FAMOUS Esso Extra GASOLINE

gives extra anti-knock performance in modern engines

Modern cars, especially the 1957 models, have engines with high compression ratios.

Even at this altitude, these engines require the extra performance of Humble's famous Esso Extra gasoline.

It's the best premium gasoline you can buy... with extra anti-knock performance... extra power... extra protection against vapor lock... extra mileage... extra quick starting and warm-up.

Fill up with Esso Extra gasoline under your neighbor's Humble sign — it's famous for performance.

Prevent "the knock you cannot hear" — use famous Esso Extra gasoline.

Engineers call it "trace knock," a knock so faint that only a trained technician can hear it. But like all knocks, it robs your engine of power, forecasts engine damage. If yours is a modern car in any price class — especially if it's a 1957 model — prevent "trace knock" with Humble's famous Esso Extra gasoline.

Mona Wilhite, Freddie Harvey Wed In First Baptist Church January 20

MR. AND MRS. FREDDIE HARVEY

The First Baptist church was the scene Sunday, January 20 at 4 p.m., of the wedding of Miss Mona Ellen Wilhite and Freddie Dale Harvey. The Rev. E. K. Shepherd, pastor, read the double ring ceremony before an archway of candelabra holding blue tapers, flanked on either side with baskets of chrysanthemums and gladioli.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Wilhite of this city, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Harvey, also of Muleshoe. Mrs. Marlon Inman played traditional wedding music and accompanied Mrs. Walter Johnson of Ft. Worth as she sang, "I Love You Truly", and "The Wedding Prayer"; and a musical reading of "I Love Thee", by Mrs. Byron Griffiths.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white bridal gown of Chantilly lace over satin and tulle, designed with high neck and tiny round collar embroidered with seed pearls. It featured long fitted sleeves and bodice from which a lace pillbox embroidered in pearls and rhinestones. She carried a bouquet of white roses on a white ribbon. The gown was designed and made by an aunt of the bride, Mrs. H. L. Wilhite of Fort Collins.

Something blue was a garter given the bride by Mrs. Marlon Inman, and for something old, the bride carried a penny in her shoe, given her by Mrs. Walter Johnson.

Misses Sue and Donna Atkinson, cousins of the bride were candlelighters.

Jerry Inman was best man and ushers were Gene and Bob Harvey, Leon Harvey of Clovis and Jack Jones.

Reception

A reception was held in the church dining room, where Miss Helen Bishop registered the guests and the Misses Atkinson presided at the brides table. Mrs. E. H. Kennedy played appropriate piano music.

For their wedding trip to Wisconsin, the bride wore a light blue sheer wool suit with black accessories and the rose corsage from her wedding bouquet.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey are both graduates of Muleshoe high school. She is a graduate of Wayland College and served as secretary for Muleshoe First Baptist Church and College Avenue Baptist Church in Ft. Worth. The groom attended A & M and was stationed in Alaska for two years. He is presently employed in Clovis where the young couple reside.

Out Of Town Guests

Out-of-town friends attending the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. Bill Steward and family of Plainview; Mr. and Mrs. Cotton Sims and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Patton of Clovis, and Mrs. J. C. Tinsley, of Mangum, Okla.

Hugh Freeman Family Now Settled At Eastham Prison Where He's An Official

The Hugh Freeman family are settled in their new home at Eastham State Prison farm, near Weldon, Texas and are happy with conditions and with Hugh's job, which is assistant to the warden.
 This word was brought back by Mr. and Mrs. Howard Cox, who visited them and spent a night in their home while Howard was on a two weeks tour of active duty with the Navy in Dallas.
 They said the Freemans seem to be lonesome, and asked their visitors to tell The Journal that everybody in the Muleshoe country is invited to come to see them if they're in that vicinity. The Coxes said the family especially prize The Journal, and that Mrs. Freeman reads every word contained in it, including all the want ads.
 They moved to their new home as soon as Hugh retired from the office of sheriff, tax assessor and collector for Bailey County, an office he had held for eight years. They have a nice three bedroom home, they have a "house boy" a young trusty who does much of the work about the house, Ronnie is attending school at Lovelady, nearby, Hugh is entirely happy with his work, the only thing is that they miss the folks here.

The next meeting will be February 18. A nominating committee for 1957-58 officers will be selected. A program for the meeting is being worked up.

A record reward to the thrifty! Babson Discusses

THE LONGER-TERM FARM OUTLOOK

Babson Park, Mass., Jan. 31. Recent developments in American agriculture lead me to believe that the longer-term outlook for our farmers is beginning to change for the better. While I see nothing really dramatic in the shifting picture, I do forecast that the years immediately ahead will be somewhat happier ones for the folks down on the farm.

YEARS OF MOUNTING SURPLUSES

The farmers', as well as the government's present agricultural problem stems from years of mounting surpluses, particularly of cotton, wheat and corn. War emergency measures were adopted by the government to stimulate farm production, and to safeguard farmers from price drops resulting from any excessive output. Finally these measures became such an integral part of the whole economic (and political) system that they were continued during the post-war years. By intensive cultivation, farmers have been producing bumper crops year after year, even on reduced acreage in some instances, with the surplus being siphoned into government loans.

As of last June 30, Uncle Sam had around $8,300,000,000 of the taxpayers' money tied up in loans on farm surpluses. Huge quantities of cotton and wheat have been piled up in recent years. Total carryover stocks of the white staple at the beginning of the current crop year last August 1 amounted to a record high of 14,500,000 bales — more than enough to cover a year's domestic consumption and exports at the 1956 rate of disappearance. Most of this mountainous reserve was in government hands. A similar situation prevails in wheat. The carryover last July 1 amounted to around 1,030,000,000 bushels, — also mostly government held.

RECENT REMEDIAL MEASURES

The various acreage controls applied to some important crops in recent years have been stymied by sharp increases in per-acre yields. Thus, surpluses have continued to mount. The Soil Bank program, however, which was first applied in a more or less limited way last year, may well prove to be a major means of checking the build-up of farm surpluses in government hands over the next several years. Under this program, the government compensates growers for acreage of basic crops taken out of production. The program will be in full swing this year and, if a large number of farmers sign up, as I expect, total 1957 planted acreage should be cut sharply.

More immediately effective, at least in the case of cotton, is the government's export assistance program, which permits exporters to buy cotton from the government hoard at cut-rate prices. Foreign buyers are finding these prices attractive. This is evidenced by the fact that U. S. cotton exports thus far this season are well above those of a year earlier, and may amount to between 6,500,000 and 7,000,000 bales for the full season. This would be nearly triple the 2,200,000 bales exported in 1955-1956, and the largest total in any season since 1933. If this prospect should be realized, the cotton carryover next August 1 may be reduced to the tune of some 2,400,000 bales — a major achievement.

BASIC REMEDIES OR EXPEDIENTS?

Indications are that government will continue to make every possible effort to reduce its holdings of cotton, corn and wheat. As to whether this program, along with the Soil Bank, will provide an adequate long-term solution to the farm problem, I do not know. Many farmers, and even some government officials, regard these remedial measures. However, I believe that they are steps in the right direction. We are turning the corner in agricultural surpluses. The government, however, will always be wise to have some supplies in case of war or famine.

The problem, of course, cannot be solved overnight. Years may be required to bring the over-all supply-demand ratio into reasonable balance. The Soil Bank program, which expires in 1959, probably will need renewal. It may even become a more or less permanent part of the government's farm program along with some form of federal price support.

NEW FARM INCOME WILL INCREASE

U. S. farmers, by and large, are industrious and Godfearing. While they will continue to have their ups and downs, like the rest of us, during the years immediately ahead, they should average out very well. For this year, I forecast another moderate rise in net farm income.

There is one request for funds in the new Federal budget sent Congress by the President that appears to have almost unanimous backing. It is a modest amount for expansion of the Federal-State Rural Development Program.

Started two years ago as an experiment, the program already has begun to produce results helpful to both farmers and business men in boosting income in so-called "underdeveloped" counties in rural areas.

REA STORY ON TV

A 29-minute film on the story of rural electrification, entitled "By The People — For The People", will be shown on February 3, at 4:30 p.m. over KUDU, channel 13, Lubbock, and on KCBD, channel 11, Lubbock on February 17, at 1:30 p.m.

The story is designed to interest folks in this area, as it outlines the beginning and growth of the rural electrification program.

TIME OF DECISION

In connection with the story of page one of today's Journal concerning the possibility of a factory locating in Muleshoe this year, there are a number of considerations which should be given careful thought by folks in this area.

First, it should be firmly pointed out that no one has promised to put a factory here. There has been nothing definite in the way of promises or commitments, other than the appearance of one industrialist, who frankly admitted that while he liked what he saw here, he was also being "wooed" by at least 16 other communities to locate his factory there.

Therefore, this is no time to get excited and build up to a big let-down. It is a time to get a closely organized group together to be ready to move on a moment's notice to get done what must be done if this or some other firm decides to come to Muleshoe.

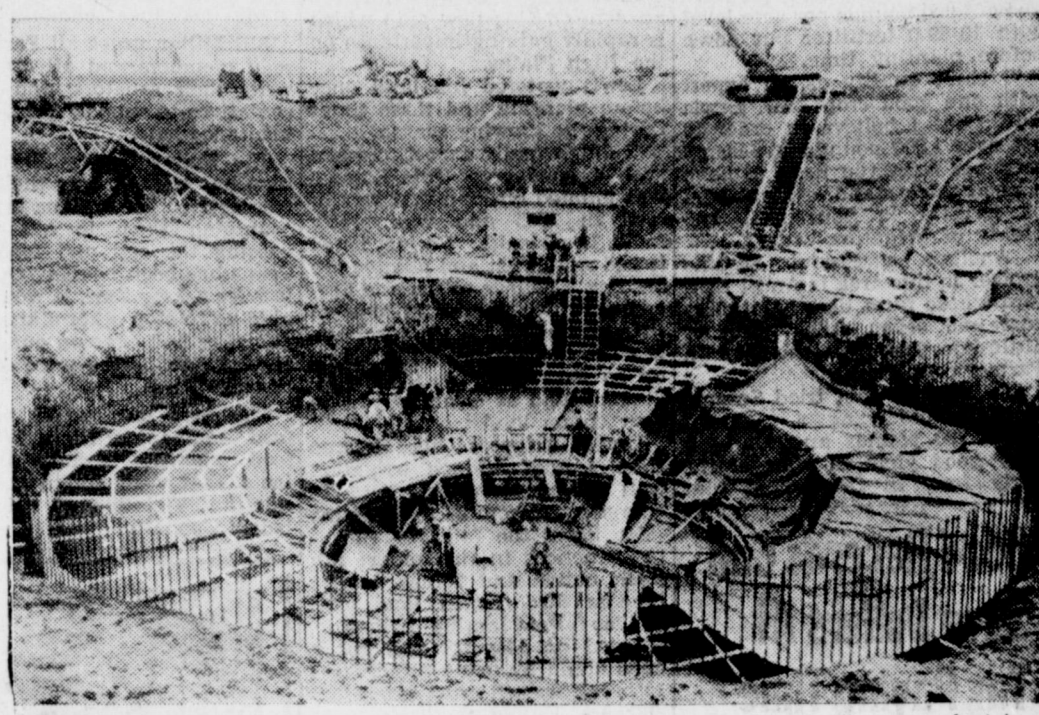

Any firm even remotely considering this town as the site for a factory of any sort is going to require a great deal of information, most of it applicable to any type of manufacturing or processing plant. That information is being obtained at this moment and will be ready by the middle of February.

Available land sites should be spotted for plants for constructing buildings should be looked into; housing facilities for supervisory personnel should be planned and a number of other details should be firmly committed. Loose ends should be tied up and the whole program of what we can offer a prospective industry should be in such a position that it can be presented without undue delay or apparent confusion.

We feel confident that these things will be done. We are all aware of the urgent need for additional payrolls here, and every person should feel obligated to further that cause even if it means temporary sacrifice of a little time or effort, or even money.

If you want to help, and you should, contact the Chamber of Commerce, or any of the directors individually. Directors include Jerry Kirk, M. D. Gunstream, Jack Morris, Tom Morgan, B. Z. Beaty, W. Q. Casey, Harvey Bass, Sherman Inman and Paul Scott. They'll be glad to give you a job.

FIRST IN THE NATION—The first commercial-sized, breeder-reactor atomic power plant is gradually shaping up in Monroe, Mich. Shown is the foundation for the atomic reactor building, the dome-shaped unit which will provide the energy for the Enrico Fermi plant. Located at the bottom of a 56-foot excavation, the foundation itself is 20 feet deep and 87 feet across. The breeding process, scientists say, will extend the supply of atomic fuel to outlast the reserves of fossil fuels more than 50 times.

Sand Hills Philosopher Says

Automatic Machines Will Never Replace Necessity of Work

Editor's note: The Sand Hills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm is arguing about automation, his letter this week reveals. We can't tell whether he's for it or against it.

I noticed in a copy of a newspaper which the wind blew against my back screen door, I could have pulled it through a hole in the screen but I was afraid I'd tear it and anybody who is too lazy to open a door to pull a newspaper out ought to stay ignorant anyway, where a scientist has predicted that in a few more years the automatic coin machine and push-button controls will just about relieve a man of most of his work.

As I understand it, you can now buy anything from hot coffee to an insurance policy to a full meal merely by dropping coins in a machine, but I would like to say that while I'm in favor of anything that will eliminate work, I don't believe automatic coin machines and push-button controls will do it.

For example, I would like to see the inventor who thinks he can shoe a horse automatically. While it's true you can milk a cow automatically, nobody has been successful in figuring out how to get the automatic machinery attached without somebody getting up before daylight to do it. They make automatic hay balers, it's true, but they haven't replaced the man who throws out the hay in the winter time, with one foot caught in the baling wire. Oh I know they can bale it with twine, but you can trip on twine the same as wire.

In fact, surveying the whole field of automatic controls, it seems to me that while man has eliminated a lot of old-fashioned ways of doing things, enabling him to do a lot of things faster and better, the main results has been that he has wound up doing more things at the same hours.

It's a lot nicer to start a tractor with a button than a crank, but having swung it, the inventors quit too soon. They seem to consider the job done and go off to leave me still having to climb in the seat and stay there going up one row and down another.

It's pretty easy to get an automatic machine to tell you how much money you have in the bank, or when your note is coming due, but I don't believe they'll ever get a machine that can decide who's entitled to a loan and who isn't.

The way it looks to me, there'll always be plenty of work for bankers and farmers, and while this may suit the bankers, it doesn't suit me.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

TODAY'S MEDITATION

Christ Calls Us
Read Psalm 18.

We are his workmanship, created in Christ Jesus unto good works. (Ephesians 2:10).

With reference to the word
workmanship one translator points out that the word in Greek is poiema, meaning "poem", a thing made. In other words, we are God's handiwork, God's poems.

Words do not make poetry but poets do. Before God's Spirit can make poems out of us, we must be as ready to be put to use as the words in our language are.
At the call of the poet, they leave their common, ordinary usage, and they are transformed into
to the lovely beauty of a poem,
"written not with ink, but with the Spirit of the living God."
The skylarks the village blacksmith, the marshes of Glynn — who would remember these but for the poems which immortalize them?

If we are to be worth anything in eternity, we must be as pliable in God's hands as words are in the poet's. Our lives will be a mere jumble of words without rhyme or reason unless we submit ourselves into His hands. Only then will He arrange them.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

Am I letting God make a poem of me?

Y-L Man Sold On Merits Of Sesame Cash Crop

Leon Lewis who farms 160 acres of land 4 1/2 miles north of here in the Y. L. community has found a new friend in Sesame, that exotic plant from the Middle East whose fat seeds nourished mankind 4,000 years ago.

His 15 acres of Sesame in 1956 yielded an average of 1,200 pounds of good seed per acre. The seed will sell for about 10 cents per pound, giving him a gross profit of about $100 per acre. His total cost of producing and harvesting was $31.65 per acre, leaving him a net profit of $68.35 per acre.

Mr. Lewis stays he will plant at least 20 acres of Sesame this year — and maybe more. He plans to try to increase his yield above 1,000 pounds per acre level with 13-39-0 fertilizer put down before planting time.

"I can't qualify as an expert with one good crop," Mr. Lewis said, "but I believe in order to get over 1,000 pounds of Sesame seed per acre, you have to have a good thick stand, a high level of fertility in your soil, and plenty of irrigation water."

Another successful Sesame grower in this area is Ancel Ashford whose farm lies three miles east and seven miles north of Muleshoe just over the line in Parmer county.

Mr. Ashford first tried Sesame in 1955, producing a yield of about 720 pounds an acre — a very good yield in view of the early frost in October of that year.

Good Records Can Save Dollars At Tax Paying Time

It is usually the small-expense items, especially those paid for in cash, which are overlooked at income tax reporting time, says Cecil Parker, extension farm management specialist. In his work, Parker says he has observed that farmers could save additional tax dollars by learning which of these items are tax deductible and by keeping accurate records of all expenses and receipts regardless of their size.

Parker has further observed that farmers have little trouble keeping records of major transactions for most are paid by check and the cancelled check then becomes a part of the record. Don't overlook the small items, he advises, for they can amount to a lot of money over a period of a year. They may include such items as interest payments, membership dues in farm organizations, subscriptions to farm magazines or small fees for services required in connection with the farm business, overnight business trips and losses on household goods and equipment used by hired help.

The specialist suggests that all cancelled checks, receipts and records be kept for at least five years and that checks be used whenever possible. Extra check fees are well-worth the protection provided by the cancelled checks.

Depreciation records should be kept on equipment, improvements and installations and machinery as well as on all purchased breeding animals. These items lose some of their value each year and the loss is deductible for income tax purposes only at the end of the year in which the depreciation occurs.

And finally, Parker suggests a visit with a good farm-income tax consultant. Here advice and suggestions can be secured on all items which should be included in the farm record system and also a listing of the small items which are deductible and most often overlooked.

In 1956 he harvested 20 acres of good Sesame. "I had a thin stand on 15 acres and this produced about 10,000 pounds," he said. "But you should have seen that other five acres. It was a fine stand and produced over 6,000 pounds of good seed."

His goal in 1957 is 50 acres. Ashford fertilized none of his Sesame. He said the skimpier stand made a lot bigger, prettier stalk and looked like it would produce more seed, but that when the combine ran down the rows, the thick stand of the five acres put more seed into the hopper.

Even with the variation of the stands, he says he will gross $80 an acre on this new crop which is rapidly gaining importance on the High Plains.

Lewis watered his land once before planting and three times during the growing season.

"I didn't really expect to make such a good crop. This Sesame was planted on land that was in feed in 1955 and was pretty foul," Lewis said. "We just listed it and watered it and planted the Sesame. I believe cotton and Sesame will work better in rotation than cotton and grain sorghum, because the Sesame stalks break up so easy you can farm your Sesame land as clean as you do your cotton land."

Lewis irrigates his Sesame from a good 10-inch irrigation well and can cover an entire 20-acre area in from 24 to 36 hours.

He listed the following farming practices in this order: ran stalk cutter and followed with tandem disc. Listed land with bedders. Pre-planting irrigation. Planted on May 28 and got a good stand by using rotary hoes to break up soil crust caused by showers. Knifed the beds twice and then cultivated. He said that he watered his cotton and alfalfa first and that his Sesame needed water long before he got to it. He agreed wholeheartedly with the recommendations that Sesame should be irrigated the first time about the time it begins to bloom.

He next hoed the crop very lightly, cultivated it the second time, and irrigated twice more at about thirty-day intervals. He used a three-row broadcast binder to harvest his crop about October 1, making a maturity period from time of planting of 120 days. He shocked the Sesame immediately behind the binder, using Mexican Nationals who did a good job, he reported. The Sesame stayed in the shocks about 5 weeks, allowing it time to thoroughly dry and was then combined direct from the shock by Cecil C. Tabors, an outstanding custom combine operator who combined more than 700 acres of Sesame on the High Plains in 1956.

Lewis reported very little loss of seed from shattering, adding that there is not more risk in harvesting a Sesame crop than any other.

Bailey County Farm Bureau News

BY LONNIE M. BASS

Bill Miller, president of Bailey County Farm Bureau attended a Texas Farm Bureau meeting held in Waco last Tuesday. This was a commodity meeting, in which grain sorghums, cotton, livestock and vegetables were discussed, with the idea of proposed legislation from the farmers' view point.

Insurance was also a major discussion, and it was brought out that the Farm Bureau proposed the flexible rate insurance law, for Texas. This flexible sys-

Feed Grain Prices Expected Average Higher This Winter

Feed grain prices generally are expected to average slightly higher than last year for this winter and continue into spring, says Extension Economist John G. McHaney. Prices of oats and sorghum grain are expected to continue higher relative to corn than in 1955-56, due to smaller production of these grains and an increase in the nation's corn production. Prices of corn and other feed grains may be lower during late spring, compared with 1955-56 levels. Crop prospects for 1957 along with Governmental disposal programs for surpluses will partially determine this, predicts McHaney.

Total feed concentrate stocks have increased despite a 6 percent drop in feed grain acreage. McHaney says carryover stocks of concentrate will probably be boosted about 10 percent by October 1, 1957, even after supplying all domestic and export requirements. Exports are expected to continue relatively high for 1956-57, but below a year earlier because of reduced European demand and increased Canadian and Argentine supplies.

Ample supplies of feed grains is the rule for the nation, but many drought-stricken Texas farms are critically short, warns McHaney.

Last year's second largest corn crop in history was produced on the smallest number of acres in over 60 years. Total corn supplies for present marketing year are 7 percent above last year.

Oat prices will get a boost from reduced carryover at the end of the current marketing year. With the total supply down, imports are expected to climb above those of last year. Barley supply for the present marketing year, July 1, 1956 to June 30, 1957, is down 8 percent from last year. A 12 percent acreage drop was partially offset by a record 28.8 bushels per acre yields.

Continued heavy exports are in line for grain sorghum with a possible reduction in last year's record carryover. Smaller produc-

You are invited to attend the regular monthly director's meeting Monday night, about eight o'clock, February 4, in the Friona office. This is, in fact a standing invitation to any farmer, particularly Farm Bureau members. None are excluded. Your directors would like for you to know what they are doing. They welcome letters, phone calls, or personal interviews you may wish to have with them regarding your business. They would, of course, welcome complimentary remarks. On the other hand, if you have criticism to offer, they will give you an attentive ear for that too. They think they are serving you. If you think they are not, they would appreciate your suggestions so that they may come and monitor their meeting Monday night.

Rhea Farm Bureau's meeting will be this Friday night. We don't know yet what their program will be, but we can assure tion and higher prices may cut down the quantity of sorghum grain fed to livestock this year. Last year's production was down noticeably due to an acreage reduction and a drop in average yields.

Price supports for these 1957 feed crops will probably be announced before harvest begins. Supports on 1956 crops will be available through January 31, 1957 and will mature April 30, 1957, for oats and barley and March 31, 1957, for sorghum grain.

ANYBODY WANT TO BUILD ABOUT $65,000 AVERAGE FIVE ROOM HOUSES THIS YEAR? ENOUGH LUMBER WILL BE CUT IN TEXAS DURING 1957 TO DO IT!

If a 10-foot wide woden belt were needed around the equator to hold the earth together, Texas could furnish the material and still have some left over. Or laid end on end, Texas' yearly lumber production would form a continuous span to the moon.

The piney woods section of East Texas has made a real comeback in the past 20 years. Almost one million acres more forest land exists today than in 1935 due to once cleared land reverting to woods.

Forests now cover 11,655,800 acres in the commercial timber belt of East Texas. Annual income exceeds 100 million dollars from cut lumber, furnishing employment to over 50,000 persons.

By John C. White, Commissioner

The volume in sawtimber trees totals 26 billion board feet. Softwood sawtimber volume, mainly southern yellow pine with some cypress and red cedar, has risen 26 per cent since 1935 in southeast Texas. This big increase in growth deflects the great progress made in protection and improved forest practice during the past 20 years.

Fire, insects, disease, and other natural disasters annually kill about 50 million cubic feet of timber in East Texas. Special attention is being given this problem for if the existing timber supply were exhausted, the economy of 36 counties would be severely hurt.

About 92 percent of Tyler county is in forest land, and in Newton, Polk and Angelina counties, more than 80 percent of the total area is wooded. From these and other counties come over 1 1/2 billion board feet of lumber handled by 70 large sawmills and several hundred portable mills.
