Heavy Vote Polled In Primary Election

CAST IN STATE

Allred, Sheppard Receive Majority; Run-Off Required In Only A Few State Races

Silently and one by one, a million votes were dropped into the ballot nor James V. Allred received a substantial clear majority over all his opponents combined.

With returns still far from comcombined vote of his four opponents was 487,718, leaving him a clear majority of 44,082 at that time; and as additional returns came in.

The vote for his opponents respectively was as follows: Hunter. 233,916; Fischer, 141,985; Sanderford, 79,431; Brooks, 32,386.

The total vote cast in the first primary two years ago was 1,000,426. It will considerably exceed that figure this election.

Morris Sheppard, veteran, mem-er of the United States Senate, was Big Spring Plays ber of the United States Senate, was also an easy winner. His majority over all his opponents, five in number, was even larger-much largerthan Allred's. There were several close county and local contests.

W. S. (Skip) Taylor, district clerk here ever since the office was separated from the office of county clerk, was defeated for re-election by Miss Hattie Server of Wilson by 52 votes, the vote being: 1408 for Taylor, and 1460 for Miss Server.

Miss Viola Ellis, county treasurer for many years, defeated her opponent, Miss Jewell Redwine, by the narrow margin of 71 votes; Miss Ellis receiving 1516 votes and Miss Redwine 1445.

P. W. Goad was easily the winner for the office of county judge. While the name of W. E. (Happy) Smith appeared on the ballot as a candidate for re-election, yet he had recently accepted the office of postmaster here and had resigned as county judge. The people generally accepted this as a virtual withdrawal from the race. Mr. Goad received

Mrs. H. W. Crews Injured In Wreck

Mrs. H. W. Crews of Petty, who was so critically injured in a car accident near Cleburne on July 15. is still in a serious condition in the Lubbock Sanitarium. She was given first aid treatment in Cleburne immediately after the accident and was then brought home. A day or two later she was taken to the Sanitarium, where an x-ray examination revealed that her vertebra was fractured and it was necessary for her to be placed in a plaster cast. It is expected that she will be able to be brought back to her home within two or three weeks but it will probably be a year before the cast can be removed, it is said.

Mrs. Crews was injured when she and other members of the family were on their way to Waco to attend the funeral of her step-mother. The driver lost control of the car when it struck a concrete dip, on 710 the highway and it overturned.

times as many newspapers as are published in New York tell you anything you choose to believe. from editorials written by men who do not know that the royal and imperial French families died and were buried after the war of 1870 to fiery-eyed moderns who think they can graft Karl Marx and Lenin on Jacques Bonhomme, the French peasant, and produce a French Utopia, with a Russian accent and a pair of high boots.

They do not know Jacques Bonhomme, who bought his land in the revolution at bargain prices with inflated assignats, and means to keep it, nor do they know the smallsized French bourgeois, who thinks more of one four-cent franc than some of our governing geniuses think of a billion 59-cent dollars.

The Marx-Stalin-Lenin brotherhood in America, by the way, does not understand the inside feelings of the U.S. A. citizen, with his bungalow, automobile, radio set, washing machine and furniture, all 'nearly paid for.

Send HIM, instead of a bill for his last installment, the statement, "No more private property," and see what he says and does.

You take your choice of dozens of Paris daily newspapers; the wild kind, that say anything and lose money; the tame kind, that say nothing and make money, but very little of it; the mummified kind, that still take "Madame La Marquise" seriously, and think themelves back in the days of old Madame De Deffand and Lord Bol-

You have, also, newspapers from all the Lilliput countries nearby-English, Italian, German-and the news is in them, only you must know how to extract it. They are queer little newspapers, and if that be provincialism, make the most

In London, for instance, Lord Rothermere's newspaper tells you that Mr. Eden, British foreign secretary, has gone to "a secret destination" in the country for a week's rest.

English statesmen always go to "a secret destination," for reasons unknown to Mr. James Farley, who relaxes at the ringside, or President Roosevelt, who rests fishing. on a battleship, with fifty reporters on another ship, nearby.

You wonder that a man as young as Eden should need a rest. Gladstone, at nearly twice his age, was talking in the Commons at four in the morning-but Gladstones are few, Tim Healys also.

Rothermere's writer thinks Eden is all tired out after his Geneva speech, telling just why England lifted the Italian sanctions. It was he who made a speech recently, just as earnest and much louder, telling why those sanctions must NEVER be lifted. That was turning a big somersault. The English know how to do that, and you are supposed not to laugh.

Eden told Baldwin what the doctor said, and Baldwin said, "By all means, my boy, hurry off to a secret destination," and Eden hurried. In America, the businessman would say, "Doctor, there are a few things that I must settle first," meaning, perhaps, his income tax. He would hang on and on, and finally go to a really secret destination. in the aveyard.

Driving through Normandy, from Havre, where the ships land, would interest American farmers, especially any whose lands are "worn out" after comparatively few years of cultivation. On lands in this part of the world, wheat has been grown for three hundred years, and today yields better, bigger crops than ever.

In Rome, as in other places on the earth's surface, one city is piled upon another. Dig down through one and the other appears. Invasions, plagues, famines and the grinding ice have wiped them out.

IT SEEMS at this time that nothing can prevent the great schism in the ranks of American organized labor. John L. Lewis, head of the United Mine Workers, and his followers in the industrial union movement, are determined to go ahead with their plans for the organization of steel workers into a mass union, and now have expanded their program, proposing to unionize thus the employees of steel fabrication and processing plants.

Moreover, Lewis and his associates have declared they will not appear before the executive council of the American Federation of Labor to stand trial on charges of "fomenting insurrection," so it appears the council can do nothing but suspend the rebels and their unions, these constituting about one third of the federation's membership. If this is done, the final decision as to expulsion of these unions will be made by the national convention in Tampa in November. The members of the Committee for Industrial Organization, the Lewis group, assert the contemplated proceedings of the council are unwarranted by the constitution of the federation.

Philip Murray, vice president of the United Mine Workes, gave out the news of the CIO drive to gather in the steel fabricators and processors, who number between 300,-000 and 400,000 men. As there are about 446,000 employees in the steel mills, the goal of the CIO is now the organization of more than three quarters of a million steel workers.

Roosevelt likes him for that.

The administration's opponents have been delivering a pitiless attack on Farley. Sometimes it has been a brutally unfair attack, but as the late Huey Long said personally to him once: "Jim, I like you; and the reason I am attacking you is because when-I am in a fight I always throw a rock at the biggest man." There you have the reason why the Republicans and the anti-New Deal editors have been trying to tell Roosevelt to get rid of Farley . . . but Roosevelt doesn't let the opposition tell him what to do, so Farley merely takes a vacation as Postmaster General and stays with the shock troops during the campaign.

Admires Roosevelt.

Farley has always been a deep admirer of Roosevelt. He has fought the old-line organization New York state Democrats to a finish in Roosevelt's behalf. He is a nominal member of Tammany Hall in New York, but he has lead the fight against Tammany for Roosevelt, whom Tammany does not like. A lot of squawking and uninformed editors complain that Farley has Tammanyized national politics, but in New York city Tamhowever, be delighted if they could asmuch as he remains with the progressive Roosevelt on the honest side of government, the Tammany Hall boys look on Farley as someone to be jumped on as soon as he is down-but no sooner! Farley scored a victory for good government in 1930, when he was elected chairman of the New York State Democratic committee, and by 1932 he had the whole country lined up with enough delegates to nominate Roosevelt. He was at that time not only opposing the Al Smith sentiment and its great element in the party, but he also had to fight the unseen, underground opposition of the old guard Republicans who hated and feared Roosevelt (and for good reason, as it now appears) . . . In that year when Farley went out to Seattle ostensibly to attend an Elks' convention, he started his cross-country trek to nominate Roosevelt. He began to talk Roosevelt at a time when Roosevelt appeared to be a rank amateur in contrast to the Big League Al Smith. He was so successful that his opponents credit him with a victory; but are cowardly enough to ascribe to him pork barrel, dark lantern and illicit methods. I think this aspect childish, as everyone knows. The of the fight hurts Jim Farley, who is, I believe, about as honest a man as ever fought his way to the top in politics. One wholesale charge against Farley is that he has used the entire administration of government for political purposes, and his accusers back it up with the fact that there are now a huge number of government employees appointed politically and not taken from the civil service "merit" list. The figures covering the number of employees appear to bear this charge out, but the facts are, as I have related several times, that the great emergency required an immediate drafting of several thousand clerks, administrators and specialists, and the civil 'service could not meet the demand for the simple reason that there were not enough people on their qualified list.

Federal Finances.

It will be hard for the public to get a clear view of government finances this summer. The government's bookkeeping is vast and inthe natural confusion of large figures with the noise of a political campaign, and it will be an exceptional person who can comprehend it all. There is no dispute as to the wisdom of balancing the budget and paying out less than we take in-but it must be remembered that our present deficits in the bookkeeping at the U.S. Treasury' are caused solely by the tremendous and generous policies of this administration in providing hu- remittingly in every pivotal state. mane and necessary items of relief, payment of the soldiers' bonus, and loss of the processing taxes by the Supreme Court's decision against AAA.

In counting up the appropriations of the session of congress just closed, it is impossible to apportion it off into calendar years and cover many situations not generally understood. For instance, congress appropriates for the Post Office department what looks like a huge expenditure—the public forgets that this sum is practically covered by the postal receiptscash taken in for stamps at the post office windows.

So, when the orators charge that this last congress appropriated the unheard of sum of $10,300,000,000, don't think it was for one year. It covered at least two fiscal years, and many items were spread farther. The objects which predominate are veterans, relief and unemployment, and assistance to agriculture. Nearest I can come to the amount appropriated for the current fiscal year which began July 1 and ends June 30, 1937, is $6,817,000,000. The foundation stone of the new social security policy is included—a matter of $475,000,000 to start off the fund which eventually will be made up of contributions from employers and employees for old age and unemployment insurance.

The largest item is, of course, relief, $1,400,000,000. This government is committed to the policy of not permitting anyone to starve. Relief expenditures will probably dwindle with the betterment of business, but does anyone expect the existing industrial policies to absorb the slack in unemployment? I'm sure I don't. I think the machine age has perfected mechanical devices to the point where machinery will take the place of more human beings. This means we will have to adopt shorter work days and shorter weeks, and that we must adopt an all-inclusive nationwide policy of cooperative industry so that the army of the unemployed can be put to work in the industries which supply them with their necessities of life.

Unemployment.

We have been promised an end to unemployment on various occasions. The brewers said that beer would end unemployment; that we would raise a billion dollars in taxes and put every jobless man to work if we could have the return of beer. Well, we now have beer, and also unemployment. Then we were promised an end to unemployment with the payment of the bonus. This bonus is a sort of many wouldn't throw Farley a rope midsummer Christmas. Business if he was drowning. They would, is getting those millions now and draw Jim into their ranks so they mer and fall, and if this unprececould use his political skill, but in- dented expenditure does not provide sufficient increase in industry and commerce to furnish jobs for the workers now unemployed, then, in my personal opinion, we have come to the end of waiting for industry to make good.

The next step is a permanent policy of jobs by government enterprise-either conservation work and great public projects-or cooperative industry where the workers make their own goods.

As It Looks.

Political prophets take their reputations in their hands, but there's no harm in reporting the consensus as to how various sections of the country stand right now. "If the election were to be held today" I would say that Roosevelt has more than a mere majority of the popular vote, but that it is so distributed as to make it necessary for him to fight vigorously in some of the farge pivotal states. I'd give the Republicans New England-but remember that the lower economic order the country over is going to vote for Roosevelt for the things he is doing for social justice. . John Hamilton's statement that Roosevelt cannot carry six states is solid South-11 states-is always for Roosevelt.

New York state was 400,000 to the good for the Democrats a year ago, but the Republicans claim the vote has shifted. Maybe so, but don't bet too heavily on it. Governor Lehman running again is a sure-fire vote-getter for the New Deal. Pennsylvania belongs to anybody . . . things are confused there but Republican claims for Illinois based upon the grass roots ebulliency are not verified by the younger crowd of newspaper men covering politics, who give Roosevelt the state by 250,000.

Michigan interests me. It went Democratic for Roosevelt, then came back strong G. O. P. for Vandenbergh. The Democrats think they can take it by running Murrhy for governor-I doubt it. Minnesota is Democratic now. California will go for Roosevelt by half a million; Washington and Oregon are safely Democratic. Idaho will see a fight. It seems Democratic enough to give its electoral vote to Roosevelt, but Bill Borah is out tricate; difficult to understand. Mix there and he's always a disturber. Oklahoma is Democratic despite the defection of Alfalfa Bill Murray. The Democrats have the nerve to say they can take Kansas from Landon . . . I wonder. Ne-braska appears to be a Republican state, but the chief Republican there is Senator George W. Norris, who is Roosevelt's strongest supporter.

It all adds to this: Roosevelt can win, but his crowd must fight un-

-19-He didn't want to walk all day, and he did want to see what the other papers had to say of last night's events In the Cocoanut Bar, At Fifth avenue, therefore, he turned into the public library. The reports were much alike-"Night club proprietor killed resisting arrest" and "The indictment against Jay Rogers, now held for the Kelly murder, probably will be dismissed today." Barry sat, almost alone, in the "newspaper room," turning the case over in his mind. Then he asked for old files of one of the tabloids.

He was nearly an hour finding an account of the Winslow wedding. Without any definite knowledge of the date, It was a bit like looking for the proverbial needle in a haystack. Barry's curiosity was rewarded, at last, when he stumbled upon a pictorial front page headed, "Lawyer Weds Convict's Widow." The ceremony had taken place at St. Stephen's. There were plctures of the church and of the convict -"George Selby (inset) and Love Nest Where He Took His Bride," The smudgy little "inset" might have been a portrait of Nicholas Murray Butler or Jack Dempsey, and the house might have been any house, anywhere. There was an obviously faked photograph of a holdup, and an obviously genuine one of "Mr. and Mrs. Winslow Leaving St. Stephen's." "Gosh." Barry reflected: "no wonder Mrs. Winslow had a nervous breakdown!"

The story, on the second page, was In the best tabloid tradition, "Five years ago," it began, "Peter Winslow, obscure young attorney, secured the acquittal of George Selby, charged with participating in the robbery of a candy store in the Bronx, Yesterday, Peter Winslow, rich and famous criminal lawyer, and George Selby's widow were the principal figures in what was to have been a secret ceremony at St. Stephen's."

The present Mrs. Winslow had run away with George Selby while he was a cadet in a military school, They had come to New York, rented the "love nest," and been "blissfully happy" until Selby ran out of money, and was compelled to take his wife to a boarding house. He had been arrested there, for the candy store robbery, in April, 1921. Peter Winslow had got him off, but, the following June, he was caught in another robbery in Philadelphia, and sentenced to a long term in the 'State Penitentiary. With two other convicts, "Lefty" Miller and "Mugs" Scanlan, he had escaped in October, 1923. Penniless, the men "staged a hold-up that same night in Fairmount Park. The victim called for help, and Selby killed him. Scanlan was shot dead by a police officer, and Selby, attempting to get away, jumped into the river, and was drowned. His body was found two weeks later, entangled in an anchor chain "

Winslow had given Mrs. Selby work in his office, and "three years after Selby's death, love culminated in the ceremony at St. Stephen's."

That explained a good deal, Barry .thought, remembering the soft, round. pink little woman with worried eyes. It explained Peter's protective attitude. It might explain his quick interest in the Rogers case, in which, Barry had told Winslow, Peggy had been "putting up such a game fight to make a man of her husband."

"That sort of thing always gets me." Peter had observed, "A woman tied up to some man who's not worthy of her, and in love with him."

Peter's "Julie" had been in love with her first husband, then. And he with her, evidently, to judge by what the tabloids said of their happiness. "Must have been something good in that chap," Barry reasoned, "Probably realfized what his wife was trying to do for him. We're a curious mixture."

He was still brooding over curious mixtures, and other things, when a clock struck somewhere, and reminded him that, by now, there might be a message as to young Ridder's release awaiting him at his hotel,

There wasn't.

All Thursday afternoon Barry sat in his room and, at five o'clock, he called Peter's secretary. "Nothing definite yet," she informed him. "The District Attorney's making the motion all right, but it'll be tomorrow now before anything comes of it." Against his better judgment, then. Barry phoned Harwood. "Don't worry," the city editor said. "Have you seen tonight's Globe? Whole first page one loud yell for this kid's release. They'll be so glad to get him off their hands-"

In spite of his friendliness, Barry noticed that Ernie didn't say, "Come on down; we've something else for you." Nor even, "Of course, we'll expect you to cover Rogers getting out of fall." Why should he? "The big run away a week ago, and I couldn't beat" was Harwood's "beat," not Barry's and, anyway, the old man would said. I've got a new picture of myself is even used as a substitute for butter be at his desk the day after tomorrow. Harwood did say that, at last. "You'd Probably not before Monday. He'll be pretty busy for a day or two. Of course, you'll be around for your salary on Saturday. Might look me up

He was still on the pay roll, at least, That was important, what with over-Sober reflection, backed by experience, had persuaded Barry that he couldn't get much on his wardrobe. The studs and cuff-links were rather cheap stuff. He had sold an overcoat once—in this very town-for three dollars.

Saturday's money would just square the bank account. As for the hotel bill-"Well, I'll give them my clothes." Barry decided, "and I'll have something left in my jeans when I move out of here."

He phoned Peggy again, and then dined frugally and went back to his room. Step by step, he went over its details, seeing everything in the new light cast by the events of the past few hours. At midnight, for the fifth or sixth time, he re-read the story in the Globe, "Well, that's that," he said aloud, tossing the paper into the wastebasket and winding his silver wristwatch. "Morano's dead, young Ridder'll be free tomorrow, old Ridder'll be home Saturday, and that's that. Wonder where I'll be a week from now."

It didn't matter much. "Nothing matters much," he told himself again. dwelling on Pat's phrase, "Not without Pat, it doesn't. She's a grand girl. Out of my class, though. A week from now, she'll be playing tennis and going over to dinner at the Ridders. Wonder if Peg'll be there. Wonder what's going to happen to those two young people?"

In Friday morning's paper, under "Personal Intelligence," he found a mention of the Winslows, "Mr. and Mrs. Peter Winslow are sailing on the Aquitania next Wednesday," the item read, "for an extended tour of the Continent." That was that, too. Barry's drama was ending with all its principal characters disposed of, as well-made drama should end. 6 Winslow's secretary called him just before noon, "Mr. Winslow wants me to tell you that Rogers will be free in an hour or two."

"How's Mrs. Winslow?" "Much better. Mr. Winslow's still with her, though."

"And the Hambidges?" "No; they went back to Southampton last night."

Once more, that was that, Barry thought, getting his hat and making tracks for the subway. He reached the Tombs well in advance of official orders for the release of "Jay Rogers."

Was," Ridder Admitted.

It was nearly five o'clock, indeed, when "Jay Rogers" appeared, looking very white and haggard, and the last train had left for Southampton. "You can talk to Peggy on the phone," Barry told him, "and then you'd better have dinner with me, and a good night's rest at my hotel. The Bremen gets in very early, and you'll want to be on the dock.'

Jack looked at him quizzically. "Will L"

"Won't you?"

"I suppose so, I'd like to see my mother.'

"I'd like to see her myself," Barry said. "She's been swell to you, all right."

"Yes." At dinner, Jack declared, "I'll take that job on the paper now, if my father'll give it to me."

"Why not?" "You started me thinking. I can see the old man's viewpoint. He's got to be decent to Peggy, though. It's both of us, or neither. . . . What's going to happen to you?" "Search me!" "Look here," Jack blurted. "I'm Ridder now. Who needs to know that I was ever Jay Rogers? I've been at Southampton all the time, writing letters to my mother, and everything. You've been Barry Gilbert, working on the Globe, and likely to go on working there. What's the matter with that?"

"Willetts is the matter with it," Barry answered-"Willetts, and Evans, and Winslow, and all the camera-clickers on the newspapers. There've been several pictures of you already. I can't understand why you weren't identified long ago." "Maybe I was," Ridder admitted." "Your old college chums don't exactly run after you while you're in jail. They don't get to be college chums until you're in Who's Who."

"Anyway," Barry continued, "your scheme's out. I want to come clean. Don't ask me why. I was going to make it. 'Gentlemen don't do that,' I as a gentleman."

"That's what does the trick, I guess," Mediterranean.

better see him. I'll phone you when. | Jack speculated. "Most of us spend our lives trying to live up to the portraits of ourselves that hang over our mental mantel-pieces. Yours was of a reckless, devil-may-care young vagabond. Then you moved into a house, and company, where that picture didn't fit. You hung up a new one, and you've drafts and hetel bills, and such things, got to live up to that now. It was the same way with me. The picture of myself I liked was of an irresponsible, slightly dissipated young genius. The family portraits didn't appeal to me. Yours did-your new picture of yourself, I mean. I'm going to try to be like that the rest of my life."

They were lingering over cigars and effee now. "What is a gentleman?" Barry asked.

Jack smiled. "The fellow who gets the right portrait." "I suppose so," Barry said. "Family and clothes didn't make you one-not when you were getting drunk and forging checks. I wasn't one when I took another man's name, and money, and made up to a girl who thought I was somebody else. . . . Pictures over mantel-pieces. That's another word for tradition, I guess. The tradition that makes men defend women, and go down on sinking ships, and all that sort of thing. When that stops being our picture of ourselves, 'God help all of us.' I told Pat once . . . Come on; let's go to a movie!"

CHAPTER XII

The next afternoon-around three o'clock-Harwood phoned.

"The old man wants to see you. Here at his office. I'd come quick if were you."

So Jack had told him. Or Evans

"I'd be glad if you'd tell Willetts, and the rest," Barry had said to the chauffeur. "It'll save me introducing the subject." It would, too. He had dreaded his first few moments with Ridder -beginning his story with a pair of cold, calm eyes boring into him. They would be cold eyes; he felt sure of that.

And they were "The big chief" sat at his big desk in big, richly-furnished office with a big door and a little one. The big double door opened into the reception room. Barry entered through that, and found himself facing Ridder and the smaller single door behind him.

Ridder was reading a radiogram, and he went on reading. A tall, thin man, with New England written all over him. A youngish man for his age, which might have been fifty. He wore gold-rimmed spectacles. His long, thin, absolutely straight mouth was higher at the right end, and his right eye was longer and narrower than his left. He had a sharp chin, and a thin nose, and a broad forehead, with thin, graving, sandvish hair. The kind of man who could say "Good morning" as though hat ended the discu

"All right," Barry repeated to himself. "I'll take my medicine. It'll soon be over, anyway. He isn't going to give a damn what I did for his son. If I can say anything to make it easier for those two youngsters and Jacky-Wonder what's back of that little door "

He was still wondering when the big chief looked up. "You're Gilbert?"

"Yes, sir."

"Alias Ridder, eh?" "Yes, sir."

They were cold eyes. Very cold. Mostly to end the silence, Barry said, "I suppose your son told you." "Nobody told me. I've known att about you for two months."

"You've known-" "I heard my wife's talk with my son the day before we sailed. Through the door to my bedroom. I heard her invite him to Southampton. Next morning, I arranged with Willetts to give me a full report of his doings there." "And- ?" Barry was thinking in monosyllables. "And, in his first letter, he mentioned your red hair." Barry grinned "He also mentioned your taking a hundred dollar bill out of an envelope addressed to Mrs. Ridder." The grin faded.

"You haven't made a move that I haven't known about."

He waited. "Why didn't you have me arrested?" "Because I knew that my son was in prison, accused of this murder. I read about that less than an hour after I'd satisfied myself that you weren't my son. Jay Rogers. I'd had a man following him all about Florida. The man's report agreed perfectly with the newspaper account of Jay Rogers." #8+f11-# "What was I to do? Sail? The doctor said that was out of the question, I wired Harwood 'Rogers didn't kill Kelly. Find out who did.' Twenty-four hours later. I knew you were on the Globe, and why, and that you'd succeeded in interesting Winslow." (TO BE CONTINUED)

Our Early Windows

Our windows originally were divided into small panes, because only small panes could be made economically. Glass was blown like toy balloons, and, naturally, only small areas could be cut from these glass globes to fit in a flat frame. When the art of glassmaking made large panes possible the tendency was to clear our windows of all cross pieces and have large unobstructed surfaces.

Source of Olive Oil Olive oil comes, as its name implies from the olive, the fruit of small tree which grows in southern Europe. In its unripe state, the olive is eaten between the courses of a dinner. When ripe, it yields olive oil, which has many uses-both internal and external, it in some countries bordering on the LESSON TEXT-Acts 8-5-40. GOLDEN TEXT—Therefore they that were scattered abroad went everywhere preaching the word.—Acts 8:4.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Philip Tells the Glad—

JUNIOR TOPIC-Philip Tells the Glad lews.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC Pioneering for Jesus.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC— The Gospel Crosses the Frontier

Evangelism is the work of every follower of Christ, and primarily the work of the layman. This duty cannot be delegated to the church as an organized body or to its official servants.

Philip was a layman, a deacon in the church by office, but an evangelist by the gift and calling of the Holy Spirit. His experience in leading the Ethiopian eunuch to Christ demonstrates that one who is yielded to the Spirit-I. Will Find Opportunity for Soul Winning (v. 26). Most unexpected places will afford opportunities. Philip was in the midst of a great revival in Samaria when the angel of the Lord sent him to Gaza-a desert place. Who would he meet here? Remember that the great world-evangelist, Dwight L. Moody, was converted in a humble shoe store by the earnest approach of a Sunday school teacher. II. Will Respond Immediately to the Spirit's Leading (vv. 29, 30). The Spirit said "go." Philip "ran." The fundamental of fundamentals in God's children is obedience. The opportunity, the inquiring soul, the equipped personal worker, all were prepared by God for just that moment. All would have been lost had Philip failed to obey.

III. Will Find That Men and Women Are Ready to Receive the Truth (vv. 28, 31-34).

God prepares souls, and more are willing to be saved than we think. Whether it was through his experience at Jerusalem, his spiritual hunger before he went up, or the reading of the Word, or all these together, the eunuch was ready.

Neighbors, schoolmates, tradespeople, fellow workers-they may present God's opportunity for us. IV. Will Find That God Honors

Men by Using Them to Win Others. He could "save a man all alone on the top of the Alps," but he doesn't ordinarily do it. Remember it was "the sword of the Lord and of Gideon" that wrought a victory. The eunuch needed an interpreter of the truth. Philip was God's man.

V. Will Know God's Word (v. 35), We cannot interpret what we do not know. One who is not personally acquainted with the Living Word by regeneration, and the Written Word by diligent study, is not able to help others. Could you begin (as Philip did) at Isaiah 53:7, and lead a man to Christ? If not, should you not begin to study your Bible with such an end in view

VI. Will "Carry Through" to a Decision (vv. 36, 37)

A salesman may be brilliant, cultured, and persuasive, but what counts is the signature on the dotted line at the bottom of an order. Philip pressed for and obtained a decision

VII. Will Follow-up His Convert

(vv. 36, 37). Much so-called evangelism fails to go beyond a mere profession-a declaration of faith. The eunuch and Philip both knew that an inward faith declares itself in an outward act-and he was baptized. VIII. Will Recognize That the Message Is Important, Not the Messenger (v. 39). When the work was done the evangelist was carried away by the Spirit. God's work goes on. His workman we set aside. As an advertising company has wellexpressed it. "The purpose of advertising is to impress the product upon the reader's mind, not the medium.

It is a fine testimony to the effectiveness of Philip's ministry that although he was gone his convert went "on his way rejoicing." His faith did not rest on the evangelist nor any human fellowship-he knew God. Let us be sure to win souls to God and not simply to a personal allegiance to us or to a religious organization.

Why not be a Philip? Any man or woman who knows the Lord Jesus Christ as personal Savior can be a winner of souls. It has well been said that all that Philip had was "a love for souls, a knowledge of the Word and a sensitiveness to the leading of the Lord. That is all we need. If every Christian were a Philip the world would be won for Christ in ten years."

COMMON SENSE AND JUSTICE WILL FINALLY PREVAIL

The election last Saturday revealed the fact that even in a conservative agricultural state like Texas there is a rapidly growing number of people who are thoroughly dissatisfied with our present economic situation and who favor some kind-yes, any kind-of share-thewealth scheme, whether plausible or not, that may be proposed.

In a large sense, we are in sympathy with this feeling and attitude. While the proposed Townsend plan, we believe, is thoroughly impractical, unworkable, and fantastic, and would not and could not bring about the prosperity and happiness that its proponents claim it would, yet every well - informed and thoughful person must recognize the fact that there is great economic injustice in this country which calls for the best thought and the sanest consideration of our wisest statesmen at Washington and

It must become a matter of grave concern in any country when a few individuals own most of the wealth -when a few people wallow in epulence while millions of their fellow men tramp the streets hungry, ragged, and jobless. That is a condition which has prevailed in this country now for several years, and the number of the unemployed has remained distressingly large in spite of the fact that the Government has

Considering how fine this railroad transportation is nowadays, you can't travel any cheaper. Fares lowest in history—substantial savings on round trip tickets. So why not take the train? It's safer. It's more dependable.

You can't beat the improved travel comfort in coaches and sleeping cars. It's a good thing movies don't have such restful seats - most folks would sure fall asleep.

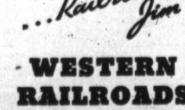

Ever hear about the new Free pick-up-and-delivery of less than carload freight? It's a great convenience to shippers and receivers alike. Western railroads pick up at the door, ship by fast freight, and deliver to door at no extra charge.

Railroad trains are running on faster schedules these days. Seems like the iron horse wants to show these new streamlined diesels that he can step out, too. Both passenger and freight schedules have been speeded up.

What's more, the railroads believe in "safety first." Last year not one passenger was killed in a train accident on western railroads.

At least two of his opponents, Hunter and Sanderford, indulged in excessive abuse. They could not talk five minutes without venting their spleen and malice. Many people became disgusted. That old Greek adage, "Whom the gods would destroy, they first make mad," seems never to have soaked in on Hunter and Sanderford. Hunter has been mad ever since he was defeated two years ago, and Sanderford has also been mad ever since that election; and both have been assiduously "nursing their wrath to keep it warm" for the past two years. They are poor politicians; and as we said in the beginning, they blundered

Nervous, Weak Woman Soon All Right

"I had regular shaking spells from nervousness," writes Mrs. Cora Sanders, of Paragould, Ark. "I was all run-down and cramped at my time until I would have to go to bed. After my first bottle of Cardui, I was better. I kept taking Cardul and soon I was all right. The shaking quit and I did not cramp. I felt worlds better. I gave Cardul to my daughter who was in about the same condition and she was soon all right."

Topeka, Kas.-With all the impressive simplicity and the searching earnestness of a Lincoln, Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas, "a typical prairie state," made his speech accepting the Republican nomination for President July 23 before an audience of nearly 80,000 gathered at the south entrance of the Kansas state house.

His address was in reply to the official notification given him by Representative Bertrand H. Snell of New York, that the Republican party had conferred upon him its highest honor. Besides the wildly enthusiastic throng who filled Topeka to overflowing, Governor Landon's talk was heard by millions of radio listeners.

The first sentence of his speech accepted the honor. His second: "In accepting this leadership, I pray for Divine Guidance to make me worthy of the faith and the confidence which you have shown in me," adding: "Facing this honor and responsibility, I hope for the gift of simple and straightforward speech. I want every man and of the Executive branch takes an woman in this nation to understand oath that he will, to the best of his my every word, for I speak of issues deeply concerning us all.

"Short of Success" Governor Landon first dealt with the social policies of relief and unemployment, declaring "The New Deal has fallen far short of success," and went on to explain his plans to correct the evils. Make the Social Security act "workable." freed from "political exploiters," he urged, and pledged his party never to neglect the obligations to the unemployed. He next scored rising public debts and taxes and the "uncertainties" of the present administration's policies which have frightened the average American and prevented the launching of new enterprises which would promote recovery.

He rapped the New Deal with: "The most important question now before us: Shall we continue to delegate more and more power to the Chief Executive or do we desire to preserve the American form of government?"

The address concluded with a succinct series of statements as to his belief in Constitutional government and his proposals for the executive policies, if elected. Summarized, these were:

"The Republican party does not believe the people wish to abandon the American form of government. "We propose to maintain the Constitutional balance of power between the states and the federal

"Here in a solvent Kansas the people found a man who worked calmly amid all the noisy din of the New Deal's failures and false starts. They found a man who kept his books and the books of his government by simple, honest, oldfashioned arithmetic . . . a man who stood like a rock against the posed that they could guide America to stability and prosperity by shameful political squandering of the people's substance. City Puts Down Hand Dug Well

A new well four feet in diameter has recently been dug by the City to a depth of 90 feet in the vicinity of the new drilled wells north of The water bearing sand was encountered at this depth, but the well has not been completed and no test has been made as to the amount of water it may furnish. The City hopes to be able to have the well finished and the test made at some early date.

CHURCH OF CHRIST NOTES

I closed a fine meeing at Dunn, Texas, last Sunday night in which six souls were saved and much good done otherwise. One of the outstanding things of the meeting was that while the people in that vicinity have practically no crops in sight, yet I did not hear a complaint. How I wish all people might catch the spirit. What good does it do to gripe and complain anyway?

I will begin a meeting at Sylvester Friday night of this week to continue ten days.

COBB, DEAN OF HUMORISTS. IS STARRED IN LAUGH FILM

In "Everybody's Old Man," the Fox picture which shows at the English Theatre Sunday, Monday, and Tuesday, Irvin S. Cobb proves that the reason you can't teach an old codger new tricks is that he's too busy teaching young folks the ones he knows! .

With his wise smile, his droll drawl and his famous quips, the dean of American story-tellers makes his starring debut in this new picture, surrounded by a youthful cast that features Rochelle Hudson, Johnny Downs and Norman Foster.

The plot deals with a retired captain of industry who adopts the reckless children of his former competitor. To straighten them out, and to show the nephew he left in charge of his own plant a trick or two, Cobb takes charge of their deteriorating business.

His plans prove so successful that his old business almost goes broke, and, in the final scenes, after he has contrived a tender romance between Rochelle Hudson and Norman Foster, the children discover who their mysterious benefactor is.

The important supporting roles are filled by Sara Haden, Alan Dinehart and Warren Hymer. Irvin Cobb was cast in a series of short comedies. Will Rogers, a life long friend and rival, persuaded Cobb to make his debut in a featurelength picture, and in "Steamboat Round the Bend" it rappend with happy results.

AMARILLO- Amarillo now has over night airmail service to New York. A new TWA airmail flight leaves here at 9:52 P.M. and is in New York at 8:30 o'clock the following morning. Increased airmail business has been responsible for bringing the new airmail service to Amarillo.

of stockmen, is not new to ranchmen in the Southwest. In general, the purpose of the screw worm control campaign is to convey to livestock raisers that information which has been made available by research workers-information that has been found to be practical and economical in treating screw worm cases and in controlling the screw worm

This campaign is being conducted by the United States Department of Agriculture, Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine, in cooperation with the extension services of state agencies in the states affected.

The control of screw worms is essentially connected with better ani- my heart. mal husbandry practices, and all sent different range conditions and date. On these ranches various animal husbandry practices will be tried, worm killers and and fly repellants will be tested and various methods of controlling the screw worm will be studied. Careful reports will be made of these experiments to show if they are practical and economical under range conditions. As soon as this information is made available, it will be passed on to the livestock raisers through the District Supervisors. The adoption and regular use of methods for control of screw worms should inhibit development of large pine tar oil, specific gravity 1.065. populations of screw worm flies in This hastens healing of the wound areas where they are active for long seasons, and should serve to delay occurrence in areas which normally receive them through gradual spread of the pest. The adoption of such preventative methods with prompt and proper treatment of cases should serve to retard spread of the pest. To restrict spread of screw worms through movements of injured animals, the cooperation of railroad agricultural agents will be sought in educational work with dealers, stockyards, livestock associations and operators of local livestock trading centers. It is requested that stockmen having screw worm cases give the records of them to the screw worm supervisor in his district or to his county agent. The supervisor in this district is L. L. Brock, with headquarters at Lubbock.

Budget-Balancer No. 1 -The Housewife

By RAYMOND PITCAIRN

National Chairman Sentinels of the Republic

If our political spendthrifts really want to learn how to balance their budgets let them turn to the average She's Budget-Balancer No. 1.

She has to be. Unlike the newer economists in public office she cannot spend two dollars for every dollar she takes in, and blandly load the differexpenditures to fit whatever income pay envelope may afford.

That's why those "indirect" taxes which boost the family food bill, the family rent bill, the family bills for clothing and for everything else she buys, mean so much to her. No matter on whom the tax-creators and taxeaters attempt to load the cost, the bill is finally paid out of her thin purse.

How deeply do the billions squandered by office-holders during recent years cut into the average housewife's oper-Well, research workers have estimated that the majority of taxes collected by government are passed on to the public in the form of increased prices—and that, so disguised, they consume one dollar out of every five which finds its way into the family pocketbook. Actually, then, the average housewife faces a dual responsibility—first, to conserve the contents of the family purse, and, second, to demand that politicians cease the reckless squandering and piling on of taxes which rob her of the benefits of her sacrifices

In the overwhelming majority of American families she has succeeded in balancing her own budget. Now she is insisting that the politicians co-operate by learning to balance theirs.

Mr. and Mrs. Moman Johnson and two children of Lubbock spent Saturday and Sunday here visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Johnson, and her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Garland Penning ton.

W. L. Banks left Wednesday for Camp Huelan, where he will spend nearly four weeks in the National Guard camp. The News will follow him to keep him from getting too lonesome for the Plains.

If Past Forty, Try This Laxative

If you have taken laxatives over a period of years, and your system is "worn out" with their harsh, unnatural effect—try Feen-a-mint, the delightful chewing gum laxative. As soon as you start chewing it, the stomach-settling mint flavor brings a clean, fresh taste to the mouth. The flow of digestive juices is increased and the laxative is mixed with them and carried into the system evenly. The laxative passes through the stomach and into the bowels so scientifically that your action is wonderfully easy, yet thorough. Besides this, digestive channels receive helpful toning up from the salivary juices. Try the pleasant, refreshing Feen-a-mint way. Doctors prescribe its laxative ingredient for both children and adults. It is non-habit-forming. Sold on a money-back guarantee. Generous family size package 15c and 25c.

RENEW FIGHT AGAINST DROUGHT

Government Seeks Methods of Alleviating Drought Ravages in Future Years Through Water Conservation.

By WILLIAM C. UTLEY

W HILE a blazing sun beats relentlessly on the parched fields of the Northwest and South, man grapples anew with the monster, Drought, in an effort to minimize its destructive effects, and to devise ways of mitigating future ravages. No one can predict a drought, and no one can prevent one, but much can be done to lessen their effects. The drought period through which the country has been passing since 1930 has caused the adoption of methods which will enable us to make better use of the available water in even the driest years.

To meet the immediate emergency government agencies have devised a three-fold program which consists of supplying 55,000 WPA jobs in the Dust Bowl and 20,000 in the South: of making Resettlement administration loans to at least 50,-000 persons, and of purchasing a million head of cattle with a fivemillion dollar fund in the hands of the Department of Agriculture. In the whole country 336 counties had been listed up to July 15 where the crops are considered a total loss, and where efforts will be devoted to saving livestock and alleviating human distress. The Department of Agriculture is buying up some of the stock and the railroads are offering reduced freight rates to ship the animals to fresh pasture, to be returned later when conditions have improved.

of the spring wheat area has been | range operations. Montana farms present an aspect ment administration is buying up cuted largely by the Soil Conservation service of the Department of Agriculture. Grass is planted to prevent erosion and to encourage the proper type of furrowing.

2. Shelter Belt Development. The Forestry service is in charge of this. It is designed to be 100 miles wide and 1,000 miles long. Halfmile tracts, each a few feet thick, have already been planted along the front. More than two million dollars for a project estimated to cost seventy-five millions have been spent, and congress has refused to make further funds available.

3. Reclamation. Irrigation and dam projects are being carried on by the Department of the Inferior in the western states. Under The drought area presents a sad the Taylor act to preserve grass picture today. The major portion the department is also improving of desolation that veteran farmers | 1,282,522 acres, returning them to say is without precedent. This condition even extends into Minnesota. Fields that were green with grain and where lush pastures grew a year ago, appear today as only a blackened expanse. The range country is burned so dry that it cannot support either sheep or cattle. Millions of grasshoppers are everywhere. Even the small spots that have escaped the ravages of the drought have been desolated by this plague. When they complete their work in one field they fly to another. It is not uncommon, according to travelers, to see some automobile stopped so that the battered bodies of thousands of these pests may be scraped from the radiator and windshield.

Hundreds of farmers whose lives have been spent on these farms are today loading their few possessions in autos, trucks and wagons and starting out for some other section of the country, where they will attempt to start life over again. Today, their work of years is completely gone and they have become discouraged with the struggle to obtain a living for their families in the stricken area.

Offer Local Relief.

To help these unfortunate folk, the Resettlement administration has declared a one-year moratorium on rural rehabilitation loans on between 25,000 and 30,000 farms in the drought-stricken counties throughout the nation. At the same time the Works Progress administration has started a program to provide jobs, digging wells, building farm to market roads, and terracing land. About $18,000,000 will be available for crop loans and feed, and the RA will spend $1,700,-000 monthly on $20 doles to suffering farmers.

It is estimated that between 3,-000,000 and 5,000,000 farm dwellers have been seriously affected by the drought. A total of 204,000 families has been listed as dependent on relief. Crop losses are estimated as high as $300,000,000. President Roosevelt, unless something is done to check the drop in the water table, the now fertile regions of Nebraska, Iowa and Kansas will be drawn into the great Dust Bowl. The consequences of this can hardly be imagined. Our entire national economy would be displaced.

Long Range Program.

stopped by a long-range program of permanent works. In accordance has announced a permanent antidrought program divided under the following heads:

pasture and resettling families at an average cost of $4,500 each.

Drought Swings East.

In contrasting the 1936 drought with that of 1934, one of the conspicuous differences is that the dry center has swung further east and southeast, while the extreme Southwest, hard hit two years ago, is in relatively good condition. This spring, as the drought area began to take form, it stretched in a broad band from a little west of the center of Montana to Kentucky, Tennessee and South Carolina. As the season advanced the arid belt spread northward and northeastward, even reaching into the New England states. Heavy rains during the first part of July brought some relief to Tennessee, Kentucky and some parts of Virginia, although not enough to permanently relieve the situation. By the beginning of July two great islands of extreme drought had developed. One lay like a great blot through the middle South from the Mississippi to and beyond the Appalachians, while the other crossing the Canadian boundary, ranged from Minnesota to western Montana and south through Wyoming and Nebraska. In these areas crops this year are less than 35 per cent of normal. Between these two sections crops ranged from 35 to 65 per cent of normal.

Just how this crop damage will compare with 1934 cannot fully be determined as yet, but the following table shows that in at least eleven of the affected states the
