PWA GRANT IS GIVEN SCHOOL

Would Aid In Construction Of New Grade School Building In Tahoka District

A grant of $32,728 to the Tahoka Independent School District out of PWA funds for the purpose of constructing a new grammar school building here has been approved.

Alvin Hicks, president of the school board, received two telegrams to the above effect Tuesday morning. One of them came from the private secretary of Senator Morris Sheppard and the other from the private secretary of the Hon. George Mahon, congressman from this district.

This is not a loan but a grant outright. This sum, of course will not be sufficient in itself to construct the desired building but it will go a long way in that direction. Other funds will have to be provided by the district.

The next move is now up to the trustees of the Tahoka Independent School District, or to the patrons of the school residing in the district. Probably the board will make known its views and its desires in the matter at an early date.

One thing seems certain. The present Central Ward school builiing is not only antequated and inadequate to meet the needs of the district but is said to be in a very bad condition. It is composed of two sections, one of which was constructed in 1911 and the other in 1920. The older section consists of eight class rooms and a basement containing a coal bin, junk rooms etc. The addition, built in 1920, consists of an auditorium and a basement cut up into several class rooms. Football Team Goes to Littlefield For Game Tonight; Fans Will Follow Team

With two victories to her credit, Tahoka will step into much tougher competition Friday night when the Bulldogs journey to Littlefield for a football game under the lights. The game will be called at about 8 o'clock.

NELSON SEATED ON WEDNESDAY

Truett Smith Sworn In, And County Attorney's Office Is Left Vacant

District Attorney G. H. Nelson, who was elected to the state senate over four opponents in the election held last Saturday throughout the Thirtieth senatoral district, left for Austin Tuesday morning to assume the duties of his new office. He wired back to his office here Wednesday afternoon that he had been sworn in as senator at 10:30 Wednesday morning.

On Monday morning, in a telephone conversation with Governor James V. Allred, he had tendered his resignation as district attorney. Almost immediately thereafter, the governor appointed Truett Smith of Tahoka to the place left vacant by Mr. Nelson, Mr. Smith, however, did not take the oath of office as district attorney until Wednesday

Mussolini's Demands Ruin Plans for Peace

ETHIOPIA accepted as a basis for discussion the plan submitted by the League of Nations committee of five nations, of which Salvador de Madariaga of Spain

proved futile, Thus Italy was left in the position of having rejected all peace proposals and Ethiopia had made its case stronger by having accepted as a negotiatory instrument a plan that called on her to make drastic concessions. The issue was in this way put up to the council, whose duty was next to proceed under article 15 of the covenant, leading to sanctions against Italy unless Mussolini yields,

The Italian demands were considered most extravagant. One was for a sort of mandate over all of Ethiopia except the relatively small area inhabited by the Amharic people, who constitute the ruling class. Another was that Italy be ceded land to connect Eritrea and Italian Somaliland, now separated by French and British Somaliland. A third was for demobilization and disarming of a considerable portion of the Ethiopian army, the remainder to be put under Italian commanders.

In the diplomatic jeckeying that followed the communication of these terms by Aloisi to Madariaga, the Italian baron said the proposals were unofficial, and this left the way open for further discussion. It was reported that the French and Italian delegates to the league had persuaded the British representatives that the three nations should hold another Stresa conference to insure European peace

Great Britain informed Italy that her tremendous naval concentration in the Mediterranean was not ordered with any aggressive motive but hecause of the violent anti-English campaign carried on by the Fascist press of Italy. The massing of the British warships at Gibraltar, Malta, Alexandria and the Suez canal continued, and Italy responded by rearranging her naval dispositions. Also the flow of Italian troops to East Africa was continuous, and it was announced in Rome that 200,000 soldiers of the classes of 1911, 1912, 1913 and 1914 had reported for duty. This brought to 1,000,000 the total Italian mobilization, which Mussolini some time ago promised would be the mark reached before October 1.

Officials in Rome declared that Italy was determined to press a military campaign in Ethiopia, feeling that only by such a campaign-in which modern weapons would be called into playcould Ethiopia be eliminated as a "danger." They explained that Italy would do everything in its power to avoid a clash with Britain, and if possible, would localize its conflict with Ethiopia in east Africa.

Just to show their strength, they were directed by their leader, Col. Communists and Socialists attacked the "Cross of Fire" at Caen and other places and several men were injured. De la Rocque's followers, however, refrained from violence. To one of themeetings he addressed, the would-be dictator said: "We won't fight back until the time comes for mass mobilization; then we will fight as a single unit." Remembering what Mussolini and his Fascists did in Italy, these Croix de Feu men may have to be reckoned with later in France.

Newspapers in Pennsylvania, 265 of them, have celebrated "press prestige" this week. Governor Earle tells the editors, presumably shivering with delight and surprise, about "the important part that newspapers play in the lives of our people." It is as important as the part played by the people's eyes and ears, and might be taken for granted by now.

Napoleon knew about it when he said that, if he allowed freedom of the press, his power would not last six weeks. Stelln, Hitler and Mussolini Long removes what might possibly could make speeches about it.

The newspaper is a mirror in which the public sees itself, the newspaper's owner and the civilization of the moment. Interesting reflections of that civilization may appear soon in dispatches from Ethiopia and from London in case Mussolini should send his first 500 airplanes in the direction of Buckingham palace, the house of commons, Downing street and the Bank of England, with the message: "What do you think of explosive and mustard gas sanctions?"

The pathetic thing in journalism, as in politics, is the lack of names that the people know. Millions of Americans read newspapers with no faintest conception as to the character of the man whose newspaper they read. It might be called "anonymous nonentity." There are exceptions.

recent developments begins to indicate rather definitely that Party Backs President Roosevelt is going to be able to Roosevelt hold a rather united Democratic party behind him in his next campaign. The chances of a split in his ranks are very small, indeed, and barring changes of which there are at present no hints at all, the New Deal will encompass the Democratic party which nominated and elected Mr. Roosevelt as President.

By those statements, it is not meant that no defections will take place. There always are some disgruntled and dissatisfied party men who break away. They have done it with Republicans and Democrats with equal abandon. There will be some in the 1936 campaign, but not very many. These statements are made by way of discounting offshoots of consequence under radical leadership and offshoots of equal consequence behind old-line conservative Democratic leadership. It is, of course, just possible that William Randolph Hearst, the publisher, and Bainbridge Colby, secretary of state under Woodrow Wilson, may succeed in development of a conservative alignment with major support but the situation is not one likely to cause the New Deal leaders any particular embarrassment. Likewise the death of Senator Huey P. have been a radical party wedge. The late Louisiana senator was making some progress in development of a radcial party but with him removed from the scene there is no longer any possibility of that group attaining a place of importance in the political structure. They are fighting among themselves and it is apparent now that the group will be split into a score of factions, none which will have any capacity to accomplish the purposes which Senator Long had outlined.

Judged impartially, the death of Senator Long ought to enhance the Demoeratic prospects in Long's Death 1936. This certainly is true unless the ad-Helps ministration between and the next election decides to court the conservative vote in the country and in doing so offends the progressive segment of voters to which Mr. Roosevelt largely owes his 1932 election. To reiterate, it is possible, of course, that Mr. Roosevelt or his party advisers may make mistakes which will throw the whole party machine out of gear, but they are not now in evidence.

The reason the passing of Huey Long is important from the political standpoint is pictured most reliably in the history of third party movements. While it is obvious that Senator Long could never have been elected President-and I believe he was too smart a politician to think that he could have been successful-there was the danger from the Roosevelt standpoint that he could alienate some part of the vote which elected Mr. Roosevelt in 1932. If he had been able to do this, it is certain that Republican chances would have been enhanced because the Republican vote would have remained solidly behind the Republican candi-

Some years ago, Robert M. La Follette, then a senator from Wisconsin, ran for the Presidency on a third party ticket. He polled about five million votes. This happened at a tine when the country was reasonably prosperous. Surely, the economic conditions were of a character that bred less discontent than those of this depression era. So, astute political observers tell me that it takes little stretch of the imagination to conceive of a radical party, led by a man of the dynamic characteristics of Huey Long, being sble to poll as many as ten million votes throughout the country despite the difficulties that always face the organization of a new political party.

Whatever criticism may have been or may be voiced of the late sengter from Louisiana, everywhere one goes among political leaders, he obtains the same expression of opinion respecting the senator's ability. He had a smart mind, one that grasped situations, particularly in politics, with great speed and he was always ready at a moment's notice to capitalize on those sit. uations. Thus, if Mr. Long had lived, it is easy to imagine what he would have done in case the New Deal leaders made mistakes. He would have hopped on those mistakes with the avidity of a cat on a mouse; he we'old have magnified them in his speeches to his following and by these acts he would have aided and abetted the Republican opposition.

So, while the national capital was startled by Senator Long's death and appalled at the manner of his going, it is not a violation of any confidence to say that New Deal politicians are resting easier. They enjoyed Huey, the man, but they recognized in him an adversary decidedly dangerous to their

Now, as to other factors involved, factors that might withdraw support from Mr. Roosevelt Other I said above that the Hearst-Colby move-ment is doomed to Factors defeat. The real effect and probably

Washington .- I believe the trend of | the only effect that movement will have will be to force the Roosevelt leaders to realign their strength in some states. Mr. Hearst, with the great power of his string of newspapers behind him, has yet to succeed in creating a potent political group. He attempted it when the late Warren Harding of Ohio was the Republican nominee and James M. Cox of the same state was put forward by the Democrats. It was my good fortune to be assigned as a correspondent to the convention of Mr. Hearst's new party. It was evident then as it later was proved by the votes that the enthusiastic delegates to that convention represented a following so small as to be utterly negligible. Even with the astute advice of Bainbridge Colby, little more will come out of the current movement.

Then, those who have their eyes on the facts instead of on the ballyhoo will promptly discount the talk about Democratic defection when they stop to consider some other things that are taking place. For example, there have been no more bitter dissents from New Deal policies than Senator Carter Glass of Virginia and Senator Thomas P. Gore of Oklahoma have voiced. Mr. Glass lately has engaged in rites of burying the hatchet to the extent that he is not going to run for re-election in Virginia as anything but a Democrat. Out in Oklahoma, Senator Gore has been making speeches that sound strangely as though he is almost friendly with the administration. He has been telling his audiences that he has stood with the President on many votes in the senate, sometimes wher his vote was badly needed. Though it becomes apparent that while neither Senator Glass nor Senator Gore is enthusiastic about New Deal policies, neither of them is going to desert the Democratic party.

And, so it is in any number of other cases. They may not speak glowingly of President Roosevelt in their own campaigns for re-election but as candidates they are not going to fight him openly.

"Big Jim" Farley, the master New Deal politician, successfuly avoided Apoids New of New Deal Issues Deal Test in Ohio when Governor Davey of that state announced recently that there would be no special election to choose a representative at large to fill a vacancy. The Ohio governor said it would cost too much money to hold a special election, his announcement being made at the White House just after President Roosevelt had agreed to allot $20,000,000 in public works funds for Ohlo use.

But the astute Mr. Farley is not going to be able to avoid a test on New Deal issues in Kentucky. The situation in that state is that a Democrat of President Roosevelt's choice and who is supporting the New Deal from start to finish is running for governor against a hard-boiled and conservative Republican. The election will be the first week in November and thus a state-wide vote can be expected to measure the Roosevelt strength. Because of this, all of the maneuvers are being closely watched and the battle of those ballots obviously will be bitter.

The Kentucky test takes on additional significance and importance because of something that happened in choosing the Democratic nominee. The Kentucky fight is to determine whether Lieut. Gov. A. B. Chandler, the Democrat, or former Representative King Swope, the Republican, will run the Governor Laffoon apparently wanted to have the Democratic nominee selected by the old convention method but the Roosevelt supporters preferred a primary. Consequently, Senator Barkley of Kentucky, a devout Roosevelt follower in the senate, was sent into his home state to see that the primary plan was made operative. The Democratic state committee which was empowered to choose the method of selecting the candidate was determined to have a convention and it was after this determination became known that Mr. Roosevelt participated in dictating the course the party should follow. Senator Barkley arrived in his home state bearing a letter signed "Franklin D. Roosevelt" urging the primary, and while Governor Laffoon was out of the state attempting to convince national leaders that his candidate for the Democratic nomination was the right one. Lieutenant Governor Chandler called a special session of the state legislature and put through a law compelling the selection of the candidate by the primary. Mr. Chandler won the nomination in the run-off although Thomas S. Rhea had polled more votes in the original primary than did Mr. Chandler. So it is apparent beyond a doubt that Mr. Roosevelt recognizes the ssity for electing a Democrat, and New Deal supporters in Kentucky say that he is prepared to battle to the last ditch to accomplish it. Nevertheless, the fur will fly in Kentucky in November. It cannot be avoided. If the administration wins, undoubtedly New Deal stock will be enhanced in value. But, if the Republican nominee should win the Kentucky test, the whole New Deal must be prepared to wear an unusual black eye.

WHALE YIELDS NEW PRODUCT

What may prove to be as valuable to Norway as whale oil itself, is a new kind of meat extract made from whales. Experiments described as highly successful have been carried on in the Antarctic aboard Norwegian whaters. The greater part of the world's supply of whale oil is delivered in Norway. Although the value of whale meat as food has long been recognized only the oil of the whale has been utilized, owing to the difficulty of transporting the meat from the Antarctic. Now, however, the meat is being made into a sort of ment flour aboard the whalers. The flour is taken back to Norway, where a meat extract of a very satisfactory character is being produced.

SYNOPSIS

Theodore Gatilia adopts a baby, "Fe-selope," in an effort to solve his matri-monial treubles. But his wife has never wanted her, and their affairs end in the divorce court. At a baseball game a ball strikes ten-year-old Penelope on the nose, Mrs. Gatlin spirits the child to Europe. Oatlin wills Penelope all his money, and is about to begin a search for her when a motor acceptant ands his life. Some ten years later, in San Francisco, Stephen Burt, rising young paychiatrist, is presented by Dan McNamara, chief of police, with a new patient—Nance Belden, a girl with a dual personality, for which her "saddle nose" is in part responsible. McNamara does not think she is a criminal and obtains Burt's testimony in court. Linny, the doctor's office in court. Linny, the doctor's office nurse, is also won over. Nance's crim-inal record outweighs Doctor Burt's explanation of her case and she is sent to San Quentin penitentiary Nance escapes, although shot, and goes to Lanny's apartment. From one of the the boat on which the girl secaped McNamara learns that Nance's real name is Penelope Garlin. He also discovers that she is helress to $750,-000. Fearful of McNamara, in his of ficial capacity, Nance flees. Lanny finds her in her apartment, asleep. Then she disappears, and McNamara learns that she is living in Paris. He also discovers he is in love with Lanny.

> CHAPTER IX-Continued -21-

"The instructions are fine, but why commit forgery by signing then's name?

If the original is traced-" "I have signed it Mac, and the world to filled with Macs. When I'mn las reached his office, telephone him and tell him to do something that will prove is any court he was in his office when I fled this cablegram."

Lanny relented. "You might make a detective, at that."

Twenty minutes later Dan McNamara was listening to Lanny reading Stephen's cablegram over his private Mne. "Excellent," was his sole comment, "but print it in block letters. Even a typewriter can betray one. When Steve files this telegram have him pay for it with a hundred-dellar bill, and have him wear large black goggles and the rim of this hat pulled down all the way round. The girl who receives it will think one crook is eabling another. If she's ever asked what sort of man filed it. her description of the sender, plus my own perfect alibi, will put me in the clear." "How are we to manage after she has eluded the Paris police?" McNamara sighed gustily. "Flynd will be in touch with her bank, and every time she cashes a draft on her letter of credit, Flynn will have a line

"You're no help," Lanny snapped and hung up. Half an hour later, from the cable company's main office,

Stephen dispatched the cablegram. With Dan McNamara definitely out of the fight, Stephen felt lonely and ap-prehensive. He wondered why the girl had fled to Paris in the face of Dan McNamara's instructions to flee to Lower California, to enter which no passport is required. He asked Lanny.

"Oh, that's no mystery, Stevie. I brought home from the office, intending to show it to Dan, an article by a celebrated plastic surgeon of Paris. Penelope read it with great interest. She went to Paris to consult this French plastic surgeon and also to have samples of her new nose drawn by a competent artist."

"So that's how the Paris police informed Dan she was having her portrait dope by an American artist, eh? I suppose it will be her luck to be in a hospital undergoing the operation when the Paris police receive word to deport her."

"I'm afraid she's balled everything up, Stephen. Flynn will have the number of her passport and Dan will have ne time to fix a new passport photograph on to it. They'll not trust to the photo to identify her if she tries to land. They'll check up on the passport number also."

"Will you never cease discussing this miserable business, Lanny? Stephen burst out irritably. "If it hadn't been for you we wouldn't be in this wretched predicament."

When the captain of detectives called in Detective Sergeant P. Flynn and related to him the tale told to him by Mrs. Rudolph Merton, Flynn gave no sign of being particularly interested. Carefully and methodically he arranged in his mind the facts as stated, and when he left the presence of his superior, all he knew was that he was to strive to recover a lost heiress by name Penelope Gatlin, and that she had a nose that should make her recognizable anywhere,

After nine hours of refreshing slumber, Flynn proceeded to ponder the case of Penelope Garlin of the saddle pose. "I seem to be getting my fill of girls with saddle noses who disappear mysteriously." he decided lazily-and instantly something clicked in his brain and he knew be was on the trail of Nance Belden again. An heiress, eh? McNamara had hinted at powerful influences back of Nance Belden, and she certainly must have hired the expert help she had had in her escape from San Quentin penicentiary.

"McNamara knows who she is." Flynn decided. "He's getting his in chunks for helping her. I'll bet it's the same girl."

He decided not to take Angelloti into his confidence. For two hundred and fifty dollars, Angellott had agreed to abandon his interest in Nance Belden; whereas r. Flynn had scorned to quit. He would pick up the trail again alone, and when he had Nance Belden, or Penelope Gatlin on his hook—well, she had to pay somebody to keep out of San Quentin, and that somebody should be P. Flynn.

He went to San Jose that day and interviewed the officials of the bank, who, when he flashed his shield, gave him all the information they possessed. Dan McNamara had artfully destroyed all the girl's police photographs, but if she had secured a passport, Flynn argued to bimself, she had left two of her passport photographs with the passport office, and Flynn knew he could borrow one of them.

Flynn's shield was an open sesame to the man in charge of the passport office. Two minutes after his acrival he knew Nance Belden had secured a passport.

Employing identically the same means McNamara had employed, he traced Penelope Gatlin to Paris within three days. But he had now to prove that Penelope Gatlin and Nance Belden were one and the same person, so he interviewed the United States marshal, who secured for him one of the girl's passport photographs. Armed with this, Flynn crossed the bay to San Quentin.

"Is that Nance Belden?" he asked the matron,

"That is Nance Belden," was the

From the ferry he vent at once to the home of Mrs. Rudolph Merton. He stuck the photograph under her nose and asked gruffly: "Is that Penelope Gattin?"

A tremor ran over Mrs. Merton's face. It seemed to Flynn that she was frightened, disturbed.

"Well?" he demanded. "You can't expect the police to find your missing daughter if you don't help, is this her picture or isn't it?"

"I-I don't know, I have never heard of her before." "Never beard of her! Why, she's your daughter!"

"I haven't any daughter." "Why, you called on the captain of detectives and asked him to find your daughter. What do you mean by telling me you've never heard of her?" "I can't remember. I don't know.

Oh, please, please don't ask me! Some think terrible will happen, I-I-" "You refuse to identify this photo as that of Penelope Gatlin?" Flynn was growing irritated. Finally she had hysterics and a maid came in and asked P. Flynn to leave

St. Honore, Paris, but he did not know that Nance Belden was! Back at central office, he compared the passport photograph with the substitute photograph Dan McNamara had pasted on Nance Belden's fake police record card -and knew it for a fake.

Suddenly it occurred to Flynn that he had had an official interview with everybody connected with this mysterious case, except Dr. Stephen Burt, "You're a long time getting around to see me, Sergeant," Stephen charged, and indicated a large, comfortable arms "I called on you once, Doctor, but you didn't know it. That was the night after Nance Belden escaped from San Quentin. Me an' my partner

"No fair man could deny the excellence of your pussy-footing. I know all about it. How about a wee Dock an' Doris?" Stephen suggested.
"There's an idea for you, Doctor."

Stephen summoned the butler and ordered the drink. Flynn, with great deliberation, produced Penelope's photograph.

"Do you know the lady?" he queried. "I think I do, Sergeant,"

"Is there any reason why I should express an opinion?" "Not unless you choose to be goodnatured. I suppose you know you're to Dutch for aiding and abetting an scaped convict."

"Well?" "Naturally we don't want to make the going hard for a man of your standing." Flynn continued.

"My dear sergeant, you would have started the fireworks long ago if you had anything tangible to proceed upon."

Flynn sipped his highball. "You're being well paid for shielding this girl of course. I don't blame you a bit, but -you're too big a figure in your profession to get into trouble with the police."

"Dan McNamara is my friend." "Well, Mac is out of it. He can't protect you because he must protect himself. It might interest you to know that Nance Belden and a lost heiress, Penelope Gatlin, are the same person, and I have the Paris police watching her right now."

"Are you quite certain the girt is still at that l'aris address?" asked Stephen. "I know it."

"I know she isn't-and the Paris police do not know where she is." "Do you?"

"No, but if I did I wouldn't tell you." "Look here," said Flynn, "What's it worth to your young girl friend to

They looked at each other searchingly, then both laughed. "I see there" ain't much use pumpin' you, Doc," Fiynn admitted. "Well, a fellow can't be ruled off for trying."

"When were you to see a doctor last?"

"At the age of twe sty-two. Why?" "How old are you?" "Forty-two."

"Well, just to prove I'm friendly I'B. give you a quick physical examination. It may save you a fee later from some other physician. Mind if I give you a quick look-see?" "Go to ft," said Flynn, Doc."

"Well, then, we'll not bet, but if you can I'll give you a hundred dollars." Stephen produced a hand mirror and held it two feet in front of Flynn and about six inches above the level of his glance. He took out his watch. "Go!" he said. "And remember I'm watching you. If you get through this test successfully there's hope for your

"I'm not," Flynn protested drowelly, just as his eyes closed and his head fell forward on his breast. Stephen's soft hands stroked the detective's brow. "Why did you call to see me?" "To get you to identify the photograph," Flynn's voice was faint.

"Why was that necessary?" Flynn hesitated, struggled a little, but lay back quietly again as Stephen's facile hands resumed their light massaging. "Are you going to oppose me, Sergeant?"

"No, Doctor." "Will you answer questions truthfully?" "Yes, Doctor." The tones were dead and lifeless, for Flynn slept a hypnotic sleep

"Why was it necessary that I should identify the photograph?"

"I've got to know before I act, Doe-

tor. The matron at San Quentin says it's Nance Belden, but the photograph is on the passport of Penelope Gatlia." "Why do you want this girl?" "She's made a fool out of me and she can pay well to be let alone." "You're not interested in seeing her returned to prison?" "Not a d-a bit, Doctor. Why

SAIAH PORTRAYING THE SUF-FERING SERVANT

LESSON TEXT—Issish 53:1-15.
GOLDEN TEXT—But he was wounded for our transgressions, he was bruised for our iniquities; the chastise-ment of our peace was upon him; and with his stripes we are healed. Isaiah

PRIMARY TOPIC-God's Best Prom-JUNIOR TOPIC-Issiah Porstells Jesus' Coming.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR
TOPIC—What Our Salvation Cost.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT
TOPIC—The Suffering Savior.

The prophecy of Isalah is the grand center of the Old Testament. It pietures the Servant of Jehovah with great wisdom gloriously executing the divine purpose of redemption at the cost of great suffering.

I. The Servant's Triumph (Is. 52; 13-15). The Servant here means the coming Messiah (42:1). 1. His wisdom (v. 13), fie will deal prudently, for his name is Counsellor (9:6). He was filled with the spirit of wisdom and understanding

(11:2). 2. He shall be exalted and extolled (v. 13). Being the mighty God, even Immanuel, Jehovah has highly exalted him (Phil. 2:9). 3. The appearance of the Servant (v. 14). Because of his marred visage, the Jews, who looked for outward signs of royalty and worldly splendor, were not attracted to him.

4. The issue of his ministry (v. 15). In his sprinkling of many nations he is revealed as the great High Priest, sprinkling the nations with his blood and cleansing them from their sins. 11. The Servant Despised and Rejected (53:1-3).

1. The unbelief of the Jews (v. 1). They despised the words of the prophet and failed to recognize the hand of the Lord in the miracles he wrought:

2. The origin of the Servant (v. 2). He sprang out of a stump of Judiasm. The sad condition of the people at that time is expressed by "dry corn." He came among his own and they apprehended him not.

3. A man of sorrows (v. 3). As the Sin-bearer of the world he suffered untold sorrows. The primary cause of his grief was their contemptuous rejection of him.

III. The Vicarious Suffering of the Servant (53:4-6). 1. His griefs and sorrows were ours.

Though innocent, he was loaded down with disease and pain; not his, but ours. This awful suffering was looked upon by the world as occasioned by sin. 2. He was besten for us (v. 5). That which was our due was meted out to him. Notice the four significant words; "wounded," "brutsed," "despised," "stripes." The word "our" shows that his sufferings were vicarious. The full meaning of the cross is comprehended in these words. 3. The reason (v. 6), All human-Ity. Jews and Gentiles, had gone astray. God had laid on him the iniquity of us all. IV. The Death of the Servant (53:

7-9). 1. His strange silence (v. 7), He went as a lamb to the staughter. How unlike men who, when wrongfully condemned, make a great ado. 2. Unconcern of contemporaries (v. 8). Though dying instead of the wicked people, they failed to discern that his suffering was in their stead. 3. Buried with the wicked and the rich. This was fulfilled in the crucifixion between two thieves, and burial in Joseph's tomb.

V. The Servant's Ultimate Victory (vv. 10-12). 1. His suffering expressed the divine will (v. 10). The Lord himself laid this burden upon Christ. He was delivered according to the determined counsel and foreknowledge of God. 2. A spiritual progeny resulted from his death (v. 10). Christ declared, "Except a corn of wheat fall into the ground and die, it ableth alone." The fundamental law of the universe, which is life out of death, found supreme expression in Christ's death on the 3. Through death shall come the realization of his fondest hope (v. 11). "He shall see the travail of his soul and shall be satisfied." 4. The divine reward (v. 12). The divine Conqueror shall share the spoils of victory which by a strong arm were secured. Though he took the place of a sinner, it was for the purpose of bearing the sins of many and making intercession for the transgressor.

VI. The Servant's Suffering Historically Fulfilled (John 19:17-37). When Jesus of Nazareth went forth bearing his cross to Golgotha, where they crucified him, the prediction of Isalah was historically realized.

Thought

In the end, thought rules the world. There are times when impulses and passions are more powerful, but they soon expend themselves; while mind, acting constantly, is ever ready to drive them back and work when their energy is exhausted.

Influence

The ministry of personal influence is something very wonderful. Without being conscious of it, we are always impressing others by this strange power that goes out from us.-Huck Miller.

OUR NEW SENATOR

The people sometimes make mistakes in the election of their officials, but we do not believe that they made any mistake in the election last Saturday to choose a senator for the 30th district.

In saying this we do not minimize the good qutlities and the abilities of the four men who were defeated. Any one of them possibly could have given the district fairly good rerepresentation at Austin.

Building State Park At Lubbock

By Bill Donnell Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer Although the ink is scarcely dry on papers designating MacKenzie State park, and while the park is such in name only, the area it covers will, within the coming two years, be transformed into a garden spot and recreational center of the South Plains.

Comprising Shannon park, City park No. 1 and the barren stretch of Yellowhouse canyon which lies between and to the north, Mac-Kenzie State park will have a total area of 551 acres which hold promise of becoming one of the most attractive parks in the state system, Colp Sold On Plan Several months ago the proposed park was one of the ideas enthusiastically pushed by D E. Colp.

Hobo, Tramp, Bum-They Are Different

Very Distinct Class Lines Drawn Among These Groups.

"To the average man the words hobo, tramp and bum are synonymous terms, used to designate a type of foot-loose, homeless specimen of the genus hobo. They are terms of derogation and opprobrium.

Not so! Before calling a hobo a tramp, or either man a bum, be sure you say it with a smile. For there are very distinct class lines drawn among these groups of unskilled and itinerant workers

A hobo is a hard worker of the nigratory type. He is possessed of a keen sense of his own importance and value to the world that would suffer without his services The wheat fields of the Southwest, the timberlands in the Northwest, the fruit lands in various parts of the country could not show a profit without the presence of the hobo at strategic moments. To displace him in the economic scheme of things would be to keep on hand well fed and employed the whole year around, thousands of men whose services are only required a few weeks or months a year. Another distinction: The hoho travels on wheels although the ticket office is not always a part of his traveling experience.

The tramp, on the other hand. migrates according to walm or chance. And he walks, always Having nowhere in mind to get, he gets there at his leisure If he works, as he does now and then, it is because of necessity and not through any sense of personal responsibility to society at large. In the mind of the self-respecting hobo, the tramp is distinctly an inferior.

The bum is looked down upon and dispised, both by the hobo and tramp. The bum travels nowhere, does nothing and is nobody. He is s' parasite of the city, begging, borrowing, stealing, loafing.

Clip this out and paste it in your book of etiquette. You may need it sometimes to save yourself from one of those embarrassing moments, warns the Knickerbocker Press.

Indian Summer

Indian summer usually begins some time in October, but it may not begin until November. According to the United States weather bureau ft is not a definite period occurring regularly each autumn, and is not base 1 on accurate meteorological data. Indian summer varies greatly in duration. It may occur once or several times during the fall and early winter, or it may not occur at all, and If it does it may last a day or two or several weeks. And in sone years there are more than one of these periods of hazy, tranquil days.

Find Out

From Your Doctor if the "Pain" Remedy You Take Is Safe.

Don't Entrust Your Own or Your Family's Well - Being to Unknown Preparations

BEFORE you take any prepara-tion you don't know all about, for the relief of headaches; or the pains of rheumatism, neuritis or neuralgia, ask your doctor what he thinks about it — in comparison with Genuine Bayer Aspirin.

We say this because, before the discovery of Bayer Aspirin, most so-called "pain" remedies were advised against by physicians as being bad for the stomach; or, often, for the heart. And the discovery of Bayer Aspirin largely changed medical practice.

Countless thousands of people who have taken Bayer Aspirin year in and out without ill effect, have proved that the medical findings about its safety were correct.

Remember this: Genuine Bayer Aspirin is rated among the fastest methods yet discovered for the relief of headaches and all common pains . . . and safe for the average person to take regularly.

You can get real Bayer Aspirin at any drug store — simply by never asking for it by the name "aspirin" alone, but always saying BAYER ASPIRIN when you buy.

Let Our Motto Be GOOD HEALTH BY DR. LLOYD ARNOLD

UNDULANT FEVER

The newspapers in the winter of 1934 carried accounts of the drastic recommendation by a health officer in Salt Lake City that all the 100,000 goats in Utah be slaughtered to stop the spread of Malta fever among resi dents of the state. While the eastern central, and northwestern parts of the country have sporadic cases of Malta or undulant fever constantly, they have never been threatened with it in the epidemic form that the dry southwest has. The agricultural state of Illinois, for instance, reported 96 cases from the first of January, 1935, through the month of

Our knowledge of Malta fever came about in an interesting way. The island of Malta in the Mediterranean sea was an important military base for Great Britain after the Crimean wars in 1855. There many of the English soldiers became ill with fever of an unknown and puzzling origin. They were too sick for military duty and suffered from loss of weight, muscular weakness and fever over long periods of time. Then in 1887 Prof. David Bruce of England discovered the germ causing this disease and found that it was present in goat's milk, and that the female goat excreted the germ in her milk. Boiling the goat's milk prevented infections. It was further found that the germ caused abortion

In 1897 Professor Wright of England injected himself with a living culture of the germs and developed the disease. He studied the course of the ailment upon himself and found that he could blood test to diagnose the disease.

Scientists labeled the sickness "Mat ta fever" because it was investigated and worked out on the island of Malta. But the British government objected to the name as reflecting upon one of their island possessions. They said the disease had been found to be prevalent in the neighborhood of the Mediterranean basin and was not peculiar to the island of Malta. They suggested it be called Mediterranean fever, and, working through diplomatic channels, caused the name to be changed.

Professor Bang of Denmark in 1887 discovered a germ which causes contagious abortion in cows. Later it was learned that this germ can cause in man a long protracted illness characterized by fever, weakness and loss of weight, just as in the case of Malta fever. Because of the peculiar wavelike form of the fever curve this disease is called "undulant fever."

But undulant fever is not primarily a disease of man. It is in reality a disease of the unborn animal of the barnyard. Cows or hogs or goats will carry the germ in their bodies, but itdoes not cause disease until they become pregnant, and then the germ grows in the womb and causes abortion of the young. The aborting calf or plg or kid contains many millions of these germs. The mother animal does not seem to suffer as a result of harboring these germs. The cow passes the germs into the milk, and hence milk must be considered as a source of infection. Pasteurizing milk, however, kills the infection.

The veterinarian can help more in preventing undulant fever than can the physician. The elimination of infectious abortions in cattle and pigs and goats will prevent the disease in man. So long as we have herds infected with this abortion bacillus, the best way to prevent undulant fever in man is to avoid contact with aborting animals and to pasteurize milk before drinking. If one cannot avoid contact with aborting animals, care should be taken to prevent infection. This can best he done by carefully washing the hands after contact; if abrasions or sores are present on the hands, rubber gloves should be worn when handling infected abortion material. Care should be taken not to soil the clothes. The afterbirth should be burned or otherwise destroyed so that it cannot infect pigs and other barnyard animals.

Most of the cases in Illinois are among people living on farms who are in contact with aborting animals. More men than women contract the disease, and the twenty to fifty year age seems to be the period of greatest susceptibility. There are a few cases reported in Illinois among children but not nearly so many as among adult men.

Undulant fever is difficult to distinguish from several other diseases, but it can easily be identified by labora-tory tests, which can be made in twen-ty-four hours.

A patient with undulant fever has general muscular weakness, profuse sweating, fever at irregular intervals and a progressive loss in weight. But these symptoms are by no means typical of undulant fever alone. The laboratory test is essential.

Treatment of undulant fever has remained unsatisfactory, although many workers have been devoting much time to it. Now comes a report from several doctors at the University of Cincinnati college of medicine that they have produced a serum that has proved satisfactory in a number of test cases. The cure has not developed far enough for general use, however. Western Newspaper Union.

Production Less by 240,-000,000 Bushels Than in 1934-35 Period.

World wheat supplies outside Russia and China this season are likely to be about 240,000,000 bushels less than in 1934-35, says the bureau of agricultural economics, in its current report on world wheat pros-

World production, excluding Russia and China, is estimated at about 3,520,000,000 bushels, or about 60, 000,000 bushels more than last year; but world carry-over at the beginning of this crop year was about 800,000,000 bushels, or 300,000,000 bushels less than a year ago.

Russia is reported to be harvesting a good wheat erop with fairly good yields in regions which commonly supply wheat for export Russia may export as much as 30,-000,000 bushels, but this may be offset to some extent by increased imports into China where the wheat crop is reported smaller than in

The bureau says the short supplies of wheat in the United States may result in prices being main tained close to an import basis for all classes of wheat at markets east of the Rockies. The United States carry-over into the current season is estimated at 152,000,000 bushels. and production on the basis of August 1 conditions at 608,000,000 bushels. The total, 760,000,000 bushels, is only 135,000,000 bushels more than normal utilization of 625,000,-000 bushels.

These figures suggest, it is stated that unless there should be a considerable volume of imports during the year, the carry-over into the 1936-37 season will be smaller than that in the current season. The volume of imports will be influenced largely by the quantity of the domestic crop which proves unfit for

The bureau says that durum wheat in the 1935-36 season probably will not command a premium over hard red spring, as was the case last season; but that supplies of good quality hard red spring appear so short there will be substantial premiums for hard red spring over hard red winter.
