HOLD TEACHER BANQUET HERE

108 Attended Annual Affair Held At Legion Hall; H. P. Caveness Is Toastmaster

Representing all but two of the schools of Lynn county, 108 teachers and guests attended a banquet at the American Legion Home Friday night, enjoyed an interesting program and partook of a bounteous feast served by the Euzelian class of the Baptist Church, assisted by High School home economics girls. Tahoka teachers acted as hostesses.

County Superintendent H. P. Caveness, acting as toastmaster, introduced principals of the various schools, who in turn introduced their teachers and other guests. Mr. Caveness disposed of the master-of-ceremony's duties in a capable and witty manner that kept the crowd in high spirits throughout the evening.

The Texas Centennial theme was carried out in the foods, favors, decorations, and program.

Opening the program was a piano number by Mrs. J. K. Applewhite. A vocal duet was offered by two New Lynn school girls, Misses Gray and Barton.

Pupils of the Midway school, of which A. B. Griffith is principal, furnished special numbers, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Griffith. Miss Omega Murphey, a violin pupil of only six weeks, played a number. She was followed by the boy-wonder of music, Joe Lane. Joe "brought down the house" with his short program of semi-classical and popular numbers on the violin and vocal solos. Mr. Griffith explained that the youth is a third grade student, plays difficult pieces by no e. over 100 numbers by memory, and that he is staging a series of concerts to raise funds to continue his musical education under some famous musician. Kary Mathis, principal of Central Ward, rendered a vocal solo.

Supt. W. G. Barrett of the Tahoka Schools spoke on the plans for the coming Interscholastic League contests.

Hon. Tom Garrard, member of the Texas Board of Education, told of problems confronting this body, and asked the cooperation of teachers in carrying out its program. He made the statement that the Board is a hundred million dollar organization.

G. D. Holbrook, Lubbock, deputy state superintendent, highly compliments Lynn county schools for the high quality of work they are doing, and praised the idea of holding an annual banquet so that the teachers could meet socially and discuss their problems. He warned teachers to take courses in public school music, and stated that these phases of education would be stressed more and more in public schools in the future. Since the Centennial theme was being carried out, Frank Hill gave a talk on the history of Lynn county, and facts were given to show that this section of Texas has as romantic a history as that of any other section.

With Mrs. Applewhite at the piano, the entire assemblage sang "The Eyes of Texas" to close the program.

Oscar Roberts Is Landscaping Home

Mr. and Mrs. Don Jones of the Texas Experiment Station and Prof. and Mrs. O. B. Howell of the Texas Tech were here Monday assisting Miss Sylvia Robb in the landscaping of the premises of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Roberts, who reside just west of town. They have entered their home in the Centennial Farm Home Improvement Contest and are planning an elaborate program of improvements and beautification. Mr. Jones has been in charge of the Experiment Station at Lubbock for many years, and Prof. Howell recently came to the Tech as an Instructor in Horticulture.

Miss Robb states that in this district of twenty counties, 37 homes have been entered in the contest. Many hundred homes have been entered in the state.

With careful landscaping and with the planting of trees, shrubs, and flowers under the direction of these expert landscape gardeners, Mr. Roberts hopes to make his home one of the most attractive on the plains or in the entire state.

Thompson Child Dies At Garlyn

Death came and took from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dillard Thompson of the Garlyn community Monday their little daughter, Joyce Jean, not quite three years of age. Funeral services were conducted in the home of the child's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Morrison, two miles east of Garlyn at 2 p. m. Tuesday, Rev. C. F. Carmack officiating. The remains were laid to rest in the cemetery at Post. Born on April 28, 1933, little Joyce Jean left surviving her parents and one little sister, Velma Mae, both the grandfather and grandmother Morrison, many aunts and uncles, and a host of other relatives and friends.

Hale Candidate For Commissioner

For the first time in his life, we believe, Tom N. Hale is this week making his announcement as a candidate for office. He would like to serve as county commissioner of Precinct No. 4.

Mr. Hale has lived in this county since 1914 and in precinct 4 during all this time except three years. When you talk about pioneers, Tom Hale is it. He was born in Borden county and has spent his entire life in these two counties. He was here when "Life on the Range" was about the only kind of life there was, and we guess one of the first sentences he ever spoke was "Git along, little doggie, git along."

But Tom has seen the country change with the passing of the years, and he has changed with them. He is now one of our most successful farmers. He knows the country like a book, and he knows the needs and desires of the people. He is a fine, level-headed gentleman and would make a jamb-up good commissioner. We commend him to the thoughtful consideration of the voters.

H. S. Lettermen Organize T-Club

The football lettermen of Tahoka High School met on Tuesday evening and organized an Athletic club, to be known as the T Club. This club is to be composed of all the lettermen of high school athletics in football, basketball, track and tennis. Coach Walker was unanimously elected sponsor of the T Club by the charter members.

Following are the officers: James Minor, president; Bonnis Brower, vice-president; Champ Perkins, secretary-treasurer; and Eby Dyer, sergeant-at-arms. The members of the club also drew up certain original by-laws by which the members must abide and by which the club is to be run.

The organization will be permanent, and lettermen of the four major sports are to be voted into the club by the standing members each year.

This is an organization which our school has needed for several years, and this may be the beginning of an athletic club which will create more school spirit and interest in the school's athletics. The lettermen and Coach Walker should be commended for creating this essential club.

Cox Infant Child Died On Monday

The infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Cox Jr., who reside two miles east of Central Church, died at an early hour Monday morning, being less than a day old, and the remains were buried here Monday afternoon. Rev. D. W. Reed of Garlyn officiated at the funeral services. The child was named Shirley Jean. It was a niece of Mrs. Jim Wetsel of Tahoka.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Lockwood returned last week from an extended visit in San Diego, California. They were called to San Diego several weeks ago by the death of Mrs. Lockwood's sister, Mrs. LeSure, the former Mrs. Petty, who resided here many years. They remained to see after the closing up of the estate.

PLAINS SWEEP BY BLIZZARD

First Bad Cold Spell of the Winter Brings Snow To South Plains; Two Inches Here

The first real winter weather this season swept down over the plains last Friday night. A light, cool breeze from the north struck Tahoka about sunset, and it rapidly increased in intensity and decreased in temperature. Soon the skies were overcast with clouds and before day-break snow was falling. The snow-fall grew much heavier in the middle of the morning and continued for several hours. The clouds, however, broke away in the mid-afternoon, leaving possibly two inches of snow on the ground, though it was very unevenly distributed owing to the high wind that prevailed.

On Friday night the temperature dropped down to 16, on Saturday night down to 8, on Sunday night down to 16 again, and on Monday night down to 22. We have heard of no loss of live stock or other damage.

Prominent Speakers Coming To Farm Financing Meeting Here On Tuesday

Petty H. D. Woman's Cans Standardized

Mrs. Herbert Huff, a Lynn county home demonstration club member, recently sent a can of hominy to the A. & M. to be tested for standardization. It not only passed the test successfully but Mrs. Huff received high praise from the authorities for the high standard of work she is doing in this line. She kindly donated the can to the editor and Mrs. Hill to be used on their table.

GROUP NAZARENE MEETING HELD HERE THURSDAY

The monthly group meeting of the Church of the Nazarene for this district was held at the church here Thursday. Visitors were here from a number of the neighboring towns. A basket lunch was served at the noon hour, and a good meeting is reported.

Burglars Enter Lawrence Home

Some culprit entered the residence of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Lawrence, who live on the northern outskirts of the town, on last Friday night while the blizzard was doing its worst, and stole some groceries and a few dollars in money. The money was taken from Mr. Lawrence's bill fold, which was in his clothing in his sleeping room. The bill fold was found in the yard next morning, empty.

On Monday, S. H. Howell was out in his field which extends up near the Lawrence residence and found a bag containing sugar and a sack containing sausage in a feed shock. The sugar bag was about half full while the sausage sack contained three or four pounds, the rats having made way with a portion of it. These groceries were identified as a portion of those stolen from the Lawrence residence.

Gray Children Ill With Pneumonia

Little Gloria Robin Gray, 8, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charley Gray, was brought home from a Lubbock hospital Wednesday, recovering from an attack of pneumonia. It is believed that she will soon be entirely well.

Her little brother and sister, Lonnie Dell and Bonnie Belle, have also been sick several days in the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Redwine, and on Wednesday Bonnie Belle developed pneumonia. While the crisis has not yet been reached, it is hoped that she will speedily recover. Lonnie Dell and Bonnie Belle are twins, four years old.

Miss Joiva Hensley of Lubbock has recently come to Tahoka, as operator of the Co-Ed Beauty Shop. Miss Myrtle Cooper, the proprietor, is now located in Lubbock.

J. W. HICKERSON DIED SUNDAY

Body Carried To Sherman Monday; Had Been Citizen Of Tahoka For Twenty Years

Following several weeks of ill health and a stroke of apoplexy, John W. Hickerson, 75, died at his home here just before eleven o'clock Sunday morning.

Funeral services were conducted at the home at six o'clock Sunday afternoon by Dr. W. K. Johnston of Lubbock, pastor of the Presbyterian Church here. Borden Davis of the Harris & Applewhite undertaking establishment left early Monday with the remains for Sherman, where the body was buried at 4 o'clock that afternoon beside the grave of his wife who died about thirty-five years ago. Accompanying the body to Sherman were the daughter of deceased, Miss Mareta Hickerson, her cousin, Miss Marjole Lowe of Amarillo, A. J. Edwards, George W. Small, and Grover Stewart of this city.

Only Small Crowd At Dairy School

K. M. Renner and Arthur Prichard of the Dairy department of Texas Technological College conducted a Dairy Milk Product school at the American Legion Hall Saturday for the Home Demonstration Club women of Lynn county. Due to the snow and cold weather very few attended the meeting.

The demonstration consisted of the making of American cheese, quick process cheese, club cheese, butter, and the scoring of butter, cottage cheese, market cream and sweet milk. These are the same products that Lynn county will enter in the Plainview Dairy Show in April.

The women who attended this meeting learned how to score each of these dairy products as well as how to make good cheese.

Goat Candidate For County Judge

P. W. Goad, a well-known citizen of New Home, makes his announcement this week as a candidate for county judge of Lynn county.

Mr. Goad is a good citizen and an excellent gentleman, and he believes that he can render efficient service in the office to which he aspires. He speaks for himself, however, in the announcement appearing below:

To the Voters of Lynn County: In announcing my candidacy for the office of County Judge of Lynn County, I will say that I have never before run for any public office.

I am forty-four years old, have a wife and six children. I have lived in Texas all my life, with the exception of three years that I lived in Tillman County, Oklahoma. I lived in Ellis and Hill counties, Texas, until twelve years ago, at which time I moved to Lynn County and (Cont'd. on last page)

Jim Hill Breaks Leg In Accident

James E. Hill, 37, sustained a serious injury in a most unusual way Monday.

While scuffling with his nephew, Neal Gipson, one of the legs was badly broken below the knee. After first aid was rendered by a local physician, he was taken to a Lubbock sanitarium, where the bone was set and the leg placed in a plaster cast. On Wednesday morning, however, it was necessary to reset the bone and rivet the broken ends together. This operation appeared to have been entirely successful, and it is believed that the member will heal effectually. It will probably be a long time, however, before it will be as strong as it was before the accident.

Hill is the son of J. L. Hill of this city and resided in the Grassland community before removing to Tahoka some time ago.

Clyde Shaw Asking For Weigher, Prec. 2

Having served most satisfactorily as public weigher at Wilson the past three years, Clyde Shaw is this week announcing as a candidate for re-election.

Of course the News is in no position to pass judgment on the record that Mr. Shaw has made, but we do know that he is a first class gentleman, and we have heard no criticism of his work as public weigher. He has been a resident of that precinct for many years and is well known to practically everybody in that part of the county.

He only promises that if he is re-elected he will continue to tote fair with everybody and do his best.

We imagine Clyde Shaw would be a hard man to beat for most any office.

BOY SCOUT MEETING

All Boy Scouts are requested to report at the special meeting tonight in the basement of the Methodist Church at 7:30 o'clock for the purpose of reorganizing. The committeemen are urged to be present also.—Reporter.

WORK BEGINS ON HIGHWAY 84

Long-Delayed Project Finally Gets Started, But More Right-Of-Way Needed

The work of setting back fences, grubbing up mesquites, and clearing off the right-of-way on Highway No. 84 west of Tahoka was begun Tuesday morning. Twenty-three men were employed the first day and twenty-five were on the job Wednesday.

This is being done preparatory to the construction of grading and drainage structures on this highway, following which it is to be hard-surfaced. The work is being done as a WPA project under the direction of the Texas Highway Commission. The work was begun about three miles west of Tahoka, according to local engineer, F. C. Stanley, and will probably proceed more rapidly as more men become available.

Most of the right-of-way west of Tahoka to the Terry county line has been procured, we understand, but there are some sections over which the right-of-way is yet to be procured, and this makes it necessary for the work to be done somewhat piecemeal, Mr. Stanley says. It is hoped, however, that the remainder of the right-of-way may be procured soon so that the work may proceed without interruption.

This is a most important highway for Tahoka and a large portion of Lynn county, and Judge W. E. Smith and some members of the commissioners court have worked hard to get the work of improving it started.

Good Program At Lunch Club

The Luncheon Club program Tuesday was conceded to have been one of the most entertaining given in recent weeks.

First Eloise Roberts gave a tap dance and then she and Wells Edwards recited and sang a snappy and humorous dialogue to the music of piano and saxophone. Mrs. Marcus Edwards presided at the piano and Wells gave scraps of music on the saxophone at intervals during the performance.

The program of the day was in charge of Supt. W. G. Barrett, who made a few appropriate remarks. President George A. Dale also talked briefly and then gave others an opportunity to do so. Mayor Jim Dye was asked about the water project, and he announced that he had a promise from the WPA that work on the project would begin about the first of February and that it should be completed early in March.

Judge W. E. (Happy) Smith stated that work began on No. 84 west of town Tuesday morning. Alvin Hicks, president of the school board, announced that some money had already been received from the PWA on the grant for the new grammar school building.

Leonard Craft made a snappy little talk "for the good of the order," and as a final number, Supt. W. G. Barrett read a beautiful poem by Edgar A. Guest entitled "Orphans of the Living."

Every business man and woman and other citizens of Tahoka should attend the Luncheon Club. Those who do not attend are missing much.

Draw Man Enters Weigher Campaign

H. W. (Dutch) Crawford would like to weigh cotton for the people of Draw and Grassland and contiguous territory during the years 1937 and 1938. He is therefore making his announcement as a candidate for this office in this issue of the News.

Thirty years of age, Mr. Crawford has been a resident of the precinct for 26 years. He resides a mile and a half south and a mile and a half west of Draw. He believes that he can fill this position to the entire satisfaction of the people, and he solicits their support from this time on until the last vote is counted.

Mrs. M. M. Redwine, 84, has been very seriously sick but is now reported to be much improved.

Hauptmann Reprieved by Governor Hoffman—Plan Devised to Avoid New AAA Legislation— Bonus Bill Favored in Senate.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

© Western Newspaper Union.

LESS than thirty hours from the time when he was to die in the electric chair, Bruno Richard Hauptmann, convicted kidnaper and slayer of the Lindbergh baby, was given a thirty-day reprieve by Governor Hoffman of New Jersey. This means he will have at least sixty more days to live, because he will have to be sentenced. The governor did not give specific reasons for his action. He did say: "A reprieve is an act of executive clemency rather than judicial clemency. I am not required to give a reason, but I might say that there are grave doubts in this case, not only in my mind, but in the minds also of our citizens."

There will be only one reprieve, "unless the evidence should warrant" another, the governor said. If Hauptmann is finally saved it must be through the presentation of sufficient new evidence to warrant Justice Trenchard granting a request for a new trial or for a new plea for clemency to the state pardons court.

The stay came after the United States Supreme court at Washington refused to admit attorneys to file a petition for a writ of habeas corpus for Hauptmann. That closed the door to all further legal action designed to delay the execution.

Various stories about the crime, some new and others old, are going the rounds and are being investigated by authorities and by the forces of the defense. They are too complicated for summary here.

LITERARY DIGEST'S Presidential straw vote has been concluded, and the final returns indicate a growing opposition to the New Deal. A total of 1,907,681 ballots was received, and of these 62.66 per cent were cast against the President's policies and acts, and 37.34 per cent were for the administration.

Thirty-six states gave majorities against to eleven in favor of the President and his policies. Among the pro-Roosevelt states was Utah. The others were classified in the release as "southern and border" states.

Of the different sections of the country, New England cast the heaviest "No" vote, giving 77.58 per cent against the administration. The Middle Atlantic states from New York to West showed 68.85 per cent of the voters against Mr. Roosevelt and his recovery schemes, while the Middle Western states in the farm belt and the Rocky Mountain states indicated a ratio approximately the same as the nation at large—3 to 2 against. The three Pacific coast states totaled 58.04 against the New Deal.

THERE will be no new legislation to continue the aims of the AAA. If the plans of the administration are adopted, for it has been found by officials that the soil conservation act of 1935 will permit the undertaking of about everything in the bill that the house and senate agriculture committees were drawing up.

In a White House conference the new program was agreed upon by President Roosevelt, Senator J. T. Robinson, majority leader; Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, Attorney General Cummings, Chairman Ellison D. Smith of the senate agriculture committee, Chairman Marvin Jones of the house agriculture committee, Speaker Joseph W. Byrns, Senator John H. Bankhead (Dem., Ala.), AAA Administrator Davis, and M. G. White of the AAA.

The administration will work out a system of granting farm subsidies to farmers restricting acreage under authority of the soil conservation act of 1935. In connection with the program the administration will make provision for obligations incurred under the AAA. In a radio address Herbert Hoover offered the country his own plan for bringing recovery to the farmer. Asserting that a new road must be built by which agriculture can "get back onto the solid ground from the quicksand of the New Deal," Mr. Hoover outlined three general or group proposals for farm recovery. They were: 1. The restoration of the home market to American farmers. 2. The retirement of "thin" and sub-marginal acres, along with a slowing up of reclamation of projects. 3. Encouragement of co-operative marketing and the further improvement of farm credit machinery.

SEVENTEEN persons met a tragic fate in the worst airplane accident that the United States has had. A big transport plane of the American Airlines, en route from New York to Los Angeles, crashed in a swamp near the village of Goodwin, Ark., and its 14 passengers, two pilots and stewardess were killed. With great difficulty the bodies of the victims were brought out of the marsh where their bodies were found scattered among fragments of the shattered plane. Officials of the government and of the airline company immediately started an investigation, but the cause of the disaster could not easily be determined.

ALL the air lines of the country have united in the formation of the Air Transport Association of America, whose president and "czar" is Col. Edgar S. Gorrell, chief of staff of the army air service during the World War. Fowler W. Barker, war pilot and former secretary of the transport branch of the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce, was elected secretary and treasurer.

Co-ordination of schedules, credits, advertising, engineering data, and purchasing power among the various operators prompted the organization of the new association which is intended to be an "ideal trade association." Its functions will be similar to those of the North Atlantic steamship conference and Colonel Gorrell will have powers approximating those of Will Hays of the movies and Judge Landis of baseball.

Big broadcasting companies refuse to allow the Republican party to broadcast "laughable skits" on the "New Deal." Now, or after some worth-while upheaval, "freedom of the air" will have to be dealt with as was "freedom of the press" when the Constitution was written. For radio companies to say to the party in power, "Because we fear you we shall take you to every home in the country and let you say what you please, and shall refuse to give the same publicity to your opponents," might not suit the American idea.

It is good news that Henry Ford has gone back to airplane building. His last trimotor plane was produced in 1931. His new two-passenger plane, with V-8 engine turning the propeller 4,000 times a minute, carries 30 gallons of gasoline, with a flying range above 500 miles. Five hundred miles of air travel for 40 worth of gasoline for two passengers would be cheap transportation. Henry Ford will begin manufacturing planes seriously, "if and when conditions demand volume production worth while."

Jess Jones, chairman of Reconstruction Finance corporation, tells the banks that he will go on lending government money until they make credit and loans easier.

Mr. Jones says: "The big fellow, with unquestionable credit, borrows on his own terms, at low rates. Credit for the average business is too sparingly given, at much higher rates."

There is rioting in Porto Rico, numbers killed and wounded in various places. It is said a Porto Rico "Young Men's party" has decided to separate Porto Rico from the United States, in spite of perhaps the departure of the Philippines.

It is supposed that this government will tell the "Young Porto Rico" element that they will not be allowed to separate, and might as well forget about it.

This country, in the way of protection, resources, education and civilization, is necessary to Porto Rico, and strategically Porto Rico is useful to the United States.

What would England say if Jamaica should announce "We wish to leave the British Empire?" The beginning of the new year in Germany sees the death of 1,000 newspapers, "suspended" by official order because they opposed Nazi rule. Chancellor Hitler perhaps remembers Napoleon's statement: "If I granted liberty of the press, my government could not last three weeks."

He might also remember that some governments that refused liberty of the press have also failed to last. The government of the czars was of that kind. Sitting on the safety valve is one way, but not the safest.

Mr. S. L. Rothafel, known to theatergoers as "Roxy," is dead at fifty-three. While he slept his heart stopped, like a watch not wound. Men die too young in America, and weakened hearts kill many. Life spent without exercise or an adequate supply of oxygen explains the deaths. Man is physically a machine; his heart is the engine, and heart disease kills more useful men than any other disease in modern times.

Signs of recovery, most important, are increased sales of automobiles, increased use of telephones. Mr. Gifford of the big telephone company shows that in December, 1935, the number of telephones increased 47,848, against a 21,146 increase in December, 1934.

"Little rains," which we should call hard rains in this country, interfere with Mussolini's operations in Ethiopia. Soon will come the "big rains," torrential downpours, making roads impassable, except concrete roads. The Italians have built some highways. There are, however, other roads, unknown to ancient Ethiopia—the roads of the air. Mussolini's men may continue on those roads, with disastrous results for Ethiopia, in spite of rains, "little" and "big."

MRS. THOMAS D. SCHALL has filed nomination papers as candidate for the senate seat made vacant by the death of her husband, the late senator from Minnesota. Mrs. Schall says if elected she will carry on "the same vigorous fight" against the New Deal as was waged by her husband.

BRISBANE THIS WEEK

Not Spoiled by Money Freedom of the Air 500 Air Miles for $6 Jones Still Will Lead

Another airplane record, Howard Hughes, flying 18,000 feet up much of the way, came from Los Angeles to Newark in 9 hours 27 minutes 10 seconds. High up, where air resistance is less, using a super-charging engine and helping his own lungs with oxygen from a tank, Mr. Hughes beat the existing record held by Col. Roscoe Turner of 10 hours 2 minutes 51 seconds.

Mr. Hughes proves that being rich does not always spoil young Americans. He flew from ocean to ocean without a stop, 2,450 miles, at an average speed of 200 miles an hour.

New Farm Plan Now Necessary

High Court Action Makes Long-Time Policy Imperative; President Lauded

By EARL GODWIN

WASHINGTON.—It is difficult to imagine that the high respect Americans feel toward the Supreme court will continue in all sections if there should be an actual cessation of the benefits of AAA which the court has declared unconstitutional. There has been no such criticism of that court since the days of the Dred Scott decision, which led to the Civil War, and those who have unlearned their civics against the majority of the court justify their remarks on the sharp words of Justice Stone, one of the three justices who sharply dissented from the majority of six.

The acreage reduction policy and the payment of benefits to farmers, made up out of the processing taxes on manufacturers, were frankly artificial and temporary, and would have been abandoned after a long-time scientific agricultural program had been worked out and accepted. A long-time policy may now be a fact all the sooner because of the sudden bump the court gave to these temporary processes. But meantime the peculiar attitude of the six majority members of the court demands attention, because of their basic opinion that agriculture is "a purely local activity."

Of course, Mother Nature knows nothing about the Supreme court, and spreads agriculture quite widely without regard to those sacred state lines which have caused the wrangling that makes millionaires of lawyers. To regard the economies of agriculture with respect to state lines would be about as effective as regarding a conflagration would not be allowed to squirt the hose across the line. The world might burn up, but the majesty of the court must be sustained.

This country was in a state of collapse; and agriculture was flat on its back when the farm leaders—or a great many of them—produced the AAA as a remedy. In the succeeding 32 months farm income went to a point where it meant almost equal purchasing power with industry, and was certainly feeding billions of dollars back to industry in goods purchased. That, in my humble view, was a contribution to the general welfare, and certainly seems to the lay mind to be included in the welfare clause of the Constitution.

But not so, say six out of nine members of the Supreme court. Those voluntary contracts are not necessary; and if they were, the whole scheme would still be outside the power of the federal government. "Contracts for the reduction of acreage and the control of production" the court opines, "are outside the range of that power. The congress cannot invade state jurisdiction to compel individual action; no more than it can purchase such action."

And so the entire agricultural problem goes back temporarily to where it was ten years ago, but meantime it is worth while to realize that the three dissenting members of the court, Stone, Cardozo and Brandeis, joined in an opinion which will some day be accepted as the law of the land.

BUT COURTS CHANGE

Once, before he became Chief Justice of the United States, Charles Evans Hughes said that "The Constitution is what the judges say it is." He was brutally right. The judges now state that AAA has no more right to live. However, courts change. The Supreme court over the years swings from reaction to progress. Because of this advance of liberal opinion, even with its slow, glacier-like progress, minority opinions are important because they are used to guide the thought of succeeding legal generations. The majority wins today; but tomorrow Justice Stone's views will be accepted as a matter of course in unanimous decisions of some future chief tribunal. Justice Stone's tart opinion was that the majority had killed AAA because they believed it to be an unwise law; and that in so doing the court usurped the powers of congress. In other words, Justice Stone took his colleagues to task for trying to run the government; and he rightly predicts trouble if it continues.

There is something to be said for Justice Stone's views. A tremendous majority of elected lawmakers enacted the AAA laws; and six men appointed for life turned it down. It is all a part of the old question Roosevelt asked when the court knocked out NRA and its benefits to working men and merchants and manufacturers. Are we to be crowded back to the days of small things simply because we have that sort of judges?

HAMPERS GOVERNMENT

We must, in this country, comprehend the fact that we have big problems and we must therefore have a big government. At the present rate, the court's decisions are likely to cut down the government's power to a size where it cannot cope with the increasingly large problems presented by great concentrations of wealth and vast national industrial and financial combinations. The present trend makes it increasingly difficult for the government to protect the public from the marauding type of business man now on the rampage against the New Deal. This again boils down to the inability of states to cope with national problems. The Supreme court has handed to each state of the Union, matters they cannot handle any more than the state police can handle the new style of crook who robs a bank in New York and by nightfall has flown across a dozen states.

IMPORTANT MESSAGE

Washington buzzed with excitement over criticism against President Roosevelt for making use of the radio at an evening hour to deliver his annual message to congress. That address, by the way, was one of the most important state documents of modern times. It dealt strongly with the impending European crisis, and pointed out that the autocratic methods of certain European dictators could not be sustained had the people of those countries access to the processes of Democratic government... the free and unhampered use of the ballot, in other words.

It was not this portion of the speech to which the President's critics objected, for there is a general opinion here that Hitler in Germany and Mussolini in Italy are stretching the tolerance to the breaking point. Rather was the President criticized by his political opponents for his clear and vigorous language in which he called on the narrow and reactionary groups of the opposition to stop their sharp-shooting and bring forth some constructive substitute for the New Deal's policies. That is, if they have a substitute.

Roosevelt decided to talk to the country by radio at an evening hour because he knew the country had been completely suffused with adverse propaganda. In the present state of mind of the general metropolitan press Roosevelt has not been getting a fair break. The well-spring of this bitter and reactionary propaganda is the power trust, as I have said many times, by the ordinary Republican party propaganda is doing its share of destruction; while the American Liberty League, which freely admits huge contributions from the wealthiest among the President's detractors, crowds the mails with almost daily bulletins.

In his capacity as President, Roosevelt followed the instructions of the Constitution and gave an account of the progress of the country under the enactments of the New Deal. These included the feeding of the huge relief army; the building of homes; the recognition of the rights of labor; the start of old age pensions and social security, and a score of other achievements. Would the opposition tear down these improvements and lead us back around the same old corner into the same old dreary street? One of the hardest things Roosevelt has to meet is the propaganda of fear spread by industrial leaders who do not like federal regulation. This same weapon of fear has been used many times previously when some leader arose to warn the citizens that the money interests were massed against the common good. Andrew Jackson's life was embittered by the open attacks as well as the whispering campaigns of "The Bank" and its followers. Theodore Roosevelt was called crazy by the same interests now spreading malicious falsehoods about Franklin Roosevelt.

AROUSES CLASS HATRED

This is the sort of talk which arouses class hatreds and bitterness in a land where we should be working for and enjoying a spiritual comfort paralleling the physical blessings bestowed upon America. Nevertheless it is true, and the class feeling was not engendered by Roosevelt. He was doing a humane job for his fellow-Americans until he started his strong attack upon the over-watered and crooked holding companies, and introduced his tax bill. Then the scorpions were loosed and the poisoning processes started.

The chief reason for the criticism of the President's address is that he was able to tell more people the truth at one time than ever heard it simultaneously on any prior occasion. One reason for this vast audience was the fact that Henry Fletcher, chairman of the Republican National committee, made such a wild outcry about it that he advertised the President's appearance in advance better than anyone else could have done it.

ADDRESS APPLAUDED

An unusually large number of telegrams of congratulation came to Roosevelt after his address to congress, and after his sparkling Jackson day speech. A striking feature was the number coming from "average sized" business men. These men realize that the Roosevelt warfare on Big Business is in protection for the smaller men. The gist of their message was that they appreciated and are grateful for his statement that it is only the minority in business or in finance that would "gang up" against the people's liberties.

Roosevelt's view is that the greater part of business men, industrialists and other employers seek no special advantage. They seek merely an equal share in the benefits and obligations of government. To these people Roosevelt promised that he would continue to wage a war in their behalf, so that they would not be plowed under by "a small minority of business men and financiers." Against this element, represented by the Liberty league and the reactionary element of the G. O. P. leadership, Roosevelt promised: "I shall continue to wage war"; and he ended his speech with the statement: "We will not retreat."

Tony sat down opposite him, looked at him, smiling shakily, trembling. They were alone.

"There'll be a buzz about this downstairs," Larry said, looking at a penciled note on his desk. "I thought I'd rather tell you. When did you see Bess Cutter last?"

"She was in a couple of days ago," Tony said, palling at some quality in his tone. "She was having sinus trouble, and she felt kind of rotten." Tony went on, speaking the less elegantly because she was uneasy and in earnest. "Why?"

"She killed herself about an hour ago. O'Brien telephoned me. She had a photograph of Frank Fitch in her hands."

"Oh, heavens!" Tony whispered, staring at him, very white. "Killed herself?"

"Poison. They rushed her to the Emergency, but they say she was gone when the police got there."

"It makes me feel a little—sick," Tony said, holding on to the arms of her chair with gripped fingers.

"We're taking a Chicago trip for Fitch," Larry presently observed drily. The girl's look came back to his instantly. "I guess she knew what she was doing when that began, Tony. Fitch wasn't the first man who had ever come into her life, poor thing!"

"Oh, I'm so sorry for her!" Tony said. "She'd given up her apartment, and she missed it so! She was living with some friend out on the Panhandle. I don't think they got along very well. She told me she and Mabel had a scrap about a brassiere or something—"

And suddenly, as Larry laughed, she was laughing and crying at once, her frenched eyes buried in her hands. Confused and ashamed, she stood up, wiping her eyes, turning her back to him, and Larry came around the desk and braced her with his arms for a few dizzying seconds.

"I didn't want you to hear it downstairs in the office."

"I know. And I'm so grateful to you! I don't know why I'm laughing," Tony stammered.

She straightened up, and was free of his touch, and put out her hand to his. "Thanks so much, Larry; it knocked me breathless for a minute," she apologized. "But I'm all right now. I'll get out into the air and be fine."

Fresh, sweet, her smooth brown cheek flawless, her soft dark hair tumbled in curves and rings about her face, her long dark lashes wet above the raised blue eyes, and the big white collar and plain dark frock, the slim silk-clad legs and square-toed shoes, all somehow expressing Tony, and no one but Tony, she stood close to him for a moment, and he felt the quick nervous pressure of her fingers on his wrist. Then she was gone, and the splendid office was quiet and empty again.

"I don't know whether I did or not," Miss Wallister answered with a snap. "If I did, I see no reason why I shouldn't."

"There is no reason why you shouldn't do that," Tony admitted. "It was telling them to say that they saw the advertisement in the Sun that—well, that interested us. Naturally, the Shafts people thought that the Sun was getting forty responses to the ad to every other paper's one."

"I don't know anything about it," Miss Wallister said, in the pause.

"You don't remember Mr. Opps giving you instructions that that was to be done?"

"I tell you I don't remember anything about it."

"That's funny, for he does," Tony said musingly. "Now, listen, don't get angry at me, Miss Wallister," she added disarmingly. "I'm a working woman like yourself. They give me certain assignments on my paper, and I have to follow them up. I don't know anything about this story, and I don't care anything, except to do my end honestly. All I know is that Mr. Fitch, our managing editor, called me into his office this morning and told me that he had been suspicious of the means by which the Shafts advertising had been handled over here, and that Mr. Opps—" Tony glanced at a note in her hand. "Mr. Kern Opps," she said, "had admitted that he had used the schools to further the interests of his brother-in-law's paper. Now probably you had no responsibility in the matter at all—you were merely acting upon his orders—"

"If I did that or anything else," Miss Wallister said with angry promptness, as Tony paused to look at her hopefully, "you may be very sure it was acting under orders!"

"I should suppose so," Tony conceded.

"You don't think for a moment that I'd take a step like that on my own?"

"When was this?" Tony asked, adept now at closing the net. But the shrill, harassed, anxious assistant superintendent was too quick for her.

"I don't remember the incident at all, and I'd advise you to talk to Mr. Opps."

"Someone else in the office talked to him," Tony explained patiently; "he admitted it, and said that he was quite within his rights. Maybe he was, I don't know. The point is that you are his assistant, and we want to know whether or not you feel that that was a perfectly justifiable thing to do."

"I don't think it matters what I feel." With that she reached for the phone and put in a call for Mr. Opps.

"I am."

"Mr. Kern Opps is the superintendent, isn't he?"

"Well, yes," Miss Wallister was beginning to be a little uneasy, and Tony felt sorry for her.

"Is his brother-in-law Oliver Benedict, of the Oakland Sun?"

"You could ask Mr. Opps," Miss Wallister, definitely disturbed now, said guardedly.

"I don't have to. I know it. Let me tell you what all this is about, Miss Wallister," Tony said frankly, "and then you'll know what I'm after. Some time ago Shafts' Department Store, the biggest in Oakland, took away its advertising from us, the Call, in San Francisco, because it said it got much better response from advertising in the Oakland Sun. Now, that worried us, and we sent a man over here to Oakland to investigate, and this is what he found out: Shafts' had put a special advertisement in all the papers, inviting all high-school students to write in to the high-school equipment department, and join a club called 'The Undergrads.' They had Saturday hikes and contests; I don't know what they didn't have. The boys camped, and the girls made cakes, all that sort of thing. Do you happen to have noticed it?"

"I don't know that I did," said Miss Wallister, "and I think you had better talk to Mr. Opps himself; my time is so limited, and I don't quite know what you're driving at."

"I have talked to Mr. Opps—Just a moment more, Miss Wallister, please. That is, someone from the office talked to Mr. Opps, and he admitted that some weeks ago—"

"I don't know what he admitted, and I don't care. If you'll excuse me—"

"No, now wait just a moment," Tony said, in a persuasive, sensible tone. "He's not done anything wrong! And you haven't anything to do with it anyway."

"I certainly haven't anything to do with it," Miss Wallister agreed, with red cheeks and a rising voice, "for I neither know nor care what you're talking about!"

"Well, then will you just let me talk one moment more?" Tony asked simply. "I don't think you understand yet why I came over here to talk to you. The point is this: Did you have all your teachers give out postal cards to the students in the various classes, and have them, as a part of their business course, write into Shafts' and ask for information about the 'Undergrad Club'?"

"I don't know whether I did or not," Miss Wallister answered with a snap. "If I did, I see no reason why I shouldn't."

"There is no reason why you shouldn't do that," Tony admitted. "It was telling them to say that they saw the advertisement in the Sun that—well, that interested us. Naturally, the Shafts people thought that the Sun was getting forty responses to the ad to every other paper's one."

"I don't know anything about it," Miss Wallister said, in the pause.

"Mr. Kern Opps is the superintendent, isn't he?"

gation; if this got Mr. Opps into trouble—and it might—with the board of education, it might be a good thing for you to have put yourself on record as disapproving of it."

"I won't put myself on record," Tony glanced at her notes.

"This is all I have," she said. "Kern Opps admits use of stamped postcards supplied by the Sun in classrooms; says he was entirely justified. Opps may not be any too secure in his seat when this comes out. You're his subordinate, and naturally you did what he told you to do. But I should think—"

She hesitated, looking at the other woman sympathetically. In the silence the telephone rang shrilly, and Miss Wallister, without removing her eyes from the other woman's face, mechanically reached for it, presently returned it to its hook.

"Mr. Opps is out," she said, turning back to Tony. "You were going to say—?"

"Well, I was merely going to say that in your place I'd tell the simple truth." Tony said. "You can't get into trouble telling the simple truth: 'Mr. Opps did this—I did that—you don't have to worry about it, because it's true.'"

"Otherwise," she went on, as the trapped woman looked at her dubiously, not knowing what to believe or to do, "otherwise I report that you didn't do it, and the other report is that Mr. Opps acknowledges that he did do it, and you'll have a buzz of reporters here asking you how it happens that you forgot the whole thing entirely, and probably several kids delighted to get their names into the paper by saying that they remember filling out the postcards and being instructed to say that they saw the advertisement in the Sun."

Miss Wallister was sitting facing Tony, her narrowed eyes speculative behind her glasses, her face red. Presently, without removing her gaze, she leaned slightly toward the left and opened the lower drawer of her desk. From it she took a postal card and tossed it to Tony.

"There!" she said. "I'd rather have spoken to him about it first, but since he's given you the whole thing, I'm not going to lie about it. Mr. Opps and I have always been friends, but I thought at the time he was taking a chance, and you can say that I was acting under his directions. I could have reported it to the board, of course; it didn't seem to me important. The children are having business courses, and we encourage them to consult the newspapers for ads and rates and everything else. Our boys keep a regular stock and bond board going, and the girls take turns week and week about acting as stenographers."

"I think that's a splendid idea," Tony murmured, her hand trembling as she put the precious postal card securely in her bag. "I wonder if the other high schools have practical courses like that."

"I don't believe they do," the assistant superintendent aired her views quite eloquently. Tony hated to remember afterward that Miss Wallister offered her a caramel from a limp bag before she went away.

Tony went into the office at six o'clock to meet a sour greeting from the city editor.

"Get anything on the Oakland thing?" he asked.

"No, did you?" Greeny asked, impressed. "Better go right in; here, I'll go with you."

When they were in Mr. Fitch's office Greeny said: "Miss Taft is on that Oakland school superintendent story."

"Get anything on it?" Fitch asked harshly.

"I got it," Tony said simply, experiencing the most thrilling sensation the newspaper reporter ever knows.

"She talk?"

"Miss Wallister?"

"If that's her name—yes."

"Yes. She talked. There's one of the postal cards," Tony said, displaying it. A simple enough card printed in ink script with the words: "I am a student in the Oakland high school. Having seen your advertisement in the Sun I am very much interested in the Undergrad club, and would be glad to learn the conditions of membership."

"Where'd you get this?"

"She gave it to me. That's Opps' handwriting; that was the model." Mr. Fitch held it in his hands for a few seconds, considering it. Then he said, "Wait here a minute."

Presently the managing editor came back, and with him Mr. Arnoldson and a young man introduced as "Mr. Philiber." The last was a notary public.

"You say you got the Opps story?" Mr. Arnoldson said. Tony quaked with happy pride and awe.

"You're going to tell us only the simple truth, Miss-Taft," Arnoldson said, pushing a comfortable revolving chair toward her, "and so you needn't have the slightest uneasiness at Mr. Philiber's slighting it down. Just be careful, that's all, and be sure of what you say. You have no objection to having it witnessed afterward?"

"None whatever," Tony said, feeling excited and important. She talked carefully, not exaggerating. The surrender of the postal card finished the story, and the notary indifferently asked her if she would swear to it. Tony had done this before. "To my share of it," she agreed.

"Well done, Miss Taft," Mr. Arnoldson said then, going away. Mr. Fitch echoed the praise, and by this Tony knew that they were extraordinarily exhilarated.

"Who's got Opps' story?" Tony asked, turning toward the city office between Greeny and Mr. Fitch.

"That's the interesting part of it, Miss Taft," Frank Fitch exited. "No assignment you ever gave me would have made me feel this step necessary. Next week I will come in and say good-by to you and the boys, but tonight I am too much upset by the disgraceful part I played in today's assignment to be able to do anything except go home."

She leaned over to Van Florence's desk and slipped the note to him.

"Give that to Greeny, will you please?" she said unsteadily. "I'm going home."

"Sure" Van answered, not looking up. Tony went to the pegs where hung her hat and coat and took off her lanky and rumpled smock. It was good-by to the smock, and dirty washbasins, and the unspeakable roller towels; good-by to the blue cigarette smoke, and the clatter of typewriters and the rumble of men's voices; to Greeny anxious, scowling, shirt-sleeved, twisted in his chair with one leg up over his desk, and to the clicking machines on the A. P. desk, the press boys coming in sweaty and grimed with trailers of galley proof, and the rustle-rustle of all the newspapers in all the world. Was she acting like a fool? No, Cliff and adorable, consoling, blundering old Bruce and Aunt Meg were very sure that she was not a fool.

Having heard the whole story, they applauded her, as she ate her later supper; they told her that she had been trapped into an intolerable position.

"The funny thing about a job is," Tony mused, "that when you're in you feel so secure. And when you're out, and job-hunting, you feel like a beggar again!"

"It's true," Cliff smiled over his cigarette. "But Greenwood'll send for you tomorrow. They won't let you go like that. What does Mr. Bellamy think of this sort of thing? Did he know that they'd tricked you into it?"

"Larry's in Los Angeles. No, he wouldn't know anything about that. It was just one of Frank Fitch's bright ideas."

"You'll see, Tony. Greenwood'll send for you tomorrow," said Aunt Meggy.

"I'll not go see him," Tony declared. But she knew in her heart that she would. She was already devoured with fear, regret, homesickness.

The next day passed in dreamy unreality. There was no word from the Call. Tony felt aimless; life was quiet and flat. She went down to the newspaper's business office and asked, hoping that the answer would be in the negative, for her pay envelope. It was there; a whole week's pay, and no comment, no letter. Going upstairs with a fast-beating heart at four o'clock Tony found Greeny at his desk—extremely regretful, but apparently willing to accept her resignation. She said good-by to him and to such men as were there, left messages; the whole thing was miserably unsatisfying.

Out in Market street again Tony considered going to the other newspapers; there seemed to be nothing else to do. In both places she had brief unsatisfactory conversations with superior and uninterested city editors; there were no vacancies at the moment.

She walked home somewhat depressed. The city was full of men and women who had held newspaper jobs and who had lost them.

The next day she washed her hair and put her bureau in order. Then she went to the Cutter funeral with Aunt Meggy, and they walked home with Aunt Sally. She left Aunt Meggy there for dinner, and went home to find that Clifford was dining with his girl's family for the first time, a great occasion for Cliff.

"I want to tip you off," Cliff said, trying his white tie. "It's going to be Mary Rose Riv. Fixed it on Sunday."

Aztec Images Like Egyptian

When Cortez and his band of Spanish conquerors came to Mexico early in the sixteenth century they met with stout resistance from the Aztecs, highly civilized Indians. As the Spaniards despoiled the Aztec temples, pressing the natives into slavery, they discovered many carvings of images and friezes, indicating the existence of a well-organized religion. From a study of the idols and the decorations on the walls of the temples archeologists have noted Babylonian similarities. The Aztec religion was one of many gods, being in that respect like the pagan belief of ancient Greece and Rome.

"When in Rome," Etc.

The expression "When in Rome do as the Romans do" is not to be found in the Bible; it is attributed to St. Ambrose, bishop of Milan, in the fourth century. In a letter of advice to St. Augustine he wrote: "When I am here (at Milan) I do not fast on a Saturday; when I am at Rome, I fast on a Saturday." As quoted by Jeremy Taylor, his advice was: "When you are in Rome, live in the Roman style; when you are elsewhere, live as they live there." St. Augustine also refers to this in his own writings.

"Aw, Shucks, What's the Diff?" Greeny Pleaded.

one has talked to Opps yet. But we'll get his story now fast enough, without any trouble! She's squealed, and that'll bring him right into line."

Tony stopped short, and the men stopped with her.

"You mean he hadn't talked?"

"Nope. We thought it was best to handle it this way," Fitch said complacently. "I sent a man over to talk real estate with Opps this morning at half-past eleven. Opps had some interest in a development called 'Paradise Oaks' over there. This fellow suggested that he drive out with Opps to see the place; that's why he wasn't in his office when we were talking to his assistant."

"Oh, but I lied to her," Tony began, in a hard voice.

"You got your story, and that's all the Call expects of you," Frank Fitch said smoothly. "Thank you!" He closed his door.

She and Greeny were out in the city room now. Tony looked at the man voicelessly for a long minute.

"She'll lose her job," Tony said, breathing hard.

"Oh, no, she won't!"

"Greeny," the girl demanded, holding herself in, "is that fair?"

Wrap-Around Makes Good Utility Frock

Does household routine demand that you be the first downstairs in the morning? Then here's a frock that makes it possible. A jiffy wrap-around, with smart shirtwaist air, is grand for general utility wear from early morning until you've time to change. Easy to make, it slips on as smoothly as a coat, opens out flat for ironing, and no petticoat is necessary with it due to the generous over-lap in front. Unequaled for comfort and slenderizing effect.

Pattern 2539 is available in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48. Size 16 takes 3 1/2 yards 36-inch fabric. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included.

SEND FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for this pattern. Write plainly name, address and size number. BE SURE TO STATE SIZE.

Address orders to the Sewing Circle, Pattern Dept., 243 W. Seventeenth St., New York City.

Don't Guess But Know

Whether the "Pain" Remedy You Use is SAFE?

Don't Entrust Your Own or Your Family's Well-Being to Unknown Preparations

THE person to ask whether the preparation you or your family are taking for the relief of headaches is SAFE to use regularly is your family doctor. Ask him particularly about GENUINE BAYER ASPIRIN.

He will tell you that before the discovery of Bayer Aspirin most "pain" remedies were advised against by physicians as bad for the stomach and, often, for the heart. Which is food for thought if you seek quick, safe relief.

Scientists rate Bayer Aspirin among the fastest methods yet discovered for the relief of headaches and the pains of rheumatism, neuritis and neuralgia. And the experience of millions of users has proved it safe for the average person to use regularly. In your own interest remember this.

You can get Genuine Bayer Aspirin at any drug store—simply by asking for it by its full name, BAYER ASPIRIN. Make it a point to do this—and see that you get what you want.

TOWNSEND SCHEME, DELUSION AND SNARE

Last week we published without comment the reply of our esteemed fellow-townsmen, N. W. Alphin, to the Texas Weekly editorial reprinted in our issue of January 10, discussing the Townsend Pension plan.

We hope that every person who read the Alphin article will dig up a Lynn County News of the preceding week and read the editorial to which he attempts to reply.

We do not care to enter into a lengthy discussion of Mr. Alphin's article, but he overlooks two vital facts which are fatal to his position; and he clearly demonstrates that he is laboring under the delusion to which we referred two weeks ago.

In attempting to answer the perfectly obvious conclusion reached by Mr. Molyneux that "Dr. Townsend's tax would be equivalent to $48 a month from every one of the 31,000,000 families in the United States, or $160 a day from every such family", Mr. Alphin argues that the fellow who deals in big money, who pulls the big transactions, would pay the most of the tax, while the little fellow would pay little.

The first fact that Mr. Alphin overlooks is that most taxes are passed on to the ultimate consumer and are in the end paid by the masses. Most of the Townsend taxes would be so passed on. There can be no escape from this conclusion. To make this plan, let's take a concrete case right here at home. Mr. X is an implement and hardware dealer in Tahoka. His total annual sales, we will say, amount to $200,000. His Townsend plan tax would be two per cent of this, or $4,000. Now, is anybody simple enough to suppose that Mr. X is going to suffer this loss, not if he can help it. He will tack the tax on to the price of the implements and hardware he sells, and the man who buys his tractors, and planters, and go-devils, and cook stoves, and tin pans, and carpet tacks—he is the man who will pay the tax.

The same will be as true as to the shirt you wear on your back, Mr. Alphin, and as to the bread and beans that may appear on your table, unless you raise them. On every nickel's worth of groceries, every spool of thread, every particle of merchandise, the purchaser will pay the Townsend tax.

The second vital fact that Mr. Alphin overlooks is that the Townsend tax would be, not merely a single 2 per cent tax but would be a succession of such taxes tacked onto almost every article of merchandise. Being a "transaction tax," an additional 2 per cent would be tacked on every time any given article passed from one person to another.

For example: The producers of coal, lumber, iron, and the scores of other articles used in the making of a farm implement, would be compelled to pay this tax when they sold these articles to the implement factory, and would add it to the price of these articles; the factory would be compelled to pay the Townsend tax when it sold the plow to the wholesale house, and of course would add another two per cent; the wholesale house would be compelled to pay a Townsend tax when it sold the plow to the retail dealer, and would add still another two per cent; and the retail dealer would be compelled to pay the Townsend tax when he sold the plow to the farmer and would add his two per cent. The farmer would have no way of passing the tax on to anybody else, because he bought the plow to use, not to sell. So Mr. Farmer must pay all this succession of accumulated taxes.

part of the Townsend tax is preposterous and absurd. The notion that "It would strike heavily where it ought, and but lightly on the masses" is a delusion and a snare. Just the reverse is true. It would rest more heavily on the masses—the farmer, the laborer, the employee, the small-salaried man—than it would on the big business man, the owner of the cotton mill, the woollen mill, the automobile factory, the implement factory, the lumber forest, the skyscraper, or on the big financier, because all these could pass at least a large portion of such taxes on to the other fellow in the price of the goods sold, but the ultimate consumer, the little man, could pass it on to nobody. But our notion is that this tax would be so heavy that it would paralyze all business.

We think that the proposal to raise a tax of 18 billion dollars a year, as Mr. Alphin proposes—a sum which exceeds the value of all the cotton and cotton seed, wheat, corn, oats, rye, maize and other grain sorghums, fruits, cattle, hogs, sheep, wool, poultry and eggs, milk and dairy products, automobiles and motor trucks, clothing and cosmetics, produced and manufactured in this country in any one year—is too absurd a proposition to be entertained for one moment by an intelligent man like Mr. Alphin, especially so, when it is proposed that such a tax shall be raised not simply one year but each succeeding year. No communist ever proposed a wilder scheme.

SOME MORE POOLISH FOLDEROL

It is really astonishing how we so often permit our passions and prejudices to lead us into the most glaring errors. For instance, last week "Ye Wyze Guye" in the Slaton Slatonite perpetrated the following:

"Those six supreme court judges, appointed during the Harding administration, noted for its political shadiness, did much to pull away forever the curtain of faith and sentimental loyalty that had hidden from the plain American people heretofore the fact that, after all, that powerful tribunal is composed merely of men, not exalted beings. The general opinion of the public, we'd be willing to bet, has undergone a sharp reversal since the three democrats voted for the AAA and the six republicans voted against it. It looks like a case of 'my party, right or wrong.' Many a child-like faith in the integrity of the Supreme Court has been shattered with the realization of a silly song—'They can be had.'"

As a matter of fact, only two of the nine justices of the Supreme Court were appointed during the Harding Administration, George Sutherland of Utah and Pierce Butler of Minnesota.

Again, as a matter of fact, at least four of the members of the Supreme Court are Democrats. It may be astounding to "Ye Wyze Guye" and to Mr. Waggoner of the Claude News to learn that Justice Owen J. Roberts, who wrote the opinion declaring the AAA unconstitutional, is a Democrat, while Justice Harlan F. Stone, who wrote the dissenting opinion, is a Republican.

It may be astounding to them also to learn that Cardozo, who signed the dissenting opinion, was appointed to the Supreme Court by a Republican President, Herbert Hoover. Only one of the three dissenters was appointed by a Democratic President, Louis D. Brandeis of Massachusetts was appointed by President Woodrow Wilson.

Here is the data as to the members of the Court.

Chief Justice Charles E. Hughes, New York: First appointed to the Supreme Court by President William H. Taft in 1910; served till 1916, when he resigned to run for the Presidency; appointed Chief Justice by President Herbert Hoover in 1930.

Justice Willis Van Devanter of Wyoming: Appointed by President William H. Taft in 1910.

Justice James C. McReynolds of Tennessee: Appointed by President

Woodrow Wilson in 1914. Justice Louis D. Brandeis of Massachusetts: Appointed by President Woodrow Wilson in 1916.

Justice George Sutherland of Utah: Appointed by President Warren G. Harding in 1922.

Justice Pierce Butler of Minnesota: Appointed by President Warren G. Harding in 1922.

Justice Harlan F. Stone of New York: Appointed by President Calvin Coolidge in 1925.

Justice Owen J. Roberts of Pennsylvania: Appointed by President Herbert Hoover in 1930.

Justice Benjamin Nathan Cardozo of New York: Appointed by President Hoover in 1932.

Democrats have often been appointed to the Bench by Republican Presidents and Republicans appointed by Democratic Presidents in accordance with an "unwritten law" that the balance between Democrats and Republicans on the Supreme Court should always be maintained as nearly as possible.

That was a sorry performance last week when Senator Nye of North Dakota, Republican, and Senator Clark of Missouri, Democrat, undertook to prove and did charge that President Woodrow Wilson had falsified away back about 1919 when he made a statement before some committee of Congress, as to whether or not he had actual knowledge of certain agreements among the Allies touching the division of the spoils if they should be successful when he advised congress to declare war. The stinging rebukes that our own Senator Connolly and Senator Glass of Virginia gave them were well-deserved. It will be remembered that during American's participation in the War, President Wilson made assault after assault upon Autocracy and Militarism. He repeatedly appealed to the masses of the German people over the heads of the Kaiser and the military leaders in the cause of democracy and popular government, and it was largely these appeals that finally broke down the German morale. After the armistice was signed, Wilson went to the peace conference asserting the doctrine of self-determination; that is, that the people of each province or disputed territory had a right to determine for themselves as to what nation they should be annexed to; and also the doctrine that the small and weak nations should not be gobbled up against their will by the strong nations. Wilson was the great outstanding moral figure of this period of the world's history, and the puny attacks of such men as Nye and Clark, long after Wilson is in his grave, will not dim the luster of his character or besmirch his reputation.

The Fort Worth Star-Telegram keeps insisting that if a precinct in a wet county has a right to vote dry and remain dry regardless of the status of the county as a whole, so likewise a precinct in a dry county should have the right to vote itself wet and remain wet regardless of the status of the county as a whole. On the surface that looks fair, but the Star-Telegram and others who take this position overlook this important distinction. When a precinct in a wet county votes itself dry, that does not destroy the wet status of the county as a whole, but if a precinct in a dry county could vote itself wet, that would in fact destroy county-wide prohibition and would destroy the dry status of the county as a whole.

Andy Jack Stricklin of the Terry County Herald has had so many jig full-page and double-page ads in his paper recently that he got to living high. As a result he took the gout, and last week he wasn't able to write but one little old measley editorial. Come out of there, Jack, and get back to your natural newspaper diet of corn bread and beans.

NELSON BECOMING WELL KNOWN

Senator G. H. Nelson, of Tahoka, who represents 30th district in the upper house at Austin, has a long hard pull ahead of him in his campaign to institute the unicameral form of legislature for what Texas now has, but his sponsorship of the idea is making him well known over the state.

Although a member of the senate less than five months, Senator Nelson's name is known from one end of Texas to the other.

He has invitation after invitation to speak in various parts of the state to explain the one-house legislature thus far found to be so satisfactory in Nebraska.

Whatever may be the fate of the Nelson plan, the Tahoka man is off to a good start and may have hit upon something which will carry him far in state politics.

At any rate, his record, as it is etched at Austin and elsewhere in Texas, will be interesting to watch. —Lubbock Journal.

CHURCH OF CHRIST NOTES

Services were fine last Lord's Day, with good interest at both services. We were all made to rejoice when we learned that we were going to have one of the strongest teams in our Brotherhood to hold our next meeting, Brother Foy Wallace Jr. and Brother Doran. They will be with us the last two Sundays in May.

We are losing another fine family from our midst this week. Brother Bob North is moving to his farm northwest of Brownfield. We will surely miss them, as they were so faithful.

Last week we lost Brother Branson and his good wife, who moved to Oklahoma.

We are glad our Father in Heaven has a place where there will be no partings nor sad goodbyes.

Come worship with us next Lord's Day. Subject, A. M.: "Marks of a Christian." Subject, P. M.: "Paul's Sermon to King Agrippa."—R. P. Drennon.

MRS. SNOWDEN HOSTESS TO TAHOKA H. D. CLUB

The H. D. Club had its regular meeting in the home of Mrs. H. M. Snowden Wednesday afternoon, with the president, Mrs. M. O. Canaday, presiding.

After the business session the following program was rendered, with Mrs. R. L. Richardson as leader:

Texas Under Six Flags—Mrs. Snowden.

The Five Largest Cities of Texas—Mrs. W. G. Barrett.

The Texas Flower—Mrs. A. C. Weaver.

Texas Songs—Mrs. James Connolly and Mrs. G. M. Reid.

We are starting our monthly entertainments for the husbands with a "42" party in the home of Mrs. G. M. Reid with Mrs. James Connolly as co-hostess, January 28 at 7:30 o'clock.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. Charles Nelms.

Pecan pie and coffee were served.

Government Costs and the H. C. L.

By RAYMOND PITCAIRN National Chairman Sentinels of the Republic

With the next session of Congress only a few weeks away there has been a cheering revival of discussion on methods of checking waste and extravagance in our government.

A group of Representatives, news dispatches report, will study the entire Federal picture with the idea of determining why expenses should mount so swiftly. The question is where to begin.

Well, they might look at the growing list of Federal agencies—and the huge payrolls thus created for American workers to meet. These have been expanding for years at a much faster rate than our population. Here, for example, are some recently published figures on the subject:

Since 1909 the population of the United States has increased about 20 per cent. During that period the number of Federal jobs increased not 50, but 250 per cent.

Since June 30, 1933, the population has increased a little over 1 per cent. During the brief period between then and June 30, 1935, the number of Federal jobs increased not 1, but 25 per cent.

No wonder these are boom days in Washington.

No wonder the capital is congested with jobholders, recruited by scores of job-creating commissions whose payrolls and other expenditures are paid by the people through taxes which boost the cost of food and shelter and clothing and everything else we use.

No wonder, with this constant drain on his production and his earnings, the average citizen continues to worry over what headline writers call the H. C. L.

Today, the High Cost of Living and the High Cost of Government are closely related. What the people—and the politicians—must realize is that one way to reduce the first is to defate the second.

Laxative combination folks know is trustworthy

The confidence thousands of parents have in good, old reliable, powdered Theodor's Black-Draught has prompted them to get the new Syrup of Black-Draught for their children. The grown folks stick to the powdered Black-Draught; the youngsters probably will prefer it when they outgrow their childish love of sweets.

Mrs. G. W. Adams, of Murray, Ky., writes: "I have used Theodor's Black-Draught (powder) about thirteen years, taking it for biliousness. Black-Draught acts well and I am always pleased with the results. I wanted a good, reliable laxative for my children. I have found Syrup of Black-Draught to be just that."

BAPTIST DEACONS GIVEN ENTERTAINMENT BY PASTOR

One of the most enjoyable occasions of the season was an entertainment given the Baptist deacons and their wives by Rev. and Mrs. George A. Dale in their home Monday night of last week. A dinner featuring roast chicken and dressing with plenty of "accompaniments," was followed by a social hour in which active games furnished fun for all.

Expressing their enjoyment many were heard to exclaim "Let's have another meeting."

Those present were: Uncle Ben Rogers, Mother Stroud, Messrs. and Mrs. E. J. Cooper, F. M. Billman, E. I. Hill, H. P. Cavness, A. J. Mullins and Burton Edwards, Mrs. Francis, and the host and hostess, Rev. and Mrs. Dale.

NAZARENE SERVICES AT CHURCH TUESDAY NIGHT

Dixie

There was a pretty good attendance at Sunday School last Sunday morning. Everybody be on time next Sunday. Sunday School will begin at 10:30. Everyone, especially the new folks of this community, has a special invitation to come.

We had a good singing Sunday afternoon. There was a large crowd of singers from South Ward, Wilson, and Tahoka. We are to have a real singing next first Sunday afternoon with plenty of outside visitors and good singers. So, be preparing to come, as you will miss a lot if you do not. Our next convention meets at Joe Stones.

There are several in our community on the sick list. We truly hope they will soon be well again.

We have League and singing each Sunday night. League begins at 6:45. Everyone try to be on time. If League is too early, make it on time for singing. Each of you is welcome.—Reporter.

"EXTRA GIRL"

When Texas Centennial Exposition officials began to select the Rangerettes, hostesses for the Exposition, they planned to have one who was born in each of the 48 states. Then along came Mabel Rooks, shown above, and she passed the strict requirements. Officials found later she had been born in the District of Columbia, so they increased the corps to 50, giving themselves a little leeway in the matter of states.

King George Dies, All World Mourns

King George of England died shortly before 12 o'clock Monday night, London time. He had been on the throne since May 5, 1910.

Immediately upon his death, the popular Prince of Wales became King of England and Emperor of the British Empire under the title of King Edward VIII. It will be more than a year, however, before the Coronation ceremonies will be held.

While the death of a British sovereign is heralded as an event of world-wide importance, yet, as a matter of fact, he has practically no power, being little more than a glittering figure-head.

Newmoore

Erma Gene Brandon, Reporter

Mr. and Mrs. Strasner of Newmoore community moved to Wilmerston Saturday. We are sorry to have them move away.

Newmoore and Wells had a ball game Thursday. The Wells team won.

We want them to visit us again soon.

There was a large crowd present at the singing Sunday night which everyone enjoyed. We invite everyone to come.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Alexander of Newmoore are the proud parents of a baby son born Sunday, Jan. 13. Mrs. Alexander and baby are doing well.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Veasy moved to O'Donnell January 18. We are very sorry to have them move away.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Hyatt and family of Anson have moved to Newmoore. We are proud to have them here.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy D. Moore and Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Moore of Lamesa visited at Newmoore Sunday. We were all glad to have them visit us.

Mr. Simpson and Mrs. Strasner of Newmoore attended the teachers banquet at Tahoka Friday night. They reported that they enjoyed themselves.

Mr. and Mrs. Travis Blair of Littlefield are visiting Mrs. J. P. Rogers of Newmoore community. We are proud to have them here.

Locals

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Connolly and little daughter, Geraldine, and C. O. Carmack went down to Fort Worth Tuesday, returning Thursday.

Miss Orpha Pearl Fleming of New Lynn, who underwent an appendicitis operation at Lubbock on last Thursday, is reported to be improving rapidly. She will likely return home this week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Strain and Mr. and Mrs. Lon Strain of Cuthbert, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Womack and Mr. Will Womack of Colorado attended the funeral of little Wendal Dwain Cowan here Monday of last week.

Miss Zelma Thrallkill of Grassland, a graduate of Tahoka High School of the class of 1935 and now a student in a business college in Lubbock, is temporarily at home sick of the flu.

Mrs. J. M. Noble, who recently underwent a serious surgical operation in a Lubbock hospital, is reported to be improving nicely. It is hoped that she may be able to come home in a few days.

Mrs. A. J. Mullins is reported to be much improved, following a severe attack of tonsillitis.

According to Mr. Babb, tennis instructor, the tennis players will probably get to start playing tennis soon. Plans are being made to clean and make the tennis courts.

The fatal mid-term exam period is over, or at least temporarily over, and the students anxiously await their grades. Suspense is terrible—especially when one is a senior!

Mr. C. D. Babb spent the weekend at his home in Abilene.

The typing classes were notified that one credit would be given for typing this year.

Maurice Tinsley recently enrolled in the Freshman class. He formerly attended school in Lubbock.

Mrs. Tunnell, Mrs. Blutworth, Mrs. Assiter, Mr. Barrett, and Mr. Carter attended the Lynn County Teachers' Banquet held Friday night, January 17, at the American Legion Hall, 7:30 P. M. The history teachers especially enjoyed a speech given by Mr. Frank Hill, as he gave much interesting data about Lynn County.

The following Home Economics girls served at this banquet: Joe Bell, Milliken, Beatrice Falkner, Louise Rogers, Maxine Floyd, Mary Ellen Conway, Joe Alice Brooks, Bessie Mae Perkins, Gwendolyn Baker, and Billie Swafford.

The vocational Agriculture Boys elected the following officers at their last meeting:

Truett Cooper, president.
 Champ Perkins, vice-president.
 Dick Bosworth, secretary.
 Hiram Snowden, treasurer.
 Rudolph Snowden, reporter.
 G. C. Price, watch dog.
 James Price, parliamentarian.

The program committee as appointed by the president of the Club is: James Thompson, Joy Edwin Brown, Robert Taylor.

Plans were discussed for a social, and the meeting adjourned.

Home Ec. 211 News

The Home Economics Class 211 entertained the trustees and Mr. Barrett and Mr. Carter Friday, January 10, in the Home Ec. department. An informal dinner was served to Mr. Hicks, president of the board, Mr. Billman, Mr. Barrett, and Mr. Carter. Lucille Carver acted as hostess. The menu was: Oyster cocktail, steak and gravy, snap beans, fresh potatoes, hot biscuits, butter, Southern ambrocha, angel food cake, and coffee.

The dinner was served as a company dinner. Joe Bell Milliken and Louise Rogers served the meal, which was prepared by other members of the class.

The Home Ec 211 class is studying home nursing. They plan to take up clothing in about two weeks.

The seventh grade reports that the following students have withdrawn: Glenn Hickerson to Monahans; Nellie McClellan, to Spur; Lorene Wright, to Big Spring; Rosa Lea Halsell, to Redwine.

The Junior Class reports that J. W. Hickerson, who enrolled here recently, has withdrawn and returned to Monahans.

The Juniors plan to order their class wristlets within the next week.

The Senior class reports the loss of two of its members, A. J. Thompson and Clayton Lawrence. A. J. will attend school in Lubbock. Clayton has finished his sixteen units of work and he will receive his diploma in the Spring with the graduating class.

The Senior play, "The Man In The Green Shirt," is being casted, and the Seniors will begin work on it soon.

The Public Speaking class held a meeting January 10, and the Loud Speakers' Club was organized. The following officers were elected:

Carol Holloway, president.
 Lottie Stevens, vice-president.
 Pansy Tankersley, secretary.
 The Public Speaking Class has the motto: "As his speech, so the man."

The Public Speaking class is studying Interscholastic League debating.

STAR STUDED COMEDY TUNEFUL AND DIVERTING

Tuneful, brisk and gay, "The Big Broadcast of 1936," which opens at the English Theatre Sunday, combines a diverting comedy plot with an impressive collection of stars, garnered from the top ranks of radio, stage and screen.

Packed with rich comedy moments, handsomely produced, this highly entertaining production is headed by a cast that can be depended upon to lead the way when it comes to cutting crazy capers. Such comedians as Jack Oakie, Burns and Allen and Lyda Roberti are sure-fire stand bys for light hearted humor and laugh-provoking antics.

In addition, an imposing array of famous personalities such as Bing Crosby, Amos 'n' Andy, Ethel Merman, Bill Robinson, Ray Noble and his orchestra, Willie West and McGinty, Mary Boland and Charles Ruggles contribute specialty numbers that shouldn't be missed.

The story centers around the hilarious adventures of two radio entertainers when they fall into the hands of a young Countess. Jack Oakie and Henry Wadsworth own and operate their own radio station. Air fans believe that the romantic singer, "Lochinvar" is one man whereas it is Oakie who does the announcing and Wadsworth the singing. To avert bankruptcy the boys decide to compete in an international radio contest. Burns and Allen bring their television invention the Radio Eye to the studio.

Lyda Roberti, rich and romantic-minded Countess, and her social secretary, Wendy Barrie, meet the boys. Miss Roberti kidnaps Oakie and Wadsworth on her private yacht and takes them to her Cuban island estate to decide which one she wants to marry. In their frantic effort to escape, including a thrilling chase, Oakie, in calling Burns and Allen for help with the Radio Eye, unwittingly takes part in the broadcasting contest. An uproarious finale closes the fun film.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Rowe and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Houston of Arkadelphia, Ark., are here visiting W. L. and H. A. Rowe and families. Mr. and Mrs. Rowe are the parents of W. L. and H. A. Rowe and Mrs. Houston. They expect to leave for home Saturday. Mr. Houston says this is his first trip to the plains and he thinks it a wonderful country. His only objection is the wind—and he thinks he might get used to that.

DORCAS S. S. CLASS MEETS IN H. P. CAVENESS HOME

The Dorcas S. S. Class met in their regular monthly meeting January 14 in the home of Mrs. H. P. Caveness with Mrs. Caveness and Mrs. Jim Burleson as hostesses.

Roll call—Scripture on Giving. Song—Give of Your Best to the Master.

Scripture on Giving—Mrs. Harrison. History of Song—Mrs. Burleson.

Song—Guide Me, Oh, Thou Great Jehovah. A delicious refreshment plate was passed to the following: Ivey, J. Davis, I. Dunagan, Akin, Harrison, Barrett, Taylor.

MIDWAY WOMEN RECEIVE GARDENING INSTRUCTIONS

"When was the blue bonnet designated as the state flower?" asked Miss Robb of the women of Midway H. D. Club at their meeting at the home of Mrs. I. M. Draper Jan. 16.

Nine members and two visitors were present. The program scheduled in the year book was carried out. Miss Robb instructed us in selection of garden seed and methods of gardening.—Reporter.

MRS. JIMMIE JACKSON IS HOSTESS TO MUSIC CLUB

Mrs. Jimmie Jackson was gracious hostess to the Friday meeting of the Tahoka Music Club.

The program on "Radio" was one of the most interesting and informational of the year. Mrs. Jackson opened the program with an article on "Putting a Program on the Air." Ruth Suddarth followed with "Behind the Scenes of Radio-Land" and Mrs. W. S. Taylor continued with "Music, the Magic Carpet of Radio." A round table discussion led by Mrs. L. D. Gildersleeve on "What Do People Listen to on Radio" revealed some most interesting statistics and preferences.

A delicious refreshment plate, salad, sandwiches, and drink—was served during the social hour. Mrs. H. C. Story will be hostess on February 7 to the annual "Music in the Home" program.—Reporter.

DELTON PEMBERTON HOST TO MINOR BATON CLUB

On Monday night at the home of the Club Counselor, Delton Pemberton was host to the Minor Baton. An interesting parliamentary drill was conducted by Ruth Suddarth. One new member was admitted during the business session. Lottie Jo Townes was the lucky winner in the cake-drawing.

The study chapter on ancient and medieval stringed instruments was completed, after which the members enjoyed a thirty minute choral rehearsal.

The host served fancy cakes and coffee to accompany the social hour. Miss Townes will entertain the next regular meeting Feb. 3.—Reporter.

MIDWAY GIRLS MEET

The girls of the Midway school met with the County Home Demonstration Agent on January 14th and organized a 4-H Club.

Eighteen girls were enrolled in this club with the following as officers: Chairman, Maggie Russell; vice-chairman, Omega Murphey; secretary, Iephene Stevens; reporter, Tommy Ruth Anderson; and sponsor, Miss Ora Anderson.

The Midway 4-H club will meet each second and fourth Tuesday.

ALL-SEW CLUB

The ladies of the All-Sew Club met with Mrs. Kary Mathis January 16th.

Guests were Mesdames Nichols, Truett Smith, and Pete Hegi. We spent a happy afternoon.

Sandwiches and wassail were served to guests and the following members: Mesdames Howell, Leslie, South, Callaway, Reid, Richardson, A. I. and C. A. Thomas.

UNCLE WILL BROWN GIVEN
BIG BIRTHDAY PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Brown were the honorees at a surprise birthday party given in their home Monday night, Monday being "Uncle Will's" birthday. We do not know just how many birthdays "Uncle Will" has had but he is not old in years and is decidedly young in spirit.

It was indeed a happy occasion for both "Uncle Will" and "Aunt Alice", who shared the honors equally. Upon request, "Uncle Will" related the story of his courtship, and he did it in his inimitable way that brought round a round of laughter.

Uncle Will also took occasion to make a neat little speech thanking his guests for the honor they had paid him and for the numerous gifts they had brought for him and "Aunt Alice". Gifts were sent by some who were not able to attend. Responses were made by E. I. Hill, Dr. J. R. Singleton, A. M. Cade, G. M. Reid, and L. O. Mitchell. In his speech, Uncle Will became a bit reminiscent, and gave out the information that the fine little city of Palestine over in East Texas is situated on the farm that his father once owned.

Refreshments were served to Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Reid, Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. C. Connolly, Mr. and Mrs. Claud Wells, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Cade, Mr. and Mrs. E. I. Hill, Dr. and Mrs. J. R. Singleton, Mesdames G. W. Small, C. A. Thomas, F. O. Oresthouse, J. H. Neims, M. I. Ray, L. J. Harris, J. K. Applewhite, Pearl Brown, J. S. Griffin, W. C. Wells, and Misses Rosemary Neims, Lee Northcross, Iris Dean Cade, Mary Bland Wells, Barbara Wells, and the honorees, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Brown.

W. M. S. ENTERTAINS

A miscellaneous shower of handkerchiefs and other small articles featured a social given by the Baptist W. M. S. in the home of Mrs. E. I. Hill Wednesday afternoon honoring Mrs. J. M. Hale, who is leaving soon to live in Beaumont.

Following the games a refreshment plate was passed to each of the following: Mmes. Geo. A. Dale, "Mother" Stroud, G. H. Nelson, Homer Harrison, E. I. Hill, J. M. Hale, R. C. Forrester, E. J. Cooper, Alton Cain, W. P. Humphries, J. F. Stuart, K. R. Durham, J. K. Applewhite, T. T. Ivey, J. B. Walker, Joe Davis, Jim Burleson, and Misses Mary Seroyer and Berta Hill.

W. M. S. CIRCLE MEETINGS

At the monthly business meeting of the Baptist W. M. S. Monday afternoon plans were made for the Circle meetings January 26.

Moon circle will meet with Mrs. Alton Cain.

Lucille Reagan circle will meet with Mrs. D. H. Goodnough.

Sallee circle will meet with Mrs. G. H. Nelson.

Blanche Rose Walker.

TOWNSEND CLUB NOTES

The local Townsend club will hold its regular meeting at the Court House next Saturday at 2:00 p. m. at which time it expects an address by an out-of-town representative of the National Club. The Townsend Plan booklets have been received, the secretary says, to be handed out Saturday, and it is desired that not only all members be at the meeting but that all others attend who can.

MRS. McLAURIN HOSTESS TO WELLS GIRLS CLUB

The Wells 4-H Club met January 17th with the assistant sponsor, Mrs. Joe McLaurin. During the business meeting, Lizzie Mae Barrett was elected reported for the club.

We worked on our club aprons at this meeting. They are to be finished and ready for Miss Robb to grade at the next meeting, Feb. 6. Each of the girls is proud of her apron and is anxious for the Apron Parade.

GRASSLAND H. D. CLUB STUDIES GARDEN PLANS

The Grassland home demonstration club met in the home of Mrs. M. C. Thomas January 17 with the county home demonstration agent present. Miss Robb gave a demonstration on garden plans and planting, stressing the selection of seed.

The next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. A. L. Shepherd on February 7th.

REPORTERS SCHOOL WILL BE HELD FOR CLUB LADIES

A Reporters School will be conducted in the County Home Demonstration Agent's office Saturday, January 25, at 2:30 o'clock.

This school is for every 4-H Club and H. D. Club reporter in the county. A Writers' Association will be organized at this meeting.

D. G. Phipps of the southwest part of the county was in the News office Wednesday and stated that his wife has been forced to leave the Plains on account of an ailment of the heart. She has been in San Antonio since December 13, and that altitude and climate seems to agree with her. Mr. Phipps expects to leave Saturday for that city to stay with her until late in the spring at least.

SOUTHWESTERN LIFE CO.
ISSUES YEARLY STATEMENT

Unusual conditions of the past five years have had a marked effect on the investment portfolios of life insurance companies. While few companies have increased in size, measured by total insurance in force, changes in the character of assets of some companies are apparent. A brief analysis of the balance sheet of Southwestern Life, the first of the large Texas companies to publish its annual statement, reveals a high degree of liquidity. The net liability to policyholders is less than 27 millions. The Company owns securities valued conservatively at 30 millions. Of this amount 15 millions is represented by U. S. Government bonds, cash, and the highest grade State, county, and municipal obligations, which could be sold on today's market for a million dollars more than the amount at which they are carried in the balance sheet. The remaining 15 millions is invested in first mortgage loans on Texas real estate. In addition the Company owns real estate, including its home office building, worth about 3 millions.

Five years ago Southwestern Life had only about one-ninth as much invested in bonds, but owned one-third more real estate mortgages than it does today.

The gain in insurance in force for 1935 is approximately the same as for 1934, and the Company is now larger than at any previous time in its history, with a total of 288 millions of insurance on the lives of approximately 140,000 Texas citizens. During recent years the amount of the average policy has decreased slightly. The rate of mortality for 1935 among Southwestern Life policyholders was almost the same as for the previous year. Lapses are steadily decreasing and loans against policies have remained at about the same level.

Increased liquidity of assets has resulted in lower interest earnings, but the net return for 1935 was 4 1/2%, which the Company considers highly satisfactory under present conditions.

MONKEYING WITH THE COURTS

A bill will be introduced in congress to curb the authority of the supreme court in passing upon the constitutionality of acts of congress. Some interesting debates will be heard. For some time there have been mutterings in Washington on the question, and discussion by public men. The fact that this nation alone has a supreme court with authority to void the acts of the legislature and executive branches gives excellent grounds for debate. Regardless of the position, one may take on this question, there has arisen one evil which most people agree should be stopped, that is, government by injunction. The News believes that no federal court should have the power to pass upon the constitutional rights of congress excepting the supreme court. Furthermore, we believe that no state court excepting the state supreme court should pass upon the constitutional acts of the legislature. We are witnessing scores of injunctions granted in different federal courts, especially those dealing with tax measures of congress. Hardly an act of the legislature of any consequence becomes effective without an injunction suit in some of the many district courts of Texas. Government by injunction aims mainly to thwart the will of state or federal government in putting into effect needed tax measures.—Canyon News.

It seems hard for us Americans to get things fixed to suit us, including the powers granted to our courts. Every time a court renders a decision that doesn't suit us, we want to curb its power.

Following the recent decisions of the U. S. Supreme Court declaring the NRA and the AAA unconstitutional, some Congressmen, including a few lawyers, want to take this power away from the courts, all the courts. Our esteemed contemporary, Mr. Warwick of the Canyon News, does not commit himself on the proposition to curb the power of the Supreme Court but he does make three suggestions for limiting the powers of inferior courts, state and national.

He would prohibit any federal court except the Supreme Court from declaring acts of Congress unconstitutional.

He would prohibit any state court except the State Supreme Court from declaring any act of the Legislature unconstitutional.

And he would prohibit what he calls "government by injunction." Mr. Warwick is not a lawyer but he has served in the state legislature. He is one of the most sane and conservative editors in West Texas, but we think that he is wrong on all three of these propositions.

We do not believe, for instance, that a citizen of Canyon, charged with the violation of some federal statute which he believed to be unconstitutional and which his attorneys believe to be unconstitutional, should be prohibited from making that kind of defense in the same court in which the charge is filed. We do not believe that he should be compelled to wait until after he has been convicted in the lower court and incarcerated, possibly, in a federal prison, before he could set up such a defense; neither do we believe that he should be compelled to go all the way to Washington or send his attorneys to Washington to make such a defense except upon appeal from the adverse ruling of the court in which the proceedings were started. Furthermore, we do not believe that a litigant in a civil suit should be estopped from making such a defense in the court in which the suit was instituted. He should not be compelled to go to the expense and trouble of going to Washington to have his rights adjudicated except upon appeal.

Neither should a man charged with a violation of a state law be estopped from attacking the constitutionality and validity of such law on his trial. He should not be compelled to go to Austin, except upon appeal from a lower court, to have his rights under the law and the constitution adjudicated. Neither should a litigant in a civil suit be compelled to do so.

As for "government by injunction", that is only a myth—a phrase coined several years ago by disgruntled labor unionists who had been restrained by the courts from damaging property, interfering with the rights of other workmen, and doing other illegal acts.

Temporary injunctions are granted by the courts to protect an individual in his rights and to restrain another person from doing some unlawful or damaging act, until the matters in dispute can be heard by the court and adjudicated. Temporary injunctions are made permanent by the courts when the courts find that there is merit in the allegations of the complaining party. We think the lower courts, the courts on the ground where the parties live, should have this authority and power to protect the rights of parties to a suit. We do not think that any party should be compelled to run off to Austin or to Washington to get an injunction against some individual who is flagrantly violating his rights, or making way with or damaging his property.

We observe the imperfections of our courts and sometimes fancy that we can make them perfect by making some change. All such suggested changes as above, however, would bring about far greater imperfections and evils than those which the proposed changes are designed to cure. We need to bring about some reforms in court procedure, but we should not monkey with the powers of our courts unless we know what we are doing.

The Fort Worth Star-Telegram Monday contained another editorial approving the Nelson unicameral-legislature proposal, restating the arguments in favor of it, and stating that it bids fair to be a live issue in the primary campaign which is just opening. "Citizens have a right to demand that candidates for legislative places make it clear whether or not they will oppose giving the public the right to vote on this proposition," the Star-Telegram concludes.

Beaumont Church Calls Rev. Hale

Rev. J. M. Hale, who resigned as pastor of the Brownfield Baptist Church a few months ago after a service of about five years and who has been residing in Tahoka recently, was called last Sunday night as pastor of a Baptist Church in Beaumont and accepted the call. He and good family are expecting to leave Tahoka next Tuesday.

The church to which Brother Hale is going is the second largest Baptist Church in the city with a membership of more than 1,100. Many friends here are congratulating Brother Hale upon the fine opportunity for service that has come his way, and they feel like congratulating the church too upon securing the services of Brother Hale, who is one of the strongest preachers of his denomination in all this section of the state. He and family have many warm friends in Tahoka.

Marvin Jones For New Farm Plans

By MARVIN JONES
Chairman, House Committee on Agriculture

Our tariff system makes a farm program necessary in the interest of the entire nation. Complete and permanent recovery can be had on no other basis.

No one wishes this country to sink back to the depths it had reached in 1932.

The decision of the Court in the AAA case is a far-reaching one.

However, I cannot believe that a national tariff is legal and that a national farm program which merely restores the price balance cannot be made legal.

I cannot believe that the cotton farmers and the producers of other world market crops must purchase their supplies in a higher-priced protective market and that there is no constitutional means by which they may be given an even break.

The greatest fundamental in our system of government is equality in the operation of its laws.

I am sure a constitutional method of putting all our citizens on an equal footing can be found. Certainly in the interest of simple justice the effort should be made. To this task the House Committee on Agriculture is devoting its earnest attention.

Personally I favor a domestic allotment plan linked with a soil conservation and rebuilding program and also including the seeking of new and additional outlets and markets, domestic and foreign.

While proper adjustment is desirable, we should of course produce all the market will absorb, both at home and abroad.

The legislation should be broad and flexible so as to permit different plans for different commodities, thus fitting to each commodity the plan best suited to its peculiar production and marketing conditions.

Such a program will be to the advantage of both producer and consumer.

The Congress added the domestic allotment plan, the soil conservation and market expansion features to last year's legislation. However, as other plans were already in operation, these had not yet been brought into full effect. Since the domestic allotment, soil conservation and market expansion plans were not involved in the decision of the Supreme Court, these were probably not affected; but as they were

How Cardui Helps Women To Build Up

Cardui stimulates the appetite and improves digestion, helping women to get more strength from the food they eat. As nourishment is improved, strength is built up, certain functional pains go away and women praise Cardui for helping them back to good health. . . . Mrs. C. E. Ratliff, of Hinton, W. Va., writes: "After the birth of my last baby, I did not seem to get my strength back. I took Cardui again and was soon sound and well. I have given it to my daughters and recommend it to other ladies." . . . Thousands of women testify Cardui benefited them. If it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician.

Farmers Aided By Resettlement

For every one of the more than a million and a half dollars their farm husbands have repaid on rehabilitation loans, Texas Resettlement wives have stored in their pantries, cellars, kitchens, and bedrooms a full dollar's worth of food grown on these farms or picked from wild plants.

To be more specific, they have canned 5,489,236 containers of food, averaging quart size, and including pint bottles of juices, quarts of vegetables, half-gallons of fruits, gallons of honey, and barrels of sauerkraut and pickles. In addition to the canned products, they have dried and cured 3,876,165 pounds of meats, fruits, and vegetables, or an average of 228 containers and 161 pounds of food per family.

In Lynn and Garza counties, Mrs. Ruth E. Baker, home supervisor, reports a total of 9,000 containers and more than 3,150 pounds of food has been preserved by forty-five families in these two counties.

"In an average county the cost of supervising and encouraging this canning was only one-third of a cent per quart of food canned," according to Mrs. Baker, and this county's cost is in line with this general figure. In addition to showing women how to can, a very important phase of her work is teaching mothers to budget this canning so that the diet will be well balanced, and health and strength maintained for the grueling climb to stability.

Mrs. Baker says the primary purpose of this program is to make these families independent and self-reliant through educational as well as financial backing.

The making of nearly a thousand mattresses out of their own cotton, renovating and remodeling $10,000 worth of clothing, and the neighborly exchange of more than 64,000 pieces of literature gives some idea of the tremendous importance of work other than that of home budgets and canning.

"The best part of all this food conservation program is the fact that it saves the cash received from crops for acutely needed clothing, medical attention, books, and recreation," Mrs. Baker believes.

Mrs. Baker states that when she was transferred to Lynn and Garza counties in September, she found that most of the clients who had entered the Resettlement Program were denying themselves of most everything except necessities in order to be able to pay out and have a chance to get back on their own initiative and get their own set up for 1936. The majorities of the families were without current reading matter. The Lynn County News was extended as a courtesy of the editor to all Lynn County Resettlement clients, and The Post Dispatch was extended, likewise, by the editor of that Garza County paper.

linked with some of the provisions that were held invalid, it would probably be wise to carry them forward in a new act.

The domestic allotment plan is peculiarly suited to cotton and wheat, but other methods will probably be better suited to some of the other crops. No single plan would be suited to all of the different commodities.

These are merely my own views. Legislation will be worked out by the Congress to accomplish the desired end in so far as it is possible to do so within the limits set out in the decision of the Supreme Court.

Dr. Ann West of Wilson is in Dallas taking a two weeks post graduate course at Bradford Memorial Hospital.

While accompanying the body of John W. Hickerson to Sherman Monday, A. J. Edwards became ill. His condition became so serious that he was compelled to stop over in Fort Worth on the way home, where he took treatment in a sanitarium. It is believed that he suffered from ptomaine poison. He was able to return to his home here Wednesday.

THE STATE OF TEXAS

To the Sheriff of any Constable Lynn County, Texas: GREETING: WHEREAS, on the 13th day of January, 1936, Callie Lumsden joined by her husband, L. Lumsden, filed and presented to the Commissioners Court of Lynn County, Texas, her Application in words and figures as follows:

"Now comes your petitioner, Callie Lumsden, of Lynn County, Texas, and respectfully makes the following representations to the Court, to-wit: 1. That she owns all of the following described Lots and Blocks designated by numbers, in the town of Wilson, Lynn County Texas, as said Lots and Blocks are shown by the map of said town of Wilson, recorded in Vol. 34, page 29, of the Deed Records of Lynn County, Texas, to-wit: All of Blocks No. 40, 41, 42, 43, 44, 45, 49, 50, 56, 57, 58 and 60; and all of Lots No. 1 to 12, inclusive, in Block No. 61; and all of Lots No. 13 to 24, inclusive, in Block No. 62; and all of Lots No. 21 to 26, inclusive, in Block No. 77; and all of Blocks No. 63, 65, 66, 72, and 73; and all of Lots No. 13 to 24, inclusive, in Block No. 78; and all of Blocks No. 79, 80, 81, and 82.

2. That your petitioner also owns the acreage lands adjoining that portion of the town plat of the town of Wilson where the above named and numbered Blocks are situated and immediately adjoining said Blocks No. 40 to 50, inclusive, and Blocks No. 66, 72, 56 and 82.

3. That none of said lands are situated in an incorporated city or town.

That the following named and numbered streets, avenues and alleys in said town of Wilson are adjacent to or intersect the Lots and Blocks mentioned in paragraph No. 1 above, to-wit: All of Sixth and Seventh Streets; all that portion of Kerr Avenue extending from Sixth Street to Ninth Street; all that portion of Studebaker Avenue extending from Sixth Street to Ninth Street; all that portion of Eighth Street extending from Kerr Avenue to Lumsden Avenue, and that portion of said Eighth Street extending from Gouger Avenue to a line running between the southeast corner of Lot No. 21, in Block No. 77, and the Northwest corner of Lot No. 12, in Block No. 61, and all that portion of said Eighth Street extending from Merrem Avenue to Studebaker Avenue; and all that portion of Vanham, Cuipepper, Lumsden and Dreyer Avenues, respectively, extending from Sixth Street to Ninth Street; and all that portion of Gouger, Welhausen and Merrem Avenues, respectively, extending from Sixth Street to Seventh Street; and all that portion of Houston Avenue extending from Sixth Street to a line running from the Northwest corner of Lot No. 13, in Block No. 78, to the Northeast corner of Lot No. 26, in Block No. 77; and all that portion of Dickson Avenue extending from Sixth Street to Eighth Street; and all of the alleys in Blocks No. 40 to 50, inclusive, and in Blocks No. 55, 57, 58, 60, 63, 65, 66, 72, 73, 80, 81 and 82; and all of the Alley running Northwest and Southeast in Block No. 78; and that none of said Streets, Avenues and Alleys and portions thereof above named are used by the public for any purpose; and that all that portion of Ninth Street extending from Kerr Avenue to Gouger Avenue, and all that portion of Ninth Street extending from Merrem Avenue to Studebaker Avenue, is used for a country neighborhood road, and the one-half of said Ninth Street, between said points, is lying adjacent to the railroad right-of-way, being 40 feet in width, is suitable and amply sufficient for such neighborhood road purposes.

5. That all of the Lots and Blocks described in paragraph No. 1 above and all of the Streets, Avenues and Alleys described in paragraph No. 4 above and the portion of the map and plat showing the same, should be cancelled and returned to acreage for tax assessment and collection purposes, and your applicant should be permitted and authorized to close all said Streets, Avenues and Alleys and portions thereof, and in this connection your petitioner represents to the Court that such action will not interfere with any established rights of any purchaser owning any of the other portions of the townsite of said town of Wilson, that your petitioner owns all of the land that would be affected thereby and the same is in ready acreage property, and the assessment of use same for taxes as lots and blocks works a great hardship on your petitioner and on the taxing officers, leading often to undue tax valuations, as well as unnecessary great expenses, confusion and possible litigation. Petitioner further represents that the cancellation applied for will be of great benefit to your petitioner, will work no hardship upon any one, and that, if so cancelled, petitioner will then own and render for taxes Tract No. 1 containing 132.77 acres of land lying Northeast of Green Avenue and its continuation as a public road, and Tract No. 2 containing 99.86 acres of land lying Southwest of said Green Avenue and public road, which will lessen confusion, labor, costs and expenses in the assessment and collection of taxes.

6. WHEREFORE, petitioner prays the Court that notice of this petition be given as required by Article 7227, Revised Civil Statutes of Texas, 1925, and after such notice shall have been published as the law requires, that the Court hear and act upon this petition at the next regular term thereof after such publication, and that upon such hearing the Court shall make and enter its order cancelling so much of said map and plat of the town of Wilson as covers and includes the above described property now belonging to your petitioner and the streets, avenues and alleys and portions thereof as above described, and authorizing the owner of said land, by written instrument such as is required by law, to cancel said map and plat to the extent defined in this petition and designated in such order of the Court, and to record the same in the Deed Records of Lynn County, Texas, and authorizing and directing the Tax Assessor of Lynn County, Texas, thereafter to assess such property so thrown back into acreage property, as if it had never been subdivided and platted into lots, blocks, streets, avenues and alleys, and otherwise to pursue the authority and requirements of said Article 7227.

In the alternative, as respects such cancellations, petitioner prays that the Court, at such hearing, order and permit the cancellation of so much of said platted and mapped town property as the Court shall deem proper. Respectfully submitted, CALLIE LUMSDEN, L. LUMSDEN."

AND, WHEREAS, the foregoing application having been presented to the Commissioners Court, such Court made its order in words and figures as follows:

"On this the 13th day of January, 1936, at a regular term of the Commissioners Court of Lynn County, Texas, all members of said Court being present and acting, came on regularly to be heard the application of Mrs. Callie Lumsden, joined by her husband, L. Lumsden, for an order of the Court cancelling and authorizing the cancellation of a portion of the map and plat of the town of Wilson, Texas, recorded in Vol. 34, page 29 of the Deed Records of Lynn County, Texas, as set forth in said application, and it appearing to the court that said application is in compliance with Article 7227 of the Revised Civil Statutes of Texas, 1925:

Therefore, in obedience to said Statute, it is ordered by the Court that the Clerk of this Court issue a citation in terms of law addressed to the Sheriff or any Constable of Lynn County, Texas, requiring him to summon any and all persons interested in such lands to be and appear before the Honorable Commissioners Court of Lynn County, Texas, at the regular term thereof commencing on the 10th day of February, 1936, the same being the second Monday in said month, in the city of Tahoka, in the Court House of said county, at ten o'clock, a. m., when and where said application will be heard by said Court and then and there to protest, if desired, against the action therein prayed for; and said citation shall contain a copy of this order and of said application, and shall be published in some newspaper published in the English language in Lynn County, Texas, for three consecutive weeks prior to the 10th day of February, 1936."

NOW, THEREFORE, You are hereby commanded to summon all persons interested in the townsite of Wilson, in Lynn County, Texas, and being the land described in the foregoing application and order, by making publication of this citation once in each week for three consecutive weeks before the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in the English language in Lynn County, Texas, to appear at the next regular term of the Commissioners Court of Lynn County, Texas, to be held at the Court House thereof in Tahoka, Texas, on the second Monday in February, 1936, the same being the 10th day of February, 1936, then and there, if desired, to protest against the granting of said application filed in said Court on the 13th day of January, 1936, and being the application hereinabove set out.

GIVEN under my hand and the seal of said Court, in the City of Tahoka, Texas, this 14th day of January, A. D. 1936. H. C. STORY, County Clerk and Ex-officio Clerk of the Commissioners Court in and for Lynn County, Texas. 22-3tp

CITATION BY PUBLICATION

The State of Texas, To the Sheriff or Any Constable of Lynn County, Greeting:

You are hereby commanded to summon Kate Cassel by making publication of this citation once in each week for four consecutive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your county, if there be a newspaper published therein, but if not, then in the nearest county where a newspaper is published, to appear at the next regular term of the District Court of Lynn County, Texas, to be held at the courthouse thereof in Tahoka, on the 3rd Monday in February, 1936, the same being the 17th day of February, 1936, then and there to answer a petition filed in said court on the first day of January, 1936, in a suit numbered 1085 on the docket of said court, wherein V. S. Cassel is plaintiff, and Kate Cassel is defendant, said petition alleging the marriage of said parties on the 30th day of January, 1910, and their separation as man and wife on or about the 27th day of July, 1935, same being caused by cruel and harsh treatment and improper conduct of the defendant toward plaintiff, by reason of which plaintiff was compelled to abandon defendant, none of which conduct was caused by plaintiff; that the conduct of defendant toward plaintiff generally are of such a nature as to render their further living together as husband and wife insupportable; asking that said marriage relations be dissolved and a divorce granted and for costs of suit.

Herein fail not, but have you before said court on the said first day of the next term thereof, this writ, with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same. Witness, W. S. Taylor, Clerk of the District Court of Lynn County, Texas. Given under my hand and seal of said court, in the town of Tahoka, Lynn County, Texas, this 16th day of January, 1936. W. S. TAYLOR, Clerk, District Court, Lynn County, Texas. Issued this 16th day of January, 1936. W. S. TAYLOR, Clerk, District Court, Lynn County, Texas. 22-4tc

LOSES FINGER WHEN GUN IS DISCHARGED Protecting lives of the family chickens may not be an exciting job, but it can be an exciting one, states R. M. Middleton, prominent farmer of this territory. Last Friday morning Mr. and Mrs. Middleton were aroused from a sound sleep by the chickens squawking and clucking in their roost near the barn. Snatching up his trusty rifle Mr. Middleton hastened to the rescue, finding that a coyote was the marauder. Just how this accident occurred Mr. Middleton has no idea, but it is believed that he stumbled and struck his arm against some obstacle with sufficient force to discharge the gun. Whatever the reason, the accidental discharge clipped the forefinger neatly from his right hand. He came at once to the office of a local physician, and was given emergency treatment. Yes Mr. Middleton shot that coyote before he went back to the house.—O'Donnell Index.

ANOTHER O'DONNELL MAN INJURED ON HIGHWAY

Jim Ward, operator of a filling station in O'Donnell, was slightly injured recently on the highway eight miles south of Lubbock, when his car collided with a truck which had been left standing on the highway, according to the O'Donnell Index. The glaring lights of a car he was meeting prevented his seeing the truck until he was too near it to avoid a collision. He was taken to a Lubbock hospital for treatment. There are 114,000 blind persons in the United States.

NOTICE TO BIDDERS

Bids will be received by the Commissioners' Court of Lynn County, at the Court House at Tahoka, Texas, until 10 o'clock a. m. on February 10th, 1936, for the purchase of Elevating Grader, welded construction, power control, 39 H. P. Motor, and an Allis Chalmers "75" to be taken as part payment, and notice is given that warrants will be issued in the maximum sum of $3800.00, payable serially, last maturity not later than April, 1939, bearing interest at the rate of 6% per annum, interest payable annually. The right is reserved to reject all bids. W. E. SMITH, County Judge, Lynn County, Texas. 23-2tc

HOUSING PROBLEM SERIOUS AS HIGHWAY CREW ARRIVES

With the arrival of scores of truck drivers, surveyors, engineers, and other highway employees at work on the loop through town and on that section of the highway between here and Tahoka, the housing problem in O'Donnell is becoming a serious one. We are told that not one third of the men have been able to find living quarters for themselves and their families, and that in several instances, families have been compelled to take up residence in nearby towns, the men coming back and forth to their work daily. During the past three or four years, so many houses have been torn down or have been moved out of town that there remains barely enough livable residences for those families who are permanently located here. Of course, the little boom in rent property will probably continue only a few months, but it seems that a limited number of choice apartments or small houses would be a fairly good investment.—The O'Donnell Index.

CARD OF THANKS

We take this method of thanking our friends for the many deeds of kindness shown at the death of our darling boy, Wendal Dwin. Words can't express our gratitude for the lovely flowers and for everything that was done to make our burden lighter. May God in Heaven bless and reward each of you is our prayer.—Mr. and Mrs. T. Cowan and family.

CARD OF THANKS

Mrs. Ida Hicks of Abilene, who is spending the winter here, is ill in the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. A. Bartlett.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank each of you for every deed of kindness and sympathy rendered to us during the illness and death of our loved one, A. O. P. Nicholson; also, for the beautiful floral offering. May God bless you.—The Nicholson family.

NEIGHBOR EDITOR SICK

Mrs. Farrell Farrington, editor of the O'Donnell Index, has been quite seriously sick and was unable to function as editor for a week or more but was on the job again last week.

EDITH 4-H CLUB

The Edith 4-H club met January 10th with their new sponsor Miss Juanita Parker and the county home demonstration agent Miss Robb. The officers for the new year were elected as follows: chairman, Mary Stewart; vice-chairman, Geneva Payne; secretary, Dorothy Kahl; reporter, Lodema Garnett.

The next club meeting will be January 24. At this meeting the girls will start their club aprons. Two things will be learned on this apron, the candle-wick stitch and how to put on bias tape.

LET'S MEASURE UP STRAIGHT on your winter gasoline. If you work your starter only eight or ten times a day, from now till March 21st, that will be 400 to 500 starts altogether. Let's say you only cut your time in half on each start, using Winter Blend Conoco Bronze gasoline. Even so, that's something like saving your battery 250 starts before next Spring! Right there Conoco Bronze might easily save you the price of a battery, or the fuss and expense of re-charging. Besides, you choke less, with Conoco Bronze, so you will not waste gasoline, or risk the life of your engine. And neither will your oil get so thin that you change it too often—another good saving. Now Conoco Bronze costs you only the same as a gasoline you might buy for no special reason at all. Then isn't this a fair request: test a tankful of sure-start Conoco Bronze. Refreshing Relief When You Need a Laxative Because of the refreshing relief it has brought them, thousands of men and women, who could afford much more expensive laxatives, use Black-Draught when needed. It is very economical, purely vegetable, highly effective. Mr. J. Lester Roberson, well known hardware dealer at Martinsville, Va., writes: "I certainly can recommend Black-Draught as a splendid medicine. I have taken it for constipation and the dull feelings that follow, and have found it very satisfactory." BLACK-DRAUGHT

INITIATIVE
It is true that some people lack initiative, leadership, and executive ability sufficient to enable them to go into business for themselves wherein they must employ others; but there are a great many things which even these people can do which will not require the employment of others, which would give them the ineffable boon of independence.—O. S. M.

DOCTORS KNOW

Mothers read this:

A cleansing dose today; a smaller quantity tomorrow; less each time, until bowels need no help at all.

Why do people come home from a hospital with bowels working like a well-regulated watch?

The answer is simple, and it's the answer to all your bowel worries if you will only realize it: many doctors and hospitals use liquid laxatives.

If you knew what a doctor knows, you would use only the liquid form. A liquid can always be taken in gradually reduced doses. Reduced dosage is the secret of any real relief from constipation.

Ask a doctor about this. Ask your druggist how very popular liquid laxatives have become. They give the right kind of help, and right amount of help. The liquid laxative generally used is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It contains senna and cascara—both natural laxatives that can form no habit, even in children. So, try Syrup Pepsin. You just take regulated doses till Nature restores regularity.

Lady Took Cardui When Weak, Nervous

"I can't say enough for Cardui if I talked all day," enthusiastically writes Mrs. L. H. Caldwell, of Statesville, N. C. "I have used Cardui at intervals for twenty-five years," she adds. "My trouble in the beginning was weakness and nervousness. I read of Cardui in a newspaper and decided right then to try it. It seemed before I had taken half a bottle of Cardui I was stronger and was soon up and around."

Thousands of women testify Cardui benefited them. If it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician.

No Need to Suffer "Morning Sickness"

"Morning sickness"—is caused by an acid condition. To avoid it, acid must be offset by alkalis—such as magnesia.

Why Physicians Recommend Milnesia Wafers

These mint-flavored, candy-like wafers are pure milk of magnesia in solid form—the most pleasant way to take it. Each wafer is approximately equal to a full adult dose of liquid milk of magnesia. Chewed thoroughly, then swallowed, they correct acidity in the mouth and throughout the digestive system and insure quick, complete elimination of the waste matters that cause gas, headaches, bloated feelings and a dozen other discomforts.

Milnesia Wafers come in bottles of 20 and 48, at 35c and 60c respectively, and in convenient tins for your handbag containing 12 at 20c. Each wafer is approximately one adult dose of milk of magnesia. All good drug stores sell and recommend them.

Start using these delicious, effective anti-acid, gently laxative wafers today. Professional samples sent free to registered physicians or dentists if request is made on professional letterhead. Select Products, Inc., 4402 23rd St., Long Island City, N. Y.

Formals of Choicest Silk Taffeta Many Have Achieved Fame

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

For the very elegant formal gown silk taffeta of most exquisite quality registers as first choice among women of patrician taste. The idol of the hour is silk taffeta in white and silver.

This flair for white taffeta is confirmed at every high-society formal gathering, so far this winter. The vogue includes versatile types, silver striped or dotted white taffeta being among the favorites. Matelasse white silk taffeta presents a pleasing diversion from the metallized effects.

Plain white taffeta starred with rhinestones is also a fabric highlight. Designers are playing up quantities of fancy stitching not only in immediate fashions but indications are that spring styles will make stitching an outstanding trimming feature. White silk taffeta designfully stitched with silver is one of fashion's happiest gestures. In answer to the call of the mode.

The illustration pictures a debutante who attends the opera in a white evening dress of super-lovely silver faconne taffeta. It has a deep V front and back and an unusual shoulder treatment. A jeweled clip and bracelet accent the simple splendor of this silk gown.

The all-black evening gown is given new prestige when it is fashioned of pure silk taffeta of highest quality as dramatically as is the model pictured. It is the very personification of elegance. Just how many yards of gleaming taffeta it took to achieve the bands of self-ruching on the skirt and bodice and for the graceful lei in the same ruching which encircles the throat and drops to the waistline at the back, we would not venture to say, but whatever the amount, it's worth it to produce so striking, so fetching a gown as is this.

HAIR ORNAMENTS

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

Now that the vogue for elaborate hairdresses is meeting with widespread approval for formal occasions, the use of ornaments, feathers, and especially the little Juliet caps which are so flattering, is established. Rhinestone clips are especially liked in that they are not merely beautiful but they are practical and useful in that they keep stray locks in check. Note the pretty bowknot rhinestone clip enhancing the hair shown at the top. An algrette (tongue) adjusted to one side of the ad as pictured below, interprets the mode effectively.

Style Trends Tailored evening dresses are becoming more popular every minute and the young lady's wardrobe is incomplete without at least one!

Pictureque A recent important fashion pronouncement showed models with enchanting names: an evening cape of Russian sable, for example, was called "champane" supper. A Russian ermine wrap with the fur mounted diagonally bore the name of "starlight." "Argentine" was the title of an evening gown made of brown and flesh colored satin.

Isinglass for Visors Isinglass visors are a new trick in sunshades for Palm Beach wear. They are attached to caps and are tinted soft blue, rose or yellow to match some detail of a white beach costume.

Many Have Achieved Fame While in Their Twenties

Ambitious youth seeking to find their places early in life in a maladjusted world will find encouragement. If they will take a look into the pages of history, E. B. DeGroot, California Boy Scout executive, in the Rotarian Magazine tells of a few of the young men and women who have "done big things."

William Pitt, Mr. DeGroot cites as his first example, filled the responsible post of chancellor of the exchequer at twenty-three and served as prime minister of Great Britain at twenty-four. George Washington was only twenty-three when he led the Virginia troops against the Indians and French. Abraham Lincoln campaigned for public office at twenty-four. Robert Louis Stevenson wrote "Treasure Island" at twenty-three. Westinghouse invented the air brake at twenty-three. Alexander the Great conquered and ruled the world before he was thirty. Sir Isaac Newton at twenty-four formulated the law of gravitation. Whitney was not more than twenty-nine when he invented the cotton gin. Charles Dickens wrote "Oliver Twist" at twenty-five. Napoleon at twenty-seven was in command of the Italian army. Patrick Henry was but twenty-seven when he made his conquering and historic speech against the Stamp act. Thomas Edison was not far above the Youth Service age level designated by Rotary (twenty-four years), when he astounded and benefited mankind with many of his inventions.

Paul Siple, an Eagle Scout, was only twenty when he qualified for an important post on the first expedition of Admiral Byrd to the Antarctic regions, and he was chief biologist on the second Byrd expedition. The average age of the members of America's Continental Congress was thirty-five. Two of its members, at least, were under thirty—Edward Rutledge, twenty-five, and John Jay, twenty-nine.

Lindbergh immortalized himself at twenty-five; moreover the heat out of 300 poems on the Lindbergh flight across the Atlantic in 1927 was written by Nathalia Crane, a fourteen-year-old girl of Brooklyn, N. Y. And so on, almost without end could we record the achievements and services of youth in the fields of statesmanship, literature, science, education, invention and courage.—Kansas City Times.

Crocheted Potholders in a Lantern Design

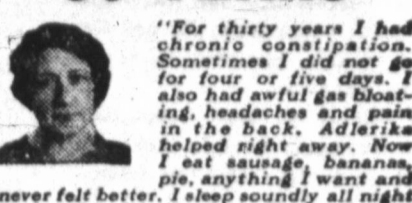

By GRANDMOTHER CLARK

Potholders are necessary in every kitchen so why not make them attractive when you do make them? These potholders are crocheted with heavy string crocheted cotton forming Jap lanterns and in colors red, green, yellow. The design is the same on all three but the colors are reversed, giving a very attractive and pleasing effect. The finished holders measure 6 inches each. No padding is required if made with heavy cotton. The instructions for making this set, No. 732, will be mailed to you for 10 cents. Instructions with material will be mailed for 40 cents.

CONSTIPATED 30 YEARS

"For thirty years I had chronic constipation. Sometimes I did not go for four or five days. I also had awful gas bloating, headaches and pain in the back. Adierika helped right away. Now I eat sausage, bananas, etc. anything I want and never feel better. I sleep soundly all night and enjoy life."—Mrs. Mabel Sobott.

If you are suffering from constipation, sleeplessness, sour stomach, and gas bloating, there is quick relief for you in Adierika. Many report action in 30 minutes after taking just one dose. Adierika gives complete action, cleaning your bowel tract where ordinary laxatives do not even reach.

Dr. H. L. Shoub, New York, reports: "In addition to intestinal cleansing, Adierika checks the growth of intestinal bacteria and colon bacilli."

Give your stomach and bowels a real cleansing with Adierika and see how good you feel. Just one spoonful relieves GAS and chronic constipation. Sold by all druggists and drug departments.

DICK GETS A NEW PARTNER

TAKE A TIP FROM ME... IF YOU'VE GOT COFFEE-NERVES... SWITCH TO POSTUM!

CHILDREN should never drink coffee, and... the caffeine in coffee disagrees with many grown-ups, too. If you are bothered by headaches or indigestion, or can't sleep soundly... try Postum for 30 days! It contains no caffeine. It is simply whole wheat and bran, roasted and slightly sweetened. Easy to make, costs less than one-half cent a cup. It's delicious, too... and may prove a real help. A product of General Foods.

FREE—Let us send you your first week's supply of Postum free! Simply mail the coupon. © 1936 G. F. CO. GENERAL FOODS, Battle Creek, Mich. W.N.U. 1-26-36 Send me, without obligation, a week's supply of Postum.

JOHN W. HICKERSON, 75 DIED SUNDAY MORNING

 Born in Tennessee, Mr. Hickerson came to Texas many, many years ago. For a long time he resided at Sherman and there his wife was buried. In 1915 he removed to Tahoka and has resided here ever since.

A carpenter by trade, Mr. Hickerson lived a quiet, reserved life, winning and holding the respect and esteem of a large circle of friends. A man of decided convictions on all questions that interested him, he was an intelligent and valuable citizen. He will be greatly missed by the people of Tahoka. He leaves surviving him one daughter, Miss Mareda Hickerson, who is a member of the faculty of the Louisiana State Normal College at Natchitoches, La. He was a cousin of G. W. Hickerson of Three Lakes in this county and Mrs. John B. Lowe, who resided until recently at New Home in this county.

Miss Mareda and other relatives have the sincere sympathy of many friends here in their bereavement.

P. W. GOAD ENTERS RACE FOR JUDGE OF COUNTY

 located in the New Home community, and have resided there since that time. I am willing to stand or fall upon the record that I have made in the twelve years that I have lived in Lynn County.

I have received the larger part of my education from practical experience and by the burning of much midnight oil. I have always taken a definite stand upon issues pertaining to the welfare of my community, county, State, and Nation.

I have not been solicited by a great host of people to make the race for County Judge but have received quite a lot of encouragement, for this I am very grateful. I am entering this race of my own accord, feeling that I can render to the people of Lynn County a valuable service in this capacity. I give the duties and responsibilities of this office much consideration, and I feel that I am thoroughly qualified in every respect.

I expect to conduct my campaign upon my own merits and qualifications and not upon the demerits and disqualifications of anyone else. May I say here that I am not a lawyer, but I do feel that I have had experience enough in legal matters that I can take care of the duties of this office both in a business and legal way.

I have been engaged in farming all my life until four years ago at which time I accepted the Management of the Farmers Co-operative Co. in at New Home and have maintained that position ever since. I have experienced some of the hardships, trials, and tribulations of life, and have been fairly successful in overcoming the most of them. Therefore I feel that I know the needs of the masses of the people in a way that would not be possible for anyone to know that has not experienced some of those hardships.

There has been in the last three years large appropriations made by both the State and National governments to relieve the unemployed situation and to aid the more unfortunate people of the nation. It is not necessary for me to go into a discussion with you about whether these appropriations should or should not have been made, because there are different opinions, but we all can and do agree that they have been made and they must be paid. I feel like that the people of Lynn County are entitled to our share of these appropriations, and I promise you that, if elected, I will use all my power, influence, and ability to secure for this county as much of these funds as it is possible to obtain.

I assure you that if I am elected County Judge of Lynn County that there shall be no voice too low to be heard regardless of your position in life, and there shall be no power so great as to influence me against the best interest of the masses of the people. I further assure you that if I am elected you will find me in my office at my post of duty regularly, six days of every week, ready to meet, greet, and serve you.

I do not want to make you a lot of promises that I cannot keep because I know you have been promised all manner of things in the past by the silver tongue politicians and because I know that promises are more easily made than they are kept, but I do want to promise you, if elected, an economical and business-like administration I realize that the cost of government of the County, State, and Nation has increased by leaps and bounds until taxes have become a burden upon the people. I don't mean to say that I will be able to lower taxes, but I do mean to say that I will hold the expenditures of the county to a minimum, so far as is within my power to do so. I would be glad to see them reduced if I find that it can be consistently done and still maintain a sound form of government.

I promise you, further, that if elected, every case pending upon the docket of this court shall be tried at the appointed date or a good reason will be given and not an excuse. It costs the taxpayers too much money to maintain and operate the courts of this land for cases to be allowed to be passed from one term of court to another except they have a good reason for doing so.

I assure you that every decision that I am called upon to make will be made by me and not by proxy. I, of course, will appreciate wise counsel and advice at all times, but I will not accept or tolerate dictations from any person or persons. It is my purpose to make a thorough canvass of the County and to meet the voters personally, but should I fail to meet you during my campaign, I will appreciate any consideration that you may give my candidacy. I want to assure you that if I am elected to this office and fortunate enough to serve the people of Lynn County in this capacity for four years, if I feel that I have not prepared myself for broader and more efficient service, in other words if I feel that I am not entitled to promotion at that time, it shall be my purpose to retire to private life and thus make place for a more progressive person.

I will be guided strictly by that old Democratic principle, "equal rights to all and special privileges to none."

Upon these issues and principles I earnestly solicit your influence and support. P. W. GOAD.
