Laxative combination folks know is trustworthy

The confidence thousands of parents have in good, old reliable, powdered Theford's Black-Draught has prompted them to get the new Syrup of Black-Draught for their children. The grown folks stick to the powdered Black-Draught; the youngsters probably will prefer it when they outgrow their childish love of sweets. Mrs. G. W. Adams, of Murray, Ky., writes: "I have used Theford's Black-Draught (powder) about thirteen years, taking it for biliousness. Black-Draught acts well and I am always pleased with the results. I wanted a good, reliable laxative for my children. I have found Syrup of Black-Draught to be just that."

ACTUAL CONSTRUCTION BEGINS FOR CENTENNIAL

Dallas, Aug. 8.—Preparations for the Texas Centennial Exposition which opens here June 6 next year went into high gear with the coming of August. The turning point from planning on paper to actual construction was reached this week and Centennial Park is alive with workmen clearing sites for the $15,000,000 worth of Exposition buildings which must go up during the next ten months.

The majority of the construction will be by contract and for the next three months bids will be advertised and contracts let at the rate of a new building every two weeks. By the first of the year a dozen or more great buildings should be rising simultaneously.

Work has already started on the Administration Building which will house several hundred employees of the Extension staff. This structure is adjacent to the main gates of the Exposition. It will be faced by fountains and lily pools and its entrance hall will be decorated with huge murals typifying Texas history.

Plans have been approved for the State of Texas Building which will cost the state $1,200,000 to complete and excavation for the foundations of this structure, as long as two city blocks, will start in September. The designs for the Food Products Building and the Poultry Building, part of an Agricultural group which will cost $750,000, have also been approved and construction work on this important unit of the Exposition is to start without delay.

A Civic Center will be erected on 26 acres of property annexed to the south side of Centennial Park and will be an important feature of the Exposition. It is here that the $500,000 Art Gallery will be built by the city as the center of a building plan which includes an aquarium, a natural history museum, a horticultural building, a sports building, an amphitheatre for band concerts and a large artificial lagoon. The city is already receiving bids for some of the underground work incidental to its $3,500,000 Exposition building program.

George L. Dahl, architect, who heads the technical staff is now working on plans for the Petroleum and Gas Building which will house an oil show which will be a major Centennial industrial feature. Walter D. Cline, Managing Director of the Exposition, says that so far the exposition's program has been kept up to date and that everything will be in readiness for the opening as scheduled.

Mr. Hop Halsey of Rogers spent Thursday afternoon and night here with his daughter, Mrs. E. I. Hill. He was accompanied to Tahoka by a son, John Halsey of Lubbock. He and Mrs. Hill visited in Slaton Friday. Mr. Halsey reports cotton prospects as being fine in the vicinity of Rogers provided leaf worms do not do too much damage.

Miss Meda Clayton visited friends and relatives in Lubbock the last week end.

ANOTHER ATTACK UPON THE PUBLIC SCHOOL SYSTEM

Friends of Public Education in Texas: Amendment Number 7, on the ballot to be voted upon August 24, is dangerous and hazardous, and is in effect and may be in intent and origin an attack upon the public free schools as such. It proposes to furnish free text books to each child of scholastic age, and further, although this second proposal is hidden in the body of the amendment and does not come to the attention of the reader of the ballot, to change the method of distributing the state available school fund.

1. It is misleading in making it appear that free text books are not now furnished to all children of the state, whereas the very opposite is true, all children of free school age now having the privilege of free text books if they will attend the public schools of the state.

2. In reality, therefore, hiding behind a false pretense, it would do nothing more than give free text books to private and church schools, over which the State has no control whatever as to qualifications of teachers, standards of instruction, subjects to be taught, or even the care and use of books which the amendment would furnish free at the expense of the tax payers of the state.

3. The amendment is so loosely drawn and so confusing in its language as either to give free text books to any student under 21 attending any school, including colleges and universities, state, municipal, and church, literary, trade, or commercial, or else to take away from children over 17 in the public high school all free text book privileges.

4. It will result in the exertion of pressure to have text books adopted or rejected on sectarian grounds and doctrines.

5. It may be a part of a nation wide attempt to divert state money to private and sectarian schools, this same provision for free text books having been proposed in other states, New York, Ohio, and Iowa, for instance. In these states the proposal has been definitely rejected.

6. It sets up a precedent for state support of church institutions, for if books are furnished church schools at state expense, then the next logical step would be to furnish such schools with teachers and school buildings. Reread the history of the bitter fight of the public schools of the United States to limit public support of schools only to those controlled by the state and to eliminate the control of the church over the schools paid for with state money.

7. In effect, the amendment will tend to lessen the state support of its own schools, diverting state money to private enterprise and church establishments, and forcing upon local districts the burden of higher taxes to maintain their schools.

8. It violates the fundamental principle of American Government in that it ties up church and state, and takes state money for church organization.

9. It proposes, in some lines obscured in the body of the resolution, a change in the present method of distributing the state available school fund, eliminating the per capita census basis of equality, but failing to specify any other constitutional method of distributing state funds. It, therefore, makes possible political rivalry and constant juggling of the available school fund in the support of the schools, giving the legislature power to change year after year the plan or method of distribution. And it makes possible unequal distribution of the available school fund as between counties or even districts within the same county. The legislature may do as it pleases, and could do at any time what the political fortunes and political interests of any majority faction might dictate.

How Cardui Helps Women To Build Up

Cardui stimulates the appetite and improves digestion, helping women to get more strength from the food they eat. As nourishment is improved, strength is built up, certain functional pains go away and women praise Cardui for helping them back to good health. Mrs. C. E. Ratliff, of Hinton, W. Va., writes: "After the birth of my last baby, I did not seem to get my strength back. I took Cardui again and was soon sound and well. I have given it to my daughters and recommend it to other ladies." . . . Thousands of women testify Cardui benefited them. If it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician.

as future developments occur: (1) Either the state will come to control all Church and private schools on the grounds that he who pays the piper calls the tune; or (2) the state will by distributing its money between a multitude of church and private schools of all faiths or no faiths at all so deplete its resources as to leave it without sufficient funds to support an adequate system of free schools such as it now has.—Association of Independent School District.

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE PUBLIC

Home-cooking has a varied appeal to the hundreds of patrons of this company. The preparation of food holds an important place in the routine of the home. The great fireplace in which our Colonial forefathers did their cooking was extremely wasteful both of food and of the fuel itself. Most of us remember the big black iron "wood stove" with its inevitable wood box or coal scuttle. This was a big step ahead of the open fire but still a long way from anything like efficiency.

In the beginning of the present century came the early gas range—a tremendous advance over the wood stove but still not the perfect cooking appliance. However, it started people thinking that perhaps the kitchen could be a really clean, pleasant room, after all. Then came the era of electricity—the greatest period of home-making development this country has ever known. And it brought the greatest advancements in cooking methods—cooking without fire!

The Waldorf electric range is now available to those who are interested in practical cooking. Whether you bake, roast, broil, or cook on the surface elements your experience will be one of lasting pleasure to you. The price of $74.50 to $99.50 installed without extra charge possesses a wonderful appeal to those who make home-cooking different to home-work. The purchase terms can be made to fit your specific needs. It will be a matter of genuine pleasure to us to show you the range and point out the clean, cool, economical advantages of electric cooking.

Cordially yours,

What is the yardstick for a cigarette...

Take mildness for one thing—how does it measure up for mildness?

Chesterfields are milder—not flat or insipid, of course, but with a pleasing flavor.

Then take taste for another thing—does it have plenty of taste?

Chesterfields taste better—not strong but just right.

In other words, They Satisfy—that's my yardstick for a cigarette.

Chesterfield... the cigarette that's MILDER
Chesterfield... the cigarette that TASTES BETTER

SLIMNESS ALONG WITH SIMPLICITY

Pattern 9850

Every line in this dress is cleverly contrived to "lie" about your weight. The unbroken line from shoulder to hip adds to your height, the diagonal closing "slims" you down and the panel skirt gives you a trim hip line. Why it makes you "feel" slimmer, just to look at this frock. Notice how cleverly it avoids waistline emphasis, but adds four buttons for smart accents. About the house, you'll appreciate the unhampered freedom of the easy fitting sleeve and bodice. Run up several in printed cottons for about-the-house and make a dark printed foulard for smart town wear.

Pattern 9850 may be ordered only in sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48 and 50. Size 36 requires 3 3/4 yards 36-inch fabric.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for this pattern. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, the STYLE NUMBER and SIZE. Complete, diagrammed sew chart included. Send your order to Sewing Circle Pattern Department, 232 West Eighteenth street, New York.

HAD ONLY ONE

"Ah," said the vicar, genially, "how pleasant to see you again! And is this your most charming wife?" "This," said his former curate, reprovingly, "is my only wife."—Stray Stories.

And No Heat

"You wouldn't even make a good furnace," groaned the wife, as her husband announced he'd lost another job. "Yeah?" he yawned. "Why not?" "Because a furnace is no good if it has to be fired constantly," she snapped.
