of an Aimee Semple McPherson.

Anyhow J. E. Rice of Joe Stokes has a hen that has laid an egg with a stem to it, just as if it had grown on a tree. Mr. Rice brought this egg to town and left it in the News office Saturday. It is indeed a peculiar specimen of hen fruit, and old Biddy now has something to cackle about—she's got her name in the paper.

South Plains Is Now Wet Country

The showers which have fallen in Tahoka the past few days amounting to .83 of an inch have brought the total rainfall for the month up to 4.48 inches.

There have been three rain periods during the month. On May 3-4, the precipitation amounted to .89 of an inch; from May 11 to May 20, during which some rain fell almost every day, the fall amounted to 2.78 inches; and May 25, 26, and 27 brought an additional fall of .83. The rain Saturday night was .74, Sunday .06; and Monday .03.

In many localities in Lynn county much more rain than that has fallen. Heavy rains came in the northwest portion of the county Saturday night. A heavy rain visited O'Donnell Monday, with a somewhat lighter fall at Joe Bailey, Midway, Redwine, Draw, Edith, and Grassland.

Many farmers were interrupted a few days by the rains of the past week but most of them are in their fields again planting or replanting their crops. Some have finished planting and much feed and cotton are coming up. Farmers everywhere say that prospects for a crop were rarely ever better.

Ralph Payne Has Jack Corley Station

Ralph Payne is now in charge of the Jack Corley Service Station north of the Bovell Bakery. The station was formerly operated by Claude Nowlin.

Payne is well known to many Lynn county people, having worked as a clerk in several different stores here the past few years.

NEW AWNING BEING ERECTED

A new awning was constructed this week in front of the former Tredway building on Main Street, now owned by The Temple Trust Company.

Scott Davis has been confined to his bed with something like the "flu" most of the time for the past three weeks. He expects to be "up and out" again in a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. K. F. Knight are visiting relatives at San Angelo and fishing in the Concho this week.

BUSINESS MEN GIVE BARGAINS

All People Of County Are Invited To Event Here Monday By Merchants

If the weather remains fair the remainder of the week, many farmers will have finished planting their crops, and in that event it is believed that a good crowd will be here First Monday to take advantage of the bargains offered by our merchants.

Owing to the fact that many farmers recently received checks from the AAA, they probably have as much ready cash now as they usually have at this time of year, in spite of the almost total crop failure last year. With promising crop prospects for this year, it is believed that the people from the rural districts will be prepared to spend a little more freely than they have been for the past several months.

Our merchants should and no doubt will offer many real bargains next Monday and make it highly profitable for the people from over the county to make Tahoka their trading point.

That these trades days are having the effect of bringing many people from the borderland of Tahoka's trade territory into Tahoka to do their shopping has been testified to by more than one Tahoka business man in recent weeks.

Tahoka is expecting a big crowd here Monday, folks. Come.

Nowlin Bros Buy West Service Station

F. A. and Claude Nowlin effected a deal with O. B. West last Friday whereby they became the owners of the West Service Station at the southwest corner of the square. It will be known hereafter as the Gulf Service Station. These are both excellent young men and deserve to succeed.

Mr. and Mrs. West, we understand, will move to Waxahachie in Ellis county, where Mr. West will probably engage in farming.

Joe Hill Jr., Back From Antarctica May Speak Here

Joe Hill Jr., youngest member of the Byrd Expedition, will possibly lecture in Tahoka later, if interest seems sufficient and if a date can be arranged.

Canyon, May 23—Wednesday was a gale day in Canyon. The town's own Joe Hill, its representative on the second Byrd Expedition to the South Pole, arrived home late Tuesday night.

Everywhere Joe appeared Wednesday, whether on the porch of his home, at the West Texas State Teachers College, in a barber shop or on a street corner, a crowd gathered to hear something of his experiences during the last 20 months, 14 of which were spent on the ice of Antarctica.

Asked what was his most difficult experience, Joe said it was changing a piston and rod of one of the ice tractors when they were far from Little America and the temperature was 40 degrees below zero. They had to work barehanded and it was so cold that every time they touched them, the iron tools stuck to their fingers and when put down pulled the skin off. The expedition had six tractors but only one was brought back to the United States.

Tonight Joe Hill made his first public appearance when he lectured before the people of his home town. During the Summer he will talk to many other audiences, for in this way he hopes to make money enough to attend the University of Texas during the next two years.

Boy Scouts and members of the Canyon Athletic Club sold tickets for young Hill's first appearance.

SYNOPSIS

Theodore Gatlin decides to adopt a baby in a final effort to solve his matrimonial troubles. But his wife has never wanted her, and their affairs end in the divorce court. Ten-year-old Penelope is given into the keeping of Mrs. Gatlin. At a baseball game a ball, hit into the bleachers, strikes Penelope on the nose. Mrs. Gatlin spirits the child to Europe. Gatlin retires from business, wills Penelope all his money, and is about to begin a search for his daughter when a motor accident ends his life. Some ten years later, in San Francisco, Stephen Burt, is a rising young psychiatrist.

For the next four years Lanny did not see her boy, but he wrote her and remembered her at Christmas and on her birthdays. He was an honor graduate from the Leland Stanford Junior Medical school and was immediately given an internship at the University hospital in San Francisco. Inasmuch as Lanny frequently had patients at that hospital, they met several times a year. Lanny kept her ear to the ground, barking to reports of his progress from worthwhile sources, and learned that he was regarded as a young doctor of distinct promise.

One day, after he had been two years an interne, they met in the corridor. "I've been wanting to see you, Stevie," Lanny began without any preliminary fencing. "It's time for your postgraduate course in Europe." "Impossible, Lanny. My father has had a frightful reversal of fortune. He's done a father's full duty by me and I'm not going to graft off him and perhaps sacrifice him in his old age. I'm self-supporting now and even saving a little from my salary. In a few years I shall be able to afford a modest office and go in for general practice." "You've followed my program thus far and you'll continue until it's finished," Lanny announced. "I'll loan you the money. The five thousand dollars your father gave me has grown to seventy-five hundred dollars—and I've saved two thousand more, so I'm going to bank you, and you shall pay me six per cent on the money you borrow, and secure me by life insurance." She was thoughtful for a few moments. "Well, perhaps three years abroad will benefit you more than four years would an ordinary man. So we'll cut the program to three years. After all, you must have some comforts; you've got to live like a gentleman. You will resign here today and I'll have the money for you tomorrow."

"Oh, Lanny, you dear old sport, I can't do that!" Thereupon Lanny struck him in a vital spot. Her stern and lonely soul was touched. Not often did she indulge herself in the weakness of tears, but they flooded her eyes now, and her breast heaved.

He was always touched at the sight of suffering; the vast underlying sympathy in his nature would never have it otherwise. Abruptly she left him! She knew he would seek her out later, to protest at greater length, to avow himself her eternal debtor for the offer and again decline it.

He called upon her at her lodgings that night—and Lanny won. It was a hard battle; but when Lanny, so to speak, lowered her head and went in to win, usually she succeeded.

Well, she had her way, and when he returned from Europe she had an office ready for him. She would be forty years old on her next birthday, and after eighteen years of the drudgery of private nursing she looked forward to her position in Stephen Burt's office with pleasurable anticipation.

She met him at the ferry depot, and he took her to his heart and kissed her five times—twice on each cheek and once on the lips. "Well, old pal," he said almost immediately, "I'm a specialist. Neurologist and psychiatrist, and you're to be my first patient. I must go over you thoroughly and see what makes you act the way you do."

Success was Stephen's. Modest at first, of course, but of rapid growth, and Lanny knew why. His patients fell in love with him and advertised him to their friends.

In two years Stephen Burt had repaid Lanny with interest; the third year he moved into new, sunny, roomy and beautifully furnished offices, with a waiting room as large as all of his previous offices had been. He joined the best club in town; he joined a country club, and resolutely Lanny drove him out of the office on Wednesday and Saturday afternoons to play golf. She denied him the privilege of naming his own fees because she knew they would be too modest; she kept his fee list to a minimum; knowing all his friends, she supervised his social duties; she kept his books and was a very devil of a collector; she wrote all his business letters and signed them for him; she invested his money for him, and since she was no mean psychologist, she could read a woman patient as she would a book. She was his Admirable Crichton, and he rewarded her with his confidence, his affectionate friendship—and a perfectly dashing salary raise each Christmas.

He always kissed her at six o'clock on the twenty-fourth day of December in each year for the five years preceding the late winter afternoon when Mr. Daniel McNamara called in behalf of the strangest patient Lanny's boy had ever been asked to accept. It had been a long, hard day. Doctor Burt was tired, and a Mrs. Reginald Merton, who was rich and idle, not very intelligent and hence nervous, theistic, had been fatiguing him with a recital of her imaginary aches, pains and migraines.

He pressed a button under the desk, tapping out a code message to Lanny, and waited patiently.

He knew she would appear momentarily and say: "I'm sorry Doctor Burt, but Professor Finnegan has just telephoned that you are fifteen minutes late to your engagement to meet the great German savant, Herr Doktor Uffitz."

He waited three minutes and sent another code message to Lanny, adding the word "Help!" Still Lanny did not appear, so he said with his disarming smile: "Mrs. Merton, the five o'clock whistle has blown, and I can't listen to another word. I've just remembered a most pressing engagement, so now if you do not get at once I shall have to throw you out."

He had her by the arm and out the door before she could think of another symptom. Then he locked the door, put both legs up on the desk and loaded and lighted his pipe, just as the door to his nurse's office opened and Lanny said:

"I'm so sorry, but Professor Finnegan—"

"She's gone. Where did you go, leaving me here to suffer?"

"I was in the writing room placating an insistent visitor. I told him you had gone for the day, but he flashed some sort of police badge at me, said he wasn't nutty and that his business was private."

"Whenever you admit a person whose business is private and personal I am called upon for mental and physical effort, sans a fee, Lanny. I'm tired."

"What you need, dearie," said Lanny, "is a nice, long, cool highball."

"And while you're on the job, get me one, too," a deep voice spoke from the door behind her.

"It's that police person," Lanny cried.

"It is," the police person agreed without malice, "and even if I am a

"Oh, Lanny, You Dear Old Sport, I Can't Do That!"

cop, I'm too smart to be fooled by the fibs of any woman. How are you, Doc?"

"Tired," he murmured. "Worn to a razor edge talking sanely to the insane and the semi-sane, the sub-normal and the abnormal. You appear sane, officer. Are you?"

"I'd be afraid to take a bet I am, Doc. I handle my share of nuts, too, and there's times they make me think I'm bugs instead of 'em. My name's Dan McNamara and I'm the chief of police."

"Sit down, Chief. Drag over that armchair." He smiled at Lanny and held up two fingers.

That smile melted her. It always did. For five years she had been trying to bully him, and his smile had always defeated her, for which reason she often had a brainstorm and threatened to resign his service. And she would have done it, too, for she was a forceful woman, only for the fear that he might replace her with a nurse who didn't understand him—a la-de-la young thing, half-baked professionally, who would fall in love with him and make him marry her. He was so kind and sympathetic Lanny knew he would marry her, just to keep her from feeling bad.

"D—n his sympathy," she growled, as she prepared the drinks in an inner room. "That's why he's worked to death. He'll die young—overworked, angina, the young fool! That big, fresh, heavy-footed top! How dare he force his way in—the big bum! And getting a drink for his dirty work!"

She sniffed and served the highballs. "You're mighty sweet, Lanny," Doctor Burt told her. "Now, run along home."

Lanny did not go. She knew that big moocher of a chief of police would praise such old liquor and his best would offer him a second helping.

"I've got a girl down at Central station," Dan McNamara was saying. "Shoplifting detail picked her up in a department store where she'd pinched a dozen and a half silk stockings. Pettit larceny and caught with the goods. I sent a good man around to try to square the case with the department store people, but they insist on pressing charges and that's too bad because she's got a couple of priors against her. Out on probation—suspended sentence, you understand, Doc. And now she'll do two years in the Big House. 'S tough on the girl."

"What's your interest in her, if she's a confirmed thief?"

"Well, maybe she wouldn't be a thief if she'd had the breaks," he defended. "Somebody must have given her a sweet bust on the nose, because her henk's been broke and nothing's left of it but a saddle."

"Is she tough?" Doc, she's so tough I know it ain't natural. A girl as tough as her must be looney. But there ain't nothing tough about her eyes or her mouth—and that's where you can always find toughness that's been bred in the bone. There's something about this girl that's different, Doc. I don't know what it is but I know this much: she wasn't always tough. I want you to give her the once over."

"I understand there is a psychologist and psychiatrist—Doctor Blethen—who does all of the medico-legal work for the department, Chief. I wouldn't care to examine the girl except on his invitation."

"Yes, I know. Question of ethics, and while the question is being debated this girl gets hauled into court and takes the rap on the old charge of grand theft. I know Blethen. I've tried him and he says this girl is a natural hoodlum, and mentally and physically healthy. He says she's got more intelligence than any ten girls in Vassar. She must be smart, too, because she told him he was a fool, and I agree with her."

Doctor Burt was silent, for he was intensely ethical and would not criticize a fellow doctor.

"I've heard a lot about you," the chief of police continued. "You're regarded as the best psychiatrist and neurologist in San Francisco. So don't talk to me about the capable Doc Blethen. I want you to look this girl over."

His huge face brightened as he summoned a thought that would bolster up his plea. "She don't cuss me, Doc. I've asked her all about herself, and I'm sure she tells me all she knows, but she don't know anything. She's bound to like you, Doc, and when she likes anyone—now, Doc, I've got a notion you can get her confidence to such an extent you can prong down into her soul and locate the trouble. I saw men like you do things like that nowadays."

Doctor Burt smiled. "Sometimes we uncover complexes or mental reflexes; frequently we do not. And when we have uncovered them we cannot always cure them. You say this girl has a ruined nose? Does it affect her appearance greatly?"

"She's ugly when you look at her the first time, Doc, but after you've talked with her and looked some more the shock sort of wear's off. I got a notion that if her nose could be straightened up she'd be a goodlooking girl."

"Know anything about her antecedents, her background?"

"I don't know and I can't find out. She won't tell me."

"It may be," Doctor Burt suggested. "That she doesn't know. Has Blethen finished with the case?"

"Yes, sir. He told me not to bother him about her no more."

Doctor Burt indicated his telephone. "Call him up, Chief, and ask him if he has any objection to having me give her an unofficial examination."

McNamara did so. Following a brief conversation, he turned the telephone over to Stephen.

Stephen took the telephone. "Doctor Blethen? Burt speaking. The chief came to my office about that girl he has at the central station. Notwithstanding your report he has asked me, as a personal favor to see the girl. You understand, however—"

"Yes, I understand. Burt, she's a bad lot."

"Something the chief said has mildly aroused my curiosity. If you would care to invite me to discuss her case—understand I have no desire to intrude—"

"I'm through with her, Burt. Help yourself, old man. However, take a tip from me and don't let that fellow McNamara sell himself to you. If you do he'll keep you busy. I doubt if any man on earth can run a criminal down as promptly as McNamara; he has a photographic brain and never forgets a face or a fact; but after he's landed a yegg in his cooler he develops an abnormal yearning to find out what made him act that way. Mac's a softy."

"Exactly. Thank you, Blethen. Still, a blind pig will sometimes find an acorn, and something he said—Good-by."

Lanny entered. "There's a young woman in the waiting room," she announced. "She said to me, 'Where the h—l's that bonehead of a chief gone?' Lanny looked at Dan McNamara severely over the rims of her spectacles. 'Friend of yours?' she queried wittingly."

"Yes," McNamara admitted, "and Doc's new patient. Bring her in and he'll give her the once over."

But Lanny shook her head. "This nut-shop is closed for the day," she told him. "Bring her around at one o'clock tomorrow. The doctor has a dozen and a half silk stockings. Pettit larceny and caught with the goods. I

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By REV. P. B. FITZWATER, D. D., Member of Faculty, Moody Bible Institute of Chicago, G. Western Newspaper Union.

Lesson for June 2 OUR DAY OF WORSHIP

LESSON TEXT—Psalm 104: John 4:20-24; Colossians 3:15-17. GOLDEN TEXT—God is a Spirit; and they that worship him must worship him in spirit and in truth.—John 4:24. PRIMARY TOPIC—The Lord's Day. JUNIOR TOPIC—Our Lord's Day. INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—What Should We Do on Sunday? YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—What We Do When We Really Worship.

I. The Origin of the Sabbath (Gen. 2:2, 3).

When God had completed the heavens and the earth he desisted from creative action. Since his creative work was finished in six days, he ceased from action on the seventh day, which was, therefore, called the Sabbath or rest day. The Sabbath was not a mosaic but an Edenic institution. It is older by centuries than the Sabbath given to Israel at Sinai.

II. The Sabbath Given to Israel (Exod. 20:8-11).

It was made a peculiar sign of covenant relation between the chosen people and God (Deut. 5:11-15). It enjoins a twofold obligation: 1. Work through six days (v. 9). Work was God's primary thought for man (Gen. 2:15). It expresses man's normal condition. The command to work six days is just as binding as the command to rest on the seventh day.

2. Rest on the seventh day (v. 10). There must be cessation from work on the Sabbath. Since God gave the example and then sanctified the day, it should be kept holy. It was not only to give relief to the body, but to be a time when man's thoughts would be turned to God. It was designed to keep fresh in man's mind the consciousness of God and his mercies. It was thus made for man's well-being (Mark 2:27).

III. The First Day of the Week (Acts 20:7).

The early Christians met on the first day of the week to break the bread of fellowship and to worship God. Paul used this assembly as an occasion to preach the gospel. Doubtless this became the day of rest and worship in honor of the Lord's resurrection.

IV. True Worship Taught (John 4:20-24).

1. True worship is not confined to a particular place (vv. 21, 22). The place is unimportant. The all-important thing is to have the right conception of God as revealed through the Jews. Since God is omnipresent, the true worshiper can hold intercourse with him anywhere and everywhere.

2. It must be spiritual (vv. 23, 24). God is Spirit. Therefore, only those who through regeneration have a spiritual nature can truly worship God.

V. A Psalm of Worship (Ps. 100).

1. Whom to worship (v. 1). Worship should be rendered to God, for he alone is worthy.

2. The spirit of worship (v. 2). Worship should be joyful. This joy should be manifest in the singing of praises to God.

3. Who should worship (v. 3). All the world should worship, not merely the Jews, but all nations. The peculiar mission of the Jews was to call all nations to the worship of the true God.

4. Reasons for worship (vv. 3-5). God should be worshiped because he is God. Being God, he is our Creator, Preserver, and Savior.

VI. The Soul Poise of the True Worshiper (Col. 3:15-17).

1. Peace rules the life (v. 15). The one joined to Christ by faith and resting in his finished work is at peace with God and should be at peace with all members of the body whose head is Christ.

2. Gives thanks to God (v. 15). In spite of all troubles which beset the Christian, they should still be drowned in his constant giving of thanks to God.

3. Christ's Word to dwell in the heart (v. 16). It is not enough to know the truth; the very words of Christ must be made real in experience. They must be made to dwell, that is, be at home in the heart.

4. The definite function of the Christian (v. 16). It is to teach and warn others. Christ's words dwelling in the believer will result in blessing to others. The Christian should always maintain a joyous attitude.

5. The supreme motive (v. 17). All that the Christian does and says should be for the glory of Christ. The enthronement of Christ as the Lord of life means that all the Christian's duties are performed with the consciousness of union with Christ. He knows that his life belongs to Christ, who died that he might live.

Be Cheerful

What do the flowers say, that nod at you from field and garden and lane? I think they say "Be cheerful; look as bright as you can. Leave off frowning, and cheer other people up; smiles cost nothing, but can often lift the shadows and bless the heart."

Friendship Make no friendship with an angry man; and with a furious man thou shalt not go: Lest thou learn his ways, and get a snare to thy soul.—Prov. 22:24, 25

KINDERGARTEN VALUE

One of the great contributions of kindergartens is the freedom provided in school work. They have provided a homelike atmosphere in the school that has enabled the child to read-just himself to a new environment in a happy way.—William S. Taylor, Dean, College of Education, University of Kentucky, Lexington.

WE WONDER

We wonder sometimes if we are doing this thing right.

There are many thousands of children in the United States that are under-fed and under-clothed.

In other countries of the world
there are millions of them.

Men and women and children are starving to death by the thousands.

Note this news story that appeared in some of the daily papers Monday describing conditions in the Human Province in China.

"The famine-swept area of this interior province of China has become a land without children.

"A relief worker who has returned here after a journey through the most seriously afflicted district reported he did not see a single child during his trip. Children, he pointed out, are the first to die in times of acute food shortage.

"The severe drought of last year combined with the ravages of civil warfare between the Communists and Government troops have devastated more than sixty of the seventy-five counties in this province.
Official reports show that 2,000,000 of the 30,000,000 people in the province are in a destitute and starving condition. Adjoining provinces are similarly affected.

"Relief monies are wholly inadequate. Thousands of persons are subsisting largely on bark grass roots and clay.

"The spring crop of vegetables, which would normally be adequate to provide the entire population with food, was eaten months ago when the plants were barely out of the ground. The population must find some way of sustaining itself until the rice crop is harvested late this fall."

In the face of these facts, we wonder if it is right to limit our wheat crop and our cotton crop?

Why not feed the starving and clothe the naked?

Why not convert our surplus wheat into flour and our surplus cotton into clothing, donate them to the Red Cross, provide merchant ships, and have these surplus goods shipped to the starving, dying hordes of men, women, and children in China, in India, and in other parts of the world?

That would dispose of our surplus just as effectively as crop limitation contracts and at the same time would be an act and example of humanitarianism unparalleled in the world's history.

Impractical?
The present course being pursued was thought highly impractical till it was tried.

Unconstitutional?
The Constitution stands no more in the way of some such procedure than it does in the course which has been pursued by this government in many other matters the past two years.

As a minor consideration, such a course would win the everlasting gratitude of the distressed peoples whose lives we might save and would challenge the admiration of the other nations of the world.

CRITICISING WTCC

The West Texas Chamber of Commerce adopted resolutions condemning the AAA's cotton policy, but at the same time a large delegation of dirt farmers from this state was in Washington pleading support to Secretary Wallace and President Roosevelt for the cotton limitation program. The West Texas Chamber of Commerce also indorsed the sales tax some time ago, but the legislature didn't pay any attention to it. Probably Secretary Wallace won't either. How the farmers and rural communities of Texas feel toward the New Deal was pretty well demonstrated last year in the Connally-Bailey senatorial race, where it was the only issue.—
Claude News.

The West Texas Chamber of Commerce has done much good and rendered real service, we believe, for the people of West Texas. But like any other organization, the body is likely to go wrong occasionally.

It many be wrong with respect to the Government's AAA cotton policy. Certainly this policy has brought millions of dollars to the cotton farmers of the South. If the South and West Texas had made bumper crops the past two years, it might be that there would be a different story to tell. But Nature seemed to cooperate with the President to make the AAA program a success.
At any rate we are pleased so far.
The West Texas Chamber of Commerce was also probably wrong as to the sales tax.

The WTCC has done a good work and it can continue to render real service to the people of this section, but there is the constant danger of it's becoming the mere tool of special interests.

Also, there is this criticism. Its conventions are too frequently mere occasions of empty ballyhoo and foolish carousal.

We hope it takes steps to correct
these evils.

A HOT FIGHT BREWING

Early last week a number of the Independent Republican group in the United States Senate walked out of the Chamber when Dennis Chavez of New Mexico was about to be sworn in as the successor of Senator Bronson Cutting, recently killed in an airplane accident. Cutting was also an Independent Republican who had supported Franklin D. Roosevelt for President; but when he ran for re-election to the Senate last year, Roosevelt threw his influence to the Democratic nominee, Dennis Chavez. Cutting was elected on the face of the returns but Chavez contested the election.
The contest was still pending when Cutting was accidentally killed.
Soon after Cutting's death, the Democratic governor of New Mexico appointed Chavez to fill the unexpired term.

The protesting senators, it seems to us, showed a peevishness and littleness in this matter that does them no credit, but it is a straw which shows which way the wind is blowing. Roosevelt will probably not get their support in the next campaign for the Presidency.

In vetoing the soldier bonus bill,
Roosevelt has likewise lost the support of hundreds of thousands of ex-service men.

It is evident therefore that in the next campaign Roosevelt will have far less support than he had in the last campaign unless he makes very substantial gains among the farmers of the North and West.

The next Presidential campaign promises to be one of the most bitter and hectic in the history of the country.

Anti-prohibitionists met in Austin
Saturday and organized "Texas Repeal Forces" to direct a campaign for the legalization of liquor at an election to be held on August 24.
The old war horses of the liquor forces, John Henry Kirby, C. C. Mc-Donald, and Jim Ferguson, were the dominant figures in the convention, but they put younger men forward as the ostensible leaders of the movement. This was done for purely political purposes. In the campaign this summer it will be the hand of Esau that pulls the strings but the voice of Jacob that we will hear berating "the hypocrisy of prohibition" and praising legalized liquor and "temperance".

According to reports, many people in other sections of the state believe that West Texas, and especially the Plains, was just about ruined by the sandstorms this spring.
There are limited areas that were badly damaged, but the permanent damage to the Plains as a whole has been insignificant. We predict that either this year or some year soon the Plains will make another bumper yield of cotton and feed and thus prove to the incredulous that we are still "all here".

We can think of two good and sufficient reasons why men wish to legalize the sale of liquor. They want to make money out of the business or they want liquor to drink. We can think of no other reason why any sensible man would want the sale of the poisonous damning stuff legalized. Can you?

One day at a Tennessee filling station a Kentucky car loaded with young folks stopped for gas. An idle by-stander jokingly remarked,
"Kentucky Wonders." Spontaneously from within the car came this answer, "Tennessee Green Pods."

When you and she are we!
You are made one, 'tis true,
But you will quickly learn
That one is her, not you.

Propose Changes In Constitution

The legislature has submitted to the people of Texas seven proposed constitutional amendments, the election to be held on August 24, 1935.

Four of these proposed amendments are being published in this paper, to wit:

First, H. J. R. No. 48, providing that constitutional amendments may be submitted at special sessions, in cases of "extraordinary emergency". Under the constitution as it is, proposed amendments may be submitted at regular sessions only.

Second, S. J. R. No. 24, providing that the State may furnish free official state text books to every child of scholastic age attending any school within the state. Under the present constitution free text books may be furnished only to children attending the public schools.

Third, S. J. R. No. 6, proposing to abolish the fee method of compensating all district officers in this state and all county officers in certain counties and placing them on a salary basis.

Fourth, H. J. R. No. 39, providing that "mentally ill" persons, not charged with a criminal offense, may be committed temporarily for treatment or observation, without the necessity of trial by jury.

The other three amendments are not being published in this paper but are being published in many papers in the state. They are as follows:

First, S. J. R. No. 3, proposing the repeal of the "dry" amendment in the state constitution.

Second, H. J. R. No. 19, providing for old-age pensions to be paid by the state to persons over 65 years of age not exceeding $15.00 per month.

Third, H. J. R. No. 46, relating to the "suspended sentence" law, giving the courts more latitude in administering the law.

STORYS VISIT

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Story and little daughter, Ruth Evelyn, went down to Wylie, Collin county, Sunday and returned Wednesday night. They were accompanied home by Mr. Story's daughter, Ernestine, and Mrs. Story's father, J. D. Martin, who had been visiting a daughter at Farmersville.

Mr. Story reports that the annual onion crop in that section of the state has come to be a big proposition. Everybody was busy harvesting onions, which are yielding something like $200.00 per acre, but one man can ordinarily handle only about ten acres and needs a lot of help to do that.

When Mr. Story got down to Wylie his daddy put him to work and he hurried back home.

A young woman who had studied in one of the modern universities met a Professor who was noted for his absent-mindedness. Don't you really remember me, Professor? she inquired. "You once asked me to marry you, you know." "Oh, yes," replied the Professor, displaying sudden interest. "and did you?"

MAN CRAWLS FOUR MILES FOR HELP AFTER ACCIDENT

Carlsbad, N. M., May 28—Nerve and fortitude of the West were qualities which probably saved the life of Beneno Anthony, sheepherder in the El Paso Gap section, 30 miles west of Carlsbad.

Anthony's .44 caliber revolver dropped from his bed roll, discharged and the bullet struck him above the ankle, shattering the bone. Alone and without aid, he checked the flow of blood and then began to crawl on hands and knees to his nearest neighbor, four miles distant.

The accident occurred at 8 o'clock Friday night. Anthony reached his neighbor's home at 7 A. M. Saturday. Fifteen minutes later, the injured man's journey would have been of no effect, as the neighbor's horses were added to move a herd of cattle.

Anthony was brought to a local hospital and barring complications, recovery is expected.

Eldon Gattis, who suffered a stroke of paralysis in one side of the face a few weeks ago which rendered it impossible for him to close one eye or to use any of the muscles on that side of the face, is said to be greatly improved. The effects of the stroke have not yet entirely disappeared but his condition is steadily improving.

W. J. Burekhardt, who lives out in the Edith community, says that the lakes out in his community have more water in them than they have had in seventeen years with one exception. That was in June, 1927. He says the ground is thoroughly soaked and he thinks the crop prospects are just about as good as could be desired.

Mrs. J. H. Powell and children are preparing to leave Saturday for San Angelo to make that their future home. Hosts of friends here regret their removal from Tahoka.

SOFTBALL TEAMS WILL END FIRST HALF OF THIS SEASON

Tahoka's five soft ball teams will end the first half of the season this week.

These games have been attracting good-sized crowds when the weather was not too unfavorable.

The five teams are as follows: Firemen, Oilers, Cleaners, Bankers, and Lumbermen.

The percentage standing has not been figured, but the number of games won and lost by the respective teams up to Wednesday night is as follows:

Team	Won	Lost
Firemen	13	1
Oilers	4	7
Cleaners	5	7
Bankers	3	9
Lumbermen	6	7

LARGE CLOTHES CLOSET IS MADE FOR ONLY 69 CENTS

Liberty—A clothes closet five and one-half by four and one-third feet has been built for a cash expenditure of 69 cents, by Mrs. George Curtis says that she and her husband to the report of Miss Nettie Smith, home demonstration agent. Mrs. Curtis says that she and her husband planned for some sort of storage space, but at first it seemed that about all they had to start was a door. By placing the closet in one corner of the room, two walls served as two sides of the closet. A 2x4 piece of timber was found which was used for a brace at the corner. Then a few strips of old boards were nailed on and two layers of heavy cardboard tacked on the outside and one layer on the inside. The money spent was for 1x6 lumber for the base board and door facing, and for nails. After the closet was built it was papered inside and out to match the paper in the room.

Tom Higgins and his sister-in-law, Mrs. Bettie Higgins, her daughter Bette Lou, and Mrs. Joe Risinger, all of Merkel, came up Tuesday to spend a day or two here with relatives and friends.

Carlton Crawford of Abilene arrived here Monday expecting to remain indefinitely. He is a cousin to Judge W. E. (Happy) Smith and will assist the Judge on the latter's farm here.

A. B. (Boots) Swan, who was seriously ill following a major operation, is able to be out of bed most of the time. However, he will not be able to work for several weeks, it is said.

Joe Poindexter, who has been seriously ill of pneumonia in a Lubbock hospital, returned to his home northwest of town last week. He is improving rapidly.

Mrs. Clay Bennett, was taken to Lubbock Wednesday afternoon to have her tonsils removed.

Painted surfaces may be washed with a jelly made by dissolving one part of neutral soap flakes in five parts of hot water. Cool before using.

Meat should not be placed in water to wash it before cooking. Simply wipe it with a clean, damp cloth.

Lumps can be removed from warmed-up leftover cooked cereals by beating with an egg beater.

It is estimated that there are more than 1,500,000 living graduates from the colleges and universities of America.

TAHOKA DEFEATS NEWMOORE

Governmental, state and civic officials joined with the principal executives of General Motors Corporation in the formal opening of the new 80,000-car-a-year Chevrolet assembly plant in Baltimore recently. The new plant (center) was dedicated with impressive ceremonies (lower left), and Chevrolet, Fisher Body and General Motors officials were guests of the Baltimore Association of Commerce at a formal banquet in the evening. W. E. Holler, vice-president and general sales manager of Chevrolet, is shown (standing) with Maryland's Governor, H. W. Nice, and Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., president of General Motors (upper left). M. Hijacker Fails To Hold Up Cowan

This story is several weeks old and happened nearly four hundred miles from Tahoka, but it's worth printing.

Roy Cowan had gone down to Coolee in Limestone county in his truck for a load of freight, going through Dallas. In or near that city he picked up a hitch-hiker who rode with him to Coolee and was returning with him to Dallas, riding in the seat with Roy and driving part of the time.

As they were nearing Dallas, the passenger suddenly thrust the muzzle of a pistol against Roy's side and told him to stick 'em up. As quick as a flash and before he had time for a second thought, Roy grabbed the barrel of the gun with one hand and thrust it from him. Then turning entirely he proceeded to scuffle with the hi-jacker for the gun. In the meantime the hi-jacker decided that the truck was going into the ditch and with one hand grabbed the steering wheel, whereupon Roy succeeded in wrenching the pistol from the fellow's hand.

Roy brought the guy on into Dallas, where he bought him a couple of hamburgers and gave him a nice little moral lecture, and turned him loose. He brought the gun on home with him and it may be seen any day at the Galignat Hardware Store. It is a big .45 Colt and looks like a dangerous weapon.

The would-be hi-jacker was a young fellow, though a full grown man, and was probably an amateur at the bandit business.

Drys' Are Planning Intensive Campaign

Plans for an intensive campaign against the legalization of liquor in Texas which will put into action 6,000 speakers headed by Dr. George W. Truett, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Dallas; Bishop H. A. Boas of the Methodist Episcopal Church; Dr. C. C. Seelman, president of Southern Methodist University; and Dr. W. R. White, pastor of the Broadway Baptist Church of Fort Worth, were perfected at Friday's closing state-wide sessions of the Texas United Drys at the First Baptist Church in Dallas, according to press reports.

Youth also will be enlisted in the fight. State-wide oratorical contests have been planned which are expected to produce 3,000 young speakers against the return of liquor.

Dr. Truett and Bishop Boas will form a speaking team which will speak at all major cities in the state, and the first meeting will probably be at Southern Methodist University, it is said.

On June 30 all churches in the state will be asked to submit abstinence cards to their membership and from this drive it is hoped that more than 1,000,000 abstinence pledges will be signed.

Tom Love pointed out at the meeting Friday that the proposed repeal amendment contains jokers which would make it more difficult for the State to convict in local option territory than it was under the old local option laws.

REVIVAL SERVICES TO BEGIN AT PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

In keeping with the evangelistic program of our General Assembly, a meeting will be held in every church in the Assembly at least once a year and more if the Spirit so leads. The Tahoka Presbyterian Church is planning for special services all next week, beginning the first Sunday and continuing over the second Sunday in June, conducted by the pastor, with the possibility of Dr. Lewis of Lubbock preaching one or two nights. We are simply not able to send off and get some high powered preacher, and must ask our Tahoka folks to come and assist home talent to the limit, and thank you in advance.
 No day services announced for the present, only a night service at the usual hour of evening service in Tahoka. The public in general is most cordially invited to every service. We especially invite the other pastors of Tahoka and their people to unite with us in these gospel services. Your presence and interest will greatly encourage the preacher and these labors of our church in your midst at such a time as this. We need your fellowship and your help in the song service and prayer. School being out, we would be glad to have as many of the young people as possible in these special night services. Come and bring others and thus encourage the Gospel preached for these few days. Your presence and help will be greatly appreciated. And, no good we do is ever lost.

Start at once and don't miss a service.

Order of topics tentatively, as follows.

Sunday night—"The Dynamic of Preaching"—The issues that depend upon preaching.

Monday night—"Spiritual Reparation"—Getting back to normal religiously.

Tuesday night—"Intercessory Prayer"—Others at heart before God.

Wednesday night—"Giving the Devil His Dues"—Something we owe to all men.

Thursday night—"Parental Responsibility"—A fine service for the whole family.

Friday night—"Follage Without Fruits"—The evil of harmless but useless lives.

Saturday night—"Without the Wedding Garment"—Heaven, a prepared place for a prepared people.

Sunday night—"The Great Invitation."

You are cordially invited to come, bring others and enjoy these gospel services with us. I anticipate having a good attendance and a good meeting, the Lord with us, and your sympathetic interest and help at such a time as this. Start the very first Sunday and don't miss a service.—W. K. Johnston, Minister.

TWO GOOD SERVICES AT METHODIST CHURCH SUNDAY

Those who failed to attend services at the Methodist Church Sunday missed a real treat and spiritual blessing.

The observance of Sunday School Day by the Nursery, Primary, Junior and Young People's departments was enjoyed by a goodly number. The teachers of these groups are to be commended for the splendid work they are doing. The Adult Department is going along nicely. Mr. Pace brings a wonderful message each Sunday and we appreciate the work very much. The teachers of the Adult Department are very faithful and the attendance is fine.

At the eleven o'clock hour Bro. Smith brought a beautiful and helpful lesson on "The Church Teachers", using as his example the life of Jesus. He taught in precept and knowledge. Leaving the thought with us, "We can all be teachers."

"The Beautiful Life" was the subject for the evening service. The lesson, taken from the Book of Acts—the beautiful Christian life of Dorcas. Bro. Smith always brings wonderful messages. After hearing these two, one could not help but want to try harder to live the beautiful life. The choir did some very fine singing—both morning and evening, with special music each service. If you were not in these services, you missed a real treat.

We were very glad to have our Baptist friends with us in the evening service. A welcome always awaits you at the Methodist Church.

Be on time for the services next Sunday. Choir rehearsal Wednesday evening at 8:30.—Reporter.

RETURN FROM VISIT

Mrs. H. P. Caveness and Mrs. E. I. Hill returned last Thursday night from a visit with relatives in Central Texas—Hamilton, McLennan, Bell, and Milan counties. Mrs. Caveness also visited at Kaufman and Mrs. Hill at Luling in South Texas. They report heavy rains, overflowing streams, and fine crop prospects in all that section of the state.

Mrs. J. R. Turner of El Paso spent several days here visiting her father, W. S. Swan, her brother A. B. Swan, and her sister, Mrs. E. H. Bulloun. She returned to her home Monday.

Miss Jean Hooper of Archer City returned to her home Monday after a few days visit with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Hogan, and other relatives here.

Peggy and Mary Beth Fenton returned Sunday from a week's visit with Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Barnes and little daughter, Eva Claire, at Clovis, New Mexico.

HIGHWAY COMMISSIONERS PLAN WASHINGTON TRIP

Austin, May 29.—In a determined effort to obtain $1,000,000 for gapping on Texas highways before the Centennial and the opening of the Mexico City road, Harry Hines, new chairman of the State Highway Commission, will head a delegation of Texas leaders to Washington in mid-June, he has announced.

His hope is to impress the federal administration with the fact that the building of modern highways in Texas can provide more and better and quicker employment than weeding, ditching or many of the other former CWA activities. It can do this, he contends, with minimum waste or abuses, and the result will be useful, permanent, revenue-producing facilities.

Accompanying Chairman Hines to the capital will be the other commissioners, Gibb Gilchrist, state highway engineer, Col. Ike Ashburn of the Texas Good Roads Association and envoys from many other groups.

Gov. James V. Allred favors utilization of road-building as a means of unemployment relief in Texas, and has wired his view to President Roosevelt.

"Well over 90 per cent of the Texas road dollar goes to labor either on the job or in the factories, mills and pits behind it," Mr. Hines explained, "and this is why we hope to get some of the money from purely temporary relief projects shifted to it."

"Texas should get over $50,000,000 for roads and grade separations from appropriations already made, and we will ask for $40,000,000 more. We have the plans all ready for badly-needed roads that will exceed this amount, and we can get them under way swiftly."

The highway chairman explained that he has no thought of disturbing the many worthwhile city and community projects to be presented through PWA, but only random and unplanned work relief.

MY SCHOOLROOM

I have a little household Where tiny girls and boys May bring to me their troubles, And share their little joys; Where I may be their mother For five long golden hours, And love and serve and teach them With all my humble powers.

I have a little army To lead along the way Where Knowledge, Truth and Beauty Are shining day by day; And I must be the captain, My sword must be a prayer, Lest any harm befall them—The soldiers in my care.

I have a little kingdom Where love plays such a part, That all the tiny subjects Are rulers of my heart; Yet every little despot Is loyal to the core, And where is there a monarch Who could ask for more?

HOT TOPPING OF 56 MILES OF CALICHE BASE TO START SOON

Jim Jackson Weds Corpus Christi Girl

Jim Jackson of this city and Miss Juanita Newberry of Corpus Christi were married soon after twelve o'clock Saturday night at the residence of Rev. George A. Dale, who performed the marriage ceremony. This event came as quite a surprise to Jim's friends here, as the romance that terminated in the wedding had its origin only a few weeks ago.

For several months Mr. Jackson has been associated with Deen Nowlin here, who is local representative of the Temple Trust Company, the Peck Investment Company, and other financial organizations. He was practically reared in Tahoka and with the exception of two or three years recently, during which time he resided in Dallas, he has lived in Tahoka from early childhood. He is a young man of much native ability and many fine qualities and has a promising future.

The bride had resided in Plainview for several years until last February, when the family removed to Corpus Christi. She was practically unknown here but is a young lady of much refinement.

The couple have rooms temporarily in the Craft residence in West Tahoka.

WORKERS CONFERENCE TO MEET AT FELLOWSHIP

The News has been requested to announce that the Baptist Workers Conference of the Brownfield association will meet with the Fellowship Church on Thursday, June 6.

The Tahoka Church will probably be represented, as usual, at this meeting.

Everett Dixon of Borger spent last week end here visiting Miss Lucille Carmack in the A. B. Swan home.

Mrs. W. T. Bovell and little infant came home from the hospital Wednesday. We reported the birth of the little daughter last week.

JUST A TRUNKFUL!

THREE smiling young stowaways demonstrate the ample space available for luggage, golf clubs or trophies of a shopping expedition, found in the trunk compartment of the new Ford V-8 Touring Sedans, two of the new de luxe types recently announced by the Ford Motor Company. The trunk compartment—with 18 cubic feet of space—is an inherent part of the design of the Fordor and Fordor Touring Sedan body types. All the space is used for luggage, the spare tire being carried conventionally at the rear, while an inner compartment under the floor provides space for tools. The trunk compartments may be locked with the same key that fits the tire lock. The new touring sedans were designed to provide ample luggage carrying facilities for families doing extensive traveling who wish to utilize the car interior for passengers. They have proved thus far to be among the most popular Ford body types.

PHEBE K. WARNER HOLDS LAST MEETING OF YEAR

On Friday afternoon, May 24, the Phebe K. Warner Club closed the year's work at a meeting in the beautiful home of Mrs. A. P. Edwards, which was decorated to suit the program, "Texas", using native flowers and cacti throughout the house.

The programs were printed on an outline of the map of Texas with a blooming cactus painted on the cover.

Greta Joyce Applewhite gave a reading. Texas songs and string music by Charles Gagnat and Luther Carpenter.

Mrs. Haney in that graceful manner of hers paid tribute to Mrs. R. W. Fenton Jr for the Club. The love and admiration for her was "Said with flowers."

Mrs. Fenton, the retiring president, was beautifully dressed in navy blue and was holding the gorgeous bouquet of red cransations as she gave her response.

Guests were invited into the dining room where a beautiful lace covered table was centered with a large punch bowl where each was served punch and sugar cookies. Plate favors were miniature covered pots with different types of cacti growing.

After refreshments, the club adjourned to meet in September.—Reporter.

CLUB GIRL TELLS HOW SHE IMPROVED HER BEDROOM

That Extension work is a means of helping Texas farm people to make the most of what they already have has been said by many both in word and deed.

A good example of what Lynn county 4-H club girls are learning to do for themselves and their homes is to be seen in the bedroom improvement work being carried on under the supervision of Miss Robb, County Home Demonstration Agent.

Recently when the demonstration bedrooms in each of several clubs of the county were scored Miss O'Dean Boen of the South Ward club was declared county winner.

Below is O'Dean's own story of her bedroom work.

THE STORY OF MY BEDROOM

(By O'Dean Boen)
My room was just a junk room you might say or a smoke house, for the closet in my room was where we always hung our meat.

My room was a dark-looking room, for though it had two windows the walls were unfinished, dark and unattractive.

When I decided to be bedroom demonstrator and fix my room up I had no furniture except an old iron bedstead, a small chest in which to keep part of my clothing, a chair and a small home-made wardrobe with a curtain over the front.

My mother is our club sponsor and with her help and encouragement I made for my room a dressing table with bench, a writing desk with book shelves above, all made of scrap lumber and orange crates, and a window seat made on old stove legs. I covered the chair, bench and window with blue Jasper cloth.

I made my bedspread and sheet of unbleached muslin, candlewicking them in light blue.

My single bedspread had lost two iron rods across the foot. I found and inserted two more and the change was hardly noticeable after the bedstead was enameled in ivory, as were all other pieces of furniture.

My bed was made standard by having a slat for each row of spring coils, making a spring cover, a mattress cover, mattress protector, long sheets and pillow protectors.

I made a hooked rug of rags dyed in soft, harmonizing colors, and placed it beside my bed.

My closet was large enough to put a hanging rod for my clothes and a shelf for my hat on one side and a small wash stand that I already had on the other.

I put the old broken door of my closet in another place in the house and put a better door to the closet.

I painted all the wood work in a light color, papered the entire room and the closet with some paper that my sister and I won in club work last year, oiled my floor, bought a mirror and a waste paper basket, and now have an attractive bedroom at a total cost of $4.74.

FARMER COUNTY FARMER INSTALLS 3200 FEET OF TILE

Farwell—Thirty-two hundred feet of sub-irrigation tile were installed in the garden and fruit plot of J. O. Ford of Farmer county during the past winter according to Miss Rozelle McKenney, home demonstration agent. Ditches for the tile were dug 12 inches deep with a chisel pulled by a tractor.

Accurate account of the cost of the work was kept by Mr. Ford who found that one man could make about 220 feet of tile a day by using two sacks of cement and 800 pounds of sand which cost $3.04. The cost of tile materials averaged one and one-third cents per foot for Mr. Ford and the cost of labor for making and installing the tile averaged three and two-thirds cents per foot.

Water for irrigation on the Ford farm is stored in a metal tank which is eight feet deep and 15 feet in diameter.

DICKENS CLUB BOYS MAKE PROFIT ON CALF PROJECT

Dickens—A return of $224.35 for their work and investment has been realized by three Dickens county 4-H club boys who fed four calves and exhibited them at the Lubbock meat show, according to G. J. Lane, county agricultural agent. The calves were fed farm-grown grains and roughages at a cost of $212.64, and were sold at the auction sale at an average price of 12 1/4 cents per pound.

With the impetus which resulted from feeding grade calves, five purebred calves have been selected from recognized breeders of the State to be used in feeding demonstrations for the ensuing year, Lane said.

"MONDAY'S THE DAY"

Dumb Dora: "I don't see how football players ever get clean!"
Ditto: "Silly, what do you suppose the scrub teams are for?"

Question in the eighth grade examination: "Is it safe to turn on the electric light while taking a bath?"

Answer: "Yes, if you pull down the shades."

Mrs. Caroline Hoffman, of New York, 103, is said to be the oldest person to vote in the last presidential election.

Come to Tahoka Trades Day.

My little cousin Joe from the city was visiting us at pea canning time. Joe asked mother to let him see her take up the peas, so she called him when she was ready to take them from the cooker. She had packed them in glass jars, and as she took them out he said in a very disgusted tone of voice: "Heck! You didn't can 'em, you just jarred them."

A small girl handed in an arithmetic paper and signed "Mae West" to it. Her teacher said, "Mary, why did you sign this paper 'Mae West' instead of your own name?"
Mary put her hands on her hips and said, "Cause I done 'em wrong."

A fly and a flea in a flue
Were imprisoned, so what could they do?

Said the fly, "Let us flee!"
"Let us fly" said the flea,
So they flew through a flaw in the flue.

Lady's Painful Trouble Helped By Cardui

Why do so many women take Cardui for the relief of functional pains at monthly times? The answer is that they want results such as Mrs. Herbert W. Hunt, of Hallsville, Texas, describes. She writes: "My health wasn't good. I suffered from cramping. My pain would be so intense it would nauseate me. I would just drag around, so sluggish and 'do-less.' My mother decided to give me Cardui. I began to mend. That tired, sluggish feeling was gone and the pains disappeared. I can't praise Cardui too highly because I know it helped me."... If Cardui does not help YOU, consult a physician.

Pleated Sleeve Gives Striking New Effect

A pleated sleeve that forms an epaulet shoulder is new and creates a striking effect. (Note the back view, too.) Add to that, the center front buttoning that is so much the rage, soft gathers above the bust line, and a patch pocket, and you've a shirtmaker frock of unrivaled chic. It's a grand thing to jump into for that unexpected jaunt, and is smartly at home in practically any daytime environment. Make it in a new printed linen or cotton, or a cravat silk. It's stunning, too, in plaided or striped sports seersucker or cotton.

Pattern 2212 is available in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30 and 32. Size 16 takes 3 3/4 yards 39 inch fabric. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included. SEND FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for this pattern. Write plainly name, address, and style number, BK SURE TO STATE SIZE. Address orders to the Sewing Circle Pattern Department, 243 West Seventeenth Street, New York City.

SMILES

UP AGAINST IT A Cockney woman was addressing her small son, who looked rather gully. "Wotcher bin a doin' off" she demanded suspiciously. "Nuffin'," replied the small boy. "Wot are yer doing, then?" "Nuffin'." "Wotcher goin' ter do, then?" she persisted. "Nuffin'." "Well, then," she exclaimed, giving him a sound cuff on the ear, "take that, yer lazy little brat!"—Bystander.

Power "Why did that actress marry her press agent?" "She wanted security," said Miss Cayenne. "She let him understand that if his compliments did not continue to please her, he'd lose his home and his job both at once."

Suggestive "Stop playing 'Falling Dew'!" "Why, pa?" "It reminds me of the real."—Everybody's Weekly.

TREMENDOUS TRIFLES

By ELMO SCOTT WATSON

A COSTLY WEEK-END

LORD GEORGE GERMAIN, British secretary of state for the American colonies during the War of the Revolution, was ready to leave London for a pleasant week-end at Stoneham in Sussex. The duties of his office had tired him and he looked forward to the quiet of the English countryside.

On his way from his chambers he stopped at his office to sign some official papers. One of them directed to Lord William Howe, British commander in New York city, ordered him to co-operate with Gen. John Burgoyne by moving north up the Hudson, to join forces with Burgoyne who would start south from Canada. Between them they would smash the rebel army. But the letter to Howe hadn't been "fair copied" and wasn't ready for the signature of the secretary of state. "So!" exclaimed my Lord Germain. "My poor horses must wait and I must lose time because of this!" Then a clerk named D'Oyly said that he would make the "fair copy" and would write from himself to Howe, enclosing the instructions to General Burgoyne which would tell him all that he would need with this and made ready to "keep his time, for he could never bear delay or disappointment."

So the "poor horses" of Lord Germain weren't kept standing in the street and he was able to hasten to his country estate for a pleasant week-end. But the five or ten minutes that he did not wait to write were costly ones for England.

D'Oyly forgot to write the letter to Howe and when his Lordship returned to his office from his week-end in Sussex, he also forgot to ask about the matter. Howe stayed in New York instead of marching north along the Hudson. The result was that the unlucky "Gentleman Johnny" Burgoyne blundered south through the wilderness to the Inglorious end of his expedition at Saratoga. And Saratoga was the turning point of the Revolution.

ICE-JAM

OF COURSE, an ice-jam isn't such a trifle, but the one which choked the entrance to Chesapeake bay in the winter of 1784 was insignificant—if you compare its size to the broad expanse of the blue Atlantic. However, it was big enough and thick enough so that a ship from London was held up for two months before she could dock at Baltimore.

One of her passengers was a young German named Jacob Astor who was going to make his fortune, beginning by the sale of seven futes he was bringing with him. During the long days the ship was held in the ice-jam, young Jacob Astor had many long talks with another young fellow, also a German. He was returning to America to resume his fur-trading operations in which he foresaw possibilities for great wealth because the Indians, he said, were only too glad to exchange valuable furs for the most inexpensive toys and other baubles. Astor listened but was not particularly impressed.

At last the ship reached Baltimore and young Astor hastened on to the metropolis of New York city. But his venture in futes was a failure. Then he remembered the enthusiasm of his fellow-German over the fur trade. He guessed he'd try it.

He did. And within a few years it had made him a fortune of more than $2,000,000. Today the name of Astor is a symbol for great wealth—all because an ice-jam held up the ship which was bringing a young German immigrant to the shores of the New world.

GLITTER OF GOLD

THIS is a story with some highly important "ifs" in it.

If James Wilson Marshall had chosen to build a sawmill on a little stream in the tiny California valley of Coloma and there was a downpour of rain in the first month of the year 1848, at dawn on Monday, January 24, Marshall went out to see if the channel was satisfactory.

Glancing idly at some of the earth, excavated from the channel and now washed down by the recent downpour, he noticed some gleaming particles. He looked at them more closely, then sent back to camp for a tin plate. He "panned" out some of the dirt in the plate and soon had about a half-ounce of the yellow flakes.

Well, the course of American history might have been entirely different.

But the fact is that Marshall did locate the sawmill on a little stream in the tiny California valley of Coloma and there was a downpour of rain in the first month of the year 1848, at dawn on Monday, January 24, Marshall went out to see if the channel was satisfactory.

Glancing idly at some of the earth, excavated from the channel and now washed down by the recent downpour, he noticed some gleaming particles. He looked at them more closely, then sent back to camp for a tin plate. He "panned" out some of the dirt in the plate and soon had about a half-ounce of the yellow flakes.

Eventually those yellow flakes reduced John Sutter, "king" of New Helvetia, and James Marshall to poverty. But before doing that, they set a whole nation mad with an ancient lust, played an important part in the slavery dispute that led to the Civil war and gave to the world the "gold standard" of money.

Chic Triple Sheer Print's the Thing

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

THE perfect costume for all-around practical daytime wear has arrived! See it pictured herewith. It's the dress with a jacket that is fashioned of the now-so-stylish triple sheer print. The smartest, the neatest, the most sensible and serviceable, the most attractive and best looking are befitting words when it comes to describing these jacket outfits.

There is not the slightest doubt about the wisdom of including one of the new ingeniously designed jacketed costumes in one's spring and summer wardrobe. It will prove an ever faithful standby ready for every daytime occasion. In the illustration we are showing three particularly good-looking models. They are types that women can live in from morning to night and always look well groomed.

These brand new jacket styles are in that famous fabric, triple sheer of bemberg, which is expensive in looks but not in cost. The material is pure dye, cool, washable, or dry-cleans perfectly, if you so prefer. Furthermore, it may be pressed with a hot iron without fear of pulling or slipping at the seams. And, oh, joy of joys, it is practically wrinkle proof and resistant to perspiration.

The extremely good-looking jacket suit to the right in the group is the sort that is ready to go places at a moment's notice. White pique spaghetti cordings and fastenings effectively trim the navy-with-white (either color combinations are available) sheer of bemberg material. Bandings of self-fabric are stitched row-and-row on a net foundation for the sleeves, the same—also effectively used in the yoke of the dress. This treatment which has to do with appliques and stitched bandings and folds of the dress print on net backgrounds is one which is being played up by designers throughout current styling.

A flattering jacket costume in a new flower-patterned triple sheer with collar of organdie applique on a foundation of mousseline de soie is pictured to the left. Shirring accents shoulders, sleeves, and pockets. Shirring is very popular just now. It is the fashion to wear flowers, too, which is why this charming young woman has pinned a cluster of dainty posies at her throat.

What's more, fashion goes so far as to suggest "sets" of flowers. That is to say, a gardenia on one's hat is matched with a boutonniere of gardenias. More flower news is to the effect that the floral motif is to be changed to tune in with the mood and the color scheme of the costume. Pin violets on your hat today, wearing matching flowers on your coat lapel or on the bodice of your frock. Perhaps bright field flowers is choice for the day following, or if you would flaunt the favorite flower of the moment, it's the carnation.

As you can see, looking at the costume centered in the picture, a block print in triple sheer of bemberg has a heap o' swank about it. The brief jacket is styled in cape effect, and the yoke of the slim frock alternates narrow stripes of self-material spaced with the net foundation to which they are stitched. Her lovely summery chapeau has gone very feminine what with its flowers and ribbons and a big floppy brim.

GLAMOR OF LACE

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

Lace has been shown in beautiful creations at every Paris collection this season. This very choice formal is of salmon pink lace, the full, transparent skirt showing the slim, color-matched slip beneath. The sash of velvet ribbon is also in the identical salmon pink. Three strands of graduated pearls, a rhinestone bracelet and a pearl bracelet are the complementing jewelry notes.

PLEATED SKIRTS IN CHIFFON NEW STYLE

The tidal wave that has brought in more width for skirts has also brought in pleats. This type of fuller skirt is available in daytime and evening fashions, although the evening skirt version is being seen more often at present. It is a fashion that may be said to have come out of the emphasis on floating chiffon skirts, for most of the pleated styles so far are done in chiffon.

There is a particular genre in chiffon and pleats that goes with sunburst pleats, entire skirts and bodices also pleated—very Grecian, and reminiscent of the sunburst evening skirts which Mainbocher and Louise-Boulinger offered in evening frocks at their openings.

But there are other interpretations of the pleated idea, in front fullness or back fullness, in those concentrated panel godets that are used often for adding width this season.

Coarse Novelty Straws

Take Lead in Millinery

It is the way of hats to be anything and everything but ordinary. One of the new lines—it's impossible to designate any one type as the newest—is the hat with a brim which projects forward. Beret types are draped that way.

Coarse novelty straws, some shiny, some rough, are everywhere, but so, too, are Milans. There are any number of stitched taffeta hats and unusual felts.

The long threatened return of trimming has come. Milliners have followed the lead of the couturiers and are trimming with flowers.

Formal Swagger Coat

The formal swagger coat is a piquant newcomer. Done in woolsens that vary from black to palest blue, with full sleeves and soft collars, they flare and swing above the most elegant of afternoon dresses.

Abyssinian Empire Has Only One Railway Line

The empire of Abyssinia has one railroad, and even that does not belong to it. The shares of the Djibuti-Addis Ababa railroad are in French hands. There is also no time-table announcing when the trains leave and arrive.

As a matter of fact, the train goes from Addis Ababa to Djibuti and back only once a week. Usually it goes on Wednesday, but it may be that some important Abyssinian wants to leave Addis Ababa or some French official wants to leave Djibuti on Monday. In that case the train goes on Monday, and the foreign visitor who has planned to take the train on Wednesday must wait eight days until the next train leaves.

This does not disturb the Oriental, who does not understand that time has any value, for has anyone ever succeeded in pouring time into a vessel? But the hotel porter understands and, in return for a large tip, sees to it that the foreign visitor gets his train. He is informed about any changes in the schedule and thus makes his living. Anyone who cannot or will not pay must wait.

The passenger traffic on the railway is of only secondary importance. The line is primarily "strategic."

Supreme Court Ruling Kills NRA

The Blue Eagle is dead. The supreme court killed it Monday with its little arrow, the arrow being a decision rendered in a case carried up from a New York federal court.

The court held that Congress had undertaken to delegate legislative authority to the President and to others in violation of the Constitution.

It also held that through the NRA codes the Federal Government was undertaking to interfere with and to regulate intra-state as well as inter-state commerce, whereas under the constitution the authority to regulate intra-state commerce is reserved to the respective states or to the people.

The court was unanimous in its opinion, though two members dissented on some minor points.

Probably most lawyers will agree that the court was eminently correct in its conclusions. Most lawyers all along have had grave doubts as to the constitutionality of the NRA and the codes that have been promulgated and put into operation.

Now that the whole structure has been shattered by a single blow, Congress and the President and the Department heads and the NRA officials, industrial heads, labor organizations, and the people generally seem confused and stunned. They are asking, What next? What are the consequences to be?

Nobody knows. If something isn't done the consequences may be disastrous. Or, the disturbance may prove to be only temporary, and business and national recovery may continue to advance and improve in spite of—or some would contend, by reason of—this far-reaching decision.

LATEST WILL ROGERS PLAY IS "LIFE BEGINS AT 40"

If you have been saving up laughs, prepare to shed them now, for Will Rogers' latest comedy, "Life Begins at 40," starting Saturday night and running Sunday and Monday night at the English Theatre, contains a bundle of hilarious situations that will act as magnets to the laughter chained within us all.

This breezy comedy, suggested by the Walter B. Pitkin book hit, is described as a hilarious fun fest that works into a pandemonium of mirth.

The inimitable Will is cast as a country editor who proves that the way to get a kick out of life is to put a double kick into it. From other cities, reports tell of this picture delighting as the "clowning triumph" of Will Rogers' screen career. Youth and age roar in unison with the mirth-provoking happenings.

Rogers stampedes excitement into his small town, tries his hand at match-making, leads an army of veteran hill-billy hog-callers into battle, fights a frolicsome duel using wisecracks for every pistol bullet of his adversary.

Funny-bones are in peril from all counts. The comedy of "Life Begins at 40," is doubled with a tender romance. As the editor, Rogers, clears the reputation of a youth "railroaded" to penitentiary, and so stirs up a hornet's nest of hostility.

Sol M. Wurtzel produced this Fox Film picture, which George Marshall directed. The screen play is by Lamar Trotti, who collaborated on the script of "Judge Priest."

Witticisms pungent as any Will himself conceals, leave his lips in this picture. They deal with politics, women, rusticity, wealth, self-praise, love, youth and age.

In the fine supporting cast are such screen personalities as Rochelle Hudson, Richard Cromwell, George Barbier, Jane Darwell, Slim Sumnerville, Sterling Holloway, Thomas Beck, Roger Imhof, Carles Sellen, John Bradford and Ruth Gillette.

THE MAN BEHIND THE SMILE

I don't know how he is on creeds, I never heard him say; But he's got a smile that fits his face And he wears it every day. If things go wrong he won't complain— Just tries to see the joke; He's always finding little ways Of helping other folk.

You'll know him if you meet him. And you'll find it worth your while To cultivate the friendship of The man behind the smile. —Author Unknown.

ASK LAYING OF PAVEMENT ON HIGHWAY NUMBER 84

(Cont'd. from first page) ready extends from Texarkana westward through Greenville, McKinney, Denton, Decatur, and Jacksboro, to Graham, with the exception of a few short gaps.

The completed road would extend westward from Graham through Newcastle, Throckmorton, Haskell and Rule to Old Glory, where it would connect with No. 84, which extends west from that point through Aspermont, Jayton, Claremont, Post, Tahoka, Brownfield, and Plains, to the New Mexico line, where it connects with a hard-surfaced highway extending through Roswell and other points on to El Paso.

A fine new bridge over the Brazos in Young county was completed and opened to traffic last June; Haskell county has almost completed the paving from that city eastward to the Throckmorton county line; Garza county has practically completed the grading and drainage structures eastward from Post to the Kent county line; and the road is already hard-surfaced most of the way through Kent county. Most of the crooks in No. 84 in Kent and Stonewall counties would be eliminated. A new survey of No. 84 through Lynn county has been made recently, with a view to eliminating the right angle turns near West Point and at Central Church, and securing a hundred-foot right-of-way through the county.

Judge Smith reports that there were about one hundred men at the Throckmorton meeting and much interest was manifest.

The organization appointed an executive committee consisting of R. W. Williams Jr. of Graham, chairman, County Judge McClure of Jacksboro, County Judge Condon of Throckmorton, County Judge Anderson of Aspermont, former District Judge A. H. Carrigan of Wichita Falls, and R. A. Sims of Brownfield. The new organization is known as the Arkansas-Texas-New Mexico Highway Association.

The executive committee will collect data and present to the state highway commission with a view to getting this highway straightened and paved throughout its course from Texarkana to the New Mexico line.

FARMERS TO RECEIVE FINAL COTTON POOL CHECKS SOON

(Cont'd. from first page) from the pool at 4 cents per pound and the expense of operating the Pool was less than four one-hundredths of a cent per pound.

The 30% poundage, which the producers of Lynn county have to their credit, amounts to 2,814,568 pounds. This poundage may be handled in either of two ways:

- (1) It may be placed in a special pool.
- (2) It may be reissued in the form of new certificates to the producer.

If the first is followed, the producer may, at the time he receives his final check, sign a form in the Assistant's office to revert the 30% poundage in the Special Pool to sell for not less than 5 cents per pound and the pool to be liquidated in not more than 120 days.

Or the producer may request the Assistant or the County Agent to have the 30% unsold poundage issued to him in the form of 1935-1936 Certificates.

All producers will be notified of the date checks will be delivered. Farmers will have 10 days after receiving their check to decide whether they will pool their certificates in the Special Pool.

It was further stated that farmers who have certificates left over from last year's ginning may also pool them in the Special Pool. If this is done it will not be necessary to exchange these certificates for new 1935-36 certificates.
