

The Lynn County News

Volume XXXII

Tahoka, Lynn County, Texas, Friday, January 31, 1936.

Number 24

Heavy Snow Covers South Plains Region

MOISTURE WAS NEEDED HERE

Five-Inch Snow Wednesday Best That Has Visited This Area In Several Years

The heaviest snow of several years fell over the South Plains Wednesday. The fall here measured five inches. Due to the fact that much of the snow fell in small flakes, it lay very compact on the ground and doubtless contained more moisture content than most snows that visit this section of the state.

The snow began falling shortly before daybreak Wednesday morning, and continued without intermission during the entire day and until after nightfall. There was a brisk breeze from the north during the morning but it quieted down in the afternoon and had almost ceased before night. Consequently the snow did not drift heavily but in the open fields and pastures it was distributed fairly evenly over the ground. It will doubtless be fine for the soil and helpful to the farmers in preparing their land for another crop.

The lowest temperature this week was recorded Thursday morning, when the mercury dropped to 13. The lowest temperature this season was reached Saturday morning, January 18, when the thermometer registered 8 above zero.

Record Crowd At Luncheon Tuesday

Many visitors who were here Tuesday attending the farm meeting in the courthouse attended the business men's luncheon club at the American Legion Home at the noon hour. With 46 present, it was the best attended meeting in several months.

Several of the visitors made brief addresses.

Aubra M. Cade had charge of the program for the day. He cracked a number of jokes at the expense of other members and proved himself to be quite a humorist.

Iris Dean Cade gave a humorous reading and Charles Gagnat favored the audience with two well-rendered violin selections. Mrs. J. K. Applewhite accompanying at the piano.

No business matters were taken up at this luncheon, the hour being spent in dining and entertaining the distinguished visitors.

Miss Berta Hill left Saturday to take her former position in Dallas, having come home about five months ago on account of the condition of her health at that time.

FARM NOTES

V. F. Jones, County Agent

Mr. C. H. Day of Plainview, chairman of the Texas Cotton Advisory Committee, will speak in the District Court room in Tahoka next Saturday morning, February 1, at 10 o'clock.

Mr. Day has just returned from Washington where he has conferred with Administration officials relative to a farm program to replace the Triple-A program. We are sure that Mr. Day will have something interesting to tell the farmers, and they are urged to attend this meeting.

Willard and James Bennett and T. J. Poindexter, 4-H Club boys of the New Home community, have each secured a baby beef calf to feed out for exhibit in the 4-H Club Boys' Calf Show at the Texas Centennial at Dallas this year.

We want about three more boys to feed calves for the Centennial exhibit.

Later in the year, pigs and lambs will be placed on feed for exhibit at the Centennial. Any boys who have not enrolled in club work for 1936 and desires to do so, see the county agent and obtain an enrollment card.

FARMERS MEET WELL ATTENDED

Farm Credit Men Heard By Large Crowd At Court House In Tahoka Tuesday

In spite of unpleasant weather, many farmers attended the meeting in the district court room here Tuesday given for the purpose of acquainting farmers with the various channels through which credit may be extended to them by the Federal government.

Gulon Gregg of Lubbock, F.D.A. Regional Specialist, presided. S. A. McMillan, Extension Economist in Farm Management, Texas A. & M. College, addressed the gathering on Intelligent Use of Farm Credits.

R. J. Murray of Dallas, assistant regional director, a former citizen of the South Plains, was another interesting speaker.

Mr. McWhorter of Houston, representing the Farm Credit Administration, and other also made addresses. Among these was Mrs. Baker, who is engaged in the Re-Settlement service here.

Farmers present were intensely interested and doubtless obtained much valuable information.

Armstrong Will Speak At Seagraves

Rev. C. C. Armstrong is planning to attend a Christian Education Institute at Seagraves Friday. He is scheduled to preach on Christian Education at the 11 o'clock hour.

The Methodist Churches at Seagraves, Seminole, Brownfield, and several other places in that section of the Lubbock district are to participate in the meeting.

Speaker Is Heard By Townsendites

According to the secretary's report, the regular meeting of the Townsend club last Saturday afternoon was a very active and interesting one. A large crowd was in attendance, and another dozen new members were enrolled. Besides the routine activities, the club had as speaker for the occasion Judge W. D. Benson, of Lubbock. Mr. Benson was a delegate to the National Convention of Townsend clubs held in Chicago, and his speech was freighted with interesting data concerning the movement's progress throughout the nation. His special appeal was that the mature people help to create and preserve a sound basis for the progress and prosperity of the youth of our land, by supporting the Townsend Old Age Annuity plan.

Rev. B. N. Shepherd of Hereford was the guest Monday night of Rev. and Mrs. George A. Dale. He had just brought Mrs. Shepherd to a sanitarium in Lubbock for a major operation, which she was to undergo at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning. Brother Shepherd was the former pastor of the Baptist Church here, and the many friends here hope that Mrs. Shepherd will speedily recover.

Kitchens And Home Food Supply Will Be Studied By H. D. Clubs During 1936

Demonstrations on kitchen and home farm food supply will be carried out by the twelve Home Demonstration Clubs of Lynn county the ensuing year. The year's program is printed in detail in the 1936 year books that have just been printed by the Lynn County News and are being distributed to the members.

The co-operators' goals for the kitchen: refinish the floor in correct way according to its present condition, or recover floor, or refinish walls and woodwork. Have all openings tightly screened, have correct height for all working surfaces, and add a kitchen stool. The expansion work in the kitchen will be done by assisting others to make their kitchens more convenient.

The co-operators' goals in farm food supply are: To make two one-week meal plans; prepare mild flavored, strong flavored, and raw vegetable each six times; present for scoring one of the vegetables prepared.

The kitchen demonstrators are: Mrs. Boswell Edwards, New Home; Mrs. I. M. Draper, Midway; Mrs. J. H. Kuykendall, Edith; Mrs. Gulon Cobb, Dixie; Mrs. C. E. Short, Grassland; Mrs. P. K. Fleming, New Lynn; Mrs. C. V. Nelms, Tahoka; Mrs. Melvin Todd, Wilson; Mrs. Willis Pennington, Draw; Mrs. John Etter, Wells.

Farm food demonstrators are: Mrs. J. R. Strain, New Home; Mrs. R. L. Littlepage, Midway; Mrs. Garland Pennington, Edith; Mrs. A. L. Dunagan, Dixie; Mrs. Roy LeMond, Grassland; Mrs. Roy Kelly, New Lynn; Mrs. A. C. Weaver, Tahoka; Mrs. M. C. Brandon, Wilson; Mrs. C. L. Patterson, Draw; Mrs. Dewey Greenwood.

45,000-Bale Cotton Crop Is Evidence Of County Recovery

MANY TRACTORS ARE SOLD HERE

Farming Methods Are Undergoing Revolution Over The South Plains Of Texas

Apparently farming in this country is rapidly undergoing a radical transformation.

It's the tractor that is doing the work.

Both the implement houses here are selling scores of tractors. One dealer states that he has already sold ninety this season and the other has sold nearly that many. Many farmers have already been using tractors but the demand for them seems to be growing by leaps and bounds.

This obviously means that each individual farmer will cultivate more land and many renters will probably be unable to find land to cultivate. The number of renters in Lynn county has been steadily decreasing, in fact, for the past two or three years, due to the increasing use of tractors.

Whether this is a situation that we like or not, whether it is a good or a bad omen for the country as a whole, this transformation is most certainly taking place, and we had just as well begin now to try to adjust ourselves to the new conditions that are arising.

Many tenants, of course, are unable to buy land for themselves, but it behooves all who can do so to do so at the earliest opportunity, it seems to us.

Robinson Flays Smith In Speech

Joe T. Robinson, Democratic leader in the Senate and running-mate of Al Smith in 1928, Tuesday night answered Smith's Liberty League assault on Roosevelt and the New Deal.

Citing Smith's own record and utterances to convict him of inconsistency, Robinson drove home his points with biting sarcasm. He used the rod and spared it not.

He undertook to show from published utterances of the Happy Warrior and from other facts that Smith had heretofore strongly urged the adoption of practically every New Deal measure that the Roosevelt Administration has employed.

He pictured Al Smith in 1928 as the champion of the people, the poor and the oppressed. He pictured him Saturday night as the champion and idol of the big interests.

Robinson's bitter attack indicates that there is to be no further effort to assuage Smith's opposition to the Roosevelt administration. Henceforth it is to be war to the hilt on the erstwhile Happy Warrior.

G. W. Simmons of the Jones Dry Goods store is in Dallas this week making purchases of spring and summer stocks of goods.

John Johnson's Trial 'Hung Jury'

The trial of John Johnson, deputy sheriff of Lynn county, in Big Springs last week on a murder charge resulted in another "hung jury," the jurors standing 8 to 4 for acquittal, according to press reports.

This was the fourth trial of Mr. Johnson on this charge, the jury failing to agree each time.

Johnson is charged with the killing of a man named Best on the highway between O'Donnell and Lamesa about three years ago. His plea is one of self defense. The general circumstances of the killing are well known to most Lynn county people.

C. H. Reagan Out For Commissioner

Having been a resident of this county for about twenty years and having had six years experience in the operation of a road grader, C. H. (Claude) Reagan believes that he is thoroughly familiar with the needs of Lynn county and with the duties of a county commissioner. He would like to serve in this capacity and is therefore making his announcement this week as a candidate for commissioner of precinct No. 4, the New Home precinct.

Mr. Reagan came to this county in 1916. Since that time he has resided several years on a farm south of Tahoka, three years in Tahoka, one year at Wilson, and nearly three years near New Home, where he is farming.

He is 40 years of age, strong and in good health, and in every way capable of looking after the duties of the office. He is married and has six children.

He is already well acquainted throughout the precinct. He hopes to be able to meet every voter before election day. He will appreciate your support, and says that if he is elected he will do his best to get the job done.

More Jobs For Young People

W. B. Bishop, the NRS interviewer of Lynn county, is making a special effort to place eligible youths who are not employed and who are not in school in some kind of WPA work.

According to Mr. Bishop, any youth between the ages of 16 and 25 and whose family is certified to the WPA and who themselves have been certified, is eligible.

Register with the NRS, room 5, Thomas building, Tahoka, and then write a letter to the State or Local Director of the National Youth Administration giving a brief account of yourself and your qualifications, sending a copy of the letter to the Division of Employment, WPA, Big Springs.

Only a limited number of youths will be selected. The selection will be carried out under the joint supervision of the State Youth Director and the Director of the WPA Division of Employment or Assistant Director of Intake and Certification. The daily wage for this part time employment ranges from $1.21 to $4.24, and the maximum number of hours per month is 46. It is not the intention however for any youth who is in school to quit school for these part time jobs. The days for registrations in Lynn county are Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of each week.

SPEAKS AT SLATON

Sen. G. H. Nelson and Frank Hill attended the annual banquet of the Slaton Board of City Development Tuesday night, Mr. Nelson making the principal address of the occasion. Over 100 attended the affair.

Mrs. Garland Pennington is spending the week at Coleman. She is visiting an aunt who is sick.

GOOD CROP ON REDUCED ACRES

Should Prove To "Brain Trusters" That 1935 Sandstorms Did Not Ruin Plains

In spite of the fact that the cotton acreage in Lynn county was reduced at least 30 per cent last year by the Government AAA program, 45,306 bales of last year's crop had been ginned in this county prior to January 16, 1936, according to the Census Bureau, Department of Commerce, Washington, D. C. This report was sent to E. W. Holloway, local representative, early this week.

When it is remembered that Lynn county is situated in the so-called Dust Bowl of the nation and officials at Washington last spring announced that the country was damaged beyond recovery and advocated turning all this section back into pasture lands, this quick come-back is truly remarkable. It fact it must be astonishing to the brain-trusters at Washington.

The sand storms last spring were the worst in the history of the country. There were limited areas in which the productivity of the land was damaged by erosion. And the storms continued so late in the spring that people residing in other sections of the country visiting this section in April or May thought that a crop last year was entirely out of the picture.

But people who had lived here any considerable length of time knew that there had been no appreciable damage to the country as a whole, except in small scattered localities. They knew that when the rains came again the country would blossom as the rose. The rains did come, and the result was a 45,000-bale cotton crop and an enormous feed crop.

Smith Is Out For Co. Judge Again

Our readers will find in our announcement column this week the name of W. E. (Happy) Smith as a candidate for re-election to the office of county judge.

Everybody knows Happy Smith, and everybody likes him. He is a native West Texan. Born in Taylor county, his parents brought him to this county when he was still a little fellow and he has never felt that they made a mistake. He just kept on liking the country so well that he stayed, and he is here yet, serving his people to the very best of his ability.

After completing his course in the public school, Happy attended school at Canyon a short time. Then he taught a little, worked at the blacksmith's trade a bit, and decided to make the race for county clerk. He was successful and served efficiently for three terms.

Following this he engaged in business for four years. Yielding to the solicitations of many friends, he then became a candidate for county judge. Again he was successful and is now serving his second term.

As county judge he has made an excellent record. He has been attentive to his duties and has ever striven to make just as few mistakes as possible. The experience he has had in the office, together with his experience as county clerk, has given him a thorough knowledge of the affairs of the county. Polite, accommodating, and capable, he has given general satisfaction. He promises if re-elected to continue to give his best to the service of the county. He will appreciate your vote and influence in the coming campaign.

Our old-time friend, E. B. Gregson of Westbrook, Mitchell county, walked in on us Monday and shot us a few sheekles to keep the News going to his address. Mr. Gregson owns some property in this county.

Mrs. D. M. Nixon of Grassland reports that their son, D. M. Jr., 16, has just recovered from an attack of pneumonia and is again able to attend school.

News Review of Current Events the World Over

Edward VIII Becomes Ruler of the British Empire; Substitute for Unconstitutional AAA Rejected by Senate Subcommittee.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD © Western Newspaper Union.

GEORGE V, king of Great Britain and emperor of India, died in Sandringham house, peacefully and painlessly, in his seventy-first year. Immediately on his passing, his eldest son, Edward Albert, who had been prince of Wales, succeeded to the throne, which by British law, is never vacant. Next morning the state council, consisting of the queen and her four sons, which had been created by a decree which George signed a few hours before his death, proclaimed the accession of the new ruler as Edward VIII. His first official act was to notify the lord mayor of London of his father's demise.

King George, who had been on the throne almost twenty-five years, was the best loved and most democratic of the world's monarchs, always solicitous for the welfare of his subjects and living a simple and almost faultless domestic and official life. The new king, a confirmed bachelor, knows his vast empire intimately, having visited practically every part of it, some regions many times. Decidedly different from his father in his tastes and ways of life, he still, as the prince of Wales, has been a great favorite of the people, and in recent years, realizing that he would soon have to mount the throne, he steadied down and took an increasing interest in the affairs of the empire. He is especially liked by the laboring classes, in whose welfare he often has shown deep sympathy. That he never married has been a disappointment to the British people. Now for the first time since the reign of William IV there is no prince of Wales. Next in the line of succession is the king's brother, the duke of York, and second comes the duke's little daughter, Princess Elizabeth. There will be six months or more of official mourning for George's death, and Edward VIII will not be crowned for about one year.

The body of the dead ruler was removed from Sandringham house to the little church of St. Mary Magdalene in Sandringham. Thence it was taken to Westminster abbey, there to lie in state. Interment is to be in the Albert Memorial chapel at Windsor, beside the tombs of George's father and mother.

THE New Deal's substitute for the unconstitutional AAA, a bill empowering the secretary of agriculture to pay farmers who cooperate voluntarily in a program of soil conservation, was introduced in congress by Senator John R. Bankhead, Democrat, and Representative Marvin Jones, Democrat, Texas. The bill was referred to a senate subcommittee. The members of the subcommittee doubted the constitutionality of the new measure and directed Secretary of Agriculture Wallace to write a new bill. The bill rejected by the committee stated as its purposes:

1. Preservation and improvement of soil fertility.
  2. Promotion of the economic use of land.
  3. Diminution of exploitation and unprofitable use of national soil resources.
  4. Provision for and maintenance of a continuous and stable supply of agricultural commodities adequate to meet domestic and foreign consumer requirements at prices fair to both producers and consumers.
  5. Re-establishment and maintenance of farm purchasing power.
- Secretary Wallace was requested to write a new act that would provide a plan of co-operation with each of the 48 states, and set up a permanent program on AAA policies. Chairman Smith, Democrat, said, saying he spoke for the committee. Smith explained:
- "We said in effect to Secretary Wallace, 'Make it constitutional, because we have the responsibility to pass it.'"

THE compromise bill providing payment of the soldier bonus, whipped through congress by crushing majorities, was passed on to the President, who is expected to veto it.

Congressional action on the measure was completed when the house voted 346 to 59 to accept the senate substitute for the bill it had previously passed. The senate vote was 74 to 16. Leaders of both houses claim they have sufficient votes to override a veto.

The original house bill did not provide a method for paying the cost of the bonus, which is estimated at $2,357,000,000. The senate suggested the issuance of the $30 "baby bonds" which will bear interest of 3 per cent annually until 1945 if the veteran elects to hold on to them.

Each veteran will receive the 1945 value of his adjusted compensation certificate in $30 bonds with a government check for odd amounts. Interest owed by veterans upon loans unpaid on their certificates is canceled, but there will be no refund of interest paid upon such loans.

THE present federal relief program, depending principally on work relief, CCC and public works, is alone costing approximately as much as the fourfold program which went before and which embraced these three items plus direct relief which has now been returned to the states, according to a study of the relief problem and the government finances by Kendall K. Hoyt in the Analyst.

For immediate purposes, at least, there is no prospect of much reduction in the rate of federal expenditure, according to Mr. Hoyt. In order to prevent the states from trooping back for more relief funds the government must keep its pledge to employ the arbitrary three and one-half millions of persons which have been carried since last November principally under WPA and CCC. In dollar terms this means that, according to budget estimates, the outlay for recovery and relief for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1936, will be almost the same as that for the preceding fiscal year, namely, three billions in round numbers, or an average of 250 millions per month.

It is within expectancy, therefore, that costs to the country will reach a new high unless economic conditions improve more rapidly than can now be foreseen.

APPARENTLY "authentic" administration sources are credited, according to Democrats in congress, with a report that Jesse Jones, RFC chairman, may become secretary of the treasury. It was said that Henry Morgenthau, present secretary of the treasury, may be made confidential adviser to the President.

One congressman, who keeps abreast of developments in government financial circles, said he was reasonably sure the change already has received some consideration from President Roosevelt. Another added that it was a "100-to-1 shot that it is under consideration."

The reports were discounted to some extent, however, by the fact that the President has just renominated Jones for two more years as chairman of the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

One Democratic representative argued that on the basis of his past record Jones could carry into the treasury the respect and confidence of both big business and "the man in the street." He described the RFC chairman as sufficiently liberal to command the support of liberal elements and yet not leaning so far in that direction as to alarm conservatives.

PREMIER NESSIM PASHA, weary of his job since the anti-British riots started November 13, has handed the resignation of his cabinet to King Fuad I. The resignation was accepted.

Nessim found it exhausting to keep an equilibrium between the conflicting forces of the throne, the British residency, the nationalists and their patriots. But the final blow, dealt him by the British government at London, was the thinly veiled ultimatum to Angli-Egyptian treaty. The sting to Egyptian pride was in the warning that if the present negotiations fail, the British consider their hands will be free and will revise their Egyptian policy.

FACTORY sales of automobiles manufactured in the United States rose to 407,804 in December, bringing the year's total to 4,009,486, the Department of Commerce reports. The total compares with 2,753,111 in 1934. At the same time the department reported an increase of $7,483,914 in exports of automotive products during the month of November from the preceding month. November auto exports reached a valuation of $22,403,722. This is the peak figure for any corresponding month since 1929, when the export total amounted to $27,129,963.

AFTER several months of governmental stability Premier Pierre Laval has handed to Albert Lebrun, president of France, the resignation of the entire cabinet. Leaders expressed fear of a financial crisis.

The radical Socialists: Minister of State Edouard Herriot, Minister of Commerce (George Bonnet, Minister of Mercantile Marine William Bertrand, and Minister of Interior Joseph Paganon, composed a letter of resignation condemning the domestic and foreign policies of Laval. Their colleagues, Minister of Finance Marcel Regnier and Minister of Pensions Manpoll, refused to sign, declaring they would resign only with the cabinet as a whole. The Nationalist Minister of State Louis Marin, also dissented from the resignation.

Laval, informed of what was going on, handed the president the resignation of the entire cabinet.

See Much Dirt Slinging Ahead

Selfish Interests Start Mud Throwing; Weighty Problems Must Be Solved

By EARL GODWIN

WASHINGTON.—We are now on the last lap of the Roosevelt administration, as January 20 of next year will be inauguration day for the next President. March 4 as inauguration day is dropped under the terms of the so-called "lame duck" amendment to the Constitution, and Roosevelt is the first President to serve this bob-tailed term of office, which is several weeks shorter than all those which went before.

It will be a tough twelve months. There will be, as Chairman James Farley of the Democratic national committee predicts, the "dirtiest" kind of a political campaign. In addition, there will be problems of administration requiring superhuman intelligence and physical endurance.

Of the political campaign I have written previously; and the dirt is already developing. It comes from the element in the nation's business group who do not appreciate Roosevelt's efforts in behalf of the forgotten man. The intense selfishness of those who have great possessions is exemplified in the letters of the man in New York who recently threatened to kill the President if the administration interfered with any of his wealth.

It is exemplified in the peculiar outburst from Alice Longworth, daughter of the late President Roosevelt, who is now a daily contributor to a group of newspapers. Her output is a recurring burst of complaint and satire on a level much lower than one would expect from one of that strain. Mrs. Longworth, herself a former occupant of the White House and related both to President and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, is today a front line sniper at the New Deal. Theodore Roosevelt, attempting to give a Square Deal to the average man, was followed by Franklin Roosevelt with a New Deal for the same fellow; but Alice Longworth has joined the political descendants of those who went to unbelievable lengths to stop her father.

OMINOUS HOURS
There are governmental matters to be settled properly, or dire consequences will follow. We have the immediate matter of financing the government, and while there are weighty figures to discuss, the credit of the nation is fine and its resources ample. We must use a stern control of expenditures, but Roosevelt is prepared to do just that. Congress must be watched for excesses in spending.

The web which war spreads in Europe is a dangerous threat, and we must rely on inspired wisdom to escape entanglement. The matter of a European war is simply one of the convenience of time. Italy wants to whip Great Britain and eventually become the supreme world power in that hemisphere. Germany, we hear, is building up a store of ammunition to be ready for World war on a certain date two or three years hence. Japan is eating its way into China; and Russia, whence come the Communists and their eternal cry in this country to "reduce armaments," has just appropriated three billion dollars for a year's spending on an army of a million men. That is six times as much as we spend on a standing army of one-fifth the size. Russia is bristling with bayonets and whirring with airplanes against Japan. Meantime this blessed country, joining hands with Canada as well as the nations to the South, is spreading the good neighbor policy throughout the western world, so that North and South America will stand for peace against the rest of the world. For this reason then, it is necessary to ask divine guidance among the diplomatic pitfalls, and the government must use great care in adopting a policy of neutrality when the present policy expires February 28.

DOMESTIC PROBLEMS
Among the domestic problems this next few months are those presented by the Supreme court's opinion, which will make it necessary to change some of the details of the New Deal. If the ordinary man, the working classes, organized labor, farmers and home owners are to be deprived of the social and economic advances the New Deal was giving them, there may be a social upset of dire proportions. Such details and such hope deferred breed radicalism and strife. It was Roosevelt's idea to stretch the social fabric a little at a time, rather than keep America in conservative bonds until the ferment beneath the surface burst it all asunder.

Who would want to be President under the circumstances? It is a man-killing job, as evidenced by the fact that there is but one ex-President living.

BANKS MUST LOOSEN
This administration is doing all it can to induce bankers to lend more money to more people at lower rates of interest, and until the bankers drop their timid attitude this government will stay in the banking business, lending huge sums to industry at low rates. Several administration leaders have sounded off on this note in the past year. Latest among them was Jesse Jones, the Texan who is chairman of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, which has loaned several billion dollars to banks, to industry, to trade and to railroads—and is getting it back. Jesse Jones' criticism of bankers is that most of them are making loans only where they can be collected practically on demand, or so secured that the collateral can be sold on short notice. The borrower is strait-jacketed. Jones, like other New Dealers, is striving for the day when character and confidence once more play their part in the lending of money. He wants to see the time again when the ordinary citizen of good character can borrow money on his signature, and the banker will not fear the transaction. He is also working to reduce the cost of loans.

The Great Northern railroad's financial story of the moment is a striking example of the RFC policy under Jesse Jones. One of the blackest pages in our history is the wrecking of various great railroad systems by financiers who waited around until a road needed money, loaned it, took the railroad's life blood as security, and then proceeded to run the road for the benefit of the banks instead of the country at large.

That much by way of explanation. The Great Northern, fine system that it is, has been paying 7 per cent on an issue of bonds amounting to $115,000,000 imposed by bankers 15 years ago. The bankers, too, gave the road $91.50 for each hundred dollar bond, thereby shaving off ten million dollars for themselves in advance, the road paying a good deal more than 7 per cent for the actual money that had borrowed. Now when these bonds mature next July, the Reconstruction Finance company intends to help the Great Northern renew the loan at 4 per cent. The bankers agree to a 5 per cent rate, plus a million dollars gratuity, and an additional 1 per cent off for any bonds they might take for themselves. This was about the best the road could do; and the bankers believed they had this loan all sewed up and were advertising it. They made the road believe it was difficult to get money, and advertised the bonds at a premium of 9 per cent, or ten million dollars more than the road would get.

However, the deal was not sewed up, and the Reconstruction Finance corporation was called in. Jesse Jones tried to get the banks to cut their rates to 4 1/4% with a half million dollars for gratuity, but no. It was all or nothing.
So the RFC is stepping in to help finance one of the country's oldest and best transportation systems. The road saves eleven million dollars on the deal at the start, and saves three million dollars a year interest.

Summary overruling the government's petition for a rehearing of the Louisiana rice millers' cases, favoring the refund of some 200 million dollars in processing taxes held in escrow, the United States Supreme court issued its mandate ordering the return of the funds to the taxpayers.

The court also issued its mandate in the Hoosac mills cases, in which the Agricultural Adjustment act was held unconstitutional and thereby closed the door to petitions for a rehearing in that case. In a third action the court ordered arguments on February 4 on the New Deal's motion to dismiss a suit brought by the state of Georgia to test the constitutionality of the Bankhead compulsory cotton control act.

The expected decision in the TVA case was not handed down.

UNDERSECRETARY of the Treasury Thomas Jefferson Coolidge resigned his position suddenly and unexpectedly, because he did not agree with all the policies of the administration. At the same time Assistant Secretary Lawrence W. Robert resigned. President Roosevelt accepted both resignations. It was understood there was no connection between the two withdrawals. Mr. Robert had been expected for some time to quit his post.

In his treasury position Mr. Coolidge, long a New England banker, has been in charge of such government financial affairs as the huge borrowings of money to meet heavy government expenditures. He was understood to be in accord with most Roosevelt policies but felt he was unable to give his full support to the general New Deal program.

INTRODUCED in the house by Chairman Rayburn of the Interstate Commerce committee is a bill for the purpose of increasing the powers of the federal trade commission to prevent unfair and deceptive trade practices. It proposed these four major changes in the present law:

1. Declares "deceptive acts and practices" unlawful in addition to the "unfair methods of competition" now specified.
2. Includes "trusts" in the scope of the law along with corporations.
3. Gives the Circuit Court of Appeals power to restrain practices involved in a commission proceeding pending final court decision.
4. Limits to 90 days from the date of a commission order the time in which application may be made to the Circuit court for review of the order.

CONGRESSMAN CONNERY of Massachusetts, chairman of the house labor committee, says that body has approved a bill designed to impose the 30-hour week on industry operating in interstate commerce, and that he hopes it will have the support of the President. The measure would license all interstate business and withhold licenses from firms which work employees more than 30 hours a week, fail to provide a wage sufficient to maintain a decent and comfortable standard of living, deny workers the right to join unions or bargain collectively, or employ persons under sixteen years of age.

That much by way of explanation. The Great Northern, fine system that it is, has been paying 7 per cent on an issue of bonds amounting to $115,000,000 imposed by bankers 15 years ago. The bankers, too, gave the road $91.50 for each hundred dollar bond, thereby shaving off ten million dollars for themselves in advance, the road paying a good deal more than 7 per cent for the actual money that had borrowed. Now when these bonds mature next July, the Reconstruction Finance company intends to help the Great Northern renew the loan at 4 per cent. The bankers agree to a 5 per cent rate, plus a million dollars gratuity, and an additional 1 per cent off for any bonds they might take for themselves. This was about the best the road could do; and the bankers believed they had this loan all sewed up and were advertising it. They made the road believe it was difficult to get money, and advertised the bonds at a premium of 9 per cent, or ten million dollars more than the road would get.

However, the deal was not sewed up, and the Reconstruction Finance corporation was called in. Jesse Jones tried to get the banks to cut their rates to 4 1/4% with a half million dollars for gratuity, but no. It was all or nothing.
So the RFC is stepping in to help finance one of the country's oldest and best transportation systems. The road saves eleven million dollars on the deal at the start, and saves three million dollars a year interest.

COURT SEES THE LIGHT
In the excitement of the Supreme court's 6 to 3 opinion against the processing taxes and the benefit checks of AAA, nearly everyone here lost sight of the fact that while the high court killed a specific item of the New Deal farm program, it conceded for the first time in history, Alexander Hamilton's conception of the use of the federal spending power for the general welfare. The Supreme court has walked all around the brief welfare clause of the Constitution, and has looked at it and examined it, and has apparently started to say something about it, but never until now has it given the slightest hint of the vast and almost unlimited scope of action which the federal government may seize for the general good of all the people. It must make Uncle Sam feel very much like Balboa felt the first time he looked at the Pacific ocean. It gives a greater power to government than anyone has ever anticipated, and after the first shock of the loss of AAA is over, we may look for an extension of federal power hitherto undreamed of.

What the court said, overlooked so far, is that congress can levy taxes for the general welfare, but must spend it in a general way and not for the specific regulation of the affairs of any class or of any particular industry. Congress then, can pay out a subsidy but cannot tie any strings on it. This view of the Supreme court's opinions throws a clear light on President Roosevelt's utterance that together, the majority and minority views of the court are among the most important ever handed down.

WHY BRYAN RESIGNED
Some of the twenty-one-year-old letters shown for the first time in the senate's inquiry into J. P. Morgan's part in the World war, make it clear that William Jennings Bryan resigned from the post of secretary of state in President Wilson's cabinet because Wilson's neutrality policy before we entered the war was being tampered with by Secretary of the Treasury William Gibbs McAdoo, now a senator from California. President Wilson was neutral; Bryan was frantically neutral, so when Wilson began to edge away from his first neutrality stand, Bryan resigned. Wilson appointed Lansing, who became putty in the hands of McAdoo, who was Wall Street's boy at that time. Morgan and McAdoo combined to put great business pressure into America's swing from a neutral nation to a pro-ally nation. We were selling three billion dollars' worth of goods to the allies, and war made property in this country. No one can say that had Bryan stayed in the cabinet as secretary of state with his strictly neutral attitude, we would not have gone to war, because Germany's submarine warfare would undoubtedly have enraged the feelings of Americans, but we were definitely influenced by the propaganda of those who had money to make. That's why this congress is digging up all these facts in the munitions inquiry.

Several administration leaders have sounded off on this note in the past year. Latest among them was Jesse Jones, the Texan who is chairman of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, which has loaned several billion dollars to banks, to industry, to trade and to railroads—and is getting it back. Jesse Jones' criticism of bankers is that most of them are making loans only where they can be collected practically on demand, or so secured that the collateral can be sold on short notice. The borrower is strait-jacketed. Jones, like other New Dealers, is striving for the day when character and confidence once more play their part in the lending of money. He wants to see the time again when the ordinary citizen of good character can borrow money on his signature, and the banker will not fear the transaction. He is also working to reduce the cost of loans.

The Great Northern railroad's financial story of the moment is a striking example of the RFC policy under Jesse Jones. One of the blackest pages in our history is the wrecking of various great railroad systems by financiers who waited around until a road needed money, loaned it, took the railroad's life blood as security, and then proceeded to run the road for the benefit of the banks instead of the country at large.

PROFESSIONAL DIRECTORY

Dr. Ann West
PHYSICIAN
Temporary Office at Residence, Nine Miles North of Tahoka
Telephone 903Y Tahoka

Dr. K. R. Durham
DENTIST
Office Phone 45 Res. Phone 29
Office over First National Bank
TAHOKA TEXAS

Dr. L. E. Turrentine
PHYSICIAN
Office over Thomas Bros.
Office Phone 18 Res. Phone 60

DR. ROBT. HARP
PHYSICIAN
Office Phone 45 — Res. Phone 33
Office over First National Bank
Brick Bungalow 2 Blocks South of High School
TAHOKA TEXAS

DR. R. P. REEDS
Physician, Surgeon, Osteopath
Fourth Floor Myrick Building
LUBBOCK, TEXAS
Hemorrhoids (Piles) Treated Without Surgery
No Loss of Time from Work

Tom T. Garrard
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW
Practice in State and Federal Courts
TAHOKA TEXAS

Harris & Applewhite
Hardware and Furniture
Funeral Directors and Embalmers
Motor Ambulance and Hearse Service
Day Phone 42 Night Phone 207-3

LUBBOCK SANITARIUM AND CLINIC

DR. J. T. KRUEGER
Surgery and Consultations

DR. J. T. HUTCHINSON
Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat

DR. M. C. OVERTON
Diseases of Children

DR. J. P. LATTIMORE
General Medicine

DR. F. B. MALONE
Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat

DR. J. H. STILES
Surgery

DR. H. C. MAXWELL
General Medicine

DR. OLAN KEY
Urology and General Medicine

DR. JEROME H. SMITH
X-Ray and Laboratory

C. E. HUNT J. H. FELTON
Superintendent Business Mgr.

A chartered training school for nurses is conducted in connection with the sanitarium.

It will pay you to become a regular advertiser in this paper.

Bond Typewriter Papers

Manila Second Sheets

Adding Machine Rolls

Merchants' Sales Pads

Butter Wrappers

Phone 35

THE LYNN COUNTY NEWS

MAIDEN VOYAGE

KATHLEEN NORRIS

Copyright, Kathleen Norris.

WNU Service.

CHAPTER XVIII—Continued

"Clifford Taft—Oh, I am glad!" Tony exclaimed, getting up to kiss him. "You would pick a girl with money."

"She hasn't got so much money," Cliff smiled at himself in the glass; life was going well with him, with all the Tafts. "We're sitting pretty!"

She and Bruce had a quiet dinner and he went early to bed. Tony thought that she would put out the lamps and sit and look out at the roofs and at Twin Peaks washed in moonshine, and wait for Aunt Meg to come home.

The bell rang sharply; the hall bell. Tony went to the door. And it was Larry Bellamy who stood there.

"Tony!" he said. "I want to see you. May I come in?"

"Come in," she said, her heart rising on a great bound of joy and hope.

Larry flung aside his cap and coat and sat down, drawing his chair close to hers as he did so, catching both her hands in his big cold ones.

"Tony, what's all this about? I'm just in. Ruth and I flew up by airplane this afternoon. Down at the office they're all upset over this. Greeny was tearing his hair. What happened? My dear, my dear, you can't run out on us like that!"

It was heaven, after these endless lonely days, to have him here beside her, warm and brown and eager and affectionate, to realize that she had made her mark as a newspaper woman after all.

He listened to the whole story attentively as she poured it out, taking it step by step.

"Larry, was that fair? Was that decent? To let me drag Miss Wallister into it, poor thing—she was fighting every step of the way—and then to tell me that I'd made her betray her boss?"

"No, it was rotten," Larry said briefly, as she paused.

"And then that smug pig of a Fitch! Tony stormed on bitterly. "How dares he—how dares he involve me in his dirty tricks?"

"I agree with you," said Larry. "But you can't give up your job on his account. That'd be to honor him too much. Tony, don't be a fool about this," Larry pleaded.

"It's my honor, Larry!" she said, with trembling lips.

He was standing at the window beside her, and as she raised her heavy, brooding eyes they met his.

"I've never seen you like this, Tony," Larry said gently.

"I'm not often like this."

"Come back, Tony," he said. There was a silence.

"Oh, I want to come back, Larry!" she confessed, on a long sigh, without turning her head. For a minute they stood looking out together at the jumbled blur of red and gold lights that were the city.

Then suddenly Larry's arms were about her, and Tony's heart leaped as if it would burst its bounds; the familiar room in the mild lamplight was rocking dizzily; and all thought was gone, and all reason. There were only the swimming madness of her senses, and the touch of him, the sound of his voice low and quick and incoherent in her ear.

"I'm human, you know," Larry said, breathless. "I'm—I'm human. My beautiful girl—my beautiful—beautiful Tony!"

Drinking deep of the wine too strong for human souls and hearts to bear, Tony rested her cheek against his own hard cheek, locked her slender arm about his neck, and murmured only his name, over and over again: "Larry, Larry, Larry."

And for a while that was enough. Presently she said:

"When did you know?"

"I've always known."

"And you knew how I felt?"

"I suspected, I suppose."

"You didn't have to suspect; I told you. I went blubbering up to your office and practically made you offers of marriage. Betsy's wedding day, remember?"

"Remember? My God, what do you think I'm made of? Every minute of that talk we had was like whips—like fire—"

There was a long silence of complete ecstasy; they murmured again, and again his lips were hard against hers.

"Larry."

"Tony."

"Where do we go from here?"

He did not answer. She felt his lips against her hair.

CHAPTER XIX

In Ruth's lovely drawing room the shades had been drawn against the hot spring sunlight that was descending in the west; the tea table had been placed at the north windows that opened on the little awning balcony. When Tony arrived there were only two persons in the room: Ruth and the marvelous Mrs. Polhemus. Ruth was in rather a fussy blue silk, with the permanent wave in her hair still a little too accurate and too fresh; Mrs. Polhemus was in a plain sport frock of lemon yellow, with pale corals in her ears and about her throat. She was younger than Ruth, not more than thirty, handsome and dark and striking, with coral lips and black shining hair and an ivory skin.

"Oh, just ourselves?" Tony said smilingly, as she was introduced. "I thought it was a party!"

"It was going to be," Ruth said, raising her face for Tony's kiss. "But now it's just Caroline and Joe and you and me."

"Joe?" Tony echoed, pleased.

"My brother, you know," Caroline Polhemus said.

"Of course! I'd forgotten," Tony sat down in a basket chair, panting a little, and said, "This is country weather."

"We're showing Caroline Del Monte tomorrow."

"Ah, you'll love it. I'm going down Sunday to see my sister and the baby, and for Joe's housewarming, of course!"

"We'll see you, then. You couldn't dine with us at the hotel on Sunday night?"

"Ruth, I'd love it. But I'll tell you, I don't know just how I'll find things at Betsy's. She has no nurse, and she may have made some plan—"

It didn't sound extremely convincing, and Tony had an idea that Caroline Polhemus was looking right through her. But Ruth only said unsuspectingly:

"Well, come if you can."

"This is extraordinary weather for San Francisco," Tony told the Eastern woman.

"This wouldn't be warm in a New York June."

"I hear my perfectly good husband called on you the night we got back from Los Angeles last week," said Ruth.

"Not last week, the week before," Tony smiled at the long cold glass of iced tea in her hand. "I resigned from the Call in a tantrum," she explained, "and Larry came and cleared it up."

"She certainly is beautiful," Caroline Polhemus thought. "I wonder if she's always so nervous. She was as pale as a ghost when she came in, and now she's got high color. Blue eyes and that dark hair—but, of course, it's the shape of the face, and the big mouth and big teeth—either beautiful or homely, I would say, and certainly beautiful this afternoon."

"I do beg your pardon, I'm sorry!" she interrupted her thoughts to apologize, finding Tony's eyes fixed on her expectantly. "I didn't hear what you were saying, Miss Taft. I think," Caroline went on, smiling, "I think I was trying to fit you to all the pictures my brother has been drawing of you in his letters," she said.

"Joe is—enthusiastic," Tony observed. And her color was high enough now, and her eyes self-conscious.

"Why doesn't she love Joe?" the visitor speculated, as Tony and Ruth began a little murmured conversation of their own. Ruth was saying several times stubbornly: "No, but you could run in for a few minutes—I know, but you could have telephoned—I know, but it's been days now. Do you realize I've seen you exactly twice since we came back from Los Angeles, and both times that was just a flying call in the mornings?" and Tony answering: "Honestly, it's terribly hard, Ruth. Late afternoons there seems always to be some stupid thing, a club date or a tea or something—I will, yes, truly I will—I won't have to work so hard now."

"And I ought to be going this moment," Tony finished, putting down her empty glass. She stood up. "I'll see you positively at the housewarming, and maybe Sunday!" she was saying, when Joe Vanderwall came in, with the permanent wave in her hair still a little too accurate and too fresh; Mrs. Polhemus was in a plain sport frock of lemon yellow, with pale

"What's the rush, Tony?"

"No rush. But I've been here half an hour, and I'm supposedly doing the stuff of the loan exhibition."

"Is it any good, Tony? Oh, sit down again, nothing will be going on there until half-past five, and it's just five now."

"They say it's good," Tony took her chair again; a slender figure in a white suit, with a white hat and white shoes.

The door clicked, and again her breath rose suffocatingly against her heart. It was old Mrs. Patterson. No escape for another ten minutes now.

Mrs. Patterson took Tony's chair; and Tony sat on a straw-hassock in the opened window, and there was more tea.

"When do you call, Mrs. Polhemus?"

"I was sailing on the sixth, on the Empress of Japan. But now I'm trying to persuade Ruth to go with me, and I'd wait over a boat for her."

"Ruth, why not?" her mother asked, surprised and interested.

"Oh, Mother, thousands of reasons, Larry."

"I should think it would be a lovely trip for you," the older woman protested mildly.

"Ah-h-h!" Ruth said. "Here's Larry!"

He came in, looking rather pale and tired on this hot day, and Joe wheeled up a chair for him, and for a few seconds the conversation was confused and general. Presently he said to Tony:

"Everything serene in the city room?"

"Oh, perfection," the girl answered. "Greeny is afraid to ask me for my copy, even, and Fitch hasn't been out at all."

"You mean you two haven't seen each other since the other night?" Ruth asked. "Right in the same office?"

"We're on the same paper, not in the same office," Tony reminded her. "I see your brother's engagement announced," Larry said.

"Oh, yes, and Cliff's in seventh heaven."

"He's marrying one of the Bly girls, isn't he?" Ruth asked interestedly.

"Mary Rose—yes, The little curly one. There are five of them, I believe, but only three out."

"Well, that's very nice," Ruth approved.

"Oh, I have to go, and I hate to go!" Tony lamented. There was a general repetition of engagements for the weekend as she went to the door.

"Don't forget your book!" Ruth called.

"Here, I'll give it to her!" Larry followed her to the door. In a few seconds he was back in his chair again, and they could hear her speaking to Chevalier as he let her out.

Caroline Polhemus sat on, idly chatting, planning, sipping more iced tea. In her heart she said:

"Of course. Of course that's it! Good heavens, how completely obvious. One could see it the instant he came in—poor kid! She looked sick. Ruth doesn't know. She wouldn't. It would never occur to her that her impeccable Larry and her round-eyed, blue-eyed little friend in the white hat—Larry," said Caroline aloud, "where'd you pick up this clever little Tony of yours?"

"I didn't. She came over to Piedmont to cover a club story a couple of years ago, and had tea with Ruth and your grandmother. She got a great case on Ruth, and they've been friends ever since."

"Is she clever, Larry?"

He was murmuring to Mrs. Patterson. He brought his attention to the visitor with a little effort.

"Yes, she's a good newspaper woman. Works like a horse."

Mrs. Patterson pressed her granddaughter's foot. Caroline knew that meant that Joe was rather deeply interested in that quarter, and to consider what she said.

An hour later, when Joe and she were alone before dinner, she had an opportunity to ask him direct questions.

"It's serious with Miss Taft, is it, Joe?"

"I like her awfully," Joe admitted, flushing.

"And do you think she likes you?" the sister pursued.

"No," Joe answered briefly. "I know she doesn't."

"Perhaps there's some one else," Mrs. Polhemus said.

"No, I don't think so, Carrie. I think I'd know it if there was anyone else."

"I think you wouldn't," his sister assured him, affectionately scornful. She watched Larry curiously, closely, all through the evening. Did he care, too? It was hard to tell, with Larry. She wondered if he had said anything to Antoinette Taft at the door. "I'll bet she and the impeccable Larry made a lunch date," Caroline thought.

Larry had indeed breathed a "Lunch at one tomorrow?" and Tony had assented with just one upward glance of blue eyes in the few seconds they had had together. Then he had turned back into the room, and the girl had gone on her way, her senses in confusion, her mind hardly conscious of what she did and said.

The days since the Wallister interview, and the scene in the office, and the incredible moment when Larry had come into this same room to find her alone, had passed without a glimpse of him, Tony had been feverish, despairing, heroic, broken by turns. She had planned letters that should go to him, written them, torn them up. She had dreamed, had shaken herself impatiently from dreams, had sat at her desk in the city room staring, staring, staring into space, not knowing what she felt or what she saw. There was but one object of all her thoughts—Larry, Larry, Larry.

On the day of the luncheon she went down to the city office looking her best and with her blue eyes at their starriest. She and Larry had made no engagement to meet; supposedly it would be there. Tony settled down to her daily round; wondering just how and when she would hear from Larry; she worked away busily. It was twenty minutes to one; it was one o'clock, and still no sign and no word. She called his office on the telephone.

"Larry, this is Tony."

A pause. Then he said quickly, briefly:

"Coming right down."

For some reason she felt ashamed of herself, chilled. But there was little time to think. He did come down, entered the almost empty city room, stood looking gravely down at her.

"Come along."

They went out together, and Tony walked with him to the garage in Montgomery street and they got in the car together. Almost without speech they drove through the park and to a restaurant by the shore.

"This is a lovely place," Tony said, almost timidly. "For something in his manner—was new, was a little formidable."

"This used to be a great old roadhouse. But lately it's gone rather respectable and goes in for women's lunches."

They were placed at a little window table and could look out across the wide ocean boulevard.

"Well, this is nice," Larry said, when he had given the order.

"Had you forgotten our lunch date that we made yesterday?" Tony asked.

"No," Larry put his hand in his pocket, took out a scrap of paper, tossed it to her. Tony looked up at him surprisedly when she had read it, read it again aloud.

"Dear Tony," she read, "I can't lunch today; something has come up that I can't get out of. I'm sorry, Larry! Were you going to send me that?" she asked.

"I'd rung for the boy."

"Oh, Larry, and then I telephoned? I'm so sorry."

"Oh, that's all right. It wasn't important."

They were having an oyster cocktail, she and Lawrence Bellamy. She had made him take her to lunch. Suddenly somehow it was all very flat and stupid in the bright noon sunshine. Why should she be having lunch with Larry, or, for that matter, why shouldn't she? Larry and his wife were her friends. It seemed not at all dangerous or exciting, but rather dull and unnecessary for them to come far out here to the beach on an ordinary business day and look solemnly at each other—

"Well, what did you think of the famous Caroline?"

"Oh, she's beautiful." Had they come here to talk of Caroline?

"Isn't she? But of course it isn't that. Charm—personality—something. Nobody knows quite what it is that Caroline's got, but she's got it."

"Her husband died?"

"Wait Polhemus, yes. Both husbands died."

"Both? She hasn't been married twice?"

"Oh, yes she has, and she's been engaged all over the place. She's going away now to decide between a perfectly splendid fellow, another Walter, Walter Fritsch—he's the tennis champ, or was—and Phil Polhemus. He's her husband's brother."

"Heavens!" Tony said, with a quite inexplicable pang of instinctive jealousy in her heart. "I'll bet she told you that," she thought.

"As Caroline Vanderwall she was a heart-breaker," Larry said, with an air of making conversation. "I never knew her then. She went to a football game and bagged Bob Rand; he was the ace that year. Two years later he and Caroline went over a bank in the roadster; Caroline wasn't scratched, but poor Bob was killed. Caroline wore mourning that you could see three blocks away, and two years later she married Wait Polhemus—military wedding, swords flashing, all that sort of thing. Wait died last year, and his brother Phillip's mad about her now."

"Never a dull moment for Caroline," Tony observed drily. "Why is she going to China?"

"Phil Polhemus is there, but I don't know that it's that. Her great friends the Faulkners are in Peking—he's military attaché, and it's a chance to see China under the most pleasant auspices—Tony, my dear," Larry said, breaking off the brisk, interested thread of his conversation, changing his tone, saying the last three words carefully, hopelessly, appealingly.

She looked at him, and the blood left her face, and she could not speak.

"I'm so horribly sorry," he said. "I didn't mean to say this—nor to come to lunch today, nor to ask you yesterday. But the minute I went into the room and saw you—"

"I know," she said, in the pause.

"It isn't what I want to do or ought to do, Larry," she said, in a low tone, looking down at the tablecloth without seeing it or seeing anything; "it's what I can do, now. I think and I plan—it's no use. It's no use."

The desolate notes of her voice died in the air. Larry was looking down, scowling; now he looked up.

"Tony, may I talk for a minute?"

"I guess you'll have to, Larry. I don't seem—" she smiled forlornly. "I don't seem to have anything to say!"

"Let me say this, then," Larry got so far and stopped short. He considered, frowning, with narrowed eyes staring into space, and a bitten lip. "It's only," he recommenced simply, "that there's nobody like you—no one. You're you're Tony, and that means you're everything. I'm not saying what I mean to say," Larry said, stopped again. "I love you so much, my dear," he added. "I love you very much."

Tony was silent, looking down. He saw two tears roll over her cheeks and splash on her locked brown fingers.

"That isn't it," Larry began again, with an effort. "No matter what—what we fell for each other, that isn't the question, is it?"

"No, that isn't it," Tony agreed, trembling.

"Of course it's Ruth."

"Ruth," she said.

"Things being as they are, there's no happiness anywhere for us, Tony, no—no out."

"No out."

"I'm not going over the whole thing; what she did for me years ago, what she's always done for me, what—what our kid meant to her and to me," Larry said, thinking it out as he spoke, hesitating between words. "You know all that. You know her, how she clings to her own people, how—how—"

"It would kill her," he said, after a pause.

"It may kill me," Tony offered simply.

"Then what shall we do, Tony?" the man asked.

For a while Tony did not speak.

"Do you know that I never—never have loved anyone before?" she asked then, looking away.

"Is it true, Tony? Is it really true, my dear?"

"Doesn't that give me—any rights?"

"It gives you every right, Tony. I'm the one that's bound, my dear."

"All three of us unhappy, instead of just one."

(TO BE CONTINUED)

there's nobody like you—no one. You're you're Tony, and that means you're everything. I'm not saying what I mean to say," Larry said, stopped again. "I love you so much, my dear," he added. "I love you very much."

Tony was silent, looking down. He saw two tears roll over her cheeks and splash on her locked brown fingers.

"That isn't it," Larry began again, with an effort. "No matter what—what we fell for each other, that isn't the question, is it?"

"No, that isn't it," Tony agreed, trembling.

"Of course it's Ruth."

"Ruth," she said.

"Things being as they are, there's no happiness anywhere for us, Tony, no—no out."

"No out."

"I'm not going over the whole thing; what she did for me years ago, what she's always done for me, what—what our kid meant to her and to me," Larry said, thinking it out as he spoke, hesitating between words. "You know all that. You know her, how she clings to her own people, how—how—"

"It would kill her," he said, after a pause.

"It may kill me," Tony offered simply.

"Then what shall we do, Tony?" the man asked.

For a while Tony did not speak.

"Do you know that I never—never have loved anyone before?" she asked then, looking away.

"Is it true, Tony? Is it really true, my dear?"

"Doesn't that give me—any rights?"

"It gives you every right, Tony. I'm the one that's bound, my dear."

"All three of us unhappy, instead of just one."

(TO BE CONTINUED)

there's nobody like you—no one. You're you're Tony, and that means you're everything. I'm not saying what I mean to say," Larry said, stopped again. "I love you so much, my dear," he added. "I love you very much."

Tony was silent, looking down. He saw two tears roll over her cheeks and splash on her locked brown fingers.

"That isn't it," Larry began again, with an effort. "No matter what—what we fell for each other, that isn't the question, is it?"

"No, that isn't it," Tony agreed, trembling.

"Of course it's Ruth."

"Ruth," she said.

"Things being as they are, there's no happiness anywhere for us, Tony, no—no out."

"No out."

"I'm not going over the whole thing; what she did for me years ago, what she's always done for me, what—what our kid meant to her and to me," Larry said, thinking it out as he spoke, hesitating between words. "You know all that. You know her, how she clings to her own people, how—how—"

"It would kill her," he said, after a pause.

"It may kill me," Tony offered simply.

"Then what shall we do, Tony?" the man asked.

For a while Tony did not speak.

"Do you know that I never—never have loved anyone before?" she asked then, looking away.

"Is it true, Tony? Is it really true, my dear?"

"Doesn't that give me—any rights?"

"It gives you every right, Tony. I'm the one that's bound, my dear."

"All three of us unhappy, instead of just one."

(TO BE CONTINUED)

there's nobody like you—no one. You're you're Tony, and that means you're everything. I'm not saying what I mean to say," Larry said, stopped again. "I love you so much, my dear," he added. "I love you very much."

Tony was silent, looking down. He saw two tears roll over her cheeks and splash on her locked brown fingers.

"That isn't it," Larry began again, with an effort. "No matter what—what we fell for each other, that isn't the question, is it?"

"No, that isn't it," Tony agreed, trembling.

"Of course it's Ruth."

"Ruth," she said.

"Things being as they are, there's no happiness anywhere for us, Tony, no—no out."

"No out."

"I'm not going over the whole thing; what she did for me years ago, what she's always done for me, what—what our kid meant to her and to me," Larry said, thinking it out as he spoke, hesitating between words. "You know all that. You know her, how she clings to her own people, how—how—"

"It would kill her," he said, after a pause.

"It may kill me," Tony offered simply.

"Then what shall we do, Tony?" the man asked.

For a while Tony did not speak.

"Do you know that I never—never have loved anyone before?" she asked then, looking away.

"Is it true, Tony? Is it really true, my dear?"

"Doesn't that give me—any rights?"

"It gives you every right, Tony. I'm the one that's bound, my dear."

"All three of us unhappy, instead of just one."

(TO BE CONTINUED)

there's nobody like you—no one. You're you're Tony, and that means you're everything. I'm not saying what I mean to say," Larry said, stopped again. "I love you so much, my dear," he added. "I love you very much."

Tony was silent, looking down. He saw two tears roll over her cheeks and splash on her locked brown fingers.

"That isn't it," Larry began again, with an effort. "No matter what—what we fell for each other, that isn't the question, is it?"

"No, that isn't it," Tony agreed, trembling.

"Of course it's Ruth."

"Ruth," she said.

"Things being as they are, there's no happiness anywhere for us, Tony, no—no out."

"No out."

"I'm not going over the whole thing; what she did for me years ago, what she's always done for me, what—what our kid meant to her and to me," Larry said, thinking it out as he spoke, hesitating between words. "You know all that. You know her, how she clings to her own people, how—how—"

"It would kill her," he said, after a pause.

"It may kill me," Tony offered simply.

"Then what shall we do, Tony?" the man asked.

For a while Tony did not speak.

"Do you know that I never—never have loved anyone before?" she asked then, looking away.

"Is it true, Tony? Is it really true, my dear?"

"Doesn't that give me—any rights?"

"It gives you every right, Tony. I'm the one that's bound, my dear."

"All three of us unhappy, instead of just one."

(TO BE CONTINUED)

there's nobody like you—no one. You're you're Tony, and that means you're everything. I'm not saying what I mean to say," Larry said, stopped again. "I love you so much, my dear," he added. "I love you very much."

Tony was silent, looking down. He saw two tears roll over her cheeks and splash on her locked brown fingers.

"That isn't it," Larry began again, with an effort. "No matter what—what we fell for each other, that isn't the question, is it?"

"No, that isn't it," Tony agreed, trembling.

"Of course it's Ruth."

"Ruth," she said.

"Things being as they are, there's no happiness anywhere for us, Tony, no—no out."

"No out."

"I'm not going over the whole thing; what she did for me years ago, what she's always done for me, what—what our kid meant to her and to me," Larry said, thinking it out as he spoke, hesitating between words. "You know all that. You know her, how she clings to her own people, how—how—"

"It would kill her," he said, after a pause.

"It may kill me," Tony offered simply.

"Then what shall we do, Tony?" the man asked.

For a while Tony did not speak.

"Do you know that I never—never have loved anyone before?" she asked then, looking away.

"Is it true, Tony? Is it really true, my dear?"

"Doesn't that give me—any rights?"

"It gives you every right, Tony. I'm the one that's bound, my dear."

"All three of us unhappy, instead of just one."

(TO BE CONTINUED)

there's nobody like you—no one. You're you're Tony, and that means you're everything. I'm not saying what I mean to say," Larry said, stopped again. "I love you so much, my dear," he added. "I love you very much."

Tony was silent, looking down. He saw two tears roll over her cheeks and splash on her locked brown fingers.

"That isn't it," Larry began again, with an effort. "No matter what—what we fell for each other, that isn't the question, is it?"

"No, that isn't it," Tony agreed, trembling.

"Of course it's Ruth."

"Ruth," she said.

"Things being as they are, there's no happiness anywhere for us, Tony, no—no out."

"No out."

"I'm not going over the whole thing; what she did for me years ago, what she's always done for me, what—what our kid meant to her and to me," Larry said, thinking it out as he spoke, hesitating between words. "You know all that. You know her, how she clings to her own people, how—how—"

"It would kill her," he said, after a pause.

"It may kill me," Tony offered simply.

"Then what shall we do, Tony?" the man asked.

For a while Tony did not speak.

"Do you know that I never—never have loved anyone before?" she asked then, looking away.

"Is it true, Tony? Is it really true, my dear?"

"Doesn't that give me—any rights?"

"It gives you every right, Tony. I'm the one that's bound, my dear."

"All three of us unhappy, instead of just one."

(TO BE CONTINUED)

there's nobody like you—no one. You're you're Tony, and that means you're everything. I'm not saying what I mean to say," Larry said, stopped again. "I love you so much, my dear," he added. "I love you very much."

Tony was silent, looking down. He saw two tears roll over her cheeks and splash on her locked brown fingers.

"That isn't it," Larry began again, with an effort. "No matter what—what we fell for each other, that isn't the question, is it?"

"No, that isn't it," Tony agreed, trembling.

"Of course it's Ruth."

"Ruth," she said.

"Things being as they are, there's no happiness anywhere for us, Tony, no—no out."

"No out."

"I'm not going over the whole thing; what she did for me years ago, what she's always done for me, what—what our kid meant to her and to me," Larry said, thinking it out as he spoke, hesitating between words. "You know all that. You know her, how she clings to her own people, how—how—"

"It would kill her," he said, after a pause.

"It may kill me," Tony offered simply.

"Then what shall we do, Tony?" the man asked.

For a while Tony did not speak.

"Do you know that I never—never have loved anyone before?" she asked then, looking away.

"Is it true, Tony? Is it really true, my dear?"

"Doesn't that give me—any rights?"

"It gives you every right, Tony. I'm the one that's bound, my dear."

"All three of us unhappy, instead of just one."

(TO BE CONTINUED)

there's nobody like you—no one. You're you're Tony, and that means you're everything. I'm not saying what I mean to say," Larry said, stopped again. "I love you so much, my dear," he added. "I love you very much."

Tony was silent, looking down. He saw two tears roll over her cheeks and splash on her locked brown fingers.

"That isn't it," Larry began again, with an effort. "No matter what—what we fell for each other, that isn't the question, is it?"

"No, that isn't it," Tony agreed, trembling.

"Of course it's Ruth."

"Ruth," she said.

"Things being as they are, there's no happiness anywhere for us, Tony, no—no out."

"No out."

"I'm not going over the whole thing; what she did for me years ago, what she's always done for me, what—what our kid meant to her and to me," Larry said, thinking it out as he spoke, hesitating between words. "You know all that. You know her, how she clings to her own people, how—how—"

"It would kill her," he said, after a pause.

"It may kill me," Tony offered simply.

"Then what shall we do, Tony?" the man asked.

For a while Tony did not speak.

"Do you know that I never—never have loved anyone before?" she asked then, looking away.

"Is it true, Tony? Is it really true, my dear?"

"Doesn't that give me—any rights?"

"It gives you every right, Tony. I'm the one that's bound, my dear."

"All three of us unhappy, instead of just one."

(TO BE CONTINUED)

there's nobody like you—no one. You're you're Tony, and that means you're everything. I'm not saying what I mean to say," Larry said, stopped again. "I love you so much, my dear," he added. "I love you very much."

Tony was silent, looking down. He saw two tears roll over her cheeks and splash on her locked brown fingers.

"That isn't it," Larry began again, with an effort. "No matter what—what we fell for each other, that isn't the question, is it?"

"No, that isn't it," Tony agreed, trembling.

"Of course it's Ruth."

"Ruth," she said.

"Things being as they are, there's no happiness anywhere for us, Tony, no—no out."

"No out."

"I'm not going over the whole thing; what she did for me years ago, what she's always done for me, what—what our kid meant to her and to me," Larry said, thinking it out as he spoke, hesitating between words. "You know all that. You know her, how she clings to her own people, how—how—"

"It would kill her," he said, after a pause.

"It may kill me," Tony offered simply.

"Then what shall we do, Tony?" the man asked.

For a while Tony did not speak.

"Do you know that I never—never have loved anyone before?" she asked then, looking away.

"Is it true, Tony? Is it really true, my dear?"

"Doesn't that give me—any rights?"

"It gives you every right, Tony. I'm the one that's bound, my dear."

"All three of us unhappy, instead of just one."

(TO BE CONTINUED)

there's nobody like you—no one. You're you're Tony, and that means you're everything. I'm not saying what I mean to say," Larry said, stopped again. "I love you so much, my dear," he added. "I love you very much."

Tony was silent, looking down. He saw two tears roll over her cheeks and splash on her locked brown fingers.

"That isn't it," Larry began again, with an effort. "No matter what—what we fell for each other, that isn't the question, is it?"

"No, that isn't it," Tony agreed, trembling.

"Of course it's Ruth."

"Ruth," she said.

"Things being as they are, there's no happiness anywhere for us, Tony, no—no out."

"No out."

"I'm not going over the whole thing; what she did for me years ago, what she's always done for me, what—what our kid meant to her and to me," Larry said, thinking it out as he spoke, hesitating between words. "You know all that. You know her, how she clings to her own people, how—how—"

"It would kill her," he said, after a pause.

"It may kill me," Tony offered simply.

"Then what shall we do, Tony?" the man asked.

For a while Tony did not speak.

"Do you know that I never—never have loved anyone before?" she asked then, looking away.

"Is it true, Tony? Is it really true, my dear?"

"Doesn't that give me—any rights?"

"It gives you every right, Tony. I'm the one that's bound, my dear."

"All three of us unhappy, instead of just one."

(TO BE CONTINUED)

there's nobody like you—no one. You're you're Tony, and that means you're everything. I'm not saying what I mean to say," Larry said, stopped again. "I love you so much, my dear," he added. "I love you very much."

Tony was silent, looking down. He saw two tears roll over her cheeks and splash on her locked brown fingers.

"That isn't it," Larry began again, with an effort. "No matter what—what we fell for each other, that isn't the question, is it?"

"No, that isn't it," Tony agreed, trembling.

"Of course it's Ruth."

"Ruth," she said.

"Things being as they are, there's no happiness anywhere for us, Tony, no—no out."

"No out."

"I'm not going over the whole thing; what she did for me years ago, what she's always done for me, what—what our kid meant to her and to me," Larry said, thinking it out as he spoke, hesitating between words. "You know all that. You know her, how she clings to her own people, how—how—"

"It would kill her," he said, after a pause.

"It may kill me," Tony offered simply.

"Then what shall we do, Tony?" the man asked.

For a while Tony did not speak.

"Do you know that I never—never have loved anyone before?" she asked then, looking away.

"Is it true, Tony? Is it really true, my dear?"

"Doesn't that give me—any rights?"

"It gives you every right, Tony. I'm the one that's bound, my dear."

"All three of us unhappy, instead of just one."

(TO BE CONTINUED)

there's nobody like you—no one. You're you're Tony, and that means you're everything. I'm not saying what I mean to say," Larry said, stopped again. "I love you so much, my dear," he added. "I love you very much."

Tony was silent, looking down. He saw two tears roll over her cheeks and splash on her locked brown fingers.

"That isn't it," Larry began again, with an effort. "No matter what—what we fell for each other, that isn't the question, is it?"

"No, that isn't it," Tony agreed, trembling.

"Of course it's Ruth."

"Ruth," she said.

"Things being as they are, there's no happiness anywhere for us, Tony, no—no out."

"No out."

"I'm not going over the whole thing; what she did for me years ago, what she's always done for me, what—what our kid meant to her and to me," Larry said, thinking it out as he spoke, hesitating between words. "You know all that. You know her, how she clings to her own people, how—how—"

"It would kill her," he said, after a pause.

"It may kill me," Tony offered simply.

"Then what shall we do, Tony?" the man asked.

For a while Tony did not speak.

"Do you know that I never—never have loved anyone before?" she asked then, looking away.

"Is it true, Tony? Is it really true, my dear?"

"Doesn't that give me—any rights?"

"It gives you every right, Tony. I'm the one that's bound, my dear."

"All three of us unhappy, instead of just one."

(TO BE CONTINUED)

there's nobody like you—no one. You're you're Tony, and that means you're everything. I'm not saying what I mean to say," Larry said, stopped again. "I love you so much, my dear," he added. "I love you very much."

Tony was silent, looking down. He saw two tears roll over her cheeks and splash on her locked brown fingers.

"That isn't it," Larry began again, with an effort. "No matter what—what we fell for each other, that isn't the question, is it?"

"No, that isn't it," Tony agreed, trembling.

"Of course it's Ruth."

"Ruth," she said.

"Things being as they are, there's no happiness anywhere for us, Tony, no—no out."

"No out."

"I'm not going over the whole thing; what she did for me years ago, what she's always done for me, what—what our kid meant to her and to me," Larry said, thinking it out as he spoke, hesitating between words. "You know all that. You know her, how she clings to her own people, how—how—"

"It would kill her," he said, after a pause.

"It may kill me," Tony offered simply.

"Then what shall we do, Tony?" the man asked.

For a while Tony did not speak.

"Do you know that I never—never have loved anyone before?" she asked then, looking away.

"Is it true, Tony? Is it really true, my dear?"

"Doesn't that give me—any rights?"

"It gives you every right, Tony. I'm the one that's bound, my dear."

"All three of us unhappy, instead of just one."

(TO BE CONTINUED)

there's nobody like you—no one. You're you're Tony, and that means you're everything. I'm not saying what I mean to say," Larry said, stopped again. "I love you so much, my dear," he added. "I love you very much."

Tony was silent, looking down. He saw two tears roll over her cheeks and splash on her locked brown fingers.

"That isn't it," Larry began again, with an effort. "No matter what—what we fell for each other, that isn't

Lynn County News

E. I. HILL, Editor

Published Every Friday at Tahoka, Lynn County, Texas

Entered as second class matter at the post office at Tahoka, Texas, under the act of March 6th, 1879.

$1.00 PER YEAR IN ADVANCE

Advertising Rates on Application

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC

Any erroneous reflection upon the reputation or standing of any individual firm or corporation, that may appear in the columns of The News will be gladly corrected when called to our attention.

MORE ABOUT OUR SUPREME COURT

The Supreme Court of the United States is composed of nine members, one chief justice and eight associate justices. They are appointed by the President to serve for life or during good behavior, but their appointment must be confirmed by the Senate.

Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes of New York. Associate Justice Willis Van Devanter of Wyoming.

Associate Justice George Sutherland of Utah.

Associate Justice Harlan F. Stone of New York.

Associate Justice Pierce Butler of Minnesota.

Democrats Associate Justice James C. McReynolds of Tennessee.

Associate Justice Louis D. Brandeis of Massachusetts. Associate Justice Owen J. Roberts of Pennsylvania.

Associate Justice Benjamin Nathan Cardozo of New York.

AAA Decision Of the four Democrats, two voted with the majority, holding the AAA unconstitutional, and two voted with the minority.

The majority opinion was written by a Pennsylvania Democrat, Owen J. Roberts, and this opinion was concurred in by a Southern Democrat, James C. McReynolds of Tennessee.

A Massachusetts Democrat, Louis D. Brandeis, and a New York Democrat, Benjamin Nathan Cardozo, joined with a New York Republican, Harlan F. Stone, in contending that the AAA was constitutional.

The other four Republicans, Charles E. Hughes, Willis Van Devanter, George Sutherland, and Pierce Butler held with Owen J. Roberts that the AAA was unconstitutional.

Viewed from a sectional standpoint, the six justices holding the law unconstitutional are from New York, Wyoming, Utah, Minnesota, and Tennessee; one from the East, two from the Rocky Mountain states, one from the North Central section, and one from the South.

The three justices holding the AAA constitutional are two from New York and one from Massachusetts.

"THE HAPPY WARRIOR"

We heard Al Smith's radio address last Saturday night. It sounded just like the Al Smith of 1928 — except, the Republicans and the Dems were the object of his attack then, while Roosevelt and the New Deal were the victims of his verbal assaults Saturday night. In 1928 Al was the "Happy Warrior", today he is a rebel against the commander-in-chief of the same army which he led in 1928.

A product of Tammany Hall, leader of the wets who were then seeking to make a farce of prohibition and to discredit and destroy it, a master of sarcasm and of Bowery English, Al Smith in that campaign drove many Southern Democrats to vote for the first time in their lives for a Republican.

Now he comes berating and castigating the man who twice served as one of his chief lieutenants, Franklin D. Roosevelt, and who in 1932 defeated the man who defeated

Smith in 1928, Herbert Hoover. Today, he is much more bitter toward Roosevelt than he ever was toward Hoover.

Notwithstanding all this, and notwithstanding his personal spleen toward Roosevelt, and notwithstanding the fact that we now find him in bad company again as a leading light in the so-called "Liberty League", he said many things Saturday night that must be recognized as the truth.

He cited plank after plank of the platform on which Roosevelt was elected and shows how these planks have been junked. Nobody can read this platform and then deny that many of these planks have been smashed into smithereens. Two of the position which he took and which we unreservedly endorse are, first, that the President and Congress should have a higher regard for the constitution which they are sworn to support; and second, that Congress should cease to be the mere rubber stamp of the President.

SOLDIER BONUS TO BE PAID The American Legion has at last won its long fight for payment of the Soldier's Bonus.

The bill was passed by the House and Senate last week and it then went to the President. He promptly vetoed it but Congress lost no time in passing it over his veto. The House on last Friday overrode the President's veto by a vote of 324 to 61.

The Senate on Monday overrode it by a vote of 76 to 19.

A two-thirds majority is required to pass a bill over the President's veto. The Bonus bill received far more than the number of votes required. Congress has passed a soldier bonus twice before. It was first passed during the Hoover administration. He vetoed it and it failed to pass over his veto. Then another Bonus bill was passed during the first year of Roosevelt's administration. He vetoed it, and Congress again failed to pass the measure over his veto. But Roosevelt's opposition failed to defeat the measure this time.

The sum required to pay the bonus is given as $2,491,000,000. The money is to be raised by the issuance of bonds. This means a debt of about $20.00 for every man, woman and child in the United States, or about $80.00 per family. It is said that payment of the bonus will bring about $87,000,000 to Texas. If these figures are correct, it would seem that Texas must have a smaller number of soldiers according to population than the United States as a whole.

Although President Roosevelt opposed the passage of the bill, immediately after its passage over his veto, he issued orders for the payment of the bonus to be speeded up.

There are many who believe that the payment of the bonus will have a decided effect in stimulating business. Eighty-seven million dollars turned into the channels of trade in Texas is no small sum. Certainly it will be a great help to many an ex-service man and will doubtless be of considerable benefit to the country as a whole.

CAT RANCH AND TOWNSEND PLAN

Years ago, some fellow got up a scheme to establish a cat ranch for the production of cat fur.

He proposed that the ranch would be on some sandy land in East Texas as which was worn out in the production of cotton.

Here he would stock his ranch with nice, fur bearing cats. Then to meet the problem of feeding the cats, he would plant a large colony of rats. In this way, the cats would catch and eat the rats, and when a cat was killed and skinned, the rats would eat the cats.

It was a great scheme. The cats would eat the rats, and the rats would eat the cats, and all the owner would be out would be the time it took to kill and skin the cats.

Lots of fellows said there were millions in it and took out a lot of stock in the scheme, but somehow, they never got to producing cat furs from rat eating cats which were fed on cat eating rats.

As I understand the Townsend Scheme, the pensioners would eat the taxpayers to the tune of $200 a month, and in turn the taxpayers would eat the pensioners at the rate of $200 per month.

That is every fellow over 60 years of age would be paid $200 per month on condition he would spend it all before the end of the month. During the month the pensioner would not be allowed to work any. He would have to hire lackeys to wait on him. At any rate, he must go broke at the end of each month.

Once there was a boy who was told that if he would tie a large gourd to each of his big toes and go into the water, he could swim with little effort because the gourds would float him and all he had to do was to kick along. He tried it. His feet did float, but his head went down, and only for the jokers pulling him out of the water, he would have drowned.

If Dr. Townsend could show us how to lift ourselves into the air by our boot straps, or make something out of nothing, he might be able to show us where the money was coming from to pay these pensions.

But some people will bite at anything if they think they can get something for nothing.

I have read the tale of the Killenny cat. I have read something of the doctrine of Metempsychosis, and I have reached the conclusion that the doctrine of Townsend's theory on pensions is on a parity with these myths.

And the cats shall eat the rats, and the rats shall eat the cats and there shall be gobs of long green, plenty of whiskey and no work, yes verily—in a pig's eye.—Uncle Bill.

It's strange how sentiment will suddenly change sometimes from one extreme to another. From the days of Thomas Jefferson Democrats have been crying for States Rights and a strict construction of the Constitution. Now they are crying for more power to the Federal Government and a liberal construction of the Constitution. And the Supreme Court of the United States is being bitterly denounced by Democratic newspapers and some Southern statesmen (?) because it recently refused to strain the constitution in order to uphold on Act of Congress which gave great power to a department of the Federal Government and disregarded the old doctrine of States Rights.

Congress is now seeking to evolve a constitutional measure to conserve the soil and thus aid agriculture. We believe in soil conservation, not only for the good of the farmers of the present day but for the good of future generations. We hope that an honest soil-conservation measure may be devised that will clearly stand the constitutional test. But we think that any measure which has for its main purpose the limiting of production will run up against the Constitution as a brick wall.

FORMER LYNN COUNTY COUPLE HAVE BAD LUCK

Mr. and Mrs. Oran Welch, former residents of this county, were the victims of a piece of hard luck at Clinton, Oklahoma, a few days ago.

They had just moved from Twitty, Texas, into a filling station at Clinton with living rooms attached, which they had recently acquired, and before they had been in their new location three hours the station caught fire and was totally destroyed. All their personal effects except the clothing which they were wearing were likewise destroyed.

Mr. Welch formerly resided in the Edith community, while Mrs. Welch is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D.M. Nixon of Grassland.

FREE BOOK about STOMACH TROUBLE. Explains the marvelous Willard Treatment which is bringing amazing relief. Sold on fractional money-back guarantee. PRICELESS INFORMATION—for those suffering from STOMACH OR DUODENAL ULCERS, DUE TO HYPER-ACIDITY—POOR DIGESTION, ACID DYSPEPSIA, SORE THROAT, GASTRITIS, NEUR. HEARTBURN, CONSTIPATION, BAD BREATH, SLEEP-LESSNESS OR HEADACHES, DUE TO EXCESS ACID. Ask for a free copy of Willard's Message. Thomas Bros. Drug Co.

Lady's Painful Trouble Helped By Cardui

Why do so many women take Cardui for the relief of functional pains at monthly times? The answer is that they want results such as Mrs. Herbert W. Hunt, of Hallsville, Texas, describes. She writes: "My health wasn't good. I suffered from cramping. My pain would be so intense it would nauseate me. I would just drag around, so sluggish and 'dolls.' My mother decided to give me Cardui. I began to mend. That tired, sluggish feeling was gone and the pains disappeared. I can't praise Cardui too highly because I know it helped me."... If Cardui does not help YOU, consult a physician.

A Large Individual Practice In Texas DR. REA, Specialist

Next Visit Post Algerita Hotel Tuesday, February 11th One day Only

Hours —9:30 A. M. To 4 P. M.

Dr. Rea, registered and licensed in many states, specializing in stomach, liver, kidney, bowel and rectal diseases, as complicated with other diseases without surgical operation.

Dr. Rea has a record of many satisfied results in stomach ulcer, chronic appendicitis, rheumatism, gall stones, kidney stones, colitis, bladder trouble, leg ulcer, blood pressure, pellagra, asthma, bronchitis lung and wasting diseases.

Dr. Rea uses the hypodermic injection method for small tumors, tubercular glands, moles, warts and suspicious non-healing growths. Has a special diploma in diseases of children, treats bed-wetting, slow growth, large infected tonsils.

Dr. Rea has been coming to Texas for thirty years, has many satisfied patients. No charge for consultation and examination, medicines and services furnished at reasonable cost if treatment desired.

Married women come with husbands, children with parents. Dr. W. D. Rea, Medical Laboratory, Minneapolis, Minnesota. Since 1898.

MACHINE SHOP In Your Community!

We do welding, building-up, turning down and milling axels and shafts. All kinds of tractors and cars repaired; also radiator work. We supply parts. Field or road service. Just call us and we do the rest. Located 2 miles north of Grassland.

BOSWORTH & VAUGHN ADDING MACHINE ROLLS now in stock at The News office.

PUBLISH BULLETIN

Lubbock, Jan. 30.—Printing of a bulletin describing the expedition into Yaqui country led in 1934 by Dr. W. C. Holden, professor of history and anthropology at Texas Technological college, is nearing completion, and 1,000 copies of the bulletin will be mailed from the college the last of the week to libraries, newspapers, and professional anthropologists throughout the United States. Dr. Holden said. Remaining copies will be sold at 50 cents each.

The bulletin, 2,000 of which are being printed by the Tech press, contains nine chapters written by various members of the expedition, and 15 plates of drawing and pictures.

DR. ROBT. HARP Physician

Office Phone 46—Res. Ph. 53 Office over First Nat'l Bank Brick Bungalow 2 blocks south of High School. Tahoka, Texas

Keep a Good Laxative always in your home

Among the necessities of home is a good, reliable laxative. Don't be without one! Do your best to prevent constipation. Don't neglect it when you feel any of its disagreeable symptoms coming on. "We have used Theodor's Black-Draught for 21 years and have found it a very useful medicine that every family ought to have in their home," writes Mrs. Perry Hicks, of Belton, Texas. "I take Black-Draught for biliousness, constipation and other ills where a good laxative or purgative is needed. I have always found Black-Draught gives good results."

Sold in 25-cent packages. BLACK-DRAUGHT

STATED MEETINGS of Tahoka Lodge No. 1041 the first Tuesday night in each month at 8:30. Members urged to attend. Visitors welcome. M. O. Canaday, W. M. W. S. Anglin, Sec.

CLEANING AND PRESSING

First Class Service. See Our Line of Suit Samples!

Louie, the Tailor

Just Phone 141 We Call For and Deliver.

THE All-Seeing Electric Eye

King System Of Motor Tune-Up

See for yourself—the analyzer that will not GUESS or LIE! Take all doubt out of the Tune-Up of your car. If we can't improve the performance of your car, the work costs you nothing.

JACK CORLEY GARAGE-SERVICE STATION

ANNOUNCES $25-A-MONTH TIME PAYMENTS AND A NEW UCC 6% FINANCE PLAN

Any New Ford V-8 Car Can Now Be Purchased for $25 a Month with Usual Low Down-Payment

THIS $25-a-month time-payment plan enables you to buy a New Ford V-8 car through your Ford dealer on new low monthly terms. After the usual low down-payment is made, $25 a month is all you have to pay for any type of new car, including insurance and financing. Your cost for this extension of credit is only 1/2 of 1% a month on your original unpaid balance and insurance. This plan reduces financing charges for twelve months to 6%. For example, if you owe a balance of $400 for your car and insurance, you pay $24 for the year of credit; if the balance is $200 you pay $12. Your credit cost for one year is the original unpaid balance multiplied by 6%. UCC plans provide you with insurance protection at regular conference rates. You have not only fire and theft insurance, but $50 deductible collision, and protection against other accidental physical damage to your car. The Universal Credit Company has made these plans available through all Ford dealers in the United States.

FORD MOTOR COMPANY

LOTS OF GOOD USED CARS!—SEE US AT ONCE!

Tahoka Motor Co.

W. L. BURLESON Phone 49 J. K. APPLEWHITE

How Calotabs Help Nature To Throw Off a Bad Cold

Millions have found in Calotabs the most valuable aid in the treatment of colds. They take one or two tablets the first night and repeat the third or fifth night if needed. How do Calotabs help Nature throw off a cold? First, Calotabs is one of the most thorough and dependable of all intestinal eliminants, thus cleansing the intestinal tract of the germ-laden mucus and toxins.

Second, Calotabs are diuretic to the kidneys, promoting the elimination of cold poisons from the system. Thus Calotabs serve the double purpose of a purgative and diuretic, both of which are needed in the treatment of colds. Calotabs are quite economical; only twenty-five cents for the family package, ten cents for the trial package. (Adv.)

The Growl

Editorial Staff
 Editor — Beatrice Bates
 Senior Reporter — Eva Douthitt
 Junior Reporter — James Thompson
 Soph. Girls — Joe Alice Brooks
 Soph. Boys — F. E. Redwine
 Freshman — Mary Margaret Tunnell
 H. E. Reporter — Beatrice Falkner
 V. A. Reporter — Rudolph Snowden

SKATING SKEETERS
 The "Skating Skeeters" Club met for the first time on Monday at the home of Mary Margaret Tunnell. Costumes were decided upon and the following officers elected: Pansy Tankersley, president; Eloise Roberts, vice-president; Dottie Turrentine, recording secretary; Lottie Jo Townes, corresponding secretary and treasurer.

The members of the club follow: Doris Connolly, Jo Belle Milliken, Laura Jane Milliken, Gwendoline Baker, Louise Rogers, Eloise Roberts, Billie Swafford, Pansy Tankersley, Lottie Jo Townes, Dottie Turrentine, Louise Parks, Baby Tot Wetsel, Mary Margaret Tunnell.

The next meeting will be held on January 30th at the home of Mary M. Tunnell.

HOLD SING-SONG
 A sing-song is being held each morning in the auditorium. Centennial songs are being learned by about sixty students who are participating. Mrs. J. H. Tunnell is instructor and Marjorie Wells is playing the piano.

Remarkable improvement has been made in the last few days, and the group of students sang several songs in chapel Wednesday.

The Senior class reports one student lost and one gained. Billy Jo Thompson and Leo Brooks, graduate of Tahoka High in 1935, were married Friday night, according to report. Billy Jo has discontinued her school career and the Seniors miss her very much, but wish for her a happy married life.

Mildred Cox recently enrolled in the Senior class. She has been in school at Lamesa up until now and the Seniors are glad to have her as one of their classmates.

WEEK'S PROGRAM
ENGLISH
 THEATRE

FRIDAY & SATURDAY NIGHTS

MYRNA LOY

—In—
"Whipsaw"

—With—
 SPENCER TRACY

Guest event of the year! Myrna Loy... the star you've been waiting for... in a tale of excitement and laughs.

SATURDAY MATINEE

GEORGE O'BRIEN

—In—
"Thunder Mountain"

Brings You ZANE GREY'S Latest and Greatest Drama Of the West

SUNDAY, MONDAY and TUESDAY, Feb. 2, 3, 4

CAROLE LOMBARD
 FRED MACMURRAY

—In—
"Hands Across the Table"

Beautiful Carole Lombard and personable Fred MacMurray are a new team in Paramount's uproarious comedy, "Hands Across the Table." The story centers around the attempts of a manicurist to carry out her desire to marry for wealth.

Ralph Bellamy and Marie Prevost are in the cast.

WEDNESDAY & THURSDAY
 February 5 and 6

Gene Stratton-Porter's
"Freckles"

TOM BROWN as Freckles Virginia Welder as Laurie-Lou Carol Stone as Mary Arden The little girl you loved in "Laddie" is here again to win your heart in "FRECKLES."

The Seniors are practicing the Senior play, "The Man In The Green Shirt," which is being directed by their sponsor, Mrs. Tunnell.

The Senior girls and their sponsor Mrs. Tunnell enjoyed an interesting talk Tuesday morning which was given by Mr. Edwards from Mary Hardin-Baylor College. A brief description of the various courses offered in the college was given, and many interesting facts were told concerning the college. The girls were urged to have a college education if it is at all possible for them to attend college. The talk was very interesting and a colorful and attractive booklet was given to each girl. In the booklet the different buildings, athletics, students, etc., were shown.

Mr. Carter, Mr. Barrett, and Mr. Kirkwood attended a Boy Scout meeting in Lubbock Monday night.

Lonnie Johnson, who formerly attended school in Turner school in Scurry county, has enrolled in the seventh grade.

Alene Spruelli has enrolled in the seventh grade. She formerly attended school at Draw.

Last Wednesday, Jan. 22, the Freshman Home Ec. Club had charge of chapel. They presented the student body with a style show of pajamas, school dresses, and home projects. Two outsiders participated in the program. Miss Eina Reba Dunagan and Miss Savannah Lou Tunnell modeled their dresses and pajamas made by members of the class. After the program the visiting mothers and the faculty were entertained and served refreshments in a social tea. A talk was given by Doris Jean Cade on what the Home Ec. Class has accomplished.

The typing classes have been having fifteen minute speed drills each day. Those leading in speed for last week included Bernice Estes, Carol Holloway, Clifton Rogge, and Robbie Milliken. At the end of this week, the typing student who has acquired the most speed with the fewest errors will receive a ticket to the show.

Mildred Davis, popular Junior, has been absent from school for several days due to the flu. It is hoped that she will soon recover and be back in school.

The Minor Baton Music Club presented a program at Midway Monday night. The program was sponsored by Mr. Griffith and the program was given to acquire funds for debts of the Minor Baton Club and some of the money will be given to Joe Lane. Some of the High School pupils who participated in the program were: Robert Maddox, Eva Douthitt, Delton Pemberton, Harold Snowden, C. C. Armstrong, Bettie Suddarth, Lottie Jo Townes, Marjorie Wells, Vance Gilderleeve, Dale Gilderleeve, Hiram Snowden, and Ola Lee Stevens.

The trios were featured, and also some Centennial numbers were given.

Miss Millie Faye Strickland of Brownfield visited at the fifth period typing class Tuesday afternoon. She told the class something about the value of commercial training had been to her. She was a former pupil of Mrs. Bludworth.

Mrs. Lucille Bludworth went to Lubbock Friday, where she visited friends and relatives until Sunday.

Altha Jennings, popular Junior has been absent more than a week, reported due to illness.

James Foster, Sophomore, has been ill and out of school this week.

Aletha Goodnough, Sophomore, has been ill for several days. Beatrice Falkner also has had to miss a few classes.

Lottie Jo Townes has recovered sufficiently from her illness to be back in school.

Roy Stevens has re-entered the Junior class this semester. The class is glad to have him back.

The chapel program was given Wednesday morning. The first 20 minutes were used by the band to play four or five numbers. The band has been making excellent progress lately due to the efforts of their instructor, Mr. C. D. Babb.

The Senior play cast is as follows: Mr. George J. Fuller, always out of money—Clifton Rogge. Mr. Ivan Ross, a guest from Arkansas—James Minor. Mr. Egbert Cain, a clever cook—L. V. Alexander. Willie Roach, hired man of the Fullers—Ray Hickerson.

A DARKEY'S VERSION OF THE PRODIGAL SON

J. K. Callaway dug up some verses a few days ago that had been copied from a paper many years ago, and he thought them so clever that he asked us to reprint them. So here goes.

Dat proejkin son wus de beatest chap
 Dat eber has lived on de face ob de map
 He wouldn't do nuffin but lazy around
 While de grass wus a spillin de crops on de ground,
 An his onliest brudder wus a plowin an hoein
 An bassin de niggers to keep de crops growin.

Some say day his paw wus de one dats to blame
 For de way he wus raised up an foch-em to shame,
 An some says dat his ma wus de one dat had spiled him,
 An some says dat his brudder had teased him and riled him
 But de Scripder don't say nuffin about what dey done
 An I lays all de blame on de proejkin son.

He wus all de time proejkin dis way an dat
 An pullin de dogs tail an teasin de cat,
 An fightin de boys dat would come by de gate,
 An fussin around at a turrible rate,
 An tellin his ma dat it wusn't his fault,
 An when he growed up he warn't wuff his salt.

Now mostly when chillun is raised sorter rough
 An fed sorter scanty an walloped enough
 An spanked wid a bed slat an pulled by de har
 An prayed wid an sung to in famby prar
 De muscles git stout an dey intelleck broad
 An dey grows good an strong in de grace ob de Lowd.

But when you sees chillun dats petted an spiled
 An washed eber time dey fingers is siled
 An always a eatin on candy an stuff,
 An cryin for mo when dey done got enough,
 When dat chile is growed an his chilehood is done
 You can bet yo last dime he's a proejkin son.

Dat proejkin son in de Bible you know,
 Wus so lazy an triffin he wanted to go
 To a land whar he thought he could have milk an honey,
 An cut a big dash on his sber ob de money,
 But Lowd he wus soon to de end ob his ribbin
 Wid spendin ob money an riachous libin.

He soon quit his braggin an prancin about
 When his money wus spent an his britches wore out,
 He didn't have no whar to sleep or to eat
 An he look like a tramp when he come down de street.

An he couldn't get work in de shop or de mines,
 An he got so hongry he et wid de swines.
 It cyored him you bet, sah, he struck out a walkin
 An went to his pa whar he did some tal talkin.

Mrs. George T. Fuller, with millionaire ideas—Pansy Tankersley, Delphine Larue, an adventuress—Beatrice Estes. Millie Fuller, daughter of George T.—Ina Bess Hicks. Mrs. T. Jefferson Jaynes, a social leader—Joy Jones. Lena May Crow, maid of the Fullers—Eva Douthitt. Emy Rockheart, a hard-boiled policewoman—Media Gill.

Many a Friend Recommends BLACK-DRAUGHT

People who have taken Black-Draught naturally are enthusiastic about it because of the refreshing relief it has brought them. No wonder they urge others to try it! ... Mrs. Joe G. Roberts, of Portersville, Ala., writes: "A friend recommended Black-Draught to me a long time ago, and it has proved its worth to me. Black-Draught is good for constipation. I find that taking Black-Draught prevents the bilious headaches which I used to have." ... A purely vegetable medicine for the relief of CONSTIPATION, BELLOUSENESS

He lowed dat de niggers what lived wid his paw
 Had fine grub to eat an good backer to chaw,
 An dat he wus sleepin wid vermin an frogs
 An eatin de grub dat wus fixed for de hogs.

His paw wus so glad when he seed him a comin
 Dat he neber did finish de chune he wus hummin,
 He jumped off de poach an run down to meet him
 An wep on his neck like he wanted to eat him.
 An called up the niggers an toll em to run
 An kill a whole beef for 'de proejkin son.

Now dats whats de matter wid chillun today
 When dey paw lets em grow up an have dey own way.
 Dey's so lazy an biggeted when dey gits grown,
 Dat dey wants to run off an try it alone.
 An spen all dey money in riachous fun
 An fust thing dey knows dey's a proejkin son.

LAWRENCE SANFORD VICTIM OF STRANGE ACCIDENT

Lawrence Sanford is still suffering intensely at times and losing much sleep at night as the result of an accident that broke the bones of his right hand a couple of weeks ago. The animal became frightened at something and set back on the rope, pulling Lawrence's hand out through the door of the car and bending it back till the bones broke. The injuries were rather serious and have required the attention of a physician, but he believes that they will heal up satisfactorily in the course of time.

JERSEY MILK COWS, now fresh, for sale. Connolly Chevrolet Co.

ADDING MACHINE ROLLS now on sale at The News office.

IN THE UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT FOR THE WESTERN DISTRICT OF TEXAS WACO DIVISION

J. M. HUBBERT VS TEMPLE TRUST COMPANY
 NO. 236- IN EQUITY
 NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the undersigned has filed his application with the Clerk of the United States District Court in and for the Western District of Texas, Waco Division, for an order authorizing him to sell and convey to W.S. Anglin of Tahoka, Texas, all of lot Four (4), Block Nineteen (19) of the original town of Tahoka, Lynn County, Texas, together with all improvements thereon situated, and for a total consideration of FOURTEEN HUNDRED ($1400.00) DOLLARS, and of which amount FIVE HUNDRED ($500.00) DOLLARS will be paid in cash and the balance, NINE HUNDRED ($900.00) DOLLARS will be evidenced by one note in said sum, to be executed by said purchaser, payable to the order of the undersigned, and to become due and payable in eighty-four (84) monthly installments of THIRTEEN & 60-100 ($13.68) DOLLARS each, to bear interest at the rate of seven per cent per annum, and to be secured by vendor's lien and deed of trust lien on the property and premises above described. Said application will be heard by the Honorable Charles A. Boynton, Judge of said court, after this notice shall have been published for a period of ten days, and any person interested in said Receivership Estate may contest this application. WITNESS my hand at Temple, Texas, this 22nd day of January, A.D. 1936.

H. C. GLENN, as Receiver for Temple Trust Company, Temple, Texas.

Miss Norfleet Grimes, home demonstration agent of Lubbock county, and Mr. Fred Elliott, former assistant county agent and now a student in Texas Tech, were guests of Mrs. E. I. Hill Sunday afternoon.

Charley Curry spent last week end at Haskell.

We have Leased and are Running the CONOCO SERVICE STATION (North of Old Theatre)

Come by and let us test and air your tires, fix your flats, fill your car with Conoco Gas.

Add a quart, or drain and fill with Germ Process Motor Oil, the best by test.

GREASING A SPECIALTY!

J. J. and Glenn Boydston

Mack's Food Store

Prices For Friday Afternoon and Saturday, Jan. 31 and Feb. 1

FRESH VEGETABLES

GRAPEFRUIT Marsh Seedless Dozen— 35c

DRIED FRUIT SALE		CANNED GOODS SALE
Prunes	10 lb. box Medium Size 59c	Peaches	No. 2 1/2 Can— In Syrup 14c
Peaches	10 lb. Choice $1.19	Tomatoes	No. 2, 3 For— (Dozen—89c) 25c
Apricots	10 lb. Choice $1.79	Turnip Greens	No. 2, 4 For— (Doz.—65c) 25c

SOUP Crosse & Blackwell Any Flavor 16 Ounce Can— 12 1/2

Cocoa	Our Mother's 1 lb.—10c 2 lbs.—19c	K.C. BAKING POWDERS
Cookies	Chocolate Covered Marshmallow 19c	25 oz. can .....17c 50 oz. can .....29c 5 lb. can .....50c 10 lb. can .....98c

SPUDS 10 Pounds— 15c

HONEY SALE		FLOUR
No. 5, Extracted	45c	Extra High Patent	Every Sack Guaranteed!
No. 10, Extracted	85c	Kimbell's Best	48 Lbs—
No. 5, Comb	50c		$1.79
No. 10, Comb	98c

COFFEE 1 lb. H. & H. ....27c
 2 lbs. H. & H. ....53c
 3 lbs. H. & H. ....79c
 4 lb. Pail Texas Girl ....85c

Pickles, qt. sour 15c | Brooms, each 25c
 Chili Armour's 11 Oz. Can 3 for 25c | SOAP T.N.T. LAUNDRY SOAP 7 GIANT BARS— 25c

SUGAR 10 lb. Cloth Bag— 53c

We Deliver! We Want Your Eggs! PHONE 70

SOCIETY

Club and Church News

SCHOOL FOR REPORTERS

By request of our C. H. D. Agent, reporters of Lynn county H. D. clubs and 4-H clubs met January 25 at 2:30 p. m. in the office of Miss Sylvia Robb, county H. D. agent.

The purpose of the meeting was to aid the reporter in making reports for publication. Miss Robb conducted the school. Editor E. I. Hill expected to speak to us but other business prevented.

Those present voted to band themselves together in an organization known as "The Writers Organization."

The following officers were elected:

Chairman—Mrs. Garland Pennington, Edith H. D. club.
Secretary—Mrs. S. J. Anthony, Wilson H. D. club.

Reporter—Mrs. I. M. Draper, Midway H. D. club.
First meeting will be held March 28, 2:30 p. m. in the office of the county H. D. Agent.

Visitors present. Mrs. M. C. Brandon, Wilson H. D. club; Ora Anderson, Sponser Midway 4-H club.

Members present: Tommie Ruth Anderson, Midway 4-H club; Mrs. A. C. Weaver, Tahoka H. D. club; Imogene Newman, New Lynn 4-H club; Mrs. I. M. Draper, Midway H. D. club; Mrs. Boswell Edwards, New Home H. D. club; Mrs. M. C. Thomas, Grassland H. D. club; Mrs. Garland Pennington, Edith H. D. club; Mrs. M. O. Conway, Tahoka H. D. club; Mrs. Chester Short, Dixie H. D. club; Mrs. S. G. Anthony, Wilson H. D. club; Mrs. Susie Bartley, New Lynn H. D. club.

MINOR BATON CLUB VISITS MIDWAY SCHOOL

The Minor Baton with its counselor, Mrs. Rubie D. Sudarth, enjoyed a visit to the Midway community Tuesday night, when they presented a musical program in the school building.

Thirteen members of the club were present and gave a varied program as follows: girl's and boys' choruses in two numbers each, piano duet, solos in voice, violin, cornet and piano, a Texas poem and a sketch of the Texas composer, David Gulon, whose music was sung by the boys' chorus, three numbers by the Minor Baton Trio, and a final vocal ensemble by the club.

An attentive audience heard the visitors, who deeply appreciate the cordial courtesy of Professor and Mrs. Griffith, who are doing their big bit musically for this community. Their protegee, little Joe Lane, cleverly entertained the visitors with some vocal and violin selections, following the regular program.

The club wishes to again express, thus publicly, their pleasure, and their thanks for this opportunity to be with these friendly folk, and to assure them that we should be happy to return at any time.—Club Reporter.

Pay up your subscription now!

CHURCH OF CHRIST NOTES

Last Lord's day the attendance was cut down by the cold weather. One thing I cannot understand is why Brethren and Sisters can get out in the cold on Saturday and Monday without it making them sick, but on Sunday—well, that is different. But, don't forget Jesus is keeping a record of our church attendance and our excuses will have to pass His inspection at the Judgment.

Another thing that bothers me is why church members can see how to drive to the picture show on bank night, but the lights are too dim to make it to church Sunday night. If I am informed correctly, all the people that attend Sunday night services in Tahoka could be put in one of our larger church auditoriums and have some room to spare.

Fathers and mothers, what do your children think of your religion when you do not think enough of the church to attend its services. Think it over.

One more thing and I am through for this time. Why will parents give their children twenty-five cents to spend Saturday afternoon and one penny for Sunday School?

Services next Lord's Day, Preaching morning and evening. Morning subject: "The Blessings of God." Night subject: "Paul's Trip to Rome." Visit the friendly church. —R. P. Drennon.

NEW HOME H. D. CLUB

"Six flags have flown on the Texas breeze," said Mrs. Loyd McCormick to the New Home H. D. club at the home of Mrs. P. W. Goad January 24.

Six different sovereignties have claimed jurisdiction over her rich forests, her wide plains, her long seacoast and great mountains.

For many reasons Texas was proclaimed a free and independent republic on March 2, 1836. This year is one of which native Texans are proud—A Texas Centennial Year! Mrs. Henry Heck was elected parliamentary. Means for raising funds for the treasury were discussed.

Fifteen members and one visitor were present.

WILSON H. D. CLUB

The Wilson Home Demonstration Club met Tuesday, Jan. 21, with Mrs. M. C. Brandon as hostess. There were sixteen members present.

Plans were made for entries in the Lubbock Meat Show and the Plainview Dairy Show. Miss Robb gave an interesting discussion on gardening stressing the importance of careful selection of seeds to be planted.

The club adjourned to meet Feb. 4 with Mrs. B. W. Baker.—Reporter.

Penny North of Arp, Smith county, spent the week end here with his wife, who is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Wetzel.

Political Announcements

The following announcements are made subject to the action of the Democratic Primary Election to be held on Saturday, July 25, 1936.

1st District Attorney, 196th Dist.: TRUETT SMITH

For County Judge: P. W. GOAD
W. E. SMITH (re-election)

For County Clerk: H. C. STORY (re-election)
ROY O. NETTLES

For Sheriff: B. L. PARKER (re-election)

For County Attorney: ROLLIN MCCOORD.

For County Treasurer: VIOLA ELLIS (re-election)

For Tax Assessor and Collector: A. M. CADEE (re-election)

For Commissioner, Prec. 1: GEO. W. SMALL (re-election)

For Commissioner, Prec't. 2: WILLIS PENNINGTON
H. W. CALAWAY
SAM HOLLAND

For Commissioner, Prec't. 4: TOM N. HALE.
C. H. (Claude) REAGAN.

For Public Weigher, Prec. 3: (Draw-Grassland)
A. W. BRATCHER
H. W. (Dutch) CRAWFORD

For Public Weigher Prec. 3 (Wilson)
CLYDE SHAW (re-election)

FOR CITY OFFICES

(Election April 7)
For City Secretary: MISS ROSEMARY NELMS

PHIBE K. WARNER CLUB STUDIES PROMINENT MEN

"Texans Prominent in National Affairs" furnished a most interesting and instructive program when the Phibe K. Warner Club met with Mrs. R. L. Richardson last Friday afternoon. The program given by Mesdames Turrentine, Weathers, Henderson, Craft, Fenton, and K. Mathis, was based on the life and work of Mrs. Percy V. Pennybacker, Mrs. Phibe K. Warner, Jesse H. Jones, John N. Garner, Amon G. Carter and David Guion.

During the social hour the hostess assisted by her daughter La Voyle passed a refreshment plate of coconut cream pie and hot coffee to: Mesdames W. O. Henderson, L. E. Weathers, R. W. Fenton Sr., R. W. Fenton Jr., W. K. Mathis, Carl Griffing, L. F. Craft, L. E. Turrentine, W. B. Slaton, E. E. Callaway, E. I. Hill and Miss Robb.—Reporter.

O'DONNELL HISTORY CLUB ORGANIZED

A "Texas History Club," sponsored by superintendent E. E. Gilbreath, has been organized in the O'Donnell High School, according to Miss Mildred Louise Goddard, Reporter.

The purpose of the organization is to learn more about the state, Miss Goddard says. The Bluebonnet has been selected as the club flower. Officers were elected as follows: A. C. Hamilton, president; Norma Vermillion, vice-president; Aleene Gates, secretary-treasurer; Mildred Louise Goddard, reporter; and Oneita Goddard, historian.

LOCAL COUPLE MARRIED IN POST ON JANUARY 8

Miss Ethel Mae Johnson and Coleman Henderson, both of Tahoka, accompanied by several friends, drove over to Post and were married by Rev. M. C. Bishop, Baptist pastor there, on January 8.

The young couple with the best wishes of a host of friends have moved to the Redwine community, where they will farm this year.

NEW LYNN H. D. CLUB

The Home Demonstration Club of New Lynn met with Mrs. Newman Bartley January 21 with nine members and two visitors, Mrs. Lucy Ash of Pampa and Miss Mildred Reno, present.

The Club voted to present Mrs. W. F. Barton, one of our former members who has moved away, a bed spread.

Our next meeting is with Mrs. P. K. Fleming.—Reporter.

County Clerk H. C. Story was back in his office Monday after having been confined to his room for several days with a severe cold.

JERSEY MILK COWS, now fresh, for sale. Connolly Chevrolet Co.

MIMMOGRAPH PAPER — Good grade, 8 1/2 x 11 size, 75c per ream; 8 1/2 x 14, $1.00. The News.

Thanksgiving—And the American Spirit

By RAYMOND PITCAIRN
National Chairman
Sentinels of the Republic

Thanksgiving Day has been widely characterized as "the most American of all our feasts."

It is an apt description. Apart from Independence Day no national holiday recalls more clearly the primary American qualities of courage and self-reliance.

Originated by a hardy group of pioneers who by their own efforts had established a firm foothold in an unfriendly wilderness, it constituted an expression of reverend gratitude not only for plenty, but for freedom of body and of spirit.

Today, three centuries after that celebration, it is significant to recall that almost every President who issued a Thanksgiving proclamation has sounded that typically American note.

George Washington in his Thanksgiving message of 1789 emphasized "the civil and religious liberty with which we are blessed."

Abraham Lincoln, in the dark days of '63, reminded the people of the blessings of freedom.

Many of his successors in office have repeated the thought.

"Perhaps that is why the Thanksgiving celebration remains to all Americans not only a solemn religious festival, but an annual reminder of the spirit of those pioneers who were taught to depend on Providence and themselves rather than on kings and politicians."

Both Independence Day and Thanksgiving continue to celebrate those American qualities of self-reliance and love of freedom. And so long as these days are celebrated, the demagogues who try to teach the people that government should bear all their burdens and politicians rule all their lives, are going to find the going hard, and their message futile.

America still retains the spirit of the first Thanksgiving Day.

GAY FUN FILM IS SPARKLING AND BREEZY HIT

Sparkling with bright dialogue, uproarious comedy and breezy performances by its stars, "Hands Across the Table," which comes to the English Theatre Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, should be marked down on your list of "musts" as a delectable bit of sprightly nonsense you shouldn't miss.

This laugh provoking, entertaining vehicle also gives the seductive, blond Carole Lombard an opportunity her talents in a totally different role. In place of her customary gorgeously gowned sophisticated lady characterizations, the fetching Miss Lombard discloses an amazing flair for light comedy in her portrayal as a poor, but attractive and ambitious manicurist, and she emerges as an able comedienne, delivering her lines with a delightfully sarcastic, infectious gaiety.

Fred MacMurray, as a penniless young playboy; Ralph Bellamy, who appears as a wealthy but invalid suitor of Miss Lombard; and Marie Prevost, appear as other leading characters in the picture.

JERSEY MILK COWS, now fresh, for sale. Connolly Chevrolet Co.

Pay up your subscription now!
MANUSCRIPT COVERS—$1.50 per box of 100, or two covers for 5c.—The News.

SORE THROAT—TONSILITIS.

Nothing equals a good mop and instant relief is afforded by Anathesia-Mop, the wonderful new sore throat remedy. Positive relief guaranteed or purchase price refunded by Tahoka Drug Co. 12-16tp

CONSTIPATED 30 YEARS

AIDED BY OLD REMEDY
"For thirty years I had constipation. Scurrying food from stomach choked me. Since taking Adlerika I am a new person. Constipation is a thing of the past."—Alice Burns, Thomas Bros. Drug Co.

BLEEDING GUMS HEALED

The sight of sore gums is sickening. Reliable dentists often report the successful use of LETO'S PYORRHEA REMEDY on their very worst cases. If you will get a bottle and use as directed druggists will return money if it fails.—Thomas Bros. Drug Co.

Try CARDUI For Functional Monthly Pains

Women from the 'teen age to the change of life have found Cardui genuinely helpful for the relief of functional monthly pains due to lack of just the right strength from the food they eat. Mrs. Crit Haynes, of Essex, Mo., writes: "I used Cardui when a girl for cramps and found it very beneficial. I have recently taken Cardui during the change of life. I was very nervous, had head and back pains and was in a generally run-down condition. Cardui has helped me greatly."

Thousands of women testify Cardui benefited them. If it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician.

Night School Work Started Tuesday

The first of a series of evening school meetings was held Tuesday night in the Edith community under the supervision of W. F. Stubbs, Tahoka vocational agriculture instructor. The purpose of the meeting was to set up problems and decide on subjects for discussion in meetings that are to follow.

The majority of the meetings will be taken up with terracing and contouring. However, several other subjects of interest will be decided upon later.

Several field demonstrations on terracing will be held within the next few weeks.

The next meeting will be held next Tuesday night, February 4, at 7:30 o'clock. The subject for discussion and consideration is "Learning parts, how to run and set Farm Level."

If enough interest is shown, the meetings will continue each week for at least ten weeks.

The purpose of these evening school meetings is to give the adult farmers an opportunity to express their desires and work out the various problems that arise. Experience of the individuals plus all available experimental data will be presented on each subject and practical conclusions will be arrived at.

Keep a Good Laxative always in your home

Among the necessities of home is a good, reliable laxative. Don't be without one! Do your best to prevent constipation. Don't neglect it when you feel any of its disagreeable symptoms coming on. "We have used Theodor's Black-Draught for 21 years and have found it a very useful medicine that every family ought to have in their home," writes Mrs. Perry Hicks, of Belton, Texas. "I take Black-Draught for biliousness, constipation and other ills where a good laxative or purgative is needed. I have always found Black-Draught gives good results." Sold in 25-cent packages.

BLACK-DRAUGHT

ITCH
Don't use messy salves and bandages. BROWN'S LOTION stops itching instantly. This liquid sold with money back guarantee on first bottle.
6c and $1.00 sizes at Thomas Bros.

New Help-Yourself Laundry

We also do washing for others. We have an Extractor and can take care of your washing any kind of weather. Your patronage will be highly appreciated.

S. D. KIMBREL, Proprietor
In Larkin Bldg., Southwest Corner Square

Davis Food Store

Why fight your wife every 1st? Trade here with cash and be happy as well as saving. A trial is a conviction.

SYRUP IN BARRELS Pure Georgia Farm Made	24 Ounce P'nut Butter . 23c
50c (YOUR BUCKET)	P & G Giant Bars 25c
	Cocoa Mothers 2 Lbs. 17c
MARKET	Prunes, No. 10 25c
	Coffee Texas Girl 17c
Margarine 19c	Lettuce 3 1/2c
Salt Pork 22c	Meal, 20 lbs 45c
Steak Fancy White Face 15c	Pails, 10 qt. 19c
Rib Stew 12 1/2c	Spuds, 10 lbs 15c
Fresh Fish All The Time!	Lemons Large Size 21c
Phone 65

FREE!

By booking your Chick Order NOW—
A two weeks' supply of Purina Startena.

Book your order now . . . and receive absolutely FREE with each 100 chicks, 25 lbs. of Purina STARTENA. We give you the Feed Absolutely FREE if you book your chick order for delivery 3 weeks or more in advance. This helps us to plan our hatches and set the eggs in our incubators according to orders . . . that's why we are making this special offer. Order your Baby Chicks TODAY!

25 lbs. with 100 Chicks
50 lbs. " 200 Chicks
75 lbs. " 300 Chicks
125 lbs. " 500 Chicks
250 lbs. " 1000 Chicks

FREE!

To get the FREE FEED, you must book your chick order with us 3 weeks or more in advance!

25% Down With All Orders!

CALVERY'S HATCHERY

Resettlement Area Includes Dust Bowl

Dallas, Jan. 30.—Formation of a new regional setup of the rural resettlement administration for a part of the section formerly known as the Nation's dust bowl, now dubbed the green bowl, was announced Tuesday by D. P. Trent, Dallas, regional R.R.A. director for Texas and Oklahoma.

The new region will embrace parts of five States, extending into Texas from the Panhandle's northern boundary southward to Reagan, Upton and Crane Counties. Included are thirty-eight Texas counties, three Oklahoma counties, fifteen New Mexico counties, twenty-five Kansas counties and fourteen Colorado counties. The three Oklahoma counties are Beaver, Texas and Cimarron.

Included in the Texas area of the new region is the Ropesville community project, near Lubbock, where the R.R.A. is preparing to establish thirty-three families as owners of improved 120 acre farms.

New Director Named
R. A. Hauter of the R.R.A. staff, New Mexico, has been assigned as director of the new region. Mr. Trent announced. His headquarters will be at Amarillo.

The program for the new region calls for development of land utilization in the area. Included in this will be studies of the problems of drought and wind erosion and demonstrations of means to combat these twin enemies of dwellers in much of the area. Establishment of wild life refuges and public parks on land considered unfit for agriculture also is planned. Some of the problems facing citizens of this area were caused by overgrazing and by cultivation of lands unsuited to agriculture, Mr. Trent said. The new region was created partly to give opportunity for centralization study on problems peculiar to the area.

Praise was given by Mr. Trent to the R.R.A. clients living in the section.

10,000 Families Aided.
"In the Texas and Oklahoma counties involved there are 10,000 families who have been on our rolls," he said. Most of them have been on direct relief. Last year they were given loans to buy teams, equipment and supplies and have made the best repayment records in Texas. In fact they are nearing 100 per cent repayments in some counties, even though the loans were for periods extending up to five years.

Debt adjustment for farmers threatened with foreclosure and dispossession is another activity of the R.R.A. in this and other sections, all handled through regional offices. In this work R.R.A. agents advise farmers as to their rights under the new Prazier-Lempke amendments. The problems are first investigated by county committees.

Texas counties to be included in the new region are Andrews, Armstrong, Bailey, Borden, Carson, Castro, Cochran, Crane, Dallam, Dawson, Deaf Smith, Ector, Gaines, Glasscock, Hale Hansford, Hartley, Hockley, Howard, Hutchinson, Lamb, Lipscomb, Lubbock, Lynn, Martin, Midland, Moore, Ochiltree, Oldham, Parmer, Potter, Randall, Reagan, Sherman, Swisher, Terry, Upton and Yoakum.

Edith

Ruby Payne, Reporter

There wasn't any Sunday School and singing Sunday because of bad weather. Let's all come out next Sunday, if the weather permits, and start our Sunday School and singing up again. Come, you are wanted and needed.

Miss Parker was not able to teach school last week, but she is back again this week. Miss Thelma Parker, who is her sister, taught last week.

The people of this community were very sorry to have Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Anderson and family leave us. They have been very helpful in making our community a better one, especially in Sunday School and singing in past years. They moved to Seagraves. We hope they will like their new home.

The little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Sanders, who has been sick for some time, is now improving greatly. We surely hope she will soon be in good health.

Mr. and Mrs. Garnett and family visited Mr. and Mrs. Bailey and family of Dixie Sunday.

Misses Ruby and Peggy Payne spent the week end with their sister, Mrs. Dudley Martin of Draw.

Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Lindley of Lamesa visited Mr. and Mrs. Carl Sanders Friday afternoon. Their son Randolph returned home with them for the week end.

Those present enjoyed the party Wednesday night in the home of A. A. Anderson.

Remember Sunday School Sunday. Come!—Reporter.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Balch and son Woodrow of Sweetwater visited their sons, J. T., A. C., and W. L. at New Home several days last week.

Newmoore

Erma Gene Brandon, Reporter

Mrs. W. R. Shepperd's mother of Newmoore died Saturday night. She was buried at Lamesa Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Brandon of O'Donnell visited Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Brandon of Newmoore.

There has been a number of people at Newmoore who are getting tractors, including: Lon Light, Jack Rogers, J. F. Rogers, Ralph Tunnell, and Tom Rogers.

Mrs. E. E. Alexander and son have been ill the last few days. They are taking the baby to the Lubbock hospital today. We all hope it will get better.

Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Nichols are the proud parents of a baby son. Both mother and babe are doing well.

Mrs. Simpson taught in Mr. Simpson's place Friday because he had to be away. She made a fine teacher.

The Davis Drug Co. of O'Donnell presented the New Moore school a large 12-inch globe. We thank them very much for same.

SERVICES AT NAZARENE CHURCH ANNOUNCED

Rev. Vorhees, pastor of the Church of the Nazarenes at Lamesa, began a week-end revival at the Nazarene Church here Thursday night, which will continue till Sunday night. Everybody is cordially invited.

CITATION BY PUBLICATION

The State of Texas. To the Sheriff or Any Constable of Lynn County, Greeting:

You are hereby commanded to summon Kate Cassel by making publication of this citation once in each week for four consecutive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your county, if there be a newspaper published therein, but if not, then in the nearest county where a newspaper is published, to appear at the next regular term of the District Court of Lynn County, Texas, to be held at the courthouse thereof in Tahoka, on the 3rd Monday in February, 1936, the same being the 17th day of February, 1936, then and there to answer a petition filed in said court on the 1st day of January, 1936, in a suit numbered 1085 on the docket of said court, wherein V. S. Cassel is plaintiff, and Kate Cassel is defendant, said petition alleging the marriage of said parties on the 30th day of January, 1910, and their separation as man and wife on or about the 27th day of July, 1935, same being caused by cruel and harsh treatment and improper conduct of the defendant toward plaintiff, by reason of which plaintiff was compelled to abandon defendant, none of which conduct was caused by plaintiff; that the conduct of defendant toward plaintiff generally are of such a nature as to render their further living together as husband and wife insupportable; asking that said marriage relations be dissolved and a divorce granted and for costs of suit.

Herein fail not, but have you before said court, on the said first day of the next term thereof, this writ, with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Witness, W. S. Taylor, Clerk of the District Court of Lynn County, Texas.

Given under my hand and seal of said court, in the town of Tahoka, Lynn County, Texas, this 16th day of January, 1936.

W. S. TAYLOR, Clerk, District Court, Lynn County Texas. Issued this 16th day of January, 1936. W. S. TAYLOR, Clerk, District Court, Lynn County, Texas. 22-4tc

THE STATE OF TEXAS

To the Sheriff or any Constable of Lynn County, Texas—GREETING: WHEREAS, on the 13th day of January, 1936, Callie Lumsden joined by her husband, L. Lumsden, filed and presented to the Commissioners Court of Lynn County, Texas, her Application in words and figures as follows:

"Now comes your petitioner, Callie Lumsden, of Lynn County, Texas, and respectfully makes the following representations to the Court, to-wit:—

1. That she owns all of the following described Lots and Blocks designated by numbers, in the town of Wilson, Lynn County Texas, as said Lots and Blocks are shown by the map of said town of Wilson, recorded in Vol. 34, page 29, of the Deed Records of Lynn County, Texas, to-wit: All of Blocks No. 40, 41, 42, 43, 44, 45, 46, 47, 48, 49, 50, 55, 57, 58 and 60; and all of Lots No. 1 to 12, inclusive, in Block No. 61; and all of Lots No. 13 to 24, inclusive, in Block No. 62; and all of Lots No. 21 to 26, inclusive, in Block No. 77; and all of Blocks No. 63, 65, 66, 72, and 73; and all of Lots No. 13 to 24, inclusive, in Block No. 78; and all of Blocks No. 79, 80, 81, and 82.

2. That your petitioner also owns the acreage lands adjoining that portion of the town plat of the town of Wilson where the above named and numbered Blocks are situated and immediately adjoining said Blocks No. 40 to 50, inclusive, and Blocks No. 65, 72, 56 and 82.

3. That none of said lands are situated in an incorporated city or town.

That the following named and numbered streets, avenues and alleys in said town of Wilson are adjacent to or intersect the Lots and Blocks mentioned in paragraph No.

1 above, to-wit: All of Sixth and Seventh Streets; all that portion of Kerr Avenue extending from Sixth Street to Ninth Street; all that portion of Studeman Avenue extending from Sixth Street to Ninth Street; all that portion of Eighth Street extending from Kerr Avenue to Lumsden Avenue; and that portion of said Eighth Street extending from Gouger Avenue to a line running between the southeast corner of Lot No. 21, in Block No. 77, and the Northwest corner of Lot No. 12, in Block No. 61, and all that portion of said Eighth Street extending from Merrem Avenue to Studeman Avenue; and all that portion of Vanham, Culpepper, Lumsden and Dreyer Avenues, respectively, extending from Sixth Street to Ninth Street; and all that portion of Gouger, Weihausen and Merrem Avenues, respectively, extending from Sixth Street to Seventh Street; and all that portion of Houston Avenue extending from Sixth Street to a line running from the Northwest corner of Lot No. 13, in Block No. 78, to the Northeast corner of Lot No. 26, in Block No. 77; and all that portion of Dickson Avenue extending from Sixth Street to Eighth Street; and all of the alleys in Blocks No. 40 to 50, inclusive, and in Blocks No. 56, 57, 58, 60, 63, 65, 66, 72, 73, 79, 80, 81 and 82; and all of the Alley running Northwest and Southeast in Block No. 78; and that none of said Streets, Avenues and Alleys and portions thereof above named are used by the public for any purpose; and that all that portion of Ninth Street extending from Kerr Avenue to Gouger Avenue, and all that portion of Ninth Street extending from Merrem Avenue to Studeman Avenue, is used for a country neighborhood road, and the one-half of said Ninth Street, between said points, and lying adjacent to the Railroad right-of-way, being 40 feet in width, is a suitable and amply sufficient for such neighborhood road purposes.

5. That all of the Lots and Blocks described in paragraph No. 1 above and all of the Streets, Avenues and Alleys described in paragraph No. 4 above and the portion of the map and plat showing the same, should be cancelled and returned to acreage for tax assessment and collection purposes, and your applicant should be permitted and authorized to close all said Streets, Avenues and Alleys and portions thereof, and in this connection your petitioner represents to the Court that such action will not interfere with any established rights of any purchaser owning any of the other portions of the townsite of said town of Wilson, that your petitioner owns all of the land that would be affected thereby and the same is in reality acreage property, and the assessment of the same for taxes as lots and blocks works a great hardship upon your petitioner and on the taxing officers, leading often to undue tax valuations, as well as unnecessary great expenses, confusion and possible litigation. Petitioner further represents that the cancellation applied for will be of great benefit to your petitioner, will work no hardship upon any one, and that, if so cancelled, petitioner will then own and render for taxes Tract No. 1 containing 132.77 acres of land lying Northeast of Green Avenue and its continuation as a public road, and Tract No. 2 containing 95.65 acres of land lying Southwest of said Green Avenue and public road, which will lessen confusion, labor, costs and expenses in the assessment and collection of taxes.

6. WHEREFORE, petitioner prays the Court that notice of this petition be given as required by Article 7227, Revised Civil Statutes of Texas, 1925, and after such notice shall have been published as the law requires, that the Court hear and act upon this petition at the next regular term thereof after such publication, and that upon such hearing the Court shall make and enter its order cancelling so much of said map and plat of the town of Wilson as covers and includes the above described property now belonging to your petitioner and the streets, avenues and alleys and portions thereof as above described, and authorizing the owner of said land, by written instrument such as is required by law, to cancel said map and plat to the extent defined in this petition and designated in such order of the Court, and to record the same in the Deed Records of Lynn County, Texas, and authorizing and directing the Tax Assessor of Lynn County, Texas, thereafter to assess such property so thrown back into acreage property, as if it had never been subdivided and platted into lots, blocks, streets, avenues and alleys, and otherwise to pursue the authority and requirements of said Article 7227.

In the alternative, as respects such cancellations, petitioner prays that the Court, at such hearing, order and permit the cancellation of so much of said platted and mapped town property as the Court shall deem proper. Respectfully submitted, CALLIE LUMSDEN, LUMSDEN.

AND, WHEREAS, the foregoing application having been presented to the Commissioners Court, such Court made its order in words and figures as follows:

"On this the 13th day of January, 1936, at a regular term of the Commissioners Court of Lynn County, Texas, all members of said Court being present and acting, came on regularly to be heard the application of Mrs. Callie Lumsden, joined by her husband, L. Lumsden, for an order of the Court cancelling and authorizing the cancellation of a portion of the map and plat of the town of Wilson, Texas, recorded in Vol. 34, page 29 of the Deed Records of Lynn County, Texas, as set forth in said application, and it appearing to the court that said application is in compliance with Article 7227 of the Revised Civil Statutes of Texas, 1925:

Therefore, in obedience to said Statute, it is ordered by the Court that the Clerk of this Court issue a citation in terms of law addressed to the Sheriff or any Constable of Lynn County, Texas, requiring him to summon any and all persons interested in such lands to be and appear before the Honorable Commissioners Court of Lynn County, Texas, at the regular term thereof commencing on the 10th day of February, 1936, the same being the second Monday in said month, in the city of Tahoka, in the Court House of said county, at ten o'clock, a. m., when and where said application will be heard by said Court and then and there to protest, if desired, against the action therein prayed for; and said citation shall contain a copy of this order and of said application, and shall be published in some newspaper published in the English language in Lynn County, Texas, for three consecutive weeks prior to the 10th day of February, 1936."

NOW, THEREFORE, You are hereby commanded to summon all persons interested in the townsite of Wilson, in Lynn County, Texas, and being the land described in the foregoing application and order, by making publication of this citation once in each week for three consecutive weeks before the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in the English language in Lynn County, Texas, to appear at the next regular term of the Commissioners Court of Lynn County, Texas, to be held at the Court House thereof in Tahoka, Texas, on the second Monday in February, 1936, the same being the 10th day of February, 1936, then and there, if desired, to protest against the granting of said application filed in said Court on the 13th day of January, 1936, and being the application hereinabove set out.

GIVEN under my hand and the seal of said Court, in the City of Tahoka, Texas, this 14th day of January, A. D. 1936.

H. C. STORY, County Clerk and Ex-officio Clerk of the Commissioners Court in and for Lynn County, Texas. 22-3tp

USED CARS

Good, Reconditioned, O K'd Used Cars

CHEAP

Let Us Show You!

CONNOLLY CHEVROLET CO.

Without becoming technical . . .

Will you please tell me what a kilowatt hour is?

Certainly, madam, we'll be glad to!

A kilowatt hour is a unit of measurement. Just like a pound of butter, a peck of potatoes, a quart of milk. That's all—just a convenient unit to measure the amount of electricity you use in your home each month.

True, you can't measure it with your eye as you can a quart of milk or a pound of butter, but you can measure the work it does for you. For example:

ONE KILOWATT HOUR (or KWH as it appears on your bill) WILL

- Light a 100 watt lamp for 10 hours
- Run an electric clock for more than 2 weeks
- Run an average-sized electric refrigerator about 20 hrs.
- Run a 10-inch fan 27 hours

Kilowatt hours now cost less than ever before. In fact, some add nothing to your bill! By using all the electricity to which you are entitled you get the greatest benefits from the new ultimate rate now in effect.

TEXAS UTILITIES CO.

We Have Installed STEAM

In connection with our hot water. You may now boil your clothes while washing them at—

FUQUAY'S SELF-SERVING LAUNDRY

UNITED — OIL and GAS —

America's Finest Products

We Are Exclusive Agents For—

United Sweet Distillate and United 100% Pure Paraffin Tractor Oils

United Distillate will not corrode piston rings, is free from Sulphur, and has no odor.

United Tractor Oils are the same quality as sold in cans for 30¢ per quart by other companies. Buy these fine oils at United for—

52 cents per Gallon

Keep your Tractor in first class condition with UNITED PRODUCTS and save repairs at end of the Season.

A special weight oil for New and Used Tractors.

United Products sold on a MONEY BACK GUARANTEE.

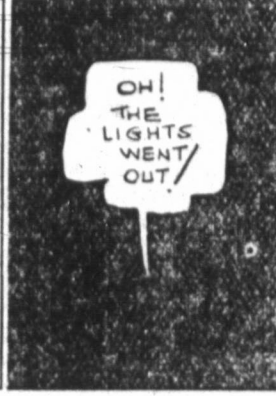

Buy from "UNITED" and save!

America's Finest Products

"We Deliver Anywhere in Lynn County"

Phone 114

THE FEATHERHEADS

Current Expense
Y' QUAK
ONE CAN BECOME TOO USED TO THE ADVANTAGES OF ELECTRICITY BUT WHEN IT FAILS YOU SEE THINGS IN A DIFFERENT LIGHT

SMATTER POP— Here's a Tense Moment, Yes Indeed!

By C. M. PAYNE

MESCAL IKE

With Her Best Regards

FINNEY OF THE FORCE

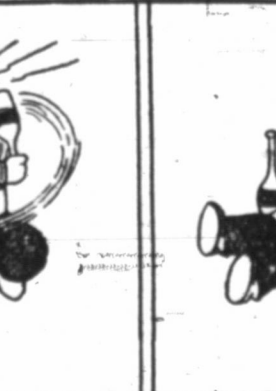

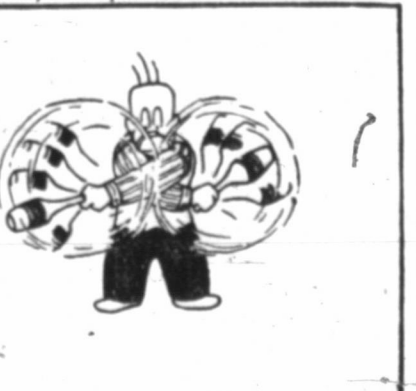

Cagey-Decision
WOOZIEFER
FINNEY
IF PRISONERS HAD WINGS O' ANGLES THEY WOULDN'T GO TO TAIL IN 'T FURRST PLACE

"REG'LAR FELLERS"

Wants To Be Tidy
IT'S AWFUL HARD TO FIT A PIECE OF PIE INNA REG'LAR KINDA POCKET, MOM, HONEST!

ADAMSON'S ADVENTURES One, Two, Three—Out!

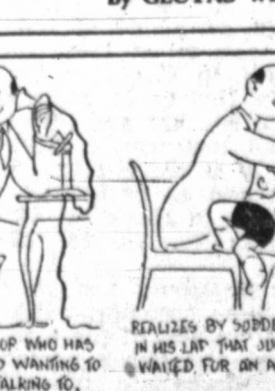

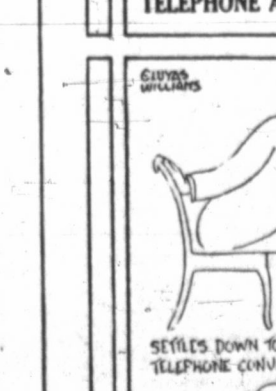

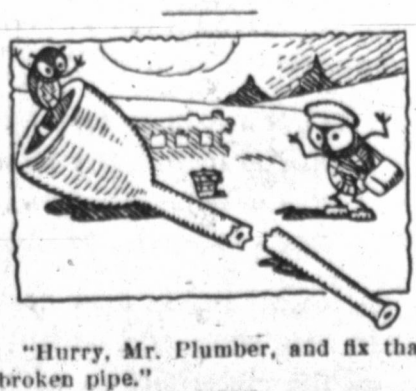

By O. JACOBSSON

BRONC PEELER A Scion of Richard the Lion-Hearted

By FRED HARMAN

FORGOT HIS TOOLS

By GLUYAS WILLIAMS

Wrigley's Spearmint Gum advertisement with text: 'YOU COULDN'T WISH FOR BETTER FLAVOR THAN WRIGLEY'S', 'WRIGLEY'S SPEARMINT THE PERFECT GUM', 'AIDS DIGESTION'

Uncommon Sense

By John Blake
© Bell Syndicate—WNU Service
If your ambition is to become a movie star, bear in mind that there are a great many million people who have a similar ambition, and it stands to reason that only a few of them can get jobs in the movies, even if they really have talent. If it is your hope to be another Babe Ruth, do not forget that Nature has produced only one Babe Ruth in the last ten or fifteen years, and that she isn't likely to produce another in an equal period of time. Find out before you begin your life's work what you want to do, and why, making sure, of course, that it is something which by hard work and training you may be able to learn to do. The lucky ones of the world appear to know instinctively what kind of jobs they want. But they are exceptions. Maybe you are an exception, too. But probably you aren't. How then are you going to make your entry into this difficult and perplexing world? There is only one way that is reasonably sure to be of use. Get the best education you can. Get the best training that you can. As soon as it is possible, find a job. Don't pick this job because you think it will bring you celebrity over night. Don't pick it because it looks easy. Pick it after long consideration of your own abilities. Then go into it and work at it for all you are worth. Never mind the pay you get at the start. If you have gumption and ideas, and force of character, you will be able to raise your own pay after you have learned the ropes. Good hard working intelligent men are still in demand. They will always be in demand. Qualify yourself to join their ranks. Take care of your health. No employer will hire a sick looking man. State your case when you ask for employment. Don't be cocksure. On the other hand, don't be too modest. Promise what you are sure you can perform and no more. Don't be timid and shrinking, and don't be perky and flippant. You are not asking a favor when you ask for a job. You are offering services which you believe will be worth what you expect to be paid for them. Your are endeavoring to make a bargain in which both parties may be the gainers. But first of all find out what you can do and how well you can do it. Then and only then will you be prepared to talk business. I sometimes have my doubts about the wisdom of Solomon. The great monarch was an excellent builder, and a great ruler. He did and said many things that were worth remembering. But why he selected the ant as a pattern for human beings to follow is past my understanding. The ant, if she serves any purpose at all, is useful to human beings chiefly as a bad example. She works, it is true, continuously and laboriously. But, aside from supplying herself with food and shelter and the wherewithal to be fed, she is the worst possible example for human beings to follow. All that she does is mechanical. The only purpose she serves is to perpetuate the existence of her race. Through countless centuries the ant has done the same things in the same way. Man has developed. He has learned to think in terms of the future. Read his history and you will find that year by year he has developed. But the ant's life has remained unchanged. Always she has followed the same old round of duties. The ant hill of today is the same kind of an ant hill it was in the Garden of Eden. It has never been improved. Every occupant of an ant hill is enslaved—from the queen, who devotes herself to the propagation of her useless species, down to the dumb driven worker which makes the queen's hill for her and provides her with her daily rations. While Solomon was building his temple the ant was scouring the country for things to tear down and destroy. She has continued in this endeavor through the ages. It may be said that man, too, has been a terrible destroyer. But he also has been a builder. He has improved his own species. Now and then, it is true he has had brainstorms and brought on war and destruction. Not much is to be said for his behavior in parts of Europe just now. But in the main he has planned and thought and built, and despite a few lapses has continued to make the world a better place in which to live and labor. If you want examples to follow—good examples—choose those of the great builders and the great thinkers of the world, who have appreciated the gift of existence and made the most of it. Try to add a little something to the sum of human knowledge. Learn to use your reason.

BRISBANE THIS WEEK

Long Live the King!
Edward Makes Promises
Real Spending Ahead
Tribute to T. R.
King Edward the Eighth, now solemnly proclaimed king, will be remembered as the first king of England that ever flew toward the throne. He took a separate oath "to respect the Church of Scotland." There is hard fighting back of that. Edward the Eighth will mount the throne for the first time at a joint session of the lords and commons, and solemnly promise to "maintain the true intent of your enactments to the best of my powers." After his coronation, the king must formally declare his adherence to the Protestant church, and his obligation "never to marry a Roman Catholic." That dates back to the Stuarts. King Edward, who is not supposed to contemplate marriage, is the official head of the churches of England and Scotland, and "defender of the faith." From all the world, "subjects" of the new king and emperor send greetings. Representatives of divine power, churches of every religion, Mohammedan, Hindu, Buddhist, Chinese, Christian and Jewish, speed the dead king on his journey and welcome the new ruler. If the soldiers get their bonus money there will be some quick spending, enough to quicken the pulse of business while it lasts. Merchants will get more than $800,000,000 owing on past accounts, and the observer will notice many new overcoats, dresses and automobiles. At the opening of New York's $3,500,000 memorial erected to honor the late Theodore Roosevelt, one speaker praised President Theodore Roosevelt as one who "saw the necessity for keeping both the legislatures and the courts in their proper places." That perception showed a high spirit, but if some future Theodore Roosevelt should go too far in that direction it might become necessary for the legislatures and the courts to keep that President in his proper place. Gen. Robert Lee Bullard says this country expects to escape the next war, but Europe plans to drag us in. Besides air bombing and poison gas, General Bullard expects in the next war attacks with disease germs to spread deadly epidemics in the enemy's country. Bubonic plague, scattered from airplanes, infected rats scattered plentifully, might be helpful. Sometimes literature pays. Kipling left several millions. In America alone his official publishers have sold 3,500,000 copies of his books. At the time of his death "The Jungle Books" alone paid him ten thousand pounds a year. When you hear foolish talk about "revolution" and getting rid of the Constitution, a remark made by Washington as he signed the Constitution may be recalled: "Should the states reject this excellent Constitution, the probability is that an opportunity will never again occur to cancel another in peace—the next will be drawn in blood." Mrs. Alinda French of St. Louis, one hundred and four years old, attributes her long life to "hard work in her youth and a dutiful son in her old age." She gets along without spectacles, is "not interested" in pensions for the aged, and not at all interested in politics. "People get over that," says she, "after they reach one hundred." Mrs. French sleeps 12 hours a night. That explains some of the 194 years. The human race gets used to everything. Once our ancestors shivered, fell flat on their faces, when lightning flashed and thunder growled. They thought some demon was after them. Now men put up lightning rods, properly grounded. Once the comet was considered an avenging messenger aimed straight at sinful man. Today its coming and going are understood and predicted, its path marked out. Something unpleasant is bound to start somewhere on the earth, with all the new theories, new hatreds, new armaments, new deadly weapons. It might start on the border between Russia and Japan's Manchukuo. When you read, "Russia uses force to halt Japanese," you know the explosion might come at any time. All would regret bloodshed, but it would be historically interesting to see the ancient autocracy of the Mikado at war with the modern autocracy of Stalin. It would be a long fight, probably. © King Features Syndicate, Inc. WNU Service.

Turkish Peace

Of all the nations allied with Germany in the World War Turkey was the last to make peace, the first to recover from defeat and the only nation on the losing side with whom terms were negotiated rather than imposed.

Seeing Is Believing, and Prof Apparently Was Absent

We hope this is the end of that series of absent-minded professor jokes which we and others have inflicted upon the public...

44 AWARDS AT ONE STATE FAIR! CLABBER GIRL BAKING POWDER

Individuals A good many Americans are so constructed that they can't be a 'follower' of anyone.

CONSTIPATION MADE WORK MISERY

'TIL HE DISCOVERED ALL VEGETABLE CORRECTIVE For years he suffered with constipation...

Little to Be Modest About Why try to be modest when one hasn't anything to brag about anyway?

Still Coughing?

No matter how many medicines you have tried for your cough, chest cold or bronchial irritation, you can get relief now with Creomulsion...

5! WHY PAY MORE? MOROLINE SNOW WHITE PETROLEUM JELLY

Don't be BALD!

Don't give up! Faithful use of Glover's Mange Medicine and Glover's Medicated Soap...

GLOVER'S MANGE MEDICINE

WNU-L 5-30 Forgive Graciously If you must forgive, forgive graciously.

FOUND!

My Ideal Remedy for PAIN 'Though I have tried all good remedies Capudine suits me best...

CAPUDINE

National Debt Reaches Record High

By WILLIAM C. UTLEY THERE was a time when the United States had a national debt of only $37,515.05. But that was exactly 100 years ago...

The War of 1812 sent the debt up to $127,334,933.74 in 1816. In 1866 the debt reached a new high of $2,756,000,000...

When President Roosevelt delivered his budget message to congress on January 6, the national debt was higher than it had ever been before...

Balance Not in Sight. Yet such a balance has not been effected or even forecast for the 1937 fiscal year...

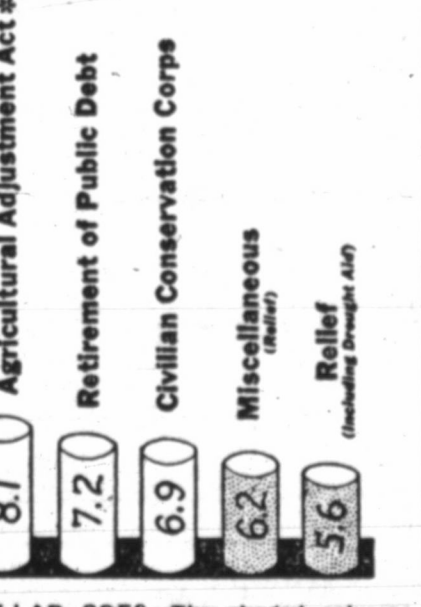

cases be laid to the total inability of the Treasury department, the banks and the people in general to estimate the duration of the depression...

Further "Moral" Obligations. Moral obligations of the treasury are outstanding liabilities of the Federal Land Banks, Home Loan Banks...

WHERE THE GOVERNMENT'S DOLLAR COMES FROM. Recent court decisions would cancel the column labeled "Processing Taxes" and these taxes will have to be returned by the government...

gross debt of more than $30,000,000,000 at the end of 1935 actually represented the proceeds of December borrowing added to the existing debt...

WHERE THE GOVERNMENT'S DOLLAR GOES. The shaded columns represent expenditures for recovery and relief...

Table of Governmental Corporations and Credit Agencies of the United States. Columns: Agency, Assets, Liabilities, Equities.

Like so much of the New Deal's financing, the value or the danger of these liabilities depend entirely upon recovery.

recovery. If business returns to normal or prosperous times the assets will be gradually realized, as were those of the War Finance Corporation...

side of the picture, it is seen that if times go utterly bad, if these actual and implied liabilities have to be met and if Mr. Morgenthau's worst fears are realized...

There are some intangibles on the asset side, too. There is about $4,473,000,000 which the government may realize from equities...

No administration in history has borrowed so much money as the present one. No administration has borrowed it so cheaply, either...

The estimated $5,564,000,000 in revenues for the 1937 fiscal year, if it proves accurate, would mean the largest federal tax receipts in history...

all Purchases Reflect Tax. There has actually been a decline in the amount of federal tax taken from the citizen's dollar, however...

But it is admitted that the new financing depends entirely upon recovery for revenues to increase.

Prayer without watching is hypocrisy; and watching without prayer is presumption.—Jay.

The Depths of Beauty The fountains of beauty is the heart, and every thought illustrates the wall of your chamber.

Goodness He whose goodness is part of himself, is what is called a real man.—Mencius.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

By REV. P. B. FITZWATER, D. D., Member of Faculty, Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.

Lesson for February 2 JESUS ENLISTS HELPERS

LESSON TEXT—Luke 9:1-11, 27, 28. GOLDEN TEXT—They forsook all and followed him.—Luke 9:11.

His fame was now so widespread that the people pressed upon him to hear the Word of God.

Before these disciples were called into the Lord's service, it was necessary that, in a most concrete way, they be shown the wisdom and power of Jesus Christ.

Christ's command (v. 4). It was to launch out into the deep and let down their nets for a draught of fishes.

Reward for obedience (vv. 6, 7). By Jesus' guidance they were able to take such a draught of fishes that their nets broke and the boats were in danger of sinking.

The effect of the miracle upon the disciples (vv. 8-10). This miracle was so manifestly the work of supernatural power that Peter acknowledged himself to be in the presence of a divine being...

Response to the call (v. 11). They left all and followed Jesus. They had such a marvelous demonstration of wisdom and power of Christ that they were now willing to give up their temporal interests...

Matthew was a despised tax-gatherer. He was called from a remunerative position to give up all and follow Jesus. He, together with James, John, and Peter, gave up all to follow Jesus.

Prayer Prayer without watching is hypocrisy; and watching without prayer is presumption.—Jay.

The Depths of Beauty The fountains of beauty is the heart, and every thought illustrates the wall of your chamber.

Goodness He whose goodness is part of himself, is what is called a real man.—Mencius.

The Mind Meter By LOWELL HOWELL

The True-False Test In the following test, ten statements are made, some of which are false. It is not necessary to correct the statements...

- 1. The Seventy-third congress is now in session. 2. Chicago is the capital of Illinois. 3. The Missouri river is the longest river in the United States.

- 4. The Philadelphia Athletics are in the National League. 5. Enervate means to pep up, strengthen. 6. Rhode Island was one of the Original Thirteen states.

- 7. "Ivanhoe" was written by Sir Walter Scott. 8. Kentucky is farther south than Tennessee. 9. The Battle of Ticonderoga was fought in the Revolutionary war.

- 10. Giuseppe Verdi composed the opera "Il Trovatore." Answers: 1. False. 2. True. 3. True. 4. False. 5. False. 6. True. 7. True. 8. False. 9. True. 10. True.

I FEEL FINE Mothers read this:

A CONSTIPATED child is so easily strangled out, it's a pity more mothers don't know the remedy. A liquid laxative is the answer...

BLOTCHY, ROUGH complexions Resinol Improved, and smooth skin often restored by daily treatment with Resinol

CLASSIFIED ADS

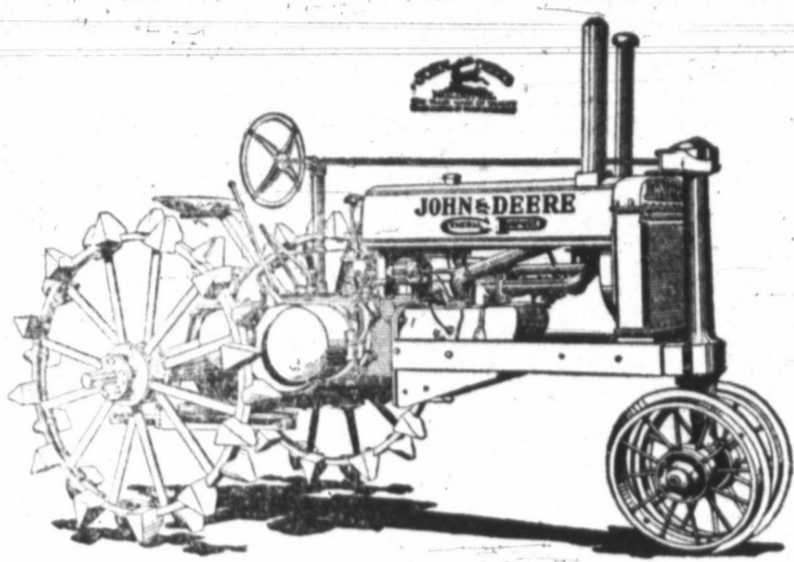

INDIVIDUAL COMMUNION SERVICE—every church should use this clearly explained, sound for folder and special offer. Thomas Communion Co., Box 20, Lynn, G.

BEFORE BABY COMES Elimination of Body Waste Is Doubly Important

In the crucial months before baby arrives it is vitally important that the body be rid of waste matter. Your intestines must function—regularly, completely without gripping.

Why Physicians Recommend Milkesia Wafers These mint-flavored, candy-like wafers are pure milk of magnesia in solid form—much pleasanter to take than liquid...

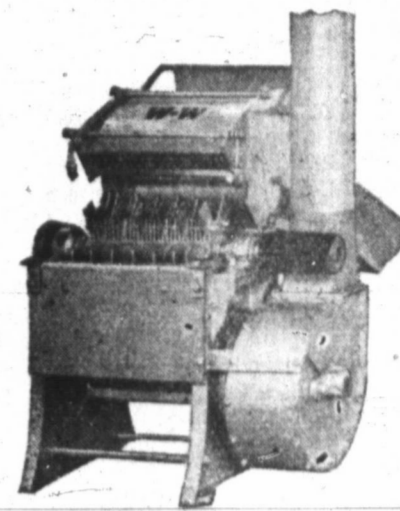

MILNESIA WAFERS The Original Milk of Magnesia Wafers

MULES - HORSES - MARES

For Sale Or Trade

JOHN DEERE TRACTORS
LETZ and W. W. HAMMER
Feed Grinders

Let us see your stock and figure with you before you buy—it will pay you well. A few hours of your time spent in careful investigation will mean several dollars in your pockets later on. Ask your neighbors personally.

ALSO—

We have five Used Farmall Tractors at prices from $575.00 up.

One used Oliver Row-Crop Tractor complete, with four row lister-planters. This is in excellent condition, and has been used two years. Priced to sell quickly.

Just received telegram from John Deere Plow Co., Dallas, Texas, advising that they have shipped us THREE CARS OF TRACTORS, AND OTHER CARS FOLLOWING IMMEDIATELY.

This means we will be in position to deliver tractors promptly upon receipt of orders.

Please give us a chance to tell why so many John Deere Tractors are being sold. There is a REASON and you should know.

JOHN DEERE TRACTORS ARE SELLING FASTER TODAY THAN ANY OTHER TRACTOR. Think it over.

Phone 21 D. W. GAIGNAT HARDWARE, FURNITURE and IMPLEMENT Tahoka, Texas

Classified Ads.

CLASSIFIED RATES

First insertion, 10c per line; subsequent insertions, 5c per line. No ad. taken for less than 25c. cash in advance. The News is not responsible for errors made in ads. except to correct same in following issue.

FOR SALE OR TRADE

SEE OUR SHIPMENT of good used furniture, all different, and priced to sell.—Houston & Larkin.

BUSINESS COLLEGE scholarship worth $60. will sell for half price. The News.

A REAL BARGAIN—East one-half of Section 504, Cert. 475 E. L. & R. Ry. Co. Survey, Lynn county, 2 miles east, 2 north of Tahoka. Price $6.00 per acre, $2.00 per acre cash, balance easy terms at 6% annual interest. No use to offer less. Why not buy this and stop renting? J. B. Pickle, Box XX, Big Spring, Texas.

FOR SALE—See me for the J. R. Penn half & half cotton seed $1.50 per bushel prepaid.—R. Bosworth, Tahoka, Texas. 17-16tp

ALL KINDS OF PIGS for sale. See R. W. Fenton Jr. 20-1fc

FOR EXCHANGE: Good Buff Leghorn roosters. N. B. Busby, Wilson Route 1. 1tp

YOU SEE Oscar Roberts and rent the place and I will sell you a farming outfit. See T. E. House, six miles north and one mile west of Tahoka.

CHAPMAN RANCH Cotton Seed, State certified and pedigreed. Claude Donaldson, agent. 23-1fc.

FOR SALE: 1 P. O. two-row godevil, 1—two section harrow, 1—Emerson planter, 2—single row cultivators, 1—slide godevil, 1—single row stalkcutter, 1—doubledisk plow. Frank Sargent, 2 miles east and 1 mile north of Tahoka. 24-4tp

MIMEOGRAPH PAPER — Good grade, 8½x11 size, 75c per ream; 8½x14, $1.00. The News.

JERSEY MILK COWS, now fresh, for sale. Connolly Chevrolet Co.

DON'T SCRATCH!
Get Paracide Ointment, the guaranteed Itch and eczema remedy. Paracide is guaranteed to cure Itch, eczema or other skin irritations or money refunded. Large jar 50 cents at Tahoka Drug Co. 24-4tp

LOST AND FOUND

LOST OR STRAYED—One little brown mare, 4 years old, weighing 750 to 800 pounds. Anyone knowing whereabouts please notify Fay Claiborn, New Lynn, Post, Rt. 1. 22-3tp

LOST—One red horse mule and one black horse mule, 15 and 16 hands high. J. R. Strain, Tahoka, RK. 4. 23-1fc.

FOR RENT

FOR LEASE—Wrecking yard, Close in. A. I. Thomas. 1tp.

WANTED—Cash rent for my farm, 8 miles south of Tahoka, 130 acres in cultivation. Get in touch with E. M. Rich, Clinton, Okla. 23-4tp

WANTED

GARDEN PLOWING or any kind of team work. Call O. W. (Shorty) Green, Phone 293. 22-4tp

WANTED TO BUY: Tractor or teams and tools, and to rent land. W. H. Moffett, Joe Stokes, Lubbock, Route 6.

COUPONS

I have on hand yet a few coupons for sale, calling for one 8x10 tinted picture. Will offer for sale next week—NU Studio in balcony of the Houston & Larkin store.

EXPERT SEWING MACHINE REPAIRING done at Houston & Larkin's.

MEN WANTED for Rawleigh Routes of 800 families. Reliable hustler should start earning $25 weekly and increase rapidly. Write today. Rawleigh Dept. Tx-728-S, Memphis, Tenn. 23-10tc

MISCELLANEOUS

OUR SHOP is now equipped to repair furniture of any kind. We can also make odds and ends, such as clock shelves, book cases, wall brackets of any kind—in fact, just name it and we make it.—Houston & Larkin.

TRY GLY-CAS—Sold by Thomas Bros. Drug Co.

TYPEWRITER for sale. Standard machine. Cost $115.00, but will sell for $30.00.—The News.

SEE OUR LINE of Unfinished High Chairs, Breakfast Sets, both tables and chairs.—Houston & Larkin.

BUTTER WRAPPERS, good grade vegetable parchment, 50c per 100 at The News. Phone 25.

SECOND SHEETS — 8½x11 good News—only $1.00 for 52 issues of News.

SECOND SHEETS — 8½x11 good grade manilla, 500 sheets 60c. The News.

Take advantage of The Lynn County News bargain rate and pay up your subscription—new, renewal or delinquent—at the rate of only $1.00 per year.

MIMEOGRAPH PAPER — Good grade, 8½x11 size, 75c per ream; 8½x14, $1.00. The News.

Subscribe to The Lynn County News—only $1.00 fro 52 issues of your home paper.

ADDING MACHINE ROLLS now on sale at The News office.

Mrs. Joe E. Milam Died Last Week

After a long period of suffering from tuberculosis, Mrs. Nannie Milam, 51, wife of Joe E. Milam, residing a few miles east of Tahoka, died on Thursday morning of last week.

Funeral services were conducted at the family residence by her pastor, Rev. S. K. McCulloch, and the body was laid to rest in the Grassland cemetery under the direction of Harris & Applewhite, undertakers.

Deceased was born at Pickton in Wood county August 9, 1884, her maiden name being Fannie McClelland. She was married to Joe E. Milam at Floyd in Hunt county on July 26, 1899.

She and her husband and their children removed to Lynn county in December, 1929, and had resided here since.

Mrs. Milam was a faithful member of the Baptist Church and was a noble Christian woman.

Surviving her are the husband, four sons, one brother and one sister. The sons are M. L. Milam of San Antonio and W. R. P. M., and W. E. Milam of Tahoka. The brother H. C. McClelland, resides at Floyd in Hunt county, and the sister, Mrs. B. H. Mims, at San Benito.

The bereaved husband and family have the sincere sympathy of many friends here.

HAS PANTRY NOW READY FOR PRODUCTS OF 1935

Mrs. A. L. Dunagan, farm food demonstrator for the Dixie club, has her pantry shelves already built so that the food may be properly stored as it is canned. The shelves are 10½ inches above each other with supporting stringers between the shelves.

Mrs. Dunagan's pantry is in the basement just under the kitchen, very convenient for her and she has not only provided place for canned products but for her cured and dried products.

Two Representative Candidates Visit City

On last Friday, County Judge George S. Bond of Crosby county was here in the interest of his candidacy for Representative in the legislature and made a pleasant call at the News office. He was accompanied by M. H. Thomas, Tax Assessor and Collector of Crosby county.

On Saturday, Creed Rhea, a business man of Levelland, was also here in a preliminary swing over this part of the district in the interest of his candidacy for the same position. He was accompanied by R. A. Baldwin, editor of the Hockley County Herald. Mr. Rhea was a resident of Lamesa for a number of years and also has quite a number of friends and acquaintances in Tahoka.

We are advised that Doyle Settle, Representative in the legislature from this district at the present time, will also be a candidate to succeed himself.

CARD OF THANKS

Words are feeble means of expression, especially true does this seem when one desires to remind the many friends and relatives and neighbors of our deep appreciation for the kindness, the helpfulness, the thoughtful care that has been tendered our wife and mother during her recent illness and recovery. She joins us in our "Thank you's" for the numerous lovely flowers, pot plants, letters, cards, and visits that have been such an aid in keeping her happy and cheerful in her battle to recover. Sincerely yours, L. H. Moore Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Jay W. Moore, Corp. and Mrs. Kay K. Moore, J. Medford Moore, L. H. Moore Jr.

OPEN SKATING RING

F. C. Calvery is opening a skating rink in the A. D. Shook building.

SINGING AT DIXIE SUNDAY AFTERNOON

There's going to be a big singing at Dixie next Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, according to Lawrence Price, president of the Dixie Singing class.

"We are going to have the grandest time we have ever had, or expect to have," he says. "Singers from all over the world are coming—that's rather a broad statement, but really we are going to have lots of visiting singers that know their P's and Q's about singing. We expect to have the church house full, and we expect each of you to help us fill it. Don't forget; mark it in your date book: Singing at Dixie at 2:30 Sunday afternoon, February 2."

Miss Virginia Sanford is visiting in Big Spring this week.

Former Tahoka Woman Is Dead

Mrs. L. R. Bartley of Muleshoe, a former resident of Lynn county, died at her home in Muleshoe on Tuesday of last week.

Born on January 3, 1883 in Fannin county, Mrs. Bartley was 53 years of age. She lived in Lynn county from 1912 to 1927. She was a sister of J. T. Owens of the Edith community and the mother by her first marriage of Elbert Rogers of Tahoka. She was married to L. R. Bartley in 1909, and left surviving her two children by this marriage, Lucile, 15 and Leona, 11. The husband, L. R. Bartley, also survives.

Mrs. Bartley had many friends in this county, who deplore her untimely death.

BOULLIOUN'S

QUALITY FOOD

We Have a Complete Line of FRESH VEGETABLES!

LEMONS	Choice California Per dozen—	19c
Peas No 2 Can Dawn Glo.	3 for 25c	Dried Peaches Choice fruit 2 Lbs.— 25c
Tomatoes, No. 2,	2 for 15c	Raisins 4 lbs 29c
Corn No 2 Can Red & White	2 for 25c	Pineapple No. 2, Red & White Crushed or Sliced 17c
Asparagus, No. 1	14c	Pears No 2 Can Red & White 17c
Soup		National Soup Sale '3 cans 39c
Large No. 3 Can Red & White—All Kinds Put in a supply at this price		1 Can FREE!
JELLY		½ Gallon Pail—Rex 35c
Milk Red & White 3 tall	21c	Ivory Soap, Guest 5c
6 small	21c	Oxydol, lge. size 21c
Catsup, 14 ozs.	13c	Ivory Flakes, small 9c
Crackers 1 Pound Salad Wafers	16c	Cleanser Red & White 5c
Tomato Juice Campbell's, Heinz or R. & W., 3 for—	25c	Soap Red & White Naphtha 5 bars 19c
Cocoa 2 Pounds—Mother's	20c	COFFEE 5c and 10c refund on glass jars
Sliced Bacon Armour's Star, 1 lb.	39c	1 Lb. Red & White 31c
Sugar Cure Bacon Chunks Pound	29c	2 Lbs. Red & White 60c
Dry Salt Jowls For Boiling	14c	Try Our Country Style SAUSAGE

PHONE 222 BOULLIOUN'S WE DELIVER

Out of a total... tended for harvest in 1934, there was crop failure, according to report for Farm Census released by L. Austin, the Census, Department.

The harvested in 1934 was on about 52 percent in 1929. There 120,000 acre red crop over this 13,966 acres, or 13,966 bushels of grain reduction reduced by 79,832 bushels for more than one-third harvested in 1934.

Lynn county ranches in 1934: size of 258.1 values of $7.01 137 fewer farms.

The 1935 similar release the State are to Compete late figures are g

For 1935, end year items, for cal

FARMS, F... Number of Farms of Full own Part own Manager All tena Crops Value of far Average Average All land in Average

FARM LA... Crop land Crop failure Crop land id Plowable pa Woodland p Other pastu Woodland n All other la Land availa idle, fal

NUMBER... Horses and Mules and Cattle. Cows and Sheep and Hogs and P

SELECTE... Corn for a Corn f Corn f Wheat thr Wheat thr Barley thr Barley thr Grain sorg Grain All ha: All hay, at

The 4... crops whic on which **Excl ***Ex enumerate been relea