Standing Of Rural Schools Is Raised

FIVE SCHOOLS ARE HONORED

Dixie, Lakeview, New Lynn, Gordon and Morgan Are Standardized, Caviness Reports

Five rural schools of Lynn county have recently become standardized under the new rules and regulations promulgated by the state department of education, according to County Superintendent H. P. Caviness.

These schools are Dixie, Lakeview, New Lynn, Gordon, and Morgan.

The standardization of rural schools, which was begun about two years ago, marks a distinct advance, it is believed, in the educational program of this state.

Standardization is designed for those schools which are not affiliated. Standardization tests are given all pupils in the third, fourth, fifth, sixth, and seventh grades of schools making application for standardization.

Many elements enter into the requirements for standardization. For instance, there are certain requirements as to ground and out buildings, school buildings, and equipment. There are many requirements as to the teachers, both as respecting their qualifications and their professional spirit and school activities.

To become a standard school, an eight months term must be maintained. No two-teacher school shall attempt to teach more than seven grades, no three-teacher school more than eight grades, and no four-teacher school more than nine grades. And there are other requirements too numerous to mention.

All the rural schools of Lynn county except one made application this year for standardization. Many of them were unable to qualify under the rules and regulations which have been set up. For example, one four-teacher school in this county could not qualify because it undertakes to teach ten grades. Others could not qualify for various and sundry reasons. Some of them could not qualify because the pupils were (Cont'd. on back page)

Softball Games Draw Crowds

Since last week's report, two other clubs—Cosden Oilers and Midway Plowboys—have come into the Softball League. Interest among all teams is fine, and the enthusiasm of the throng of fans is great and growing.

Last Thursday night's double-header resulted in Hashers vs. Bankers, 15 to 2 in favor of the Bankers; while the Cosden Oilers won from the Plowboys by 19 to 1.

On Friday night a triple-header of 5 innings each was played between Butchers and Cleaners, 6 to 3 for the Cleaners; Co-ops vs. Oilers, 15 to 12 in Co-ops favor; Firemen vs. Plowboys, 16 to 15 in favor of the Firemen.

Monday night's results were, in a twin bill: Hashers vs. Butchers, 19 to 16 in the Butchers' favor; Bankers vs. Co-ops, 14 to 6 for the Bankers.

Results for Tuesday night's double skirmish between Firemen vs. Oilers and Cleaners vs. Plowboys, gave the Firemen a win of 7 to 1, and the Cleaners a lead of 13 to 7.

Double bills were scheduled for both last night and tonight. Percentages or standings of the clubs, as indicated below, is up to Friday night of last week, and will be given in each issue of The News to include the ending of the previous week.

Standing of Teams:
Bankers	1000
Firemen	500
Co-ops	500
Hashers	500
Cleaners	500
Butchers	500
Oilers	500
Plowboys	500

Complete Fourth City Water Well

The fourth water well drilled by the City a mile north of town was completed last week but great difficulty was encountered in placing the casing on account of the hole not being perfectly straight.

The casing was finally placed, however, and the pump installed and was set to pumping water Wednesday. It was hoped that the water would clear up Thursday so that it might be turned into the main. This is believed to be another good well.

New Auto Parts Business Here

E. F. Edwards of the Edwards Parts Company of Winters and G. A. Edwards of this county are opening a wholesale and retail automobile parts business in the building immediately north of the Wells store, heretofore occupied as a recreation hall. We understand that the proprietors of this business also recently purchased the building.

The Messrs. Edwards are now stocking up and will be open for business within the next two or three days. They will handle a full line of automobile parts and supplies of every kind. While Mr. E. F. Edwards has an interest in the Winters business, yet he expects to spend most of his time here, he says.

This is a distinctly new line of business for Tahoka in so far as the wholesale feature is concerned, but it is believed that the proprietors can soon develop a great volume of business.

These gentlemen have a hearty welcome to our town.

Grain Sorghum Sales Are Large

The amount of sorghum grains that have been sold by the farmers of Lynn county this spring and summer is little less than amazing, according to grain dealers.

One dealer here Tuesday gave the News a rough estimate of the amount of money he had paid out to the farmers of this county for maize and other sorghum grains, and he placed the amount at approximately $100,000. The amount purchased by other dealers here and at O'Donnell and Wilson would materially increase these figures. One hundred thousand dollars is no little sum within itself. It means much to the farmers and to the business men of this county.

Most of this grain, we understand, has been sold within the past two or three months, though there has been a steady sale of it since mid-winter.

Asked as to where this grain was shipped, Jim Burselson stated that most of it had been shipped to Kansas and the Dakotas with quite a bit of it going to California.

The price of maize varies greatly from year to year, but it is selling now for about $10 per ton, which is probably a fair average for any period of five or more years. It has sold here for only a few dollars per ton, and it has sold at other times for $25 and $30 per ton. Next to Cotton, maize and kindred grains constitute the best-money crop for this south plains country.

The wheat acreage here is always small. There is perhaps an average acreage this year but the yield is light, due to the dry weather that prevailed till late in the spring. Possibly not more than two carloads of wheat will be shipped this year from Tahoka. There are only a few wheat fields of any consequence in the county. Many farmers had a few acres which they sowed for winter grazing, but most of these small patches will probably not be harvested. As a rule, the wheat in this county will yield only a few bushels per acre.

Negro Charged In Murder Case

Seriff B. L. Parker has Mose Caro in jail here charged with the murder of the Mexican whose remains were found in a field on the Rackler farm in the Gordon community in this county a few weeks ago.

Caro is alleged to be the negro who lived with a Mexican in a cot-pickers shack on the Rackler farm through the fall and winter. He left the county several months ago, and when the remains of a dead body was found in the Rackler field, Parker instituted a hunt for the missing negro.

On Monday of this week officers at Cooper, Delta county, whom Parker had written to be on the lookout for this negro, went to a negro shack a few miles from town and found the negro they suspected. When the negro ran, they threw their guns on him and ordered him to stop. He did so and surrendered, but as the officers approached he seized one of them and undertook to take his gun away from him. The officer fired the gun, the bullet passing through the negro's arm. They placed him in jail and notified Parker. Mr. Parker left Tuesday morning for Cooper and arrived back in Tahoka Wednesday afternoon, with his prisoner.

Fire Destroys Widow's Home

Fire of unknown origin completely destroyed an old residence in the west part of town just across the street west of the Nazarene Church last Saturday afternoon.

The house was occupied by a widow, Mrs. Kelsey, who has been at work at the Relief Office. Only two small children were at home when the fire started and hence it is not known how it caught.

The fire department was called out but too late to save the building. The house, we understand, was owned by a non-resident.

Fair-Sized Crowd At Luncheon Club

There was fairly good attendance at the Luncheon Club Tuesday, after the meeting of the preceding week had been skipped. The club was a little short on program, the editor having been asked to relate the funny incidents of his life. That would be a fine subject for many a man, but, boy, it's a Jonah for an editor.

According to action taken at a recent meeting, there will be only two meetings of the club in July and two in August, these being on the first and third Tuesdays of each month. Surely our business men can afford to attend two meetings a month and it is hoped that there will be a large attendance next Tuesday.

At the meeting next Tuesday, the board of directors will make recommendations as to officers for the ensuing six months. Rev. George A. Dale has served as president the past six months and Buster Fenton as secretary. Be out next Tuesday sure. A good program will be arranged.

John Minor received word on last Friday of the death of his step-mother, Mrs. E. T. Minor, at Albertville, Ala.

Truckmen Leaving For Wheat Fields

E. L. Smelser and L. R. Brooks left this week with their trucks for the wheat fields near Perryton in the north Panhandle. Mr. Smelser says that the man for whom they will haul wheat to the elevator has 5,000 acres, and it will probably make 10 or 12 bushels per acre. That means 50,000 to 60,000 bushels.

And that is right in the heart of the so-called dust bowl. It is true that some of the wheat, possibly much of it, in that area was blown out entirely, and some of that left will not make as much as ten bushels per acre. Nevertheless, the crop will be much better than early estimates, and it will bring a lot of greenbacks to the wheat growers of the Panhandle.

School Grant Is Raised $5,554.00

Alvin Hicks, president of the board of trustees of the Tahoka Independent School District, received official notice Wednesday morning that the original grant made to the District out of PWA funds for the construction of a school building here had been increased to $38,282. The original grant was $32,728. The additional grant therefor was for $5,554, just about the amount applied for.

Mr. Hicks' letter was from Julian Montgomery, state director of the Public Works Administration, Fort Worth, and was dated June 30. The communication follows:

Dear Mr. Hicks: We have received official advice from Washington that the allotment made by the Public Works Administration to the Tahoka Independent School District for the construction of a school building, under the above numbered docket, has been amended, changing the amount to $38,282 grant only, subject to approval of the Comptroller General.

A superceding offer with complete instructions will be forwarded to you in the near future for your acceptance. You should not delay in this matter.

At any time you are in doubt as to procedure, please advise us immediately. Sincerely yours, JULIAN MONTGOMERY, State Director for the Administration.

Hail Damages Small Section

A rain and hail storm Tuesday night destroyed several crops in the vicinity of New Lynn, we are informed.

Light showers also visited some of the other communities in the east half of the county.

There was no rain here. Cotton throughout the county is generally most promising. Some of the feed is beginning to need rain badly.

Highway No. 9 South Finally Completed

Root and Brown last week finished their contract on Highway No. 9 from O'Donnell to Tahoka. The last of the asphalt was spread on this sector Saturday. The road is now open to traffic, and it is a beautiful highway. Of course traffic over it will be even more pleasant after the gravel and asphalt have had time to thoroughly mix.

Work is proceeding about as usual on highway No. 84 west of Tahoka.

It is believed that the completion of the gap on highway No. 9 north of Tahoka will begin some time this summer or fall.

Excellent Candidate Meet At Grassland

The editor had the pleasure of attending the candidate speaking at Grassland Tuesday night. The speaking was done from a float in the middle of the street and a large crowd heard it. J. W. Warrick presided in a most happy manner and the candidates made their announcements and speeches in a happy frame of mind, free from bitterness.

The ladies sold ice cream and other refreshments, and all seemed to have a good time.

Club Boy Makes Good Pork Record

Horry Poindexter, 4-H Club boy of New Home community, produced pork at a feed cost of 3c per pound of gain in a pig feeding demonstration, according to V. F. Jones, County Agent.

Horry started this demonstration with 10 weaner pigs and fed them for 116 days. They were fed a mixture of corn, maize, tankage and cottonseed meal in a self feeder, and the pigs had access to this feed at all times. It required approximately 387 pounds of feed to produce 100 pounds of gain. These pigs made an average daily gain of 1.67 pounds. This demonstration netted a profit above all costs of $102.05.

Court Receives Banks Mandate

The mandate from the court of criminal appeals in the Elmo Banks case was received by District Clerk Skip Taylor Monday, the conviction carrying the death penalty having been affirmed. Banks, a negro, was convicted of the murder of Deputy Sheriff Ed Redwine in a jail break. Judge Gordon B. McGuire of Lamesa has not yet indicated whether he will call a special term of the court here to pronounce sentence and fix the date of electrocution or wait till the regular September term to do so.

Tahoka Wins 12 To 4 Over Hobbs

(By Paul Ponder) Folks, you no ire Bulldogs went over to Hobbs last Sunday week and tangled with them Amaradas, an' cum home a totin the lil end ov a 2 to 6 score. Well, I wuz 'so plum hert I cudden make no report to yore paper.

But last Sun., O, boy, it was a differnt storie. Hobbs cum over here with a hole hatful of hy hoops an' confidants, but did we treet 'em to a big surprise? Yew tell 'em bud while I pat my foot. Them Bulldogs dun 'emselves proud—they put that ole scurin masheen in revars, an' rared back on their dewclaws an' then stepped on the gas, with the result bein not only the winnin ternd smack around, but the score was dubbled—12 to 4 in favor of the winners—bein' us. We nocked out 3 pitchers, I ov 'em bein ole Siet-Out Weaver, collectin 14 hits, while the enemy gethered half that. No. offen yung Burke, who tost the 9 outs for the locals. A little slow and loos in spots but a nice ball battie.

Blue Sox Winners Over Shallowater

Tahoka Blue Sox won another game Sunday, the victims being the Shallowater team and the score 13 to 10. Anderson and Adams pitched for the local boys.

This coming Sunday afternoon, the strong Wilson team, one of the best on the Plains, will appear in Tahoka against Prentice Walker's Blue Sox on the diamond west of the high school. The Blue Sox have been improving with each game, and the affair Sunday promises to be an interesting contest.

Sacred Harp Singers Will Hold Meeting

The N. & W. Sacred Harp Singers Association will meet in Lubbock Saturday, Saturday night, and Sunday, July 4-5, for their regular annual songfest, according to announcement made by A. Judd of that city.

The convention will meet at 10 A. M. Saturday in the district court room. They will put on a program of old songs over radio station KPYO at 1:30 to 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon. Sacred Harp singers from all over Texas and some other states are expected to be present at this two-day convention.

TOWNSEND OFFICIAL HERE

Assistant state area manager, J. N. Johnson, of Dalhart, was here Tuesday conferring with N. W. Allphin, local Townsend Club secretary, regarding the movement's further organization, and the filling of speaking dates for E. B. Speck, Townsend candidate for Congress in this district. Mr. Johnson was enroute to Seagraves, Seminole, and other points south and west. He had effected organization at Slaton and Post since last Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Henderson have been visiting a few days in O'Donnell.

DEATH SHOCK TO COMMUNITY

Postmaster, Pioneer Citizen, Dies Suddenly After An Attack Of Indigestion

The people of Lynn county were greatly shocked to learn Wednesday morning that W. C. Wells, Tahoka postmaster, had died during the night. Most of them did not even know that he had become ill.

He was at his desk in the post office in the early afternoon Tuesday when he became ill with indigestion. His suffering became intense and he went to Dr. Turrentine's office for treatment. The Doctor soon discovered that his condition was rather serious and gave him relief. Feeling much better, Mr. Wells went back to his work in the post office but again grew worse and decided it would be best to go home.

Oscar Roberts took him home in Wells' car. While he continued to suffer, his condition was not thought to be serious until along toward midnight, when the doctor was again called. Yielding to treatment, Mr. Wells seemed to grow much better, and at about 3 o'clock in the morning he insisted that members of his family and relatives who had been watching by his bedside should retire. They left him resting easily and apparently much better. At 6 o'clock Wednesday morning when his wife and his sister, Mrs. J. H. McCoy, awoke, they decided to go immediately into his room to see how he had been resting, and they found him dead. Apparently he had been dead two or three hours and must have died soon after the family retired. Death resulted from heart failure superinduced by an attack of indigestion.

Mr. Wells had long been a prominent and highly respectable citizen of Tahoka. The son of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Wells, he was born in Cooke county, Texas, March 7, 1882, and was therefore a little past 54 years of age. While yet a small boy, the family removed from Cooke county to Elk, Indian Territory. They resided in that Territory till August, 1903, when they removed to the then little frontier village of Tahoka in Lynn county. Mr. Wells being then just past 21 years of age. Revival Meeting Closed Sunday

The revival services which came to a close at the Baptist Church last Sunday night were among the most successful that have been conducted here in recent years.

As the visible results of the meeting, there were 41 additions to the Baptist Church, 13 of them being by letter and 28 of them by experience and baptism. Baptismal services were held Wednesday night, at which time most of the new converts were baptized.

In addition to this there were about 30 members of the church who rededicated their lives to the Lord's service.

The preaching was done by Rev. J. Frank Weedon, pastor of the First Baptist Church at Jacksonville who proved to be a most earnest and persuasive speaker. The music was ably directed by Mr. C. O. Huber, with Mrs. Huber and Mrs. J. K. Applewhite as pianists. Mrs. Huber also proved to be an effective soloist.

Much of the success of the meeting is doubtless due to the wise and effective work done by the consecrated pastor, Rev. George A. Dale, both during the revival and prior thereto.

Perhaps the two greatest services of the campaign were the closing services Sunday morning and Sunday night, when practically the entire congregation was deeply moved and many responded to the invitations given by the visiting preacher and the pastor. Other great services were held during the week. (Cont'd. on last page)

THE COMING OF THE HOLY SPIRIT IN POWER

LESSON TEXT—Acts 1:6-9; 2:1-11, 32-33.

GOLDEN TEXT—But ye shall receive power, after that the Holy Ghost is come upon you: and ye shall be witnesses unto me both in Jerusalem, and in all Judea, and in Samaria, and unto the uttermost part of the earth.—Acts 1:8.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Jesus Keeps His Promise.

JUNIOR TOPIC—A Promise Made is Kept.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—New Power Through the Holy Spirit.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Empowered for the World Task.

I. The Missionary Program (1:6-8).

The work incumbent upon the Church is witnessing to Christ's gracious salvation to all the nations. After this is done, there will follow the preaching of the gospel of the kingdom by converted Israelites (Acts 15:14-17; Cf. Matt. 24:14). This was not clear to the disciples, therefore they put the question, "Will thou at this time restore the kingdom to Israel?" The Davidic kingdom shall be established, but not until after the gospel of the grace of God is preached and the body of Christ is completed.

1. In Jerusalem (v. 8). This was done by the twelve immediately following Pentecost.

2. In Judea and Samaria (v. 8). This was done by the disciples after the hands of the persecutors were laid on them. Not only the twelve but many others took part in this.

3. Unto the uttermost part of the earth (v. 8). Beginning with the first foreign missionary enterprise, this work has been carried on till the present time.

II. The Coming of the Spirit (Acts 2:1-11).

The power of the early Church was the Holy Spirit. The watchword of God's mightiest men throughout the centuries has been "not by might, nor by power, but by my spirit, saith the Lord of hosts" (Zech. 4:6).

1. The time (v. 1). It was on the day of Pentecost. By "day of Pentecost" is meant the feast which was held fifty days after the wave sheaf was offered (Lev. 23:15, 16). It was observed by presenting two loaves made of the new meal (Lev. 23:17). These loaves were baked with leaven, while leaven was rigidly excluded from the passover feast (Lev. 23:6).

2. Upon whom the Spirit came (v. 1). Cf. 1:13-15. The twelve and others to the number of 120. The coming of the Spirit was not merely for the twelve but for all believers, all the members of the body of Christ. They were in one place with one accord waiting for the fulfillment of the Father's promise (Luke 24:49). If the church would be with one accord in one place, wonderful blessings might still be expected.

3. The marks of the Spirit (vv. 2-4). These marks were external and internal.

a. External. (1) The sign of a mighty wind. There was no wind, only the sound thereof, suggesting the all-pervasive, life-giving influence of the Holy Spirit. (2) Tongues of flame. Each of the 120 was crowned with such a tongue. The tongues show the practical purpose of the Spirit's gifts and the fire indicates his purifying energy, purging away the dross and making fit his witnesses. (3) Speaking in foreign tongues. For these humble Galileans thus to speak caused great amazement.

b. Internal. This is seen in the transformation wrought in the disciples. They now have great courage and self-possession. Peter, who a little while before was covering before a Jewish maid, now with lion-boldness stood before the thousands of Jerusalem, and a little later before the chief rulers of the city, and declared that they had murdered their King.

III. The Converting Power of the Holy Spirit (Acts 2:37-42).

Many people were convicted of their sins—about 3,000 repented and were baptized. This revival was real because

1. They continued steadfast in the apostles' teaching (v. 42). They did not grow cold or run after every new teacher that came along.

2. They continued in fellowship with the apostles (v. 42). The surest way to grow is to keep in fellowship with Christians. Spiritual indifference is sure to follow the neglect of the fellowship of the brethren in Christ.

3. They continued in the use of the means of grace (v. 42). They broke bread together.

4. In prayer. The apostolic church was a praying church. The Christian life cannot be lived without prayer.

Works of True Merit

Works of true merit are seldom very popular in their own day; for knowledge is on the march and men of genius are the videttes that are far in advance of their comrades. They are not with them, but before them; not in the camp, but beyond it—Colton.

Great Things

Between the great things that we cannot do and the small things we will not do, the danger is that we shall do nothing.

"Wasting my time," Barry told Harwood, the next morning, in the city editor's busy office at The Globe. "My time, and nearly a hundred dollars of the paper's money. Winslow had it straight. The Fane girl was strutting her stuff from one o'clock until long after the murder."

"Well, it's good to be sure." "Yes, and I'm mighty sure now. Every step I've taken since our last meeting leads right up to Mrs. Kelly." Harwood looked at him quizzically. "Step No. 1?" he asked.

"My advertisement offering a reward for the number of the cab that killed that artist's wife." "You don't mean that you got it?" "Triumphantly, Barry opened his note book.

"There it is," he said. "020017. The figures under it are the number of the driver who gave me the information." Ernie copied both numbers.

"Swell work," he commented. "Anything else?" "Lots. This fellow had a passenger who got out at Twenty-third street around midnight. When the woman was killed—two hours later—the driver bumped into him again in Sixteenth street, very much rattled, and looking as though he'd committed a murder."

"Any description?" "Rather a vague one. That doesn't matter. I'm sure, in my own mind, that this passenger was the caller Kelly expected, and that he wasn't the murderer. I'm equally sure that he knew murder had been committed."

"Let's call it a mere supposition. In that case, Kelly was killed around two o'clock. At two o'clock, Mrs. Kelly wasn't in Harlem."

"How do you know that?" Barry's answer was a full report of his adventures of Saturday. "Without Step No. 1, Step No. 2 means nothing. In other words, if Kelly'd been killed at midnight—which is the theory everyone's worked on—Mrs. Kelly's alibi would have been holeproof."

Harwood joined his finger-tips in an almost prayerful gesture. "I wish we could find the guy who looked 'as though he'd committed a murder.'"

Barry made no reply. "That's always the trouble," the city editor went on. "What kind of a skate is this Luis Morano? Tough?"

"On the contrary. Cries over a mummy song." "There's a heap of 'em do," Harwood philosophized.

"He's a Southerner, with a soft voice, and a funny impediment in his speech?" "That so?" Harwood inquired. "Where is this Coconut Bar?"

Barry told him, and promptly returned to Mrs. Kelly. "How the deuce are we going to prove what she did after she got home?"

"That's up to you," Ernie said. "I'm off on a new tack now." His eyes twinkled. "One that would go a long way toward establishing your theory of coincidence. Gosh, I'd give my two uppers to break this story within the next week or two."

Thursday evening, Barry spent in his room, mostly thinking. He had telephoned Pat twice since their luncheon together, and found her enthusiastic over her guests. "There's nothing wrong with the boy," she declared; "nothing that a few weeks out here won't cure. He's on the beach now, with his mother."

Judge Hambidge had taken to the little fellow at once. Almost like having a grandchild. It kept his mind off his worries. And no one could see Peggy, being brave, but always staring at nothing, always thinking of what might happen, without pity that warmed into affection. "She's really an awfully good sort," Pat said, from Southampton. "I like her a lot. When are you coming out?"

"Tomorrow, I hope." "Well, we'll expect you for dinner." That breach was healed, all right. Pat had called him "the scum of the earth." In the same hour, he remembered again, he had told her he loved her. As to that, she still maintained silence. "That's the kindest thing she could do," Barry thought. "A Judge's daughter, and I—"

Barry had learned not to think of the future. "Nor heed the rumble of a distant drum," as his own father had put it. Just for now, it was pleasant to be somebody who knew Pat—and he wanted to take that awful look out of the other girl's eyes. "That oughtn't to be hard now," Barry thought. "If I could get that Filippino to talk. He knows when Mrs. Kelly came home, and he's probably got a darned good idea what she did afterward. If we could get to that Oriental—"

At which point, Evans came, and he had been drinking. "Sorry, sir," he apologized, taking the nearest chair. Evans had none of anything.

Willie's compunctions. "Sorry, sir, but I've been having dinner with Kelly's chauffeur."

"Liquid nourishment?" "Yes, sir," Evans admitted, sheepishly. "But that was the only chance I had with that Irishman."

"Well?" "Well, I drove Miss Hambidge, and Mrs. Rogers, and the boy to Southampton, like you said. And I started back today. It was nearly eight when I made the garage, and I was good and hungry."

"There's a decent cafe a few yards away. Nolan—that's Kelly's chauffeur—was sitting at a table, with a loaf he ought to've gone twice for." Evans smiled.

"Ed had a grinch on women in general. And he was chowed plenty. I hadn't been with him long when he opened up on Mrs. Kelly. There's something queer between her and this Filippino, he says."

"Charlie?" "That isn't his name, but let it go at that. And, when Ed said 'queer,' he didn't mean anything wrong. Just some kind of an understanding. Mrs. Kelly's been giving the Chink coin and jewelry, regular. Charlie showed him some of it, Ed says."

"Well, the night of the murder Nolan drives Kelly to the Coconut Bar. And home—at nine o'clock. When he gets out at his house, Kelly says, 'Put the car in the garage. Mrs. Kelly's gone up to Harlem, and I won't need you 'til tomorrow morning.'"

"Ed obeys orders. He goes back to Kelly's, and sits in the kitchen. This Chink is in the butler's pantry, getting a tray ready. And, while the two of 'em are down there, the damnedest row starts upstairs—"

"Rogers and Kelly." "No. This was around nine o'clock. Mrs. Kelly. She was laying Mike out so you could have heard it a block.

Ernie Copied Both Numbers.

Well, this goes on for ten or fifteen minutes, and then the bell from the parlor rings. Charlie starts upstairs with the tray. He gets up two steps, when Kelly appears at the head of the flight. "Come up here, you lousy spy. Come up here while I tell you where you get off!"

"Charlie sets down the tray, and goes. Nolan follows into the pantry, and has a stiff drink. Then he sits down again, and listens to Kelly laying out the Chink."

"Could he hear anything? Words, I mean?" "No. Just Kelly's voice. Mrs. Kelly was out of it. She'd gone to her room. Nolan thinks. But Kelly made noise enough for two. And, after another ten minutes or so, Charlie comes back.

"I'm fired," Charlie says—in the Chink lingo. "I got to get out. That blankety-blank told me to go quick, or he'd kill me."

"Are you going?" Nolan asks. "Sure," the Chink says. "I got to get my money first. He chased me out of the room when I asked for it, but I'm going back," the Chink says.

"Nolan then took the cook to a movie, and when they get back, everything's quiet. It's after midnight, because these two walked home. Kelly's upstairs, talking to somebody, and the Chink's in his room, packing and muttering to himself something frightful. So Nolan says good night to the cook, who goes into her room, and then Nolan slips into the pantry, and takes another shot of that bootch."

"What bootch?" "The rye whiskey I was telling you about."

Barry sprang from his chair. "The rye whiskey?" "Sure. And it was in a cut-glass decanter."

"Are you certain?" "Nolan is. And he's just as certain that it was still in the pantry when the guy upstairs left."

"Why?" "Because he heard the front door close ten seconds before he went out the back way."

"Gosh!" Barry exclaimed. "That puts it up to Mrs. Kelly, all right." Evans shook his head, drunkenly. "Mrs. Kelly wasn't home," he said.

"She went to her sister's after the high-jinks in Harlem, and Nolan got her there the next morning, before they called the police. There were only three people in that house after the guy went who was visiting Kelly—Kelly himself, cook, and a mighty mad Chinaman."

"Filippino." "Whatever he was, he was mad, and the deceiver that killed Kelly was downstairs with him until just about the time Kelly was killed."

"Thanks," Barry nodded. "I think we've got something."

"Oh, I forgot to give you this. It came—Southampton—just as I was leaving," said Evans.

"This" was a cablegram. Alone, in the smoke-filled room, Barry opened it. Nine words. "Father and I sailing for home Sunday. Love, Mother."

For an instant, he stood, frozen, the wire in his hand. Directly before him, an evening newspaper lay open on the table.

"Out-going passenger and mail ships," he read. "Sailing tomorrow—Steamship Orange Nassau. For Port-au-Prince, La Guayra, Curacao, Maracaibo, Carupano, and Pampatar. I'm on my way to one of 'em tomorrow!"

CHAPTER IX

Barry's panic was short-lived. Between him and the sailing list had come a vision of Peggy, with beaded lashes screening eyes forever staring at nothing.

"I can't do it," he said to himself. "I can't run away and leave that girl in the lurch. Nor Pat either. I've tackled this job, and I've got to go through with it."

"Anyway, it begins to look as though the end were in sight. If Ridder sails Sunday—"

He went back to the shipping news. "If Ridder sails Sunday, that's the Bremen and she's due here the following Saturday. That gives us eight days. I'd better see Winslow."

He called Peter next morning, but the attorney was in the country. "Left last night," his secretary reported, "and won't be back until Monday."

Barry had a dinner engagement at Southampton. "We'll start things humming on Monday," Barry told himself. "I've got my house to put in order, too. Ridder's house, that is."

Evans telephoned around ten, and before noon they were on their way to Southampton. "My last week-end with Pat," he was thinking. "Where'll I be next Saturday? Out of luck, and out of a job. In jail, maybe, and in the newspapers. That's my finish with—everybody."

There was a new atmosphere at the Hambidge's. Pat had been right in telling Jack that he'd "cheer my father up a lot." "They're building a railway on the beach," she laughed, when the boy—sunburned, and active—joined them before dinner.

"You must go to bed now," Pat bade him, "if we're to take our ride in the morning. We have a center every day before breakfast," she added to Barry, ringing for a maid to take charge of the youngster. "I discovered the dearest little pony in the village, and the man brings it over at nine o'clock, with another horse for me. Jack's getting to be a regular Buffalo Bill."

The strained expression of a week ago was beginning to disappear from the face of Judge Hambidge. But the greatest difference was in the boy's mother. Naturally imitative, as Barry had remarked, she had been quick to observe and emulate Pat's moderations with make-up. Her speech, too, had lost all but an occasional inadvertent reference to "guys" and "dames." She had stopped starting into space. "What's the news about Jack?" she asked, quite calmly.

"Free next week," Barry declared ringingly. "At the dinner table, in spite of herself, Peg caught some of the contagion of Barry's new confidence. Nolan's story sounded like the solution of everything, they agreed. "We've got to get Jack out before Saturday," Barry said. "His father'll be home then."

Both women looked up at him. "What'll happen to you?" Peggy asked.

"The main question," Barry urged, "is what's going to happen to Peg, and Jack. And Jack."

"We'll meet that when it comes," Peggy returned, steadily. "But now I'm worried about you."

She excused herself early, with the plain purpose of leaving Barry with Pat. But the Judge stayed on. His legally trained mind had been busy with the Nolan disclosures.

"If Mrs. Kelly slept at her sister's, why didn't she say so to you? It would've been her best alibi."

"Yes, but it would have involved admitting that she'd had a run-in with Kelly."

"That's true," Hambidge admitted. "But Nolan was drunk last night, you say. And some parts of his story simply don't hold water. I don't believe there was anything 'queer' between Mrs. Kelly and the Filippino. Kelly's finding that out wouldn't account for his calling the man a 'lousy spy,' would it?"

"No," Barry retorted. "But listen. If the Chink was a 'lousy spy,' he got paid for it, didn't he? Wouldn't that explain Mrs. Kelly's giving him 'coin and jewelry'? And everything else? The Chink's reporting Betty Barclay's message, and all the rest of it? I tell you, this story's as straight as a string. Betty Barclay went on the road with her show about the time Mrs. Kelly sued for divorce. I found that out some time ago. She got back the day of the murder, and phoned Kelly. Mrs. Kelly learned of that from the Chink, and lit into Mike. Then Mike lit into the Chink, and the Chink killed him. I think we can prove that."

The Judge shook his head. "Anyway, it certainly establishes reasonable doubt of Jack's guilt."

"They can't convict Jack," the Judge insisted. "Peter says so, and I've never known Peter to be wrong when he made an assertion like that. But acquittal means waiting for the trial, and waiting for the trial means that Jack will still be in jail when his father returns."

Pat remained silent, but the next morning, on the beach, she drew Barry away from the little group engaged in railroad construction.

Fourth Time for Holiday Parties

THE Fourth of July, the most important holiday of the summer season, while still of great historical importance, is celebrated in a very nonchalant and sane manner. To the majority of persons it means a lazy day spent in the country or at the beach, with dinner served picnic-fashion, under the open sky. Or, another popular method of celebration, writes Ethel K. Ehlen in the Detroit News, is to invite a few friends in for luncheon, cocktails or dinner—very informal and served on the porch or terrace.

Buffet service continues in popularity, and is equally suitable for entertaining in town or country. Even a picnic menu may go buffet style these days, and it is a very satisfactory manner of service. If this version is selected for celebration in the country or at the beach, paper table cloths, dishes, spoons and forks, simplify matters considerably. And, the setting may be just as attractive as that in which the conventional china and silver are used. A red, white and blue color scheme may be easily arranged, as patriotic appointments in a number of different versions are available.

If the hostess desires something a bit more formal in character, there is a red satin cannon center-piece, which may be filled with surprise favors, and red-satin firecrackers as candy or salted nut containers.

For the children's Fourth of July party, red, white and blue napkins and a table centerpiece consisting of a blue patent leather bag, tied with the patriotic tri-colors and filled with surprise packages wrapped in cellophane, is timely and a little unusual. This clever bag of favors is also nice as a gift to a small child.

Nautical decorations in red, white and blue are cool and summery looking and an innovation in patriotic assembling for the table. Frosted beverages may be invitingly served in tall crystal glasses decorated with navy blue anchors, ships, and the like, the red note being supplied by the cherry garnish, and repeated in the tiny sandwiches which may be cut in the shape of a firecracker. Ice cream and loaves, so important in the American summer menu, will be available for the important holiday in suitable color schemes and designs, and may be packed in dry ice for carrying to the beach as dessert for the picnic lunch.

Numerous handy equipment is available for both cooking under the open sky, or adequately packing picnic menus which have been prepared at home. One of the additions to this already large family is a miniature stove, so constructed that paper may be used as the fuel for the fire; or, twigs for such things as steak and other foods that require a greater amount of heat. Wicker picnic baskets, with or without insulating qualities; long-handle forks and frying pans; thermos jugs and bottles; all help to make picnicking more delightful.

A perfectly grand kind of picnic basket is a kit of leather, simulated leather or wicker, completely equipped with utensils, china and cutlery, and plenty of separate compartments for packing sandwiches, salads, relishes, desserts and so on.

Cellophane is a wonderful picnic aid for wrapping practically any kind of picnic edibles. Paper table mats, table cloths and napkins, are fashioned of white and designed in such a manner they have the appearance of linen. Paper cups have gone more attractive and practical—late versions are equipped with handles, which makes drinking an easier process. They, as well as plates and serving dishes are patterned after china, having a smart gold band as the effective decorative medium.

The Fourth of July celebration in the modern manner may take the form of a picnic in quite primitive fashion, or in a more pretentious style, like that just described. Or, if one does not yearn for the open road and sunny beach, the holiday may be gloriously celebrated with informal entertaining at home, with appointments and decorations in patriotic themes.

Diamonds in India. Diamonds originally came from India. For centuries that country remained the sole source of Europe's supply. Diamonds were discovered in Brazil in 1730, and in South Africa in 1867. South Africa produces 90 per cent of the world's output.

Lafayette's Visit. Lafayette came to the American colonies in 1777, returning to France two years later. He came back to the United States again in 1780, 1784, 1824, and 1825.

Create Peace

PEACE will not come by indolent wishing for it. Our desire must be translated into action; we must seek to create the intellectual and moral atmosphere in which peace thrives, to cultivate links of personal friendship, to train the sympathetic imagination which will enable us to view the world from the standpoint of those from whom we are divided by race, color or culture. But love is the ultimate cure for prejudice and spitefulness, for bitterness and hatred, for greed and ambition.—A. S. Speake.

The Dallas Morning News Sunday carried the following streamer headline: Political Warfare Like 1928 Fight Looms in Texas. And then follows a story to the effect that the big guns of the Republican party will probably speak in Texas with the hope of carrying the state.
Hoover is expected to speak at the Centennial on August 12 and will probably speak in San Antonio on August 10. It is deemed certain that Knox, the nominee for Vice-President, will also speak in this state, and if conditions look favorable it is said that Landon himself will come. If the Republicans have any idea at all that they may carry Texas this year, they are not as wise politically as we have always given them credit for. Such an idea is the thinnest sort of pipe dream.
The Democrats will carry Texas this year by possibly the largest majority in its history. A lot of us don't like some features of the New Deal, but we are not going to turn away from the Democratic party under the present leadership for a party whose chief concern, it seems, is to protect Big Business and entrenched Wealth. Landon has no more chance of carrying Texas than Hoover had in 1932.

Arthur Brisbane, who writes a syndicated column which runs in many newspapers including the News, never tires of taking dirty digs at England. If he and his boss, Mr. Hearst ever had a kind thought about our mother country, they never permitted it to appear in print.
And in the recent international hijacking job pulled by Italy in Ethiopia, Mr. Brisbane and the Hearst people took a positive stand in favor of the hi-jackers. Yet possibly a greater number of our people are direct descendants from the English than from all other nationalities combined; and the Italians in this country are among the least desirable classes of our citizenship.
It's a strange streak of human nature that would impel a real

American to continually slur and jibe the English and continually boost and praise the Italians. We wonder how Messrs. Hearst and Brisbane got that way.

WHO'D-A-THOUGHT-IT

Al Smith didn't walk "from," the convention, or even to it. But had his little say before the convention met, and of course the burden of his advice was to ditch Roosevelt, and adding an afterthought, we suppose—nominate Al instead. Al had his little fling in 1928, and lost even the solid south. Four years later, because Democracy would not give him another try, he went home in a huff. While we supported Al in 1928, we would not do it again. He isn't even a good sport, but personally, we think he would make an equally good president as Herbert Hoover. —Terry County Herald.

Well! Well Well!
And so you would scratch a Democratic nominee under certain conditions, would you, Jack?
You wouldn't support Al any more, since you have found out what kind of bird he is, eh?
Well! Well Well!

Jeanie Suits, who conducts a "colyum" called "Chattergrams" in the Lockney Beacon, last week got to musing about the heart. "The heart beats 72 times each minute, 4,320 times each hour, and 37,843-000 each year," Jeanie—observes, "and that doesn't count those times you got scared or fell in love either. . . . If you are single (and some married), you fall in and out of love on an average of four times a year 5 if you are—exceedingly capricious), which is exceptionally difficult for the heart that is already overtaxed." Jean goes on,
"During the summer you plunge into cold swimming pools and then into a hot tub of water, which all tends to stimulate the heart. You run and jump while playing tennis, baseball, or football to quicken the pulse. Staying up late at night, drinking stimulants, and getting up early in the mornings helps very little to preserve the mechanism that prevents a tombstone from being placed at your head. It also keeps daisies from growing over you.
There is no substitute for the heartbeat. You've either got it or you haven't got it and that's all. There ain't no more!" And so Jeanie chatters on each week, the best local "columnist"—we think—in all this section of the state. But what we are wondering about is: How can an attractive young lady like Jeanie chatter so serenely and prosaically about matters of the heart?

The Morton Reporter reports that a very valuable milch cow was recently killed near that city by lightning. We thought the railroads had a monopoly on the business of killing valuable cows. Lightning may strike and kill any kind of junk old longhorn but we never heard of a cow being killed by a train that wasn't the choicest cow of the herd.
Just ordinary cows never do wander over on to the railroad track and get the lights knocked out of 'em.
"Jever notice it?"

Wheat harvesting has begun on the plains and in the Panhandle.
Reports indicate that the crop is much better than was thought possible two months ago. Dry land wheat is making from a few bushels per acre up to 12 and 15 bushels, most of it possibly not more than 10 bushels per acre, but the quality is high. Irrigated lands at Plainview, Lockney, and other places are making a yield of 25 to 30 bushels per acre. After a series of drouthy years and crop failures, it is believed that the wheat belt is already on its way back.

Judge Fischer spoke here Thursday morning in his campaign for Governor. The Judge set up a straw man, and then proceeded to tear him to pieces. His straw man is old age assistance. His claim is that the people voted for old age pensions to go to every person 65 years of age regardless of their financial condition. If the Judge will dust off his law book he will read regarding this old age assistance: "The legislature shall have the power by general laws to provide under such limitations and restrictions and regulations as may be deemed by the legislature expedient," etc. Any one who can read the English language will certainly understand that the legislature has the power to limit the number who would receive this assistance. If the legislature and Governor had been foolish enough to make the pensions apply to each and every person 65 years of age, they would have been and should have been most soundly denounced from one end of the state to the other for wasting the states' revenues. Judge Fischer would give every person of the required age a pension; would reduce taxes on gasoline, automobiles, real estate; and soak big business to make up the difference. Does Judge Fischer really believe in his unworkable program, or is he just kidding the voters?—Canyon News.

GUY MATTHEWS SHIPS
62 TERRAPINS FOR 4TH
Terrapin races at Gallup, N. M., will contain 62 Cochran county terrappins, according to Guy Matthews, king of terrapin catchers in this section of the country.

Guy received a letter from that place recently asking that he gather up a flock of the fastest terrapins in Cochran county and ship them to the Legion Post, there for their 4th of July terrapin races. They were shipped yesterday. Guy took a number of boys and scoured the surrounding territory for the racers. He was fortunate in obtaining some of the leanest and fastest terrapins ever to be exhibited here. They will no doubt perform excellent in the races and bring glory to Cochran county and her people.—Morton

CHURCH OF CHRIST NOTES

The attendance last Lord's Day as not so large, but we are sure that good was done, as no service held as the Lord directs is in vain.

It seems strange that many of the Lord's people can absent themselves from the services without any compunction of conscience at all.

I want to give a few reasons why we should attend worship. Because God has so ordered. We all need the benefits it affords. God condescends to meet us there. I go through rain or shine, cold or heat to business or pleasure. Is the Lord's service of less importance than these? We show which side we are on, for Christ or against him. It prevents drifting. We need to go to lead the lost to Christ (they expect you there). I do not know how many more Lord's Days I may be here, or just when my last one shall be. Then, if I slight the last one I enjoy on earth, it will be poor preparation for the first one in Heaven.

Though your excuse for staying away from services may satisfy you, still it must undergo God's scrutiny. It must be well grounded to stand that.

I will fill the pulpit at O'Donnell next Lord's Day, but will be here the second Sunday, the Lord willing.—R. P. Drennon.

HONOR MISS LINE

Honoring Miss Aline Line of O'Donnell on last Wednesday afternoon, ladies from the New Home, Lakeview and Slide communities entertained with a surprise party and Friendship shower in the home of Mrs. L. H. Moore. The entire affair was a great surprise to Miss Line, whose lovely eyes mirrored her pleasure throughout the afternoon's entertainment in the rose decorated living and dining rooms of the hostess' home.

After a period of games and light chatter, the entire group entered into a sing-song contest, terminating in "Showers of Blessings", and as this was being sung, little Miss Mary Hele Lewis and Agnes Wheeler entered carrying a tray of gifts which were deposited on a card table in front of Miss Line. After the packages were opened and inspected, refreshments consisting of fruit punch and cake were served by the hostess who was assisted by Mrs. Jay W. Moore and Mrs. Murray Parker, to the following guests: Mmes. S. L. Williams, Roy Nettles, R. A. Staggs, R. H. Wheeler, J. P. Lewis, Lewis Cast, J. R. Parker, J. R. Richie, J. N. Moore, J. L. Gabel, J. N. Jerden, Otis Rodgers, H. W. Leath, H. W. Smith, Sinda Mabray, O. R. Copeland, Bill Ship Lewis Henderson, Lonnie Williams, Gail Mabray, and Hunt, as well as little Misses Mary Helen Lewis, Agnes Wheeler, Yvonne Leath, Shirley Ann Jerden and Robert Smith, and Miss Edith Murphy.

Miss Line, who has been suffering from a chronic type of arthritis for several years, has been visiting in the Moore home for several weeks, during which time she has made some splendid steps toward recovery.

H. B. Burkhalter of Lubbock, a former citizen of this county, was here on business Friday. Mr Burkhalter says that Henry is now doing work in the University of Illinois. Henry is a graduate of the Tahoka high school and the Texas Technological College. He has been teaching the past year or two. Mr Burkhalter is still interested in Lynn county and continues to keep the Lynn County News going to his address.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Warrick and Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Jones of Grassland returned Saturday from Kansas City, Mo., where they attended the General Assembly of the Nazarene Church. They report that about 5,000 people were in attendance, several foreign countries as well as most of the states of the Union being represented. Fifty missionaries from foreign fields were also present. Mr. Warrick says that crops along the route outside of Texas were generally poor. He thinks we have better prospects here in Lynn county than almost anywhere else on the route.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stuart attended the big celebration at Ballinger the first of the week commemorating the town's fiftieth anniversary. Uncle Frank lived there many years and served as public weigher for 16 years. He had a great time this week meeting old friends.

METHODIST DISTRICT Y. P. RALLY HELD HERE

About seventy-five visitors were here last Saturday and Sunday attending the District Rally of the Methodist Young People's organization of the Lubbock district.

Miss Lucille Lildjedahl of Littlefield, the district director, was in charge of the program.

Registration began Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock and continued till 7. Supper was served in the church basement from 7 till 8. A vesper service was held from 8 till 8:30, which was followed by a Lantern Hike out in the T-Bar pasture.

A watch service was held at 8:30 Sunday morning, followed by the regular church school and preaching services. Rev. C. C. Armstrong delivered a special discourse suitable to the occasion.

A business meeting at 2:30 in the afternoon closed the program.

Montey Ray Keltner came down from Las Vegas, New Mexico, last week end to spend two or three weeks with his father, C. B. Keltner, and his brother, Russell. Montey Ray says that 60 per cent of the population of Las Vegas is Mexican, and that these and the whites do not get along together any too well, especially the school boys. All attend the same school and members of the two races often come into conflict. Nevertheless, he likes the country very much. He says the snow still on the mountain tops is very beautiful and the atmosphere is invigorating. Mrs. Keltner is enjoying the best of health.

J. L. Nevill and family left Thursday for a visit with his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Fleming, at Flagstaff, Arizona. Mrs. Fleming was the former Miss Faye Nevill. Joe says this will be his first trip to Arizona, and he is looking forward to it with considerable glee, for they have written him that the snow is still on the mountain tops in that vicinity. The family expects to be gone two or three weeks.

Tom Ross Neyland, who will be remembered by many friends in Tahoka as the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Neyland, recently passed his test for a private license at Municipal Airport, Fort Worth, and was issued a letter of authority permitting him to carry passengers pending the arrival of the license. He plans to start immediately to work for a transport license. Tom Ross is seventeen years old.

After undertaking to stay out of the house for a day or two, G. M. Reid was recently sent back to bed by his physician and ordered to remain there until further orders. Mr. Reid has been suffering from an attack of the flu and complications the past four or five weeks. It is to be hoped that he may speedily and completely recover.

Independence Day—1936

By RAYMOND PITCAIRN
National Chairman
Sentinels of the Republic

"Independence now—and Independence forever."
To this ringing slogan America celebrates again the anniversary of her glorious birth—honoring the famous Declaration which ranks, with our Constitution, among the noblest documents in history.

What was that Independence, that Freedom, to which our Fathers dedicated themselves in the historic document now famous throughout the world? Clearly the Declaration itself states the answer:

"They sought for every man 'certain unalienable rights... among them Life, Liberty and the Pursuit of Happiness.'"

"They protested against a 'long train of abuses and usurpations' of those rights."

"They condemned all activities 'altering fundamentally the forms of our government.'"

"The efforts of a ruler to punish representative legislatures 'for opposing with manly firmness his invasions on the rights of the people.'"

"The 'establishment of an absolute tyranny over these States.'"

"A government that 'erected a multitude of new offices and sent hither swarms of officers to harass our people and eat out their substance.'"

"A system that made the people 'subject to a jurisdiction foreign to our Constitution, and unacknowledged by our laws.'"

These are a few of the basic principles for which the Signers unhesitatingly pledged their Lives, their Fortunes and their Sacred Honor on that historic July fourth of 180 years ago.

They are principles to which America pledges herself anew on each occurrence of that historic date.

They are principles which we must continue to guard if the Liberty won by our Fathers is to endure.

Independence Day is far more than a national celebration. It remains a Day of Rededication to that Spirit of Liberty which has made America the land of freedom and of opportunity for all.

Dixie

Gracetha Inman, Reporter

There was a pretty good crowd at Sunday school Sunday morning and also a good crowd Sunday night. Everyone who will come is welcome.

Everyone remember next Sunday is first Sunday, and come to sing at Dixie. We are expecting a large crowd.

Mr. and Mrs. J. O. King visited their daughter at Amarillo Sunday. David Evans of Wilson spent Sunday with Robert Warren.

Mrs. A. L. Dunagan's two sisters from Austin and San Antonio were visitors in her home last week.

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Inman and Travis and Ornetha Inman and Miss Vasti Warren visited Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Nelson at Meadow Sunday.

Miss Bettie King is visiting her sister at Amarillo.

Mr. and Mrs. Benson's little grandson of Big Spring is visiting them this week.

THE TRACTOR HOG

Why do some men want to hog up the whole country to the detriment of our schools, churches, merchants, and every other enterprise?

There are plenty of men in the county working hundreds of acres with cheap, half-paid hands—and houses are standing empty; no children to go to church or school. And this fall these houses will be filled up with people, part of them very undesirable, and other transient people that will vacate just as soon as the crop is gathered.

I think the merchants, newspapers, and every good citizen should use their influence to keep the country settled up with a lot of good permanent citizens.

RETURNED MISSIONARY TO SPEAK AT BAPTIST CHURCH

Mrs. B. L. Lockett, returned missionary from Africa, will speak at an all day Association-wide meeting in the Tahoka Baptist Church next Tuesday, July 7.

Mrs. Lockett is said to be a very interesting speaker, and everyone will enjoy hearing her.

All Baptists throughout the Association are urged to be present.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred McGinty and family and Miss Helen Askew of the Wells community, Tom, Claudia, and Marian Draper of the Midway community, and their guest, Miss Iris Witherspoon of the Lubbock Sanitarium, left Friday morning for Stamford to see the big rodeo and enjoy the other festivities of the occasion.

Miss Ludie Strasner returned Sunday from Dallas, where she had been receiving treatment in a hospital. The affection of the knee which had been troubling her is much improved, and she is now able to walk without crutches.

Dr. Ann West of Dallas, who has been visiting her mother, Mrs. W. J. West north of town, the past two weeks, returned to her practice in Dallas Monday. She was accompanied by Miss Iola Williams and Miss Leona Fechner of Dallas, the latter the guest of Miss Berta Hill for two weeks.

Mrs. H. M. Snowden and children, Hiram, Rudolph, and Julia, went down to Stamford Wednesday to visit relatives and to attend the big Fourth of July celebration. Mrs. Snowden's mother, who is visiting another daughter there, is expected to accompany them to Tahoka for a visit here.

Miss Claudia Draper, a nurse in the Lubbock Sanitarium, is spending her vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. I. M. Draper, of the Midway community, and has as her guest Miss Itis Witherspoon, another nurse in the Sanitarium.

Miss Genalee and Smitty Henderson, children of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Henderson of Amarillo, returned home last Saturday, after spending a few weeks with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Henderson.

REPORTS FROM THE COUNTY CLUBS

Miss Lilith Boyd, H. D. Agent

WILSON H. D. CLUB

The Wilson H. D. club met at the home of Mrs. M. J. Scaer June 17. The program topic was: Keeping up on Table Service and Good Manners.

Attractive main dishes for the farm home was given by Mrs. Brandon. She brought a dish of onions stuffed with red beans on a bed of mustard. Mrs. Server brought a Salad made by quartering tomatoes and filling the centers with cottage cheese topped with dressing. Mr. Thornton brought grape and apple juices as fruit juices that appeal to all the family. Mrs. Kahlich exhibited a baked custard as a simple dessert that all farm homes may have and as another use of milk.

Miss Green, Home Economics teacher, set the table using the products demonstrated. The apple juice being used as the cocktail. All the products were tasted by those present.

Mrs. Brandon was elected as delegate from Wilson club to the Short Course at A. and M. College July 20. The date for the club picnic was set for August 28 at Lubbock. The picnic is for club members and their families.

The club also voted to invite Mrs. Paul Lawson to meet with the club July 15 to give a report of her trip to Washington D. C. to the Triennial Convention of The Associated Countrywomen of the World. Mrs. Lawson attended as a delegate from Lynn county.

Visitors present were Louise Menzel, Ethel Green, Mrs. J. R. Houston, Mrs. Douglas Finley and Mrs. Tobe Hill.

Members present were: Mrs. J. W. Wilson, Mrs. Doc Cook, Mrs. R. A. Kahlich, Mrs. H. Y. Cook, Mrs. J. E. Richardson, Mrs. P. D. Server, Mrs. L. Lumsden, Mrs. Walker Server, Mrs. M. C. Brandon, Mrs. J. W. Lamb and Mrs. M. J. Scaer.

DIXIE H. D. CLUB

Dixie H. D. club met wednesday, June 17, at the home of Mrs. Loyd Huffaker.

Miss Boyd gave an interesting talk on vegetables from 1836 to 1936. Carrots were considered as good food for rabbits in early days and tomatoes were not used as a fruit but for ornaments in yards, said Miss Boyd.

Attractive posters on table service were shown by Miss Boyd followed by a demonstration on mild and strong flavored vegetables. She used cauliflower, cooked in lots of boiling water until tender, served with a white sauce and parsley, as a strong flavored vegetable. Carrots cooked in a very small amount of water until tender as a mild flavored vegetable.

We voted on a delegate to A. & M. and Mrs. A. L. Dunagan was elected as a delegate from the Dixie club. Mrs. G. B. Sherrod came as a new member with Mrs. Earl Tunnell, Miss Helen House and Mrs. W. C. Huffaker as visitors.

Our next meeting will be Wednesday July 1, in the home of Mrs. Foy Todd.

Refreshments were served to Mes: Foy Todd, Burdett, Buel Draper, Bule Aycox, A. C. Aycox, Paul Johnson, G. L. Cobb, G. B. Sherrod, F. E. House, A. L. Dunagan, Marvin Berry, W. C. Huffaker, Earl Tunnell, Miss House and Miss Boyd.

NEW HOME H. D. CLUB

"Correct Table Service and Good Manners" was the topic discussed and demonstrated by the New Home H. D. Club in the home of Mrs. John Armontrout Friday, June 26.

A correctly set table was shown, and dishes prepared by the women were served. The menu consisted of an "easy to fix" meat and vegetable loaf, creamed cabbage, vegetable salad, fruit jello, and iced tea. The meal was served family style.

The club decided to have a "42" party at the home of Mrs. J. R. Strain on Friday night, July 17, to raise funds for the A. & M. Short Course delegate. The charges will be twenty-five cents a couple. Ice cream cones will also be sold. Come and bring a friend.

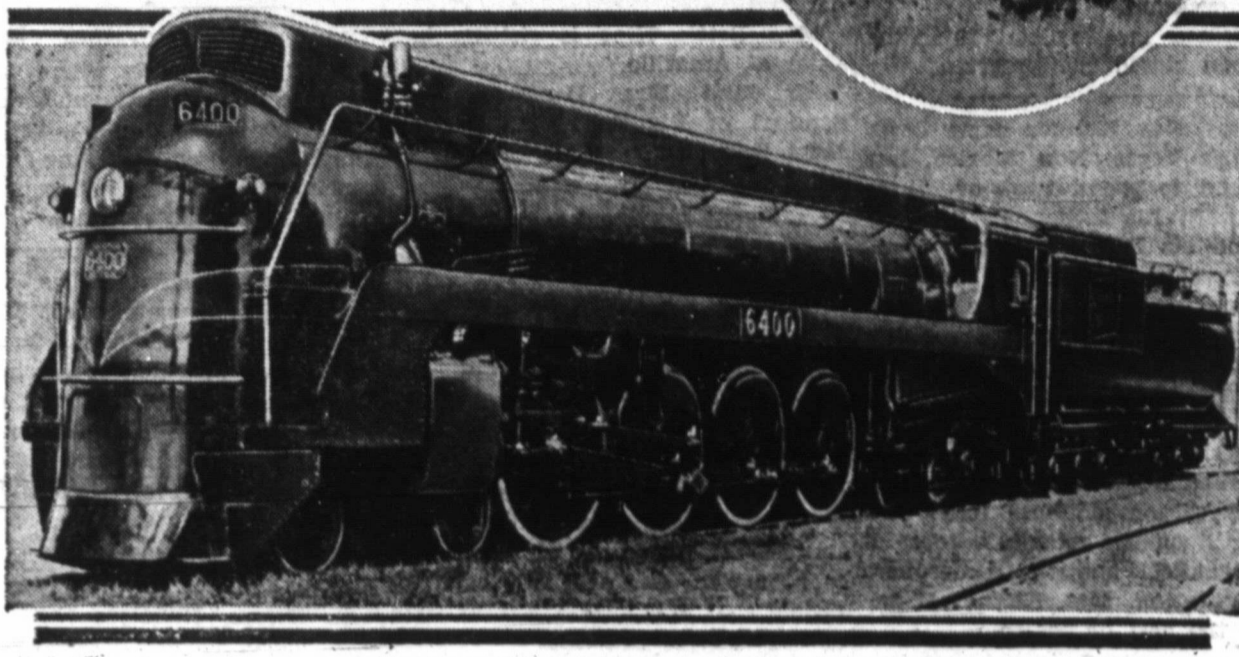

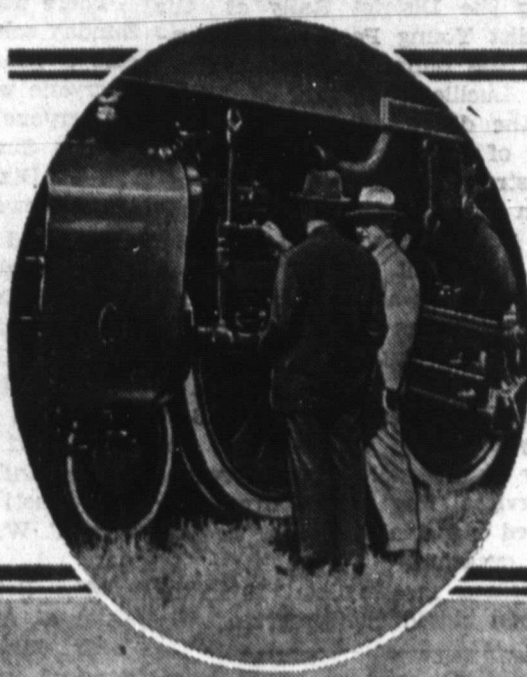

Mrs. Boswell Edwards, kitchen demonstrator, was elected to attend the short course.

There were fifteen members, one new member and four visitors present.

Members present were: Mesdames John Armontrout, Boswell Edwards, Joe Helton, Charles Lee, Carl Russell, Loyd R. McCormick, J. R. Strain, Henry Heck, R. H. Bates, F. W. Goad, H. A. Parris, Joe Poin-dexter, S. N. McWhorter, and Van Bates. Mrs. J. T. Carter was a new member.

World's Largest Streamlined Engine

THE world's largest streamlined locomotive has just been put into service by the Canadian National Railways, the largest railway system in North America. Absence of smokestack, bell and cowcatcher are features of this giant of the wheels built to plans designed by the National Research Council of Canada and engineers of the company after exhaustive wind-tunnel tests with models. The engine, one of four, to haul passenger trains between Montreal and Chicago, has an all-over length of 94 feet 7 3/4 inches, weighs in excess of 650,000 pounds and can develop a speed exceeding 100 miles per hour. The driving wheels have a diameter of 77 inches and an idea of their size is gained by comparing them with the men shown looking at them in the inset. The smokestack and bell are concealed by the streamlining and a stream of air, drawn through a louver at the top of the engine front, lifts the smoke into the air and carries it clear of the train. The automatic coupler on the front of the locomotive disappears behind a door when not in use. The whistle emerges from the streamlining as required by the railway regulations.

Visitors were: Meses. J. C. Poin-dexter, C. R. McCormick, and Miss Christine Bates.

DRAW 4-H CLUB

The Draw 4-H Club met July 1 at 10 a. m. in the home of Margaret Shannon.

Los Waller was elected vice-president; Aline Garnett was made news reporter. Margaret Shannon was elected delegate to the Short Course. Miss Boyd gave a demonstration on how to dry okra.

Refreshments of cheese sandwiches and punch were served to the following members: Jo Williams, Sylvia Busby, Ozella Williams, Louise Florence, Lois Waller, Celia Parker, Lela Fae Parker, Margaret Shannon, Juanita Williams, and the sponsor, Mrs. Willis Pennington, Home Agent Miss Boyd and hostess, Mrs. W. E. Shannon.

The next meeting will be with Louise Florence.

TAHOKA H. D. CLUB

Correct table service and good manners should be practiced in the home each day, said Mrs. Chas Nelms to the Tahoka Club in the home of Mrs. A. C. Weaver on June 24th.

Mrs. Chas Nelms gave a very interesting demonstration on table service. The table was set in correct manner with a bouquet of roses in the center. She prepared a vegetable pie that any farm home can serve. Mrs. W. S. Anglin prepared a punch of left over fruit juices which appealed to every one, and several salads were prepared in very attractive form.

Mrs. A. C. Weaver was elected as a delegate to the A. and M. Short Course July 20 to 24 inclusive. Mrs. M. H. Crawford joined our club as a new member.

Visitors were: Meses. Robt. Harp, O. B. Chambers and M. H. Crawford.

Members present: Meses. R. L. Richardson, A. D. Wallace, A. C. Weaver, Chas Nelms, H. M. Snowden, Garland Pennington, Mill Finch, James Connolly, J. Paul King, M. O. Canaday and W. S. Anglin.

NEW HOME "42" PARTY

A benefit "42" party to raise funds with which to send a representative to A. & M. Short Courses will be given by the New Home Home Demonstration Club in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Strain Friday night, July 17. Twenty-five cents per couple will be charged.

Grassland Site Of Religious Debate

A series of religious discussions will be held between the Church of Christ and the Christadelphians in the Church of Christ building at Grassland on Thursday and Friday nights and Saturday morning and night, July 9-10-11, according to Messrs. Garnett and Greer of these two denominations respectively at Grassland.

Five propositions, as we understand it, will be discussed. Elder Guy N. Wood of Wellington will represent the Church of Christ and Rev. Jim Greer of Blanco will represent the Christadelphians. Elder Woods is said to be one of the strongest exponents of the doctrines of his denomination in all West Texas, while Mr. Greer is reputed to be one of the ablest proponents of his faith.

The doctrines of the Christadelphians are little understood in this section of the country, since there are few of them here; but as we understand it, they reject the doctrine of the Trinity and the natural immortality of the soul, believing that only the righteous have an eternal existence. They believe also in the early approach of the return of Christ to the earth and lay great stress on the cleansing power of the Holy Spirit. They practice immersion, but have no ordained ministers. A cordial welcome is extended the public to attend the discussions at Grassland. No personalities, we understand, are to be dealt in.

"THE COUNTRY DOCTOR"
PRESENTS DIONNE QUINTS
AS DRAMA FILM STARS

In the picture that is the entertainment scoop of the year, Darryl F. Zanuck makes movie stars of the first rank of the world's front-page darlings, as he presents the Dionne Quintuplets in their first full-length feature, "The Country Doctor," which comes to the English Theatre Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

Adapted from an original story by Charles E. Blake, Chicago newspaper man, "The Country Doctor," finds its drama in the life-and-death conflict that a physician eternally wages in the Canadian wilds in his unselfish work. It is warm with romance, brightly alive with delightful humorous touches, fresh with the antics, the crooning and the play of the world's most famous babies.

Jean Hersholt, beloved character star, is the doctor of the picture, a heroic, self-sacrificing physician who fights pain and ill in a Canadian fur-trading post with inadequate equipment.

Because his nephew, Michael Whalen, persists in his love for June Lang, daughter of the post's manager, and because Hersholt himself tactlessly attempts to get a hospital and needed supplies for his people, he incurs the displeasure of the company powers. Without regard for his record or heroism, the post manager ousts him from his position.

He is broken and dispirited when he gets a call to attend John Qualen's wife and goes to her, never suspecting the phenomenon he is going to witness. In a sequence that is the highspot of the picture for drama and comedy, the five tiny mites are brought to the world, and the doctor begins the fight to keep them alive.

As the film nears its close, we witness the fame and rewards that are heaped on the happy doctor as his little charges prosper and grow. And, at the height of his happiness, the post manager relents and gives his consent to the romance of Whalen and Miss Lang.

The screen story of the picture, which was directed by Henry King, was written by Sonya Levien. And Slim Summerville, Dorothy Peterson and Robert Barratt, as members of the all-star cast, occupy prominent roles.

Early History Of Lynn County Retold
In Paper Read At Pioneers' Meeting

(Written by Mrs. Jewell Doak Rogers and read by C. H. Doak at the Old Settlers Reunion here last week.)

Today, in our dreams, we are again in our homes on the range—with the latching ever out to those that chance to pass our way.

Viewed from the long corridors of time, those memories are vivid realities to early pioneers.

We watched history in its making! Little we thought of the small happenings out on the range—building the foundation of our country of today. But now, in our memories, we see the cowboys with their long, shaggy chaps and spurs with their silver mountings, as they vanish; and the settlers, of whom we thought little then, come one by one, until now there are towns and villages where once our great round-ups were held.

The pioneers watched this change, some with a pain in their hearts and a hunger for the days like the old—when our prairies were just open range, when our white-faced cattle roamed the Plains, and when our cowboy song was the only thing that broke the stillness of the dawn, as he sang to the herd his merry tune.

But dreams must end as all dreams do and who of you, as you gaze back through that long corridor of time are not proud to say: I AM A PIONEER!

This being the first meeting of the pioneers of Lynn County we will take up the first year of our county after it was organized, and try each year thereafter to add to this until we have a complete history.

Lynn county was named in honor of Granderson Washington Lynn, who was a private in the army. He was captured in one of the first skirmishes with the Mexicans. Lynn was carried to Mexico City and thrown in prison. His life there was miserable; the dungeon was dark and damp and infested with rats.

Lynn had given up hopes of ever seeing his homeland again, when one day one of the guards told him the Mexican Government had bought a powdermill from England and that no one knew how to assemble it. Lynn told the guard that he knew a powdermill inside and out. The guard told the officials, and a few days later Lynn was carried before them. He was badly frightened but again affirmed his ability of installing it. He was offered his freedom if he did so. Lynn had never seen a powdermill before but succeeded in installing it.

After teaching some of the Mexicans how to run it, he was given his freedom and free transportation to the Rio Grande. Later, Private Lynn died at the Battle of the Alamo.

Tahoka is the county site of Lynn county. The name has many stories, but from Indian lore the name means "alkali waters".

Lynn county was formed from Young-Bexar territories, created August 21, 1876, and the county was organized April 15, 1903.

Lynn county held its first election on April 7, 1903. Precinct No. 1 held their election at the home of Jack Alley, No. 2 at the W. C. Cowan home, No. 3 at the B. Humphreys home, and No. 4 at the T-Ranch.

M. L. Elliott was elected County

Judge and County School Superintendent; C. H. Doak, Sheriff and Tax Collector; S. N. McDaniels, County Clerk; O. L. Miller, County Treasurer; A. S. Coughran, Tax Assessor; J. E. Ketter, Commissioner precinct No. 1; B. Humphreys, precinct No. 3; H. E. Baldrige, precinct No. 2; and W. T. Petty, precinct No. 4.

All officers were sworn in by Geo. R. Bean, County Judge of Lubbock county. Court convened on April 18, 1903, to meet on the first Monday of February, May, August and November.

The Stoneman building was used as the first court house. Later it was moved to the Harper building. When court met in May, plans and specifications were drawn for Lynn county's first court house. H. E. Baldrige and J. E. Ketter were appointed to see to the buying and hauling of the lumber.

The lumber was hauled from the T. & P. railroad at Big Spring. The hauling cost was fifty cents per hundred. The building was started the latter part of May, 1903.

Tahoka's first business house was a hotel and restaurant built by Frank Orson on the site where Larkin's store now stands. The next was Sweet & King, General Merchandise, where the Wells building is now. Sweet & King also put in the first hitching rack, and A. L. Lockwood was the first cowboy to ride in and tie his horse to it.

Mr. Harper was Tahoka's first lawyer, his office being where Thomas Drug now stands. Later this office was replaced by Tahoka's first bank. C. H. Doak was president and W. R. Ray was cashier.

Tahoka's first protracted meeting was held in a tabernacle on the court house lawn. The preacher was Rev. John W. Dale, and the tent was loaned by Mr. Richardson and seats furnished by the county.

Dr. Windham was Lynn county's first permanently located doctor. Our first teachers were Prof. Norton and wife, and the second, J. B. Walker and Miss Minnie Chambers (now Mrs. J. W. Elliott).

The first drug store was owned by M. E. Gilmore. Mrs. Edd Henderson was our first postmistress. The first newspaper was run by Otis Lilly.

The date set for our reunion, June 24th, is on one of our oldest settler's birthdays, Mrs. J. S. Wells.

Mr. and Mrs. A. F. McLean of Rogers, Bell county, were visitors in the home of Mrs. E. I. Hill Monday. Mr. McLean and Mrs. Hill are cousins.

How Cardui Helps Women To Build Up

Cardui stimulates the appetite and improves digestion, helping women to get more strength from the food they eat. As nourishment is improved, strength is built up, certain functional pains go away and women praise Cardui for helping them back to good health. ... Mrs. C. E. Radloff, of Hinton, W. Va., writes: "After the birth of my last baby, I did not seem to get my strength back. I took Cardui again and was soon sound and well. I have given it to my daughters and recommend it to other ladies." ... Thousands of women testify Cardui benefited them. If it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician.

The confidence thousands of parents have in good, old reliable, powdered Theodor's Black-Draught has prompted them to get the new Syrup of Black-Draught for their children. The grown folks stick to the powdered Black-Draught; the youngsters probably will prefer it when they outgrow their childish love of sweets. Mrs. C. W. Adams, of Murray, Ky., writes: "I have used Theodor's Black-Draught (powder) about thirteen years, taking it for biliousness. Black-Draught acts well and I am always pleased with the results. I wanted a good, reliable laxative for my children. I have found Syrup of Black-Draught to be just that."

Cross Children May Need Simple Laxative

When children are cross and touchy give them Feen-a-mint, the delightful chewing gum laxative. Feen-a-mint begins its pleasant effect as soon as you start chewing it, for its stomach-settling mint brings a clean, fresh taste to the mouth. As you chew out the laxative ingredient which is absolutely tasteless, the flow of digestive juices is increased. The laxative is mixed with these juices and carried into the system evenly and gently. Feen-a-mint doesn't grip, nauseate or irritate and is non-habit-forming. It passes through the stomach and into the bowels so scientifically that the action is wonderfully easy and thorough. Try the pleasant, refreshing Feen-a-mint way. Doctors prescribe its laxative ingredient for both children and adults. Sold on a money back guarantee. Generous family size package 15c and 25c.

Watch Your Kidneys!

Be Sure They Properly Cleanse the Blood

YOUR kidneys are constantly filtering waste matter from the blood stream. But kidneys sometimes lag in their work—do not act as nature intended—fail to remove impurities that poison the system when retained. Then you may suffer nagging backache, dizziness, scanty or too frequent urination, getting up at night, puffiness under the eyes, feel nervous, miserable—all upset. Don't delay! Use Doan's Pills. Doan's are especially for poorly functioning kidneys. They are recommended by grateful users the country over. Get them from any druggist.

FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT

BEMO CONVENTION IS COLORFUL AFFAIR

Roosevelt and Garner Are The Whole Show at Philadelphia Convention

By W. C. WEBBER

Convention Hall, Philadelphia—"Franklin Delano Roosevelt for President—!"

Philadelphia's monster convention hall rocked as 18,000 delegates and spectators leaped to their feet roaring approval of their standard bearer in the coming election.

All through this rather tame convention, the name of Roosevelt was magic. The somewhat apathetic audience, judged by convention standards, could be stirred into animation only by the utterance of his name.

Is Colorful Scene All the usual trimmings of a national political convention were on hand at Philadelphia.

Inside the hall a shouting singing, laughing crowd filling every seat—great spotlights playing over the scene—telegraph boys rushing copy from the press sections where perspiring newspaper workers toiled at the task of catching the next edition—movie cameramen—news photographers swarming over the hall—intense radio workers—the gaily decorated platform—pictures of the candidates—State standards—microphones—flags and bunting—the blaring brass band and the rumbling organ that never quite get together on any tune—the wild applause whenever Dixie is played—a typical convention scene.

Platform Holds Interest There was no doubt as to the final nominations—or that the convention would unanimously endorse the New Deal. It was Franklin D. Roosevelt and John N. Garner in a unanimity that has not been accorded a Democratic ticket since Cleveland was nominated.

Since there were no other candidates, chief interest was centered in the platform and in the abrogation of the Democratic party's two-thirds rule which has governed nominations since the party was founded.

out effect. The final draft omitted this flat declaration, but left the question largely open to whatever action might be taken by party leaders during the coming campaign.

Formation of this plank was one of the events that did not run according to schedule. Anticipating difficulty only from the conservative quarter, Senator Robert Wagner of New York, had selected as members of the drafting group six New Deal Senators, one ex-Senator, two administration officials, two delegates with liberal tendencies, and Senator David I. Walsh of Massachusetts, the only conservative, but one who is sufficiently practical to recognize the overwhelming odds of 11 to 1.

Proceedings Strike Snag But something struck a snag. Weary news hawks watched through the night outside the room where the sub-committee was meeting. Finally at 5 o'clock in the morning, the doors swung open and the members, obviously exhausted after the session, filed out in grim silence.

The final form of the platform puts the party on record as favoring amendment of the constitution if necessary for the enactment of Federal or State laws "adequately to regulate commerce, protect public health and safety and safeguard economic security." It is understood that President Roosevelt desired to win from the committee a plank sufficiently vague in its language to permit him either to advocate or ignore the issue surrounding the adoption of such an amendment.

Ignore Labor Demand Other points in the platform which had been awaited with deep interest, particularly those dealing with agriculture and with labor, were left equally open to future action by party leaders. The section on agriculture pledges a continuance of soil conservation and domestic allotment programs, recognizes "the evils of farm tenancy" and pledges the full co-operation of the government in long term refinancing of farm indebtedness at the lowest possible rates of interest, and encourages practical farm co-operatives.

The labor plank was something of a surprise to many who had looked for a more definite declaration. After pointing out various New Deal accomplishments, the plan reads: "We will continue to protect the worker and we will guard his rights, both as wage earner and consumer, in the production and consumption of all commodities including coal and water power and other natural resource products."

A demand from organized labor that the party agree to support a constitutional demand which would invalidate any Supreme Court decision that was not arrived at by at least a six to three vote, fell on barren soil.

However, it is considered as fairly certain that President Roosevelt will deal more specifically with these questions in his forthcoming campaign. The way has been left completely open for action by the candidate without him being bound by specific hampering platform declarations.

Promise Public Works Determination to proceed with the public works program in dealing with unemployment is also voiced by the party declaration. More than five million people have been re-employed; according to the platform, but where private business is unable to cope with the problem, work prevailing wages should be provided in cooperation with state and local governments on useful public projects.

There was much speculation as to what would be the exact wording of the plank dealing with civil service. The Cleveland convention had brought this issue into prominence, and it was necessary that the Democratic party express its views on the subject. Immediate extension of the merit system through the classified civil service to all non-policy-making positions in the Federal service was pledged. The party also declared for placing all continuing positions which have been exempt from its operation under the civil service law.

Protection of consumer, extension of rural electrification, continuance of the housing program, enforcement of criminal and civil provisions of the existing anti-trust laws, and strengthening of the latter by new legislation were also pledged.

Rumors Run Riot The question of sound money came in for its share of the rumors. Guesses, most of which came from "authoritative sources" ranged from unrestricted inflation to an immediate return to the gold standard were rife. The final platform draft states that while the party approves of a permanently sound currency so stabilized as to prevent wide fluctuations in value, it believes in a currency which will "permit full utilization of the country's resources." Reduction in government expenses which will eventually permit a balanced budget and reduction of the national debt were also pledged.

Best received of the convention speeches in the opinion of many was the keynote address of Senator Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky. His exhortation of the Republican party and praise of the New Deal accomplishments was genuine political oratory which combined all the arts of sarcasm, humor, logic and pathos in a skillful blend which aroused the audience to wild enthusiasm. He centered his attack on the record of the Republican party during the twelve years prior to 1932, the policies of Herbert Hoover while in office, and the Liberty League. Little mention was made by him of the current Republican candidates.

Scores Landon The latter task was left for Senator Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas, who spoke in the role of a delegate-at-large instead of that of permanent chairman. Delay in the report of the credentials committee was responsible for this unusual change. Robinson charged that Landon is preparing to bolt the Republican platform, citing his famous telegram to the Cleveland convention which he pointed out, was sent only after the nomination was assured. Robinson also scored the Supreme Court for its ruling invalidating the Guffey soft coal control law and New York State's minimum wage law.

The only real trouble within the convention hall came when a group in the gallery displayed banners proclaiming Al Smith as a real Democrat. No sooner had the banners been unfurled than fist fights broke out in the sections where the Al Smith banners were exhibited. Order was quickly restored and most of the dissenting group left the hall.

Mack Nominates Roosevelt Enthusiasm in the convention hall reached its maximum Friday when Judge John E. Mack of New York placed the name of Franklin D. Roosevelt in nomination. The delegates let loose a delirium of sound that almost tore the top off the sound meter which stood at the left of the stage. The demonstration which followed made all previous affairs of this kind look weak. It was a genuine tribute to a party leader.

John Nance Garner, Texas idol, was nominated for the office of Vice-President on Saturday morning by a jubilant, yelling convention. Ten gallon hats sailed through the air as the Texas delegation whooped it up for the State's favorite son. Garner is genuinely popular with the rank and file of the Democratic party, and the convention left no doubt about it.

But even this demonstration did not compare with that of Saturday night when Roosevelt delivered his acceptance speech at Franklin Field, huge stadium of the University of Pennsylvania. All through the week the demand for tickets to this event had far exceeded the supply, and when Roosevelt mounted the platform the big bowl was packed. As he took his place at the speaker's stand, the famous Roosevelt smile showed brightly, but to those close enough to see there seemed to be more than pleasure mirrored in the nominee's face. When the crowd gave full vent to its delight in their chosen leader, if there was a shade of mistiness in Roosevelt's eyes, he could hardly be blamed. No man could receive such a tribute and remain untouched.

Chintz spreads are lovely for the summer cottage or to give a summery look to the apartment if you are spending the summer at home. Gay little flower designs are scattered over the surface of the chintz.

Meringue falls when the oven is too hot. If you wish to bake a meringue successfully, have oven less than moderate heat.

Don't use a stiff brush when washing linoleum. This destroys the luster. Wash lightly with soap and water.

Leftover fruit juices should be canned for next winter's use. Added to gelatin desserts, puddings, etc., they give a delicious flavor.

Oriental peopoles always grow in the autumn. It is, therefore, wise to divide plants the latter part of July or in August so that they may get a good start before cold weather sets in.

One-third whiting, one-third plaster of paris (poison) and one-third flour mixed with water into a smooth paste, is excellent for filling small cracks in plaster.

The ends of rugs should always be left open when they are rolled and tied up for the summer.

Pinch off all side shoots of tomato plants and remove some of the large branches that do not bear blossoms. The flowering branches will then get more sun and fruit more quickly.

Fresh gingerbread topped with ice cream makes a delicious dessert.

SCHOOLS STANDARDIZED SUPT. CAVENESS REPORTS

 not able to make the grade on the tests submitted.

These tests are simple enough but very searching. They are designed to reveal the character of work the teacher and the pupil are doing. That they accomplish this purpose is readily revealed by even a cursory inspection of the answers turned in by the pupils. Hence, one of the chief virtues of these tests is that it enables county superintendents and school authorities to determine whether a teacher is doing good work or poor work. The test questions are prepared and submitted in printed form by the state department of education. No teacher is allowed to conduct a test of his or her own pupils. Teachers are required to exchange places in conducting these tests, usually teachers in neighboring schools are used.

It is believed that under this system, incompetent teachers will be speedily weeded out. Even some of the affiliated schools in Lynn county, including the Tahoka schools, took these tests this year, not for the purpose of making application for standardization but for the purpose of enabling the superintendent and the school board to determine just what character of work the various teachers in the grades are doing.

The result of this program, it is believed, will be the installation of better equipment in many schools, the weeding out of incompetent teachers and the employment of more proficient ones, and much more efficient and thorough work on the part of the pupils.

East Texas 'Possum Crop Good, Report

L. F. Craft and L. H. Perkins, wearied with the toils of shop and farm, climbed into their limousine last week and headed east, bound for the tall timber. They spent several days with friends at Palestine and Crockett and thus managed to save enough on table fare to pay their gasoline back home.

Their biggest farms down there are merely little garden patches to a West Texan, to hear Leonard tell it, and he came back swearing that those wild stories G. H. Nelson used to tell about the depth of those East Texas ravines were the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth, except that Nelson didn't make them deep enough. But the persimmons and the 'possum crop promises to be good down in old Anderson this fall.

POSTMASTER W. C. WELLS DIED WEDNESDAY A. M.

 In 1904 he was married to Miss Bessie Hanna of this place, and the following children were born of this union: Harley, Cleone (now Mrs. M. O. Bridges), and Evelyn. His wife was killed on July 4, 1916, when an automobile in which she was riding was struck by a train.

On September 16, 1917, Mr. Wells was married to Miss Jewell Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Brown, who survives him. To this union was born one child, Mary Blaind.

Also surviving him are his mother, Mrs. J. S. Wells, and the following brothers and sisters: Mrs. Nora Tomlinson of Paul's Valley, Oklahoma, Mrs. J. H. (Zilla) McCoy of Tahoka, Thurman Wells of O'Donnell, Claud, Ruby, Newman (Jack), and Karr Wells, Mrs. M. H. (Nettie) Edwards, Mrs. Oscar (Bernice) Roberts, and Mrs. Jack (Frankie) Fenton, all of Tahoka, besides numerous other relatives.

His father, the well-known J. S. Wells, died October 12, 1933, since which time the chief responsibility of looking after his mother's affairs have rested upon him.

For many years Mr. Wells was interested with his father and brothers in the operation of a general mercantile and hardware and implement business here, the Wells store being one of the first established in Tahoka, and it enjoyed a longer continuous existence than any other.

Later Mr. Wells became interested in the banking business, and finally became associated with Judge G. E. Lockhart and others in the operation of the Guaranty State Bank, later known as the Security State Bank. About two years ago, Mr. Wells was appointed postmaster here and served in this capacity up to the day of his death.

For four years also he served as a member of the board of trustees of the Tahoka Independent School District, during which time the present handsome and commodious high school building was constructed.

Coleman Wells had many sterling traits of character. He held an esteem for his parents that amounted to nothing less than veneration, and he was devoted to his family with an affection that was deep and beautiful. He loved and appreciated his friends and was loved and appreciated by them. He was courageous but tender-hearted, and was strictly honest in his dealings with his fellow men.

He seemed to have a premonition that death was soon to come, and he more than once told his wife that when it did come he was prepared to go. He died peacefully and unafraid.

Funeral services were conducted at the Methodist Church here at 2:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon in the presence of an immense throng of devoted relatives and friends.

Refreshing Relief When You Need a Laxative

Because of the refreshing relief it has brought them, thousands of men and women, who could afford much more expensive laxatives, use Black-Draught when needed. It is very economical, purely vegetable, highly effective. . . Mr. J. Lester Roberson, well known hardware dealer at Martinsville, Va., writes: "I certainly can recommend Black-Draught as a splendid medicine. I have taken it for constipation and the dull feelings that follow, and have found it very satisfactory."

BLACK-DRAUGHT

after which the body was laid to rest in the Tahoka Cemetery under the direction of Harris & Applewhite, undertakers. The services were conducted by Rev. L. J. McCarty of Hart, pastor of the Primitive Baptist Church here, in whose doctrines deceased had long been a firm believer, assisted by Rev. C. C. Armstrong, pastor of the Methodist Church. All the children, his mother, and all the brothers and sisters who were not prevented by sickness were present.

Tahoka and Lynn county have lost one of their best citizens, a man whom we long ago enshrined in our heart as one of our best friends. May he rest in peace.

MRS. MCCOY BETTER

Mrs. J. H. McCoy, who suffered a serious heart attack Wednesday following the death of her brother, Coleman Wells, and who remained in a most critical condition throughout Wednesday night, was reported to be decidedly better Thursday morning.

BAPTIST REVIVAL MEETING CLOSED SUNDAY NIGHT

 notably the services for aged people Friday morning.

Just before the preaching hour Sunday morning a free-will offering was taken for the benefit of the visiting preacher and the music director and to meet the incidental expenses of the meeting, which was supplemented that night. The contributions amounted to a little more than $334.00.

There was a very decided increase in attendance upon the Sunday school just preceding and during the revival. The attendance the past four Sundays was respectively as follows: 264, 235, 285, and 310. The pastor, the Sunday school superintendent, the teachers, and the officers are exceedingly anxious that there shall be a large attendance again next Sunday. If you are a Baptist in belief or by actual membership, you are urged to be present. All others will be cordially welcomed.

WINS $5.00 PRIZE

Announcement has been made by General Foods Corporation, New York City, that Mrs. D. L. Weaver is one of the winners in a statewide history contest sponsored by the makers of Post cereals. Mrs. Weaver received a $5.00 prize, being among the fifty-nine winners.

Mr. and Mrs. D. V. Smith, Miss Mary Seroyer, and Miss Jeanette Oliver left Thursday morning for a visit with relatives at Cleburne and in Red River county.
