Death Penalty Given Negro For Slaying Work On Water Main, Wells To City, Started

WILL INCREASE WATER SUPPLY

Pipe Bought, Digging Of Ditches Is Started; Will Rush Work To Completion

Preliminary work on the construction of ditches for the main to be laid from the City's new wells a mile north of town to the city reservoir was begun Wednesday. The actual work of digging the ditches was begun Thursday. George Small is loaning some of the county machinery to the City for the job.

The water pipe for the mains was ordered Monday and it is expected to arrive some time next week, according to J. L. Heare and Jim Burleson, who constitute the water committee and who have the matter in charge. Mr. Heare thinks that the project may be completed and the water turned into the mains about April 10 or soon thereafter.

The pipe ordered is 6-inch cast iron pipe and comes pre-calked, which will save both time and labor in laying. The order was for 6,000 feet, and will cost the City about $5,300. The total cost of the pipe and the work of laying it will approximate $6,000, Mr. Heare says.

Mr. Heare estimates that the electric power bill for pumping the water from the two new wells will be only about one-third of the present cost of pumping it from the City's several weak wells. Furthermore, he says that gravity flow from the new wells to the city reservoir will furnish about 300 gallons per minute. This can be increased by pressure to 400 or 500 gallons per minute.

Sand traps are being installed at each well, too, in preparation for the pumping of the water into the mains as soon as they are laid.

These two wells were brought in early last fall, and soon thereafter application was made for a W. P. A. grant of part of the funds necessary to install the extension. After much delay, the application was finally approved, but due to the alleged lack of a sufficiency of relief labor and to the curtailment of relief work, the W. P. A. authorities last week notified local officials that the project had been abandoned.

City officials immediately took steps to lay the mains and connect the new water supply with the city reservoir solely at the City's expense.

J. B. Walker Given Job As Inspector

J. B. Walker of this city was notified last Thursday of his appointment by the State Railroad Commission to the position of Motor Bus and Truck Inspector, a similar position to that held by J. H. Edwards. The position carries a good salary.

Mr. Walker placed his application with the Commission several months ago, but there were no vacancies at that time.

He began work Tuesday but has not been assigned to a particular district yet. That will be done in the near future.

J. W. Elliott Leave For Los Angeles

Judge and Mrs. J. W. Elliott and Bob Chambers left Wednesday morning for Los Angeles, California. The Judge expects to return to Tahoka next October, but we are informed that Mrs. Elliott and her brother, Bob Chambers, expect to remain there a full year.

Fred House of Dixie, who has been sick with the flu, was able to be in town the first of the week.

Crop Loans Are Again Available

A. L. Lockwood announces that he will be prepared to accept applications for crop loans about next Monday or Tuesday. Blank applications have not been received yet but he is informed that they will reach him early next week. Tenants desiring loans must be prepared to get waivers from their landlords of the landlord's lien, as heretofore.

Loans this year will be limited to $200 to each individual farmer. The limit last year was $500.

Mr. Lockwood says that practically all the crop loans made heretofore have been repaid. Some emergency feed and seed loans are still outstanding but the crop loans have been repaid almost 100 percent.

Ford Program At Luncheon Club

The program at the Luncheon Club Tuesday was in charge of J. K. Applewhite of the Tahoka Motor Company.

Mr. Applewhite explained that since Tuesday was St. Patrick's Day the program would have an Irish tinge. Without previous warning he called upon Rev. George A. Dale to give a life story of the pious Saint. The preacher admitted that he was stumped, but after making a few wise cracks at the expense of the Ford, he gathered himself together and made a brave effort to discuss his subject. About the most interesting fact he could relate about Saint Pat was that he ran all the snakes out of the Emerald Isle.

Miss Lottie Jo Townes rendered a couple of vocal selections, to the delight of the club members, and Kary Mathis sang "My Wild Irish Rose" and an encore. Mrs. J. K. Applewhite was the piano accompanist.

Several announcements were made with respect to the Interscholastic League meet to be held here Thursday night, Friday, and Saturday, and preliminary contests that were to precede it.

Visitors present and introduced to the club were: C. J. Herbstreit, now in the employ of Harris & Applewhite; Ira P. Hodges, superintendent of construction of the new school building; J. F. Jennings, a traveling salesman of Big Spring, and our own W. A. Yates.

The president, Rev. George A. Dale, announced that the Connolly Chevrolet Company would have charge of the program next Tuesday.

Boy Breaks Leg While Skating

Carna Reece, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Reese, suffered a serious fracture of both bones of one of his legs between the knee and the ankle Saturday night while skating in the Calvary skating rink. X-ray photographs were taken Sunday morning, the broken bones properly set, and placed in a plaster cast. He will be confined to his bed several weeks while the injury is healing.

Carna's injuries were received when another boy on the floor collided with him and threw him violently upon the floor. Several other persons have recently sustained somewhat serious injuries from accidental falls in the rink.

WORK ON NEW SCHOOL

Work of pouring the foundation for the new grade school building is progressing nicely. Bids will be received until March 25 for erection of the building proper.

LEAGUE MEET IS UNDER WAY

Hundreds Expected To Crowd City For Annual Contests For School Students

The county Interscholastic League contests began here last night, when contests in declamation were staged in the auditorium of the high school building.

Today will be filled with contests of various kinds and a large crowd of folks is expected. The contests include declamation, spelling, extemporaneous speech, debate, story telling, choral singing, etc. A one-act play contest is to be staged tonight.

Tomorrow will be the various athletic contests and track events. Practically every school in the county is expected to be represented in this meet.

Throng of pupils, parents, and teachers will be here these two days, and Tahoka welcomes them. Practically every business house in town has a placard in the window bearing a welcome to the visitors. Many flags are flying and the whole town has something of a gala appearance.

This League Meet, now already started, is expected to be one of the best in the history of the county.

Winners of many contests in the county meet will go to the district meet, which is to be held in Lubbock a couple of weeks hence. Winners in the district meet will go to Austin later to participate in the state contests.

Crosbyton Man In District Race

Judge George S. Bond of Crosbyton was here Tuesday and authorized us to announce that he is a candidate for Representative in the legislature from this the 119th district.

Judge Bond has served the public in various capacities. He has served four years as county judge of Crosby county. Prior to that time he taught school for a period of fifteen years. For two years he served as a postmaster under President Woodrow Wilson, serving out an unexpired term.

A native Texan, Judge Bond removed from Freestone county to Fisher county in 1909 and came from Fisher to Crosby in 1926, where he has resided ever since.

Before being elected to the office of county judge, he was engaged in the abstract business and still owns the business.

He states that he will make further announcement of his views on public issues through the columns of the News at an early date.

Cearley Child Is Pneumonia Victim

Ralph Herndon, only child of Mr. and Mrs. John Cearley of Post, died of pneumonia at an early hour Tuesday morning at their Barnum Springs residence where Mr. Cearley is teacher. Mrs. Cearley will be remembered here as Bonnie Marie Alphin. Little Ralph lacked about two weeks of being two and a half years old. Interment was made in Post cemetery at 4:30 p. m. Tuesday. Services were conducted by the Post Church of Christ minister before an unusually large assemblage of sorrowing relatives and friends.

Attending his funeral from Tahoka were his grandmother Alphin, who was with him from Monday, his great-grandmother Bradley, and his uncle Noel. Mr. Alphin, who was confined to his room with flu, was not able to attend.

J. T. WILLIAMS, WILSON, DEAD

Was Old Trail-Driver, In County Since 1917; Death Result Of Accident

J. T. Williams, 77, a well known Wilson business man, died at his home in Wilson about 7:30 o'clock Wednesday night. Death resulted primarily from a serious fracture of the hip sustained about two weeks ago when he fell from a ladder upon which he had climbed in his store.

Funeral services will be conducted Friday afternoon by Rev. J. T. McKissick of Cisco, assisted by Rev. W. E. McGraw and Rev. W. G. Boyd of Wilson, and burial will follow in the Wilson cemetery under the direction of Harris & Applewhite, undertakers, of this city.

Surviving him are his widow and two sons, John Williams of New York City and Webb Williams of Sierra Blanca, all of whom are present for the funeral.

Mr. Williams was born at Winona, Mississippi, October 16, 1858, but immigrated with his parents to South Texas about 1870. As a youth he worked as a cowboy and went up the trail with cattle herds several times in the 80's and 90's and was a member of the "Old Trail Drivers Ass'n." When the British-Boer War came on, Mr. Williams resided in or near San Antonio. His sympathies were with the British, and he joined the British Army and fought with the British forces in South Africa. Up until his death he had

Lubbock Park Is Abandoned

Announcement was made Monday that plans to develop the Mackenzie State Park at Lubbock had been abandoned and that the CCC veterans' camp stationed there would be removed early in April.

This camp has been stationed at Lubbock approximately seven months but the work on the park has proceeded slowly. The enrollees are now to be transferred to other veteran camps.

The City of Lubbock purchased 433 acres as a site for the park at an expense of $34,000, it is claimed, and the City and its citizens are strongly protesting against abandonment of the project.

Two Names Filed For City Aldermen

The News is advised that the following additional names have been filed with the city secretary as candidates for city aldermen: Dr. K. R. Durham and Otho Thomas. Mr. Thomas is a member of the present city council and has been a member several years.

Borden Davis, whose name was filed last week, has stated that he "does not choose to run."

Durham's Office Is Burglarized

Dr. K. R. Durham reports that somebody entered his office the first of the week and took therefrom about $30.00 worth of gold. He believes that the theft was committed at the noon hour Monday.

Officers have been notified but thus far no clue has been found.

Senator G. H. Nelson, Judge C. H. Cain, and Mr. and Mrs. E. I. Hill attended the banquet given last Saturday night in the Women's Dormitory of the Tech College to members of the bar of South Plains counties and the wives of members.

Outlaw Appeals To High Court

N. C. Outlaw of Post, attorney, who was convicted in the Federal court at Dallas of subornation of perjury alleged to have been committed in connection with evidence given by C. M. Loe of Post before the Federal grand jury respecting the killing of a Federal narcotics agent by Sheriff Cato, which conviction was affirmed by the Federal circuit court at New Orleans, has taken an appeal from that court to the Supreme Court of the United States.

Outlaw's attorneys claim that his constitutional rights were violated, and that he was improperly convicted on the uncorroborated testimony of Loe, who was a self-confessed perjurer.

Must Complete Business Census

W. E. Inmon, Lubbock, Supervisor of the Census of Business, was in Tahoka Thursday and announced that an effort is being made to finish the canvass in Tahoka and environs within the next few days. He asked that all business firms cooperate by furnishing the necessary census information as quickly as possible. J. B. Walker is the Lynn county enumerator.

"We realize that some firms require more time than others in assembling the information," Mr. Inmon said, "but it is imperative that the reports be sent to Philadelphia without delay so that the statistics can be compiled and issued by July."

"The timeliness of such statistics," he added, "greatly enhances their value. More than 5,000,000 reports must be handled by the Bureau, and delay in Lynn county delays the statistics for the entire state."

Then inquiries have been made as simple as possible, he continued, "to make the task of supplying the information easy, and have been shaped to secure facts that will be of maximum value to business."

Mr. Inmon declared that the census now being taken is a continuation of the regular Business Census work of the Bureau of Census, and is for business use, not for Governmental purposes. Its scope is the result of requests from business organizations, and it has the full support of all branches of business.

He reiterated previous assurances that all enumerators and other persons connected with the Census are under oath not to disclose or discuss any information submitted for census purpose, and that under the census law no access in individual reports is permitted, not even to other Governmental, State or local agencies, and no information will be disclosed which would in any way reveal the facts or figures given in the returns.

"The Census Bureau expects," he said, "to publish the results for this state by July 1st unless there is delay in obtaining the relatively few reports still out. Since the first few states released received nationwide publicity, and comparisons with the previous census will show such a healthy increase in Lynn County, we want nothing to delay the canvass here."

President and Mrs. J. A. Hill of Canyon were guests in the editor's home last Thursday night. Hill went to Canyon as head of the History department in the West Texas State Teachers College when that institution opened its doors in 1910 and has been president of the college since 1918. He met a number of Tahoka friends while here Friday morning.

BANKS IS GIVEN LIMIT BY JURY

Killer of Deputy Sheriff Is Given Speedy Trial; Will Appeal Case, Banks Says

"We the jury find the defendant, Elmo Banks, guilty of murder with malice, as charged in the indictment, and assess his punishment at death."

So, in substance, read the verdict of the jury that on last Friday tried the negro jail-breaker for the murder of Deputy Sheriff Ed Redwine. This, the first death penalty in the history of Lynn county, was brought in after the jury had been out only sixteen minutes.

The negro took the witness stand in his own behalf and testified that he had acted in self defense. His testimony, however, was so preposterous and was so overwhelmingly contradicted by the evidence of other witnesses and by physical facts that it made no impression upon the jury or upon others who heard it.

The State's evidence showed that just as Mr. Redwine finished locking two white men in their cells and bade them "good night," the negro wrested a pistol from Mr. Redwine's holster following a brief struggle and began firing into Redwine's body, and that all or most of the shots were fired after Mr. Redwine began begging him not to shoot.

The evidence of Dr. Kreuger and others showed that there were nine wounds in Mr. Redwine's body and that evidently at least five shots were fired. The negro made his escape but was captured later, as detailed in the News last week. When captured, he had in his possession Mr. Redwine's pistol, containing three cartridges. It is believed that he took these from Mr. Redwine's pocket before leaving the jail.

On Saturday, the negro was brought before Judge J. E. Garland, who tried the case, to be sentenced, but he expressed a desire to appeal the case, whereupon his attorneys filed a formal motion for a new trial, which was overruled, and he gave notice of appeal.

Postoffice Clerk Job Open Here

The Tahoka post office on Thursday of this week began giving out to such persons as call for them application forms for the position of Substitute Clerk of the Tahoka post office. Applications must be on file with the Manager Tenth U. S. Civil Service District, Customhouse, New Orleans, Louisiana, not later than March 30.

Kitchens' Infant Died Saturday

Doris Christine, the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cloud Kitchens died Saturday night after an illness of only two days, and was buried here Sunday afternoon. Funeral services were held at the family home in Midway community, Rev. S. K. McCulloch, Baptist minister, conducting. The babe was only ten days old, having been born March 4th.

The News joins friends in extending sympathy to the bereaved.

Herman Anglin of Farwell was home last Sunday to visit his parents.

C. J. Herbstreit, late of Lubbock, has accepted a position with the firm of Harris & Applewhite.

News Review of Current Events the World Over

France Forming Solid Front Against Germany in New Crisis—Paraguay Made Totalitarian State—Chester Davis Is Sent to Europe.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

SIXTY thousand German troops in the Rhineland that was supposed to be demilitarized. Practically the entire French army in and behind the vast system of fortifications along France's eastern frontier. The French government, backed by the other signers of the violated Locarno treaty and by the little entente, Poland and Russia, demanded that Germany withdraw her troops from the Rhineland or that sanctions, economic and possibly military, be imposed by the League of Nations. Great Britain trying hard to keep the peace, reproving Germany, supporting the French demands in their great measure, but urging that Hitler's proposal of new non-aggression pacts be given consideration. Reichsfuehrer Hitler reviewing his forces in the re-occupied territory and receiving the loud plaudits of the inhabitants for restoring their military sovereignty.

That in a nutshell was the perilous situation in Europe as the representatives of the Locarno nations and the council of the league assembled in London to consider what to do next. Foreign Minister Pierre-Etienne Flandin of France was there with the full support of Premier Sarraut by his demands that immediate action be taken to bring Hitler to time. He was represented as "almost convinced" that a "preventive war" now would be preferable to "carriage two years hence," and in Paris it was disclosed that France counted on having at her disposal, from her own forces and those of Russia, Poland and the little entente, a potential army of about 40,000,000 men. It was said 8,000,000 could be mobilized in 48 hours and 31,000,000 were trained reserves; and that 8,000 airplanes and a million tons of warships were ready.

The Franco-Russian treaty came up in the French senate and was ratified by a huge majority. It is this pact that Hitler gave as his excuse for remilitarizing the Rhineland, asserting that it was a violation of the Locarno treaty, being aimed at Germany. It is the final link in the "iron ring" around the reich which France has been forging.

At first the British government's response to France's demands for full support against Germany was ambiguous and not satisfactory to Sarraut and Flandin. After conferences with Prime Minister Baldwin and other ministers, Capt. Anthony Eden, the young foreign secretary, appeared before the house of commons and declared any attack on France or Belgium in violation of the Locarno pact would compel Britain to go to their assistance. He added, however, that there was no reason to suppose "the present German action implies a threat of hostilities." Then he indicated Britain was willing to consider Hitler's proposals for new peace covenants.

The British statesmen seemed so calm in the crisis that there was reason to believe they knew in advance what Hitler intended to do. When Flandin and the other Locarno signatory representatives arrived in London, the attitude of the British cabinet changed and grew decidedly stiffer.

HITLER was not represented at either the Locarno conference or the session of the league council in London. He himself, having precipitated the crisis, made his triumphant appearance in the Rhineland and then awaited events. His dramatic and sudden denunciation of the Locarno treaty was accomplished in a speech before the reichstag and in formal announcements to the ambassadors in Berlin of the nations concerned. He asserted that the troops sent into the Rhineland comprised a "symbolic" army only, and that the reich, while ready to defend itself, was wholly desirous of peace. To prove this he offered a plan which includes: A demilitarized strip of German, French and Belgian land; a 25-year non-aggression treaty among Germany, France and Belgium; with Great Britain and Italy as guarantors; inclusion of the Netherlands in the system of pacts; an air pact with the western powers; a non-aggression pact with Germany's eastern neighbors, including Lithuania; and return of Germany to the League of Nations after her equality is established and her sovereignty restored.

France's reply to this was that, having just violated one treaty, Hitler could not be trusted to observe another; and anyway, France would not even listen to the reichsfuehrer's new proposals until he had withdrawn his troops from the Rhineland. The French army was moved toward the frontier and the "Maginot line" of fortifications and underground passages was fully manned. This system of defenses has been criticized because it requires so many troops that the army is rendered virtually stationary—what has been called in Paris "the concrete army." Remaining forces would be insufficient for offensive movement. But this fault might be disregarded if France gets the expected millions of soldiers from her allies.

CHIEF JUSTICE ALFRED A. WHEAT of the District of Columbia Supreme court checked the telegram-seizing activities of the Black senate committee on lobbying. He granted the Chicago law firm of Elias H. Strawn an injunction restraining the Western Union Telegraph company from giving the committee copies of the firm's telegrams. The judge said the subpoena served on the telegraph company by the committee, calling for copies of telegrams "goes way beyond" the committee's powers.

Next day William Randolph Hearst, newspaper publisher, began a fight in court to keep an original confidential telegram out of the hands of the Black committee; and the American Newspaper Publishers' association denounced the reported seizure of that telegram, which was to one of Mr. Hearst's editors. The association advised any other editor, should he learn of similar action, to consult counsel and "take vigorous steps to protect his constitutional rights."

COL. RAFAEL FRANCO, who became provisional president of Paraguay after the recent revolution there, has set up a totalitarian government modeled after German Nazism and Italian Fascism. He issued a decree which declared the state and the "liberating revolution" of February 17 as indivisible and banned for one year political, labor, or other unions which "do not emanate explicitly from the state."

Paraguay, the government asserted, will be purged of "endemic, demagogic, industrial and sectarian evils." The official statement places in the "liberating army" the principal source of authority. The aims of the new government, the decree said, will be the construction of a new, strong Paraguay and constitutional reorganization for a future republic.

CHESTER C. DAVIS, head of the invalidated AAA, is not going to administer the soil conservation program devised as a substitute. President Roosevelt announced that Mr. Davis would leave soon on a trip to Europe to make a special study for the government of economic conditions bearing on the agricultural plans for this country. Critics of the administration immediately assumed that Mr. Davis and Secretary of Agriculture Wallace had disagreed and that the former was being gently edged out of the picture. This Mr. Wallace warmly denied, asserting there had been no friction and that he had deep affection for Mr. Davis and the sincerest respect for his ability and integrity.

In announcing the assignment, Mr. Roosevelt said: "In requesting him to make this study for our government, Secretary Wallace and I have had in mind the distinguished service Mr. Davis has given American agriculture, especially during the last two and one-half years. As administrator he has been directing governmental efforts which, to a considerable degree, were made necessary by changes in the European outlets for American farm products.

"Information to be gathered by him at close hand as to the precise nature and extent of these economic changes abroad is expected to assist greatly in developing American farm programs."

POWERS of the federal trade commission to investigate unfair trade practices will be greatly broadened by the Wheeler bill approved by the senate interstate commerce committee. It is vigorously opposed by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, the National Association of Manufacturers and the American Newspaper Publishers' association. The measure would: Make "deceptive acts and practices in commerce" unlawful in addition to "unfair methods of competition" specified in existing law.

Expressly give the commission authority to proceed "upon its own initiative," as well as that of the President, or either house of congress as now provided. Include persons and partnerships as well as corporations within the scope of the commission's authority to investigate business practices and conditions in interstate and foreign commerce. Redefine "documentary evidence" to include "books of account, financial and corporate records," and make such records subject to commission subpoena.

COMMUNISTS and radicals who appeared as representatives of the Workers' Alliance of America went before WPA Administrator Harry Hopkins and made a series of demands that were all coldly turned down by that gentleman. These included the dismissal of Victor F. Ridder, New York WPA director; no cut in the 3,500,000 persons on works relief, and full union pay and union hours for persons on relief and pay for sick leave. They also demanded that all employed, whether or not on relief rolls, be given WPA work.

RECENT financing operations of the government sold $1,255,643,550 in bonds and notes, according to Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau. The offerings, largest since the Victory bond issue of 1919, were heavily oversubscribed by banks. This borrowing brings the public debt up to the record figure of $31,413,000,000. The treasury's cash balance is increased to $2,675,000,000.

PLANS to furnish TVA power to the city of Knoxville, Tenn., under a project to be financed with PWA funds were blocked by a temporary restraining order issued by the District of Columbia Supreme court. The order was granted on the petition of the Tennessee Public Service company which contended its $4,000,000 investment in Knoxville will be rendered practically worthless, if the government brought cheaper power into the city.

Also in the District Supreme court, 66 producers of soft coal attacked the Guffey coal control act as unconstitutional in its entirety on the ground that it invades the rights of the states and deprives producers of their property without due process of law.

KOKI HIROTA, former foreign minister, formed a new ministry for Japan and submitted the names to the emperor. He besides being premier, takes the foreign minister's portfolio. Lieut. Gen. Count Juichi Taramchi is put in as minister of war and Admiral Osami Nagano as minister of navy. Many leaders insisted that Hirota "show a proper recognition of the gravity of the times and the necessity for renovation of Japanese foreign policy," and to this demand he yielded somewhat.

Hirota issued a statement saying that "the present empire situation requires independent and positive readjustment of our foreign relations in order to liquidate this emergency."

Hachiro Arita, new Japanese ambassador to China, told the press in Shanghai that "it is fundamental that China recognizes Manchukuo and that the other North China questions should be settled 'on the spot.'"

"There has been no change in Japanese policy in China as a result of the recent Tokyo incident," he declared. "Japan will carry out the three principles of Koki Hirota, former Japanese foreign minister, requiring that China eliminate anti-Japanism, co-operate economically with Japan and Manchukuo and co-operate in the elimination of communism within China and along the borders."

BRISBANE THIS WEEK

Maybe Peace, After All Building in a Big Way A Level-Headed King One Strike Method

The real war news from Europe—it sounds like peace news—is that England has refused France's request for immediate assistance in forcing Germany's armies from the Rhineland. England even hints that France may be partly to blame.

Arthur Brisbane of the Locarno pact are not inclined, in the language of the day, to "stick their necks out."

The United States is doing and spending in a big way. The Public Works administration says more than $1,000,000,000 worth of projects have been completed, with $2,200,000,000 of other work still under construction. Twelve hundred millions have been spent for materials, all involving labor; $639,000,000 for wage payrolls, by PWA. Organized labor presents a building program of $500,000,000 to occupy the idle building trades.

If money holds out, and the inflation bonds keep their value, this will be remembered as the building age. A level-headed young man is the new English king. After seeing the new giant Cunarder named for his mother, walking seven miles up and down in it, he visited the slums of Glasgow, called the worst and "reddest" in England. Some ultra "left wing" city councilors refused to be presented to him. "That's perfectly all right," said the king. "Tell them I'll come and have tea with them instead." This he did. Two thousand ship workers cheered and called him "Good Old Teddy."

The king, who visited individual tenements, knocking at the doors, patting babies on the head, keeps up with the times. No English king did that before.

There are different ways of handling strikes, depending on public officials. At Akron, Ohio, a strike of milk drivers disturbs consuming families and producing farmers.

Herman E. Werner, public prosecutor, says coldly: "Anyone who interferes with milk deliveries will face guns, and the order will be 'Shoot to kill.'"

Akron has 16,000 men out of work; too many, at one time, for that sized place, and the city is tired of it.

How many millions would be killed, gassed, bombed, ripped to pieces by shrapnel and machine-gun fire before Hitler or the nation back of him could be persuaded that he is not a reincarnation of Frederick the Great, or Napoleon?

This time a murderous war would be deliberate. No grand duke heir to an imperial throne has been murdered to supply the spark.

The Department of Commerce cannot explain the Arkansas air crash, on January 14, that killed 17. It says some passenger "may have incapacitated the pilot or interfered with controls."

The local sheriff says somebody inside the plane fired a kind of pistol. Bullet marks were found.

Let air passengers before embarking pass before the electrical device that reveals instantly a pistol or any other metal object. No decent passenger would object. Guns and knives might well be "parked" on entering a plane.

Japan is the question mark in the war situation, but wise Japan would not deliberately antagonize all her customers and friends in western Europe by striking at Russia, in a war interesting to all of them.

It is probable that Japan this time, as in the last war, would send "observers," thoughtful and silent, to watch the white races cutting each others' throats.

Mrs. Akeley, who used to help her husband hunt lions and gorillas before he died, has been to Africa on her own account and reports that in south East Africa natives cling to their old ways and methods; nothing will change them.

The chief who is sick wants a witch doctor to come, howl, dance and tell him that he has been bewitched into swallowing a small crocodile, which is biting his insides.

Next summer, Chicago entomologists will watch 50,000,000 mosquitoes, after they have been dyed red, green, yellow, blue and brown, and learn how far mosquitoes can fly.

The treasury finds that in the first eight months of this fiscal year it has accumulated a deficit of $2,410,000,000. The country took in $2,348,000,000 and spent $4,758,000,000. In prosperous times, the country's total income is $90,000,000,000; but when will those "times" come back?

Buck Is Passed On to Congress

President Tires of False Criticism; Responsibility Now Lawmakers'

By EARL GODWIN WASHINGTON.—President Roosevelt has stood enough false criticism about his failure to carry out his economic promises, and is placing the responsibility where it belongs—at the door of congress.

Readers of this column recall that on several occasions I have defended the President on his economic program, and pointed out that congress alone is responsible for economy or lack of it. A President can propose a program of tax raising or money spending, but only the congress can enact either one.

The first Roosevelt congress enacted an economy bill which reduced the running expenses of the established government 25 per cent. That was in 1933. In the next year the same congress wiped out the economy act over Roosevelt's veto. That congress then went home, and most of the members were re-elected. The people approved what they did—although I imagine the average voter had no idea what had happened.

This re-elected congress listened to the American Legion rather than Roosevelt, and passed the bill to pay the bonus now instead of when it is due in 1945. Furthermore, congress has fired a succession of bills at the White House calling for money outside the budget, and when Roosevelt refuses to sign congress sulks.

This administration planned to run the regular government with a 25-per cent cash reduction, and to meet the emergency of the depression and its hunger-stricken millions by borrowed money. The President's message of January 6 balanced the budget; the bonus payment and the Supreme court's AAA knockout unbalanced it. Now comes the President with a tax plan that will balance it again, for it must be plain to all that there are but two ways of balancing a budget—either less outgo or more income. Congress refuses to pinch the outgo, so unless it raises the income the treasury will have to borrow more money.

PROTECTS NATIONAL CREDIT Roosevelt knew that the credit of the nation could be expanded to a point where we could carry a $75,000,000,000 debt and not be in danger; but he stops far short of that. People thought Roosevelt was a spendthrift—but he is going to show them that he knew how and when to borrow—how and when to pay cash. By adopting a cash and carry policy he is now carefully protecting the nation's credit, sponsoring policies to revive industry while considering the moral obligation to care for the unemployed now getting scant attention from the state governments and from industry itself.

From pseudo-economic sources comes the demand that government expenses for relief be now cut or wiped out. Some of this comes from the American Liberty league which has in its members of congress who yell for economy but voted to override the President's economy act. Many cries for economy come from thrifty New Englanders who would be the first to protest a real cut which would knock millions from the ship building program of the navy; for New England shipyards are getting much of that business and feeling the prosperity of the navy payroll. Twenty million dollars of public works money outside the regular naval appropriations have been spent in the shipyards of Massachusetts alone; and every one of these projects has been endorsed and received with joyous cries of welcome by the same flinty-hearted politicians who yell for "economy." It does not make sense.

A great middle class of merchants are demanding less spending—and most of them are continuing in business, are out of the red, and are experiencing what Harding called normalcy, all because of the public works and relief expenditures, plus the tremendous impetus to recovery by the Reconstruction Finance corporation. Government aid discontinued now would mean nationwide ruin. One delicious bit of evidence of prosperity is that there is more than $4,000,000,000 in undistributed profits in corporation treasuries; money earned but never given to stockholders. Such things do not occur in financially busted countries.

Republicans would never produce such weak ideas as that. If Republicans believe they are sure to win they will never be caught promising a good job to a Democrat. For a President to appoint members of another party to his cabinet sounds like a coalition government with a strain of compromise running through it all, but in this country coalition governments exist only in theory. The President is the whole thing at the executive end of the set-up. Cabinet officers are administrative heads, and cannot effect a change of policy without the President's o. k. A Republican President makes a Republican administration; a Democratic President makes a Democratic administration—no matter who is in the cabinet. The current talk about the Republicans electing a President from their party, a Vice President from the Democrats, and having a pie-bald cabinet from both parties is plain bunk; but it indicates that the old G. O. P. has lost its pep and is on its way to the Old Ladies' home.

STIRS UP HORNETS' NEST Congress picks up a rock and fires it straight into a hornets' nest when it starts investigating the Townsend old age pension plan to pay oldsters at sixty a $200 monthly pension! That plan has been eight and ten million voters behind it, and they have at times scoted to death nearly every congressman I have talked to about it. In some districts they controlled enough votes to guarantee victory to any candidate they supported; and in several districts they apparently had a clean majority. Now any time that a congress made out of politicians goes out to monkey with a crowd like that you may know that someone has put backbone into the entire aggregation.

A gallant little band of senators and representatives has contended from the start that the Townsend plan is weak, impossible, fanatical, insane and what-not. They are now going further with their charge, and assail the whole movement as a racket which enriches the managers and will never help a single human being outside the circle of Doctor Townsend's campaign organization. Senator Austin of Vermont is one of the chief opponents of the plan. His latest contribution to the anti-Townsendites is to have printed an article severely attacking the plan, written by Donald Richberg, who was until recently the head of the old NRA and its Blue Eagle.

Richberg jumps on the plan from first to last, declaring it a complete fake, impossible of execution. "It is a dangerous delusion," he says, "promising impossible relief to millions of suffering people who are in sore distress. . . . But there are others who warmly support the idea. Recent defender is Representative Martin F. Smith of Washington, who speaks of the plan as "The strongest, most dynamic social, economic and political reform movement in the history of America." The basis of the plan is a 2 per cent tax on every transaction, every sale; and the $200 monthly must be spent within the month—thus insuring (says Doctor Townsend) a perfect avalanche of money for all. But the avalanche is all in your mind, say still other members of congress. "You would have to cross the dollar with a guinea pig," says Representative Engel, of Michigan.

CHEAP ELECTRIC POWER Congress now pushes definite plans to spread cheap rural electric power. The Rural Electrification administration has been dealing with small experiments, but now, with Senator Norris of Nebraska behind the proper legislation, the government will start to finance concerns in rural communities hitherto denied electric power. The purpose of the Norris bill, which is an administrative measure, is to lend money to rural communities, farm co-operatives, and to farmers for generating and distributing plants and electric equipment. It is straight out-and-out government financing of power for folks who have not been able to get it elsewhere. The bill will, I believe, become a law at an early date, and will be widely and fully explained when the President signs the measure.

The widely organized power industry, representing many billions of investment and receiving hundreds of millions in profits, yearly, will fight with every ounce of its strength to prevent a spread of federally owned or financed electric power. This fight of the power interests for a candidate of its own is responsible for the quiet candidacy of Senator Vandenberg of Michigan, where, according to TVA standards, the electric light and power users are overcharged $34,000,000 a year. Nor does Favorite Son Landon of Kansas have much to say about the fact that the people of his state pay nearly $10,000,000 a year more for electricity than if they were charged TVA rates. Frank Knox, Illinois favorite son, seems, so far, to be content with the fact that Illinois is charged nearly $60,000,000 more for power (that is the state of Sam Insull) than TVA rates. Senator Dickinson of Iowa, Republican, another favorite son, will have to answer the fact that his constituents are paying almost $13,000,000 more a year than TVA rates. In fact, every state in the Union is paying a tremendous toll to the power trust.

There are many members of congress who would like to go to the mat on the power trust issue, which reaches far down into the vitals of the Liberty league and the eastern wing of the Republican party. The politicians figure it is an issue reaching into 20,000,000 homes and 5,000,000 business houses. It could be made, if handled right, into one of the surest-fire New Deal issues.

HOW ARE YOU TODAY

DR. JAMES W. BARTON Talks About

Use of Dinitrophenol USE of the drug dinitrophenol should be adopted only as a 'last resort' for reducing weight, but in spite of the danger attending its use it is a valuable drug when properly administered.

The above quotation is from the group of physicians in San Francisco—Drs. Maurice L. Tainter, A. B. Stockton and W. C. Cutting—who have been experimenting with this drug for about three years. The above statement was made at the annual meeting of the American Medical Association, Atlantic City, this past summer.

However as dinitrophenol may be obtained in any drug store and the dosage is on the package, it is important that physicians study this drug and its effects so that if no good is obtained by its use at least no harm can come to their patients.

There are a number of points that must be remembered in the use of this drug. The size of the dose depends upon the size or weight of the individual, because an individual weighing 150 pounds may weigh more in proportion to his figure or physique than one weighing 300 pounds. The usual dosage, however, is prescribed in accordance with the weight, one weighing 150 pounds taking half the size of the dose of another weighing 300 pounds. This would be simple enough except that all overweighted do not react the same to the drug. Thus one gets a skin rash, another abdominal symptoms, another the symptoms of shock, all by the use of the "average" dose, while others take almost twice the average dose with no symptoms except that of heat and profuse sweating.

The fact that must always be remembered is that while fat is a liability or menace to health, nevertheless while it was being put on it was in a gradual manner, and the body was able to add the few ounces daily without trouble. Similarly if fat is to be removed you can understand that it should be removed in the same gradual manner and there will thus be no "shock" to the system which is the danger in using fat reducing drugs. As stated by Dr. L. F. Bishop, Fordham University, some months ago, "Fat may be removed by taking certain drugs, but only at the expense of strength and health, and an alarming weakness of the heart often results. The reduction of weight by drugs disturbs other organs in the body."

May Cause Shock. Now while dinitrophenol does not put the extra work on the heart that is done by other drugs—thyroid extract for instance—nevertheless the severe sweating and the rapid loss of the fat, which fat may be supporting certain organs, so upsets the usual workings of these organs that shock or ill health may result. Drs. Tainter, Stockton and Cutting state that so effective is the drug in burning up the tissues that the temperature of the body is raised and the drinking of much water to dissipate the heat is urged. The treatment was administered to 170 patients and the average loss of weight was 17 pounds in an average treatment period of 88 days. Thus if you divide the amount of the average weight loss (17) by the number of days (88) it shows that the average daily weight loss was between three and four ounces.

I venture to say that any physician by studying his patient's food needs, supervising a carefully selected reduced diet, and prescribing an increased amount of exercise—however slight—can obtain a weight reduction of three to four ounces daily without shock or danger to the patient, and the patient will be stronger at the end of the said 88 days than before the weight was reduced.

Coronary Thrombosis. You are reading very often these days of individuals dying of coronary thrombosis. This means that the coronary artery or blood vessel that carries the blood to the heart muscle so as to enable it to squeeze blood out through the big tube to all parts of the body has become blocked by a clot of blood called a thrombus. Naturally if blood cannot get through this vessel which is the size of a goose quill then the heart will have no strength with which to pump and the patient will die.

However all these patients do not die because when the blood finds that it cannot enter this blood vessel because the clot or thrombus blocks it then it "makes" its way around this vessel through smaller tubes or blood vessels and gives the heart muscle enough strength to keep pumping the blood.

Dr. Warren B. Cooksey, Detroit, in a paper read before the Central Society for Clinical Research, Chicago, says that if the shock of the attack is not too great and the patient lives for a few weeks afterwards, he often will recover so completely and the blood circulation supplying the heart muscle will so thoroughly re-establish itself in time, that many useful years will remain to the individual.

"Married!" Joe said, Tony drawn down on his knee now, and his kiss against her chin. "We were married two weeks after you were. We've been bursting to tell you, but we've not told anyone except Cliff and Brenda and the family, and Tony didn't want to spill it without asking me, and I didn't dare without asking her! This is my beautiful, my adorable, my glorious wife!" he said. "And she's going to flo with me next month, aren't you, sweetheart?"

"This is my husband," Tony said, under her breath, looking only at Joe, her arm about his neck, her words only for him. And so said, they sounded like a song. "And we cook here, and garden here, and fool around here," Joe stated, beginning to serve the ham enthusiastically, was around to her own place. "And perhaps angels in heaven have something on us for happiness, but we doubt it. I talked Tony into it just after we had word from you, but for various reasons we kept it quiet. They wanted her to finish up her work on the paper, and break some one else in."

"I can't still quite see the reason for the secrecy with us," Caroline observed nippingly, after a somewhat forced flurry of explanations and congratulations, and the evening was over, and the Hellmays were going.

"And something tells me that I'll never be intimate with my sister-in-law," Tony observed, in reference to this parting shot, when they were gone. "Something tells me that neither one enjoyed the evening," Joe said, happy with his pipe, his fireside, his wife, his peaceful Sunday evening. "Tony, did you and he have it out?"

"While I was getting dinner, yes. In a way, we did. And in a way I felt terribly sorry for him, Joe. You're so wise and you're so good, and you know everything, and every one adores you, and you're wonderful," Tony said simply. "But poor old Larry's still the big wooden Injun, handsome and clever and adored by the girls. He just can't believe that life is being mean to him."

"She took the familiar red leather hassock at his knee; her eyes were fixed on his, her dark hair ruffled a little into a babyish aureole about her face. Joe put down his pipe, and they locked hands. "Do you really love me, Tony?" "Joe, so much that I can't pull out a weed or pick up a shell without needing you to praise me and see me and talk to me about it." "There wasn't the least twinge to-night?" "Nothing but pity for the poor fool girl who fell in love with a painted totem pole." "Larry isn't a totem pole, you know." "To me he is. I looked at him and I looked at you, Joe. You are so wise and quiet and good—" She stopped. "Go on, wench. Your discourse displeases me no whit." "Yes, but you know what I mean. You're so big that you can afford to be little, and fool around here making dres and playing with me. But Larry—did you notice that he spoke of his vater, Joe? He would have a valet!

"However," Tony added in satisfaction, "I think he saw how happy we are; I think he did. Anyway, she did." —Joe's laugh—she loved it, and it was rather rare—broke out. "They did, unless they've suddenly gone stone blind. You were rubbing it in all over the place! I never saw you look so pretty or heard you laugh so much. You let 'em have it right in the eye."

"Oh, Joe, I didn't!" Tony protested. "Oh, Tony, you did!" "I didn't mean to," Tony apologized, looking up penitently into his eyes. But her face was radiant. "The truth is, darling," she said, "that I had rather been dreading meeting Larry. I wasn't exactly conscious why, but in the background of my mind—my soul, all these months, there's been the feeling that I'd be glad to meet him—glad to—well, have it over!"

"And was it so awful?" "Awful!" Her joyous laugh rang out. "Why, it was—it was flat!" she said. "For the last two years I haven't seen him, you know, and I have seen—I have had the friendship of a real man. And it was almost dizzying, it was almost bewildering to feel my old emotions slipping about and changing places, and to feel under it all 'Joe, Joe, Joe's mine and I'm Joe's forever and ever, and this handsome, important, serious man doesn't mean one thing to me!"

She sat silent, staring into the fire for a long moment, her shoulder pressing in comradesly fashion against his knee. "Joe, you're so wise and you're so good."

"I've always felt a little that way about him, I think."

"They were so stupefied," Tony mused. "That I didn't dare spring our real news on them."

"They'd think you were crazy, with this long trip ahead of you, and married only six months." "Why crazy? There are hospitals and nurses in Rio, I should hope!" Tony said. "Caroline wanted a chin-chilla coat. I want something else. That's all there is to it."

Outside the house a soft Autumn wind sprang up, whined about the chimney. The dog stirred comfortably on the hearth; two logs fell together and sent up a fresh rush of flame; the lamp burned softly. Tony, her face bright with her own thoughts, stretched a hand up to her shoulder and felt Joe's fingers there.

"What of the way to the end? The end crowns all," she said. [THE END]

Uncommon Sense

By John Blake

Man has attained an ascendancy on this earth because he reasons. Use Your Reason alone is able to think consecutively. I admit that many of his tribe reason a very little. But, unless they are morons, and they can use their reasoning faculty, and if they don't, they alone are to blame. If you do not make use of your reasoning power, you have no one but yourself to answer for it.

In spite of the Declaration of Independence, I submit that all human beings are not born equal. But they all have an equal chance to live and to learn and to think out their own problems. Use that mind of yours. Keep it active. Keep it open. Keep it busy. Keep it active. Take nothing for granted.

There is an old proverb to the effect that a man has two eyes and two ears, but only one tongue for a definite purpose. Begin by learning to use your own language clearly and effectively. There is nothing that will help you more on your way up the ladder than the ability to use words well and clearly. Cultivate as far as it is possible the acquaintance of men and women who think deeply and speak well.

Read as much and as widely as it is possible. All the world's wisdom up to this time can be found in books. You need not learn alone from your own experience. The experience of others is yours to employ whenever you are willing to take the trouble. Wrestle with your own problems before you apply for help from others.

Make the acquaintance, and if possible gain the regard of intelligent busy people, who have mastered their own problems, and are usually willing to be of help to others.

There is so much to be gained from life that it is a shame to neglect it. You may not leave the record of your achievement on the sands of time. But you will at least get what there is to be got out of this life, and that is a great deal.

It is natural and a great American trait to indulge in the illusions of hope. "Illusions" was the right word. Hope always is an illusion. Through all time it has functioned as does the will-o-the-wisp, that little dab of ignited marsh gas which you sometimes see moving over bogs if you go out in the night in the summer time.

The man who indulges in the illusions of hope will never be rich, or important, or even moderately successful. He gambles with his life as a professional gambler plays his game, with the difference that the professional gambler knows he is going to win—can't he operate an apparatus which can't lose, while the illusion holder is lucky if he ever wins at all.

It stands to reason that if you know your own business and practice it that you will have more chance of success than if you try too much some other fellow's game. Yet there are thousands, probably millions of people in this country who imagine that they can by using some kind of a "system" get rich quickly and continue to keep the money rolling in.

The psychology of such people is curious. Having no knowledge whatever of the stock market, they put their savings into it without consulting intelligent men in Wall Street, lose it, repine for a little while, and then when they get a little more money through hard work go through the same process again, and once more are stripped of all they have.

Back your hope with knowledge and experience and you stand a reasonable chance of succeeding in the enterprise in which you have embarked. Back it on tips, or your own "hunch," that experience is not necessary to enable you successfully to play some other man's game, and you will soon be going to your friends for help which you ought not to be given and which in all probability you will not be given.

In gambling houses, in the brokers' rooms where tickers count out the hours, you will find dozens of men—and poor but always hopeful men—and sometimes women. What they live on I don't know. But it cannot be anything substantial for they are a sad and disconsolate set of people.

Why should anybody think that a game that thousands of people have played successfully can be beaten by a lucky guess of two? Why should they think that luck will go over the heads of many deserving but unfortunate people and single out the shoe-string gambler for its capitol prizes?

J. Doyle Settle Asks Reelection

J. Doyle Settle, Abernathy, member of the state legislature for the 119th district, today makes his formal announcement for second term to the Texas House of Representatives.

"I am offering for a second term on the record I made as a member of the Forty-fourth Legislature," he said. "It is my hope that the friendships and contacts I made during my first term will allow me to render the 119th district a greater service during a second term. Equal representation to each of the nine counties of this district has been my aim, and it is my sincere hope that there will be no jealousy between any of these counties but that each will cooperate for the best interest of the district at large."

At the present time Settle is president of the Young Democrats of Texas, and he stated in his announcement he had arranged for President Roosevelt to come to Texas June 5 to formally open his campaign in an address to the Young Democrats in a national rally. He is a member of the appropriations, insurance, game and fish committee of eleemosynary institutions in the Legislature, and is President of the Technological College Alumni and Ex-Students Association. He was married to Miss Luella Benson of Lubbock in the State Capitol in Austin in 1935, and is 27 years of age.

Following is a list of the major legislative matters in which he asserts he rendered valuable assistance:

"Aided in passing Old Age Assistance law, payment of which will start about July 1, 1936; received an increase of $96,000 in appropriation for Texas Tech, helping bring educational benefits to West Texas; co-author of chain store tax to protect independent merchants; received new appropriation of $5,000 for improvements to the Experiment Station at Lubbock, which will extend agricultural benefits to the South Plains; helped pass liquor law that will protect dry districts and raise around $5,000,000 yearly for the old age pension and school fund; helped defeat a bill to increase tuition of all state colleges to more than twice the present tuition fees; co-author of the rural aid bill, increasing state assistance to rural schools from $4,000,000 to $10,000,000 for the present biennium; materially assisted in getting $25,000 for a museum at Tech; co-author of Texas Security Acts to protect investors; assisted in passage of new labor laws designed to insure safer working conditions; co-author of the Drivers License law designed to stop reckless driving and save lives from motor traffic; helped create the public safety commission that has lessened crime in Texas, curtailing the crime wave that was making great headway over the state two years ago; helped propose a constitutional amendment limiting the number of representatives from any one county to seven, which, if passed by a vote of the people, will lay a foundation for redistricting the state. Such redistricting will materially assist West Texas; helped in submitting the question of state liquor monopoly to the voters. Settle favors and pledges his support to: "Sufficient help for old people; continued reduction of ad valorem taxes on homes and farms; equal appropriation for all state colleges on the basis of enrollment; organized labor and its right to protect its interests by all lawful means, including collective bargaining with employers; continued effort to redistrict Texas; better roads for the smaller populated counties; continued increase in state help for rural education; refund of state tax on gasoline to farmers at time of purchase; a bigger and better Texas Tech, the school from which I graduated.

J. DOYLE SETTLE

"I have given my full time to being your representative, declining a Federal appointment in order to continue with the Legislature, and have spent as much time in Austin as was necessary in getting the job done," Settle continued. "I appreciate the honor of serving the people of the 119th district and expect to remain loyal to the trust placed in me, and will continue to give my full time if you see fit to reelect me for a second term."

A. M. Cade, James Connolly, W. T. Bovell, Cody Bragg, C. T. and Joe Tankersley have been down in the Big Bend country near Sanderson this week fishing. They were expected back Thursday night. Whether or not they brought back any evidences of success, we have not learned.

Herschel D. Collings, formerly employed in the county agent's office here, was a caller at the News office Tuesday. He reported that he and his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Byrd Collings, and his grandmother, Mrs. R. A. Collings, all of Morgan, visited relatives in Stephenville last week.

STUDENT CLUB TAKES EXAMINATIONS

Members of the Minor Baton held a special meeting Monday night for a final review and examination on the hymn study which is a part of their annual required schedule. Some excellent records were made by the conscientious students, somewhat in compensation for the grade of less fortunate ones. Members who missed the test may choose to arrange for a special examination or pay the regulation fine for non-participation on the program.

The St. Patrick's party on Tuesday, March 17th, will be the next regular meeting. There will be guests and plans promise a "real event."

All members who have not done so will please see the treasurer and the hostess chairman not later than Monday.—Reporter.

GROWTH IN COUNCIL

During the month of February, 143 boys were enrolled as Scouts in the South Plains Council. Most of these boys were new who are coming into Scouting for their first time. A number of boys who were former Scouts are now registering.

Eight new troops were registered during the month. They were as follows: Troops 3 and 11, Lubbock; 28, Slaton; 31, Ladlow; 35, Spur; 39, Sudan; 44, Brownfield; and 38, Circleback. In addition to the registration of these new troops a number of troops have been reorganized with new troop leaders and committees.

The many Lynn county friends of R. E. Key, who now resides in Lubbock, will be pleased to learn that he has broken into the papa ranks. A seven-and-a-half pound boy was born to him and Mrs. Key at midnight Thursday, according to a report carried in the Lubbock Avalanche, which is usually reliable in such matters. Mr. Key has our congratulations.

BOY SCOUT SCHOOL

A Scouters' University will be held April 13-17 at Texas Tech College. It will be sponsored by the South Plains Boy Scout Council. This will be the first Scouters' University ever held in this section of the country and will be looked to with much interest among Scouters and friends all over the Council. Ten courses will be offered in the school in various phases of Scouting and Cubbing. The sessions of each course will run from 7 to 9 p. m. each evening during the week of the school.

RICHARDSON'S NEPHEW DIES

Mr. and Mrs. Rafe L. Richardson were called to Brownwood on Tuesday, March 10, on account of the death of a very dear nephew, Milton Boland, a young man 25 years old.

The funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon with a Cisco funeral home in charge. The body was laid to rest Wednesday afternoon. The Richardsons returned home Thursday night.

The Texas Memorial Museum to be built by Federal and State Aid and from the sale of Texas Centennial half-dollars will be one of popular appeal. It will be erected on the campus at the University of Texas and will give special emphasis to displays from the fields of natural and civic history.

President Franklin D. Roosevelt and Vice President John N. Garner have been invited to open the University Centennial Exposition and to participate in the first breaking of ground for the Texas Memorial Museum on the campus of the University of Texas on June 7th.

WRONG AGAIN!

Quoting from an address of President
J. A. Hill, of the West Texas State Teachers College, Canyon:
"The constitution should be amended any time and in all ways, whenever and wherever it ceases to be a instrument of freedom and happiness of the people." What a contrast to the opinion of Dr. Hill's brother, Editor E. I. Hill, of the Tahoka News. Bro. E. I. would lead one to believe that the constitution of the U. S. is too sacred to ever tamper with in the least, by either repeal or amendment.—Terry County Herald.

It is of very little consequence whether the editor of the News and his brother agree or not; but when and where did you ever read anything, Jack, written or spoken by this editor, that was not in agreement with the declaration of the Canyon man quoted above? You must have been reading the News with one eye shut. Maybe you have not had time to do more than just scan over our editorial columns. As a matter of fact we have repeatedly stated that the people have the right to amend the Constitution in any way they want to at any time they want to. What we have been objecting to is the enactment of laws in violation of, or not authorized by, the Constitution. Some of you editors and others have been continually asserting or intimating that the Constitution is a back number and is not to be observed or respected, that laws enacted by Congress should be allowed to stand regardless of the Constitution, and you have been criticizing the Supreme Court for declaring certain laws unconstitutional. We have been saying that you are wrong in taking such a position—and you are.
If the constitution is not up-to-date and does not meet present conditions, amend it; don't flout it.

As for us, we have favored all the amendments that have been proposed and adopted during our life time except the recent "Repeal" amendment. We favored the Income

Tax amendment submitted in 1909.
We favored the amendment providing for the election of U. S. Senators by the people instead of the legislatures, submitted in 1912. We favored the National Prohibition Amendment, the Woman Suffrage amendment, and the recent "Lame Duck" amendment, which changed the time of the inauguration of the President and Vice-President from March 4 to January 20. Did you favor all these amendments, Jack?

We heartily subscribe to the doctrine that "The constitution should be amended any time and in all ways, whenever and wherever it ceases to be a fit instrument of freedom and happiness of the people."

We had the pleasure last Saturday night of attending the joint annual meeting of the Plainview and Lubbock county bar associations held in the dining room of the Women's Dormitory of the Texas Technological College. It was a most pleasurable affair. Our only regret was that the newspaper boys of the South Plains were not there. Perhaps they were not invited. We should have liked for them to hear at least a portion of the address of Justice R. W. Hall of the Amarillo
Court of Civil Appeals. Judge
Hall, we believe, has been a member of that court since its creation many years ago. "Ten different justices have sat on that court," Judge Hall said, "and not one of them ever rendered a dishonest opinion." And the lawyers present applauded him, though many of them had lost cases before that tribunal. Judge Hall also paid a brief tribute to the Supreme Court of the United States, declaring it to be the greatest tribunal on the face of the earth. Yet thousands and thousands of good citizens who never saw the inside of a law book in their lives and a few dandy good newspaper editors were kidding themselves into the belief that they are capable of passing judgment upon the decisions of this court and criticising the members thereof. May the Lord forgive them, for they know not what they do.

Our Congressman, George Mahon, exhibited a bit of righteous indignation
on the floor of the House the other day. Critics of West Texas had been referring to his district as the "Dust Bowl" and declaring that men and live stock could not live there. He was particularly bitter, it is said, against the Pathe News, a moving picture service, that had dubbed this district as the "dust of death" area. George produced some facts and figures showing the great productivity of our soil and the marvelous increase in population during the decade from 1920 to 1930, and declared that "most every one of my counties in this so-called dust bowl broke the record this year in the number of poll taxes paid."

Historic Gall!

Marian Rodgers, of Dallas, is the great-grand daughter of a Texas soldier who died in the famous "lottery of beans," after the battle of Mier in 1842. Of the 176 Texans captured by the Mexicans, 17 drew black beans from an earthen bowl and were shot to death. 159 drew white beans and were sent to a Mexican prison. Miss Rodgers, whose grandfather, Horace Isa Houston, was a first-cousin of Gen Sam Houston, is a rangerette for the Texas Centennial Exposition opening in Dallas June 6.

Not only can people live here but they are living here and intend to stay here, he pointed out. And people are still coming here to make their homes. He made it clear, however, that he favors the work of the Resettlement Administration and believes in a program of soil conservation. He just didn't like for his district to be misrepresented and maligned. And we are for you, George. Stay with 'em.

If the new soil conservation law is all that is claimed for it and is honestly and efficiently administered as a soil conservation act, we believe that it will be of great and lasting benefit to this country. For it to be most beneficial, however, those who administer it must forget about crop curtailment as the main purpose of the law. It should be administered strictly as a soil conservation measure. In many places throughout Texas and the United States the soil has been almost completely washed away by water, and in some sections much of it has been blown away by wind. It is claimed that wonderful progress has already been made under the old set-up in restoring the soil in the Dalhart section that is said to have suffered so severely from wind erosion last year. We believe that the use of scientific methods may do much to prevent soil erosion by wind and water, and if the new law shall be administered with that end primarily in view, we are for it, strong.

If the new Social Security law is administered economically and fairly, free from waste, graft, and political influences, we believe it will become one of the most effective instruments for good ever adopted by this or any other government. Already, it is said, aid is being given to 75,000 children residing in twelve states and the District of Columbia who have no means of support. This aid is given to them without taking them from the mother or other relative with whom they reside. Any defects in the law or in its administration will be corrected, no doubt, as they develop. All the other states may participate in the benefits of the law when they choose by appropriate legislation to do so.

President Roosevelt is trying to find out what has gone wrong with the New Deal in that it is being so generally criticized. He is calling in men of all parties, getting their opinions on various subjects. It is rumored from Washington that even political opponents have told him in a friendly manner, the weakness of the New Deal is in its administration. Petty politicians have used their office for personal vanity rather than for the good of the country. As a result there may be a wholesale house cleaning among the various alphabetical boards early next month. It has long been evident that this nation needs a training school for public office holders in order that its public officials know and understand the meaning and functions of government. Trained office holders would not have bungled the good intentions of the President as have the inefficient ones who are now in charge.—Canyon News.

A man will bum a chew of tobacco and bite off the plug whers others have bitten, but at home he would not think of eating off a piece of pie where his wife or children had bitten. At home he will not drink out of a glass where others have drunk just before him, but he will ram the neck of a bottle down his goggle abter a dozen bootheels have had a swig at it. If he eats in a public place, he chooses the highest stool and eats off a naked board. At home he demands a clean tablecloth and a comfortable chair. Great is man. (P. S. This is being written for the benefit of the women who requested that we give some of the inside antics of the nature of man.)—Clarendon Leader.

As pointed out in the trial of the negro, Elmo Banks, last week for the murder of Deputy Sheriff Ed Redwine, perpetrated in a jail break, Mr. Redwine, even in his dying hours, made the finest possible contribution to the cause of law and order. "Let the law take its course," was the counsel he gave those about him. It was that message that restrained the hot blood of many a good citizen who felt that the crime should be summarily avenged and contributed to make the trial of the negro perfectly orderly and fair in spite of the tenseness of feeling that existed.

Eva Douthitt, senior, was absent Friday, a week ago, on account of illness. This is the first time that Eva has been absent on account of sickness since she was in the fourth grade.

The two plays, "Dust of the Road" and "Pink and Patches," were presented at the High School Auditorium Monday night. The latter play was chosen to represent the school at County Meet. The play contained the following characters: Rexie—Hiram Snowden.

Texie—Mary Margaret Tunnell.
 Rexie's and Texie's mother—Lois Montgomery.

Mrs. Allen—Altha Wayne Jennings.

Between acts were the following numbers:

Bettye Suddarth—vocal solo, accompanied by Vance Gildersleeve on his violin and Mrs. Sudarth at the piano.

Cornet solo—C. C. Armstrong.

Four songs by the Double Quartet, accompanied by Marjorie Wells at the piano.

A tap dance by Eloise Roberts accompanied by Marjorie Wells at the piano.

Students and teachers of the high school were favored Monday morning by the Tech band concert, comprising 53 members. The program lasted about an hour. Several numbers were played and among these numbers was Mr. Alphin's band march number entitled "The Star of the Century." Five songs were sent to the Centennial, and Mr.

Allphin's was among those five. Alphin's song was not chosen winner of the contest but it was one of the five sent in. Mr. Alphin was present Monday morning and he was asked to stand after his number had been played. The students enjoyed the program very much.

Last Wednesday in chapel, Lottie Stephens and Pansy Tankersley debated against Clifton Rogge and James Minor. Also, Bettye Suddarth, with a group of selected singers, presented her two school songs for consideration and selection of choice by the student body. Copies of these songs were made and distributed among the students. Next Wednesday the student body will vote on their choice of these two songs.

The best record of the year in typing was made last week by Beatrice Estes on a fifteen minute test on which she averaged 32.5 words a minute without an error. Mary Jane Weathers made 38.2 with 5 errors, while Eunice Mullins made 36 words with .6 errors. The entire class is working on rough draft, addressing envelopes and tabulation, now.

High School students participating in the spelling contest are: Bill Brown, Sara Lou Rumbo, Lottie Stephens, and Willie M. Chappell. Students who are participating in Seventh Grade spelling are: Beulah Jones, Julia Snowden, H. A. Maassen, and Max Minor. Try-outs are being held this week.

The tennis finals for senior and junior boys' singles were played Monday afternoon, March 9, and the results were that Charles Gaignat will represent the senior boys, and John McCulloch will represent the junior boys.

The Junior class had three members to enter the Woodul Historical contest—Wells Edwards, Noel Alphin, and Lois Montgomery. The essays were graded over the week end by some teacher not in the high school, and they selected Lois

Home Ec. Department Gets New Equipment

On Tuesday afternoon the girls of the Home Ec. department were pleasantly surprised by the arrival of a new dining room suite for their use. The suite is of oak in a dignified and substantial modification of Spanish Mission style. Included in the suite are the dining table, which comfortably accommodates 8 "covers," a buffet with adequate storage space for linens and flat silver, an arm-chair and seven straight chairs. The chairs are upholstered in rust-colored, figured velour.

Recently the department was furnished with a set of chinaware, a set of flat silver, a roaster and an angel-food cake pan. The chinaware and silverware constitute service for six.

The equipment is highly appreciated by the girls and they are interested in keeping all of it in the best condition possible.

Short, who reside on the Coleman Wells farm four miles north of Tahoka, fell catching his foot in the frame of a wagon loaded with feed Tuesday and sustained a painful injury to his foot. The wound was dressed by a local physician, but it was not possible to determine whether there was a fracture of the bones or merely a bad sprain.

that Annie might have changed the history of the world, possibly redrawn the present map of Europe, if her stunt had resulted in a fatality.

Through Annie's life ran the course of romance, something which could not be altered by the lavish praise showered on her by pauper, prince and potentate. As in the picture, she married the man she defeated at the Cincinnati Gun Club in her initial exhibition.

History in the figurative form, but none the less colorful and dramatic, repeats itself in "Annie Oakley." The high appeal of the American West as idealized in the Buffalo Bill shows, is retained with impressive fidelity. The remarkably hued life of its heroine is depicted in all its brilliance. Barbara Stanwyck stars as the glamorous Annie Oakley. Preston Foster portrays Toby Walker and Melvyn Douglas, as Buffalo Bill's partner, is Toby's rival for Annie. Moroni Olsen breathes life into the characterization of Buffalo Bill, and George Stevens, directs the players under the aegis of RKO Radio.

Grand Jury Reports Much Violation Of Laws; Warning Given Cow Buyers

Following is the report of the Lynn County grand jury for the spring term of court, the jury having completed its work Monday: To the Honorable Judge of Said Court:

We, your Grand Jury for the February term of 1936 of said court, most respectfully report to the court the following:

We have deliberated seven days in the investigation of crime, and have returned into court 24 felony bills of indictment, and we are glad to report that the most of these cases have been tried this term of court as soon as they were returned by us.

We have investigated various offenses against our laws, most prevalent of which are murder, forgery, theft, burglary, incest, driving while intoxicated and violation of the liquor laws, and we have returned indictments in such cases where we thought the evidence was sufficient.

We find from an investigation that in this county the butchers are failing to obtain bills of sale for animals that they buy, and that they, in many instances, buy cattle without inspecting the head and hide that belong to such animal, and that they are further failing to make a report to the commissioners' court each month, stating the number of cattle or animals so bought, a description of such animals, and a bill of sale for each animal so bought with such report. We further find that in many instances those engaged in the business of butchering and slaughtering animals have failed to make bond as required by law before engaging in such business. We have not returned indictments at this term of court for such violation of the laws, but those known to be engaged in such business have been warned by us to comply with the law, and we call upon our officers and good citizens of this county to report any further violations of the butcher laws, and that those so violating the butcher laws of this State be prosecuted by complaint or that such matter be called to the attention of the next Grand Jury when it convenes.

We have also found that there are those who utterly disregard the rights of other people and get in their automobiles while under the influence of intoxicants, and drive down our public highways and streets in such dangerous condition, a menace to every person which they meet. We cannot express too much condemnation for such violations of our laws, and respectfully request our officers and good citizens to report, apprehend, and prosecute such persons so violating this law.

We have further, from our investigations, found that in this county there are many negroes living together as husband and wife without being married. We do not understand it to be the law of this State that negroes are exempt from marriage when they are living together as husband and wife. We further find that much crime exists in the negro communities of this county because of such manner of living. We condemn such practice by them, and request our officers and good citizens of this county to report, apprehend and punish such persons found living in adulterous relations.

We have examined the courthouse and jail and find that the same is being kept in a good and sanitary manner, however, we find the jail to be inadequate to hold prisoners that attempt to break out, and we request our County Judge and Commissioners' Court to make an inspection of this jail and do what they can toward strengthening, repairing, or buying new equipment to make a stronger jail, for we cannot see any need for arresting criminals if they are placed in a jail that will not hold them.

We wish to thank our District Judge, our Sheriff and Bailiffs, our District Clerk, County and District Attorneys, and our Janitor for all courtesies and assistance extended to us during our meetings. They have cooperated with us in every way and made our work pleasant. We also want to thank the good citizens of this county, who came before us as witnesses, and gave their testimony in matters of criminal investigation.

Having finally concluded our labor, we most respectfully ask that we be adjourned for the term.

JOHN HECK, Foreman of the Grand Jury.

LAWLER—MINOR
Jack Minor and Miss Alvera Lawler were married Tuesday night in Slaton, Rev. G. C. Sewell of the First Baptist Church of Slaton officiating.

Jack is a graduate of the Tahoka High School of the class of '31, and is one of Tahoka's finest young men. For the past two or three years he has been employed at Mack's Food Store.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Lawler, the family having removed to Tahoka from O'Donnell about three years ago, and has made many, many friends here during her residence in Tahoka.

The News joins in extending best wishes to this fine young couple.

CHURCH OF CHRIST NOTES

Our attendance was a little off last Lord's Day but the interest was good, especially at the morning service. The lesson on "Living After the Spirit or the Flesh" was listened to with fine attention and I believe it will bear fruit.

The church at Brownfield is having a meeting this week. Brother Glenn Wallace is doing the preaching. Brother Wallace held a meeting here a few years back.

A few more things that seem inconsistent to me: For a preacher to preach on Holiness and then use tobacco and go to picture shows. For a church member to get up every week day at 6 a. m. and on Sunday lay abed until it is too late to go to Bible study. For parents to say they love their children and then neglect their souls' welfare. For elders and deacons to plan all their church work for the home congregation only. For professing Christians to have money for and take several secular papers and have no religious journal coming to their home. For merchants of our town to expect people to keep trading here and never advertise in our home paper. For people to read and study the Bible and then say that one church is as good as another.

I want to express my regret for the passing of our fine peace officer Ed Redwine. I am glad I told him how I appreciated his work before his death. I also want to say that I think we have a fine sheriff. I think we religious folks ought to stand by and help officers of the law. Also, I think we ought to encourage our editor for his stand against liquor and lawlessness.

I want to express my appreciation to the many who have said that my few notes were helping them.

Services next Lord's Day. Bible study, singing, preaching, communion and giving as God has prospered us. Come to the friendly church.
—R. P. Drennon.

NEW HOME H. D. CLUB

The New Home H. D. Club met in the home of Mrs. J. H. Izard Friday, March 13th. The county H. D. Agent gave interesting sketches from the "1935 Agent's Annual Report."

If each club member would make a report of her work and give it to the secretary once a month, it would be much easier for the secretary to make out her report each year. These reports determine what grades our agent and clubs make, so this is very important.

There were fourteen members and three visitors present.

Visitors were: Mrs. Joe Unfred, Miss O'Berger Forrester, Mrs. J. H. Hilton.

Members present: Mmes. P. W. Goad, Jno. W. Armontrout, H. A. Parris, J. H. Izard, Joe Poindexter, Joe S. Hilton, G. N. McWhorter, J. R. Strain, Loyd R. McCormick, Chas. T. Lee, J. Boswell Edwards, J. C. Ballew, Wayman Smith, R. H. Bates.

POSTPONE PTA MEETING

The P. T. A. did not hold its regular meeting Wednesday of this week as was announced, as it would have conflicted with the work of the teachers who are preparing for the Inscholastic League meet.

This meeting will be held on Wednesday of next week, March 25, at 3:30 p. m. at Central Ward school. A good program has been arranged, and a business meeting will be held for the election of officers for next year's work. You are invited to come.—Reporter.

One of the most complete collections of U. S. postage stamps ever assembled will be on display at the Centennial Exposition in Dallas.

Midway Pupils In Musical Program

On a recent Friday night musicians from Midway rendered a musical program at New Home. The players, numbering about twelve or fifteen, were with one exception pupils and teachers of the Midway school. The program consisted of a number of selections by a violin choir of ten or twelve instruments, several violin duets and solos, old-time fiddling, piano solos, vocal solos, and a number of dance-steps by Joe Lane and Wanda Lane, primary school pupils from Midway. At the requests of Mr. Griffith, Thelma Ruth Strain of New Home, but formerly of Midway, played a piano solo.

Joe Lane, violinist and vocalist, was the main attraction, and the audience showed appreciation for him both with applause and by some voluntary contributions toward his musical education. Mr. Griffith sang a song which he recently composed, entitled: "Where the Flowers Refuse to Die." Midway has probably more musical talent than any school and community its size in West Texas. Mr. and Mrs. Griffith advocate that school success and discipline are determined largely by the appreciation for and interest in music. "Music study exalts life," they declare.

Tent Is Consumed By Fire Monday

A tent owned and occupied by Mrs. Opal Nevels, her aged mother and three sons, was consumed by fire Monday morning, March 9, when an oil stove exploded. The occupants saved only the clothes they were wearing. The tent was located in the north part of town near the water works.

The family had become stranded here a week ago while returning from Yuma, Arizona, to their former home at Throckmorton. The three boys, eighteen, sixteen and ten years of age, had been promised work by a farmer near here, and they were waiting with the hopes of this job opening up. A collection was taken among our citizens Monday to aid the family.

The fire is said to have started when one of the boys unknowingly poured gasoline into the kerosene stove and attempted to light it.

is any oil any different?

Different because it's

We don't mean one of those "talking point" differences. We mean a real difference. Alloying Germ Processed oil goes beyond refining and re-refining. After every harmful element is cleaned out, the patented Conoco Germ Processing element is scientifically put IN.

That's what brings you this alloyed oil, with its strange attachment for pistons, cylinders, and all other engine parts—including every known type of bearing. All these parts really become oil-plated!

This oil-plating is extra. It's a plus—added to the tougher, more slippery, heat-beating Germ Processed oil film. You've got this high-durability oil film, sliding on thoroughly oil-plated surfaces, and so you're that much farther from wear and noise.

You're facing hotter days and harder runs. Out with dirty winter oil! Only the Conoco man can change you—quickly—to Germ Processed, the alloyed oil. Continental Oil Company.

Refreshing Relief

When You Need a Laxative

Because of the refreshing relief it has brought them, thousands of men and women, who could afford much more expensive laxatives, use Black-Draught when needed. It is very economical, purely vegetable, highly effective. . . Mr. J. Lester Robertson, well known hardware dealer at Martinsville, Va., writes: "I certainly can recommend Black-Draught as a splendid medicine. I have taken it for constipation and the dull feelings that follow, and have found it very satisfactory."

Lesson for March 22

JESUS TEACHING TRUE VALUES

LESSON TEXT—Luke 12:13-34. GOLDEN TEXT—Seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you.—Matthew 6:33. PRIMARY TOPIC—God's Good Gifts. JUNIOR TOPIC—When Is a Man Rich? INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—What Is Most Worth Living For?

The common tendency of men is to be engrossed with the gifts of God instead of knowing him as the heavenly Father and enjoying his blessed fellowship. Man's supreme need is to know and enjoy God himself.

I. A Warning Against Covetousness (vv. 13-21).

1. The occasion (vv. 13-15). One of the company requested Jesus to be umpire in a disputed estate. Two brothers were in trouble over an inheritance. Christ refused to enter the sphere of the civil law and warned against the spirit of avarice. His mission was pre-eminently spiritual.

2. The warning enforced (vv. 16-22). This was done by the parable of the rich man. He showed most clearly that to be concerned with earthly riches while neglecting God is the highest folly. Concerning this man, note:

a. His increased goods (v. 16). His riches were rightly obtained, for the ground brought forth plentifully. A man may be rich because the Lord's blessing is upon him.

b. His perplexity (v. 17). His lands were producing more than his barns would hold. He did not want it to go to waste. No frugal man wants to see the fruits of his toil perish. If he had possessed right views of life and a sense of stewardship before God, he would have seen that his barns had enough for his personal needs, and would have distributed the surplus to the needy.

c. His fatal choice (vv. 18, 19). He chose to enlarge his barns, and give up his life to ease and luxury. It ought to be a delightful task for men whom God has made rich to devote their time and energy to the distribution of their possessions to benevolent objects.

d. The awful indictment (vv. 20, 21). God calls him a fool and this is no arbitrary judgment. Riches furnish neither contentment in life nor guarantee of the continuance of life. It is not only foolishness but madness to forget God while engaged in heaping up riches. Soon the man must die and his riches may get into the hands of unworthy men or even curse the lives of the children who inherit them.

II. The Certain Cure for Anxiety (vv. 22-34).

Having shown the folly of the rich man who gained gold and lost God, he now urged the disciples to trust God and dismiss all anxious care.

1. The argument (vv. 22, 23). This is summed up in one brief sentence: "The life is more than meat, and the body is more than raiment."

2. The illustrations (vv. 24-28). a. God's care for the fowls (vv. 24-26). The ravens do not sow nor reap, they have neither storehouses nor barns, yet they live, for God feeds them. If God does not forget the fowl, certainly he will do more for his children who have been created in his likeness and image and redeemed by the precious blood of his Son.

b. God's care for the flowers of the field (vv. 27, 28). If God is so careful of those flowers which appear but for a day, how much more will he clothe his children?

3. The exhortations (vv. 29-34).

a. The getting of food and clothes should not be man's chief concern. b. Seek the Kingdom of God (v. 31). Those who make God's kingdom first shall have all of their needs supplied (Phil. 4:19).

c. Be not afraid (v. 32). God's good pleasure is upon his own and all good things he will give them. d. Practice self-denial in order to give gifts to those in need (vv. 33, 34).

III. Be Ready for the Coming of the Lord (vv. 35-40).

Having warned the disciples against the acquisition of worldly goods, while forgetting God, and shown them the needlessness of anxiety for food and clothes, he shows them the blessedness of being in a state of readiness when the Lord shall come. Conviction as to the certainty of the Lord's coming is a sure cure for worldliness and anxious care.

This attitude of heart he made clear by two parables; that of the return of the Lord, and that of the thief. The Lord will be so pleased with those who are waiting for him that he will take delight in sitting at the banquet with them, and he will even serve them.

Goodness Before Wealth

You are much in the wrong if you do not prefer the good qualities of the mind, before the advantages of fortune; a good man before a wealthy one; a man capable of being a faithful friend, before a rich unfaithful pretender to friendship.

Littleness of Soul

Envy is a littleness of soul, which cannot see beyond a certain point, and if it does not occupy the whole space, feels itself excluded.—Hazlitt.

Mrs. Bailey's Sensitive Skin

Rash Broke Out But Cuticura Soothed

Read this letter—how smarting rash and blisters due to external causes were relieved in almost no time by Cuticura.

"I noticed an itching sensation on my face and arms. It afterwards formed blisters that left the skin very tender and sensitive. Finally a rash broke out which, when rubbed, caused a smarting and intense itching. It was agony.

"A sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment relieved me so much that I bought some. After using one cake of Cuticura Soap and one-half tin of Cuticura Ointment, the rash disappeared." (Signed) Mrs. Grace Bailey, 300 East 201st St., Bronx, New York City.

Cuticura also soothes the irritation of pimples, ringworm, burning and itching of eczema with wonderful speed and effectiveness. Buy today. Ointment 25c. Soap 25c. Samples FREE. Write to "Cuticura," Dept. 19, Malden, Mass.—Adv.

GAS, GAS ALL THE TIME, CAN'T EAT OR SLEEP

"The gas on my stomach was so bad I could not eat or sleep. Even my heart hurt. A friend suggested Adlerika. The first dose I took brought me relief. Now I eat as I wish, sleep fine and never feel better."—Mrs. Jas. Miller.

Adlerika acts on BOTH upper and lower bowels while ordinary laxatives act on the lower bowel only. Adlerika gives your system a thorough cleansing, bringing out old, poisonous matter that you would not believe was in your system and that has been causing gas pains, sour stomach, nervousness and headaches for months.

Dr. H. L. Shoup, New York, reports: "In addition to intestinal cleansing, Adlerika greatly reduces bacteria and colon bacilli."

Give your stomach and bowels a REAL cleansing with Adlerika and see how good you feel. Just one spoonful relieves GAS and chronic constipation. Sold by all druggists and drug departments.

To Be Chic Is to Be Man-Tailored

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

THERE is no question as to the supremacy of the smart tailor in the early spring mode. How to wear a strictly man-tailored suit without sacrificing a prettily feminine appearance is the problem that fashion is putting up to the ladies these days.

Here, is a formula for a good antidote to the masculinity of a manly tailored suit of sturdy men's-wear woolen or other weave. Wear an alluring frilly, lingerie blouse for after many years' absence it has come into its own for spring.

However, should you prefer that your spring outfit go dramatically masculine in every detail as do so many of the high-fashion tailors on the new style program, again may we remind you that it is for the most part a matter of choosing the proper accessories.

square-toed and square-heeled shoes, all are contributing items to manish styling. And don't forget to add conspicuously one of the swanky lately-arrived watch-fob pins.

Designers are playing up the tailored suit with many variations. The group pictured illustrates the idea. To the left the suit is a classic double-breasted type. In navy or black it carries a genteel air which best dressed women seek.

The latest call of the tailored mode is for skirt and jacket to contrast as shown in the clever suit in the foreground. Stunning color effects are worked out in this way, special attention to a discriminating selection of accessories being absolutely necessary.

SMART KNIT SUIT By CHERIE NICHOLAS

Knitted fashions are as outstanding in the style parade as ever. The stunning suit pictured is the sort you will find ever ready when the "what to wear" question comes up.

SPRING STYLE SHOW STRESSES ECONOMY

Economy clothes, designed to save money, time and luggage space, starred in Paris spring fashion openings which ended a fortnight of the most varied displays Paris has shown in years.

The most striking costumes had changeable accessories which transformed their appearances or converted them to several uses.

Worth showed slender, dark satin evening dresses with draped corsages which could be drawn over the shoulder to make them sleeved dinner gowns.

Evening gowns of printed beaded organdie, crepe in brilliant modernistic designs and embroidered silk; were outstanding features of Patou's collection.

Now's the Time to Indulge in Embroidered Materials

If you like embroidered materials now's the time to indulge for fashion is highlighting the woollens, organdies, nets, mousselines, crapes and taffetas that reflect Chinese or Spanish or peasant influence in all-over embroidered motifs and patternings.

Sun-Suits-of-Chints

If the housewife misses her new glazed chintz window curtains she might see if daughter has used them to make a sun-suit. One model has shorts and bandeau of glazed chintz, topped off with a matching knee-length coat lined with Turkish towel.

MINOR BATON MUSIC CLUB HAS ANNUAL SOCIAL EVENT

Good old St. Patrick must have rejoiced at one celebration in his honor Tuesday night. Through the kindness of Mrs. Homer St. Clair, the Minor Baton was allowed to hold its annual social feature in her charming home, with her daughter, Marye, and the Misses Suddarth assisting Miss Maxine Connolly, hostess chairman.

The big double living room was gaily decorated with shamrocks and crepe ribbons, and the Irish theme ran through the evening. Games and contests of every sort furnished diversion until a late hour.

Members with their guests were served a colorful plate of green congealed salad, potato chips, salted wafers, and green punch, with green shamrocks, lettered with club name and date, standing on each plate. The next regular meeting of the Club is April 6.—Reporter.

J. T. WILLIAMS OF WILSON DIED WEDNESDAY NIGHT

 a very warm friend in Capetown, South Africa, with whom he carried on regular correspondence.

After the Boer War was over, Mr. Williams came back to south Texas, where he married and continued to reside until 1917 when he removed to Wilson and entered the general mercantile business there. He continued in this business up to the time of his death.

Mr. Williams was a man of rugged character and strong convictions. He was always found battling for what he believed to be the right and was a man of much influence in his town and community. He was a member of the Church of Christ and had an abiding faith in God.

The News joins many friends in condolences to the bereaved.

Malcolm Dolloff of Mercedes was here last week meeting old-time friends, having resided here several years ago. He was called to Lynn county by the recent death of his brother, R. S. Dolloff, and is visiting other brothers at Seagraves. Malcolm says they surely do have some rotten politics down in the Valley. But he thinks it a great country.

B. H. Howard and Uris Howard, father and brother respectively of Mrs. Harley Henderson and Mrs. Frank Hill, visited here several days last week. They live at Crosbyton.
