METHODISTS TO HOLD MEETING

Pre-Easter Services Will Open Next Wednesday Evening With Pastor in Charge

Pre-Easter Evangelistic services, beginning Wednesday night of next week and continuing over the following week and Easter Sunday, April 12, have been announced by Rev. C. C. Armstrong, pastor of the Methodist Church. He will do the preaching. Services will be each evening at 8 o'clock and each morning at 10 o'clock.

A meeting of church workers was held Wednesday night to lay plans for the revival. Several special services will be held. Bro. Armstrong announces that one of these special services will be Sunday night and will bear out the subject, "The Old Rugged Cross."

The general public is cordially invited to any and all services of the series. All singers are also invited to be present and cooperate with the choir.

POLITICAL ADDRESSES GIVEN OVER THE RADIO

D. A. Parkhurst, local Republican chairman, requests that we announce the following Republican members of Congress will make addresses over the radio in a series of broadcasts to be given over the Columbia Broadcasting System and the National Broadcasting Company as follows:

March 30, Rep. E. M. Dirksen of Illinois, over the CBS.

March 31, Rep. Charles W. Tobey of New Hampshire, over NBC.

April 14, Rep. Clifford R. Hope of Kansas, over NBC.

April 16, Rep. Florence P. Kahn of California, over CBS.

All these addresses will be given from 9:45 to 10:00 P. M., central standard time.

"Chevy" Connolly Gives Program

The new board of directors of the Tahoka Luncheon Club brought before the body Tuesday a resolution which called for the inauguration of a plan that would adequately finance the club or, in the alternative, that the club disband. After brief discussion, the resolution was unanimously adopted and a committee to canvass the members and other citizens of the town was announced, to obtain subscribers to the plan. This committee will report plan. The club will seek to enroll thirty paid-in-advance members at the rate of $2.50 per month membership. Twenty-six members were present Tuesday and pledged such membership. The membership committee is composed of L. F. Craft, Dr. K. R. Durham and Frank Hill.

In the absence of the president, Rev. George A. Dale, vice-president Bill Sewell presided Tuesday.

The program of the day was in charge of Chester Connolly of the Connolly Chevrolet Company.

The first number was a song by four little girls, Dale Hogan, Geraldine Connolly, Helen Jo Rogers, and Joann Edwards. Both the words and the music of the song, which is entitled "Down in Texas Where the Bluebonnets Grow," were composed by Mrs. Marcus Edwards, who acted as piano accompanist. The little girls, dressed in colorful cowboy garb with all the cowboy accoutrements, also sang a characteristic cowboy song. Mrs. Edwards herself rendered a most beautiful piano solo in a strikingly artistic manner.

Chester Connolly gave a few automobile facts of considerable interest. There are 24 million registered automobiles in operation in the United States, he said, and last year they used over 16 billion gallons of gasoline. The first automobile race was staged just a few years before the beginning of the present century, he said, and the winning car made the astounding speed record of 12 miles per hour.

In response to a call, Ira P. Hodges, superintendent of construction of the new school building, made a brief talk and invited the club members and business men of Tahoka to come up at any time and inspect the work that is being done on the building.

REV. C. C. ARMSTRONG, Pastor of the Methodist Church, who will preach during the Pre-Easter revival beginning Wednesday night of next week.

Spring Training For Football Men

Spring football training was begun at Tahoka High School this week. Coach Prentice Walker states, and although a number of good men will be lost by graduation this spring, prospects for a good team next fall are excellent. In fact, the coach reports that the boys are bubbling over with enthusiasm.

Delton Pemberton and Sam Garrard, co-captains, each is organizing a team for this spring training. Each will have definite plays, and in about two weeks it is planned that the two teams will play a game to which the general public will be invited.

Farm House Burns Monday Morning

A farm house on the Harris & Applewhite lease seven miles east of Tahoka, occupied by Henry Sayles and family, colored, was totally destroyed by fire about 8 o'clock Monday morning. The structure was a double building, consisting of about six rooms, and not only the house but all the furniture, all the bedding except a couple of mattresses, all the clothing except what the members of the family were wearing, practically all the meat which had been stored away for the year, and about 800 pounds of flour together with other groceries, were destroyed.

It is not known positively how the fire originated, but a high west wind was blowing and it is believed that a sudden draft of wind down the stove pipe caused a puff of flame to ignite the bed clothing near the stove.

The family has moved into another small building on the lease. The property is owned by John W. Newton of Haddon Heights, New Jersey, but is under lease for a term of years by Messrs. Harris & Applewhite.

TAHOKA RECEIVES INVITATION TO PLAINVIEW DAIRY SHOW

The Tahoka Chamber of Commerce has received an invitation to send a Princess and Maid to Honor to the coronation of the Dairy Show Queen at the City Auditorium on the evening of April 7, second day of the annual Panhandle-Plains Dairy Show.

A parade of Easter styles will precede the crowning of the Queen. Bud Sherley will be master of ceremonies. Guy Woods, of Wayland College Music Department, is directing the performance. It is being given under the supervision of the Chamber of Commerce Auxiliary of president, Mrs. G. R. Mabry is general chairman. Mrs. R. H. Underwood is eral chairman.

Among the many entertainment features arranged for the Queen and her court are a Tea Dance, Horse Show, and Queen's Ball, at which a well-known popular West Texas Orchestra has been contracted to furnish music.

More than fifty of the Panhandle and South Plains most beautiful young ladies are expected to participate in this event.

R. W. Fenton Sr. returned Sunday from a ten days visit with his sister at Denton. He reports that corn was coming up and wheat and oats were looking fine in Denton county when he left.

CCC Will Continue - Lubbock Park Job

According to an order recently published about one-third of the Government civilian conservation corps camps were to have been discontinued was the one at Lubbock month. Among the camps to be discontinued was the one at Lubbock.

Many protests were made immediately to members of Congress and the members of Congress immediately signed a strong protest to be filed with the President. Before it was actually filed, however, announcement was made that the President had changed his mind and that the CCC camps would not be discontinued.

The members of the Lubbock camp have been engaged in the construction of the Mackenzie State Park there. Its abandonment at this time would have left the project far from complete and the work already done would have been almost a total loss, it is said. It is gratifying to the people of this section of the state that this park is now to be completed.

OLD-TIMERS' REUNION

Jim Weatherford, Bill Nevels, and Gary White attended the oldtimers' reunion at Post Tuesday night. G. H. Nelson, who was there attending court, was a guest of the occasion. All report a great "feed" and a hilarious good time.

Youth Wounded In Cutting Affray

Lautia Smith, a youth of this city, is apparently recovering from serious injuries sustained in a difficulty with another youth, J. B. Baldree, following a dance at a farm home between O'Donnell and Draw last Saturday night.

Young Smith received a dangerous slash with a knife across the neck and another across one wrist. Baldree is in jail charged with the offense of assault with intent to murder. His bond has been fixed at $1,500.

Sheriff E. L. Parker states that the exact cause of the trouble had not been disclosed but that one or both of the boys had probably been drinking.

BROTHER-IN-LAW DIES

Gion and Virgie Cobb were called to Dallas Saturday on account of the death of their sister's husband, L. T. Robertson. Services were at Kosse Sunday afternoon, Mrs. J. J. Hamilton and Mrs. J. R. McAtee of Henrietta, Okla., sisters of Mrs. Robertson, also attended the services.

Children Of School Age Should Register

Scholastic census enumerators are about to conclude their work in all the school districts of the county. It is important that all of the children of scholastic age shall be enumerated. The News has been requested to suggest that all persons knowing of any children who have not been enumerated shall call the same to the attention of the proper census trustee or enumerator.

The prospects are, we are told, that many of the districts of the county will show a decided decrease in scholastic population this year, which means a decrease in state funds for these districts next year.

Cars Must Be Registered By April 1st; All Operators Must Secure Licenses

Owing to the fact that we have only a few days left to register the balance of the motor vehicles in this county, and there are many to register at this time, I respectfully urge that you secure your license plates at the earliest possible date to avoid the usual rush that we have the last few days.

On all vehicles that are not registered by the 1st of April, there will be a statutory penalty of 20% added.

To register your car, bring your last year's registration receipt, or if you have traded for a car bring the transfer also. To register your truck, have the

L. C. Quinsey, 67, Died Thursday

L. C. Soil Erosion Work Started On Plains

The emergency wind erosion program being administered by the A. & M. College through the Texas Extension Service is now going into action in most of the Plains and Panhandle counties as funds are received from Washington, according to a news release from A. & M. Monday.

Lynn county, however, is not to participate in this program, it seems, according to the opinion of County Agent V. F. Jones. The program is intended primarily for wheat-producing counties, and our wheat acreage is small.

Even in the big wheat-growing counties the funds provided are not large, but it is hoped that much good may be accomplished.

Maxey Car Stolen, Abandoned On Road

A Model A Ford coupe belonging to Homer Maxey, agent for Conoco gas and oil, was stolen here Monday night. For some reason the thief abandoned the car a short distance east of town and it was recovered early Tuesday morning. Officers have no trace of the thief or thieves. Attempts were made to steal two other cars here the same night. They managed to get one of them out onto the street at the S. N. McDonald place but could get no further with it and abandoned it.

SPECIAL EDITIONS

The Canyon News issued a special edition last week in celebration of its fortieth birthday. It is one of the oldest newspapers on the plains, and one of the best. It has done much for its town and for this section of the state and even for all Texas.

Last week also the Crosbyton Review issued a special edition, a mammoth paper it was, celebrating the town's twenty-eighth birthday. It was filled with historical and informative matter and was a credit to the publishers.

GRADE SCHOOL BIDS TOO HIGH

Board Refuses To Let Contract For Superstructure; Will Confer With PWA Officials

The board of trustees of the Tahoka Independent School District met Thursday afternoon and opened the bids for the construction of the superstructure of the grade school building, the foundation of which is now under construction.

Not finding any of the bids satisfactory, the board declined to let the contract, or more properly speaking, advised the PWA not to award the same.

The lowest bid for the superstructure itself was $58,448. The lowest bid for the plumbing, heating, and wiring was $10,310.40. The total cost of completing and equipping the building, therefore, had these bids been accepted, would be $68,758.40, which is about ten thousand dollars more than the amount of money available.

The Federal Government some time ago made an outright grant of approximately $32,500 for this project, and the district voted bonds in the sum of $40,000. After deducting overhead expense, such as architect fees, a little less than $70,000 was available for the construction and equipment of the entire building. But more than $10,000 of this was consumed, or is being consumed, in the contract for the foundation, and the board therefore has only about $58,000 left for the completion of the building.

We understand that the architect and the board of trustees are taking the matter up with the PWA authorities with the hope that the problem may be worked out and the contract awarded at an early date.

Just on Thursday of last week, the board received from the PWA a check for $17,462.75, which is supposed to be 25 percent of the entire cost of the building.

Members of the board of trustees present Tuesday afternoon were Alvin Hicks, president, W. L. Burleson, Dr. L. E. Turrentine, F. M. Billman, and Sam Holland. Messrs. Belton Howell and J. S. McKaughan were unable to be present.

W. S. Taylor For District Clerk

W. S. Taylor this week adds his name to our candidate list. He announces as a candidate for reelection to the office of district clerk.

"Skip" has served in this office ever since it was separated from the office of county clerk, and he has served efficiently and well. While the office is not a lucrative one, he can afford to devote all the time necessary to the performance of its duties, since he has another line of business—that of abstracting—which yields him a fair income.

"Skip" is thoroughly familiar with the duties of the office and hence is able to give practically perfect satisfaction.

He respectfully solicits the support of the people for another term on the basis of qualifications and devotion to duty, and he will appreciate your vote on July 25.

News Review of Current Events the World Over

Eastern States Devastated by Great Floods—Germany Condemned by League Council—President Asks Billion and Half for Relief.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD © Western Newspaper Union.

STATES of the Central East and New England suffered severely from the almost unprecedented floods. Scores of lives were lost and the vast property damage cannot yet be estimated. At least 150,000 persons were made homeless. Conditions were worst in western Pennsylvania. The Monongahela and Allegheny rivers, uniting at Pittsburgh to form the Ohio, poured raging torrents down over the great industrial city, driving the people from their homes and places of business. The famous "Golden Triangle" between the rivers was completely inundated; transportation and communication systems were suspended and power plants were put out of commission so the city was plunged in darkness. The plight of the suburbs was equally bad.

Further east, Johnstown was entirely flooded and the terror-stricken inhabitants fled from their homes, but the great Quehoning dam was holding and the danger of a repetition of the disaster of 1889 seemed to be passing. Dozens of cities and towns along the Susquehanna and its tributaries were under water, and in New York the Mohawk, Hudson, Schuylkill and Delaware rivers were out of their banks and rapidly rising. The Potomac, too, became a raging flood and in Washington an army of men was working feverishly to save the buildings and monuments in the flatlands.

Ten thousand persons were rendered homeless in the New England states and about a score lost their lives. The emergency there was greatest in the valley of the Connecticut river. Many cities were cut off from rail transportation and also were without light and power.

American Red Cross rose to the emergency, as always, mobilizing its forces to relieve the suffering. Admiral Cary T. Grayson, its national head, issued an appeal for a fund of $3,000,000. President Roosevelt also called for this amount in a proclamation. Secretary of War Tamm was appointed emergency flood relief head by the President and immediately ordered the generals commanding six corps areas of the army to extend full aid for prevention of loss of life and destruction of property.

Work Relief Administrator Harry Hopkins gave blanket authority to all WPA officials to employ their workers in any way necessary in rescue work and in strengthening levees.

The United States Coast Guard sent many power launches, provisioned and manned, from the Chicago area to help in the relief work at various points. To prevent robbery and vandalism National Guardsmen were on the job at Pittsburgh and other places.

France's proposal to submit the Franco-Russian treaty to The Hague court was said by a spokesman for the German delegation to be futile and useless. He also said the plan suggested by the English, to police the Rhineland zone with an international force, was "absolutely unacceptable."

A third provision, for drawing up a system of mutual guaranties among the Locarno powers, to operate in case of an attack, the spokesman said, was "unnecessary because Germany has no intention of crossing her frontiers." None of the Germans, however, even intimated that Hitler would withdraw any of his troops from the Rhineland.

Hitler was continuing his speech-making tour in Germany. At Koenigsberg he said:

"For once a single man comes forth in Europe behind whom stands a whole nation. He extends his hand to other nations. Whoever dares reject this, my hand, behind which 69,000,000 people are united, must bear responsibility in the eyes of history. I have been the herald of the German people for more than three years. I am now the herald for peace in Europe."

SECRETARY OF AGRICULTURE WALLACE announced the establishment of five regions for administration of the soil conservation and domestic allotment act, substitute for the invalid AAA. H. R. Tolley, administrator of the new plan, said the department already has begun a field service to administer the program in various states. As under the AAA, the leading part within the states is to be played by the farmers' county and community committees.

Mr. Wallace also directed discontinuance of the four commodity divisions whose work of liquidating AAA production control programs will be taken over by the regional directors. The order leaves intact other administrative units of the AAA, such as the division of marketing and marketing agreements, division of program planning, and the division of the consumers' council.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT packed up his fishing tackle and started South for his annual angling cruise, this time on the new Presidential boat, the Potomac. He made a brief stop at Winter Park, Fla., where he received an honorary degree from Rollins college. His plan was then to board the Potomac and spend about two weeks on his old fishing grounds off the Florida coast.

Mr. Roosevelt had invited as his fishing companions his eldest son, James; an uncle, Frederick A. Delano, and three mates of his fishing cruise of last fall, Capt. Wilson Brown, United States navy, and Col. Edwin M. Watson, United States army, his military aides, and Capt. Ross T. McIntire, United States navy, White House physician.

SEIZURE of private telegrams by the Black committee has resulted in a fierce warfare of words between John J. McSwain of South Carolina, chairman of the house committee on military affairs, and William Randolph Hearst, newspaper publisher. Senator Black withdrew the subpoena on the Western Union company in the Hearst case but first made public what purported to be a copy of a telegram from the publisher to one of his editorial writers in which McSwain was called "a Communist in spirit and a traitor in effect." McSwain promptly read this in the house and then vigorously and eloquently defended himself and denounced Hearst.

The publisher retorted with an open letter to his editorial writer in which he said:

"McSwain is a politician of the lower order, and his extreme radical pacifism is a danger to the peace and protection of the nation, and to the safety of the men, women, and children who constitute the American people."

ONE and one-half billion dollars will be needed to carry the Works Progress administration through the coming fiscal year, according to President Roosevelt's figuring. Therefore he asked congress to appropriate that sum. He thought it would be sufficient to care for the destitute unemployed, together with $1,000,000,000 in unexpended previous appropriations and the $600,000,000 carried in the budget for the civilian conservation corps and various public works.

Limitation of federal relief expenditures to this figure, however, is dependent upon re-employment of substantial numbers of the idle by private industry, the President said.

As the President's message was presented, Speaker Joseph W. Byrnes revealed that Mr. Roosevelt had advised his leaders that any increase in the appropriation over his estimates must be accompanied by new taxes to provide revenues to cover the added cost.

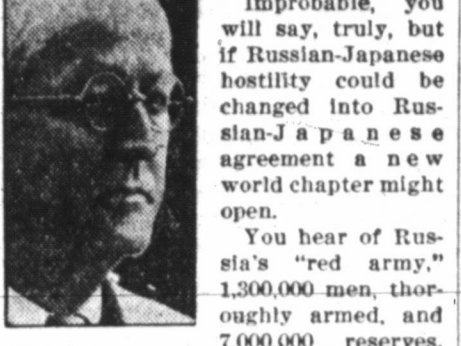

Byrnes also said that the President had advised his leaders that any increase in the appropriation over his estimates must be accompanied by new taxes to provide revenues to cover the added cost.

BRISBANE THIS WEEK

If Russia Joined Japan Not Heroic Action Lloyd George Hopeful England Still Safe

Editors talk about Asia, led by Japan, conquering the world. They might speculate on a union between Japan and Russia.

Arthur Brisbane
You see photographs of Russia's amphibian tanks, mounted with machine guns, rolling over the land and swimming rivers; you read about intensive training of tens of thousands of Russian air pilots, parachute jumpers, etc., and see even the broad-shouldered young Russian women drilling with rifles. Western Europe may have a problem closer at hand than Japan.

Our British cousins in the Revolution cheerfully let loose howling, scapling Indians on their cousins in the American colonies, and bolshevism might cheerfully turn Asiatic killing efficiency against western "capitalism."

You remember how cheerfully the great historian Gibbon predicted that, in the American war, "with firmness all may go well," because "Scotch Highlanders, Irish, Hanoverians, Canadians, Indians, etc., will all in various shapes be employed."

There is no reason why Russia of 1936 should be more squeamish now than England at the end of the Eighteenth century.

Lloyd George, who ought to know about Europe and war since he and old Clemenceau won the big war, tells Universal Service this present war is "soft." France having learned that "even her most ardent friends in Europe shrink from war."

Lloyd George declares that peace "without derogating from the dignity of any of the powers" will be preserved, if France does not make it impossible.

Lloyd George says not 1 per cent of Englishmen would vote for war, and not 10 per cent for employing sanctions against Germany.

If enough rich Americans go to England to "escape kidnapers" the kidnapers may move over after them, as professional gamblers follow on big ships. London police arrested Alfred Molyneux, thirty-one, trying to extort $1,000 from the Countess Barbara Hutton Haugwitz Reventlow, offering to reveal a plot to kidnap her baby. Police knew by the moderate price it could not be an American "snatcher" or confederate. Easily caught, the young man confessed he had invented the plot.

With "visibility cut to zero," street lights burning by day, not visible across the street, dust storms are blowing over parts of Oklahoma, Kansas, Colorado and New Mexico.

By such displays of nature's power, for which man's foolishness is responsible, fertile areas of the world have been changed to deserts.

A bill that would have limited work to five working days of six hours each, or thirty hours a week, is dead in congress for the time being. It would have given workers twenty-four hours off on Saturday and Sunday, eighteen hours off on every other day—eight hours for sleep, "ten hours for what we will." All that will come some day, but not by discouraging improved machinery.

An intelligent young man who fought well in the big war speaks of "the 2-to-1" advantage which modern methods give the defense over the attack. To let the other man or nation come at you, if you are prepared, has been wise in the past.

It might be different in future wars, if the attacker, with a couple of thousand airplanes, dropping explosive bombs and poison gas, should surprise the enemy. "Defense" would have no 2-to-1 advantage over that sort of attack.

Roosevelt Has Kept Pledges

Lobby Criticism Refuted; Black's Committee Stirs Up Lobbyists

By EARL GODWIN

WASHINGTON.—I wonder by what peculiar perversion of intellect there comes this criticism of Roosevelt that "he has violated every campaign pledge he ever made"? It comes persistently from the ranks of the power trust lobbyists, who at the same time now also complain because Roosevelt's crowd is paying strict attention to carrying out one of the strongest pre-election pledges. This was the pledge to give control of the natural power resources of the country to the people.

Roosevelt, within the last few days, once again pledged all his strength for the development of the St. Lawrence waterway, which is a plan to bring ocean-going vessels straight into mid-continent, making the Great Lakes and the whole Mississippi system a continuous seaport; also to utilize power resources along the way for the public weal. This St. Lawrence waterway is one item of the four great power plans pledged by Roosevelt in the summer of his 1932 campaign. One is the vast Tennessee valley development, now going ahead full steam; another is the Columbia river development, planned and on its way; the third was the completion of the Boulder dam; and the fourth was the St. Lawrence waterway. This latter plan is complicated by the necessity of co-operation with Canada, and being a treaty matter, our senate must concur. So far, eastern seaboard cities and the power lobby have prevented the senate from ratifying that treaty.

BLACK STINGS LOBBYISTS

The power lobby and the Liberty league are in the limelight again because of the prodding of Senator Black's lobby investigation committee of the senate. Black comes from Alabama. He is a natural born prosecutor, as the crooks of his county found him to be when he held that job. That is why the Liberty leaguers, the munitions trust attorneys, and officials of various power holding companies jeer at him as a "small town lawyer" whenever he manages to get the red hot end of the poker too close for comfort.

Just now lobbyists of these interests are having a war dance over the fact that Senator Black managed to read practically all of the telegrams that many corporations and their lawyers dispatched hither and yon throughout the country during the time when the power trust was fighting the death sentence (the legislation putting an end to watered utility holding companies). Senator Black accomplished this by getting the federal communications commission to examine the telegrams and report to him. The communications commission claims to have the right to do this, but the corporations set up a wall claiming that the senate lobby committee has no right to bring these telegrams into the open. These telegrams were largely the directions of the lobby for thwarting the administration's effort to take the crookedness out of the utility business.

By the time the lawyers have thoroughly argued that question we may be in midsummer. At the moment let me observe that, as powerful as the United States senate is, it has its match in the power lobby. You would scarcely believe it, but the electric power organization of this country is so influential in Washington that it can cramp the operations of nearly any senatorial committee. It is reported that it can and has been able to limit the operations and the funds of the investigating committee.

It was the power lobby, through its nation-wide organization, which once blocked a senatorial inquiry into power propaganda by having the matter referred to the conservative and apparently half asleep Federal trade commission. However, through one of those blessings which occur to a nation, in other words dire need, the federal trade commission awoke to the full responsibility of the inquiry, and the result was the exposure of the greatest propaganda machine ever known in this country. There came to light the tale of how the power trust propaganda against government control and against cheap, publicly owned electricity had been spread through colleges, through text-books, through lecture courses, through churches, and even among public school pupils. The wholesale poisoning operation by the power lobby as exposed in that investigation will not soon be forgotten in Washington.

GOOD COMES OF THEM

The admittedly fine Federal Reserve Act and all its amendments are the result of an investigation into the Wall Street of the Morgan days by a committee of the house of representatives which was lampooned bitterly. Right now, as a late example, this country has overwhelmingly declared itself neutral as the result of an investigation into the munitions business by a senate investigation committee headed by Senator Gerald Nye. The Johnson act, prohibiting this country from lending war money to foreign countries which have defaulted in their war debt payments to us, is the result of a senate investigation into wartime financial racketeering. The Teapot Dome scandals investigated by congress saved great areas of oil land for the government. Tremendous amounts of defaulted income taxes and corporation taxes have been recovered from questionable corporations and Wall Street operators through these same inquiries by congress. And always, during the work of the committee, there have been tremendous attacks from the conservative city press, in which two things always appear; one is the ridicule of the members of the committee, especially those elected from a rural constituency, second, the claim that the constitutional rights of the people are threatened by these probing activities of congress.

Actually, these investigations are the only powerful thing congress has to restrain those tremendous trusts which in themselves constitute a superpower above the government, and, as I have said previously, the most powerful and most dangerous to popular government at the moment is the power trust.

Roosevelt pledged his administration to put a muzzle on that giant, so it is odd to hear the giant's lawyers and politicians claim that the New Deal has forgotten pledges.

CASE OF BRECKENRIDGE

I think I see some connection between these corporations and the activities of a man who ought to know better. Col. Henry Breckenridge, who was assistant secretary of war in the Wilson cabinet when Franklin Roosevelt was assistant secretary of the navy, is now attempting to run as a candidate for renomination for the Presidency on the Democratic ticket. Breckenridge was a promising youth in Kentucky when he stumped that state for Woodrow Wilson and helped to carry it. Breckenridge was a great progressive Democrat at that time, but after he had tasted Washington life and went over to New York to become a Wall Street lawyer, he fell off his progressive horse with a complete fracture of his entire political system. He is now a complete munitions trust fixture.

The thing that may have started Breckenridge running for the nomination against Roosevelt is the fact that Colonel Lindbergh employed Colonel Breckenridge as an attorney. Some of the Democrats here recall that he was in the newspaper headlines for weeks at a time, and they think that he was bitten by the publicity bug. I am sorry Henry Breckenridge is doing this thing.

RETURN TO FOLD

Breckenridge is a symbol of the sort of thing that former Gov. Alfred E. Smith hoped for when he threatened to "take a walk" should the Democratic convention endorse the Roosevelt administration. Incidentally, New Dealers here are saying it is natural for Al to promise to walk after the disastrous experience he had when he tried running. Seriously, though, there is no rush of leaders to get out of the Roosevelt column. In fact, it is all the other way. Here in the East, where there was reasonable expectancy of some Democratic defections, there is a marked effort to come back into the party. The strongest and most consistent anti-Roosevelt Democrat in the senate is probably Millard Tydings, of Maryland. Senator Tydings has hammered the New Deal on practically every issue; and yet, when it came to making a choice he stood up at a great meeting in Baltimore and declared himself in the Roosevelt column. He would not go to the Democratic nominating convention in Philadelphia and vote against Roosevelt. His outward and spoken excuse was that while he criticized the New Deal, he feels sure that any Republican would be much worse. But the real reason was that the political leaders of the New Deal took the fight right to him, as it will be taken to everyone else. If there is going to be any walking away from Roosevelt, let it be done now. When confronted with the alternatives, the anti-Roosevelt Democratic leaders refuse to capitulate in favor of the Liberty league. The same attitude that Senator Tydings had could be observed in a somewhat slighter degree in Senator Harry Byrd of Virginia.

RAILROADS IN BAD FIX

Few people realize the bad financial fix of the railroads. Some of the best ones are making money, but the entire railroad business has suffered six bad years. Six years ago the railroad income was around seven billion dollars. Last year it was around four billions. The roads have cut expenses, but as a whole the railroad industry lacks a billion dollars of making a profit.

This administration is trying to carry out a plan through which many competing lines would be merged and many economies effected. Some progress has been made, but the plan stops dead still when it comes to saving money by discharging too many railroad employees. Neither the President nor the railroad labor unions will stand for that.

Now comes the Interstate Commerce commission with an edict reducing passenger fares from an average of 3.5 cents per mile to an average of 2 cents per mile, effective June 1. This is done on the theory that the reduced fares will cut into bus and auto traffic to restore enough passengers to railroad coaches to make up some of that needed billion. Some railroads welcome the idea. Others will protest it. Admittedly, the Interstate Commerce commission order is an experiment.

PREPARATION

One does not wake up and find himself famous unless he has done some good work beforehand.

Do You Ever Wonder

Whether the "Pain" Remedy You Use is SAFE?

Ask Your Doctor and Find Out

Don't Entrust Your Own or Your Family's Well-Being to Unknown Preparations

THE person to ask whether the preparation you or your family are taking for the relief of headaches is SAFE to use regularly is your family doctor. Ask him particularly about Genuine BAYER ASPIRIN.

He will tell you that before the discovery of Bayer Aspirin most "pain" remedies were advised against by physicians as bad for the stomach and, often, for the heart.

You can get Genuine Bayer Aspirin at any drug store—simply by asking for it by its full name, BAYER ASPIRIN. Make it a point to do this—see that you get what you want.

CORNS QUICKLY SAFELY Removed

To instantly relieve pain, stop nagging shoe pressure and quickly, safely loosen and remove corns or callouses—use Dr. Scholl's Zino-pads. These soothing, healing, cushioning pads prevent sore toes and blisters.

Cross Children May Need Simple Laxative

When children are cross and touchy give them Feen-a-mint, the delightful chewing gum laxative. Feen-a-mint begins its pleasant effect as soon as you start chewing it, for its stomach-soothing mint brings a clean, fresh taste to the mouth.

Rid Yourself of Kidney Poisons

DO you suffer burning, scanty or too frequent urination; backache, headache, dizziness, loss of energy, leg pains, swellings and puffiness under the eyes? Are you tired, nervous—feel all unstrung and don't know what is wrong?

Then give some thought to your kidneys. Be sure they function properly for functional kidney disorder permits excess waste to stay in the blood, and to poison and upset the whole system.

CHAPTER I

The house stood alone on a sand-dune overlooking the sea—dark, deserted, and silent, except for the swish of the rain blowing against its shingles. Wet to his skin, and shivering, the Duke struggled to pry open a window.

From his dank coat pocket, the Duke drew a cheap jackknife and a tiny searchlight. With these in his hands, he turned to look toward the highway. It was invisible, two hundred yards from the porch on which he stood, winding over and around and about these dunes.

The Duke's thumb pressed the button, and, momentarily, the ray revealed waving wet beach-grass, and a single scrub pine bent in the wind. Then, carefully, he began cutting away the dry putty that held a pane of glass. It was slow work. "Why don't I break the damned thing?" the Duke asked himself, and, a minute later, felt the unshattered glass drop into his hand.

It was easy to open the window, then, and easy for a slim and agile man to climb through. Once inside the house, he paused. Would the electric lights be working, and would it be safe to turn them on? Why not? Half the summer residences in Southampton had been opened for the season. Even an observant passer-by—if there were to be one—would think a brightly lighted room less remarkable than a furtive ray.

It was exactly the sort of room he had expected—a luxurious breakfast room in a luxurious summer residence. Most of the furniture was covered, but a gay breakfast table stood in the center, and, beyond it, was an open door to a pantry. The Duke walked through, and into the kitchen, turning on lights as he went. "Guess they're going to open the house pretty soon. After all, why should they mind an extra weekend guest?"

He grinned, and anyone who had seen that grin might have found it hard to mind. It was an ingratiating grin, in a pleasant, likeable face. A lean face, weather-beaten and a little boney, but with large, kind, steel-gray eyes, surmounted by a thatch of unruly brick-red hair. The Duke's trim figure stretched a tidy six feet above the worn soles of his untidy boots, but his gray suit, though worn, too, and wet, was well cut and well made, revealing square shoulders and firm muscles.

"Wonder if there's any grub," said the Duke. All the kitchen shelves bore brightly-colored tin boxes, with bright lettering, but they were empty. The bread-box was empty, of course; no use opening that. But above the shelves was a cupboard, and in that cupboard were rows of canned things—each can neatly wrapped in paper—sardines, anchovies, caviar, chicken, ham, tongue—all sorts of things. "Hospitalable people," said the Duke. "I wonder where they keep the coffee."

Thirty minutes later, His Grace had dined sustainingly, if not well. Half the contents of the pot of coffee still bubbling on the stove had warmed him comfortably, and he washed the dishes. Then he put everything back in place, turned out the lights, and, whistling merrily, went upstairs.

At the top of the steps was a kind of library—book-lined, with doors on either side, and, at its end, windows facing the sea. Even through the blackness, the intruder could discern the almost luminous white of breaking waves.

Again, he touched a switch, and, this time, lights sprang into being in shaded table-lamps, doubly shaded now by winter wrappings. A fire had been laid in the grate. He lit the fire, and a cigar, and then opened a door on his right. This was a man's room, gracious and inviting. The Duke felt the mattress drawn back over the footboard of the bed, and, sniffing a pungent odor of cedar and camphor, turned his attention to a closet across the room. A very large closet, with an electric light in it, and built-in drawers, and a cedar chest. Atop the chest were two pairs of slippers, and above it hung the only garment visible, a blue-striped dressing gown of soft, light flannel. His own apparel still clinging damply, the Duke took the dressing gown and slippers back to the blazing fire, and, standing luxuriously before it, changed his clothes.

Still neat, he carried the gray suit and the wet undergarments back to the bedroom, folded the trousers carefully, and laid them on the box-spring. With one hand, he flung the mattress into place over them.

He returned to the fire, stretching himself lazily in a huge, over-stuffed chair. Outside, the storm was growing steadily worse. Wind-flung against the windows, the rain kept up its incessant wish. A little puddle formed on one of the sills. The Duke mopped it up with an old cloth that had been spread over the big chair, and looked through the glass into a cluster of bushes, illuminated from the windows, that tossed their tops frantically, as though moved by wild despair. "It's a filthy night," the man in the dressing gown thought, as he sauntered back to the crackling logs, drawing contentedly at his cigar, and pausing to take a hook from the loaded shelves. "A filthy night."

In the thick of it he had been an hour before. Penniless, overcoatless, trudging along the cement-paved road from Bridgehampton, five miles to the east. Was it five miles, he thought, or fifteen, or fifty? On foot, he had left New York that morning just after day-break. Jobless and flat broke.

For a month—all through April, in fact—the Duke had tramped the streets looking for "a regular job." "What the hell makes me want to keep straight?" he had asked himself, again and again. "That's all right for guys with an income. If somebody'd started me in a rubber-tired pram, and wheeled me into college—sure, I'd run straight. Why not? Who couldn't be a knight in armor? But being a knight without armor—that's different. When you get dumped into a fight, naked, with nothing but your bare fists, and the whole world coming at you with brick-bats and brass knuckles, what a d—d fool you are to stick to the Marquis of Queensbury Rules!"

Still, he had stuck—reasonably, at least—in the face of what seemed almost a conspiracy of discouragement. Fired out of Hollywood for a theft of which he was innocent as an unborn babe. "All right," he had said; "I've got a few hundred saved, and I'll go East, and start all over again." Confidently, he had left the railway station in Chicago, only to have his pocket picked before he had got as far as the hotel. He had nearly frozen in Chicago. He had nearly starved. And then he had hitch-hiked to New York, riding freights when he could. A pal had christened him "the Duke," because of his clothes, and his English, and the grand manner he had acquired in Filmdom.

New York—with those Hollywood shoes wearing thin, and that Hollywood gray suit, that had cost $125, getting frayed and baggy. Part of a jobless army in a city without jobs. He had eaten his overcoat—or the proceeds from it, at any rate—and paid the last dime for a bunk in a flophouse.

A love of books, a sense of humor, and the wanderlust—these he had inherited from an Irish father, whose name was Francis X. Gilbert, and whose proudest boast was that he came from the University of Dublin. He had died in China, nearly six years ago, leaving the seventeen-year-old boy, Barry, to fight his way from Hong Kong to Hollywood, and from Chicago to New York. And so Barry had crossed the Queensboro Bridge to Long Island, and picked up a truck, and charmed the driver into buying him a pretty good lunch at Huntington. Bay Shore in a passing car, and Sayville on foot, and another truck to Bridgehampton, where he had lost his bearings and tramped back miles before he found himself again on the edge of Southampton.

It was black night, and beginning to rain. A cold wind had sprung up from the northeast. An endless, winding road, and wind-and-rain-swept dunes, with solitary houses. Grand houses they were, all of them. A few had lights inside—and dogs wandering about, as he had discovered in the course of two desperate excursions. Most of these dwellings were dark and vacant. "Houses without people," the Duke had muttered, still not-too-resentfully, "and people without houses. It doesn't seem fair."

His teeth were chattering by now, and his feet squished in his wet shoes. And this house had seemed so utterly deserted, so entirely safe and secure. "Ten o'clock," said the Duke. "What's the chance of anyone finding me in there tonight? And, if they do, it's better than freezing to death. I'll be on my way again at daybreak."

Now, fed and warm, he was growing drowsy before the fire. "It must be swell to live like this all the time," he brooded, dreamily. "I wouldn't break into anybody's house if I had one like this. Gosh, I guess I'll sleep here. It's warmer than the bed, and I've got a long hike ahead of me in the morning." His head fell forward, and his eyes were closing, when he heard an automobile door slam, and an instant later, voices and the shuffling of feet on the porch directly beneath him.

The Duke sprang to the electric switch. Fast he moved, his wits worked faster still. "No," he thought; "that won't do if the lights go out, they'll know there's something wrong."

The breakfast room window—that was it! But not in dressing gown and slippers. "Damned fool, to take my clothes off!" thought the Duke. Who were these people, anyway, driving up to a closed house at this hour? Thieves? Stragglers, like himself? Hardly—a big limousine like that he glimpsed hastily from the window.

Well, what next? Jail, probably. How long could they give a man for unlawful entry? "Damn!" said the Duke. And then he heard the lower door open, and a woman's voice in the hall. "Maybe I can talk my way out," he thought, and started down the stairs. "Who's there?" he called, bravely, as his feet touched the first landing.

A man answered. "Willets," he said. "Willets, the butler, is that you, Mr. Ridder?"

Standing there on the landing naked except for the dressing gown, the Duke found himself facing a party of four. Willets, with his hat in his hand, squat and powerfully built and lugubrously bald. Another man in a chauffeur's uniform, and two women—one quite young, and the other middle-aged and stout. They seemed proprietary, and the fact gave him instant courage.

"Is that you, Mr. Ridder?" The question had been asked first in the dark, but now it was repeated in a glare that made every face plainly visible. The butler didn't know Mr. Ridder, then. That was "a lucky break." It would give him time to dress, and get away.

"Yes," he answered, quietly. "You're a little late, aren't you?" "Sorry, sir," said the butler. "I didn't have any idea you'd be here, sir. Your mother said you wasn't coming until tomorrow. Evans had to take 'em down to the ship—her and your father, sir—and then he had to go back to the hotel, and pick up my, and cook, and the maid. The storm didn't help, neither, and we stopped at Patchogue for dinner. I hope you ain't going to be put out, sir."

JESUS EXPLAINS THE KINGDOM

LESSON TEXT—Luke 13:18-30. GOLDEN TEXT—And they shall come from the east, and from the west, and shall sit down in the kingdom of God.—Luke 13:29.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Good News to Men. JUNIOR TOPIC—Jesus Talks About His Kingdom. INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—My Part in Extending Christ's Kingdom. YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Requirements for Citizenship in the Kingdom.

1. Jesus Teaching in the Synagogue (vv. 10-21).

The presence of a sorely afflicted woman called forth Jesus' sympathy and he, therefore, healed her. This action on the Sabbath day provoked severe criticism on the part of the ruler of the synagogue. Jesus quickly silenced his objections by showing that this good deed was entirely in keeping with the purpose of the Sabbath day.

1. The parable of the mustard seed (vv. 18, 19).

a. Its unimportant beginnings (v. 19). It begins as the least of all seeds and grows to be the greatest among herbs. The parable and the humble circumstances of Jesus the King greatly perplexed the people. That twelve unlettered fishermen should be selected as his advisers was still more amazing.

b. Its vigorous growth (v. 19). Though small in its inception, the work inaugurated by Jesus Christ has become mighty in power. Its lodging capacity. The birds which find lodging in a tree do not represent the children of men who find safety and salvation in the church, but they are predatory beings waiting to pluck the tender buds or to prey upon the ripened fruit. The effects of such lodging are evil, blighting even to the spoiling of the tree.

2. The parable of the leavened meal (v. 21). When the scriptural significance of the meal, the woman, and the leaven is known, the interpretation is easy. a. The meal. Meal in Scripture means something wholesome and nutritious. It was used in one of the sweet savour offerings which typify Christ (Lev. 2:1-3) and was the food for the priests (Lev. 6:15-17).

b. The leaven (v. 21). In the Scriptures leaven is invariably a type of evil, as the following examples show (Exod. 12:5, Lev. 2:11; Matt. 16:6, 12; 1 Cor. 5:6-8).

c. The woman. In normal life the woman is the administrator of the home, not its head. Her responsibility is to take the bread provided by the head, prepare and distribute it to the household. In Scripture we find false doctrine being taught by a woman. Dealing with doctrine is forbidden to women (1 Tim. 2:12). In 1 Timothy 4:1-3 we find that apostasy will be brought in through false teaching in the ranks of God's people. The meaning of the parable, therefore, is that the true doctrine of the meal given for the nourishment of the soul will be officially corrupted by false doctrine. The children's food is thus corrupted by their mother.

11. Jesus Teaching in the Villages and Cities (vv. 22-30).

Jesus knew that he was on the way to Jerusalem to be crucified. He was, therefore, making an effort to reach every person possible with the gospel. 1. A question asked (v. 23). We do not know just why this question was asked. It may have been out of curiosity or by some Jew who prided himself on being of the elect.

2. The Lord's answer (vv. 24-30). He did not answer directly, but by likening the blessing of the kingdom to a banquet hall in a palace. a. The gate of the kingdom is strait and the way narrow. It is easy to see from his teaching, as well as from observation, that the saved are few. The fewness is not due to either Christ's unwillingness or inability to save, but the unwillingness of the sinner to come to him.

b. The immediate duty to set forth (v. 24). Regardless of what others are doing, the personal obligation is upon everyone to strive to enter. c. The door to be shut (v. 25). God's patience will not last forever. His mercy is to end and his judgment will follow. Love and grace spurred will eventually in the manifestation of divine wrath.

d. Pleading for entrance on the ground of knowing Christ (vv. 25, 26). This plea is met by the awful command to depart, and even calling them "workers of iniquity."

e. A day of weeping and gnashing of teeth (v. 28). The very sight of the faithful ones enjoying the blessing of the kingdom, while they themselves are shut out, will be extremely awful.

Laughter and Tears

God made both tears and laughter and both for kind purposes; for as laughter enables mirth and surprise to breathe freely, so tears enable sorrow to vent itself patiently. Tears hinder sorrow from becoming despair and madness.—Leigh Hunt.

Truth

Truth and reason are common to everyone, and are no more his who spoke them first than his who speaks them after.—Montaigne.

OF INTEREST TO THE HOUSEWIFE

Though that has been kept in the refrigerator for several hours after it is molded should stand in a warm room for about twenty minutes before putting it into the oven.

To prevent diced fruits dropping to the bottom of a gelatin mold, chill fruits and add when gelatin mixture has partly congealed.

Discolored linoleums may be cleaned with alcohol. After cleaning allow them to dry thoroughly, then apply lacquer.

Orange juice mixed with confectioner's sugar and a little grated orange rind makes a very soft and delicious cake frosting.

Fat for deep frying is at the correct temperature when an inch cube of bread dropped into it becomes a golden brown in 60 seconds. This is for cooked mixtures.

Marinate fresh fruits to be used in salads as soon as they are cut or sprinkle them with lemon juice. This prevents discoloration.

Always keep salads on ice until it is time to serve them. They lose their flavor when exposed to heat.

If rugs lose their stiffness after cleansing and do not lie flat on the floor, a thin coat of white shellac applied to the back of rugs will stiffen them.

Some stucco walls may be washed with soap and water, but a coat of stucco sprayed over the whole surface is much more satisfactory than washing.

COTTON PRICES AND PEON LABOR

Cotton can be produced with peon
labor in Egypt or India at a lower cost than it can possibly be produced by free American labor. Can American cotton compete successfully in the world market with cotton grown by laborers who work for ten cents a day?

Of what benefit to an American cotton grower is a foreign market
if he has to sell his cotton in that market below the cost of production? The more cotton he sells in such a market, the poorer he is. — Rogers News.

But the price of cotton in the world market is not controlled by the wages paid for peon labor in Egypt or India. It is not even affected directly by the wages paid for such labor. The price of cotton is controlled by the law of supply and demand.

For instance there was not much difference in the wages paid to the "peons" of Egypt and India in 1919 and the wages paid in 1932. But cotton sold for 40 cents per pound in 1919 and it sold for less than six cents per pound in 1932. If "peon" labor controls or materially affects the price of cotton, why should the price ever go above three or four cents per pound?

On the other hand, if the world
were compelled to depend on Egypt
and India for its supply of cotton, there is not telling how high the price would go. The demand would be so great that the price would be limited only by the increased use of wool, silk, and other clothing material. The entire land of Egypt has not more than 8,000,000 acres of land in cultivation, a large part of which must be used for food crops for its 14,000,000 people. Egypt has never produced more than 2,000,000 bales of cotton. Its average production is about 1,500,000 bales, one-third of the average Texas crop.
India produces from 4,000,000 to 5,000,000 bales but never exports more than 2,000,000 bales. With a population of 350, 000,000, most of its land also must be used for food production. Even at that, famines often come and thousands of people starve to death.

The argument that the cheap
labor of India and Egypt adversely affects the price of cotton or drives American cotton out of the world markets has no foundation in fact.

The entire world produces from 24,000,000 to 28,000,000 bales of cotton annually. The spindles of Great Britain use at least 35 percent of the total world crop. Germany, France, Russia, Italy, the nations of Central Europe, Japan and China, which produce practically no
cotton, must get their cotton supply somewhere. They have been getting the larger part of it from the United States. But the United States, by building a high tariff wall around itself, is hampering foreign trade. If the above nations can not sell freely to the people of the United States, they will buy nothing from the United States that they can procure elsewhere. Therefore, all of them are looking to other parts of the world for as large a portion of their cotton supply as they can possibly procure. Great Britain is providing for the increased production of cotton in India by introducing modern farm machinery and teaching the inhabitants better farming methods. Under its tutelage, the Indian Government has recently completed the construction of irrigation dams and 30,000 miles of irrigation canals, bringing the total irrigation area of India up to 45,000,000 acres.

Great Britain is also developing a considerable cotton producing area
in Anglo-Soudan on the upper reaches of the Nile, and in other parts of Africa. The nations of Europe are also looking more and more to Brazil and other South American countries for their cotton supply.

These are the facts that are making inroads upon the market for American raw cotton and that should give the South great concern.
Under such circumstances, the South should demand that our prohibitive tariff walls be torn down,
that trade with the populous nations of Europe and Asia be encouraged, and that every reasonable inducement be given to the other nations of the world to use American cotton.

Shortly after writing the above,
we picked up the Texas Weekly of March 21, published by Peter Moly-neaux, and noted that the leading editorial in this issue deals with the subject, "Why the World Uses Less of Our Cotton." It is a most illuminating discussion. We wish that we had the space to reproduce it, not for the benefit of the editor of the Rogers News, but for the enlightenment of our people generally. We can only call attention to two quotations, one from Secretary Wallace and one from Secretary Hull.

More than a year ago, says Mr.
Molyneaux, Secretary of Agriculture Wallace told the Senate Committee on Agriculture what he thought the trouble to be and what ought to be done to deal with it.

"The increasing inability of our foreign cotton customers to buy (in the United States) is the most serious factor", he said. "This can be corrected in a permanent way only by our taking imports in excess of our exports, so as to provide foreigners the dollar exchange to pay the interest owing us and give them the ability to buy our exports at a fair price. Our reciprocal tariff-bargaining program is working in this direction but it is too slow for much effect in 1935. To accelerate the program it would be necessary to bring about modification of our anti-dumping tariffs, as applied to gold countries, and a general reduction in tariff rates."

Mr. Molyneaux observes that Secretary Wallace made this statement before the Senate Committee on Agriculture on January 30, 1935,
"but no attention has been paid to this advice since."

Secretary of State Cordell Hull is quoted by Mr. Molyneaux as making the following statement to this same committee:

"When the doors were thrown open in the Smoot-Hawley hearings (in 1930) everybody who thought they might want an increased rate of tariff during the next ten years rushed to Washington, and, as the old saying was, they said, 'We want to get ours now while the getting is good.' So every inefficient industry, nearly, and every concern not justifiable from any business or economic standpoint, and every other group with few exceptions, covering most of the fourteen schedules, came in here and piled rates on top of rates, and that of course was followed by other nations jumping all over us, and the cry immediately went up in every part of the world that people in each country must buy only in their own country, even if it cost ten times to do so. And that destructive slogan is still going the rounds everywhere."

"That was pretty plain talk," observes Mr. Molyneaux. "It described the real cause of this situation in which people outside the United States are endeavoring to buy as little from the United States as possible. But, as we have said, nothing has been done about it."

It is not the peon labor of Egypt and India that is playing havoc with the price of American cotton but it is the short-sighted policy on the part of our own government,
coupled with unprecedented world conditions that are destroying our foreign cotton markets. And if and when we have no market except
the home market for our cotton,
we Southerners will be "blowed up"
world without end.

A lot of Jack Stricklin's fine Terry county "cawn" land passed through here Monday on its way
east. We have not learned its destination.

We read a story from Washington a few days ago dealing with soil conservation in which it was stated that these terrific sandstorms began about five or six years ago and grew worse from year to year until the spring of 1935, when apparently the limit was reached. Well, we came to West Texas in the fall of 1908,
and the sandstorms were doing business here then. We have never seen an old settler who could remember the time when there were not terrific sandstorms. Some declare that they were just as fierce, on an average, forty or fifty years ago as they are now. If anybody at Washington has the idea that these sandstorms had their origin in the conversion of ranch lands into farms
and that the situation can be cured
by converting our farm lands back into pastures, such a person is on a cold trail. We believe that by occasional deep plowing which turns up the subsoil, by proper contouring,
by rotation of crops and the planting of soil-building and cover crops
on a part of each farm each year,
good results may be obtained in preventing erosion and in preserving the soil. Many of our farmers are adopting these methods in greater or less degree already.

We wish Jack Stricklin would either prevail upon Congress to pass a law abolishing sandstorms or would induce his Terry county farmer friends to take some steps to keep their fine corn and watermelon lands at home. We like watermelons and corn (on the cob) but we do not like so much sand in our hair and upon our lily-white hands.

Anyway we are better off than some folks. While we were kept busy Monday digging dirt out of our eyes and ears and snorting it out of our nostrils, some people in other sections were busy dodging cyclones or trying to keep their heads above water.

If Mr. Tugwell had been anywhere on the South Plains Monday, we doubt if even A. B. Davis or Charley Guy could have made him believe that Lubbock is not in the dust bowl.

Chevrolet's
high-compression valve-in-head engine gives economy without equal!

Every test proves it's more economical . . . Every Chevrolet owner knows
it's more economical . . .
And every person will readily understand these simple A-B-C reasons
why it is more economical

The Chevrolet engine is the most economical automobile engine produced today, because (1) it is a six-cylinder engine, and (2) it is a valve-in-head six-cylinder engine.
. . . Its six cylinders use less gas and oil—in fact, use the least gas and oil—because six cylinders are the most economical combination used in modern automobiles.
. . . Its valve-in-head design cuts gasoline consumption still lower because there is less loss of heat through the walls of the combustion chamber in valve-in-head engines, and the advanced construction of the Chevrolet engine gives maximum heat (or power) saving. . . Most important of all, Chevrolet's more efficient cooling system, pressure stream oiling and the greater accessibility of all working parts result in more dependable operation, over a longer period of time, with the lowest maintenance costs.

New Lynn

Martha Chancellor, Reporter

Well, folks, we know Spring is here, now, by the sandstorms in the past week. Farming is progressing nicely, except land is losing moisture rapidly. We are hoping April gives us some showers of rain instead of sand.

Mrs. J. A. Jaynes left Sunday to go to her daughter who has been very ill.

Little Dynn Carter has been ill this week.

We are very proud of the report in the honors New Lynn brought home last Friday and Saturday. Several won honorable places. Kingston Crouch won first place in speaking, L. J. Howry a first and a second in running, and the volleyball girls won rural championship. They play for the county championship Wednesday. We are hoping the best for them.

Mrs. McMahon filed her regular appointment Sunday. The Nazarene Church is starting a Spring revival April 3rd. Everyone welcome.

Folks, let's don't forget singing Sunday, April 5th. The Kids' Singing Convention meets at New Lynn. Everyone come.

After much delay, the Methodist Church has been placed at the new location.

Kenneth Walker has suffered from a broken leg after a wrestling match with some of the boys. He is reported to be improving slowly.

The Tahoka Music Club met Fri-

The study chapter on opera and oratorio was finished with the following illustrative numbers: "Sex-played by Mesdames Suddarth and Gildersleeve, and a vocal solo, "O, Rest in the Lord" from "Elijah" by Mendelssohn, sung by Ruth Sud-darth.

American number, Oley Speaks

"MAGNIFICENT OBSESSION"

What is "the magnificent obsession?"
It refers to a magical pattern of living which local theatre-goers will have an opportunity to learn when they see "Magnificent Obsession," Universal's John M. Stahl production which opens at the English Theatre Sunday for a three days
run, with Irene Dunne and Robert Taylor in the starring roles.

At the same time they will see what is regarded as a powerfully emotional film drama, the crowning effort of a master screen director.
A stirring motion picture, it promises to become one of the screen's most important contributions for 1936.

Primarily, the story deals with the romance of Miss Dunne, portraying a beautiful young bride,
and Taylor, delineating a wastrel
scion of a wealthy family.

The climax of the story comes six years later, in a series of events
filled with heart-rending tenderness, culminating a sweetly poignant love drama such as rarely reaches the screen.

The large cast supporting Miss Dunne and Taylor in "Magnificent Obsession" includes Charles Butterworth, Betty Furness, Sara Haden, Ralph Morgan, Henry Armetta, Gilbert Emery, and Arthur Treacher.

Among those attending the Fat Stock Show at Fort Worth last week end were: Jack Applewhite, Jimmy Applewhite, Bill Burlison, Ed Sanders, L. R. Brooks, C. A. Cashion, Harley Henderson and family, and Frank Hill.

-Tell Us The News!

Tell us the news!

We have missed several interesting news items the past week or two simply because we did not hear of the events. A newspaper cannot be a newspaper unless it carries the news to its field. Cooperation of a paper's readers must be had, if it is to give this news. We cannot print the news unless someone tells it to us. So, do your part!
When you or your friends or of interest to the community at large, it is your duty to tell the home paper.

We solicit your co-operation.

Mrs. J. A. Jaynes, Mr. and Mrs.
Floyd Jaynes, and Eugene Jaynes were called to Plainview last week end by the serious illness of the fogner's daughter, Mrs. Carl Higgins, who is suffering from pneumonia. The mother remained at the daughter's bedside, the others returning to Tahoka Sunday.

INDIGESTION—
Get Quick Relief

Millions of men and women are suffering from disturbances of their digestive systems, due to acidity, and this is often the real cause of ill health, tired-out, run-down feeling, loss of "pep" and zest for living. If you are suffering from indigestion, atonic dyspepsia, sour stomach, gas pains, "raw stomach," inflammation of the intestines (en-teritis), gastric acidity and sick headaches, you can't afford to ignore these warning signs. Take Gasa Tablets, the Doctor's Prescription, which are intended to soothe the raw, inflamed lining of the "ac-stomach," and to help convert the starchy foods into dextrose, which is so essential to energy of the body, and preservation of life. For only a few cents a day you may now have the benefits of this Doctor's Prescription which so many sufferers say has been a blessing to them.
Because of its remarkable success in many cases of acidity and digestive troubles resulting from acid condition, Gasa Tablets are offered to sufferers under a guarantee that the first bottle must produce results or money back. Ask your druggist for Gasa Tablets today. Enjoy the relief that so many other sufferers say they have received from this quick-acting, soothing antacid preparation.

Crosbyton Candidate Announces Platform

George S. Bond, County Judge of Crosby County, makes formal announcement of his candidacy for State Representative of the 119th District, composed of Lynn, Terry, Yoakum, Dawson, Gaines, Crosby, Lubbock, Hockley, and Cochran counties. His statement follows:

It would afford me great pleasure to state my stand upon all issues now before the people, but such is not possible in this brief announcement. I am by no means a fence straddler, but am ready at all times to state a positive and definite stand upon all current issues. If I do not include the question in which you are interested I shall appreciate your approach upon the subject.

I am vitally interested in agriculture, the foundation of all industry. The prosperity and advancement of this district depends primarily upon it. I shall, therefore, work for the revision of laws that will encourage the advancement of agriculture and enable the farmer and stockman to secure a fair price for their products. I believe in the right of labor to organize for the protection and advancement of its members, and that this right should be protected by the laws of the land.

Practically all of my life has been spent in connection with matters of education, most of which was as a teacher, and having children of my own to educate, I am extremely interested in education. I am opposed to the present statutory limitation upon the amount per scholastic of the State available school fund. I shall work for the revision of the law so as to raise this limitation to the end that Texas school children may get the benefit of every dollar that accrues to that fund. Furthermore, I will oppose the diversion of any part of the state available school fund to the general revenue fund or to any other fund. I am

For Bad Feeling Due to Constipation

Get rid of constipation by taking Black-Draught as soon as you notice that bowel activity has slowed up or you begin to feel sluggish. Thousands prefer Black-Draught for the refreshing relief it has brought them. Mrs. Ray Mullins, of Lufe, Ark., writes: "My husband and I both take Theodor's Black-Draught and find it splendid for constipation, biliousness, and the disagreeable, aching, tired feeling that comes from this condition." With reference to Syrup of Black-Draught, which this mother gives her children, she says: "They like the taste and it gave such good results."

BLACK-DRAUGHT

interested in higher education and will put forth every effort possible to see that our own Texas Technological College receives that to which she is justly entitled and that her appropriations are in keeping with other State Colleges.

My observation and experience as an attorney and public official has proved to me the necessity of more adequate laws for the trial and disposition of the criminal. I shall work for the revision of such laws that will bring about more rapid, economical and effective criminal procedure. I believe that lacing the pardoning power in the hands of any one man is dangerous to a peace-loving and law-abiding society. Hence, I shall work for a revision of the law that will cure this defect in our constitution and statutes.

I am in favor of the immediate and effective enforcement of the old age pension law as passed by an overwhelming vote of the people in the passage of the constitutional amendment and as enacted by the 44th Legislature. I favor the establishment of a permanent and adequate income that will insure the proper care of those who have reached old age to the end that they may not become objects of charity in their declining years.

I favor the system of state monopoly and the sale of intoxicants in unbroken packages only. I am convinced that it is a most serious mistake for the State to turn the liquor traffic over to private greed. State monopoly will have a tendency to put the bootleggers out of business, and will yield an income for the payment of the old age pension. I favor the most rigid laws for the protection of dry territory and enforceable laws for wet territory.

I favor and shall work for a higher tax upon the unlimited natural resources of the state. Texas produces the greater part of the world's supply of oil, gas and sulphur, while a small percentage of these products is consumed within the state. It is my opinion that if the natural resources of the state are made to bear their just portion of taxation a sales tax will not be necessary.

Realizing the failure of our present system to carry out the mandates of the people, and in many cases its inability to realize its own desires, I will favor and work for the submission to the electorate of Texas a Constitutional Amendment upon the Unicameral Legislature. It is my honest conviction that a One House Legislature will solve the problem of a representative form of government, and will mean the death knell of the domination of a Legislature by special interests through hired Lobbyists.

I was born in Freestone county, Texas, August 18, 1888. Moved with my parents to Limestone county in 1900 and came to Fisher county to teach in 1909. Married a native girl of Fisher county in 1912, and moved my family to Crosby county in 1926. I took upon myself the responsibility of my own education at the age of 17, and became a public school teacher at 20. With the exception of two years as a Postmaster under the Wilson Administration, I continued this profession for 17 years. Was for seven years in various kinds of business, and for the past four years have been County Judge of Crosby county. Most of what education I have was obtained by hard study at home and in summer schools in various colleges. By thus applying myself I have secured a permanent teachers certificate and a license to practice law. Some 21 years of my life having been spent in public service I believe I know from actual experience the problems of the people.

I assure you that I shall devote my time to the interests of the people whom I have been elected to represent. High-powered lobbyists hired by special interests will under no circumstances influence my stand upon any question, and I shall have no time to spend with or for them. You will always find me on the side of the good people of West Texas, and ready and willing at all times to give your county as much time and attention as any other in the district.

FORD DEALERS ANNOUNCE R. & G. CARS AND TRUCKS

"With Ford Dealers the day of the 'used car' is gone", according to the Tahoka Motor Co. You are now offered an exclusive new standard of automotive quality in R&G cars, which you may buy with as much confidence and assurance of satisfaction as a complete new automobile.

"This new term - R&G - stands for Renewed and Guaranteed. It means that each car offered under it must meet a rigid set of specifications as to mechanical condition and appearance. And the result is a product so fine that it can be sold with a written guarantee of 'Satisfaction or Your Money Back!'"

Under this guarantee, you are the judge of the car's quality. After purchase, you may drive it two days, and put it to any driving test you please. If it fails to measure up to your expectations in any way, you may return it to your Ford dealer's and have your money refunded in full, cheerfully and with no questions asked.

In addition, you will receive a written service warranty as a further protection. This double guarantee removes the elements of doubt and uncertainty that have troubled buyers of used cars for years.

Now you can know the facts before you buy. There's no need to rely on the opinion of some one else, or trust to verbal claims. You know what you're getting for your money when you select an R&G car or truck at your Ford dealer's.

TAHOKA YOUTH ENLISTED IN UNITED STATES CAVALRY

Another Tahoka youth has enlisted in the United States Cavalry for three years. The oath of enlistment was administered to him at El Paso on March 18 after having been sent to El Paso through the Lubbock office. He was highly recommended by Mr. W. A. Cowart of Route 4, Tahoka.

The first Cavalry Division which includes Cavalry, Field Artillery, Medical Department, Signal Corps, Quartermaster Trains, Ordnance Department, and others, are looking for ambitious young men of excellent character and excellent physical condition, who are single and without dependents, and who can pass an educational examination equivalent to the eight grade.

Geo. H. Creary
Sergeant, D.E.M.L., R.S.

Mr. Coffee, one of the owners of the gin at New Lynn, last week bought a tract of 330 acres of land situated about six miles southwest of Tahoka from Elmer D. Elliott of Dalhart. The deal was made through Jim Weisell.

Texas, celebrating its Centennial year of independence and progress this year, has the Bluebonnet as official state flower, the pecan as official state tree, and the Mockingbird as state bird.

Getting It Right

A grubby urchin walked into the men's outfitting department of a large store.

Addressing an assistant, he said: "A soft man's collar, please!"

The other assistants littered and the one addressed said stiffly: "You mean a man's soft collar, my boy!"

Pointing to his own collar, he asked: "Do you mean one like this?"

The boy eyed it momentarily. Then he replied: "No! A clean one!"

Cottons and Linens Go Style-High

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

COMES spring! By the signs of the times in fashion's realm you know it. When the new cottons and linens announce their arrival and when to celebrate the event, merchants and style creators hold high carnival in the way of style-revealing previews.

As a tonic that will revive jaded and winter-weary spirits like magic we know of none better than the new spring and summer fashions, created of refreshing, crisp and dainty wash fabrics—the new prints, sheer and otherwise, the gloriously colorful rough cottons that tailor so beautifully and the exotic printed linens that bespeak India, Tahiti, and picturesque Tyrolean peasantry.

Outstanding among the new widely heralded fabrics are shantung, hand-blocked linens, printed piques, lace that lends itself to tailoring, blistered sheers, and rough cottons and countless other attractive washable weaves.

The attractive models pictured are positive proof that cottons and linens are going style high this season. This stunning suit of rough-surfaced plaid cotton and the frock of printed linen called forth much admiration from an enthusiastic audience who witnessed a most brilliant and dramatically staged style revue and cotton carnival held recently in Chicago in the famous Merchandise Mart where it is claimed more floor space is devoted to merchandise and fashion interests than any other building in the world.

PADLOCK AND KEY By CHERIE NICHOLAS

 We had two good services last Sunday. A fine spirit of worship was manifested in each service.
 Rev. V. B. Atteberry, our district superintendent, will be with us next Sunday night, March 29. Bro. Atteberry is well known in our community and everyone will be glad to know of his coming again.
 On April 3 we will begin a revival meeting with Rev. R. M. Hocker of Lubbock as evangelist. Be sure to come and enjoy these services with us. You are always welcome.—Mrs. O. V. McMahon, pastor.

BAPTIST CHURCH NOTES

Rev. George A. Dale is preaching a series of sermons Sunday nights from texts drawn from the story of the Prodigal Son. His first sermon dealt with "The Beginnings of Sin," the second with "The Waste of Sin," and the third, last Sunday night, with "The Wrecks of Sin." Other sermons of the series will follow. These are very fine discussions and those who are missing them are missing something very worthwhile. His Sunday morning sermons are most excellent also.

There were 215 in Sunday School last Sunday. Recently a special campaign of visitation was begun with a view to building up the attendance. On the first Sunday following the big drive 269 were present. The next Sunday the number dropped to 238, then to 302, and last Sunday it rose back to 215. It is the purpose and aim of the pastor and of the superintendent, G. H. Nelson, to bring the weekly attendance up to at least 250. It is hoped that many will be present next Sunday.

All men not attending some other Sunday School are invited to attend the Men's Downtown Sunday School class taught by G. E. Hogan in the English Theatre each Sunday morning at 10 o'clock and then to attend preaching services at the Church. All youths and young men not in Sunday School are urged to report at the Church at 10 o'clock next Sunday morning, where a class for them has been provided.

The B. T. U. meets at 7 o'clock in the evening. All adult members of the Church are urgently requested to attend these most helpful meetings.

On Tuesday of this week three car loads of Tahoka Baptists attended a district Sunday School and B. T. U. meeting at Littlefield. The district embraces about twenty Plains counties, and Rev. George A. Dale of Tahoka is the president of the organization. The women's quartet of the Tahoka Baptist Church had a place on the program Tuesday.

Thursday night was designated as Tahoka Night in the First Baptist Church of Lubbock, where an evangelistic campaign is being conducted by Pastor R. C. Campbell and Dr. L. R. Scarborough of the Southwestern Baptist Seminary of Fort Worth. Quite a number of Tahoka Baptists attended the services.

The work of beautifying the premises of the Church here is still in progress. When completed, and when the trees, shrubs, and plants put on their robes of green, the grass comes forth and the flowers begin to bloom, this is expected to be one of the beauty spots of the town.

CHURCH OF CHRIST NOTES

The lesson last Lord's Day morning on "Sons of God" seemed to make a deep impression on the audience. We feel that spirituality is deepening in our congregation, for which we thank God and press on. Some eight or nine from here attended the meeting at Brownfield last Lord's Day afternoon to hear Brother Wallace lecture on "Why we do not use mechanical instruments of music in the worship."

A few odd things to me: How a church member can cuss every day in the week and then pray on Sunday. How members of the church can find time to play bridge but none to attend prayer meeting. How a person can get his living from a town and then knock it everytime he opens his mouth. How people can be on the relief roll and drive a better car than mine to get the supplies Uncle Sam gives them. How some can read of the awful wrecks caused by drunken drivers and then say the thing Tahoka needs is beer and whiskey joints. How any one can read John 17-21, also John 10-16, and then defend denomination-ism.

Preaching next Lord's Day morning.

Get Rid of Poisons

Produced by Constipation
 A cleansing laxative—purely vegetable Black-Draught—is the first thought of thousands of men and women who have found that by restoring the downward movement of the bowels many disagreeable symptoms of constipation promptly can be relieved. . . Mr. J. P. Mahaffey, of Clinton, S. C., writes: "I have found that Black-Draught is very effective in the cleansing of the system. When affected by the dull headache, the drowsiness and lassitude caused by constipation, I take Black-Draught."

ALL-SEW CLUB

All-Sew Club met with Mrs. H. C. Story Tuesday, March 17. The club voted to postpone their annual husband's evening indefinitely. Mrs. Hafer was elected to membership in the club. Refreshments carrying out the St Patrick motif were served to the club members and guests. The club adjourned to meet with Mrs. J. A. South Thursday, March 26.

WILSON H. D. CLUB

The Wilson Home Demonstration Club met at the home of Mrs. Howard Cook, March 17, for a short business meeting and social hour. Miss Robb, county H. D. agent, gave a report of the March council meeting. A final check-up was made of entries in the Lubbock Meat Show. Mrs. Brandon announced that the

Nervous, Weak Woman Soon All Right

"I had regular shaking spells from nervousness," writes Mrs. Cora Sanders of Paragould, Ark. "I was all run-down and cramped at my time until I would have to go to bed. After my first bottle of Cardui, I was better. I kept taking Cardui and soon I was all right. The shaking quit and I did not cramp. I felt worlds better. I gave Cardui to my daughter who was in about the same condition and she was soon all right."

CARDUI

Thousands of women testify Cardui benefited them. If it does not benefit YOU, it is a placebo.
