NYE'S COMMITTEE STRIKES AT SHIPYARDS-NEW DEAL BILLS GO FORWARD.

3. Limit profits to 5 per cent of the total cost to the government, in cases where the government assumes the risks of the enterprise, or to 10 per cent where the government does not.

4. Require that shipbuilders' 'lobbyists" register with the government and disclose their income and expenditures.

The committee finds, in the matter of collusion, that there was "telepathy" among shipyard officials so that in bidding for many contracts each concern was able to get the contracts it wanted at profits that ran as high as 36 per cent. It says the navy has been at the mercy of the shipyards in preparing plans for war vessels and also in determining what were fair prices.

"A series of bids are put before the pavy," the report recites, "and the navy has to take the low one and the taxpayers have to hope and pray that the low one is somewhere within a few million dollars of being reasonable."

Construction of naval vessels is declared to be more costly in private yards than in government yards.

"While the evidence is not all in." th report says, "the indications are that the private yards cost the government from one to two million dollars more per cruiser than the navy yards."

These are its main features:

1. An appropriation of $98,491,000 for the fiscal year 1936, including $49,-750,000 for grants in aid to states for old age assistance. In addition there are authorized annual appropriations for the old age reserve fund, graduated from $255,000,000 in 1937 to $2,180,-

Sen. Wagner tional authorities in both parties, have asserted repeatedly that it is unconstitutional, and it is most probable that it will be carried to the Supreme court for an early test.

Every attempt to give the employer an even break with labor was voted down, but the house did accept an amendment making the new labor board an independent agency instead of a part of the Department of Labor as Secretary Perkins had demanded. As passed by the house, the Wagner-Connery bill provides: 1. For the setting up of a permanent labor relations board of three members, appointed by the President, as an independent agency. The board, or its agencies or agents, is authorized to supervise elections, conduct hearings, and issue cease and desist orders for "unfair labor practices," which are enforceable by the courts. 2. That representatives selected by a majority of a unit of employees for the purpose of collective bargaining shall have the exclusive right to negotiate with the employer. The board may determine the appropriate unit for collective bargaining, whether by plant or craft, etc. 3. That it is an unfair labor practice for employers to restrain, coerce, or interfere with employees in their organization for collective bargaining. 4. That it is an unfair labor practice for employers to "dominate" or contribute financially to any labor organization. 5. That It is an unfair labor practice to encourage or discourage membership in any labor organization for the purpose of making closed shop agreements. 6. A fine of $5,000 or a year in prison for anyone interfering with agents of the board, such as refusing to permit access to books and records.

G REAT BRITAIN'S realistic governgeneral peace in Europe is conciliation of Germany, so it has yielded to Hitler's naval demands and concluded a bilateral pact with the reich, disregarding entirely the desires and fears of France. The agreement acknowledges Germany's right to build a fleet up to 35 per cent of the tonnage of the British empire, and, what is more important, permits Germany 45 per cent, and in certain circumstances, parity with the empire in submarine tonnage.

France of course entered an immediate and strong protest, and Capt, Anthony Eden was burried over to Paris to explain Britain's action and justify it. He didn't have much success, for Premier Laval told him the French national doctrine was and would continue to be that organization of collective security must precede any legalization of Germany's rearmament. Captain Eden then went to Rome, and Mussolini told him flatly that he sided with France and could not approve the manner in which the Anglo-German accord was reached without consulting Italy and France.

For some reason that isn't entirely clear an attempt was made to blow up the American embassy in Mexico City. A bomb made of dynamite was hurled from an automobile into the embassy garden where it exploded, tearing a hole in the garden wall and breaking a window in the private office of Ambassador Josephus Daniels. No one was injured and the damage was slight. Mr. Daniels said the

Josephus incident was "of no Daniels importance at all" and declined to make a complaint, but the acting secretary of foreign relations, Senor Ceniceros, called to express regret and extra police and detectives were placed about the embassy. The ambassador declared he was at a loss to explain the bombing. The embassy is situated in the fashionable Colonia Juarez. A few blocks away is the Japanese legation, where a similar bombing attempt attributed to Communists was made several months ago.

CONGRESSMAN MARTIN DIES of Texas has before congress a bill the enactment and enforcement of which would evoke cheers from millions of tax-weary citizens, for it provides for the deportation of about 6,000,000 aliens who are receiving dole or holding jobs that should be held by citizens who are on the relief rolls. A campaign to get congressional action on this measure has been started by 155 organizations estimated by Mr. Dies to represent 5,000,000 people, and he says at least 150 congressmen have promised to support the bill. Outlining the provisions of the measure, Mr.

Only the Electric Chair Anglo-French Rift Surprise for Blue Eagle Uncle Sam is learning to spend. A few lines tell you that the Bankhead bill, making the government guarantee a loan of one thousand million dollars to help ten ant farmers buy their farms, is passed. No fuss or excitement about it. Senator King wanted to cut the one thousand millions to two hundred millions, but "shouted was down.'

Do you recall the Arthur Brisbane excitement when Theodore Roosevelt wanted to build the Panama canal for two or three hundred millions?

Now "one billion" is almost "small change."

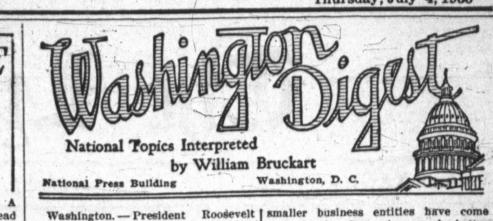

Some young criminals, apparently, can be adequately managed only by the electric chair. In their case it seems useless to talk of reform, or "another chance." They are distinctly of the rattlesnake class, Consider a twenty-five-year-old ma chinist, captured in Peoria, who confessed to murder when the clothing of a dead girl was tossed into his lan. "Yes, I did it," he sobbed. This young murderer kept a diary, which in one month recorded 18 attacks on young women. The electric chair should cure his sobbing.

In the lute of Anglo-French friend ship and understanding there comes a rift, wide enough to let a coach and four drive through. England, dealing directly with Germany and Hitler, now rejects the French suggestion of a "consultative pact," which would compel Britain to consult France before reaching any important diplomatic conclusions.

That ought to interest this country, which agreed to consult everybody on earth before building more ships or tilting its big guns to the most effective angle.

It is stated, bluntly, by British officials: "Britain is placing greater on friendly co-operation with Germany, closer consultations with the British dominions, and a steady drift toward co-operation with the United States."

Plan to a message to con-Soak the Rich gress asking for a in' a limited scope, of the "share-thewealth" program advanced by Senator President not only surprised but stunned congress by the proposal. It has been no forecast and it has taken some research to show how it links with other New Deal reform plans. can be no doubt.

Succinctly, Mr. Roosevelt has demanded that congress enact a tax law that will yield, according to estimate, something like $1,000,000,000 annually. It is designed to place the heaviest drain on the rich, whether they be rich corporations or rich individuals. In terms, the President observed that it was a program to tax "static wealth" and increase purchasing power of those not blessed with this world's goods. The key to the program is the tax on inheritances and gifts. These two taxes must operate jointly if they are to succeed at all. If an individual of wealth wants to avoid already heavy receive these gifts would have to pay to its constitutionality but many able lawyers believe the gift tax will be sustained by the Supreme court.

The second phase of the new tax bill boosts rates of taxes on incomes. At present, the individual with an income of $1,000,000 is taxed at exactly the same rate as the individual having an income of $5,000,000. Of course, the $5,000,000 income pays more total tax but the point is the rate is the same as on the smaller income. Mr. Roosevelt proposes that the rate should be gradually increased above $1,000,000 just as it is graduated from the lowest income taxpayer to those receiving $1,000,000 annually. There seems to be little opposition to this particular item in the bill although it is natural to expect that attempts will be made to alter that suggestion since there is a school of economic thought which insists that tax rates can be high enough to discourage investments bringing a return to the individual of a size large enough for the government to take the bulk of that income. The third major item in the President's program provides for a graduated tax on incomes of corporations. Corporations now are taxed at the rate of 13% per cent of their net income whatever it may be. Mr. Roosevent thinks this basis is improper. He proposes to have smaller corporations pay only 10% per cent and that, as the capital of the corporations increase, they be subjected to a gradually higher rate until a top of 16% is applied on the incomes of the largest corporations. Certain modifications or classifications were offered in this connection so that some types of corporations may not be compelled to pay the maximum rate. . . .

The answer lies in the fact that in the case of the new tax law that smaller corporations, the stock usually would have the same effect, although is closely held and they are units for the most part individually managed. In the case of the larger corporations Huey Long and Father Coughlin, the thousands of stock holders have a voice radio priest. It may be said that the in selection of the corporate management and this management cannot be half as flexible as in instances where was a move concerning which there the word or direction of one man is controlling. In addition, small corporations are not subjected to great overhead expenses like the larger business But a link does exist. Of that there bodies. The large comporation must maintain its organization and cannot

There is a question as political hook when he offered criticism of the Supreme court, a co-ordinate branch of the government. They are determined to keep him on that hook if they can,

> It is interesting to note how Mr. Roosevelt, observing a bad reaction to his initial statements concerning the NRA decision, has maintained silence on the point since. It is equally interesting to note how some of his mainstays and advisers have kept the issue bobbing up here and there throughout the country. Such men as Senator Robinson of Arkansas, senate majority leader, and Senator Byrnes of South Carolina, probably the President's closest friend in the senate, have made speeches lately using much the same tone and language as did the EVEN Huey Long cheered when Pres-ident Roosevelt's unexpected message on redistribution of wealth and increase of taxation for the rich was read to congress. The Chief Executive offered a program that he hopes will pay part of the vast expenses of the New Deal and at the same time break up some huge fortunes and check the growth of big corporations. He doesn't expect congress to do the entire job at this session, and the administration leaders at once set about stopping the radicals who wanted immediate enactment.

The President's taxation plan is frankly aimed against the wealthy, especially the men with million-dollar incomes. Of these there were 46 in 1933. In his message he said that existing tax policies have not prevented "unjust concentration of wealth and power," and added the warning : "Social unrest and a deepening sense of unfairness are dangers to our national life which we must minimize by rigorous methods."

The following legislation he recommended for enactment during the present session in order to obtain ample. revenue without hampering enterprise and to distribute tax burdens equitably:

1. High inheritance and gift taxes on "all very large amounts received by any one legatee or beneficiary." Segregation of this revenue for reduction of the national debt.

2. Tax levies to restrict "very great individual net incomes." 3. Substitution of a graduated corporation tax ranging from 10% to 16% per cent for the existing 13% per cent rate.

For consideration at the next session of congress the President proposed :

1. Elimination "of unnecessary holding companies in all lines of business," by discriminatory taxation.

2. Discouragement of "unwieldy and unnecessary corporate surpluses.

3. An amendment of the Constitution to abolish tax exempt securities by authorizing the federal government to tax subsequently issued state and local obligations and state and local governments to tax federal securities. Treasury officials estimated that about one billion dollars could be expected ultimately from the tax plan submitted.

WITH only siz senators voting in the negative, the senate passed the tremendously important social security bill that already had gone through the house. During the five days of debate a number of members, Democrats and Republicans alike, had argued earnestly that this measure never would stand up in the Supreme court, but when their names were called nearly every one of them voted fer it. The only consistent ones were Moore of New Jersey, Democrat, and est.

ABOR policy in a democracy L is not a program conceived by a government. It is a program of action which the people who earn their living as wage earners and those who employ them in profit-making enterprises must work out together."

So asserts Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins in her annual report to congress, and she sets forth these six specific duties of the government in this respect:

1. To do everything in its power to establish minimum basic standards for labor, below which competition should not be permitted to force standards of health, wages and hours,

2. To" further peaceful settlements of controversies and relieve labor of the necessity of resorting to strikes in order .o secure equitable conditions and the right to be heard. 3. Through legislation and fostering co-operation between employers and workers to make every job the best that the human mind can devise as to physical conditions, human relations and wages. 4. To encourage such organization and development of wage earners as will give status and stability to labor as a recognized important group of citizens having a contribution to make to economic and political thought and to the cultural life of the community. 5. To arrange that labor play its part in the study and development of any future economic policies."

6. To encourage mutuality between labor and employers in the improvement of production and the development in both groups of a philosophy of self-government in the public interDies said: "First, it bars all immigration of ploneer immigrants who do not have relatives in this country.

E. Y. Mitchell against the public interest and that "those interested in the company, including P. A. S. Franklin, John M. Franklin, Vincent Astor and Kermit Roosevelt" stood to henefit by it. He also severely criticized the bureau of air commerce and the steamship inspection service.

No one in the administration seemed disturbed by Mr. Mitchell's outbreak, but the senate committee on commerce at once summoned him to explain and expand his charges. Mr. Mitchell turned out to be an excitable gentleman, prone to jump to conclusions and to voice his opinions rather than facts, He talked a lot about inefficiency, "sinks of corruption," "favoritism and grs 't" and such things, but he didn't tell the committee much that it didn't already know.

TERE is something to/ make the H men chuckle. At a conference in Atlantic City the National Women's party adopted resolutions advocating equal rights before the law for men and women, equal pay for equal work. equal domicile, property, and guardiauship rights, and "equal alimony in cases of divorce and equal consideration for men in cases of breach of promise."

The passage relating to alimony and breach of promise was an amendment offered by Mrs. Edwina Austin Avery. Washington (P C.) attorney, who expressed hope breach of promise suits on would be outlawed everywhere.

Union labor demands that all United States railroads be nationalized, owned by the people, run by the government Reason? Private owners do not know how to run them. The roads would be bought, not confiscated, presumably, which would mean twenty to thirty more billions of national debt.

Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., and Laura La Plante-surely you know herafter work on the set near Monte Carlo's gambling room dressed up and presented themselves for an evening's entertainment.

The doorkeeper said bluntly: "You work in Monaco, so you may not enter the gambling rooms. That's the rule." To their amazement they did not enter the gambling rooms, although young Mr. Fairbanks is said to have threatened to buy the whole institution.

Monte Carlo wisdom is in that rule. The Casino spreads money among Monaco's inhabitants, but will not take the inhabitants' money, and so avoids trouble.

Another wise ruler is Mr. Bradley. who owns the tourists' "wide open" gambling house at Palm Beach, but will not allow natives to lose in his place. When you gamble, you know, you lose. If you do not know it, try.

Mussolini has a habit, annoving to Britons especially, of digging, up past history. He is expected to tell the British: "I want a protectorate over Ethiopia, with a free hand, and I invite you to remember what happened to Germany's colonies after the war. You promised to give Italy her share if she joined the allies, which she did. The war ended, and you British gobbled up all the German colonies worth having."

had better confess. You know you killed me." Torrest thought it unwise to ignore the advice of a ghost and confessed accordingly.

The President's program for new taxes was received without particular enthusiasm in con-More Groans gress except for a Than Applause loud "Amen" by Senator Long. Indeed, the President's message was right down Senator Long's alley. The Louisiana senator has made hundreds of speeches advocating some parts of the proposal now offered by the Chie! Executive.

Congressional reaction to the President's message included more groans than applause. A political campaign is due next year. Democratic leaders in many instances face re-election. It does not require the services of a soothsayer to tell you that new taxes are hard for a political candidate to defend.

Superficially, therefore, it would seem that Mr. Roosevelt was playing bad politics when he proposed a tax bill at this time. Such is not the case. Editorial conclusions by dozens of newspapers which understand the political situation in this country at this time are unanimous in terming it a political maneuver. Their conclusions are based on the fact that a candidate seeking political office can go out and say to people of small incomes: "Look what we are doing to the rich." Thus it is made to appear that a new wave of soak-the-rich propaganda is about to engulf us.

Business interests naturally are alarmed over the prospects. Thousands of corporations have barely been able to make ends meet in these depression years. Now that there is a prospect for some additional business and meager profits, they are confronted with a Washington program of taxation designed to go beyond the present tax burden.

It is true that some of them will be benefited by lower rates but many economists are of the opinion that these corporations receiving the benefit of lower rates actually are in the best financial condition of any in the country. Contrary to the argument often heard, the truth seems to be that the President in that memorable press conference. Every other administration spokesman has done the same thing. These speeches together with the continual jabbing and poking by New Deal opponents are serving to keep the question before the country. New Deal opponents frankly are joyful at the opportunity they say the President provided them.

In the meanwhile, as said above, the Republican national committee has been doing next to nothing. The condition is serving to build a fire under Henry P. Fletcher, chairman of the national committee, and is drawing criticism as well to Senator Hastings of Delaware, and Representative Bolton of Ohio, joint chairmen of the senatorial congressional committee. Some Republicans are saying that the Roosevelt opposition is being allowed to wander without guide or anchor and that a golden chance to gain important results is being wholly wasted, because, of the inactivitly of these two committees.

Considerable discussion is being heard these days concerning the neces sity for getting new blood into the national organization and its headquarters. My own conviction is that Mr. Fletcher is due to go before long. He has failed to win the confidence of the several factions in the Republican party and has operated on a distinctly do-nothing basis. Neither Senator Hastings nor Representative Bolton has set the world afire with political initiative or use of political opportunity available to them. The question naturally then is asked: How can the Republicans and the New Deal opposition generally expect to defeat Mr. Roosevelt for re-election in 1936 unless virility is shown in the party leadership?

An old tale about the Blue Eagle has just come to light. It was not disclosed until after the preme court decision holding NRA codes unconstitutional. The story involves the patenting of the design. Artists conceived the Blue Eagle as the NRA insignia. To protect it and prevent unauthorized use of the insignia the design was rushed through the United States patent office. The design was then turned over to an artist at the patent office with instructions to make the necessary prints required by law. He had proceeded only for a brief period on the work when he left his desk to notify the commissioner of patents of what he deemed to be a mistake in the design. His words were prophetic. He called attention to the fact that one wing of the Blue Eagle

"Well a guard did, and he hit her. too. But he didn't stop her. Her outside gang opened on him with a Tommy gun from a speedboat off the point, and made him hunt his hole. Nance swam out to the boat under cover of their protective fire; they hauled her in and beat'it forty-five miles an hour across San Pable bay and headed up toward Carquinez straits, while daylight lasted. After dark they doused their lights and sneaked back. The warden telephoned Central office here and gave the alarm. I wasn't on hand, but of course the captain on duty had the water front covered at once. He had two men at the St. Francis Yacht club and they saw a speed-boat sneak in and across the little harbor to a vacant berth on the Marina side. Before the cops could hurry across, the people in the boat jumped out and to a waiting car. The cops followed in a police car as soon as they could, but one of Nance's friends riddled their front tires with machine-gun bullets and the trail was lost."

"How exciting, Dan !"

"Yes, and it will be more exciting for you, Lanny. I got home about two minutes ago and my phone was ringing. It was central office trying to report to me. They're just starting a ccuple of dicks out in a cruiser to watch and see if Nance tries to make your house. You're a trained nurse. The warden's found out that muchmatter of looking you up in the San Francisco directory. So he thinks that she'll head for your house to receive medical attention. She got hit, you know. And you must be a friend of hers-otherwise why did you call upon her?" "Dan," said Lanny desperately, "she's here now !" "Into your car with her, Lanny, and beat it out to my house with her." He gave her the address. "That's the last place on earth the devil himself would hunt for an escaped convict."

"I've just heard a thump and a crash in my living room, Dan. I think sile's fainted. Telephone Doctor Burt to come to your home-that he will have to probe a bullet wound and dress it. Tell him to bring some whisky and two or three hot-water bags, and be on

She ran to the kitchen, turned on the hot water and set an enameled skillet under the faucet; then returned, undressed the girl. In an adjoining bathroom she found clean towels and placed a cold one on her head. When she returned to the kitchen, the enameled skillet was sitting in the midst of a cloud of steam, so she knew it had been thoroughly disinfected; she filled it with warm water, carried it into the room and with a wet towel mopped the two holes in Nance's arm and examined the wound. "Missed the bone," she decided. "Bled like a stuck pig, of course, piece of her dress probably carried into the wound." In the medicine closet, Lanny discovered a small bottle of iodine. So she doused the wound with it, wrapped a cold towel around the girl's shoulder and tucked her into bed.

In the living room she found a brass box with cigarettes in it, so she lit one and sat down beside Nance, with her capable fingers on the girl's pulse. Evidently the count was satisfactory, for Lanny scowled at the girl and growled : "You little devil! And 'I crashed the gate,' says she proudly. Well, if you aren't the little hell-bender! You've got the nerve of a llon-tamer!"

She found a comb and brush in Dan McNamara's bureau and combed and smoothed the dank, straggly black bob, and when that was done' she' unbent long enough to implant a kiss on the white brow. "Poor lamb!" she murmured. "Nobody's poor lost darling !" The girl's eyelids flickered.

"Is that you, Lanny?" the girl murmured faintly. "Yes, dearie. And you're all right, so don't worry. Nobody's going to take you back to San Quentin." "The cops chased us at the boat landing, Lanny. Are you sure we shook them off?" "Of course you did-the big boobs!

Now, listen, dearle. I'm going to tell you something, but don't let it disturb you. Take my word for it you're safe. Do you remember Dan McNamara, the chief of police?" "Of course. Old Daniel's my boy

TINY URGE, GREAT ADVENTURE HROUGHOUT his boyhood Ranald

I McDonald listened to the sailors' tales of that far-off land across the Pacific where white men were unknown. The youth made up his mind that some day he would get to Japan. He wrote in his journal: "I am prepared to learn of them and if occasion should offer, to instruct them of us." So, on a June day, 1848, he'sat in a small boat rolling in the wake of the whaler Plymouth, off the northernmost coast of Japan. He had arranged with Capt, Lawrence B. Edwards to be set adrift when the Plymouth approached the shores of the "far-off country." The crew refused to cut the ropes that held the small boat, feeling sure that McDonald was going to certain death. But the young man insisted and Lawrence left the frail craft and its lone occupant in a fog-shrouded sea.

On July 2, near the village of Notsuka, McDonald capsized the boat deliberately, feeling sure that no race would mistreat a shipwrecked sailor. But he was imprisoned for ten months. He put his time to good account, however, learning the language and customs of his captors who treated him fairly well. In return, he taught them English.

McDonald was freed and delivered to Captain Glynn of the "Preble" on April 6, 1849. His adventure bore fruit in a strange way. One of his pupils was a youth named Moriyama who became interpreter for Townsend Harris, the first minister from the United States to Japan. Harris' task was one of the most difficult in the history of American diplomacy. The trail that McDonald had blazed into the closed fastnesses of Japan resulted in the rise of an Oriental nation to a world power.

WORLD'S MANY LANGUAGES

There are almost 3,000 individual languages in the world, according to the French Academy of Arts and Sciences, although the most of them are of local significance only. There are four, English, French, German and Spanish, which stand out as world languages. English, spoken or understood by at least 200,000,009 people, easily leads them all. French is the traditional tangue of diplomats, society and literature. It affects about 120,000,000 people. German is spoken or understood by about 110,000,000 persons and is the main speech of the Balkans and central Europe. A great deal of scientific and technical literature is in German. Spanish affects about 75,-000,000, mostly in the Central and South American countries, where it is the chief commercial language except in Brazil where Portuguese is the national tongue. - Pathfinder Magazine.

by a small force of Americans, manning a battery of six and nine-pounders on top of a rocky bluff. They also had a heavy 32-pounder to which they had given the name of "Old Sow" because they had found it partly imbedded in the mud along the shore.

As the British ships moved to the attack, Capt. William Vaughan's gunners opened fire with the "Old Sow." But the shot went wide because it was a 24-pound ball, wrapped is carpet to make it fit, and it drew from the sailors on the "Royal George" a shout of derisive laughter.

Standing off out of range of the Americans' smaller guns, the enemy went into action. Most of their shots crashed against the rocks below the battery, but one, a 32-pound ball, came hurtling over the bluff, plowed a deep furrow in the ground and came to rest at the feet of a Sergeant Spler. Picking it up, he ran to Captain Vaughan. "See! I've been playing ball with the redcoats and caught 'em out. See if they can catch it back again !" he exclaimed.

In an instant Vaughan's men had rammed the ball down the throat of the "Old Sow." It fit perfectly! As the flagship sailed in close to deliver a broadside, the "Old Sow" roared. The 32-pound ball crashed through the stern of the British vessel, raked her from end to end, sent splinters flying high in the air, killed 14 men and wounded 18 more!

Seeing the destruction this one shot wrought, the British commander gave the signal to retreat. As his ships veered off, a mighty shout arose from the shore. The Americans were "laughing last." The "Old Sow's" one shot had won the victory and saved Sackett's Harbor.

. . . KENTUCKY (?) BLUE GRASS

CAY "Kentucky" and the imagination S conjures up a landscape of rolling pasture lands, marked by white painted fences with proud race horses pasturing on the luxuriant blue grass.

In 1752, it was a different picture when John Finley, an Irishman from Lancaster, Pa., took a stock of goods and with four white servants, went down the Ohio on a trading trip.

Near Big Bone Lick, in what is now Boone county, Finley met a party of Shawnees, coming from a hunt in Illinois. He followed them to Howard's Upper Creek and unloaded his canoes on the river banks there, building a house with a stockade around it and settling down for the witter.

Now these goods had been packed in Lancaster, Pa., and carefully, too. They were encased in quantities of dried English grass that Finley had used because he carried a targe number of breakable items into the wilderness. This packing stuff was dumped on the rich soil as waste material and forgotten.

As long as hijacker nations are running loose, there can be no permanent world peace.

As the program for the paving of state and federal highways advances, more and more attention must be given to lateral roads. There are many, many thousands of miles of local and county roads in Texas that need to be lifted out of the mud or out of drifting sands. There are three hundred or four hundred miles of such road s in Lynn county. The time is soon coming when the cry will go up for a large portion of the gasoline tax to be used in the permanent improvement of these lateral roads. The farmers have a right to better roads over which to get to market and to the gin. There is a long era of road improvement ahead of us yet.

The Fullest Benefits From Electric Service Depend on You

Did you ever stop to realize how important you are? Have you ever considered the fact that the largest benefit from the use of electric service is the increased use of it? Convince yourself that the mere flick of a switch puts at your immediate disposal a supply of dependable energy that means more convenience, more comfort, and more happiness. This depends on you.

This company has the responsibility for furnishing electric service at rates which are reasonable. As consumer needs for added service justified, rate reductions have always been made. One of the most advantageous steps in this direction was made very recently by this company. The introduction of an "ultimate" rate for residential service is of very direct benefit to you in that at no increase in cost a much larger use of electric service is possible. This depends on you.

During this week we commemorate the 159th year of independence in this country. We find ourselves thinking and saying how hard life must have been in 1776. But some day your grandchild will say: "How hard life must have been in 1935 without the full use of electric service then available!" Pass on to heritage that you were independent of so many tasks by the ease with which electric service could be applied.

MOSES (LEADER AND LAWGIVER)

LESSON TEXT-Exodus 24:3-8, 12-18. GOLDEN TEXT-Blessed is the na-tion whose God is the Lord .-- Psalm 33:128.

PRIMARY TOPIC-Moses Brings Message From God. JUNIOR TOPIC-The Laws God Gave

IC-What It Means to Be a Patriot, YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOP-IC-Religion in National Life.

Moses Prepared (Exod. 2:1-22). 1. His birth (vv. 1, 2).

Both his father and mother were of Levitical stock. At Moses' birth his mother was assured that he was to be the deliverer of the chosen people, and she was confident that God would somehow save him from the hand of the cruel king.

2. His preservation (vv. 3, 4). While his mother had faith, she did not ignore the proper use of means. Perhaps the story of how Noah and his family were saved suggested the expedient of the ark of bulrushes.

3. His education (vv. 5-10). Moses was educated first at his mother's knee. Here his mind was filled with the Word of God and acquainted with the Jewish hopes and prospects. He was further educated at the Egyptian court where he became acquainted with all the wisdom of the Egyptians.

4. His exile and marriage (vv. 11-22). Moses was obliged to take his flight from Egypt at the age of forty years because he prematurely attempted to enter upon his work as the deliverer of his people (Acts 7:25). While in exile, God taught him and qualified him for his work. During this time of rejection he secured a bride from among the Gentlies. Jesus Christ, his great antitype, while now in the place of rejection by his brethren, is getting a bride, his Church, from among the Gentiles.

II. Moses Called to Deliver His People (Exod 3:1-14).

1. The Lord spoke from the burning bush (vv. 1-6). It was while keeping the flock of his father-in-law in the desert that the Lord appeared to Moses in the burning bush, which symbolized the indestructible people of God.

2. Moses commissioned (vv. 7-10). In this commission God showed his interest in his people. He as acuve sured Moses that he had seen their affliction and heard their cry. It was because of his grace that he obligated himself to deliver the people.

cause of the wide variety of types which are fashion firsts. No longer is it simply a decision between a tub silk crepe and a washable sllk shirting, now that so many new and intriguing weaves have entered the field of silks that launder.

are the new sllk linens and the sllk shantungs in versatile weaves. The silk linens closely resemble linen except that they have more luster, but being made of silk they have the natural elasticity of silk and therefore are easier to keep fresh and unrumpled. Then too, the new silk linens have the advantage of taking strong dyes easily and are at their loveliest in the vivid peasant colors which are so voguish this summer. They also come in some very smart modernistic prints. The latter favor bold plaids and geometric treatments, the technique radically different from that used on silk crepes. For sports hats, beach and daytime bags, for belts and for separate scarfs, the checked and plaided silk linens are doing things with a dash and go that

One can find no prettier material than this sheer and dainty weave, ' While all mousselines are not washable, some very new versions just put on the market have been specially processed for washability. They come in plain weaves, also in types with delicate shadowy self-color patternings, the latter proving irresistible when once you glimpse them. Silk broadcloth is also a washable fabric that is being enthusiastically used in better-type active and spectator sportswear.

Ancient Greece's High Stage of Civilization of Quilt Makers

New discoveries in Athens besides being of scientific value start END FRECKLES AND unimportance of the recent revolution in Greece, says Pathfinder Magazine. A cemetery dating back to 1500 B. C. and containing numerous undisturbed and perfectly preserved skeletons was uncovered 50 feet below the ancient Athenian senate adjoining the Acropolis. Two thousand years before the burial of these bodles, which had been interred for 2,500 years, Greek civilization emerged from the Stone age. By the time these particular old Greeks lived civilization in Greece had struggled upward against countless reverses to a high stage. The ruling class of the time lived in well-made, sanitary buildings, with bath chambers, windows, and sliding doors. They rode horse-drawn charlots on paved streets, and were entertained by bull-fights, boxing, and armed combat. Art had risen to a high level and close commercial intercourse was carried on with Egypt. And about three centuries after these now skeletonized men and women had ceased to live came the war with Troy. Then came the Dorlan invasion at the beginning of the Iron age -more wars-ups and downs in civilization-conquest by Rome, and the

The "Irish Chain" quilt can be found in almost every collection, and guilt makers will make at least one of these simple chain patterns. The single, double, or triple Irish Chain has one, two, or three blocks in the chain. The background is white and the squares are a solid blue, red, or other dark mixed colors to give contrast. The squares in this guilt measure 1% inches without seam, and they are appliqued on two different nine-inch blocks; one all checked, the other with a square in each corner. These are assembled alternately to give above effect. Seven 9-inch blocks are used across top and nine blocks on side. With a 6-inch border quilt will measure finished about 72 by 90 inches. This quilt is simple to make but cutting of patches and blocks must be accurate to produce good results.

3. Moses' objections removed (vv. 11-14). Four objections were offered. each one of which God met and removed.

a. Personal unworthiness (v. 11). h. The difficulty of the people to understand Moses' relationship to God (vv. 13, 14), c. . Unbelief on the part of the people (4:1). d. Lack of eloquence (4:10).

III. Moses the Deliverer.

1. From Egyptian bondage (Exod. 12:29-36). The culminating blow was the death of the first-born. There was death that night in every home through Egypt where the blood was not found. This is typical of the coming day of God's wrath when all who are not resting under the shadow of Christ's blood shall perish.

2. At the Red Sea (Exod. 14:1-3). Hemmed in on either side by moun-tains, the Red sea in front, and pursued by the Egyptians from the rear, God interposed, enabling the Israelites to cross dry shod.

IV. The Giving of the Law (Exod. 19-24).

1. The covenant proposed (ch. 19). This is the beginning of the theocratic kingdom. The Lord through Moses proposed to the people that on condition of their obedience he would constitute them his peculiar people (vv. 5, 6). To this the people heartily responded, engaging themselves to obey him (v. 8).

The content of the covenant 2 (ch. 20). This embraces the Decalogue or Ten Commandments, setting forth obligation Godward and manward.

3. The Statutes of Moses or Secondary Laws (chs. 21-23). These laws pertain to a. Servitude (21:2-11); Personal safety (21:12-32); c. Property (21:33-22:15); d. Conjugal fidelity (22:16, 17); e. Miscellaneous laws (23:1-9); f. Set times of Jehovan (23:10-19). g. Personal plety (23: 20-23).

4. The covenant ratified (Exod, 24). When the law had been duly set forth, the people were called upon to accept its obligations. The law was reduced to writing. The people were then called upon to commit themselves to personal acceptance of their responsibility. The covenant was then sealed by blood.

Secret of Happiness

"The real secret of happiness is to be in love with your job; to do work that you like to do; that interests you; that you believe in." That is, let us add, not only the secret of happi-ness, but the secret of success.

fits right in with the spirit of summer galety. Slik linen is particularly to be commended in all white. Its smartness is evident in the two-plece suit to the left in the picture, which has a black skirt and a jacket-blouse of white silk linen. A polka dot silk ascot is worn with it.

The very attractive two-plece sports dress centered in the group is fashioned of a gold colored silk linen. The accordion pleated skirt allows for motion. The top is bloused and has alternate pockets, with mother of pearl buttons and a wide attached belt presenting chic style accents.

The oriental influence which is so apparent in the new mode is reflected in the popularity of silk shantungs for sportswear. The very newest shantungs are heavily ribbed. Both solid

A revival of interest in the lovely washable silk damask and silk incquards is also noted. Entirely new patterns are available this season, stressing especially clever nautical motifs, and a series of sports patterns showing different games.

Washable slik crepes now showing are enlivened by amusing little patterns in vivid colors on light grounds, showing articles of sports equipment such as golf tees, polo mallets, beach umbrellas and so on. As to the very fine-quality plain washable silk crepes they are made in well-tailored shirtwaist types with embroidered monograms on the scarf, bosom or sleeve, C Western Newspaper Union.

JADED WARDROBE IS EASILY SPRUCED UP

There are endless possibilities of what one can do for a jaded wardrobe, and we are always on the lookout to discover things that can be added to an old dress to give it another season's wear. This year it is a change of jacket, Patterned ones contrast with the plainness of the gowns. The idea of putting bright prints of dark dresses is a welcome on top change from the all-print ensemble. that begins to pall after so many months of wearing. A short jacket makes a dinner dress out of one that would otherwise be extremely formal. When it is a wrap that is to be removed it is swagger to the hips or fitted to the floor. Anything goes in the way of a design for these new wraps, the smallest of pln dots to large floral patterns that are vibrant with life and exotic colorings. If the dress is white or a pastel, a print with a dark background is chosen for con-

Fall Woolen Card Gives

Two New Groups of Colors The regular edition of the 1935 fall woolen card, portraying 48 colors in woolen fabric, has just been released to members of the association, it was announced by Margaret Hayden Rorke, managing director. In addition to basic shades, the card contains two color groups designated as "Rustiques" and "Touchdown and Ski Colors."

The first-named collection consists of hazy pastels and rich autumn tones especially suitable for dresses and children's wear. The "Touch-down and Ski Colors" have special merchandising appeal for the football and winter sports seasons.

Choice of Belts

Pigskin, patent leather and colored leather belts are fashioned on wide designs-sometimes clasped snugly around the waist in a model which resembles that worn by Tyrolean mountaincers, or again crushed softly around the waistline like a fabric.
