SCHOOL TO RUN BUS THIS YEAR

Edith, Lynn and Magnolia Pupils Will Attend City High School This Year

Members of the luncheon club Tuesday voted in favor of a county fair to be held here some time this fall.

V. F. Jones, county farm agent and chairman of the Fair committee, made a report of the work of the committee, stating that a number of business men and farmers had been interviewed and that practically all of them favored a fair. He also called attention to the fact that a lot of work and some money would be required to put the fair over successfully, and asked for an expression of the views of those present. Chairman Applewhite then called for a vote, and it was practically unanimous in favor of the fair. The committee therefore is proceeding with the preliminary work.

W. C. Henderson, chairman of the civic committee, reported that the committee had asked the mayor to set a day for cleaning up the town.

Chairman Applewhite stated that it had been suggested that members pay for their meals one month in advance beginning the first of August in order to simplify the work of the secretary and for the benefit of the women who prepare the meals from week to week. The matter was put to a vote and practically all present voted in favor of the proposal. It was explained however that any member who preferred to pay weekly could do so.

Mr. Kary Mathis and Mrs. J. K. Applewhite conducted the program of entertainment. Mr. Mathis leading in the singing of an appropriate song. Charles Heathman sang a number of cowboy songs, Mrs. Applewhite accompanying on the piano.

Mrs. J. W. Chesser Died Thursday

Mrs. Oma Dee Chesser, 24, wife of J. W. Chesser, of the Hackberry community but formerly a resident of the New Lynn community, died in the Mercy Hospital in Slaton Thursday, July 18, at 6 P. M.

Funeral services were conducted at the New Lynn Methodist Church Friday afternoon and burial was in the Tahoka Cemetery. The services were conducted by Rev. H. C. Smith, pastor of the Methodist Church here, assisted by Rev. C. O. Coppage, pastor of the Southland Methodist Church.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Baker, deceased was born June 22, 1911, in Taylor county. She was married to J. W. Chesser December 27, 1932, at Lovington, New Mexico. The young couple made their home in the New Lynn community, later removing to Hackberry. She was a devoted member of the Methodist Church and a much-beloved young woman.

Besides her husband and her parents, she left surviving her five brothers: Rev. Lee Roy Baker of Tahoka, Rev. Luther Baker of Lamesa, James, Hadley, and Billy Joe, all of Tahoka, and one sister, Miss Mazie Mae Baker of Tahoka. Her father and mother also reside here. She also left a number of uncles, aunts, cousins, and other relatives.

Two of her brothers are ordained ministers, one brother is soon to be ordained, and two of the uncles are ordained preachers.

A great host of friends and relatives attended the funeral services and followed the remains to the grave to attest their love and esteem for the good woman whose life had been so beautiful and so brief.

CAPTURES BLACK WIDOWER
Fred Alexander brought to the News office Tuesday afternoon a mammoth black spider which he had captured.

It was not the deadly "Black Widow" which has gained so much notoriety the past few weeks, for it had no red markings. It was a solid black, and Fred said that for lack of a better name he had designated it as the Black Widower.

We do not know whether it is a deadly poisonous variety or not, as we did not attempt to make a test of its toxicity.

News Changes Publication Date

Beginning next week, The Lynn County News will bear a Friday date-line instead of Thursday.

There will be no change in the Friday date-line instead of stories. All ads. and news must be in Wednesday, preferably Tuesday.

There will be little change in press-time of The News, but it will not be put in the postoffice until 8 o'clock Friday morning. As many other papers do, we will print the paper Thursday. In this way all rural route patrons will get the News at the same time as in the past but only a very few hours later than do our town subscribers.

Advertisers will get complete circulation of the county as in the past, for Saturday's business.

Boy Scouts See Carlsbad Cavern

Accompanied by Scoutmaster J. D. Donaldson, Prof. J. T. Carter, E. L. Smelser, Neely Brooks, and Ernest Lawler, twenty-three Tahoka boy scouts visited the Carlsbad Cavern last week.

The boys came back somewhat bewildered, stating that the cavern is so large and there is so much to be seen, that they did not really have time to see it as they went through.

The party also visited the museum and public library in Carlsbad.

Those constituting the company are as follows: James Foster, Finis Connolly, James Price, Herbert Hoover, Gyndolen Crouch, Keith Connolly, George Hogan, L. D. Prater, David Weathers, Herbert Womack, G. C. Price, Neill Walker, Levi Billman, Carna Reese, F. E. Redwine Jr., Cecil Curry, Max Minor, Dale Gildersleeve, Vance Gildersleeve, Reginald Frazier, Dan Daniels, Billy Boydston, and Ted Boydston.

All scouts are expected to be at the meeting Friday night in the Methodist Church basement.

Livestock Must Stay Off Highway

Division Engineer G. M. Garrett calls attention to the fact that it is a misdemeanor for any person to permit his livestock to run at large unattended on the highways or between the enclosing fences of a highway of this state, punishable by a fine of not exceeding $200.00 for each day such offense is committed.

Many accidents have been caused, he states, from the presence of stock on and along the highways, and he warns the people to keep their stock off.

Local Men Gone To Carriers' Meeting

W. E. Suddarth, editor of The Texas Carrier, official publication of the Texas Rural Letter Carriers Association of Texas, and L. D. Gildersleeve, president of the West Texas Rural Mail Carriers Association, left Wednesday to attend the annual convention of rural mail carriers meeting Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week.

Mr. Suddarth was scheduled to make his annual report as editor of the official publication at the opening meeting Thursday morning.

BUILDING PROGRESSES
The new brick building being constructed by Buster and Jack Fenton is nearing completion. The building is one of the nicest one-story structures in Tahoka and will be the new location of the recreation club operated by these men.

BARRETT IS SICK
Prof. W. G. Barrett, the new superintendent of the Tahoka schools, has been sick this week and is confined to his room at the Sunshine Inn. He has not yet been able to procure a residence for his family, we are informed.

Buy it in Tahoka and be here next Trades Day.

O'DONNELL IS PLANNING FETE

Tri-County Celebration Will Be Held In Neighboring City Next Week End

O'Donnell, July 25. (Special to the News)—O'Donnell business men and merchants will again be hosts to visitors from all over the South Plains when the second annual Tri-County celebration opens here next Thursday, August 1. The celebration will continue through Friday and Saturday also.

This event was held for the first time last year, and brought an estimated attendance of 5000 persons on the second day. It is hoped that attendance will be even larger this year.

While plans for free barbecue each of the three days have been dropped, the entertainment committee announces that programs for both afternoons and mornings are well filled. One of the best carnivals in this part of the state will be here for the celebration, and baseball games between the O'Donnell Hubbers and three neighboring teams have been arranged. Horse racing will be another feature of the event, along with the customary track and field contests, including potato races, catching the greased pig, bronc riding, etc.

O'Donnell extends a cordial invitation to each neighboring town to send a delegation help enjoy the fun.

Set Casing In Wanete Oil Test

Casing was set Monday in the Wanete-Hart test oil well in the Cass O. Edwards T-Bar ranch 10 miles southwest of Tahoka at a depth of 2884 feet.

Drilling will probably be resumed Friday night.

In the meantime, all the machinery is being overhauled and everything being placed in readiness for making rapid progress when drilling is started again.

County Board Will Meet Here Monday

The county board of trustees will meet here at 10 o'clock next Monday morning upon the call of the president, Chester Connolly, according to County Superintendent H. P. Caviness.

It is understood that some important matters will be up for consideration.

HAS INTERESTING VISIT

J. K. Applewhite and family returned Saturday from Oklahoma City, where they visited relatives. Jack visited the state capitol building and says things were in a stir there—taxes, of course. Jack got a lot of kick out of the things he saw and heard. He says crops in Oklahoma are somewhat spotted but are good for the most part. Another thing that impressed this native Texan was the number of state institutions they have in that state. He declares that nearly every town has a state school or hospital or asylum or penitentiary, reformatory, or some other kind of institution. He managed to keep out of all of them, however.

The Applewhites were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Kemp.

SMITH IN MEETING

Rev. H. C. Smith, the Methodist pastor, is assisting Rev. J. N. Hester in a revival meeting at Ropes this week. Brother Hester is now pastor at Meadow and Ropes. He was formerly pastor of the Draw circuit for three years.

Mr. and Mrs. D. T. Rogers and daughter, Miss Pearly Dee, are planning to leave on a pleasure trip Friday. They expect to visit San Angelo and Christoval, then explore the Lohgorn Cavern in Llano county, and go from thence to the Davis Mountains, where the Paisano Baptist Encampment will be in session next week.

C. W. Conway Jr. came home Sunday from a ranch fifty miles from Clayton, New Mexico, where he has been visiting and working since the close of school two months ago.

LUNCH CLUB IN FAVOR OF FAIR

Vote In Favor Of Holding County Fair This Year; Jones Heads Committee

The county school board working in conjunction with the trustees of the Tahoka Independent School District will operate a school bus during the ensuing year to transport certain high school pupils from the Edith, Magnolia, and Lynn districts to Tahoka.

Action was taken by the Tahoka school board at its meeting last Thursday night approving this arrangement and agreeing to finance the proposition. Pupils above the ninth grade in the Lynn district, above the eighth grade in the Edith district, and above the seventh grade in the Magnolia district will be transported to Tahoka.

The State of Texas will pay the sum of two dollars per month per pupil for this service, which sum will go a long way toward reimbursing the Tahoka district for its outlay. It is estimated that about twenty-five pupils from these three districts will be transported into Tahoka.

This, it seems to us, is a happy arrangement which should meet the approval of all concerned. It will afford the pupils of these neighboring districts all the advantages that the Tahoka high school can afford and at the same time it will make the Tahoka high school a bigger and possibly a better school. In addition to this, it will tend to make Tahoka more of an educational center for the county and will be a good thing for the town generally.

Anglin Wins Sales Award; Advertising Is Given Credit

A few weeks ago the Texas Utilities Company offered prizes to those of its employees making the most sales of Westinghouse refrigerators from June 1 to July 15.

This morning W. S. Anglin received a communication from H. B. Earhman, Merchandise Sales Manager, advising that he had won first prize with the sale of fourteen refrigerators.

"This campaign clearly proves to my mind that advertising pays big dividends if it is followed up," Mr. Anglin stated to a representative of the News. "We ran an ad. of Westinghouse refrigerators in nearly every issue of the News during the campaign, and nearly every prospect we approached stated that he or she had seen our ad. in the paper. Advertising paved the way for the sales we made."

Mr. Anglin diligently and intelligently followed up the advertising and thus got big results. He is to be congratulated upon his success.

Negro Festivities Here Next Sunday

Dave Washington, colored, announces that the Paducah colored baseball team and a colored quartet of singers are coming to Tahoka next Sunday.

The ball team will play Tahoka's team in the afternoon and the quartet will engage in a singing contest with the Tahoka colored quartet in the church "over on the hill" Sunday night.

CHURCH OF CHRIST REVIVAL TO BEGIN AT DIXIE FRIDAY

The Church of Christ will begin a meeting at the Dixie school house on Friday night of this week to continue through the first Sunday in August, according to announcement made by G. M. Murrah of that community.

Services will be held at 11 A. M. and 8:30 P. M. each day. Elder Lee D. Hukel will do the preaching.

The general public has a cordial invitation to attend all services.

G. M. Reid and family returned Tuesday from DeQueen, Ark., accompanied home by Mr. Reid's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Reid, who will visit here some time. The Reids left here for DeQueen last Friday.

Dr. and Mrs. E. E. Callaway left Tuesday morning for their summer camp on the Colorado River. They expect to be away about two weeks.

Grocers Using Newspaper Ads.

The News wishes to call attention to the fact that several of our grocers are again using newspaper advertising.

This will prove profitable to both our readers and our grocerymen, we believe; and we ask that you read the advertisements and profit.

Tahoka needs to build up trade out on the edges of her territory—and newspaper advertising has long been accepted by all leading business institutions as the best method of building up business. Most of our business houses sell merchandise about as cheaply as it is sold in any of our neighboring towns. Our grocers sell at lower prices than most of our neighboring town grocers do.

We invite others to follow the example of these merchants.

Tahoka Defeats Roswell, 7 To 4

Roswell, New Mexico, "bit the dust" again last Sunday, when Tahoka baseball team journeyed to that city to defeat their New Mexican all-stars 7 to 4 in one of the best exhibitions of baseball a local team ever put up.

Several times in past years Tahoka has defeated Roswell, and when negotiations were started last week for another game the New Mexico manager warned the local boys what they were up against. From all over New Mexico, it is said, Roswell gathered the best ball players she could find and were ready to pour it down Tahoka's throat.

Game time approached, Roswell looked like big league stuff in work out; Tahoka looked like Pumpkin Center. "Play ball," the umpire called. Result: The New Mexico all-stars woke up with the little end of a 7 to 4 score after a nine-inning battle that would have been of interest to any big league ball crowd.

Nazarene Revival Starts Tuesday

Rev. R. M. Hocker, pastor of the First Church of the Nazarene of Lubbock will hold a revival at the local Church of the Nazarene July 30 to August 11. Rev. Hocker is entering his sixth year as pastor at Lubbock and is serving his twentieth in pastoral work without a break of as much as a week. If you believe in the whole Bible, if you believe in the old time heartfelt religion, if you believe in a clean life, then hear him.

Rev. Hocker's daughters will have charge of the music. Miss Ruth will preside at the piano and Annie Mae, the fourteen year old choir director, and soloist will lead the singing. All singers are invited to come and help out in the singing.

English Family Held Reunion Here Sunday

Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Griffin and little daughter of Dallas were here from Friday till Tuesday visiting Mr. and Mrs. D. B. English, Mr. Griffin being a brother of Mrs. English.

On Sunday a family reunion at the English home was enjoyed. Those present in addition to those named above were Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hatch and little son of Lamesa, Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Traylor and daughter of Lubbock, and Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Small and sons of Sندان.

COUNTY COURT IN SESSION

County court has been in session this week. A few judgments by default in civil cases and a few pleas of guilty in misdemeanor cases constitute the major part of the work of the court thus far.

STRICKLANDS RETURN

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Strickland returned last week from College Station, where Mr. Strickland attended A. & M. College for a few weeks. He is busy this week checking projects of his vocational agriculture students.

START TOPPING WORK ON NO. 9

Five Mile Stretch Will Receive Triple-Coat Asphalt Treatment Soon

Work was begun Monday by the State Highway Maintenance forces reshaping the base of the five-mile sector of highway No. 9 through and immediately north of Tahoka preparatory to the topping of this sector by the contractors, Haden & Austin of Houston.

This work consists of scarifying the road bed, shaping it up with a blade, sprinkling it with water, and then rolling it. This leaves the roadbed in proper condition for the contractors to begin their work. It will require a week or ten days for the state maintenance forces to complete this preliminary work, according to C. F. Stanley, the resident engineer.

It will therefore probably be two weeks before the contractors, Haden & Austin, can begin the work of topping. Their contract calls for a triple asphalt top. That means that after oiling the roadbed, then they are to place a layer of rock, run a roller over this and place a layer of asphalt; place a second layer of rock, roll it, and place a second layer of asphalt; finally a third layer of rock, roll it, and then the third and final asphalt surface. It is expected that this job will be completed before cold weather.

The work of constructing the base with relief labor on the north portion of highway No. 9 in this county is proceeding rather slowly. About six miles of the second layer of caliche is yet to be placed, according to Mr. Stanley. Only about 12 or 15 men a day are now available to do this work. Only a few trucks can be kept on the job with this small number of men, and hence the work is advancing slowly.

Mr. Stanley attributes the scarcity of labor to the fact that so many men are now busy in the crops. While this makes road building slow, yet it is a most gratifying condition otherwise, for it shows that more and more men are finding employment in the private walks of life and are being taken off the relief rolls.

We still have no information as to when contracts will be let for topping other sectors of No. 9 in this county.

Rains Of Week Aid To Farmers

Showers and in some instances heavy rains have fallen on some portion of the South Plains every day this week. In Tahoka the fall has been very light. We had 23 of an inch Sunday afternoon and night and .04 of an inch Wednesday night.

A good rain covered a large portion of the eastern section of the county Sunday afternoon, Grassland and the territory to the east of that place was visited by a heavy downpour, amounting possibly to an inch or an inch and a half in some localities. Portions of Edith, Magnolia, New Lynn, and other communities in the eastern part of the county had a nice rain.

West Point reports about a half inch of rain accompanied by a heavy hail and high wind on the same afternoon. A number of crops in that vicinity were badly damaged. Much of the north portion of the county also received good rains. Showers fell in the vicinity of Wilson and also near O'Donnell. In fact nearly every community in the county has received some rain this week.

As a rule, the fields are now about clean of weeds and grass. In some localities cotton is very late, but generally the plant is thrifty and growing—and the prospect for a good yield per acre is excellent.

In many localities a good feed crop is practically assured. Many fields of feed however are needing rain and the yield will be cut short unless rain comes within the next few days.

John Beard and family, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Chaney, and Mrs. Denton, mother of Mrs. Beard and Mrs. Chaney, left Wednesday afternoon to visit Mrs. Denton's father and family in Kentucky.

CURRENT EVENTS PASS IN REVIEW

TRADE TREATY WITH RUSSIA STIRS SHARP ATTACK ON SECRETARY HULL

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

Twenty months of apparently futile moves to revitalize the commercial relations between the United States and Russia, and then suddenly Washington announces that the two nations had concluded a one-year trade agreement...

Secretary Hull

Russia will buy railroad equipment, machinery for making new automobile models and other products of heavy industry. In addition the Soviets will buy cotton. The railroad equipment is needed badly for modernization of a weak transportation system.

In return Russia expects to sell sausage casings, certain grades of iron ore, manganese, furs and dairy products in large quantities to the United States.

The pact, concluded by the exchange of notes between Ambassador Hull and Moscow and Maxim Litvinov, commissar for foreign affairs, provides for no further loans to Russia and makes no mention of the more than $700,000,000 in debts contracted by former Russian governments. It is in line with Secretary Hull's policy of trade agreements. For these two reasons especially it is attacked by many Republicans and not a few Democrats in congress. Senator Pat McCarran of Nevada was one of the angriest of these gentlemen. He declared Secretary Hull was a "prize diplomatic dupe" and announced that he would demand an immediate modification of the reciprocal tariff act to rescind powers under which Hull is negotiating such treaties. Key Pittman, chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, also is earnestly opposed to Hull's trade program.

When one witness before the house ways and means committee, opposing the President's new tax program, called congress a "rubber stamp," Chairman Doughton and other Democrats declared they had been insulted and would hear no more from the witness. Nearly every one else they heard was as insistent in denouncing the proposed tax bill but more tactful. Most of them represented various sections of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. Then the committee apparently decided that it really would be a rubber stamp, for it quit work on the tax measure for the time being and, according to report, left the writing of it to certain brain trustees of the Treasury department. The public hearings had been noisy, full of hickering and probably of no use whatever.

Administration leaders then began planning for postponement of the proposed tax legislation until the winter session. It was said President Roosevelt had consented to this course provided a bill can be agreed upon before adjournment that shall be acceptable to all the groups whose objective is redistribution of wealth by taxation.

The prospect of an early adjournment was so pleasing to the house that one member, Dean of Georgia, was given a veritable ovation when he made a speech telling how tired the legislators were.

Twenty thousand dollars was appropriated by the house for investigation by the rules committee of lobbying for and against bills affecting utilities interests. Representative Rankin of Mississippi declared that Representative O'Connor of New York, chairman of the committee, was unfit to conduct the inquiry because he was antagonistic to the administration. O'Connor, rising to reply, was given an ovation by the house, and promised the investigation would be thorough and impartial.

Already the committee has begun its work. The first witness being Representative Brewster of Maine, who declared Thomas G. Corcoran, New Deal lawyer, had tried to force him to vote for the "death sentence" provision in the utilities bill by threats of stopping work on the Passamaquoddy project. Corcoran was then put on the stand and denied the main features of Brewster's story, whereupon the Maine congressman shouted, "You're a liar." Corcoran explained with facility his activities in behalf of the utilities measure. He said he was assigned to help with the original drafting of the bill through a direct request from the President. Senators Wheeler and Rayburn, he said, asked him to help bring about passage of the bill.

Unofficially and informally, the general opinion seems to be that the Wagner labor disputes act is unconstitutional and will be so declared by the United States Supreme court when that tribunal is called on for a decision. William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, urges labor leaders to pay no attention to claims that the law is invalid.

"Leading legal authorities of the nation are of the opinion that the act is Constitutional in every respect," he wrote, but added in a letter that he expects a court test and that the American Federation of Labor will get "the best legal talent."

Even if the Wagner law is knocked out by the Supreme court, the administration believes it has a plan that will avert at least 90 per cent of the usual number of strikes, walk-outs, lock-outs and other disorders. It is being launched in Toledo, Ohio, and has been called the "Toledo plan" because it was conceived by Assistant Secretary of Labor Edward F. McGrady when he was trying to settle a dispute in that Ohio city.

It has no sectional characteristics; carries no federal compulsion, and rests solely upon the willingness of workers and employers in every city that adopts the plan, to abandon the harsh economic weapons of old and substitute peaceful discussion for violence.

Mr. McGrady explained the plan this way: A panel of business and labor leaders of equal number is chosen with a federal official to act as chairman. This official presumably would be one who has made a record in the regional labor service setup under the national labor relations board.

The employer would continue to bargain with his workers as usual. In event of a disagreement between them the workers agree not to strike and the employer agrees not to lock out or discriminate against the men as the issue is carried to the panel.

This group debates the problem and if it is unable to agree the heads of the business and labor representatives on the panel and the federal chairman continue seeking an avenue of settlement. If they are unable to agree then an appeal is made direct to the owner of the business involved and the head of the union controlling the workers.

SENATOR HUEY LONG has the political fate of his chief opponent, Mayor T. Semmes Walmsey of New Orleans, in the palm of his hand.

But he is forcing the people of the city to put the mayor out. A majority of Walmsey's followers, tired of the conflict, formally deserted him when the commission council adopted a resolution endorsing recent statements of two commissioners calling for the city to make peace with Long. The mayor, standing almost alone, declined to yield. He told the council he "would not deal with men who have been called 'crooks and thieves' by every member of the commission council."

In a caucus preceding the council session, 13 of Walmsey's 17 ward leaders voted for his resignation "for the good of the city." The mayor told them he was "going to stick from here to breakfast." Senator Long received a committee of the seceders and said he would call a session of the state legislature to force Walmsey out of office within 24 hours after the "old regulars" obtained approval of a majority of the city's voters for a petition requesting the mayor's removal.

President Roosevelt led various of his cabinet members, leaders of the majority in congress and captains of the New Deal on a week-end outing that was at once dubbed "the kiss and make up excursion." For a lot of these men had been snarling at one another in the physical and political heat of recent days in Washington and the Chief Executive evidently thought it time the quarrelling was ended. The entire bunch went to Jefferson island in Chesapeake bay, Mr. Roosevelt on his yacht Sequoia and the others on a fleet of boats.

Cabinet members were Vice President Garner, Postmaster General Farley, Attorney General Cummings, Secretary of the Interior Ickes, Secretary of War Dern, and Secretary of Commerce Roper. Speaker Byrns headed a congressional delegation including Senators Tydings, Pittman, Robinson, Copeland, Dieterich, Walsh, Gerry, Duffy, and Radcliffe. Relief Director Hopkins, No. 1 Brain Trustee Tugwell, and Treasury General Counsel Oilphant also were in the party.

Newspapers of northern Italy intimated that Premier Mussolini might abandon his projected war with Ethiopia if he could find a way of backing out without losing face. But the Roman public was quite sure that the duce's aggressive policy would be unimpaired. This opinion was strengthened by the sending of more troops to East Africa.

Secretary of State Hull entered the picture again with a rather mild statement expressing America's abhorrence of war and confidence in the Kellogg pact. The Italians didn't like this at all.

When Chinese rivers overflow they do the thing in a big way. The Han, which joins the Yangtze near Hankow, broke through the dikes and rushed through the densely populated land, drowning about 10,000 men, women and children. The city of Hankow was imperiled and soldiers and civilians were working desperately to keep the levees from breaking.

BRISBANE THIS WEEK

Not Constitutional Flies and Black Magic Kilkenny Cats, Again Pickings for Lawyers

In Boston, the Federal Circuit Court of Appeals decides, two to one, that the "New Deal" process tax on cotton is unconstitutional. The judges decide that "the power of congress to regulate interstate commerce does not authorize it to tax products either of agriculture or industry merely because their production may indirectly affect interstate commerce."

This most important decision, if not upset by the higher courts, will upset, decidedly, the plans of the administration in regard to financing bigger incomes for farmers.

Universal Service says Abyssinia will not take Mussolini, his airplanes and armored tanks "lying down." Abyssinian sorcerers, dealers in black magic, will work against Italy. What is more dangerous than magic, Abyssinian fighting chiefs will use the poisonous tssetse fly against Italian soldiers. These flies, feeding on decayed animal matter caught in the teeth of sleeping crocodiles, get the tssetse germs from the blood of the crocodiles and plant them in the blood of human beings and cattle.

Slow death by "sleeping sickness," leaving the body almost a skeleton, follows the tssetse bite.

Two cats hung over a line must fight. The Kilkenny story proves it. Mussolini has committed himself to war, and once a dictator speaks positively it is unsafe, politically, for him to back down, especially when other nations interfere, as France and England have interfered. To retreat might cost Mussolini his prestige.

Difficult also is the position of Haile Selassie, emperor of Ethiopia. His hold is not firm. Important chiefs, heading various Abyssinian tribes, would like his job. If he should avoid war by yielding part of his territory to Mussolini, as advised by England, resulting complications might include assassination, common in tropical countries.

The United States Chamber of Commerce objects to the income and inheritance tax program, calls it confiscation. The question involved seems simple.

Does the property of the United States, result of thrift and intelligence, belong to the people that created it, or is it only held in trust by them for public use by those that for the time being exercise powers of government?

Owners of stock in Paramount-Public Moving Picture company, once selling on the market at $100,000,000 and more, now worth about nothing, learn that in some windup proceedings lawyers ask for $3,000,000. That seems a good deal, but you must remember that one New York lawyer—he will not object to being mentioned—the skillful Louis Levy, once got more than $1,000,000 for settling a sad misunderstanding between a prosperous gentleman and a certain "little lady."

Figures do not lie, but they surprise you. For instance, in the year 1801 the government of the United States had 120 employees. Today it has 700,000 employees, an increase of 5,000 per cent. The number of congressmen has risen since 1801 from 128 to 531, a little more than 400 per cent, while United States population has increased 2,500 per cent.

The increase in population is due to mothers, the increase in government extravagance is due to politicians.

Austria seems not quite certain that she has had enough of the Hapsburg royal family, that has ruled and misruled an intelligent people for so long. The state council cancels a decree that banished Hapsburgs and took their property. Young Archduke Otto, pretender to the throne, may now return to Austria. He and his mother will find themselves rich, the confiscated imperial properties returned.

Young Otto, a handsome boy, with a somewhat peevishly condescending expression, may occupy the throne. Self-government is not easily learned. Austria, Italy, Germany, have discovered that, not to mention the U. S. A.

Anti-Semitic riots in Berlin included the usual cowardice that accompanies display of religious hatred, no matter by what race or religion. The "proud Aryans" bullied, beat and kicked Jewish men and women indiscriminately.

Washington Digest National Topics Interpreted by William Bruckart National Press Building Washington, D. C.

Washington.—Politics varies little from week to week or from administration to administration. There is much the same reaction to smart maneuvers and much the same consequence when a politician makes a bonehead play. Those who make the mistakes pay the penalties and just now one hears an abundance of discussion in Washington as to whether Mr. Roosevelt has made a political mistake that may cost him dearly later on.

It will be recalled how in 1928 Senator William E. Borah of Idaho exacted a pledge from candidate Herbert Hoover that if Mr. Hoover were elected he would immediately call a special session of congress to deal with the agricultural tariff. Mr. Hoover carried out his promise and in so doing brought about his eventual downfall. He asked congress for the tariff affecting agricultural imports so that American agriculture could live. But congress, as congress does so many times, refused to stay in bounds. It got out of hand so badly that when the Hawley-Smoot tariff bill finally was enacted into law it turned out to be a boomerang of the worst kind. It overwhelmed Mr. Hoover and all of those who attempted to justify it.

Now to bring the parallel to date, Mr. Roosevelt has asked congress for a three point tax program. It is another one of those specific things. No sooner had his special message landed at the Capitol than house and senate members began going around to see how it could be expanded. Each member had his own ideas and each member began insisting and continues to insist on having those ideas included in the Roosevelt tax bill. From this tax program will result, a good many observers believe, a farebreak on the President and his aspirations for reelection next year.

The efforts to expand the tax bill—and a good many of them are going to be successful—represent only the beginning. The thing is like a snowball and snowballs have a way of getting too large to manage. Sometimes they roll down upon the boy who started to make them. When the President first issued his tax message into what was presumed to be the last stage of the session, he explained that the purpose of the new taxes was ultimately to balance the budget and at the same time to lay a foundation for redistribution of wealth. After the first flurry in which the administration spokesmen at the Capitol tried to rush through a bill, examination disclosed that the schedules he had proposed accomplished neither a balanced budget nor the objective of redistributed wealth. The potential yield of the income tax on the greater incomes failed in any way to produce a wealth redistribution. Nor did the proposed tax on inheritances and gifts yield a great return because in none of the instances are these large sources of revenue to tap.

When the President offered his tax bill he suggested informally that the probable yield would be about $341,000,000 annually. Congressional examination of the schedules developed a conviction among leaders at the Capitol that the yield would not be in excess of $100,000,000 annually. Then, along came Secretary Morgenthau who expressed various and sundry ideas about taxation but made no recommendations whatsoever. That, according to the trained political observers here, was another mistake. It left the door wide open and naturally there was forthcoming a perfect deluge of the tax ideas born among individual members after the President's message was delivered.

While it is too early yet to predict the final form of the tax legislation, it appears on the basis of present circumstances that the new bill will tax the incomes of a great many hundreds of thousands of persons at a heavier rate than they now are paying. They will get the full force and effect of these tax rates next March 15 when the first installment of taxes on incomes of 1935 is due.

Thereby hang the possible political consequences of the President's tax message. People never like to pay taxes, and to pay taxes now, with economic conditions what they are, is much more distasteful than in prosperous days. So, the political observers in their discussion around Washington now contend that Mr. Roosevelt will have much to answer for if the Republicans and New Deal opposition have the ability to utilize the material made available to them. Previously, in these columns, I have referred to the possible strategy of the President in seeking re-election through an appeal to the masses. This course has been freely charged by those who contend that the $5,000,000,000 public works-relief fund which he has available to spend, as he sees fit may be used to advantage in a political way.

Now that congress has given every indication of its determination to go beyond the President's tax proposal and assess taxes against most all of us, the new phases of a political acter referred to earlier have become much more significant. Although little blood has yet been shed, there has been a major casualty already in the clash between Ethiopia and Italy. It appears that the Pact of Paris, otherwise known as the Kellogg pact and the Treaty for the Renunciation of War, is about ready to be buried in an East African grave.

With an eye toward the dispute between Ethiopia and Italy, Secretary Hull of our State department has proclaimed anew America's belief in the sanctity of the treaty arranged during the term of office of Secretary Frank B. Kellogg and Foreign Minister Briand, of France. He has said very definitely that the United States looks to both Italy and Ethiopia to live up to their obligations under that treaty because each nation is a signatory thereto.

But, while Mr. Hull's pronouncement must be regarded as a most commendable thing and his attitude must be accepted as properly representative of American conscience, the fact that the United States expects the two nations to live up to their obligations does not insure that result. Indeed, there is every reason to believe that the Kellogg pact is about to become, if it has not already become, just another scrap of paper.

In frequent conversations, one hears the question asked: Why is the United States taking such interest in the controversy between Italy and Ethiopia? Those nations are thousands of miles away. They represent little that has a direct contact with our economic or political life as they stand today. Why, then, should the American government interest itself in that controversy except on a basis of the American people's natural love for peace?

The answer is simple. One can go back through history and discover where every important war had its beginning over issues of no more concern to other nations directly than the issues between Ethiopia and Italy. One must become a bit disturbed in examining the political structure obtaining throughout the world today. It is in the nature of a keg of powder. Japan and Russia are at bayonet points because Russia feels Japan is expanding in the Far East and is seeking eventually to take over a portion of the territory so long under control of the Russian Bear. Besides there is a Chinese question in the Far East with the Japanese encroachment upon Chinese affairs. This condition has left a bad taste in the mouths of many statesmen and it will be influential if and when there is a realignment resulting from the crisis in Africa.

President Roosevelt has taken some notice of the plaint of members of house and senate who have been feeling the effects of Washington's intense heat. He has partially redefined the list of "must" legislation that he wants passed before congress adjourns. Heading this list, of course, is the tax legislation and it is more than intimated that he will not agree to an adjournment until a new tax law has been passed and signed.

Mr. Roosevelt also is inclined to insist that congress enact the bill which will deny corporations or citizens the right to sue the federal government on account of losses allegedly sustained through the government's gold policy. This legislation, from the administration's standpoint, is imperative because unless courts are denied jurisdiction in such suits it is an undoubted fact that there will be many of them filed before congress reconvenes next January. Thus, if the administration desires to avoid serious court battles in the face of the Supreme court's decision in the famous gold cases, it must prevent the filing of those suits. Once they are filed, an act of congress cannot prevent the rendering of a final decision and the adjudication of damages if any are found.

Another measure which the President wants enacted is the banking act of 1935. It has undergone considerable revision at the hands of the senate sub-committee, presided over by Senator Glass of Virginia, but the latest word from the White House is that the administration will not insist upon the radical provisions originally written into the bill by Governor Eccles, of the Federal Reserve board. The Eccles plan, it will be recalled, was regarded by many as certain to result in placing control of the banking structure in a politically minded Federal Reserve board. The Glass revision is considered to have eliminated that danger.

The President has encountered a serious obstacle in the banking bill, however, that is related to political questions. As the bill now stands, banks would be permitted to underwrite issues of corporate securities, that is, to act as agent for the sale of those securities. Mr. Roosevelt is seeking to find some way by which the underwriting bank can be prevented from investing its own funds in those securities, a danger he regards as grave.

Lesson for July 28

AMOS AMOS LESSON TEXT—Amos 7:7-17. GOLDEN TEXT—But let judgment run down as waters, and righteousness as a mighty stream.—Amos 5:24.

PRIMARY TOPIC—A Hero Preacher. JUNIOR TOPIC—When God Needed a Hero. INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Standing for the Right. YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—God's Plumb Line and Our Social Order.

Amos was a herdsman called of God to be a prophet. A prophet is one who speaks forth the message of God. He convicts the people of their sins, pleads for them to get right with God. The only effective way to correct wrong social usage is to bring the people into right relationship with God.

I. The Call of Amos (1:1). Amos was a herdsman and gatherer of sycamore fruit (7:14). He was not a prophet by succession, neither was he trained in the prophetic schools.

II. To Whom Amos Was Sent (1:1). Though he was from Judah, his ministry was to be primarily to Israel.

III. Amos' Message.

1. Sins denounced (2:6-8; 6:1-6). a. Avaricious greed (2:6-8).

(1) Sold the righteous for silver (v. 6). The judge, for a bribe of silver, declared the innocent to be guilty.

(2) Sold the poor for a pair of shoes (v. 6). It doubtless referred to the practice of selling into slavery the debtor who could not pay for a pair of shoes which he had been sold on credit.

(3) Pants after the dust of the earth (v. 7). So avaricious had these men become that they even grasped after the earth which the downtrodden poor cast upon their head in their mourning because of their misery.

(4) Turned aside the way of the meek (v. 7). These grasping rich men turned aside the meek, that is, those who did not stand up for their rights.

(5) Licentiousness (v. 7). So notorious were the immoralities practiced that they were even guilty of incestuous prostitution. How adequately this pictures the licentiousness of our present age.

b. Reckless security (6:1-3). They closed their eyes to the approaching judgment predicted by the prophet.

c. Luxury (6:4-6). Their luxury expressed itself in:

(1) Extravagant furniture. They had beds of ivory, which means, doubtless, wood inlaid with ivory.

(2) Laziness (v. 4). Many stretched themselves on their couches, thus living lives of indolence.

(3) Feasted on delicacies (v. 4). They bought what they desired, regardless of its cost.

(4) Adorned their feasts with music (v. 5). They sang idle songs, even inventing musical instruments for this purpose.

(5) They drank wine (v. 6). They drank from bowls, indicating excessive drinking.

d. They failed to grieve for Joseph. Many are today indulging in luxury, entirely indifferent to the crying needs of others.

2. The remedy proposed (5:4-9). The prophet called upon them to return to God. The time to repent is while divine judgment is stayed. In their turning to God they were to renounce:

a. Idolatry (v. 5, 6). They were to turn away from the places of idolatry—Bethel, Gilgal, and Beer-sheba.

b. Seeking to pervert judgment (v. 7). Turning judgment to wormwood implies the bitterness of the perversion of judgment to the injured.

c. Seeking to detrone righteousness (v. 7). "Leaving off righteousness" is thought to mean that unrighteousness was allowed to take its place.

IV. Interceded for the People (7:1-9). The prophet stands here not merely as the proclaimer of judgment, but as the intercessor for the people.

V. Opposed by Amaziah the Priest (7:10-17).

1. Message sent to Jeroboam (vv. 10, 11). The priest sought to hinder the prophet by informing the king of the judgment which Amos proclaimed.

2. He attempted to silence the prophet (vv. 12, 13).

3. The prophet's bold reply (vv. 14-17).

a. He declared that he had received his commission from God directly (vv. 14, 15). The one who has heard the call of God must be faithful in the declaration of his message even though opposed by ecclesiastical and political leaders.

b. Doom pronounced (vv. 16, 17). He set forth the shame and distress of the Babylonian captivity, which came upon them because of their unfaithfulness to God.

An Overwhelming Thought

How could we bear that overwhelming thought "Thou knowest"—the thought that there is certainly somewhere, unless also we had the conviction warm at our hearts, "Thou lovest"—the certainty that the deepest certainty of all is the love of him who orders all.—W. Charles.

Better Thoughts

A single gentle rain makes the grass many shades greener; so our proverbs brighten on the influx of better thoughts.

SYNOPSIS

Theodore Gatlin adopts a baby, "Penelope," in an effort to solve his matrimonial troubles. But his wife has never wanted her, and their affairs end in the divorce court. Ten-year-old Penelope is given into the keeping of Mrs. Gatlin. At a baseball game a ball strikes Penelope on the nose. Mrs. Gatlin spirits the child to Europe. Gatlin wills Penelope all his money, and is about to begin a search for her when a motor accident ends his life. Some ten years later, in San Francisco, Stephen Burt, rising young psychiatrist, is presented by Dan McNamara, chief of police, with a new patient—Nance Belden, a girl with a dual personality, for which her "saddle nose" is in part responsible. McNamara does not think she is a criminal and obtains Burt's testimony in court. Lanny, the doctor's office nurse, is also won over. Nance's criminal record outweighs Doctor Burt's explanation of her case and she is sent to San Quentin penitentiary. Lanny visits her and Nance persuades her to smuggle out a letter which a confederate of Nance steals. Nance escapes, although shot, and goes to Lanny's apartment. Lanny tells Chief McNamara, who orders her to bring Nance to his apartment. Details of Nance's escape are made public.

"Nance had no right to be there," the man protested to McNamara. "The poor kid's queer." He tapped his forehead. "But she framed a sweet getaway. If it would work, and we figured it might. So we thought we'd give the girl a hand. She's all right. I've got a blind brother that would have started to death if it hadn't been for Nance Belden; as for the man the doctor's working over now, Nance took care of his wife while he was in the stir. Helped her when she had a baby. Chief, that girl's a saint. The only trouble with her is that she's a devil, too. You never know how to figure her."

"You've figured her right. She's queer. And what's your wounded friend been doing since he got out of stir? What did he get in for?"

"He got in for bootlegging and he's been bodyguard for a boss, bootlegger since he got out."

"H-m-m-m! And what's your specialty?"

"I don't know what line I'll take up, Chief. I've only been out of the United States army disciplinary barracks on Alcatraz island a month. I was a soldier—and I poked an officer."

"Oh, you're the machine-gunner, eh? Learned to shoot in the army, I suppose?"

"If I hadn't, I'd have killed that guard. I could have gotten him if I cared to, but instead I scared him with evers and shorts. Did I sweep the roof of that lookout tower?"

"You certainly did—and rattled the man at the Browning gun there. Well, you're quite a fellow! What does your friend, the chauffeur, do?"

"Delivers bootleg. He took a chance for a friend."

"You may go," said Dan McNamara to the chauffeur. "Take your car and beat it. But I'll remember you and if you pull any rough stuff in this city I'll land you out in the grass. On your way."

The man fled promptly, and Dan turned to the ex-soldier. "I've got Nance out at my house," he explained. "Doctor Burt has fixed her up and I'm not going to turn her in. Neither am I going to turn her out, because she wouldn't be out two hours before she'd be picked up. That saddle nose of hers is a dead-give-away."

The man nodded lugubriously. "We've got to find a quiet spot for your friend, too," the chief went on meditatively. "A man with three bullet-holes in him is in an embarrassing fix—when he's wanted. So we'll take him out to my house, too. That's the only safe place I can think of."

"How about me?"

"You've been a soldier, so I suppose you can carry out orders?"

"Yes, sir."

"Well, your orders are to come out to my house, too, and take care of your friends. The doctor will call every day and tell you what to do. And you'll have to do the cooking."

"I can do that, too. Not fancy, but they can eat it."

"All right, you've got a job and a holding-up place as well. I'll go home now and get my car and come back for you and your friend. Meanwhile don't you get cold feet and disappear. I want to talk to you some more. I want to find out all about Nance Belden, and you and your friend might be able to give a line on her."

"I don't know anything about her, Chief, except that her real name is Penelope Gatlin."

Dan McNamara clasped his corrugated brow in both hands and pondered. "Gatlin! Gatlin! Penelope Gatlin! Now, where have I run across that name in my business? I don't usually forget names, and I seem to remember I had a call once for somebody by that name or else somebody by that name called on me. It was a long time ago. I'll have to look that up—I wonder, if there's anything in the files at headquarters."

It was midnight before Nance Belden's two friends were installed with her in Dan McNamara's house. Lanny looked both men over carefully and confided to the chief that she wouldn't trust either one of them as far as she could throw a bear by its tail, to which Mr. McNamara replied that one of them couldn't raise any devilry if he wanted to, while the other dared not. Moreover, this latter was the only practical nurse he could secure. A trained nurse might talk; on the other hand, this friend of Nance's had been educated to keep his mouth shut. "And a very great virtue," McNamara added. "His freedom is in my keeping and my honor is in his, so we have to trust each other. Besides, it's high time you got home."

"How about those two cops waiting for me?"

"Greet them kindly, ask them their business and invite them to talk it over before they can tell you what it is. When they tell you permit them to search your home, and be cheerful about it."

The phone rang and Dan answered it. When he rejoined Lanny he was smiling broadly. "You're a bum mop-up," he accused. "That was Flynn, one of the detective sergeants on watch at your house. He found two drops of blood you overlooked, so he thinks you and Nance are in the house but refuse to answer the bell, and he wants permission to break in. In the name of the law. He says he can slide the latch on your front door lock like nobody's business. I told him to wait another hour and then try it, but to be careful."

Lanny's independent and belligerent nature was instantly aroused. "If I couldn't give a snopper like that cards and spades, the four aces, big and little snapper, and beat him to death on the sweeps. I'd kiss a cow," she declared. "Guess I'll go home and make those big boobs feel ashamed of themselves for disturbing a lady."

"Whatever you do, be nice to them," he warned earnestly. "If you get snooty with them, Lanny, they'll just waltz you down to central station and stow you away for the night—with the excuse that the chief wants to see you. And I've decided I don't know you. If I did I'd go home with you."

He escorted Lanny out to her car enough to open your garage door, Miss Lanning, we will go out, come up your front stairs, ring the bell like gentlemen, and ask if we can't come in and have a little chat with you. Is that satisfactory?"

"Eminently so," Lanny was as polite as the speaker now. She felt for the bolt in back of her, slid it back and kicked the door open without taking her eyes or her pistol off the pair.

They went out, closed both doors behind her and held them closed until she had shot the bolt home again. When she went upstairs and let herself in just as her doorbell rang; so she switched on the lights, removed her hat and coat, went to the door and opened it. Instantly two large hands thrust two cards at her; whereupon she was aware that she was about to entertain Detective Sergeant P. Flynn and Detective Sergeant A. Angelotti.

"Good evening, gentlemen," Lanny hailed them cordially. "Come in and rest your big fat feet."

P. Flynn nodded wisely to A. Angelotti. "She resents us, Amadeo," said he.

"Oh, I hope not, Pat. Let us hope it is not us she resents but our honorable profession." The wretch bowed again. "Thank you, Miss Lanning." And both gentlemen entered.

Lanny led them down the hall to her tiny drawing room. Angelotti, like a hound, followed close behind her, but Flynn was in no hurry. He swept the runner in the hall with a flashlight first, then followed his partner into the drawing room, and sat down heavily on a divan.

"Is this to be a long interview?" Lanny asked cheerfully.

P. Flynn shook his head. "A minute or two."

"Then I'll not bother giving you anything to drink."

"Well, it might take ten minutes, at that," Flynn countered.

"At least that," Angelotti agreed. "Besides, Pat, she works for a doctor and with a flashlight examined it very carefully again for signs of blood. He found two dried splashes and wiped them away before permitting her to depart.

Then Lanny Almost Screamed. Instantly She Switched Off the Light, Got Her Little Pistol Out of Her Bag and Switched the Light on Again.

As Lanny entered the driveway and paused in front of her garage, there were no detectives in sight, although there might have been had she glanced the part of wisdom to deance carefully about her. She unlocked the garage door, climbed back in her car, drove in, stopped the motor and switched off the lights. Then she got out, closed and locked the garage door and turned on an electric light switch on the doorpost to light her way upstairs to her kitchen.

Then she almost screamed. Two big fellows wearing soft hats were standing behind her car, gazing at her owlishly. Instantly Lanny switched off the light, got her little pistol out of her bag and switched the light on again.

"Now what do you two handsome devils want?" she demanded.

Like automatons the pair threw back their lapsels and disclosed their shields. "Cops or no cops," Lanny announced, "my garage is my castle, and you can't come into it uninvited without a search warrant."

The two detectives looked at each other and Lanny realized that they appreciated her very much indeed. "She's a lawyer," said one of them.

"Not a very good one, though," the other replied. "However, Pat, let her have her own way. A woman—the outrageous fellow bowed low—and particularly a young and beautiful woman—with a pistol—always makes me nervous. If you will be good and her stuff is probably good old prescription goods."

"We been hours out in the cold," Flynn added sadly.

Lanny mixed her guests each a highball. P. Flynn drank half of his at a gulp, set down his glass and said: "Well, where's Nance Belden?"

"I see by the papers she escaped from San Quentin about six hours ago."

"She came here," Flynn charged. "Prove it." Lanny challenged tartly; whereupon Flynn went out into the entrance hall and returned, dragging the end of the hall runner with him. He turned it over and revealed a large dark red spot. "Blood!" he announced.

Angelotti touched the spot. "Fresh blood!"

"Human blood," Flynn went on. "Quite a clot of it. She must have fainted after Miss Lanning let her in. Undoubtedly she lay several minutes in the hall bleeding while Miss Lanning was fixing a bed for her."

"We know she came here," Angelotti charged. "We found two spots of blood on the sidewalk."

"That settles it," Flynn declared with ponderous finality. "Miss Lanning, you have this female convict secreted in your house and I advise you to give her up. Come now, give her up," he wheedled, "and we'll just give it out that we caught her trying to get into your house during your absence. We'll protect you."

"Search my house," Lanny offered in a queer, choked voice. She loathed herself for having overlooked that large blood stain on her hall runner.

Why Should Male Sex Have Monopoly of Fun?

"In this corner (we are describing a boxing bout) is Myron Emory, weight 132 pounds. And in this corner Charlie Young, weight 114. The boys are known as the Cuban Flash and the New Hampshire Wildcat. They will now fight four rounds for the whistlerweight championship of the world."

The reporter, in a popular magazine, goes on to describe the fight; how the boxers, lean, tanned, eager, advanced to the center of the ring; how the crowd applauded wildly; how they battled, now boxing cleverly, now slugging hard, the crowd shrieking encouragement. Twice one of the fighters was knocked to the canvas, but twice he arose and earned himself the decision of a draw.

And now, says a woman writer, whose widely read articles are not usually devoted to prize-ring activities, the point of this boxing report in this space.—It was really a very strange contest. For the fighters, Emory and Young, were seventy-nine and seventy-eight years old! The referee was a hundred and three. The bout took place in St. Petersburg, Fla., a popular haven for old people. It was managed by the Three Quarter Century club, all of whose members are over seventy-five, all active in some sport.

And no old-time athletes are these men. Just elderly people who when they retired to that city in the sun found all sorts of diversions—for young people. They realized that if they were to have any fun there they would have to organize activities for themselves. So they founded the Three Quarter Century club—"not to turn back the years, but to utilize fully the years they have left." It appears they are adding to them.

But—the Three Quarter Centurians are all men. My thought is, what about the women? They don't have to box, or join the baseball team, but there are goodly activities in that city of the sun that would give them no less fun. Have they been so preoccupied all those years before that they can't learn now how to take fun like their men? That's an idea for the generation to follow them. Let this July 4th be remembered as an Independence day for a Woman's Three Quarter Century club!

Big Australian Estate What is the world's biggest estate? The question is prompted by the news that the Zamolski estate in Poland has been reduced by half, the family having handed roughly over 50 per cent of the lands to the nation. Before this was done, the estate was 250,000 acres in extent. Even now, it is bigger than any estate in Britain. But the largest estate in the world is not in Europe at all. You have to go to Australia if you want to see it. There you will find the holding of Sir Sidney Kidman, famous as the Australian cattle king. It is over 30,000 square miles in extent, larger than Ireland, Austria, Hungary, or Portugal.—London Answers.

"WHAT ARE WE HERE FOR?"

On Monday and Tuesday of last week delegations appeared before the state highway commission in the interest of a number of highways.

Among these were delegations for highway No. 83 extending westward through Snyder, Lamesa, and Seminole to the New Mexico line and delegation for highway No. 84 extending westward through Post, Tahoka, Brownfield, and Plains to the New Mexico line.

Highway No. 83 is known as the Dal Paso highway. Its western objective is Carlsbad and El Paso. It would provide a second route from the cities of Dallas and Fort Worth to El Paso, the Bankhead or "Broadway of America" already connecting these cities.

Highway No. 84 is part of the proposed Arkansas, Texas and New Mexico highway, extending from Texarkana westward through north Texas, on through west Texas, thence into and through New Mexico. It would provide the most direct route from Dallas, Fort Worth, and all the cities of north Texas to Roswell and the mountain resorts west of that city, and with its connections would constitute the shortest and most scenic route to the Pacific coast.

Delegations were before the highway commission to ask for the paving of highway 83 through Scurry, Borden, Dawson, and Gaines counties.

Our delegation was before the commission asking for the paving of highway 84 through Garza, Lynn, Terry, and Yoakum counties.

When the delegations for highway No. 83 appeared before the commission, their request was readily granted. We quote from the Lamesa Reporter of July 18.

"Assurance of the paving of highway No. 83 from where the hard surface now ends east of Snyder, to the New Mexico state line was given a group of West Texans from 11 counties affected by the route at a hearing in Austin Monday before the state highway commission. M. E. Daniels of Breckenridge, spokesman for the group, had hardly finished his talk when Harry L. Hines, highway commission chairman, declared that further speaking was unnecessary, "because the commission is just as enthusiastic for improvement of that road as you are. In fact, we already are arranging for a conference at Carlsbad with the Governor and commission of New Mexico, and we have conferred with officials in Washington, and all of us are anxious to get those gaps closed as soon as humanly possible."

"On previous occasions the state of New Mexico has practically assured highway 83 delegations that they would connect up with the road at the state line and finish it on to Carlsbad and to the state line towards El Paso, which will mean a saving in miles from Fort Worth to the caverns or El Paso of 80 miles or more."

But when the delegation for No. 84 finally got a hearing, they were turned down cold.

Not only did the commission fail to give any assurance whatever that the road would ever be paved but it suggested that its designation as a state highway be cancelled.

In that event state maintenance would be discontinued. The suggestion was made, it was said, in order that the counties affected might make application to the Federal Government for PWA funds with which to improve the segments of the road lying in the different counties.

But if this were done, after the highway had been killed and state maintenance had been discontinued, then a county desiring federal aid would be compelled first to vote bonds or otherwise provide funds to match any funds appropriated by the Federal Government.

In other words, the state highway commission, in effect, told the Lynn county and other delegations representing No. 84 that they could do nothing for 84, and suggested that these counties each respectively first put up half the money and ask Uncle Sam to put up the other half for the paving of this highway—that the state of Texas didn't have a cent to spend in this way.

Highways are being paved in other counties, and the State is preparing to pave still others; it has actually assumed the payment of county bonds issued a long time ago for roads that were extravagantly or poorly built, but at this late day it can still find no funds with which to pave No. 84 nor will it promise ever to do so.

So, this is the situation. We think it is high time for the people of Lynn county and the other counties through which 84 passes to get up on their dewclaws and howl. We have been sitting around supinely long enough.

We are not particularly blaming the state highway commission. It has done only what might have been expected. It has heard the pleas of those who have been presenting them year in and year out. Until recently we have never tried to do much for No. 84. We have never pressed its claims on the highway commission. Other counties have been on the job going after things for themselves. We have been so inactive and so silent respecting No. 84 that the commission hardly knew it was here. Yet it can be shown, we believe, that No. 84 is, or should be, one of the most important highways in Texas.

So, folks, let's get busy. Let's help our county judge and the commissioners court put this thing over. Let's keep Highway No. 84 ringing in the ears of the commission. Let's gather and present facts showing its importance. From this day forth, let's work week in and week out. For the paving of this highway it is a just cause, and we believe that if we will present it intelligently and persistently, the highway commission will hear us.

In the language of a shrewd politician of another day, "What are we here for?"

THE GRAFT SHOULD BE STOPPED

Last week we commented on the fact that the late Senator Bronson Cutting of New Mexico had bequeathed $25,000 to his secretary, a former Tahoka man, $25,000 to Governor LaFollette of Wisconsin, and $50,000 to Senator LaFollette from the same state. Of course the major portion of his estate went to his relatives. Senator Cutting was a wealthy man. Yet the daily papers a few days ago carried the following press dispatch from Washington:

"Mrs. Olivia Cutting, mother of the late Senator Cutting, would receive $10,000 from the government under an amendment added to the second deficiency appropriation bill. The amendment, offered by the senate appropriations committee, conforms to senate tradition that widows or dependents of senators be given $10,000. Senator Cutting was killed in an airplane crash in Missouri last May while returning to Washington."

This is a species of graft that should be stopped. The money that the Senate is about to appropriate to Senator Cutting's mother is the people's money. There is no reason for the custom of appropriating money to the widows or other relatives of deceased senators and congressmen, many of whom are wealthy and all of whom are well paid for their services at Washington, except the cupidity of men. Common honesty and decency demand that this practice be stopped.

Sam Braswell, for eighteen years owner and editor of the Clarendon News, has sold that paper to Fred L. Williams, a young newspaper man from Taft in south Texas. Mr Braswell has not yet announced his future plans. We certainly regret to lose Mr. Braswell from the newspaper field of West Texas. He has made of the News one of the best weekly papers in Texas. Progressive, forward-looking, level-headed, well informed, and conscientious, Mr. Braswell has made the editorial page of the News one of the best we know of. We hope he makes a connection with some other west Texas publication.

Our dynamic friend, Tom Waggoner of the Claude News, says that we are wrong about Huey Long. He thinks Long is a patriot and statesman of high rank. We don't think so, but we may be wrong. We have been wrong once or twice before.

Lady Took Cardui When Weak, Nervous

"I can't say enough for Cardui if I talked all day," enthusiastically writes Mrs. L. H. Caldwell, of Statesville, N. C. "I have used Cardui at intervals for twenty-five years," she adds. "My trouble in the beginning was weakness and nervousness. I read of Cardui in a newspaper and decided right then to try it. It seemed before I had taken half a bottle of Cardui I was stronger and was soon up and around."

Thousands of women testify Cardui benefited them. If it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician.

WORK RELIEF PROGRAM IS SWINGING INTO ACTION

On April 8, Congress, at the request of the President, passed a bill appropriating $4,880,000,000 for work relief.

At that time, Mr. Roosevelt stated that by July 1 all the nation's unemployed who were able to work would have federal jobs, and would be off the local relief rolls.

July 1 came and passed. More than $400,000,000 had been approved for 474 projects, yet not a single man had been put to work.

The reason is two-fold: First, and the most important, the works program is supposed to employ 3,500,000 men for one year. If that is done, the cost per worker, including materials, must be held down to the very low figure of $1.143.

Second, there has been constant disagreement between Secretary of the Interior Ickes and Relief Administrator Hopkins. Mr. Ickes is the head of the Public Works Administration, and Mr. Hopkins guides the Works Progress Administration. The two bureaus inevitably overlap—and both executives claim jurisdiction over the same projects.

Mr. Ickes is of the opinion that relief money should be spent for projects of permanent benefit—grade crossing elimination, river and harbor developments, road work, etc. Mr. Hopkins, on the other hand, is concerned only with putting men to work, and he knows that the adoption of projects in which material costs are high will defeat that purpose. As a result, he favors projects which require only labor, and demand few or no materials—woodland clearance, malaria control, repairs to public buildings, etc. The two men are so diametrically opposed in their views that it seemed no compromise was possible.

A fortnight ago the President stepped in and provided a partial settlement to the problem. He decided the question of jurisdiction by outlining which projects are to be controlled by Mr. Hopkins, which by Mr. Ickes. Result: All projects involving the expenditure of less than $25,000 are to be handled by Mr. Hopkins; all those costing more, by Mr. Ickes. For example: If the President approves the building of a canal, Mr. Ickes will handle it—if he says yes to a ditch, it will be done by Mr. Hopkins. Mr. Ickes will build highways, while Mr. Hopkins builds trails. Mr. Ickes will erect public buildings, and Mr. Hopkins will landscape the grounds surrounding them. And so it goes.

The work relief program is at last swinging into actual operation—and the question that remains to be answered is whether or not it can find useful and productive jobs for the 3,500,000 heads of families who are still out of work.

TEXAS UTILITIES COMPANY

$50.00 An Acre Farm Land In Evidence

From Roscoe comes an account of a sale of 200 acres of farm land for $50 per acre, spot cash. C. E. Long, pioneer farmer, paid $50 per acre for this tract of land, located four miles west of Roscoe, in 1920. He made $10,000 cash in 1923, and made enough in three years to completely pay for the land. It was then rented out, with the rent going to pay the children's expenses at college. The older son, Cecil Long, now a member of the firm of Biles and Long Pharmacy in Big Spring attended A. and M. and Texas University and was graduated from the pharmacy school of the University of Texas; another son, Wayne Long, graduated with a degree in electrical engineering from A. and M. College, only to be called back in a few years as associate professor Denman Long attended A. and M. and is now engineer with a large corporation in Houston; C. E. Long Jr., is a junior in A. and M. College and Grady Long is a student in the Roscoe high school. Three daughters attended C. I. A. at Denton. Ruth Long is now a member of the Hermleigh faculty and the other two daughters married before finishing their college work.

This bears out the statement that West Texas agricultural land offers the safest investment you can find. In this instance paid $10,000 for this 200 acres of land in 1920 and 15 years later had his $10,000 back and from the rental of the land was able to give six children a college education.

Many an oil well or gold mine did not prove such a safe and dependable producer.

The land is better than it was 15 years ago since at that time 80 acres was infested with Johnson grass, and Cecil and his brothers wore out two Fordson tractors the first year ridding the farm of this grass.

In addition to the 200 acres just sold Mr. Long owns his home place of 238 acres and another farm of 292 acres south of Roscoe and 160 acres north of Roscoe.

K. J. Althof who paid Mr. Long $10,000 cash for the 200 acre farm is a pioneer settler of the Roscoe section and owns 400 acres adjoining the tract purchased.—Big Spring News.

BEGIN CONSTRUCTION ON CENTENNIAL BUILDINGS

Dallas, July 24.—Hundreds of workmen began construction today on the World's Fair of 1936—the Texas Centennial Exposition—which will open in Dallas next June.

Although scores of new exhibit buildings are to be built, work at this time is being concentrated upon remodeling of present structures. First to fall into the hands of workmen was the Administration Building, a huge structure which is being remodeled at a cost of $125,000. An entirely new front for the Administration Building has been designed by the architects so that it will conform with other structures on the Exposition grounds.

Meanwhile, demolition of other buildings on the 200-acre Fair Grounds continues, with workmen razing various exhibit structures of the State Fair of Texas, which annually has attracted 1,000,000 visitors. As soon as demolition is completed, construction of exhibit palaces will begin.

Among the first of the new buildings to go up will be the architectural group, which consists of the livestock building, poultry building, architectural building and the foods building.

To provide additional space for exhibit buildings many city blocks adjacent to the World's Fair grounds have been condemned. Removal of residential structures now existing in this area is expected to start within the next few weeks.

In this section, a permanent civic center group will be built, including an Art Museum, Aquarium, Sports Building, Social Hall, Natural History Building, Better Homes, and other structures of a cultural nature.

DEALERS TELL FORD'S IDEAS ON SERVICE

Henry Ford's constant efforts to decrease the cost of operating an automobile, and his belief that "it pays in the end to do a thing right" are revealed in the Ford engine exchange plan recently announced by the Ford Motor Company, and explained today by Messrs. J. K. Applewhite and W. L. Burleson, local Ford dealers.

"Henry Ford always has believed that a sale does not complete the transaction between the Ford Company and the car buyer," the dealers said. "The sale, in Mr. Ford's belief, establishes a new obligation on the company and the dealer to see that the car gives the buyer good service. Mr. Ford is as much interested in the economical operation of the car as the buyer is in the economical manufacture of it. "Mr. Ford," they declared, "believes that the reconditioning of an engine is so important that it should be done by the same men, machines and methods which produced the engine originally. For this reason the new exchange plan enables Ford owners to exchange their assemblies and certain other units for those reconditioned at the Ford factory in Dearborn, Mich. The reconditioning is done by the same machines, men and methods employed in manufacturing the units originally."

The engine assemblies and other units are tested and pass a strict factory inspection before being returned to the owner. Other units available under the plan include carburetors, distributors, fuel pumps, generators and others. As a characteristic of all Ford operations affecting the public, the cost of the exchange parts is unusually low.

Marking the close of a two months contest between the Euzelian and Dorcas classes of the Sunday School of the First Baptist Church the Euzelians entertained with an outdoor picnic Thursday evening, naming the husbands of both classes special guests.

The picnic was held on the prairie near the ice plant where the husbands of Euzelian class members fried chicken and Irish potatoes and made coffee over the open fire. Bread, pickles, raw vegetable salad, cake and iced tea completed the menu.

About one hundred men and women attended. Superintendent of Schools W. G. Barrett was a visitor and expressed his pleasure in being in Tahoka and with this group.

SCHOOLS AND TEACHERS TO RECEIVE FERA FUNDS

Austin, July 24.—Checks for paying approximately 8000 rural school teachers of Texas under the federal aid program which enabled nearly 1500 schools this year to complete normal terms are being prepared and will be in the mails shortly, State Relief Director Adam R. Johnson has announced.

Unwilling to see rural schools close two or three months short of a normal term at the penalty of the rural youth of Texas, the FERA early last spring agreed to pay a portion of teachers' salaries in schools in towns and communities under 5000 population which were unable to complete a full term on their own finances.

More than 1500 school districts applied, and 1493 projects were approved, enabling thousands of Texas school children to complete a normal term, F. A. Royse, engineer in charge, revealed. Exact number of children benefited is to be compiled later. In most cases schools were enabled to remain open an average of two months longer than otherwise would have been possible.

A total of $764 persons, chiefly teachers but including others connected with schools such as bus drivers, will receive the checks being prepared by the Relief Commission. The total aid will be approximately $1,000,000 (one million).

Mr. Johnson announced that no more applications from schools can be received as all funds are allotted. Checks will be sent to superintendents in the various school districts for distribution.

CHEVROLET MEN ENDORSE NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING

Seventy-four of Chevrolet's leading dealers, who together accounted for the sales of 38,116 new cars and trucks last year, attending a two-day conference at Detroit on sales and advertising plans for the remainder of 1935, went on record as unanimously endorsing the Chevrolet Motor Company's decision, announced at the closing session, to retain the newspaper as the backbone of the company's advertising media.

The announcement that Chevrolet intended to adhere to this time-tried policy was made by C. P. Fisk, advertising manager, who spoke in enthusiastic terms of the results the company has obtained through newspaper advertising, in which it has long been a conspicuous leader.

"We are constantly on the lookout for any means of making our appeal to the public more effective," said Mr. Fisk, "but up to date we have found nothing to compare with the newspaper as the 'main highway' for our advertising expenditure."

The days sessions were in the nature of round-table discussions, and the subject was referred to the dealers for expressions of opinion. At the close of the discussion, which was strongly in support of the plan, the dealers voted it their unanimous endorsement.

The conference, held under the supervision of William E. Holler, vice president and general sales manager, sought to obtain free interchange of ideas on the mutual problems of the company and its dealers. Several round-table discussions were on the program, and dealers were invited to offer constructive suggestions on advertising and other subjects relating to their business. Several suggestions made at a previous conference of the type were adopted with excellent results, and the cementing of dealer-factory relations, made possible through the conference, more than justified the undertaking, in the opinion of Chevrolet officials.

While the meeting was termed a "dealers' advertising conference" its scope was wider than that name would imply, Mr. Holler explained. The sessions touched upon every phase of Chevrolet activity—new cars and trucks, used cars, parts, accessories, service, accounting and business management, and financing.

Representatives of each Chevrolet department outlined for the group of dealers the company's plans for the summer, so that when the dealers left Detroit they took with them a complete picture of what is in prospect.

HUNTERS WARNED ABOUT RABBIT FEVER DANGER

Austin, July 24.—A number of cases of tularemia, sometimes called Rabbit Fever, have been reported to the State Department of Health, according to Dr. John W. Brown, State Health Officer. The disease is usually transmitted during the hunting season by the handling of infected rabbits when there is a break in the skin. The cases now being reported are probably due to the bite of the wood tick.

The disease is known to be caused by a minute germ which infects a small percentage of rabbits, and in addition, a variety of other animals. The germ is spread among animals by blood sucking flies, or ticks which draw blood from an infected rabbit and later carry infection to other animals. A rabbit that is slow and fails to get off to a good start is apt to be infected.

The disease usually starts with symptoms that resemble gripe or influenza. It has often been mistaken for typhoid fever. In many cases, an ulcer develops at the site of the infection. Whatever form it takes, means a long, serious illness. The family doctor should be sent for without delay whenever symptoms develop that suggest rabbit fever. To assist in the diagnosis of the disease, blood tests for the presence of the infection will be made by the State Laboratories, at the request of the city or county physician, for any case in the counties.

The best means of prevention is to avoid direct contact through handling of wild rabbits, by protecting the hands with gloves, also, while in the weeds to protect oneself from tick bites.

(Texas Farm and Ranch)

The late Col. Frank P. Holland often remarked that no matter what the price of cotton, years of large yields of food and feed were prosperous years in Texas. Col. Holland did not mean that feed crops rotting in the fields or destroyed by weevils or rats contributed to prosperity, but feedstuffs utilized to the best advantage in the fattening of livestock for home use or for the market; feedstuffs consumed by work animals to keep them healthy and in condition to render service and feedstuffs stored in silos, bins and stacks for use in periods of shortage and high prices was an important factor in the measure of prosperity of this State.

H. H. Williamson, Director of Extension work in Texas, calls attention to the fact that last year the farmers were out picking tumble weeds, burning the spines off cactus, and cleaning the fence corners to gather the weeds to grind up for feed to keep their cattle, sheep and goats from starving to death. Several million dollars were borrowed in Texas with which to buy feed. Over 2,000,000 head of cattle and 1,080,000 head of sheep and goats were sold to the Government because their owners did not have the feed with which to keep them alive. "This year," said Mr. Williamson, "we have produced in Texas not only a full supply of feed for winter but if we harvest the crop as we should, we will have almost another year's supply on hand," and he asks farmers what they are going to do with it?

The Extension Service, the Breeder-Feeder Association, the cotton oil mills, the Hardware and Implement Club, the Texas Bankers' Association, and all other agencies interested in agriculture, because their prosperity depends directly upon that of the farmers, are as one in urging not only full feeding of livestock for home consumption, but the feeding of cattle, lambs and hogs to a complete finish for the market. In addition, they urge the storing of that feed which remains and cannot be consumed, in silos, stacks and bins, for the time may come unexpectedly when this surplus will save many dollars to those who have conserved it.

The Breeder-Feeder Association kept alive its interest in the development of producing and finishing of livestock in the Southwest even during the period of drought and shortage of feed, believing that the balanced program with livestock is the safest and most profitable kind of farming. The production of an exceptionally heavy crop of feedstuffs again centers interest in the work of this Association. Recently a meeting was held in the office of its president, Frank P. Holland, Jr., many interests being represented, and there it was decided that an emergency existed and that Texas could easily make a profit out of its feedstuffs crops, or, through indifference and inattention, it could suffer a great loss. As a result, every agency interested in a profitable development of agriculture has combined their efforts with that of the Extension Service to work out a program of feeding and conservation. Every county agent in the State of Texas has been put on notice that merchants, bankers, oil mill interests, and others stand ready to cooperate with them in organizing and in putting over a program for feeding and saving the bounteous yield of grains, sorghums, and other feed crops.

It is realized that if farmers attempt to harvest and sell this crop on a cash market, the prices will decline far below the cost of production. It is believed that if livestock are fed for the market and properly finished, that a handsome profit will be realized, for there are no signs at this time that the livestock market will decline materially. One-half the crop on a cash market will bring more than all get if an attempt is made to market it. With these facts in view, the Breeder-Feeder Association and the Extension Service, together with other agencies, urge upon business men and bankers to render such aid as may be necessary to provide the animals and facilities for the finishing of beef cattle and lambs, and to encourage every farmer, owner-operator or tenant to provide himself with a sufficient number of cows, hogs and poultry to provide his family with an abundance of meat, milk, poultry and eggs. It is also urged that work stock and breeding animals be fed liberally. Any animal of good breeding, properly fed with our cheap feedstuffs, should bring a good price for the feeds consumed. Texas farmers should take advantage of the opportunities thus presented to balance their program with livestock. Should the Supreme Court of the United States sustain the findings of the United States Circuit Court and declare the processing tax unconstitutional, it will become all the more necessary that farmers, again thrown back on their own resources, should have a profitable program which will permit the voluntary control of their cotton acreage.

NOTICE TO BIDDERS

SECRETARY OF AGRICULTURE TO APPEAR IN AMARILLO

Amarillo, July 24.—When Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace comes here Monday, August 5, it will afford the first opportunity in the Southwest to see and hear a "New Deal" cabinet member.

"Not only agriculture leaders, but also any others interested are invited to greet this distinguished visitor," declared Grover Hill, who is chairman of the general committee making arrangements to entertain Secretary Wallace.

"Agriculture is facing many difficulties and it is important to know what our Secretary has in mind," he continued. People will want to see and hear the man under whose management they have received wheat and cotton allotment checks, feed and seed loans.

While here for only one day Secretary Wallace is scheduled to make an address at 3 o'clock in the afternoon at the Municipal Auditorium.

"There will be a tremendous interest throughout the country in this address," said Mr. Hill, "because the Department of Agriculture has become most important in government and its policies affect 40,000,000 persons."

The visiting cabinet member is a real dirt farmer and developed Wallace corn, one of the popular varieties in Iowa. He also operates a dairy, feeding out Panhandle cattle every year in his lots.

This true friend of the farmer, the man to whom farmers pin their faith, is coming to Amarillo and the Panhandle on a tour of inspection—and as a compliment to Congressman Marvin Jones.

Between the Amarillo congressman and the Secretary of Agriculture a warm friendship has developed.

Congressman Jones was the author of a major portion of AAA acts, such as the wheat allotment and the cattle program, which saved the livestock industry, and it was under Wallace that all of the triple A activities were developed and directed.

"The AAA is the most far-reaching program ever undertaken by any government for rehabilitation of agricultural interests," Mr. Hill declared.

"The Wallaces have been pioneers, working for the interests of the farmers," continued Mr. Hill. "For three generations the family has published a farm magazine in the corn belt. The present Secretary's father also served as Secretary of Agriculture. And since Henry Wallace became a member of the cabinet he has written three books, devoted to agricultural interests. All of them have been read widely."

Congressman Marvin Jones has advised friends he will make every effort to be in Amarillo when Secretary Wallace is a visitor.

"This visit from a member of the President's cabinet is not just an Amarillo affair, but an event of importance for all of the Panhandle.

For Bad Feeling Due to Constipation

Get rid of constipation by taking Black-Draught as soon as you notice that bowel activity has slowed up or you begin to feel sluggish. Thousands prefer Black-Draught for the refreshing relief it has brought them. Mrs. Ray Mullins, of Lufe, Ark., writes: "My husband and I both take Theford's Black-Draught and find it splendid for constipation, biliousness, and the disagreeable, aching, tired feeling that comes from this condition." With reference to Syrup of Black-Draught, which this mother gives her children, she says: "They like the taste and it gave such good results."

Nervous, Weak Woman Soon All Right

"I had regular shaking spells from nervousness," writes Mrs. Cora Sanders, of Paragould, Ark. "I was all run-down and cramped at my time until I would have to go to bed. After my first bottle of Cardui, I was better. I kept taking Cardui and soon I was all right. The shaking quit and I did not cramp. I felt worlds better. I gave Cardui to my daughter who was in about the same condition and she was soon all right."

Thousands of women testify Cardui benefited them. If it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician.

You may be cool enough but your motor is hotter than Death Valley!

Protect your motor with Germ Processed Oil!
2 to 4 times greater film strength than plain mineral oil—even at motor heats of 225 to 425 degrees

BREEZES may cool you off as you drive, but your motor runs at terrific heats—from 225° in the crankcase to 425° in the cylinders.

To protect your motor, your oil must have extra film strength and maintain it at these high temperatures. Otherwise, the lubricating film ruptures and the bearings and cylinders suffer damaging wear.

Plain mineral oils have little film strength and oils over-refined by the new cleansing methods have even less. Moreover, these oils rapidly lose film strength as motor heat goes up.

You can protect your motor far better with Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil, for tests on the Timken Machine prove that at high motor temperatures it has 2 to 4 times greater film strength than any plain mineral oil!

More proof—supervised road tests were made in identical cars fitted with the new alloy metal bearings used in many 1935 cars. The bearings lubricated with a high-quality plain mineral oil showed 45% more wear than those lubricated with Conoco Germ Processed, the first alloyed oil.

Say "O. K.—Drain"—fill with Germ Processed Oil. Drive far—drive fast—without a worry!

Action in Every Line of This One

Everyone you know—everywhere you go!—Action—Action—Action! The natural expression of youth and good health. Even our clothes are "built for action" these days and here's one that just can't wait to get going. You just know you're "going places" in the fashion world with the free stride the front and back skirt pleat give you. The simple yoke miraculously becomes an action pleated sleeve and anyone can see what subtle flattery is gathered into that bodice. A proper set-up for your summer wardrobe would be one of striped shirting, another in washable pastel sports silk. The frock is just as appropriate for street and office wear as for sports.

Pattern 9368 may be ordered only in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 40 and 42. Size 16 requires 3 1/2 yards 36-inch fabric. Send FIFTEEN CENTS in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for this pattern. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, the STYLE NUMBER and SIZE. Complete, diagrammed sew chart included. Send your order to Sewing Circle Pattern Department, 232 West Eighteenth street, New York.

Not Flattering

A young woman had come to a family reunion from a distance of several hundred miles. One of her father's cousins in trying to place the younger relatives through their closest kin, asked: "Now, whose daughter are you?"
When the young woman told him, he still looked puzzled; then he remarked unthinkingly:

Knit Outfits Are Ideal for Vacation

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

WHETHER you spend your summer in town or in country, on the golf course, or at the beach you will find it the better part of wisdom and good taste to have at hand one or several of the prettily colorful, porous, airy knitted outfits that have been developed in wide variety to keep you cool as the mercury mounts.

For vacation purposes knits are ideal. Throw them into your valise at home and take them out ready to wear when you reach your destination.

The vast majority of these creations for warm weather wear are two piece dresses coming in linen, feather-weight seamy, silky and cotton knits.

Ideal for bridges and teas on sultry afternoons and suited as well to spectator sports is the two-piece ensemble, knitted of a silk frill, shown to the right in the picture.

graceful tassel. Other details of interest include the rib bottom of the blouse and the novelty rack hemline of the skirt.

Simplicity is the keynote of the two-piece cotton knit, shown to the left, rendering it perfect for golf and tennis and just as good for morning shopping on these cloying summer days.

As a pert addition to your beach wardrobe you will find that a knit pajama outfit, as centered in the illustration, will give you endless comfort and satisfaction.

LACE AND CHIFFON

SUMMER PARTY TOGS NOW HOLD INTEREST

Summer party dresses are absorbing the attention of the younger set these days. Sleek sophistication is out for summer evenings, so far as the youngsters are concerned, and fluff ruffles are the rule of the day.

Consider, for instance, an evening gown made entirely of diagonal ruffles of Chantilly net lace, mounted on tulle.

White also is on the up and up for summer evenings, what with the new epidemic of organdies and organzas and such.

EXPERT EXPLAINS HEAVY RAINFALL IN CLOUDBURST

Why a "cloudburst" may yield many times as much rain as all the water in the cloud when the rain begins is explained by Charles F. Talman, well-known meteorologist of the United States weather bureau, in an account for the American Nature association of Washington, says the Baltimore Sun.

Even the densest clouds never contain more than about one part of water to 30,000 parts of air, which is far much less than the water in many so-called cloudbursts, which have been observed and measured, even if every bit of cloud condensed and fell as rain at the same instant.

Mr. Talman explains that a cloudburst really is an especially sudden and violent thunder storm, in which great currents of warm, moist air from close to the ground rush rapidly a mile or more up into the atmosphere, are cooled suddenly by this rise and give up their load of moisture in the form of raindrops.

The rapid up-currents of air may keep most of these raindrops aloft for a while, but presently the upward air currents slacken and billions of the suspended droplets fall as a violent rain.

RUGGLES STARS IN NEW COMEDY OF HOME LIFE

The ever-popular team of Charlie Ruggles and Mary Boland stars in the new Paramount comedy of domestic manners, "People Will Talk," which comes Sunday, Monday and Tuesday to the English Theatre.

The two stars who have been cast as husband and wife in eight previous comedy hits—among them "Ruggles of Red Gap" and "The Pursuit of Happiness"—cut new martial capers in "People Will Talk," which is set in a suburb where anyone's business is everybody else's. And the results are terrific.

It all starts when Leila Hyams and Dean Jagger, playing the roles of daughter and son-in-law, engage in a bit of domestic squabbling themselves. To show them the evils of battling, Mary and Charlie stage a bout themselves.

Unfortunately, the staged bout develops into a real one. The climax of the picture, in which everything is finally ironed out, is one steady barrage of laughs.

Marjorie Rhodes Wins Garden Contest

Marjorie Rhodes, member of the Morgan 4-H Club, won first place in the garden contest among the 4-H Club girls.

"My garden seed cost me $5.38 as I had saved some seed from last year's garden. I have sold $6.28 worth of fresh vegetables, this was to clear the expense of my garden. My garden has been furnishing vegetables since the early spring and my canning has just started," Miss Rhodes states.

For reward Marjorie was given her room and board at the Short Course and she will be one of the members that will leave Tahoka on the chartered bus Saturday for College Station.

Women Attend Club Encampment

More than a hundred farm women and girls enjoyed the encampment sponsored by the Home Demonstration Council July 11-12 at the Lubbock Park.

This was a very busy season for the women and girls which made our number smaller than last year but those that attended enjoyed the outing, swimming, picnics, stunts and slumberless night.

Gordon home demonstration club won the prize for the best stunt. Their stunt was a negro minstrel in which 20 of their club members took part.

New Lynn Club Has Business Meeting

Fourteen members of the New Lynn Home Demonstration club met July 16 in the home of Mrs. Pets Wetsel. This was a business meeting and after the meeting the members of the club and two visitors enjoyed recreation.

The next meeting will be August 6 at the home of Mrs. Claude Roper. Mrs. P. K. Fleming will be our club delegate to the Short Course. Her report will be given at the next meeting.

Places Second In Garden Contest

Dorothy Kahl, eleven years old, member of the Edith 4-H club, places second in the 4-H garden contest. Dorothy has planted 21 different vegetables and has served the family 13 different fresh vegetables from this garden and has canned 73 quarts.

This makes Dorothy's second year in 4-H Club work. She won first place on some of her canned products last fall in the county exhibit. Dorothy will enter some products in the Lubbock fair in September.

Draw-Redwine H. D. Club Meets

The Draw-Redwine club met at the home of Mrs. C. L. Patterson July 19 with nine members and one visitor present.

The Midway Home Demonstration Club will be our guests at our next meeting in the home of Mrs. C. C. Johnson.

Owing to unforeseen circumstances it was not possible for our club to be represented at the Short Course this year.

Genalee and Smitty Henderson of Amarillo are here visiting their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Henderson.

If you are judging the Ford car on the basis of price, you are making the mistake of your car-buying life. Ford—with a V-8 engine in a low-priced car—has shattered all "price class" ideas.

When you sit behind the wheel of a Ford V-8 (the only car with a V-8 engine selling for less than $2,300) and feel its tremendous wealth of smooth-floating power... when you prove to yourself that the back seat of this new Ford is as easy riding as the front... when you feel the security of a Ford's extra-large, positive mechanical 4-wheel brakes... then you realize that here is a car that cannot be judged on the basis of price.

That's why we say—"Before you buy any car at any price, drive one of our Ford cars at any price, drive one of our Ford V-8's. A phone call will bring a... no obligation.
